THURSDAY, FEB. 2, 1882.

This paper completes volume fifteen of the BERRIEN COUNTY RECORD, and the seventh under the present management. Of what passed during the eight years before we are not prepared to say, but with the seven we are better acquainted. They were commenced with journalistic experience attained behind a plow, and among difficulties too numerous to enumerate. Suffice it to say we have passed through them all safely. We have built up a new office from an old, worn out one, with new type, new presses, new paper cutter, and other appliances necessary to doing only the best work, and have learned enough of things now to know that there are many things yet to learn in the work of serving the public. We have no complaint to make of what we have received as our share of business patronage. It has been our aim to publish as good a local paper as the means at our command would warrant-one that shall give the local news, and with what success we are meeting is attested by the rapid increase that is being made in our subscription list, it being nearly double that of three years ago. For the future we make no promise but that we shall make our best effort to give our patrons a readable paper, and leave it to them to decide how well we shall succeed.

5. That the court erred in overruling each and all prayers upon questions of law asked by counsel for the defense, and in refusing to instruct the jury as requested in each of the fourteen prayers proposed by them. That the court erred on the trial of this cause in excluding proper evi-dence offered by the defense, as set forth in the bill of exceptions. 7. That the court erred on the trial of this cause in admitting to go to the jury improper evidence on the part of the prosecution, as shown in the bill of exceptions.

8. That the court erred in commenting improperly during the trial upon the conduct of the defendant, and in entering into an arrangement with the District Attorney (without knowledge of the counsel for the defendant) whereby the jury and the expert witnesses for the prosecution during a portion of the trial might observe certain conduct of the defendant to subserve the purpose of the prosecution (the defense being insanity) without the restraining power of the court being exercised until those purposes were accomplish-ed, to the great prejudice of the defend-

JACKSONNILLE, Jan. 30, 1882.

EDITOR RECORD:-Since writing you from Fernandina we have made another short move, and now find ourselves in Jacksonville, the county seat of Duval county, and the great business center of Florida. Jacksonville is a city of about 7,000 white, and 8,000 colored inhabitants. It is a nice, lively, both armies having occupied it alternately, until when finally evacuated there was little of value left except the location, we cannot help feeling a little surprised, and must give the citizens credit of possessing no small degree of energy. The streets are wide, and laid out from north to south and from east to west, with many large,

Written for the Record. GUITEAU. Guilty," was the word from the twelve jurymen, And a joyous shout arose from the throng, As Guiteau returns to his cell once again, While a world shouted back the echoing song.

We honor him not, no honor has he; No love or respect for friend or for foe Grew on that branch of the family tree, As a brother, sister and others doth know.

> When the scaffold is reft of that sainted form, And while the noose hangs empty alone, Bury him deep, ere the dawning of morn Can light his tomb with the sunshine we love.

Yes, bury him deep in oblivion's grave, And there let him rest-no long vigil keep-Let not the rose, or the wild willow wave Above that spot where, ungarded, he'll sleep. Bnt in menory's land we'll foster the name

Of Garfield, that's gone and sleeps with the dead While sadly we mourn for him who was slain, With pride we cherish the words he has said. L. S. BRONSON.

Consolation for Greenbackers.

The Coldwater Republican in a review of the strength and prospects of the irredeemable party, says: "The Greenback managers in Michigan are quite anxious that somebody should give them money to start two daily papers with. They would locate one at Grand Rapids and another at Lansing. They announce as the custodian of such fund, J. W. Begole, of Flint. They wish to subsidize Col. Norton and his paper, the Sentinel, of Chicago. To establish a daily costs many thousands of dollars. Greenbackers a few years ago had an idea that to make a paper, costs, in reality, nothing. They all went into a 25-cent speculation, and every one was bitten. Beside that, it swallowed all money that came to it by contributions and died bankrupt. 'Subsidies' are a nice thing for a party who gets them, but the persons who contribute are so much the poorer. The greenback cause in Michigan is not now so prosperous as it was. Isn't it is a prosperous Kentucky farmer. It had long been his custom, whenever he had a letter to write, to drop in at the bank where he kept his account and borrow a sheet of paper. Having finished the letter he would ask the cashier to put it in an envelope and direct it for him, and then carry it to the post-office himself. The frequent repetition of this performance seemed in itself a trifle small, but the cashier's indignation can be imagined when he learned that the farmer never stamped his letters, knowing that the postmascorner, would courteously prepay them and send the bill to the bank.

The Inter-Ocean is after the denizens of iniquity in Chicago with a sharp stick. It has taken to publishing the names of the owners of houses of ill fame in the city, telling their whereabouts and a description of them.

A new apportionment bill has been agreed to, and will probably pass Congress in a short time. It provides that there shall be 320 members. It gives Michigan eleven instead of nine members as heretofore. As soon as this matter is decided upon by Congress the Michigan legislature is to be called together to reapportion the State into districts, and attend to some other important matters that need their attention.

One of the most rapidly spreading fires that ever visited New York City broke out in the Old World building, at the corner of Park Row and Beekman street, Tuesday forenoon, and went through it as it would through a powder house. The building was filled with offices of real estate and other business. Among other tenants who suffered were the Scientific American, New York Observer, Turf, Field and Farm, Scottish American, National Bank Note Reporter, The Retailer, The Evening Press, of the publishing fraternity. The loss is estimated at about $1,000,000. A number of lives were lost and several are missing.

magnificent live oak and other rar shade trees, which are justly a pride with the citizens and a great luxury time. The city has a street railway, connecting all depots, passing all the principal hotels and many of the churches. It is also furnished with gas, has first-class water works, a good fire department with steam engines, several public halls, a good hospital, several steam saw mills, a planing mill, rice mill, ice factory, grist mill, moss curing establishment, several extensive cigar factories, wholesale and retail stores well stocked, and shell and curiosity stores without number. But the center of all interest in Jacksonville concentrates in the St. Johns river. a wide, deep stream. about 300 miles long, and varying in width from one-eighth to five or six miles, a great portion of it being a chain of lakes connected by the river. The color of the water is dark, caused by decaying vegetable matter and the saline and sulphuric waters poured in by its tributaries; there being only about three feet fall in two hundred miles does not give it sufficient current to clear itself. The fleet of steam and sailing boats that traverse the St. Johns and Ocklawaha rivers are ably managed, well furnished, and are apparently doing a good paying business. From Jacksonville there are several lines of steamers making daily trips to Polalka and intermediate landings, while others go beyond as far as Sanford, on the St. Johns, and Leesburg, on the Ocklawaha. All stop at Tocoi and connect there with the St. Johns railroad for the ancient city of St. Augustine, the oldest city in the United States. We are having very fine growing weather, and the market producers are bringing in green peas, radishes, lettuce, ripe strawberries, etc., etc. Peas 12½ cents per quart, while strawberries are only $1.00 per quart. Last week we made a pleasant short trip down the St. Johns to its mouth, on the Atlantic coast, and this week will go up the St. Johns and Ocklawaha rivers to Silver Springs, stopping at St. Augustine, Palatka, and other points of interest. From Silver Springs we again take cars to Cedar Keys, and thence by boat, on the gulf, to Tampa, where we expect to make our home

A quantity of "crooked" beer has been seized at Allegan, there being no revenue stamps on the kegs. The crop of small fruits in this State this year will probably be a large one. A mild winter is generally followed by an abundance of fruits. Those who insured in the Lenawee County Farmers' Mutual Company last year paid a little over one mill on the dollar assessments. In Detroit, when the audience in the Opera House applauded the verdict of the Guiteau jurors, one fellow hissed and was promptly thrown out of the house well pummeled for his temerity.

A lot of 500,000 whitelish eggs shipped from Northville, Mich., to San-Francisco, was by some accident detained on the journey, and, being sent in a warm car, the fish hatched out, and only about one-fifth of the quantity shipped has been saved-Evening

News. At South Haven last Thursday, P. Curran, while cutting ice, let a wedge fall into the water, and sink where the river is 14 feet deep. Not liking to lose the wedge, Curran stripped himself, dove to the bottom and recovered the wedge. He reports the water a little too cold yet for the boys to really enjoy going in swimming.

A gentleman residing in the country near Bay City was returning home from that place one evening recently, when passing over a piece of road through marshy ground, a fire suddenly gleamed about his horse's legs and then enveloped both horse and phaeton in a cloud of flame. Supposed to be a will-o-the-wisp.

A. McIntosh, of East Saginaw, Friday, while land-looking on the Tobacco river, and crossing a cedar swamp, was suddenly interviewed by a huge bear. The bear manifested a too affectionate disposition, Mae dodged around two big trees growing together. He kept dodging around those trees till his knees grew weak with the exercise, when he suddenly bethought him of a trick; and, taking a copy of the Saginaw Courier from his pocket, he thrust it in the bear's face, after the style of a subscription or advertising agent, sells at 15 cents per dozen, while large, whereupon the bear hastily departed to attend to business elsewhere. The paper was a red-hot number, he having lighted it with a match before presenting it to the bear; but it possibly might have had the same effect cold. About a week ago a man stepped into the office of a well-known physician and seated himself at the table, engaged in conversation. On the table were lying a number of vaccine points which the visitor mistook for tooth-picks, and taking up one he began operating it among his molars. The physician didn't notice what the man was doing for some minutes, and his attention was only called to the fact by the visitor puncturing his tongue with one of the points, causing it to bleed slight ly. The doctor gave the matter prompt attention, washed the man's mouth with alcohol and used preventa tives of various kinds, but alas, to no people for contributions of money to and some of us are getting too lazy to purpose. The vaccination "took," and the man to-day wears his tongue on

In the quite as crude theory o the philanthropist they have reformed, wholly or partially, and have parted with the moral twist that made them criminals. Under either theory society ought to start fresh with them; but society does nothing of the kind. Nor is society much to be blamed. The fact that a man has been found so dangerous to the welfare of the community as to require enforced seclusion is not an encouraging one to those who are seeking honest, faithful service. Philanthropy some times says, "give the poor fellow a chance," though self-interest says, "better not risk it," And philanthropy has so often been ill repaid for giving chances that self-interest is less inclined than ever to "risk it."

Yet something must be done with the released prisoner. He must live, and if he is not permitted to earn his living, society must support him. There are cases, no doubt-many of them, we fear -where the discharged convict, hon-estly intending to lead a better life, has been prevented by the distrust of society and the consequent liability to earn an honest living.

A convict was released from Sing Sing after serving a sentence of fourteen years. He left prison with $5 in his pocket, and when he reached New York he had $4 left. He sought work at various quarters, but everywhere the story of his fourteen years' imprison-ment was against him. Nobody wanted to employ a discharged convict so long as other help could be procured. Finally he went to the office of the New York Prison Association and asked for relief. The agent knew him, and knew that he was a discharged convict, one of the class for the relief of which the association was organized. He had neglected, however, one of the preliminaries. He had not, while in prison, enrolled his name as one of those who wished to be helped at the expiration of his term. He thought then that he would need no help, being abled-bodied and having a good trade. He told the agent this and told him also that he was starving. He begged not to be sent away and that he might be helped to the opportunity to earn an honest living. But the agent was powerless. The rule of the associa-tion was infl xible; and so he was sent away. The next day he forged a check and was arrested while trying to pass it He was promptly tried and convicted and is now back in Sing Sing under sentence for four years and six months. Wheat, per bushel ..... A sure cure for the Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Ulcerated Piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams (an Indian remedy), called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of 25 and 30 years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, Instruments, and Electuaries do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching (particularly at night after getting warm in bed), acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for Piles, itching o the private parts, and nothing else. Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment: "I have used scores of pile

Effects of Tight Lacing.

A most remarkable and extreme case of the effect of tigh lacing is cited by the London Queen as having come under the notice of the coroner for Central Middlesex. Dr. D. Thomas held an inquest on the body of a widow, whose death, at the age of 43, was undoubtedly due to the practice of tight lacing. To such an extent was this carried that the medical man who made the post-mortem examination of the body of this foolish woman found that the stomach was so pressed upon that it formed two cavities instead of one, and that the liver was deeply indented, flattened and driven downward out of its proper position. Nor were these the only evil results of this evil habit. From the construction of the chest, the lungs are unable to expand to the measure of their full extent, or the heart to beat regularly. These al-terations of the structure of the vital organs of the body interfere with their due and proper action. The compressed stomach cannot digest the food, the liver is disorganized and cannot secrete the bile, so indispensable to the due diges-tion of the food. The diminished and inactive lungs are unable to take in sufficient vital air to purify the blood or maintain the natural warmth of the body Cold feet and noses result from the stag-nation of that fluid, which the heart, being pressed upon unduly, is unable to put in proper circulation. Exercise is women cannot run upstairs without suf-tering from palpitation and breathless-ness. This condition of things leads to consumption, to heart disease—equally fatal in its character—to disease of the liver, and, as the food is not properly di-jested, a weak and atonic state of the body is induced, that saps the very power of life and lays the foundation for all "the thousand ills that flesh is heir to." It is not often that a sudden death results from this unnatural practice, and, therefore, few cases come before our cor oners; but every medical man knows of the compressed and deformed chests which have come under his knowledge, and which are day by day slowly, bat not less surely, lessening the vitality and hastening the death of his female ptients.

The Wit of Words.

A pun, to be perfect in its kind, should contain two distinct meanings—the one common and obvions; the other more remote: and in the notice which the min.i takes of the relation between these two sets of words, and in the surprise which that relation excites, the pleasure of a pun consists. Miss Hamilton, in her book on education, mentions the instance of a boy so very neglectful that he could never be brought to read the word patriarchs; but whenever he met with it he called it partridges. It could hardly be considered as a mere piece of negligence, for it appeared to her that the boy, in calling them partridges, was harking game of the patriarchs. Now, here are two distinct meanings contained in the same phrase : for to make game of the patriarchs is to laugh at them, or to make game of them is, by a very extravagant and laughable sort of ignorance o words, to rank them among pheasants which the law takes under its protection and calls game; and the whole pleasure derived from the pun consists in the sudden discovery that two such different meanings are referable to one form of expression. I have very little to say about puns; they are in very bad repute, and so they ought to be. The wit of language is so miserably inferior to the wit of ideas, that it is very deservedly

Valley of the Jordan. The population of Palestine is about s easy to describe as the inhabitants of the country bordering the Jordan. The bulk of the inhabitants are a mized race, says Dr. R. D. Hitchcock, descendants of the ancient Syrians and their Arab conquerors. The Jewish population of Palestine is not great, and they dwell chiefly in the four sacred cities of Jernchieny in the four sacred cities of Jern-salem, Safed, Tiberias and Hebron. To say anything intelligently of the Valley of the Jordon, we advise the knowledge-seeker to take a map of Palestine and follow it while a few points are given. Lake Huleh (called also the Waters of Merom) is the largest northern body of water which contributes to the Jordan. This lake is triangular in shape, about six miles long and three and a half wide. On the north of the lake whence spring several affluents of the Jordan, is an im-penetrable jungle, the wallowing place of buffalces. There is a marsh border-ing the lake, which is about ten miles long, and which is covered with reeds and brushes, but on the west there is a fine fertile plain. From Lake Huleh to the Sea of Galilee (the Lake of Gennesaret) the river passes sluggishly over its bed for a short distance, then over a rocky bed, where it deposits its mud from the southern extremity of this lake. and enters a broad valley, or depressed plain or tract between the mountains. During the spring floods this "lower plain" is inundated; then it plunges over some twenty-seven formidable rap-ids, and then on to the Dead Sea. The whole distance, from the source of the river to its mouth, is not more than 136 miles in a straight line, and its whole descent is about 3,000 to the Dead Sea. The cities which in Bible times stood on the lakes and in the Valley of the Jordan, are generally ruins, and only groups of squallid hovels now occupy their sites. The inhabitants of

WOMAN'S TRIUMPH.

(From the Correspondence of the Mingston N. Y. Freeman.)

The case of Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, New York, furnishes an apt illustration of woman's power of endurance. This lady had been treated for months in the usual way for Erysipelas of the hand, without benefit. Not until her hand had become a mass of putrid flesh did she turn to Dr. Kennedy, proprietor of the "Favorite Remedy," for help.

He at once informed her that it was impos sible to save the hand-it must be amputated She received this terrible intelligence quietly declined to take other, stipulating merely to hold her husband's hand during the operation, and underwent the painful process withou moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy then gave "Favorite Remedy" free-ly to cleanse the blood and prevent the return of the disease, and Mrs. Myers now lives and rejoices in her great deliverance.

"Favorite Remedy" is fast becoming a trust-ed household friend in all cases of Female Weakness and diseases of the blood. One dol-lar a bottle. Your druggist has it. feb

Over $5,000,000 in broad, salmon-col-ored bars or bricks of gold, occasionally darkly tinged with copper-like coating, arrived at the United States Mint. They came in 100 wooden boxes, about two feet square and a foot deep. An express-wagon, with several custodians, carried them, and they were rolled and dumped into the weighing room like so much lead. To the men in the mint the daily handling of fabulous sums of the precious metals begets an indifference precious metals begets an inducerence that puts it on a par with the common-est merchandise. Not an ounce, how-ever, is free from the closest scrutiny while within these walls. Although a man may walk in from the street and stand at a step before the open door of the weighing-room vallt, where $30,-000,000 is stored with but a single offi-cial in sicht it would need but the cial in sight, it would need but the slightest alarm to have a score of men with loaded weapons in their hands standing on the spot. Unlike foreign mints, no display of armed protection is made, but the precaution is nevertheless complete. The large consignment yes-terday came from the Assayer's office in New York. Each box contains a "melt," or, in other words, the entire refined contents of a crucible, each varying in contents of a crucible, each varying in quantity, and every brick was num-bered. The men who do the heavy work opened the boxes, took off the pa-per wrappings, and piled the bricks upon the scales. Then the clerk weighed them and carried the bricks into the vault. The entire weight was 266,960.78 valit. The entire weight was 266,960.78 ounces Troy, or over eleven tons. The actual net weight valuation was $51,-104,466.81. If any one could count $30 every minute, and keep it up without stopping, it would take within a fraction of four months to count this amount in coin. In the mint all the counting is done by weight and measure. Piles of various kinds of coin are measured, and, if they are of the requisite number of inches each way, and the weight corresponds, the money is set down far more accurately than if the money had been countel by the deftest fingers.— Philadelphia Times. The Bedroom. Horseshoes and Luck.

The belief in witchcraft, which in years gone by was so extensively entertained, has not yet died out, and in many of our country villages it is regarded as one of those secret dangers to which every human is more or less exposed. Hence we find various devices posed. Hence we had valous devices still resorted to for the purpose of coun-teracting the supposed hurtful influences of this baneful power, instances of which we subjoin. Thus, according to a com-mon idea, one of the best preservatives is a horseshoe nailed to the threshold. The reason of this is said to be that Mars, the god of war, and the war-horse, was thought to be an enemy of Saturn, who, according to the medieval idea, was the liege lord of witches. Thus, iron instruments of any kind have been said to keep witches at bay-a supersti-tion which has been traced back to the Romans, who drove nails into the walls of their houses as an antidote against the plague. Mr. Napier says that he has seen the horseshoe in large beershops in London, and was present in the parlor of one of these when an animated discussion arose as to whether it was most effective to have the shoe nailed behind the door or upon the first step of the door. Both positions had their advocates, and instances of extraordinary lnck were recounted as having at-tended them.—Dyer's Domestic Folk-

Lore.

A beautiful wrestler with chewing gum and mathematics at Vassar College sent to the President a loaf of bread of her own baking. When it reached the White House and was unpacked from the dainty tissue paper which surrounded it, the physician in attendance did not know what it was, and sent it to the Smithsonian Institute for examination and analysis. There the learned professor clawed over a whole library of geo-logical works, not one of which threw any light upon the wonderful specimen. The School of Science at Paris was cabled, and for two days cablegrams flew thick and fast from one side of the great dampness to the other, and it was about decided that the specimen was a rock heretoforeunknown to geological science, when the delayed letter arrived from the fair baker announcing the forwarding of the adamantine delicacy. It was sawed into pieces, which are now used in the various Governmental departments as unique paper weights .- Detroit Fres Press.
