IT WILL NOT DOWN

A Few Persons Determined to Keep the Gas Question
Above Ground.

TRUSTEES WENT TO NILES

On Tuesday Evening to Inquire Into the "Merits" of Gas For Street Lighting."

It seems almost like a burlesque to say that the village council of Buchanan went to Niles to investigate into the merits of gas for street lighting, when there is not a street in Niles lighted by gas. The council, (or anyone else for that matter) is not adverse to taking a little outing and adding to their stock of information, when they can do so at the invitation and expense of generous friends.

After repeated announcement made by the "gas?" journal of Niles, which is so deeply interested in Buchanan's welfare, the new council and the village president were finally taken to Niles on Tuesday evening, and Mr.
Parker did his best, and it was well done, to explain to them the merits of Niles gas for Buchanan streets.
That Buchanan may not be deprived of this great boon, he is really willing to pipe Niles gas to Buchanan at almost cost, if not entirely so. Nothing is so much to be admired as the spirit of helpfulness, and it does seem that Buchanan would be very ungrateful to decline such wonderful advantages.

The oracle has several times, since the village election, asserted that Mr.
Parker would no doubt get the contract for lighting the streets with gas, and it may be true, for how could our village trustees turn down such a magnanimous offer? But, behold! there is knocking at our doors another who wants to help to do us good. The Practical Gas Construction company, of North Chicago, represented by Warren & Pettigrew.

Mr. DeGryse, a friend of Edgar Ham, represents the firm and was in town sometime ago and again Wednesday. Mr. DeGryse says he will be in Buchanan next Tuesday with Mr.
Pettigrew, attend the council meeting and present to them their proposition to put a plant into Buchanan.

They claim to have the "best gas on earth." We all concede that good light is a thing to be appreciated, for home, business place and street. Buchanan will especially appreciate street lights after groping in darkness so long. These people propose to show Buchanan that they have the best, and that it will be cheapest to own their own plant, instead of paying tribute to another. As they expect to present their plan to the council Tuesday evening, it would be well for those who are interested in cheap light and fuel, to be there and hear.

Prominent Woodman Dead.

I. L. H. Dodd informs the Record of the death recently, of J. W. White, Rock Island, Ill., who was the general attorney of the Modern Woodmen of America. He visited Buchanan several times in regard to the Baily case and was well known to the Woodmen here.

Wine Lo-Ti.

Made of beef, iron, wine, nerving, cascara and Aromatics, is the most perfect food tonic in existence. It agrees with all other medicines and never fails to give permanent strength and vigor. Pleasant to take, it increases the weight and improves the appetite. Large bottles, 50c at Dr.
E. S. Dodd & Son's.

LOST—On March 4, a soldier's certificate, bearing name of Geo. W. Gray.
Finder will please return it to this

GEO. R. HORTON Of Fruit Ridge, Announces Himself For Candidate For Governor

George R. Horton candidate for governor of the state of Michigan, says:

In permitting my name to be considered with others before the next republican convention to be called for the purpose of nominating state officers, I am not prompted by a mere personal ambition to enjoy the honors of office.

I fully realize that honors attached to a position of public trust must be earned through an earnest and resultantly endorsed service, and that an intelligent citizen people will be the arbiter and the judge thereof.

I believe in Michigan, with all her varied productive and industrial interests, and in all her humane, reformatory, religious and educational institutions, they reflect upon our national greatness, as a contribution thereto, of the wisdom, the virtue and the progressive spirit of the people of a great state.

In the management of state institutions I believe in a progressive,
business-like economy.

In the matter of primary reform my opinions are well known. I am in favor of applying the Australian ballot to the purposes of nominating candidates for all elective places of public trust.

The people are the state, and let no man, no party of men, to be greater than they.

As to taxation, our state constitution declares for a uniform rate upon all of the properties of the state.

There is no state service which requires a greater degree of good, broad and conservative judgment than the spreading of taxes upon the properties of the people for the support of our public institutions and our state government.

These ideas are as I believe in line with the conclusions and desires of practically all of the people of the state.

As to the success of my candidacy,
I feel assured that if freedom of expression in voice and ballot is permitted at primary caucuses, and if there is no resort to those un-American and party-condemned choking processes which are given form by applying the unit rule and the making of delegations unanimous, but on the other hand the natural proportionate strength of each candidate is permitted to go up from every township and from every county to be concentrated at the state convention, I have no doubt that the vote I shall receive will be a pleasure and a satisfaction to my supporters and an honor to myself.

Should I however fail of a nomination, my love for the party and our state shall in no measure abate.

The comments of the state papers on the primary election movement are interesting, even though they do appear to be mostly one way. They upper peninsula, it is true, does not take kindly to the idea, but aside from the newspapers in that quarter the sentiment appears to be practically unanimous in favor of legislation that will put a practical law on the statute books applying in particular to the nomination of governor. The editorial opinion two years ago, and even one year ago, was very different.
Then there was much doubt and more silence as to the necessity for any change. The present outspoken advocacy of primary reform indicates very clearly the drift of public sentiment. The people want the reform and the politicians who seek to stay its progress will discover they are on the side that will not win.—Grand Rapids Herald.

THEY MET IN GOSHEN

Ladies of 30 Club Hold Session
at Home of Mrs. Rough

CHARMINGLY ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Beatrice Hubbell Plummer, the Celebrated Singer, Delights the Ladies With Her Music

That the ladies of the 30 Club might enjoy a day with one of their former members, Wednesday of this week, was chosen as the time to meet with Mrs. Cora Rough, of Goshen, Ind., she having been assigned hostess for that day before her departure from Buchanan.

Persuant to this plan the ladies left early in two carryalls for Niles and via the Big 4 arrived in Goshen at 9:45. Warmest greeting awaited them as Mr. and Mrs. Rough, and son Lester, beside Mrs. Glenn Smith welcomed them as they alighted from the train.

After a morning of social discourse,
dinner was announced by the hostess,
and such a dinner! The club ladies had thought to have a picnic dinner,
and had brought with them boxes, containing most inviting edibles, but so generous and varied a menu had been provided by Mrs. Rough that some of the boxes were undisturbed and saved as a luncheon while the party were enroute home, having been delayed by a late train. The guests found dainty Easter souvenirs at each place which the hostess had furnished.

The club program was carried out at the regular hour. In memory of former days, "Michigan, My Michigan" was sung, followed by a chapter from Proverbs. Miss Dovie Cook gave an excellent paper on William Dean Howells' early struggles as an author, and a synopsis of his writings.
Roll call was responded to by wise sayings. A review of Will Carleton's works, which was very interesting was given by Miss Wilcox. The program closed by the reading of Carle-ton's "Elder Pettigrew's Helpmeet," by Mrs. Bower.

Then came a rare treat, the rendering of several vocal selections by Mrs. Beatrice Hubbell Plummer, a widely known soprano, and a personal friend of Mrs. Rough's. The most beautiful of the selections was "A Wandering One"—a Song Cycle by Caro Roma, in six parts, four of which the ladies were favored with.
Readers of the Chicago Chronicle will recall the account of Mrs. Plummer's success as a vocalist which was published in a recent number of that paper, accompanied by a cut of the singer. Pleasure that comes unlooked for, is thrice welcome, so the ladies of the 30 club felt more than delighted by Mrs. Plummer's charming voice.

With her usual hospitality, Mrs.
Rough served her guests with ice cream and cake, at the close of the music, and after another hour's pleasure, the ladies entered a wagonette, which had been provided through the courtesy of the club's president, Mrs.
Cook, and started for the return trip, feeling deeply the real pleasure and enjoyment Mrs. Rough and her hospitable husband had afforded them.

Mrs. Myron Smith, Miss Olive Brenner, Mrs. Plummer, and her accompanied, Mrs. Myron Dow, were guests of the day.

About 8 o'clock a party of ladies, veritable pilgrims of the night, alighted on Front street, from the wagonette and wended their way home, "to sleep
—perchance to dream."

Under the new order of things the Modern Woodmen of America are doing better than ever before. There was no assessment for February and there will be none for April. This is a good society to join.

Spring Garden Notes.

The Citronelle Call sent us through the courtesy of D. V. Brown, who with his wife, is enjoying the balmy southern skies, contains the following:

One of the most welcome guests of the spring season, Mr. Strawberry, and all the little strawberries, arrived in town this week to remain with us for some time. The gentle rains and the warm winds are their delight and there is every prospect of a fine yield.
The first of the week, shipments north will be begun by Mr. Coleman. The berries in the market seem firm and fine and are still expensive enough to constitute them the aristocrats of the garden. Another week or so, however, and short cake will be common.

The radishes are thriving this season,—growing so fast they burst their jackets in the warm rains. Easily cultivated and readily handled, they are a good crop for the truckers.

Everything is growing as if engaged in a wild race. Peas and beans are coming on rapidly. Mr. Maloney is beginning to brag on his tomato plants, and everyone who is engaged in the enviable pursuit of cultivating
the soil looks hopeful and happy.

The roses are abundant and more beautiful than ever, as usual. Violets are still to be obtained. The azaleas are at their finest, the famous Rulifson bushes attracting many visitors. These remarkable azaleas sixty odd years old, are said to be unsurpassed any where in the world.

The woods—that's another story!
Dogwood like snowbanks or ghostly ships in the sea depths,—a white glory amid the uncompassing green, wild azalea along the "branch,"— mountain laurel, the kind they have in John Fox, Jr.'s stories, just coming into flower,—delicate little white violets around the mossy uncurling tulip and boy and maple—"Come away to Dixie."

The death rate from typhoid fever
in New York City, with all its filth, with all its great population, with all its immense tenement houses, is less than it is among the farmers of Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, and the great Northwest in general. And why?
Simply because of local conditions.
The Groton; a comparatively small stream, has been patrolled unusually well. Property has been condemned and destroyed, and pollution of the water is prevented, and the death rate from typhoid is exceeding low.

From an address by Dr. Victor C.
Vaughan, dean of the medical department of the University of Michigan.

We have just received 1500 ft. of fine room mouldings, see them.

Another Washout.

The heavy rain of last night, caused another wash out on the Michigan Central tracks, in the same location as the one where the fatality of exactly a week previous occurred.

Both the east and west bound tracks were dislodged, but as every precaution had been taken to watch the train,
a crew of men went to work at once to repair the damage and the trains are now running over the road.

IS ANY WONDER

People do not have Much Confidence in Church Members Today!

Some time since there was announced on a program for a S. S. Convention, in a neighboring state society,
the name of a prominent young lady,
a member of a leading church and a leader in society, a musical selection.

When the evening came the young lady was absent, of course those present were disappointed; but what was their chagrin and disgust at the next evening, reading in the daily paper, the announcement that Miss—gave a card party to her fashionable friends
last evening?

Religion is all right and when people show their sincerity, their profession has some influence, but when they profess one thing and do another, they are an injury to the cause
they profess to support.

We might ask ourselves how are we influencing people?

ACT QUICKLY

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Buchanan.

Do the right thing at the right time.
Act quickly in times of danger; backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly, cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills, plenty of evidence to prove this.

S. F. Snell, cigar manufacturer, of Division street, Dowagiac, says, "I found by experience that Doan's Kidney Pills is a medicine of rare value.
I had a severe lameness which was something unusual and when on my feet I had an aching across my loins.
Doan's Kidney Pills gave me almost immediate relief and it was only a short time till the lameness and backache were a thing of the past. Doan's Kidney Pills did for me all that they claimed to do."

Just such emphatic endorsements
can be had right here in Buchanan.
Drop in to W. N. Brodrick's drug store and ask what his customers report.

For sale by all dealers, price 50c.

Isn't It A Satisfaction

to enter a store that has only the newest, best and freshest stocks? A store that weeds out all the odds and ends at the finish of every season and keeps its counters and shelves filled with attractive new goods?

We have the largest, best equipped and most conveniently arranged clothing store in Northern Indiana.

Every article we sell is backed by the Spiro guarantee and that means the quality is there, the style is right and that it must come up to your highest expectation.

Good clothes are always worth what they cost, but paying the price doesn't get them.

The reasons for buying Spiro suits are: First, they are good clothes; second, they cost enough to be good, and no more; third, if you don't think they're as good as they cost, you can have your money back.

We are now receiving new spring suits and overcoats from eastern markets, and we will be glad to see you and to show them to you.

We won't bore you to buy if you should not be ready to.

THE ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS.

APRIL 1, 1904.

In every community there are some persons who are the vultures of society they feed on nothing but carrion and if they can not carry some foul or sensational tale or listen or read the same kind they are not in their element. We do not expect to please that kind of people as we make it a matter of conscience not to circulate anything that will harm another unless a greater number will be benefited. Sometimes it seems almost necessary to hurt some one that others may be benefited, but merely the matter of telling foul and sensational tales we do not intend to be guilty of.

Errors.

Where errors are the rule, like practices in a man's life, they are not much noticed, but where they are the exception they attract attention.

Some men go into the saloon every day, and sometimes many times in the day, but no one thinks of it, but let some person whom one has never seen go in do so, and it will make an impression.

Thus it is with the newspaper, where errors are the rule one does not expect anything else, but where they are the exception one notices it. It is quite surprising how quickly an error in an advertisement will be noticed, and it is one of the greatest evidences that they are read. Only the newspaper man knows how many discover the errors.

Yes, people read the advertisements.

Loyalty to Buchanan.

With some of the best and the cheapest grocery stores in the country there seems to be no reason why any person, who has any loyalty to Buchanan, need go away from home to buy. We do not know that you do go, and we hope you do not.

It is not reasonable to suppose in a town the size of Buchanan it will be possible to get everything that may be needed, and it is to be expected that it will be necessary to go out for some things; and by the way we notice that some of those who talk the most about foreign advertisements, either themselves, or their friends and family, buy more from home than others; but when it comes to groceries and flour, there is no need of any one going from home, for it is a fact that groceries are cheaper in Buchanan than anywhere else for miles around.

Every dollar spent from home that could have been just as well spent here, makes the town that much poorer. We believe that most of the people of Buchanan are interested in her welfare, but sometimes we are thoughtless. If any have been thoughtless enough to buy groceries away from home, just turn over a new leaf.

Heavy Rains

We have had severe rain storms the past few days. The St. Joseph is unusually high and the dam and power house have endured a severe strain.

Last night the dike below the power house, that prevents the water backing up into the tail race, broke and it took the united and continued efforts of a number of men to keep it from entire destruction.

Altogether we have great reason for thankfulness, as we have really suffered little compared with others.

A Love Letter

Would not interest you if you're looking for a guaranteed salve for sores, burns or piles. Otto Dodd, of Ponder, Mo., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. It's the best salve on earth. 25c at W. N. Brodrick's drug store."

NILES NOMINATIONS

Nominations of the Republican and Democratic parties at Niles are as follows: Republican city ticket, for mayor, L. E. Wood, for clerk, L. J. Morgan, for treasurer, David Southworth, school inspector B. C. Reed. Democratic city ticket; mayor L. H. Beeson, clerk Albert Pateman, treasurer Charles Schmidt, justice of the peace Theodore G. Beaver, school inspector Harry O. Pierce.

IN MEMORIAM

BERTHA GRACE COVENEY.

Bertha Grace, daughter of William and Louisa Wynn and adopted daughter of Joseph and Florence Coveney, was born February 9th, 1879, and died March 28th, 1904, being therefore 25 years, 1 month, 19 days old.

Upon the death of her mother, which occurred more than 20 years ago, "Little Berta" as she was commonly called, was taken into this home where she grew into womanhood, receiving all the love and care fond parents could bestow on a dutiful and obedient daughter. She being a cousin of Mrs. Coveney's made the relation doubly dear to them both. She was of a cheerful disposition, ever looking on the bright side and no cloud was so dark to her but the silver lining would gleam through in many places.

Being naturally of a frail constitution, she was taken to Arizona when 15 years of age, in hopes that the mild climate would be of some benefit. She entered the High School of Phoenix, where she remained two years making for herself hosts of friends.

After her return to her home she entered the school at Buchanan, but her health would not permit her attendance but two months, when after a time she returned to the West where she spent two years more in Phoenix and Los Angeles. Since that time she has been at home in this place.

She was an earnest worker in the Sunday School and had many warm friends among the young people. "I do not think Berta ever had a selfish thought" has been repeated many times by her companions, and no one could know her without being made better by her gentle Christian character. She never sought praise for herself, and had nothing but kind words and doing kind deeds with a sunny smile that was all her own.

During her last illness of one year's duration she was a great sufferer, but bore the pain with the same degree of patience and hope that has followed her through life. She has been the light and sunshine of her home, and has left a vacancy that can never be filled. She has been a dutiful daughter, a loving guide and companion to the two orphan cousins, Fern and Lisle, who were taken into this home two years ago.

She leaves besides her adopted parents, a father, three sisters, and two brothers, and many, many warm friends who mourn her early departure from this life.

LESLIE SNYDER.

The body of Leslie Snyder, a nephew of Chas. Snyder, was brought here Tuesday evening for burial in Long Lake Cemetery. Mr. Snyder was well known in this community, his career as a professional base ball player having brought him into prominence.

His home was in Vicksburg, Miss., but he died while in Delnot, Dakota. He has been a lumberman for the past few years.

RUBY RAY REAMER.

The death of Ruby Ray Reamer occurred Tuesday evening at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hamilton, where for the past four years, since her father's death, she has made her home.

Her death was caused by consumption, from which disease she has suffered for many years.

The funeral will occur Friday afternoon, at her late home, conducted by Elder Shook. The deceased was a consistent member of the Christian Church, and leaves many sorrowing friends.

L. B. RENNINGER.

County Supervisor Richards received word on Friday morning of the death at the County House of Levi B. Renninger, an old wagon maker of Buchanan, who was a native of Pennsylvania. Hemorrhage of the lungs caused his death. He was 70 years old, and the body will be brought here for burial.

Mr. Renninger has a daughter living in Pennsylvania, but her address is unknown to the authorities.

He was taken to the County House on Monday of this week.

CONFERENCE WILL BEGIN

Rev. F. Klump, Former Pastor Here, Will Preach Sunday.

Rev. F. Klump of Cass City, former pastor of the Evangelical church of this place, will occupy the pulpit at the Evangelical church next Sunday; services as follows: 10:30 a. m. Easter discourse; 11:45 Bible School; 6:30 p. m. Y. P. A. Song service; 7:30 Preaching service.

The 40th annual session of the Michigan Conference of Evangelical Association begins next Monday; preaching at 7:30 p. m. by Rev. E. G. Johnson of Vicksburg. Tuesday morning the examination of the junior preachers will begin and continue till Wednesday noon. Tuesday evening Rev. D. O. Ruth of Traverse City, will preach. Wednesday evening will be Y. P. ## Our Grand Spring Opening Buchanan, Mich., March 31.

Dear Madam:

Yourself and friends are cordially invited to attend the Grand Opening of our Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Department, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, April 2, 4 and 5, 1904.

We have made special arrangements to have on display for these three days, an exceptionally large assortment of Ladies' and Misses' exclusive fine Suits, Skirts, Silk Jackets, Rain Coats and Shirt Waists.

This will be a splendid opportunity for you to make your selection for a spring suit or wrap, as we shall, in addition to our ready-made wear, be prepared to take measures for garments made to order, guaranteeing perfect fit and absolute satisfaction in every particular.

Respectfully yours,

B. R. DESENBERG & BRO.

Seriously Ill.

Issac M. Vincent, an old and esteemed resident of Buchanan, has been very ill the past few days. Latest reports say he is improving.

Broke Into His House

St. LeQuinn of Cayendish, Vt., was robbed of his customary health by invasion of chronic constipation. When Dr. King's New Life Pills broke into his house, his trouble was arrested and now he's entirely cured. They are guaranteed to cure, 25c at W. N. Brodrick's drug store.

Southern Friends Write.

In a letter received recently by Mrs. J. L. Kight, Mrs. Howe gives a most interesting description of the conditions in Alabama; extracts from her letter follow. In speaking of the immense strawberry fields owned by Levi Lister, she says:

It certainly is a great sight to see so many strawberries together, there are in sight 58 acres full of berries and blooms. I counted some bunches where there were 25 berries bunched up together, as large as the end of your finger, which of course will be much larger when ripe.

They plan to have ten pickers to every acre and are trying to get small houses enough near, for them to stay in, if they want to remain the week through. They do not pick on Sunday, so have to have more on Monday.

We had our first strawberries Sunday and yesterday I went out to the field to get some for supper; of course some one went with me, for they expect me to have a colored waiter at every turn. We have a cook, (which I had much rather do without), a driver, a man to bring wood and water, make a fire at night, etc., but don't imagine this is going to spoil me for work when I get home.

FOR SALE—Forty acres of land with a comfortable house and barn five acres of timber and a small orchard, situated one mile north of Dayton, Mich. For particulars inquire of Enos Holmes.

Registration Notice.

To the electors of the township of Buchanan, county of Berrien, state of Michigan.

Notice is hereby given, that a meeting of the Board of Registration of the township above named, will be held at the township clerk's office on Main street within said township, on Saturday, April 2, A. D. 1904, for the purpose of registering the names of all such persons who shall be possessed of the necessary qualifications of electors, and who may apply for that purpose; and that said Board of Registration will be in session on the day and at the place aforesaid from 9 o'clock in the forenoon until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose aforesaid. By order of the township Board of Registration.

Dated this 25th day of March, A. D. 1904.

F. W. RAVIN,
Clerk of said township.

Notice of Election.

Notice is hereby given to the electors of the township of Buchanan, in the county of Berrien, and state of Michigan, that the next ensuing annual township meeting of said township will be held on Monday, April 4, A. D. 1904, at Engine House No. 1, for the first precinct and at the Cutlery building on Main street for the second precinct, within said township. At which election the following officers will be chosen, viz: One supervisor, one clerk, one treasurer, one school inspector, one member of board of review, one justice of peace, and four constables.

The polls of said election will be opened at eight o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as may be, and will be continued open until five o'clock in the afternoon, unless the board shall in their discretion, adjourn the polls at 12 o'clock, noon for one hour.

Dated at Buchanan, this 25th day of March A. D. 1904.

F. W. RAVIN,
Township clerk.

Saves Two From Death

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage also used this wonderful medicine and today is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles, guaranteed by W. N. Brodrick. Trial bottles free.

CORRESPONDENCE

PORTAGE PRAIRIE.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rhoades March 24.

Mr. Arley Henry of Laketon, Ind., is in the employ of E. S. Arney.

A candy social will be given at the Womer school house Friday evening, April 1.

Mrs. Wilson House, Mrs. Ira House Miss Sophia Zellars spent Wednesday with Mrs. Jacob Rough.

Mrs. Susan Arney spent a few days in South Bend last week.

Miss Grace Brown of St. Joseph, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Emory Rongh.

About 30 friends gave Mrs. E. S. Arney a pleasant surprise last Wednesday evening, reminding her of her thirty-fifth birthday.

DAXTON.

Over a hundred people attended the Woodmen banquet Wednesday evening. Games were played and all did justice to the elegant supper. We wish the Woodmen would celebrate often.

A. C. Weaver was in Buchanan Monday.

Mrs. F. H. Weaver and children visited in New Carlisle Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Nellie Barnes and Mrs. E. Fox, sister and mother of Mrs. Edna Weaver, visited Mrs. E. Weaver Monday. Mrs. E. Fox will start for Oklohoma Friday, where her husband has taken up a soldier's claim.

The Royal Neighbors will give a pie social at the Woodmen hall Saturday evening, April 9. Every one is invited; ladies please bring a pie.

Mrs. Price and son of Dowagiac, visited Mrs. F. Hall on Sunday.

Every one seemed to have all the maple wax they could eat at the social Saturday evening, and we all enjoyed the graphone music which Mr. Price of Pokagon, furnished. The Royal Neighbors made over twelve dollars. All went home happy.

Mrs. Richter and son Fred, visited in Michigan City over Sunday.

BENTON HARBOR.

Two of our saloon keepers were arrested this morning for keeping "open house" last Sunday.

A most interesting history of Benton Harbor appeared in last Saturday's News—Palladium.

An Easter song service will be given at the Methodist church next Sunday night, by a chorus of about 40 voices.

The full democratic city ticket was made up last Friday night with John E. Barnes at its head for Mayor.

The Pere Marquette company has put a new draw in its bridge at St. Joseph. It weighs twice as much as the old one and will be operated by an engine.

Meetings are being held this (Passion) week at the Methodist and Congregational churches preparatory to the Easter service. Rev. Frye of St. Joseph will preach three evenings at the M. E. church.

Owing to a broken tile in the county drain, there was a very bad washout on Pipestone St. near Empire Ave., last Friday night, and the tracks of the Pere Marquette road, Buchanan division, near by, were washed out, thereby greatly hindering traffic.

A brakeman named John Jones, 21 years old, was very seriously injured Monday night by falling beneath the car wheels while making a coupling in the Pere Marquette yards. He was taken to the hospital, where one leg was amputated at the thigh and the other just above the ankle.

The G. & M. Transportation Co. has started a tri weekly service to Chicago. The steamer Argo left last night on the first trip in tow of the tug Bonita, which was to clear a way through the ice fields wherever necessary. There was considerable freight and quite a large passenger list. Among them were the members of the Life Saving crew, who went to Chicago to take the medical examination before entering upon the season's duties. Mar. 30.

WEST BERTRAND.

Mrs. Sarah Leiter has been sick since her return from visiting relatives in Indiana, but is reported gaining at present writing.

Another party telephone line is in prospect, going west on the Buffalo road from the first line, taking in C. B. Rozell and J. B. Curries on another road.

The telephone poles on the first line did not quite reach the end of the line.

Only one day for caucus in Bertrand, each party set the same day and almost the same hour, without the knowledge of the other. Chas. Matthews, democratic and Elmer Leiter, republican, head their respective tickets.

Last week Cyrus Motter came from Marion, Ind., to visit his mother's grave, Patience Motter, who died in Nov. 1849, and was buried at Mt. Zion. The strange incident of the visit was he stopped at the home of C. B. Rozell to ask for lodging, and found he was in the house where he was born sixty years ago; a house which is still good, and Mr. Motter slept within a few feet of his birth place, his father having entered the farm from the government. Mr. Motter remembered many names of the old settlers, Mrs. Currier, Matthew Redding and the Bryants, who are all gone to the beyond. He was a nephew of the late Mrs. Henry Chamberlain, of Three Oaks, Mich.

GLENDOLA.

Roads are not so bad as one would naturally think they might be.

Everybody who has tapped their maples this year seems to have made a quantity of syrup and sugar.

John Wolkins is quite sick with bilious fever.

The Republicans held their caucus last Friday, and agreed upon Jacob Pyle for candidate for Supervisor, Henry Hatchell for Clerk, Clarence Weaver for Treasurer.

The Democrats held their caucus on Monday the 28th, and nominated for candidates: John Penwell, Supervisor; Henry Morley, Clerk; Warren Hagley, Treasurer.

Jack Hanover has sold his home to Chas. Smith and gone to live on the farm belonging to Mrs. Lydia Babcock.

Geo. Sunday has moved into the property formerly owned by Jack Hanover. Mr. Sunday has lately moved from Missouri and is a brother in law of John Cuthbert.

Mr. Harry Granger does not seem to improve very rapidly, and grave fears are being entertained about his immediate recovery.

Mrs. Bertha Harger had the misfortune to have her cow die on Sunday morning. This is one of the cases where trouble does come singly.

Harold Blackmun is recovering nicely from the measles.

The L. O. T. M. Entertainment Committee treated the Hive to warm maple wax, at their session last Sat. It was highly enjoyed.

Mrs. Chas. Bramel of Larjees, Wyoming, whose husband is State Senator, is visiting her cousin, Mr. Abram Weaver. She visited the Hive last Saturday.

Will Brown is occupying rooms at the old Hotel at Hill's Corners. Rats keep him entertained.

Inter Urban Line.

The cars on the South Bend and Southern Michigan Railway Company leave Niles for South Bend every 45 minutes during the day, beginning at 8:45 in the morning, except that the car that should leave Niles at 10:30 p. m. lies over in Niles until 11 p. m. The last car leaves Niles at 11:45 p. m.

Testimony of a Minister

Rev. Jno. S. Cox, of Wake, Ark., writes, "For 12 years I suffered from yellow jaundice, I consulted a number of physicians and tried all sorts of medicines, but got no relief. Then I began the use of Electric Bitters and feel that I am now cured of a disease that had me in its grasp for twelve years." If you want a reliable medicine for liver and kidney trouble, stomach disorder or general debility, get Electric Bitters. It's guaranteed by W. N. Brodrick, druggist. Only 50c.

Republican County Convention Call

The republican county convention will be held at the city of Niles, on Thursday, April 7th, 1904 at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of electing twenty-four delegates to the republican state convention to be held at the city of Grand Rapids, May 18th, 1904; twenty-four delegates to the republican congressional district convention to be held at the city of Otsego, April 14th, 1904, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon; twenty-four delegates to the republican congressional nominating convention to be held at the city of Otsego, on April 14th, 1904, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, for the election of a county committee, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Home Wedding

Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Hamilton, on Front street, occurred the wedding of their son Harry, and Grace Gage, of Niles.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of only the immediate relatives, Rev. W. D. Cole officiating.

The young people are well known here, and in Niles where the groom holds a position as clerk with Jauchstetter, the coal dealer, and they left about 8 o'clock for Niles, carrying many congratulations and best wishes with them.

Don't you want a good cup of tea? We have the tea. W. H. Keller.

Young Plants

Every farmer knows that some plants grow better than others. Soil may be the same and seed may seem the same but some plants are weak and others strong.

And that's the way with children. They are like young plants. Same food, same home, same care but some grow big and strong while others stay small and weak.

Scott's Emulsion offers an easy way out of the difficulty. Child weakness often means starvation, not because of lack of food, but because the food does not feed.

Scott's Emulsion really feeds and gives the child growing strength.

Whatever the cause of weakness and failure to grow—Scott's Emulsion seems to find it and set the matter right.

Send for free sample. Scott & Bowne, Chemists, 409 Pearl St., New York 50c. and $1.00; all druggists.

The Blazed Trail

By STEWART EDWARD WHITE

Copyright, 1902, by Stewart Edward White

"My dear Harry," it ran, "I have made a startling discovery. The other fellow is Morrison. I have been a blind, stupid dolt and am caught nicely. You can't call me any more names than I have already called myself. Morrison has been in it from the start. By an accident I learned he was behind the fellow who induced me to invest, and it is he who had been hammering the stock down ever since. They couldn't lick you at your game, so they tackled me at mine. I'm not the man you are, Harry, and I've made a mess of it. Of course their scheme is plain enough on the face of it. They're going to involve me so deeply that I will drag the firm down with me.

"If you can fix it to meet those notes, they can't do it. I have ample margin to cover any more declines they may be able to bring about. Don't fret about that. Just as sure as you can pay that $60,000, just so sure we'll be ahead of the game at this time next year. For heaven's sake, get a move on you, old man. If you don't, the firm'll bust because she can't pay. I'll bust because I'll have to let my stock go on margins. It'll be an awful smash. But you'll get there, so we needn't worry. I've been an awful fool, and I've no right to do the getting into trouble and leave you to the hard work of getting out again. But as partner I'm going to insist on your having a salary," etc.

The news aroused all Thorpe's martial spirit. Now at last the mystery surrounding Morrison & Daly's unnatural complaisance was riven. It had come to grapples again. He was glad of it. He thrust the letter in his pocket and walked buoyantly to the pines. The two lovers sat there all the afternoon drinking in half sadly the joy of the forest and of being near each other. In a week the camping party would be breaking up, and Hilda must return to the city. It was uncertain when they would be able to see each other again.

Suddenly the girl broke off and put her fingers to her lips. For some time dimly an intermittent and faint sound had been felt rather than actually heard, like the irregular muffled beating of a heart. Gradually it had insisted on the attention.

"What is it?" she asked.

Thorpe listened. Then his face lit mightily with the joy of battle.

"My axmen," he cried. "They are cutting the road."

A faint call echoed. Then without warning nearer at hand, and the sharp ring of an ax sounded through the forest.

CHAPTER XXIV.

FOR a moment they sat listening to the clear staccato knocking of the distant blows and the more forceful thuds of the man nearer at hand.

"What are they doing? Are they cutting lumber?" asked Hilda.

"No," answered Thorpe; "we do not cut saw logs at this time of year. They are clearing out a road."

"Where does it go to?"

"Well, nowhere in particular—that is, it is a logging road that starts at the river and wanders up through the woods where the pine is."

"How clear the axes sound. I would like to know more about it," she sighed, a quaint little air of childish petulance graving two lines between her eyebrows. "Do you know, Harry, you are a singularly uncommunicative sort of a being. I have to guess that your life is interesting and picturesque. Sometimes I think you are not nearly poet enough for the life you are living. Why, you are wonderful, you men of the north, and you let us ordinary mortals who have not the gift of divination imagine you entirely occupied with how many pounds of iron chain you are going to need during the winter." She said these things lightly, as one who speaks things not for serious belief.

"It is something that way," he agreed, with a laugh.

"Sit there," she breathed very softly, pointing to the dried needles on which her feet rested.

He obeyed.

"Now tell me," she breathed, still in the fascinated monotone.

"What?" he inquired.

"Your life; what you do; all about it. You must tell me a story."

Thorpe settled himself more lazily and laughed with quiet enjoyment.

"The story of the woods," he began, "the story of the saw log. It would take a bigger man than I to tell it. I doubt if any one man ever would be big enough. It is a dream, a struggle, a battle. Those men you hear there are only the skirmishers extending the firing line. I'll have to hurry now to get those roads done and a certain creek cleared before the snow. Then we'll have to keep on the keen move to finish our cutting before the deep snow, to haul our logs before the spring thaws, to float them down the river while the freshest-water lasts. When we gain a day we have scored a victory, when the wilderness puts us back an hour we have suffered a defeat."

The girl placed her hand on his shoulder. He covered it with his own.

"But we win!" he cried. "We win!"

"That is what I like," she said softly, "the strong spirit that wins." She hesi-tated, then went on gently: "I went walking yesterday morning before you came over, and after awhile I found myself in the most awful place—the stumps of trees, the dead branches, the trunks lying all about and the glaring hot sun over everything. Harry, there was not a single bird in all that waste, a single green thing." She seized his fingers in her other hand. "Harry," she said earnestly, "I don't believe I can ever forget that experience any more than I could have forgotten a battlefield were I to see one."

The man twisted his shoulder uneasily and withdrew his hand.

"Harry," she said again after a pause, "you must promise to leave this woods until the very last. I suppose it must all be cut down some day, but I do not want to be here to see after it is all over. Men do not care much for keepsakes, do they, Harry? But even a man can feel the value of a great beautiful keepsake such as this, can't he, dear? Our meeting place—do you remember how I found you down there by the old pole trail staring as though you had seen a ghost? It must always be our most sacred memory. Promise me you will save it until the very, very last."

Thorpe remained silent.

In selecting the districts for the season's cut he had included in his estimates this very grove. Other bodies of timber promising a return of $10,000 were not to be found near the river, and time now lacked for the cutting of roads to more distant forties.

"Hilda," he broke in abruptly at last, "the men you hear are clearing a road to this very timber."

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"This timber is marked for cutting this very winter."

She had not a suspicion of the true state of affairs. "Isn't it lucky I spoke of it?" she exclaimed. "You must see to it today, now!"

She sprang up impulsively and stood waiting for him. He arose more slowly.

"Hilda, I cannot," he said.

She stood very still for some seconds.

"Why not?" she asked quietly.

"Because I have not time to cut a road through to another bunch of pine. It is this or nothing."

"Why not nothing, then?"

"I want the money this will bring."

His choice of a verb was unfortunate.

"Will you tell me for what you want the money?" she asked.

The young man caught the note of distrust. At once, instinctively, his own confidence vanished. He drew within himself again the power of justifying himself with the needed word.

"The firm needs it in the business," said he.

Her next question countered instantaneously.

"Does the firm need the money more than you do me?"

They stared at each other in the silence of the situation that had so suddenly developed as a dust cloud springs up on a plain.

"You do not mean that, Hilda?" said Thorpe quietly. "It hardly comes to that."

"Indeed it does," she replied, every nerve of her fine organization strung to excitement. "It should be more to you than any firm."

"Sometimes it is necessary to look after the bread and butter," Thorpe reminded her gently, although he knew that was not the real reason at all.

"If your firm can't supply it, I can," she answered. "It seems strange that you won't grant my first request of you merely because you need a little money."

"It isn't a little money," he objected, catching manlike at the practical question. "You don't realize what an amount a clump of pine like this stands for. Just in saw logs, before it is made into lumber, it will be worth about $30,000. There's $10,000 profit in it."

The girl, exasperated by cold details at such a time, blazed out. "I never heard anything so ridiculous in my life!" she cried. "Either you are not at all the man I thought you, or you have some better reason than you have given. Tell me, Harry; tell me at once. You don't know what you are doing."

"The firm needs it, Hilda," said Thorpe, "in order to succeed. If we do not cut this pine we may fail."

"If I were a man," she said, and her voice was tense—"if I were a man and loved a woman, I would be ready to give up everything for her. My riches, my pride, my life, my honor, my soul even, they would be as nothing, as less than nothing, to me if I loved, Harry, don't let me think I am mistaken. Let this miserable firm of yours fail, if fail it must for lack of my poor little temple of dreams." She held out her hands with a tender gesture of appeal. The affair had gone beyond the preservation of a few trees. It had become the question of an ideal. Gradually, in spite of herself, the conviction was forcing itself upon her that the man she had loved was so different from the rest that the greed of the dollar had corrupted him too. By the mere yielding to her, wishes she wanted to prove the suspicion wrong.

"I cannot, Hilda," he answered steadily.

"You sell me for $10,000! I cannot believe it! Harry, Harry, must I put it to you as a choice? Don't you love me enough to spare me that?"

He did not reply. As long as it remained a dilemma he would not reply. He was in the right.

"Do you need the money more than you do me, more than you do love?" she begged, her soul in her eyes, for she was begging also for herself. "Think, Harry, it is the last chance!"

He was face to face with a vital decision. He experienced no conflict of mind, no hesitation, for the moment no regret. During all his woods life he had been following diligently the trail he had blazed for his conduct. Now his feet carried him unconsciously to the same end. There was no other way out. In answer to Hilda's question he merely inclined his head.

"I have seen a vision," said she simply, and lowered her head to conceal her eyes. Then she looked at him again. "There can be nothing better than love," she said.

"Yes, one thing," said Thorpe—"the duty of success."

The man had stated his creed, the woman hers.

She left him then and did not see him again. Four days later the camping party left. Thorpe sent Tim Shearer over as his most efficient man to see that they got off without difficulty, but himself retired on some excuse to Camp Four. Three weeks gone in October he received a marked newspaper announcing the engagement of Miss Hilda Farrand to Mr. Hildreth Morton of Chicago.

CHAPTER XXV.

WINTER set in early and continued late, which in the end was a good thing for the year's cut. The season was capricious, hanging for days at a time at the brink of a thaw, only to stiffen again into severe weather. This was trying on the nerves, for at each of these false alarms the six camps fell into a feverish haste to get the job finished before the breakup. It was really quite extraordinary how much was accomplished under the nagging spur of weather conditions and the cruel roweling of Thorpe.

The latter had now no thought beyond his work, and that was the thought of a madman. He had been stern and unyielding enough before, goodness knows, but now he was terrible. Not for an instant was there a resting spell. The veriest chore boy talked, thought, dreamed, of nothing but saw logs. Men whispered vaguely of a record cut. The difficulties of snow, accident, topography, were swept aside like straws. Little time was wasted and no opportunities. It did not matter how smoothly affairs happened to be running for the moment; every advantage, even the smallest, was eagerly seized to advance the work. A drop of five degrees during the frequent warm spells brought out the sprinklers even in the dead of night. At night the men fell into their bunks like sand bags, and their last conscious thought, if indeed they had any at all, was of eagerness for the morrow. It was madness, but it was the madness these men loved.

For now to his old religion Thorpe had added a fanaticism, and over the fanaticism was gradually creeping a film of doubt. To the conscientious energy which a sense of duty supplies was added the tremendous kinetic force of a love turned into other channels. And in the wild nights while the other men slept Thorpe's half-crazed brain was revolving over and over again the words of the sentence he had heard from Hilda's lips, "There can be nothing better than love."

His actions, his mind, his very soul vehemently denied the proposition. It clung as ever to his high Puritan idea of man's purpose. But down deep in a very tiny, sacred corner of his heart a very small voice sometimes made itself heard when other more militant voices were still: "It may be. It may be."

The last month of hauling was also one of snow. Each day a little fell. By and by the accumulation amounted to much. In the woods where the wind could not get at it lay deep and soft above the tops of bushes. On either side of the logging roads the snow piled so high as to form a kind of rampart. When all this water in suspense should begin to flow and to seek its level in the water courses of the district the logs would have plenty to float them at least.

So late did the cold-weather last that, even with the added plowing to do, the six camps beat all records. On the banks at Camp One were 9,000,000 feet. The totals of all five amounted to 33,000,000. About 10,000,000 of this was on French creek, the remainder on the main bank of the Ossawinimakee. Besides this, the firm up river, Sadler & Smith, had put up some 12,000,000 more. The drive promised to be quite an affair.

About the 15th of April attention became strained. Every day the mounting sun made heavy attacks on the snow; every night the temperature dropped below the freezing point. The river began to show more air holes, occasional open places. About the center the ice looked worn and soggy. Some one saw a flock of geese high in the air. Then came rain.

One morning early Long Jim Pine came into the men's camp bearing a huge chunk of tallow. This he held against the hot stove until its surface had softened, when he began to swab liberal quantities of grease on his spiked river shoes, which he fished out from under his bunk.

"She's comin', boys," he said.

He donned a pair of woolen trousers that had been chopped off at the knee, thick woolen stockings and the river shoes. Then he tightened his broad leather belt about his heavy shirt, cocked his little hat over his ear and walked over in the corner to select a peavey from the lot the blacksmith had just put in shape. A peavey is like a cant hook except that it is pointed at the end. Thus it can be used either as a hook or a pike. At the same moment Shearer, similarly attired and equipped, appeared in the doorway. The opening of the portal admitted a roar of sound. The river was rising.

"Come on, boys; she's on!" said he sharply.

"Lively, boys, lively!" shouted Thorpe. "She'll be down on us before we know it!"

Above the creaking of dead branches in the wind sounded a steady roar like the bellowing of a wild beast lashing itself to fury. The freshest was abroad.

The men heard it, and their eyes brightened with the lust of battle. They cheered.

At the banks of the river Thorpe issued his directions. The affair had been all prearranged. Immediately above the first rollways was Dam Three, with its two wide sluices through which a veritable flood could be loosened at will; then four miles farther lay the rollway of Sadler & Smith, the up river firm, and above them tumbled over a forty-five foot ledge the beautiful Siscoe falls. These first rollways of Thorpe's, spread in the broad marsh flat below the dam, contained about 8,000,000. The rest of the season's cut was scattered for thirty miles along the bed of the river.

Already the ice cementing the logs together had begun to weaken. The ice had wrenched and tugged savagely at the locked timbers until they had, with a mighty effort, snapped asunder the bonds of their hibernation. Now a narrow lane of black rushing water pierced the rollways to boil and eddy in the consequent jam three miles below.

To the foremen Thorpe assigned their tasks.

"Moloney," said he to the big Irishman, "take your crew and break that jam. Then scatter your men down to within a mile of the pond at Dam Two and see that the river runs clear. You can tent for a day or so at West Bend or some other point about half way down, and after that you had better camp at the dam. Just as soon as you get logs enough in the pond start to sluicing them through the dam. You won't need more than four men there if you keep a good head. You can keep your gates open five or six hours. And, Moloney—

"Yes, sir."

"—I want you to be careful not to sluice too long. There is a bar just below the dam, and if you try to sluice with the water too low you'll center and jam there as sure as shooting."

Bryan Moloney turned on his heel and began to pick his way downstream over the solidly banked logs. Without waiting the command a dozen men followed him. The little group bobbed away irregularly into the distance, springing lightly from one timber to the other, holding their quaintly fashioned peaveys in the manner of a ropedancer's balancing pole. At the lowermost limit of the rollways each man pried a log into the water and, standing gracefully erect on this unstable craft, floated out down the current to the scene of his dangerous labor.

"Kerlie," went on Thorpe, "your crew can break rollways with the rest until we get the river fairly filled, and then you can move on down stream as fast as you are needed. Scotty, you will have the rear. Tim and I will boss the river?"

Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

FATHER'S SAD STORY

Tells How He Found His Daughter, Miss Green, a Victim of Flames.

SET ON FIRE BY A GAS STOVE

Brave Girl Makes No Outcry, It Appears—Prison Plant at Jackson in Ashes—Items.

Detroit, March 29.—Miss Bertha Vanderkamp Green, daughter of a former prominent attorney of Syracuse, N. Y., and a very well-known young woman in the cities of central New York, was burned to death in her home on Woodward Terrace here. She had gone down into the basement before daylight to prepare a cup of coffee for her mother, when the flame from the gas stove she was using set her dress on fire.

Thought the House Was on Fire.

"We thought the house was on fire and it was—our daughter," said Andrew H. Green, a dignified old gentleman, who made a brave effort to suppress his emotion. "The first intimation I had was when I heard my wife going to the servant's room calling on the girl to dress quickly, as the house was on fire. The rooms upstairs were filling with smoke. I got up and dressed, hurrying all I could to turn in the alarm. On the stairway I met the servant girl, who cried out to me that Miss Bertha was burning. Then through the open door I saw our daughter.

Terrible Sight for a Father.

"Her clothing was almost completely burned off. Still there were flames around the ankles and feet, where the stockings and sandals still furnished food for flames. She was standing up. She had evidently first gone outside to fight the flames, and then come back. I spoke to her kindly, but did not dare to do anything for her, for fear of increasing her pain. I motioned her to come upstairs and she followed me silently. I wanted her to go into her mother's room, but she sought her own bed room, a flight higher.

End Came Five Hours Later.

"I put her to bed as tenderly as I could, and with a sheet fanned her, which seemed to relieve her sufferings. We then had her removed to Harper hospital, where she died five hours later. I think she never regained consciousness except once, when she sent her love to her father and mother by our son Andrew." Miss Green was a grand niece of Horatio Seymour, the war governor of New York.

Antarctic Expedition Is Signaled.

Christ Church, New Zealand, April 1.—The British Antarctic expedition, which sailed on the steamer Discovery from London, July 31, 1901, has been signaled that it is returning.

Kelly Defeats McKeever.

Indianapolis, April 1.—Hugo Kelly defeated Charles McKeever at the Auditorium polo rink in a tame ten-round bout. He clearly outpointed McKeever, and let him off easy.

Every article we sell is backed by the Spiro guarantee and that means the quality is there, the style is right and that it must come up to your highest expectation.

Good clothes are always worth what they cost, but paying the price doesn't get them.

The reasons for buying Spiro suits are: First, they are good clothes; second, they cost enough to be good, and no more; third, if you don't think they're as good as they cost, you can have your money back.

We are now receiving new spring suits and overcoats from eastern markets, and we will be glad to see you and to show them to you.

We won't bore you to buy if you should not be ready to.

APRIL 5, 1904.

School-Children Farmers in New York City.

One hundred and twenty-five farmers cared for their plots during the first season, but in the following spring, so many requests for "farms" were received that the park authorities decided to enlarge the space allotted, so that nearly three hundred boy and girl farmers, varying in age from eight to eighteen years, were happily employed during the second summer, that of 1903.

Through the long, hot days of July and August, you might see them watering, weeding, hoeing, or quietly sitting around the central flower pot listening to a nature-study talk by the attendant teacher. Improvements upon the surrounding land followed rapidly in the wake of those upon the farm. Toward the east, the park department had placed a huge open-air gymnasium and playground. Toward the west, a tiny country-seat with a 12 by 18 foot farmhouse, a green lawn and flower-beds, a pavilion, a pigpen, and a chicken-house had been added to the farm property. Still farther west stood a sand tent, and a second canvas formed a resting place for tired mothers. A typical afternoon might have shown eighty or a hundred children busy in the garden; in the pavilion, a sewing class and a group weaving baskets for farm produce; in the tiny house, tea being served by neatly aproned housekeepers, while on the lawn the boys played croquet.—From "School Gardens in Great cities," by Helen Christine Bennett, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews.

Lo-tus Pellets you will find are the best family pills, curing indigestion and constipation and all diseases of the liver and stomach. Small and easily taken, particularly intended for ladies and children. Large boxes, fifty pellets for 25c at Dr. E. S. Dodd and Son's.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

"You're a liar!" "You're another!" This is about the gist of the polite sayings which are now being exchanged in both branches of Congress under the designation of debate. The great sundry civil bill in the House and the post-office bill in the senate, carrying between them something like three hundred millions of dollars, are making such headway as they can against the impediment of rancorous partisan disputation. Both ends of the Capitol echo and reecho with preliminary campaign speeches. The Republicans say "In the vast governmental machine, there has been a little stealing but we have punished the thieves; and under our administration the country has enjoyed the greatest prosperity it has ever known." The Democrats retort "Not so"; the country enjoyed greater prosperity under the low revenue tariff of 1846, and the corruptionist and boodlemonger never defiled any administration as they have this one: You have been in office too long!" This, with infinite variations, is the substance of the stump speeches that will be made for the benefit of our countrymen during the next seven months.

The case of Senator Smoot of Utah will go over till next winter, and the Senator will be left suspended between Heaven and earth like the coffin of Jo. Smith, or whoever it was. The testimony has shown him to be rather a nice, respectable man with only one wife—not at all like the fed horses in the morning of which Jeremiah said (5-8) "every one neighed after his neighbor's wife." And Smoot goes on to quote from Corinthians (9-5) "have we not power to lead about a sister, a wife, as well as other apostles?" He earnestly asks Senator Burrows's committee to go ahead and finish the testimony and give him his clearance papers, but the Senator, with a far-off look, says he does not see how it is possible to conclude the hearing before next winter.

Some 600 school teachers of Porto Rico will visit this country in July for two months in our summer schools. They will be brought and carried by the government without expense.

Ladies' Aid Society of the Larger Hope Church, will meet with Mrs. Clark Phelps Wednesday, April 6, at 2 p. m.

CELEBRATED SOLOIST OF GOSHEN.

Mrs. Beatrice Hubbell Plummer, Whose Charming Voice Has Won Her a Wide Reputation.

A number of Buchanan ladies who went to Goshen last Wednesday to spend the day with Mrs. H. D. Rough, were most charmingly entertained at an informal musical from 3 to 4 o'clock, immediately following the 30 Club program given by the ladies.

Mrs. Beatrice Hubbell Plummer, the soprano, who rendered a number of most delightful selections, is a vocalist of wide reputation, and frequently fills engagements in concerts in Chicago and other large cities. She has just returned from a very pleasant and profitable engagement in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Plummer is the director of the choir in the First Presbyterian church at Goshen, and on Easter they rendered some very difficult and impressive numbers from two oratorios.

A few months ago some officers from a Chilean war-ship dropped anchor off the island of Juan Fernandez, carefully explored Robinson Crusoe's world-famous kingdom, and took a number of photographs. The April St. Nicholas will use several of these pictures—their first publication in the United States and Europe—to illustrate Francis Arnold Collins's "Robinson Crusoe's Island." As the island is just as it was when Alexander Selkirk landed upon it two centuries ago, these pictures will be delightfully familiar to young and old.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure, in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

last is raised the plain great question, do the people rule? Missouri cannot decide this question alone. Corruption is everywhere. It is national. It is American. It is a revolutionary process making for a new form of government. To stop its insidious advances some power must rise to bring home to the captain of industry the truth: "That business important as it is, is not sacred; that not everything that pays is right, that if bribery is treason, if the corrupt politician is a traitor, then the corrupting business man is an enemy of the republic; no matter how many bonds he may float in war, or how much he may give for charity and education, if he corrupt the sources of law and of justice, his business is not success but—treason and a people's failure."

More than that, there must be aroused or created a public sentiment that will punish in measure with his crime the "business" boodler and traitor.

MILLINERY.

We have made a fine selection of pattern hats and street wear for our store, and invite the ladies to call and select a fine hat for $3.00-$8.50. We are going to make these hats a speciality during the entire season.

Mrs. E. PARKINSON.

Card of Thanks

We desire to extend our thanks to the kind friends who assisted us during the sickness and death of our beloved daughter; also those who so remembered her with beautiful flowers during the winter.

MR. AND MRS. JOE. E. COVENEY AND FAMILY.

Testimony of a Minister

Rev. Jno. S. Cox, of Wake, Ark., writes, "For 12 years I suffered from yellow jaundice, I consulted a number of physicians and tried all sorts of medicines, but got no relief. Then I began the use of Electric Bitters and feel that I am now cured of a disease that had me in its grasp for twelve years." If you want a reliable medicine for liver and kidney trouble, stomach disorder or general debility, get Electric Bitters. It's guaranteed by W. N. Brodrick, druggist. Only 50c.

Broke Into His House

S. LeQuinn of Cavendish, Vt., was robbed of his customary health by invasion of chronic constipation. When Dr. King's New Life Pills broke into his house, his trouble was arrested and now he's entirely cured. They are guaranteed to cure, 25c at W. N. Brodrick's drug store.

LADIES' PETTICOAST

J. C. REHM Buchanan

Here we see the point of it all; in the minds of bribe-givers and bribe-taker "bad" politics is "good" business and "bad" politics pays and what pays is right. Mr. Steffens's conclusion is unanswerable. "Bribery is treason," he says, "and a boodler is a traitor." Thus at

Mrs. Frank Lamb gave a very pleasant surprise Saturday evening for her son Rex, and his guest Wayne Phillips. Games were played in which Zella Stanton and Howard Wynn won the prizes. A two course luncheon was served and the young people greatly enjoyed the occasion. Most of the guests were members of the B. O. B.'s and J. N. R.'s; there were about twenty present.

The B. O. B.'s and J. N. R.'s gave a farewell reception for Zella Stanton Thursday evening at the home of Ruth East. Among the features of amusement was a marshmallow toast; dancing and games were played. During the evening dainty refreshments were served. The guests departed at a late hour, all voting Miss East a charming hostess, and extending their best wishes to Miss Stanton.

Mrs. W. F. Runner, Deputy Supreme Oracle, is home for a few days' rest after a successful trip in the interest of the Royal Neighbor Lodge. She visited the camps at Charlotte and Gresham, and did some very effective work in increasing the membership at these places. Mrs. Runner also succeeded in organizing a flourishing camp at Bellevue.

The largest display of millinery ever brought to Buchanan was on display at the store of Mrs. Parkinson's Friday and Saturday. The room was decorated with roses and fruits, tables covered with the finest pattern hats, and counters filled with street wear. One can get a good selection by calling in and looking over the stock. Trimmed hats at all prices.

There were special Easter services in the various churches, Sunday; at the M. E. church a fine Easter anthem by the choir was rendered and Mrs. Mercer sang a solo. In the evening there was a musical service and brief sermon by the pastor. At the U. B. church, a very pleasing and impressive program was carried out, at the Sunday evening service, the village orchestra furnished music and the closing number, portraying scenes from the crucifixion and the resurrection, in which a number of young ladies, costumed in white, appeared, was especially attractive. At the Presbyterian church, the special music was by Mrs. Harry Perrott who gave Eversole's "The Lord is Risen", in a very pleasing manner. At the close of Rev. Cole's sermon, the Lord's Supper was observed.

Saves Two From Death

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles, guaranteed by W. N. Brodrick. Trial bottles free.

Our printing will please you.

UNIVERSITY MATTERS

Recent Expulsion of a Hair-Cutter Has Not Been Yet Re-considered.

SERIOUS THING TO THE STUDENT

Shuts Him Out of Other Colleges—Co-Eds to Do Athletics—Four Chilled and Burned to Death.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 1.—The engineering faculty did not consider the promise of the hair-cutting classes to quit hair-cutting if Frank E. Snow, of Detroit, be reinstated. The delay is ascribed to the fact that certain faculty members are reluctant to speak the final sentence against Snow. The expulsion is more serious than people generally understand. Unless it is revoked Snow is cut off from every university of any importance in the United States. This system of inter-collegiate courtesy is so thorough that men merely suspended from Michigan, this year, and seeking temporary admission to Chicago, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Northwestern, and other great universities, have been refused.

How the Faculty Argues.
An honorable discharge, signed by the college president, is required before any reputable institution will receive a student from another. The severity of Michigan faculty is backed by two arguments: Snow entered the walls of a university building to haze. Moreover, the hair-cutters, in trying to save him, have been dictatorial, practically ordering the faculty to forgive him or else the hazing would be resumed. The faculty feels that its authority is worth some consideration. There is much sympathy for Snow on the part of both faculty and students, however.

Track Meet of the Co-Eds.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 1.—The university co-eds to have a track meet in May. A proposed dual meet between the fresh and soph girls, then one between junior and senior girls, to be followed by a final contest of the victors was given up on the advice of Dr. Alice G. Snyder, director of the woman's gymnasium. She told the girls they might have the meet if they would train for it in hard-working teams. The girls' committees decided they didn't want to train. However, a few of them wish to train, and to these girls Dr. Snyder has promised a modified track meet of, perhaps, four regular field events, to be held with the regular closing exercises in May.

Hundreds of Thibetans Killed and Wounded While Resisting Col. Younghusband's Force.

Tuna, British India, April 1.—News has been received here of a fight in Thibet, the Thibetans having attacked the British mission under Colonel Younghusband. At 8 o'clock yesterday morning a flying column started to reconnoiter the Thibetan camp at Guru, whereupon a general from Lhasa, with a quaint retinue, came to interview Colonel Younghusband. The general asked the colonel to retire with his mission to Yatung, for the purpose of carrying on negotiations, threatening an attack if the mission proceeded. Colonel Younghusband replied that negotiations had been proceeding fruitlessly for fifteen years, and that retirement was now impossible.

Tried to Advance Without Firing.

The Thibetan general withdrew and Colonel Younghusband ordered his troops to endeavor to disperse, the Thibetans blocking the road without firing upon them. Whilst the forces were face to face on the opposite sides of a wall which the Thibetans had built across the highway to oppose the advance the Indian troops quietly deployed their flanks and effectively enclosed 1,500 Thibetans in a circle, like herding sheep. The members of the mission, the press correspondents and the general staff rode up to inspect the capture, and were laughing and talking. They were unaware of the impending tragedy, being evidently heedless of the sullen demeanor of the Thibetans.

When the Fight Broke Out.

The latter presently began to hustle some Sikhs, who replied with the butt-ends of their rifles. Then one Thibetan fired a pistol, wounding a Sikh, and this was the signal for all the Thibetans to draw their swords and rush at their captors, who opened fire on the surging mob. The officers emptied their revolvers. The Thibetans found themselves unable to climb the wall which they themselves had built. Finally about half of them were able to break away to the rear, where they came under the fire of the artillery. Of the entire Thibetan force only about half escaped being either killed or wounded.

Cumberland, Md., March 29.—Four Italians, laborers, employed by the Wash. Railroad company, were drowned in the Potomac river near Paw Paw, W. Va., by the overturning of a row boat.

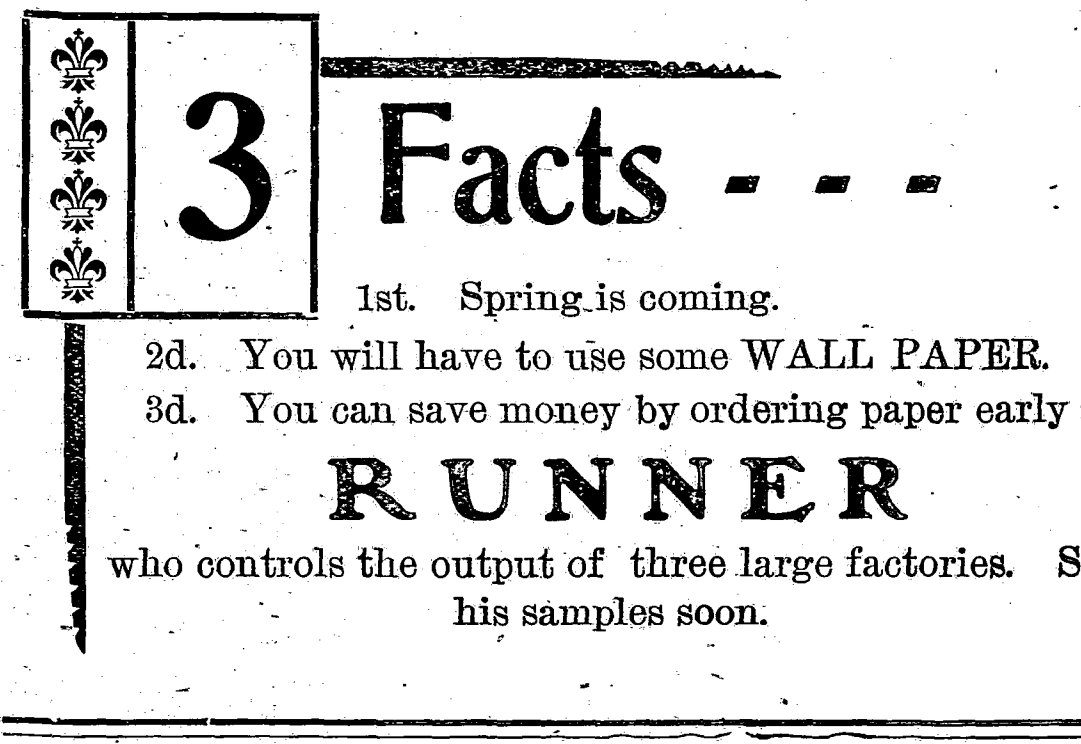

Washington, April 1.—The internal revenue tax of 6 cents a pound on leaf tobacco is eliminated by the terms of a bill on which favorable action has been taken by the internal revenue sub-committee of the house ways and means committee.

HAND OF RUSSIA IS SEEN.

Thibetan Officers Have Russian Rifles Bearing the Imperial Stamp.

The correspondent of The Daily Mail with the mission was severely wounded. The Thibetans lost heavily, owing to inferiority of their weapons, which were matchlock rifles, but they displayed the greatest courage, many of them coming on after they had been seriously wounded. After the action there were heaps of dead; a long trail of dead and wounded extended to the rear. After a short halt the advance continued. Nearing the Thibetan camp at Guru a second action took place, in which the artillery played the largest part.

Finally the Thibetans retreated over the hills with the exception of about sixty, who obstinately held the village, which was finally taken by a mounted bayonet charge. Among the Thibetans killed were the Lhasa general, the military commandant of Phari and Lata, and the representative of the Golden monastery, to whose influence and violent hostility the existing difficulties were largely due.

The Thibetans losses are believed to be over 400, while the British casualties are about a dozen. The British force returned to Tuna and it is stated that rifles bearing the Russian imperial stamp, and Russian ammunition, were found on the wounded Thibetans officers.

Illness of Senator Allison.

Washington, April 1.—Senator Allison, of Iowa, who became ill at the Capitol, is still at his home. Dr. J. J. Richardson said that there were no dangerous symptoms, that the senator is improving and might be able to resume his duties at the senate about Monday.
