A RECIPE.
Two maidens sat in lovely mood,
With eyelids drooping low;
And one was plump and one was lean—
The last was full of woe.

STORY.

DARK DAYS.

There was a time when, in our trade, there came a regular storm—not a rainy day or two, but a regular down-pour—and from half dozens became discharged on Saturdays, it came to tens and twenties; and every time I went up to the office it was all in a shiver lest I should be one of those who were to be struck off.

You see it was a particular time just then, for, after twelve months of anxiety I had run a race that I had been running with one Dick Green, an old fellow workman of mine. You see, we had both been struck at the same time and same place, and to speak plain, trying to win the same heart. Somehow—I don't know how it was, unless she could read how true I felt towards her—Lizzie gave her hand to me and at the same time I am talking about she'd been my busy girl for six months.

What a happy time that was; and yet, if you will believe me, I never went to sleep of a night without feeling that it was all too bright and sunshiny to last, and that there was a dark cloud somewhere waiting to send a shadow over our lives, and to come down in storms and bitterness.

So, "Lizzie" says I, "Dick Green seems awfully cut up about—you know what; he don't speak now. What do you say to our trying to make it up?"

Lizzie turns very red, and looked a bit confused, as she said, "How can we make it up?"
"Well, I was thinking, suppose we ask him up to dinner on Sunday, and then we could sit and smoke our pipes after, and talk of old times; but I don't like being bad-friends with an old mate."

What a Weak Woman Can Do.

She can sit in an open window of a railway carriage with a stiff northeast wind blowing in that chills everybody in the vicinity to the marrow, for two hours in a thin muslin dress, without flinching. She can dance or walk down the captain of a marching regiment and at the eleven o'clock supper put away lobster, salad, ice cream, champagne, cake and coffee without flinching, sufficient for a week's nightmare to strong man.

An Extraordinary Fireproof Suit.

An exhibition of the Oestberg fire-extinguishing apparatus took place on the Lindostrasse in Berlin recently. In the presence of the Emperor, the Empress and other distinguished persons, the inventor is a Swede, named Oestberg, Captain Ahlstrom, appeared in a peculiar looking costume, made of the Oestberg invention and walked into an immense fire made of wood saturated with petroleum.

A Lawyer's Definition of Law.

The Norwich Daily says: A prominent lawyer recently gave the following definition of law: "It is simply an effort to shift the responsibility of the decision. The jury of laymen, befogged by the pleadings, make up their verdict with the understanding that if there is anything wrong about the Supreme Court, composed of lawyers, will make it all right."

Port Huron is having a lawsuit of a novel but quite lively nature.

It is between a life insurance company and the heirs of a man who was reported to have been killed by a steam boiler in the company. The drowning is thought to be a suicide to get the insurance money.

Boston Baked Beans.

A favorite and excellent family dish if carefully prepared. Get a red earthen jar glazed on the inside. It should be fourteen to sixteen inches in height, with a wide top. Get the beans at a first-class grocer's. They should be of poor quality, pick wash and soak them over night in plenty of cold water. Scald them the next day with a teaspoon of soda. They should not boil unless they have been long soaked. Drain off the water, and then drain of beans (unsoaked) a full pound and a half of good sweet salt pork and a piece of good fat, best. Let the beans cover all but the top of the pork, which must be scored; add water enough to cover the beans, in which half a small teaspoonful of molasses has been dissolved. They should be put in the oven at bedtime, while there is still a moderate fire remaining. They will be ready in the morning. If the pork is not very salt, add some to the water, in which the beans are baked.

JOHN G. HOLMES, Editor. THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 13, 1876.

OUR TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT, RUTHERFORD B. HAYES, OF OHIO.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT, WILLIAM A. WHEELER, OF NEW YORK.

Republican State Convention.

A Republican State Convention to nominate candidates for State officers, and electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, and for the transaction of other business, will be held at the Opera House, in the city of Lansing, at 12 o'clock, on Thursday, August 3, 1876.

In accordance with a resolution adopted at Grand Rapids, at May 10, 1876, every county will be entitled to one delegate for each 500 of the total vote cast for Governor in 1874, and one additional delegate for each fraction of 500 votes; but every county will be entitled to at least one delegate.

Under the resolution of 1874, no delegate will be entitled to a seat who does not reside in the county he represents.

S. D. BINGHAM, Chairman.

W. W. HARRIS, Secretary.

Republican Congressional Convention.

The Republicans of the Fourth Congressional District of Michigan are requested to meet at Peak Hall, in the city of Niles, at 11 o'clock a. m. on Tuesday, the 5th day of August, 1876, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Representative in the 45th Congress.

Wm. Bennett, F. W. Cushman, Ed. Barnes, J. P. Hines, J. T. Frenner, J. H. O'Connell, D. Wagner.

Republican County Convention.

A Republican County Convention will be held at the Court House in Berrien Springs, on Tuesday, July 18, 1876, at 11 o'clock, a. m., for the purpose of selecting twelve (12) delegates to attend the Republican State Convention to be held at Lansing, on Thursday, Aug. 3, 1876; and also to select twelve (12) delegates to attend the Republican Congressional Convention to be held at Niles, on Tuesday, Aug. 5, 1876.

The several townships and city wards of the county will be entitled to the representation as furnished below, in accordance with resolution of Republican County Convention, April 25, 1876. Dated, Berrien Springs, June 22, 1876.

JAMES GRAHAM, Chairman. Wm. S. Farmer, H. C. Platt, Wm. Oberlin, J. P. Frenner, J. H. O'Connell, D. Wagner.

Republican county committee.

"Brick" Pomeroy thinks that by the 15th inst. he will be able to tell whether he can afford to support Samuel J. Tilden or not.

The Democrats have held ratification meetings in different parts of Ohio, but refuse to endorse the ticket nominated at St. Louis.

Gov. Hayes, in his letter of acceptance, speaks in very strong terms against the Third, or even Second term of office for President of the United States.

The Public Good.—It is said that Tilden has an eye single for the public good. The other eye is retained for the benefit of Samuel, the reformer.—Republic.

The Democrats, to have a perfect "reform" ticket, should have nominated Wm. M. Thayer in place of Hendricks. Tilden and Tweed have worked together so long that they would know just what to depend upon.

Milwaukee is getting disgusted with her crooked whiskey ring and now has eight of the prominent ones in jail. Their sentences range from one day to six months' imprisonment, and fines from $200 to $1,000.

The Hon. David Davis, whose name was proposed for nomination at the St. Louis Convention, has withdrawn from the Democratic ranks and is now an enthusiastic supporter of Hayes and Wheeler.

"Dixie," the old rebel tune, was the one most frantically cheered by the convention at St. Louis, and the name which called out the greatest enthusiasm was that of the rebel General Fitzhugh Lee. Straws show which way the wind blows.

The monthly report of the Department of Agriculture for May and June reports the wheat in the northern and western part of the State as being badly winter killed, and in the central and eastern part the crop is exceedingly large.

The spectacle of the most notorious gambler and prize-fighter in the United States leading a political party, making corrupt bargains with delegates, giving tone to the proceedings of a National Convention and securing the nomination of his candidate by the distribution among them of a "bureau of money" was as could possibly have been devised. What a sight! John Morristy buying the nomination of S. J. Tilden in a Democratic Convention!—Pomeroy's Democrat.

On Monday last, another attempt was made to repeal the resumption act. Mr. Holman, (Dem., Ind.), of the House, moved to suspend the rules and adopt the resolution instructing the Committee on Banking and Currency to report for consideration and amendment a bill to repeal so much of the Resumption act as provides for the redemption of United States notes with coin. The vote stood, yeas, 105; nays, 96; failing to get a two-thirds vote the resolution did not pass.

Blaine is slowly but surely recovering from his sickness. He has tendered his resignation to the seat in the House of Representatives, and will fill the place of Mr. Morrill in the Senate when his health is restored. His successor in the House will be elected by a special election next September.

The members of the House of Representatives are beginning to feel the want of refreshments. Mr. Stone, a Democratic "economist" from Missouri, introduced a resolution last Monday, asking for a supply of lemonade and ice-tea. The resolution was rejected by a vote of 81 to 165.

The Dayton, Ohio, Journal has the following pertinent and suggestive comparison of the Presidential candidates:

"On the day the committee of which Sam. Tilden was a member pronounced of the war a failure, Gen. Hayes was leading a victorious brigade up the valley of Virginia; when Hayes was entering on his first term as Governor Tilden was still the counsel and political ally of Boss Tweed; while Hayes was serving in the Union army, Tilden was quarreling with the draft, and lending moral support to those who resisted it; when Hayes enters the White House, Tilden will be laid amid the broken lumber of a teacherous and rickety party platform."

The Democrats have been very sure of New York on the Presidential contest, but, judging from the following dispatch from the editor of the Brooklyn Argus, a paper which, by the way, is considered as authority among New York Democrats, to the New York delegation at St. Louis, it would be inferred that it is not so sure after all:

D. C. Littlejohn, St. Louis—Any good Democrat can carry Brooklyn by 15,000 majority. Tilden will lose it by 5,000. DEMAS BARNES, Editor Argus.

"BRICK" ON TILDEN.

"Brick" Pomeroy was interviewed by a St. Louis Times reporter while the St. Louis Convention was in session, and this is the opinion he expressed of the Presidential candidate of that convention:

"The nomination of Tilden will be a sacrifice of not less than three hundred thousand Democratic votes in the States of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota, Mississippi, West Virginia, Texas, New Jersey and Georgia. He is not a reformer, but the favored candidate of men who dare not trust the people to give expression of their sentiments. He cannot carry New York, Ohio or Indiana. He goes into a contest where he will be compelled to turn back to clear his record. His aim is to consolidate New York and New England with the Southern States, and to force a candidate and a platform on the West. He lacks the elements of popularity, and relies upon money-intrigue and advertising to give him a nomination he never could obtain without these adjuncts. Were he a poor man he would not be the choice of a majority of those who now favor him. Were he an honest man like Hendricks, Porter, Davis, Bayard, Eaton, Thurman, Doolittle or other statesmen, he never would from his queerly-obtained millions use so much money to secure his nomination."

If the people are to be robbed, as a Democrat I prefer to see them robbed by Republicans rather than by Democrats. I am firm in the conviction that the nomination of Tilden will result in the defeat of Democracy. In the light of what I know about the man, I think him a weak candidate, that is, if he expects to gain his election by the people."

A little further along, "Brick" says he will cheerfully support any Democrat nominated by the Convention except Samuel J. Tilden, and adds, "Rather than support a man in whose honesty and Democracy I cannot believe, I would retire from politics."

This is the opinion of a Democrat who knows the so-called "reformers" intimately, and who fought the corrupt ring thieves of New York until he became so unpopular with New York City thieving Democracy that his business was done from him, and he had to seek a new field of labor. Yet it would not surprise us much to see this same man support the St. Louis ticket during the present campaign. Of course it would be a bitter pill for him to swallow, but he will swallow it, "just the same."

If Gen. Custer, with his three hundred men, had succeeded in overwhelming and whipping out the two or three thousand red-skins that he attacked, his success would have covered him with honor and glory, and the only verdict upon the Indians would have been that it was good enough for them. But he failed, and his lack of success is turned by his friends into an exhibition of unparalleled atrocity on the part of the Indians. The facts seemed to be that it was a regular fight, in which the white men, outnumbered, were annihilated; neither side showed any quarter, and the result was what might be expected. The lesson of the fight is that, if the Sioux are to be whipped into submission, the work must be undertaken by forces of men sufficiently large to do the work promptly and effectively.—Evening News.

The Propeller St. Clair was burned, off fourteen-mile-point, Lake Superior, about two o'clock last Sunday morning. All on board were saved but four of the crew and one passenger, twenty-five in all. The boat was within five miles of shore at the time of the disaster.

HAYES' ACCEPTANCE.

The following is the letter of Gov. Hayes, accepting the Republican nomination for the Presidency: COLUMBUS, O., July 8.—The Hon. Edward McPherson, the Hon. William A. Howard, the Hon. Joseph H. Rainey, and others, Committee of the Republican National Convention—GENTLEMEN: In reply to your official communication of June 17, by which I am informed of my nomination for the office of the President of the United States by the Republican National Convention at Cincinnati, I accept the nomination with gratitude, hoping that, under Providence, I shall be able, if elected, to execute the duties of the high office as a trust for the benefit of the people.

I do not deem it necessary to enter upon any extended examination of the declaration of principles made by the Convention. The resolutions are in accord with my views, and I heartily concur in the principles they announce. In several of the resolutions, however, questions are considered which are of such importance that I deem it proper to briefly express my convictions in regard to them.

The fifth resolution adopted by the Convention is of paramount interest. More than forty years ago a system of making appointments to office grew up, based upon the maxim, "The victors belong the spoils." The old rule—the true rule—that honesty, capacity, and fidelity constitute the only real qualifications for office, and that there is no other claim, gave place to the idea that party services were to be chiefly considered. All parties, in practice, have adopted this system. It has been essentially modified since its first introduction; it has not, however, been improved. At first the President, either directly or through the heads of departments, made all the appointments. But gradually the appointing power, in many cases, passed into the control of members of Congress. The offices in these cases have become not merely rewards for party services, but rewards for services to party leaders. This system destroys the independence of the separate departments of the Government. It tends directly to extravagance and official incapacity; it is a temptation to dishonesty; it hinders and impairs that careful supervision and strict accountability by which only faithful and efficient public service can be secured; it obstructs the prompt removal and sure punishment of the unworthy; in every way degrades the civil service and the character of the Government, it is felt, I am confident, by a great majority of the members of Congress, to be an intolerable burden and an unwarranted hindrance to the proper discharge of their legitimate duties; it ought to be abolished. The reform should be thorough, radical, and complete. We should return to the principles and practice of the founders of the Government, applying by legislation when that which was formerly established custom. They neither expected nor desired from the public officer any partisan service. They meant that the officer should be secure in his tenure as long as his personal character remained unimpaired, and the performance of his duties satisfactory.

If elected, I shall conduct the Administration of the Government upon these principles, and all constitutional powers vested in the Executive will be employed to establish this reform.

The declaration of principles by the Cincinnati Convention makes my announcement in favor of a single Presidential term. I do not assume to add to this declaration, but, believing that the restoration of the civil service to the system established by Washington and followed by the early Presidents can be best accomplished by an Executive who is under no temptation to use the patronage of his office to promote his own re-election; I desire to perform what I regard as a duty, in stating now my inflexible purpose, if elected, not to be candidate for election to a second term.

On the currency question I have frequently expressed my views in public, and I stand by my record on this subject. I regard all the laws of the United States relating to the payment of the public indebtedness, the legal-tender notes included, as constituting a pledge and moral obligation of the Government which must be kept. It is my conviction that the feeling of uncertainty inseparable from an irredeemable paper currency, with its fluctuations of value, is one of the great obstacles to revival of confidence and business, and to a return of prosperity. That certainty can be ended in but one way—the resumption of specie payments; but the longer the instability connected with our present money system is permitted to continue, the greater will be the injury inflicted upon our economical interests and all classes of society. If elected, I shall approve every appropriate measure to accomplish the desired end, and shall oppose any step backward.

The resolution with respect to the public school system is one which should receive the hearty support of the American people. Agitation upon this subject is to be comprehended until, by constitutional amendment, the schools are placed beyond all danger of sectarian control or interference. The Republican party is pledged to secure such an amendment. The resolution of the Convention on the subject of the permanent pacification of the country, and the complete protection of all its citizens in the full enjoyment of all their constitutional rights, is timely and of great importance. The condition of the Southern States attracts the attention and commands the sympathy of the people of the whole Union. In their progressive recovery from the effects of the War, their first necessity is an intelligent and honest administration of Government which will protect all classes of citizens in all their political and private rights. What the South most needs is peace, and peace depends upon the suppression of the rebellion. There can be no enduring peace if the constitutional rights of any portion of the people are habitually disregarded. A division of political parties, resting merely upon distinction of race, or upon sectional lines, is always unfortunate, and may be disastrous. The welfare of the South, alike with that of every other part of the country, depends upon the attraction it can offer to labor, to immigration, and to capital. But laborers will not go, and capital will not be ventured, where the Constitution and the laws are set at defiance and alarm take the place of peace, and loving and law-abiding social life. All parts of the Constitution are sacred and must be sacredly observed, "the parts that are new no less than the parts that are old." The moral and material prosperity of the Southern States can be more effectively advanced by a hearty and generous recognition of the rights of all, by all "a recognition without reserve or exception."

Such a recognition fully accorded, it will be practicable to promote, by the influence of all legitimate agencies of the General Government, the efforts of the people of those States to obtain for themselves the blessings of the honest and capable local government. If elected, I shall consider it not only my duty, but it will be my ardent desire, to labor for the attainment of this end. Let me assure my countryman of the Southern States that if I shall be charged with duty of organizing an Administration, it will be one which will regard and cherish their true interests, the interests of the white and equally, and which will put forth its best efforts in behalf of civil policy which will wipe out forever the distinction between the North and South in our common country.

With a Civil Service organized upon the system which will secure purity, experience, efficiency, and economy, a strict regard for the public welfare, solely, in appointments, and the speedy, thorough, and unsparring prosecution and punishment of all public officers who betray official trusts; with a sound currency; with education unsectarian and free to all; with simplicity and frugality in public and private affairs; and with a fraternal spirit of harmony prevailing the people of all sections and classes, we may reasonably hope that the second century of our existence as a nation will, by the blessing of God, be pre-eminently an era of good feeling and a period of progress, prosperity, and happiness. Very respectfully, your fellow-citizen, R. B. HAYES.

STATE ITEMS.

Grand Rapids compels the closing of saloons on Sunday.

John Shorey, sentenced to State Prison for 20 years from Washtenaw county in 1867 for murder, has been pardoned out by the Governor.

Among the killed in the Custer massacre was George Post, formerly of Adrian. He enlisted at Chicago about a year ago.

It is estimated that one-half the hay crop is still on the ground, either cut and rotting or uncut.

The meteor was seen at Adrian last Saturday night; and the Adriantines think it to be an indicator of an approaching war.

At the Republican ratification in Albion the cannon was dismantled and blown about 30 feet to the rear, and the carriage somewhat smashed. Nobody hurt.

Charley Gibson of Marcellus, who explaining the workings of a revolver, accidentally shot himself in the stomach.

The authorities of Ann Arbor had eight of the butchers of that place arraigned on Saturday morning last, for maintaining slaughter houses within the city limits, contrary to the city ordinance. They were convicted and fined $50 each, or twenty-five days in the county jail. The case will be appealed to the circuit court, and if beaten there to the supreme court.

A tramp entered the house of P. Hocking, a farmer of Holland, and asked Mrs. H. for some dinner which she proceeded to get and went down cellar for some butter, when the tramp locked the cellar door and then rifled the bureau of $60 in money. Mrs. H. got out of the cellar window, slipped into the kitchen, got her husband's revolver, and ordered Mr. tramp to replace the money and leave the premises or she would shoot him. He obeyed orders at once.

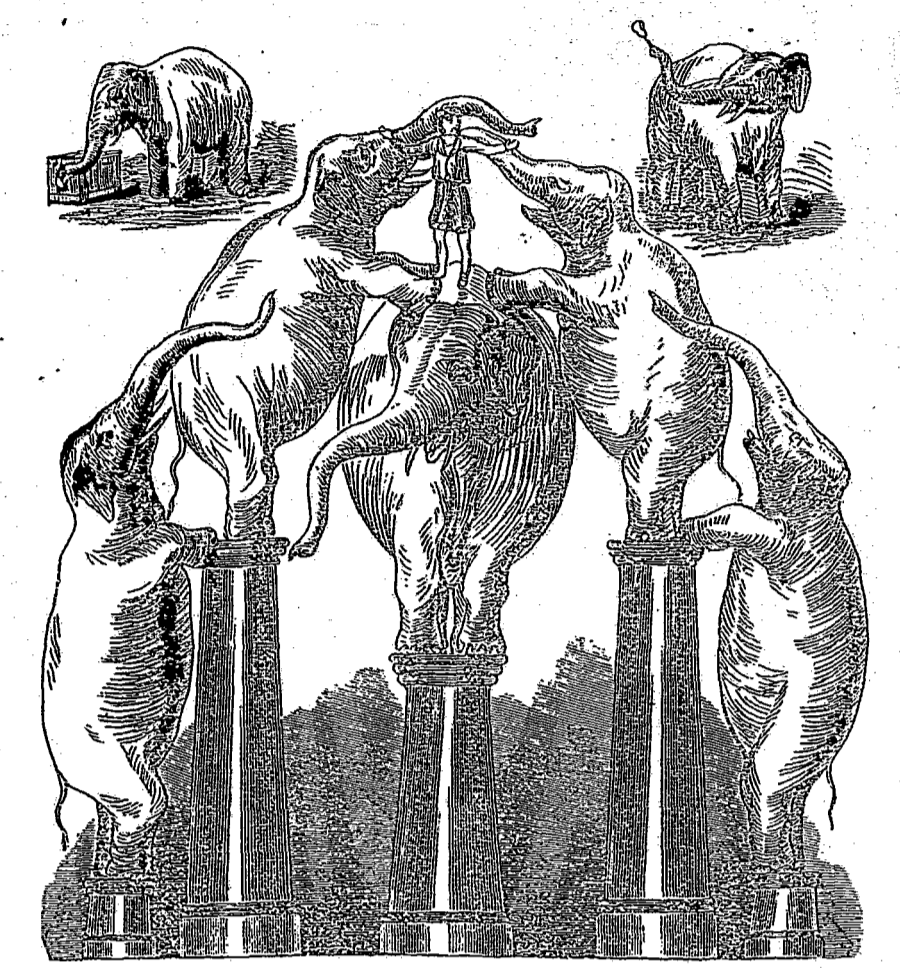

The Hancock Mining Journal says: On Sunday last two Germans went in bathing in the old Calumet dam, when one of them got out in deep water and was drowning—not being able to swim. The other started to rescue him, and in attempting to do so both perished. Shortly after an Italian and a German entered an old boat and went in the dam in search of the bodies of the unfortunate, and when out near the middle the boat upset. The latter succeeded in reaching the shore safely, but the former went to the bottom and added one more to the two who had previously lost their lives.

A few days ago a den of wolves was discovered by James F. Chestnut about one mile from Montgomery village, Hillsdale county. He heard them barking and went to the place the sound came from and whistled, to which five or six young wolves responded with yelps and came running toward him. He shot and killed one wolf and wounded another. The place where Chestnut found these wolves is commonly called "Dodge Island." It is a piece of solid ground in the midst of a large marsh. After killing the wolf Chestnut made an examination of the island and discovered their den in the ground. The next day he visited the den in company with some of his neighbors, and they dug out three more young black wolves which they caught alive. They are six to eight months old. One old wolf has been killed within a few miles of the place where these were discovered.

1876. FOREPAUGH'S GREAT CENTENNIAL SHOW. 1876.

Beyond Precedent and Belief in ACTUAL MAGNITUDE! The Press, Public and all intelligent showmen pronounce it WITHOUT A SINGLE PARALLEL. THE VULCAN WHICH FORGES THUNDERBOLTS FOR FINEST IMITATORS. Will Exhibit at Buchanan, Monday, July 24th.

ADAM FOREPAUGH'S

3 Enormous Menageries, TRIPLE MUSEUM AND CLASSIC MORAL DOUBLE CIRCUS, Under Eight Center Pole Tents. ON ITS TENTH TRIUMPHANT ANNUAL TOUR.

Greatly enlarged and augmented, and bejeweled with dazzling splendor, as an especially appropriate offering for the Centennial year. The Monster Aggregation is positively three times the largest show on earth, representing more money, furnishing more instructive and useful amusement, and combining more moral tendencies, genuine merit, solid weight and elevated character than all other establishments of a similar nature in the country.

50 Fifty odd State-Ornamented Cages of Wild Beasts, Exotic Birds, Monkeys of the Deep, and Crawling Reptiles.

A Museum of all that is marvellous and wonderful in the curious world. A Circus Classic, Moral and Refined, and centralizing the leading Features of the Exhibition of Brunswick, Making Forepaugh's Colossal Aggregation beyond question, without a prototype, and the STANDARD EXHIBITION OF THE UNIVERSE.

Among the special features will be found a Herd of Performing Elephants, 2 Horned Black Rhinoceros, Only Horse and Cow Antelope on exhibition in the world, whose rarity makes them strangers to natural Historians.

SEA LIONS, from the Northern Seas. Snow White Polar Bears, Towering Giraffe, Giant Ostrich, 15 AFRICAN AND ASIATIC LIONS, Litter of Lion Babies, AFRICAN ELAND.

Sea Cow, Horned Horse, Royal Bengal Tigers, and over 50 Hens and Cages containing every known Wild Beast, Bird and Reptile in captivity on the broad face of the Globe, aggregating more rare animals, novelties, in credulous wonders, men, women, children and horses than any three shows on either Continent.

The Museum, endless in its variety, is an epitome of the world, all its elements, art and science and a marvellous compendium of all that man's ingenuity can suggest, comprising life-like representations in Marble and Wax; moving Mechanical Figures; Fountain of real Sparkling Water; Automatic Representations; realistic Exhibitions and countless objects of interest and wonder.

Mrs. J. F. WARREN left for Buchanan on Friday p. m. She will remain there a few days visiting our genial friend J. J. Van Riper, and will proceed homeward. — Cass County Republican.

THE Kalamazoo Telegraph is getting rather patriotic, appearing this week in red, white and blue. Probably they ran out of black ink about press time.

A MAN named Mason was arrested by Marshal Evans, and taken before Esquire Alexander yesterday afternoon, charged with indecent exposure of his person, upon the street. The case was adjourned to Saturday.

WE are not in the habit of speaking hard names, but the man who says that it was not warm enough Friday and Saturday is a—well, he is pretty hard to please, if 100° in the shade does not suit him.

A YOUNG man named Whitney was found dead in his room, in the Hoyt House, in St. Joseph, last Saturday morning. An examination was made by Dr. Webster, who gave as his opinion that death resulted from poison by Prussic acid.

A TRIAL of the McCormick Self-Binding harvester was made on Chas. P. He's farm, about two miles South of this place, on Tuesday last, under the direction of the agent, S. L. Beardsley.

FAST BINDING.—On Thursday, July 6th, James A. Tomlinson and Frank Casey bound eight acres of wheat for Jesse G. Leggett, the two taking up the wheat after the reaper, a dropper, and helping to shock the wheat cut, in the evening.

THE best invention, now, is an ice-cream-and-cake stand at a Lawn Social. Twenty-two dollars was the amount realized by one at a Lawn Social at Frank Merrill's, on Tuesday evening last, for the benefit of the Presbyterian Church.

THE young people of Dayton will give a festival for the benefit of the pastor, Rev. F. I. Bell, on the evening of the 19th inst. All young people under the age of 85, are invited to attend, throughout the county. For further particulars, as to the supper, etc., see handbills.

A special to the Detroit Free Press of July 10th says: The residence of Mrs. Ann Crowhurst, about three miles east of Benton Harbor, took fire from a stove last night and was consumed. Probable loss $1,400; insured in the Continental, of New York, for $1,000.

QUEER PERFORMANCE.—A married man and young widow, of this place, took a short trip to Mishawaka a few days since, nobody knows why, and stopped at one of the hotels for dinner and wife, from Niles, Mich., a fictitious name being given, nobody knows. The man's wife accompanied them to within about four miles of South Bend, and there awaited the return of the train. Now such things may be all right, but they certainly are out of the customary way of doing business—outside of Mormondom.

The Greenback Club of Buchanan.

will meet on Saturday evening next, July 15th, at the old school house, for the purpose of deciding what course to pursue in the coming campaign. All members of the club everywhere are especially invited to be present.

By ORDER of EX-COMMITTEE.

This festival given in Weesaw June 21, for the benefit of Dr. F. I. Bell, netted the handsome sum of $50. This amount was placed in the pastor's hands by the treasurer, Mr. B. returns heartily thanks to the friends who assembled on the happy occasion, and also, to Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Penwell, who kindly opened their doors for the entertainment.

RATHER an unusual case of the work of cupid exhibited itself in this place, last week. The little fellow made a raid on the hearts of Mr. Joseph Stevens, a youth of 17 and a resident of Niles township, and Mrs. Anna Lyon of this place. The marriage ceremony was performed by L. P. Alexander, Esq., at the residence of Geo. J. Richardson, in this place, July 6th. The happy couple are now in Kansas on their wedding tour.

Of the Centennial fireworks, the most beautiful and brilliant was witnessed in this vicinity on Saturday evening last, about nine o'clock. A large and beautiful meteor shot across the heavens near the zenith, going from the east to a little north of west, and leaving a bright fiery path which was seen for several minutes after the meteor had entirely disappeared.

QUITE a number of large catfish are being caught in the river near the bridge. One was brought to town last Saturday that weighed twenty-five pounds. Two more were caught Monday morning, one of which weighed fifteen pounds, and the other about twelve. They are caught with hooks and line.

THE little son of F. N. Potter, the very near neighbor of this city, came well known for his life one day last week. The family went out into the country for a few days, and while there the child somehow got hold of a powder of arsenic, and with childish simplicity of soul had its mouth filled with the white powder. Antidotes were immediately applied and with the exception of a severe stomach sickness the child came out safely. A son of John Rice had a pitchfork run through the flesh of his arm to the bone while pitching hay one day last week.

FOR years, the rapid strides toward populism have alarmed all Mr. Forepaugh's rivals in the show business, and he stands to-day the confessed greatest and most extensive animal importer and exhibitor living. The number of his dens of wild beasts, birds and reptiles outnumbers, three fold, that of any other of the largest establishments in the land, while his tripple museum and classic moral circus are immense in proportion, and of a moral tone worthy of direct imitation by the lesser exhibitors of the country. The secret of Adam Forepaugh's tremendous success is not hidden, but it is so plain that "he who runs may read." His big enterprise, overflowing with wholesome, moral and meritorious attraction, carries with it more solid, convincing weight, than any show can carry. Heretofore no other manager ever gave such a full, elaborate and complete entertainment in this country, and the oldest show people, everywhere, are the first to come forward and bear cheerful witness that the Great Forepaugh Show has no parallel—that its like has never been known in the annals of amusement in this or any other continent.

The three enormous menageries are even more than they pretend. Fifty odd gold-encrusted dens and cages, with the statues of some historical personage of an hundred years ago, molded in solid gold, on the corners, are filled with every animal known to natural historians. Many of the specimens are new and heretofore unseen, as for instance, the Horse Antelope, the Sea Lions from the Nova Scotia coast, and the genuine West Bear from the frozen regions of the Arctic North. The Giraffe, Rhinoceros, Hippopotami, Sea Cow, Horned Horse, Tigers, etc., are minor features, and are to be seen in all their native ferocious or gentle nature. Exotic birds of richest plumage make the air redolent with music, while crawling reptiles abound in all their repulsiveness.

The museum presents more than its usual interest in new works suggested by the ingenuity of man. Its very limpid streams of rippling water, well known persons "done up" in wax or marble; refreshing meadow lands bedusted with wide-spreading trees, among the boughs of which ill sweet songsters—a whole circus in miniature—lovely bell-ringers, whose notes enrich the musical scene; an octavo of mellow London chimes, and countless objects of pleasing wonders only tell of the beauty and glory of this enchanting department.

Toward the organization of the circus Mr. Forepaugh has directed more than his usual attention and care, and presents, for the edification of his ten million friends, such an aggregation of genio talent as can be claimed by no other manager. Such well-known celebrities as Sebastian, M'le Jeannette Beadeau, Wm. Monroe, Henri Beadeau, from the Cirque Royal, Paris, M'le Jeannie Armstrong, Wm. Franklin, Billy Burke, with fifty lesser stars, are a sufficient guarantee of the manifold excellencies of this superb entertainment.

Mr. Forepaugh wishes it distinctly understood that the side exhibition, accompanying the great show, is under the management of Pullman Brothers and Mr. Hamilton.

"Patrons of husbandry" said Mrs. Partridge, reflectively, in reply to a remark of the Doctor's concerning that order, "Yes, I do seem to remember hearing of them; but I never have used any. The best patens that I know of are the 'Domestic'." I have used lots of those to cut out my clothes by;—and here Isaac broke into her remarks with the information that the old ones made bulky kites; and then went gravely on with his work of decorating the cat's tail with patent clothes pins.

MOVED that $4,800 be raised to pay on indebtedness, $2,800 to pay interest, and $2,000 to pay bonds, which will come due in February next.

According to Director's report, the amount raised last year was $12,716.45, and total expenditure $11,320.15, leaving a balance on hand of $1,396.30. The Director stated that twenty-seven applications for the principalship had been received by the Board, and some of them by some of the best teachers in the State, and we trust that the present Board may, from this array of applicants, be able to secure one who will make a success of the school, instead of such an utter failure as has been the last year.

THE COUNTY PRESS.

[Notes Republican.] Frank Wheeler, a young man at work for Davis Foster, north of this city, stole some clothing, and some of the little traps from a fellow laborer on Sunday last. On Monday, Mr. Foster came to town, secured the services of Constable Lucas, and the two went to South Bend, caught the thief, and brought him back here. The stolen property was secured. Wheeler was bound over to the Circuit Court by Esquire Barron, in the sum of $500.

[Benton Harbor Times.] The body of an unknown man was found floating in the canal at this place, near the red warehouse, yesterday (Friday) morning. Deceased was 5 feet 8 inches high, sandy complexioned, and had in his pocket an envelope marked "A. J. Stewart, Benton Harbor." Mr. J. S. Pearson says he is quite certain the stranger took breakfast in his (Pearson's) restaurant on the morning of the 4th, and that he was then in an intoxicated condition.

[St. Joseph Republican.] The crew of the schooner Kate L. Bruce, last week recovered an anchor, from the lake, which was lost about a year ago. —John Anderson, a Swede sailor, employed on the schooner Sunrise, fell from the main cross-trees last Saturday, and was instantly killed. He had no relatives in this country, and was only 23 years of age, and called this place his home, having resided here some time. The young man had, a few days previous to his death, written to his parents that if he had good luck he would be home in the fall, but the poor fellow has gone to his long home. His friends have written another letter to his parents, informing them of his sad fate. Both letters were mailed to-day.

[Notes Mirror.] The little son of F. N. Potter, the very near neighbor of this city, came well known for his life one day last week. The family went out into the country for a few days, and while there the child somehow got hold of a powder of arsenic, and with childish simplicity of soul had its mouth filled with the white powder. LOCALS.

A Health-Promoting Stimulant. Physicians, who certainly ought to be the best judges of such matters, declare that wholesome stimulation is not only desirable but essential in many instances. When the temporary good effect of a stimulant is confirmed and rendered permanent, as in the case of Foote's Stomach Bitters, by the action of tonic and alterative principles combined with it, it becomes infinitely more efficacious as a renovator of physical energy and a corrector of the conditions of the body which invite disease. The Bitters have received the emphatic sanction of medical men who have observed the effect of that popular stimulative cordial as a remedy for weakness, nervousness, dyspepsia, constipation, insolvency of the liver, malarious fevers, and many other disorders. Its basis is sound old wine, the purest liquor known to commerce, and itself possessing tonic properties of no mean order.

Dyspepsia. Americans are particularly subject to this disease and its effects: such as Sour Stomach, Habitual Constiveness, Heart Burn, Water-brash, coming up of the food, coated tongue, disagreeable taste in the mouth, palpitation of the Heart and all diseases of the Stomach and Liver. Two doses of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER will cure you at once, and these positively is not a case of light. United States it will not cure. If you doubt this go to your Druggist, O. E. Woods & Co., and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents.

We have just received something new in the line of business cards, just coming into general use, and destined to become very fashionable.

Farming in Nebraska. We clip the following from the "Farm Era" (a paper to be had free on application to the Lead Commissioner B. & M. R. K., Burlington, Iowa), as something likely to prove interesting to many of our readers. We would advise all who contemplate moving west to visit Southern Iowa and Southern Nebraska before going elsewhere.

Mr. B. W. Smith, of Ashland, Saunders county, came to Nebraska in 1870, from Grant Co., Wis., and bought $20,000 of land, at $5 per acre from the B. & M. R. Co., now worth $20 per acre. He has 280 acres under the plow, and he finds the country adapted to all kinds of grain and vegetables. The climate, he says, is the best, the winters are short, stock can feed among the cornstalks and do well the most of the feeding season. It is the best country I ever saw for raising hogs, and corn can be grown very easily. Since I came to Nebraska 31 families from Grant Co., Wis., have settled around me, and they all doing better than they did last year. One of my neighbors had $5,000 and bought 240 acres of railroad land at $14.00 per acre. In three years, he had double his capital. Nebraska is a State where a man with means may settle with great advantage.

Near Harvard, in Clay Co., John A. Bischoff settled in 1871, taking up a quarter section of land. At that time he had only a span of horses and a plow, and very little other means. He has now a house, corn crib and granary, and owns two cows, several head of young stock, and a large herd of hogs. His wheat harvest in 1875 averaged 24 1/4 bushels per acre, or 6 1/2 acres in Ohio take wheat, reaching 30 bushels to the acre. Twenty acres of corn produced 1,400 bushels, or an average of 70 bushels to the acre; 13 acres of barley, 44 bushels per acre; and oats 58 bushels per acre. Mr. Bischoff has a young orchard of apple, peach and cherry trees, and all trees are in thrifty condition. He says, "a man with the same amount of labor, can get a larger yield from Nebraska than from the soil of any State east of the Missouri river."

TRIVOCOUS.—The Manufacturers of D. B. DeLond & Co.'s Manufacturing Saleratus, Messrs. H. A. DeLond & Co., show their readiness to have the merits of the article tested; for they authorize all who sell it at retail to refund the money when by fair trial it does not prove to be as recommended. That is fair and shows their confidence in the article. It is better than Soda or Baking Powder.

More Crooked Whisky Made Rhein. CHICAGO, July 7.—Jake Rhein, the king of the Chicago whisky ring, and his chief "squawler," was sentenced this morning to six months in the county jail and $10,000 fine. The court said he could not go back on the agreement of the district attorney. Rhein was immediately taken to jail, the court refusing bail on any delay.

Diseases of the Stomach, Dyspepsia, What is it!

BY W. CLARENCE BROWN, M. D. The thousands of individuals who labor under the complaint bearing this name, have no other opinion of it than that it is a disease of the stomach. They have been comforted and deceived, they have been so distressed with flatulence, acidity, a sinking faintness, and a sensation at the pit of the stomach, which they cannot fully describe, they think it certainly a disease of the stomach, and more especially if it be attended with nausea or vomiting. They do not realize that the complaint has become diseased, or does it arise from some other source? Where is the stomach situated? Its form somewhat resembles an alembic or retort, the largest part being on the left side, between the left lobe of the liver and side, then passing under the ribs, terminates in the small intestine near the navel. The location of the stomach, therefore, precludes the possibility of the unpleasant sensation, as faintness, flatulence, acidity, &c., being a disease of the stomach, as some suppose. The parts where these sensations are experienced is the location of the small intestine, and why such affections should be felt in the small intestine, we shall undertake to explain.

Sourness or Acidity.—The principal constituents of the gastric juice is muriatic acid; this muriatic acid dissolves into small particles the food taken into the stomach, after which the food passes from the pylorus into the small intestine, where it meets with the bile, formed from the liver. When the bile is of a healthy character, it contains a large quantity of alkaline compounds. This alkali unites with the muriatic acid of the gastric juice, and neutralizes it, forming a salt called murex, which is a harmless purgative. When the liver becomes diseased, it cannot produce healthy bile. The bile may become thick or viscid, producing constiveness, gall-stones, &c. At other times it is thin and of an acid character. The acid character of the bile accounts for the faintness and sinking feelings experienced just below the pit of the stomach. The acidity is occasioned by the bile having lost its alkaline properties, by which the acidity of the gastric juice cannot be neutralized. Sometimes this thin acid bile exists in such quantities as to regurgitate from the small intestine into the stomach, and is called a reflux. This is a very dangerous complaint, and it at the same time the bile being sufficiently irritable to excite inflammation, the patient will have frequent attacks of violent pain, sense of twisting or gripping, or cholera morbus. Flatulence occasioned by the decomposition of the bile, by which carbonic acid gas is discharged, is dyspepsia, or called a reflux. This is a dangerous disease of the liver, and although relief may in some instances be afforded to the distress which may experience, by the usual practice, permanent benefit can take place until the liver is restored to healthy action.

The number of persons laboring under a disease of the liver is very great; there are but few who are free from it, and yet very little suspect that a disease of that organ is the true character of their disposition.

Sallowness of the Skin is in consequence of the bile having become decomposed and rendered thin, by which it becomes capable of being absorbed into the blood, giving it a yellow tinge and evinces its presence by a darkening of the spot upon the face and neck. When this is thin and irritable, and the blood loaded with it, such irritation and inflammation often arises, as to produce canker, erysipelas, humors, and not unfrequently fever, as bilious fever, ague and fever, &c.; the patient feels weak and debilitated. This inflammation often progress (if neglected) until the spleen becomes inflamed, and the pain is felt in the side. The heart becomes weak, and pain palpitations are often felt in that region. The Liver itself, often becomes so weak, that by the least exertion, as going up stairs, or rising a bill, the blood is thrown into the face, and the patient is unable to change, and the patient experiences difficulty in breathing until the blood has had time to pass from the liver. This state of disease frequently progresses to ulceration of the Liver itself, and other parts of the system, which from any cause may have become weak, and the division of the bile is interrupted, giving time for the deposition of diseased matter. Headache, dizziness, momentary loss of sight—pain in the side, sinking all gone sensations, waterbrash, heartburn, sour stomach, belching up of wind, dullness, no disposition to stir around, food does not digest well, acting between the shoulders, pains in the legs, knees, &c., sickness of the stomach, vomiting, bad taste in the mouth in the morning, hot flashes succeeded by cold chills or shivering, weakness in the kidneys and spine, great debility on exertion, no inclination to work or go away from home, nervousness, wakefulness at night, or unpleasant dreams, palpitation or distress about the heart, numbness, wandering and shooting pains with great liability to take cold, are the prevailing symptoms that are produced by a diseased Liver.

WHAT MONEY IS WORTH. BY FRANK PALING, SANITARY MICH. Nobody knows how fast money is worth...

A Cry Unto Womankind. There are plenty to say and to hear the saying: "The world is God's, not their's; let Him work out a change, if change must be."

And yet, sir, and yet, madam, God created this woman, not a flower, not a flake, but this living soul; as such to receive help, and to yield help to all other living soul; to it intrusted seed to sow, talents to multiply, work to be done.

Phungrams. 'Mid sylvan scenes And kidney beans The farmer sweats around; In home-made clothes And a sun-burned nose He spends his days In trying to raise The mortgage that covers his ground.

Our boy Swipes, says a California paper, is a regular attendant at Sunday school. Last Sunday his teacher was explaining a chapter to the class in the book of Kings.

An Irishman, who served on board a man-of-war in a menial capacity, was settled by one of the officers to haul in a tow-line of considerable length which was towing over forty or fifty fathoms, which had put his patience severely to proof, as well as tried every muscle in his arms, he muttered to himself, "Sure it's as long as to-day and to-morrow."

"That's the Main Building," said a guide at the Centennial to a greenhorn from the Pine Tree State the other day. "Golly!" replied the royal son of Maine. "I knowed our boys would put up somethin' fine."

"Maumma," said a precocious youngster at the tea table the other evening, after a long and yearning gaze toward a plate of doughnuts, "Maumma, do you think I could stand another of those fried holes?" She thought he could.

Professor Tydall is married, and when his wife's kind heart, he doesn't get mad, but looks upon it as a curious and interesting illustration of the conservatism of energy and of the effects of molecular motion.—St. Louis Republican.

A western paper said: "Talk about the wind blowing the grasshoppers away. One of them faced Monday's gale for an hour, and then yanked a shingle off a house for a fan, saying it was awful sturdy."

A Vermont son said at his mother's funeral that he and his father were very much obliged to the folks that came, "and we hope that the time is not far distant when we may do the same for you."

A little Boston boy was inconsolable at the loss of a toy balloon that escaped from him and went toward the clouds the other day, because, as he said it cost him twenty-five cents, and he didn't God to get it for nothing.

What would you like, said Jones the other night to Miss Smith, as he led her into the refreshment room. "Pop," was the blushing response. Jones didn't see it.

A few nights ago, as a man stood in the gospel tent busily taking notes, Dr. Tyng came up, and laying his hand on the other's shoulder, suddenly asked, "My friend, are you a Christian?" "No, sir," answered the startled note taker, "I'm—I'm only a reporter."

A tall, gaunt Reese River (No. 1) man walked up to a bar and said, "I've got an agid mother back in Missouri; I was brought up religus; I ain't prepared to die; and what I want to know is, if the snakes is strained out of them air whiskey."

A man in town yesterday with no hair, and a bullet hole in the calf of his left leg, says he is satisfied that there is gold in the Black Hills.—Chicago Times.

A young lady was asked upon her return from church last Sunday what the text was, to which she blurtedly replied: "Blessed are the dressmakers."

A butcher boy, coming up the street the other day, carrying a large tray on his shoulder, accidentally struck against a lady's head, and his composed her bonnet. The deuce take the tray!" cried the lady in a towering passion. "Madame," replied the youngster, "the deuce can't take the tray!"
