SPIRO'S INVENTORY SALE.

After Christmas we take an inventory of our stock. The holiday buying naturally leaves many odds and ends, broken lots, and overlooked patterns, everything in fact that is left from a big season's selling.

We make it a rule never to carry over these remnants. Every year at this time we sort over, pick out and arrange certain patterns and sizes that we wish to move rapidly and cut the prices.

Here and there are groups of overcoats that have not moved as rapidly as we thought they would—we'll just take $6 off the price of every one of them. That's one instance. On another lot the reduction is $4, and so on.

Here's a fine suit of underwear that was over. looked— we'll mark that $1.00—it was $1.50.

In suits you'll find bargains galore-reductions that mean savings of $2.50 to $6 on a suit-and a selection that is almost as extensive as at the height of the season.

A splendid chance for you to save wisely and shrewdly on every article you need in the wearing apparel line and an opportunity not to be overlooked.

Remember a Spiro bargain is as good as the regular stock, but less to pay, that's all.

The pumping apparatus is all ready for beginning pumping at the Um holtz well, but they have been held up for pipe, which is lost somewhere be tween here and Toledo. As soon as the weather permits moving the rig operations , will be begun putting down the second well.

Experts everywhere are praising the quality of oil produced. Everything seems to be favorable to the success of the undertaking, as the following letter shows:

ST. JOSEPH, Jan. 7, 1904. Mr. Hosford,

Dear Sir: Mr. Page Boone told me last night you had some samples of the oil and sand from the Umholtz well. I would like to get a sample of the oil and sand. I had some of each that Mr. McCracken gave me, but l was down in the oil country of Indiana the other day, showed it to several experts, they pronounced it all right, and one party wanted my sample to send to Pennsylvania. So liet him have it. They say that the oil is a valuable oil, and worth a good deal more than common oil.

We have formed a company at Bridgeman and are going to commence operations as soon as the cold due or will be due inside of three lets up. The party that is going to do our work don't want to commence just vet.

CARE OF HOUSE PLANTS.

fow to Have a Thriving Garden In Winter,

Raising house plants is not after all a very difficult thing if one observes certain facts and gives sufficient attention to these, says the Brooklyn Citizen. Plants are frequently moved around too much to thrive and are exposed to uneven temperature or drafts. The room in which plants grow must not be kept very warm in the daytime and allowed to become very cold at night. Giving enough water at regular times is of course the first requisite to success in plant culture. Most flowering plants need sunshine, and therefore a sunny window protected from drafts is the best place to keep them. On the other hand, a fernery needs light, but not sun, and therefore thrives best in windows on the shady side of the house. Coal gas and gas for lighting are destructive to all growth of plants, and therefore to protect from these cover the plants with a newspaper at night raised by some device so as not to touch the leaves. Maidenhair glass globes. Every day at as nearly the same hour as vou can manage water your plants. They will be grateful for the regularity, and as often as once a week give the large plants, such as palms and rubber trees, a sponge bath with tepid water. It is most important to keep the foliage free from dust. Plants, too, need fresh air as much as people, and therefore allow the window farthest from the plants to be open a little way at the top, being sure, however, to cover them-if the change of temperature will be felt.

ferns are found to grow best under

With attention to the above facts one may have a beautiful and thriving garden within doors all the season long.

How to Make Honey Muffins. Take three cupfuls of sifted flour; add two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a small half teaspoonful (level) of salt; sift these well together, then rub in two ounces of butter, using a flexible knife, not the fingers; beat three eggs light; add to them a cup of strained honey and a cup of milk; mix to a smooth batter and bake in a moderately hot oven.

How to Stand In a Car. One of the little women whose size forbids them to depend on the straps of a trolley car when compelled to stand gives this advice: "If one will stand facing the side windows, with feet well apart to support the body, leaning slightly to the rear when the car starts, one may escape altogether any jerking

N. C. C. Club Entertained by Mrs Harry Paul.

For the mind of the modern thinker there is nothing so sure and true as the dictum of the ancient Greek philosopher, every thing changes, but the members of the N. C. C. club, question the verity of this, for after nine years of separation, the members enjoyed a reunion which, in spite of the passing years, and the cares and responsibility of home life, made them feel quite as jolly and free from care as in their highschool days, when the club was organized.

Monday evening, at the home of Mrs. Harry Paul on Portage St., the members of this club were entertained in a most delighted way. Though there have been occasional meetings within the past year, it is nine years since those who were present this week, had enjoyed a meeting.

The guests of honor were: Miss Maude Welch of Chattanooga, Tenn. Mrs. Fred Newbery of St. Louis, and Mrs. Benedict of Chicago.

After a most pleasant social hour refreshments were served and the good nights followed.

AN ICE HOUSE.

An Inexpensive One of Convenient Size For the Ordinary Farm. In constructing an ice house it should be remembered that the smaller the house the greater the care to be exercised in erecting the building and packing the ice, advises American Agriculturist in submitting the following plan for a farm ice house: _-

A house twelve feet square and eight to ten feet high is a very convenient size for an ordinary farm. In building care should be taken to secure perfect drainage. The foundation' should be dug eighteen to twenty-four inches or until gravel is reached. Where this is not possible the lower two feet should be filled in with large stones, on top of which are placed smaller stones and gravel, until a smooth bottom is obtained.

For a house twelve feet square a frame of 8 by 8 inch timbers is placed on the brick or stone foundation for the base. A similar square frame is made for the plates, and this is supported at the four corners with 8 by 8 inch posts eight feet long and by two or three 2 by 8 inch studs on each side, with extra ones for door posts on the front side. The outside is covered with rough pine boards, the cracks between the boards being covered with battens. Inch boards line the inside up to the plates, and the space between is filled in with sawdust. The cheapest form of roof is made of inch boards, with batten pieces over the "cracks, and is supported by three horizontal strips on each side laid across rafters. The rafters are scantling beveled and nailed together at the top and set into or spiked to the plates. Half

WHAT TO DO WITH STRAW.

Views of One Who Doesn't Care to Work When There's Nothing In It. We have seven work horses fed on bran and straw, without hay or corn, and they remain in good condition through the busy season, but when it requires so much expensive food to make straw a part of the daily ration it can be made so only to a limited extent or under exceptional circumstances:

Straw is an excellent bedding for stock and should be used in sufficient quantity to prevent loss of liquid manure. This on most farms will consume a larger amount than will be eaten by stock. It is very easy, however, to use more straw than is profitable. We are learning that large bulk is not desirable in manures. Bulky manures when made of straw largely do not pay cost of handling any great distance. Even when spread on fields near the barn it makes a great difference where twenty loads of manure per acre are required to do the work that should be done by ten.

The practice of covering stock yards with straw and turning stock thereon during pleasant days in winter is a fairly good one if care is taken not to allow the yard to leach. One of the best winter provisions for a flock of sheep is to have a straw stack in their run which they will work down during the winter.

But after we have fed straw and bedded stock as much as is profitable there is a great deal of straw left over on wheat farms, and the question as to disposal to best advantage remains unsolved. When it can be sold at a net profit of $1 a ton it should be put upon the market. When the location is near some city or strawboard factory this can always be done. Sometimes it will pay to have straw baled and ship it to a distant market, but only those who live near a railroad station can do so.

So the only plan left on the great majority of farms is to allow stacks to rot down. In such case they are in the way in cultivated fields, occupy valuable space and when rotted down the manure isn't very valuable. Even on land where vegetable matter is deficient straw isn't the best thing to supply the need. It takes lots of work to haul it out and scatter it on the land, and then it is difficult to turn under. Green manures are far cheaper to put humus into the soil, for there is no cost of hauling or spreading, and they contain many times as much plant food as straw.

We may be criticised for our practo two-thirds of the middle of the ridge tice the past few years, but after mais cut out, leaving an opening three to ture deliberation we can see no better plan of getting rid of our surplus straw

They are an every day need of everybody, and for that very reason will be of value. That's the sort of a present that most people give now-a-days, something sensible, something useful.

But have them good. That's a reason why we ought to sell them to you, and don't pay more than you ought, that's another reason.

The doors are made of a single thickness of boards. Care should be taken to have them tight so as not to permit of circulation of air. To make them more effective the space between the door and the boards placed on the inside of the door frame to prevent sawdust or other packing material used from falling out can be padded with straw when the house is filled. Nebraska Forest Planting. In 1891 a-considerable area in the Sand Hill region of Nebraska was planted with bull pine, Scotch pine and Banks' pine, and a variety of deciduous species such as black locust, birch, box elder, cherry and red oak was also planted. After twelve years' growth the larger trees of the Banks' pine are from fifteen to twenty feet high, the Scotch pine from four to twelve feet and the bull pine from three to eight feet. The grove at present is dense in growth and fully covers the otherwise almost worthless sand hills. It is said that on the success of this early planting was based the forest reserve in western Nebraska; which is to be planted under the supervision of the bureau of forestry.-

Cost of Running a Creamery. The total cost for running a creamery and marketing the product, including interest on the investment and provision for a sinking fund, ought not to exceed 3½ cents for every pound of butter made. Under favorable conditions this cost ought to be reduced to 3 or even as low as 1½ cents. The smallest practical creamery cannot be operated for less than $4 or $5 per day. It becomes evident then that the daily product should be over 150 pounds as a safe minimum. Consequently no creamery should be put into operation unless having control or a promise of about 300 cows.-Oscar Erf, University of Illinois, In Orange Judd Farmer.

The Tide Toward New England. At the Massachusetts agricultural board meeting Dr. G. M. Twitchell presented a very cheerful view of agricultural prospects. He believes that "the outlook for New England agriculture must be positive. Here are the markets, here the industries are multiplying rapidly, here is to be the great distributing center for manufactured products, here are the acres which will yield larger crops than prairie or plantation, and here a climate adapted to the growing of a vast variety of food for man and beast of a quality unexcelled upon the face of the earth. In the constructive work for a more aggressive agriculture the student, professor and worker have before them the greatest opportunity of their lives. The conditions are favorable, the times are auspicious, the tide is setting toward New England, and the currents of thought are centering here."

REV VAN SCHOICK

He is Once. More Back to His Chosen Work.

Last October Rev. R. W. Van Schoick, presiding elder of the Niles district; left his home in this city, broken in health and mourning the loss by death of his mother and his beloved wife. The hand of Providence had dealt severely with him, and one misfortune followed fast upon another, and he sought in a sanitarium at Crystal Springs, N. Y., the complete mental and bodily rest which his condition demanded.

For several months he remained at the sanitarium, from which he has recently emerged invigorated in mind and body, and ready to take up once more the thread of his life's work. He found a field of labor at Sayre, Pa., a town of perhaps seven thousand souls, where he is now conducting a rousing revival and meeting with merited success. As a pleasing and forceful speaker Rev VanSchoick has few equals and his thousands of friends will be overjoyed to learn that he is able to again return to MORGAN IS DEFEATED In His Attempt to Prevent the Confirmation of Buchanan, Envoy to Panama. GEN. REYES QUITS WASHINGTON Wants His Correspondence with Hay Published-Protest from New Haven Men.

Washington, Jan. 12. — The sencte in executive session laid on the stable a motion to reconsider the confirmation of the nomination of W. I. Buchanan to be minister to Panama. The vote was 33 to 16, divided on party lines with the exception of McCreary of Kentucky, who voted with the Republicans. By this action Buchanan now has full powers to act for this government in all diplomaticexchanges between the United States and the new republic. The motion to reconsider the confirmation was made before the holidays by Morgan, thus withholding for three weeks Buchanan's commission as minister. In the meantime Buchanan had arrived on the isthmus, where he occupied the position of pri vate citizen except for a special commission to act as the personal representative of the president in gathering information concerning existing condi tions there.

Reyes Leaves Washington for Good. Washington, Jan. 12. -- General Reyes, the Colombian special minister here, had an hour's conference with the secretary of state at the latter's home respecting the Panama situation. He announced at the conclusion of the interview that he probably would leave for New York, not expecting to return. The Associated Press has been in formed that General Reyes, in his last note to the state department, threatened to publish the correspondence between himself and the state department if the department did not see fit to send it to the senate or make it public. The state department ignored this threat. Reyes has left for New York and will sail Saturday direct for Colombia, Give No Hopes. Columbus, O., Jan. 12.-Just as he arrived at the Union station to take 1 train for Springfield ex-Governor Asa S. Bushnell was stricken with apoplexy, and is now in a serious condition. The attending physicians consider his condition most critical, and hold out very little hope of recovery.

His carriage had arrived at the station-and the driver upon opening the door found him in an almost unconscious condition. Will Grant, of Springfield, who was passing, recognized the situation, and jumping into the carriage had it hurriedly driven to a physician's office and then to the Grant hospital.

Dr. Loving said, when last seen and questioned: "I have only slight hopes of Mr. Bushnell's recovery." The exgovernor is now surrounded by all the members of his family, whom he recognizes and with whom he is able to converse, but indistinctly, and only by the greatest exertion.

ISLANDS WANT TO SECEDE

Would Leave Colombia and Join Panama -Indians Are with the Colombians.

Colon, Jan. 12.-The schooner Herald, which has arrived here from Bocas del Toro, brought a commissioner from the island of San Andres who will endeavor to obtain the annexation of San Andres to the republic of Panama, owing to the dissatisfaction of the inhabitants of the island at the alleged recent oppressive exactions on the part of the Colombian authorities. He says 490 Colombian troops are now in garrison on the islands of San Andres and Providence, and that more soldiers are expected.

The dissatisfaction, he adds, is general throughout the islands. During the past few weeks no less than $18,-000 has been collected by means of the property tax, which the inhabitants are not in a position to meet, but have been compelled to pay. Panama is desirous of annexing San Andres and Providence, but it is believed that steps in that direction at the present moment would be inopportune.

The Mayflower has arrived here after scouting the coast as far as the Gulf of Darien. The warship stopped at several points along the San Blas coast, and found the attitude of the Indians everywhere unfriendly. They declined to give information of any sort. and even refused to sell the ship fruit or fish or any other article. The officers of the Mayflower were repeat edly asked to leave the coast, and were made to understand that the presence of either Panamanians or United Statesans in their territory was unwelcome to the natives.

Theater Were Locked.

Another interesting witness was James M. Strong, who testified that he with his mother and wife bought standing room tickets for the performance, and were in the first balcony. When committee requests that he include in the fire started he left the balcony, it a full statement as to the navy de- | followed by his wife and mother, and partment's side of this matter. and to went to a door which proved to be an exit, but was locked. He threw himself against the door but could not the Grumiaux News and subscription, force it open, and then reached up and broke the transom with his fist, pulled himself up through the transom, dropping upon the outside of the door, where he found a man with a lot of tools, presumably a carpenter.

The two men tried in every way to break down the door from the outside, but could not, and then Strong pulled himself up into the transom a second time, intending if possible to pull his mother and wife out in the same manner as he had escaped. While he was half way through the transom the flames filled all that part of the theapresident to appoint Major General | ter, his mother and wife were burned in front of his eyes and he was so badly scorched that for several days his life was despaired of.

It is upon Strong's evidence that the state's attorney will largely rely if an attempt is made to secure indictments in connection with the fire.

George M. Dusenberry, head usher of the theater, testified that he made a round of the theater just prior to the commencement of the fire, and found about seventy-five people standing. A few were standing in the aisles and these he requested to move back, as the aisles must be kept clear. When questioned as to the fire protection in father." Price 50c a bottle at Dr. E. the house Dusenberry declared that S. Dodd & Son's. fire extinguishers were placed in different parts of the theater, and near the front door there was a hose apparently about fifty feet long. He had never received any instructions as to what should be done in case of fire and had never issued any to the ushers under him. He testified that there were three doors leading from the second balcony to the lobby, and that one of these was locked, he having fastened it himself with a key. There were, he said, in passageways from the first and second balconiestwo folding metal gates. Both were locked with chain and padlock. It was his duty to lock these gates at the commencement of a performance and to unfasten them at the close of the second act.

He declared that all the exits except these on the north side of the house were unlocked, and upon the coroner suggesting that some other employe might have locked them during theper-formance and forgotten to unlock them, Dusenberry said it was not at all probable.
