WILL BUILD TO LAPORTE

Indiana Railway Co. Buys Mich. City-Laporte Line

NEW ROAD IS RESULT

Will Be Completed and Cars in Operation by Jan. 1, 1906

South Bend, Ind., Apr. 28.—Electric cars will be in operation between South Bend and Michigan City, Ind., giving electric service also to Laporte, New Carlisle and Rolling Prairie by Jan. 1, 1906.

This announcement is officially made by Hon. Arthur Kennedy, of New York, president of the Indiana Railway Co. A deal making this possible was closed Wednesday.

The enterprise is of large proportions and involves a heavy expenditure. The first step will be to take over the property of the Chicago & South Shore Railway company operating an electric line between Michigan City and Laporte, a distance of about 8 miles. This property is now in receivers' hands. The system is estimated to be worth about $500,000.

On April 24, Judge A. B. Anderson of the federal court in Indianapolis, ordered that the rights, franchises and all property of the company be offered at public sale at the court house in Laporte May 26. A year ago the company passed into receivers' hands following foreclosure proceedings.

As a result of conferences, an arrangement was concluded Wednesday by which Mr. Kennedy and the large money interests he represents will take over the entire property when it is put up at the receivers' sale May 26.

The equipment of the road is said to be very good, the receivers having spent money judiciously in keeping it up.

SCHOOL NOTES

HIGH SCHOOL

Rev. Halmhuber visited chapel Monday morning.

The class in physical Geography, began their weather observation this week.

The regular state 8th grade examination for schools in this part of the county will be held in the 8th grade room on Thursday and Friday of this week.

SEVENTH GRADE

The pupils of the A division have been studying "The Planting of the Apple Tree" by Bryant in connection with their language lessons.

Some very pretty three-corned boxes decorated with hand painted butterflies, were made by the pupils this week during drawing period. The best will be saved for exhibition.

In the definition contest in Grammar, Myrtle Lentz gave the greatest number, without repeating the ones given by the others.

Harvey Blake left school Thursday. He will be much missed by his school friends.

SIXTH GRADE

We began learning our new song, "The Mermaid's Evening Song," last Wednesday.

Bernadine Blake leaves us for Chicago. We are sorry to lose you, Bernadine.

In our review work in Spelling last Friday, fifteen out of twenty-one spelled all correctly. Part of the words were the names of the states and their abbreviations.

We wish to thank the parents who so kindly sent plants for our grade. Come and see how nicely they decorate the room.

THIRD GRADE

Elsie Southerton entered school last week.

Adelaide Couse, Iva Smith, Herald Jenks and Sarah Eisele received the most credits in spelling last month.

The biography of the Cary sisters and some of their poems were read Friday.

State Items

For the first time in the history of Allegan county the board of supervisors has a democratic chairman.

Farmers around Pentwater are unloading their potatoes at an average price of about eight cents a bushel. They are being brought in at the rate of about 2,500 bushels a day. At this time last year they were bringing $1 to $1.25.

The engine, tender, baggage and smoking cars of a Grand Rapids & Indiana passage train, left the track one mile north of Mayfield Saturday afternoon, the only car remaining on the track being the ladies' coach. Sixty passengers were on board, but none were injured. The cause of the accident is unknown.

Heavy rains have squelched the forest fires in the vicinity of Alpena. Considerable damage resulted around Hubbard Lake, where one farmer lost 700 cords of stove wood. Miles of fence are burned and one entire township fought the fire for three days. The rain came just in time to save large quantities of shingle bolts and ties. Farmers hail the rain with delight, as it was badly needed.

For some time past the wife of a well known and respected mechanic, of Battle Creek, has been addicted to the liquor habit, and has twice been picked up on the street and taken to jail in the patrol wagon. Yesterday the husband got out paper posting his wife, and when the policeman went about among the saloons with the notices, the husband accompanied him and took his wife along, asking the saloonkeepers to take a look at the woman so there could be no mistake made in her identity, and warning them not to sell her liquor.

West end residents of Battle Creek are being disturbed by a "Jack-the-peeper," who puts in an appearance while they are disrobing and preparing to retire for the night. Two men were detected in the act Friday night and chased several blocks.

Joseph Poquette, a woodman of Escanaba, 55 years old, was instantly killed by falling into an excavation where a house was being erected. It is thought he smothered in the sand at the bottom of the pit, as he is alleged to have been intoxicated and unable to help himself, and had no bones broken when picked up.

A most peculiar and fatal disease is attacking the horses in the vicinity of Big Rapids and the most skilled veterinarians are finding difficulty in coping with it. Dr. Smith styles the disease a form of pneumonia. It attacks the lungs, and horses that are used to lying down to sleep, stand until they are so weak they drop. Recently a similar disease was prevalent in Reed City, but was not attended with such fatal results. It is the opinion of Dr. Smith that the germ of the disease was brought there from Reed City by the famous $2,500 Percheron stallion, Monte, owned by the Big Rapids Percheron Stock Co., which was taken sick in Reed City, brought there ten days ago, and died Friday.

A Tuscola county farmer has a shepherd dog which, as a pup, was allowed to play in the yard where a calf was tied. The two formed a mutual admiration society and the tie of friendship grew so strong that all efforts to break it have failed. The dog utterly refuses to drive this animal with the other stock, and allows it to roam at its own pleasure, even whipping the dog works no reform. During a heavy electric storm two weeks ago, the man went to the barn about four o'clock in the morning and found the dog quivering with fear and clinging to the calf for protection. His efforts to separate the pair was unavailing, for as often as he called the dog out he would return to the stall where the calf was tied, contented if only near his chum.

BIG STRIKE AT ST. JOE

200 Girls at Cooper-Wells Knitting Factory Out

WANT THE WINDOWS OPEN

Mill May Be Closed All Summer

At 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon two hundred girls employed at the Cooper-Wells knitting factory, St. Joseph, went out on a strike because they were not allowed to have the windows raised from the bottom.

The Cooper-Wells company factory building is one of the finest in this section of Michigan. At the time of its completion state inspectors declared it to be almost perfectly ventilated and with a complete system of fire protection appliances, constructed of fire proof material. On each floor is a line of automatic sprinkling devices, which are brought into action without human aid when the temperature of the room reaches a certain degree.

The girl strikers declare that in hot weather the atmosphere of the knitting department is unbearable unless they are allowed more direct ventilation by raising the windows from the bottom. The rules of the company permit windows being opened only from the top.

Unless terms can be agreed to between the strikers and employees, President A. W. Wells has declared that the mill will either close for two months, or new girls employed from outside towns. The warehouses of the company are filled with finished goods sufficient to fill all orders for two weeks to come. The slogan of the strikers is: "All the fresh air we can get or we don't go back to work."

A citizens committee headed by the Catholic priest are trying to adjust the difficulty.

PHILIPPINE STAMPS

Government Is Preparing Series for Use in the Island

Washington, April 27.—The bureau of insular affairs of the war department is having prepared for the Philippine government plans for a series of postage stamps, equivalent in denomination to those of the United States.

These stamps are to bear the vignettes of Rical, a Filipino patriot; Magellan, the discoverer of the Philippine islands; Legaspi, discoverer and explorer, who followed in the footsteps of Magellan; McKinley, Washington, Lincoln, Sampson and Carriedo, a Spanish philanthropist, who on his death devised certain large estates to establish a water supply for Manila; and Franklin.

Those stamps of the denomination of one peso and over are to bear the coat of arms of the Philippine islands. The special delivery stamp has on one end a Filipino messenger boy, and on the other end Mount Mayon, a volcanic mountain, in the province of Albay, near the sea coast and prominent as a landmark.

Lyceum Comedy Co.

The Lyceum Comedy Co., opened a three nights stand here last night, with the "Millionaire Tramp." Owning no doubt to the fact that they were not advertised very thoroughly, they were greeted by a light house.

The company is a good one and put up a good play last night. They will put on a change of piece for tonight and tomorrow night, and also a change of specialties. They are playing to popular prices 10, 20 and 30 cents. A good audience should greet them tonight.

Benton Harbor and St. Joseph Electric Railway Sold

James G. McMichael, president of the St. Joseph river traction company, C. K. Minary of Springfield, Ill., a street railway owner, and Mr. Mills, another Springfield railway man, have purchased the entire property of the Benton Harbor & St. Joseph electric railway and light company. They assumed management of the property May 1.

Col. Bean, the founder of the road and president of the old organization, will remain with the new owners for a part of the summer or until the new owners have the run of the business. Col. Bean will not have a dollar invested in the property after May 1.

The last payment on the property will not be made for several weeks from the fact that there are several matters to be adjusted before the transfer can be made in its entirety. In the meantime Mr. Mills will begin his duties as auditor May 1 and the new company will have the receipts and pay the bills from May 1.

The Benton Harbor & St. Joseph street railway will be made the nucleus of a large electric system. The announcement of the deal explains many things. It explains why the McMichael people have been surveying east of the city connecting their line with the Bean line on Fair avenue. This is the route to Kalamazoo and the Kalamazoo business will be brought down Main street instead of down Colfax, as would be the case but for the purchase of the Bean property. It also explains why the work on the interurban has been going forward so slowly. McMichael has been spending his force on bigger game.

The new system will now have two lines out of Benton Harbor, one on Main and the other on Colfax. Work will be pushed on the interurban lines very rapidly after the first of the month.

Monday Club

The Monday club met with Mrs. C. D. Kent, Monday April 24. The President called the meeting to order. The club united in singing, America.

It was a special day, subject, Japan, Mrs. Redden and Mrs. Kent were the committee in charge. Mrs. Weaver and Mrs. Worthington had excellent papers on the magic mirrors of Japan and the Japanese Red Cross movement. Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Roe, Mrs. Phelps, Miss Sampson, Mrs. East and Mrs. Howard read interesting articles. Mrs. Whitman read a Japanese Romance. Mrs. E. S. Dodd sang a solo.

The program closed with a Japanese melody sung by the club, led by Mrs. Dodd. The committee served choice refreshments and the club adjourned feeling they had spent a profitable and most enjoyable afternoon.

Gave $60 for Bogus Money Order

Grand Rapids, Mich., 28.—One of the shrewdest forgeries that has been perpetrated on local merchants in sometime was smoothly worked this week on Heyman & Co. It was done with a postoffice money order, and they are out $60 in cash. The order was bought in Chicago April 24, and made payable to Frank Light, of Milwaukee, the amount being 20 cents. The forged order was made payable to John W. Harris for $75 at Grand Rapids. The same man or his confederate received it and went to Heyman & Co. and bought goods to the amount of $45. He stated that he only wanted to pay $15 down and the balance would be paid in weekly installments, which was agreed to. Accordingly he turned the $75 money order to Heyman & Co. and received in cash $60.

A Creeping Death

Blood poison creeps up towards the heart, causing death. J. E. Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend dreadfully injured his hand, which swelled up like blood poisoning. A Visit To a Near-by Kingdom

CHAPTER XIV.

Phosphoric acid is the next essential plant food to be considered. It exists in the soil in combination with some of the metals, usually calcium or magnesium or both as a phosphate insoluble except in the smallest degree and therefore in condition not to be leached from the soil by rains. It is made slowly soluble by the action of bacteria or microscopic plants found in the soil. How these bacteria work we do not know and what part they play in making the phosphates soluble we do not know.

Besides barnyard manure which is the best source of all the essential plant foods, the commercial forms of phosphates are bones and South Carolina rock. Bones may be ground very fine and applied raw. In this form the phosphates are associated with an abundance of glue and of fat and, while decomposition soon sets the phosphates free, they are not as readily available as when the bone is first treated to extract the glue and the mineral parts of the bones are ground fine and used as fertilizer.

The large packing and slaughtering houses thus become the points to which we look for our supplies of phosphates. They send out raw bones steamed bones, tankage, mixture of bones, flesh and other parts of the animal body, bone black and bone ash. The pounds of phosphoric acid in 100 pounds of each, of average quality are as follows:

Raw bone	23 lbs.
Steamed bone	28 lbs. to 30 lbs.
Tankage first grade	18 lbs.
" second "	16 "
" third "	13.5 lbs.
" fourth "	11.5 "
Bone black	32 to 36 lbs.

South Carolina Rock contains usually about 27 percent of total phosphoric acid and it may be finely ground and applied without having been treated with acid or it may be treated with sulphuric acid before sale. In the latter case the phosphoric acid is much more soluble and shows its effects sooner on the crops to which it is applied.

All soils may be expected to contain phosphoric acid in considerable quantities as it rarely leaches out in the water through the drains, still additions of phosphate should be made to insure a sufficient supply to give the maximum crops.

No attempt is made to arrange the soil constituents we are discussing in order of importance. Indeed there is no order of importance when essentials are compared for all alike must be present to produce the crop. Potash comes naturally as the next mineral to be studied. Like phosphoric acid it is present in combination with other minerals and acids in all fertile soils but is more liable to escape than the phosphoric acid through the downward movement of water after heavy rains.

As in the case of the other constituents, the best source of potash is barnyard manure. To supplement this source the market affords many combinations of potash from which the farmer may choose. The most plentiful and in many respects the best is wood ashes. If unleached they should contain as high as six pounds of potash to the hundred weight, if leached 2.50 pounds. Ashes contain also from five to seven percent of phosphoric acid if not leached and three percent if leached. Ashes are therefore a most valuable fertilizer and should be carefully saved.

For a long time in the history of agriculture wood ashes were the only material offered to supplement the potash of the barnyard manures but the discovery of vast mines of so called stassfurt salts has given to the world a practically inexhaustible supply. In the markets we find now offered such materials as kainit, a crude salt from these mines containing 12.5 percent potash or refined salts such as the muriate of potash containing not far from 50 percent of actual potash or sulphate of potash containing 53 percent of actual potash.

Coal ashes have little or no potash in their make up and have no great value as a fertilizer if indeed they would pay for hauling. They might lighten up a heavy clay although, as a matter of observation they tend to cement such soils into a hard mass and are therefore useful in road building.

Potash usually exists in the soil in combination with silica or sand. The application of land plaster or gypsum to the soil has the peculiar property of breaking up this combination and releasing the potash. Gypsum is not in itself a plant food but it acts indirectly in supplying food to plants in the way mentioned. In years gone by gypsum was a very popular manure but the amount required to do a maximum amount of good is not large and on many farms the entire want is supplied, at least temporarily and farther quantities do not seem to do the good that similar applications used to do.

The other soil ingredients mentioned, iron, magnesium and sulphur are rarely lacking from common Michigan soils. There does seem to be a lack of iron in some soils which may possibly account for a mysterious, emaciating disease of cattle on certain sands, since as soon as the cattle are removed to other lands they rapidly recover without medicine, although fed on nominally the same feeds.

THE LATEST GIRDLES.

Those Made of Tapestry Embroidery Are Modish and Aesthetic to an Unusual Degree.

The woman who has an eye to the beautiful cannot do better than make herself several of the new tapestry girdles in different shades. These are wider in the back than in the front, and are fashioned of the most beautiful bits of tapestry embroidery. In the front the girde is caught with a buckle about as big around as half a dollar. From this the size ranges up to a buckle as big as a plate.

One of the finest tapestry girdles of the year was in old ivory color. It was worked in the finest of cross-stitch embroidery. In the middle of the back there was applied a big tapestry pansy. In the front a pansy buckle fastened in the girde.

It is very much the thing to take one of these girdles and pass it through a Louis XV. coat of silk and velvet in such a manner that it holds the coat snug in the back. The fronts fly open, showing the lovely vest underneath.

There is a great fancy for these handsome girdles, which are passed through the wide seams of the coat so as to strap it tightly in the back with the coat flying open in front, and a neat art nouveau buckle finishing the belt. And particularly are these belts seen with the new coats.

The Publicity Cure.

Gladys (in the 11:30 theater train)—Henry, who is that man on the other side of the aisle? He seems to be watching us.

Henry—That's Quickdgit. He's a court reporter.

NINETY-YEAR OLD CLUB

One May Be Formed at the Soldiers' Home

SIX ARE VERY OLD MEN

Their Ages Range From 92 to 101 Years

Veterans of the Michigan Soldiers' home are thinking of organizing the "Ninety" club. Age alone will qualify one for membership if the plans go through.

Their names and ages are as follows:

William Flannigan, 101 years.
John L. Wilson, 96 years.
William J. Mills, 97 years.
Edwin Hadsall, 92 years.
James Rockford, 95 years.
Darius N. Keep, 93 years.

At the head of the class sits William Flannigan, Irish and proud of it. "I'm Irish, full blood, thank God for that," says he. He claims the Island of Corfu as his birthplace, and the date as Oct. 11, 1804, making him a centenarian. He can neither read nor write, and has no way of establishing his great age by documentary proof. He says he was there, however, and he ought to know better than anyone else now living.

In early life Flannigan served in the British navy, but retains his true Irish hatred of the English. During the civil war he was twice shot, once in the leg and once in the left side. He was a member of the Fourth Michigan cavalry.

Flannigan is the wit of the home. Ever in good humor, his remarks help to drive dull monotony away. "I'll have to get out of here," says he, "or my name is Dennis. But then, I haven't long to stay, so I suppose I might as well be in the home."

Although Roman Catholic in religion, Flannigan boasts that he cares naught for any church or creed. He boasts that he quarrels with no man and no man can rightfully call him his enemy. He spends much of his time in carving and is an adept at forming articles, such as toothpicks out of bone.

In strange contrast to Flannigan is William J. Mills. White haired and venerable as a patriarch, he is a fervent Christian and one of the brightest inmates of the home. Tuesday he celebrated his ninety-seventh birthday. His health is good. He returned last week from visiting a grandson near Charlotte. His eyesight is failing and only the outlines of objects; he says, can be distinguished. "Father" Mills, as he is sometimes designated, has a remarkable strong faith in the providence of God. He is thoroughly conversant with the Bible and can quote familiarly from its passages.

Mr. Mills served with company E, Third Michigan infantry. He said he bore a charmed life during the war, going fearlessly to what seemed certain death. "I've always done just as I have had a mind to," he says. "It has always been my mind to obey the laws, and that is the reason I have got along without any friction with the authorities, whether in war or peace."

Few men have a more romantic career than John L. Wilson, who served with the First Michigan lancers in the civil war. When only 17 years old he enlisted as an apprentice on the brig Somers. He saw Midshipman Spencer hanged from the yard-arm in 1842, under a charge of inciting mutiny. Spencer was a nephew of the then secretary of war, and the incident created a sensation throughout the country as news of the hanging became known. Wilson was born in New York city. He came from Detroit to the home.

Darius N. Keep, who entered the home from Kalamazoo, was born in New York. He served in Company I, Seventeenth Michigan. Previous to the war he lost his left eye with cancer, but this dread disease hasn't troubled him of late; years nor prevent his attaining a great age. He was wounded at the battle of Antietam. He has been in the home only since last August.

James Rockford, another Irishman, as his name implies, laughingly says he has been a resident of the home since a year and a half before it was built. He was on hand when the foundation was laid. In the war he served in Company G, Seventh Mich.

Edwin Hadsall was born in Pennsylvania, on the Susquehanna river. He was a member of Company H, Eleventh Michigan. Three years ago he entered the home from Livingston county.

The Ninety club has its headquarters in the hospital at the home. While most of the members are able to walk alone, yet the attention which their advanced age requires necessitates their being taken care of in this building. There they are looked up to with a sort of reverence by attendants and comrades.—Grand Rapids Press.

An Automobile Floral Parade

Difficult is it to convey an adequate impression, either by description or illustration, of the brilliant, flashing, kaleidoscopic scene presented by an automobile floral parade. Dr. Edward Everett Hale once characterized it as "a dream in blossoms, a lovely symphony in color." The language is hardly overdrawn. As the long line of autos, buried beneath masses of bloom and color arranged in lumberless designs, winds gracefully through the street, each one seems more beautifully conceived than the last; while the street itself, spanned with floral arches twined with festoons and garlands, the houses and shops on either side gay with bunting flags and flowers, becomes a fitting lane for the gorgeous pageant. Not are the drivers themselves the least attractive part of the fairy scene. Lovely women, in gowns exquisite and costly, and happy children adorn the cars and give the needed vivifying touch.—Woman's Home Companion for May.

A new foundation is being placed under the Marble house on Day's Avenue.

The Model Bakery will have lots of fresh home made cakes for you Saturday.

Miss Anna Kinney, who resides near Grange Hall, north of town, is clerking in D. L. Boardman's store.

Mr. Peter Snyder and his sister, Mrs. S. N. Sparks, of the bend of the river, entertained a company of their friends at a six o'clock dinner Sunday, April 30. Decorations were apple blossoms. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Blunden.

Yesterday was opening day at McFallon's new saloon. This place is fitted up in modern style with golden oak wood work and bar. The plumbing is first-class in every way and was executed by E. S. Roe. The room has been tastily decorated and presents a pleasing appearance.

The drain commission case, between Frank A. Stryker and John E. Burbank, will be tried in the Supreme Court at Lansing, today. The brief for Mr. Stryker's side of the case was printed at the Record office. No matter which side wins the case, Buchanan will be the headquarters of the drain commissioner, as both parties are now residents here.

Yesterday was "May Day," and last night was a great time for the little folks. It was a pleasing sight to see them fitting here and there with their pretty May baskets filled with flowers. A knock at your door, and you open it to find one of these pretty baskets, and to hear the suppressed titter of the little ones, whose bright eyes are peeping from a nearby hiding place. Many were the happy hearts on this bright "May Day" and we hope that their joys may never decrease.

The meeting held in the Advent Christian church Sunday afternoon, for the purpose of discussing the organization of a Y. M. C. A., was largely attended. Addresses were given by several of the ministers and others. A committee consisting of A. A. Worthington, J. C. Rehm, Clayton Housewerth, E. Ashbrook and Walter Clevenger was appointed to act with the state committee in the organization of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Mr. L. E. Buell, state secretary, of Ann Arbor, will be here next Tuesday evening and will address the young men.

The handsome farm residence of E. B. Smith, at Moccasin Mound farm, about three miles from town, was burned about one o'clock this morning. The fire was discovered by Miss Lotta Searls, who lives just a little ways from them. Mr. Searles hurried to the Mr. Smith's and found the family all asleep, and at this time the rear portion of the house was all on fire. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it started in the shed at the back of the house and spread so rapidly that only the household goods in the front part of the house were saved. The neighbors turned out and rendered what assistance they could but with no means of fighting fire at hand, the house could not be saved. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

The Geo. R. Rich Manufacturing Co., have just received a large order from the U. S. Navy Yard at Brooklyn, N. Y., for their drills. These drills are to be used on the work being done on the battleship Connecticut.

The Presbyterian S. S. will hold a social at the home of Miss Beulah Jenks, on Fourth street, Friday evening. A fine program will be given and refreshments served. An admission of ten cents will be charged. Let every body come.

Mrs. Juliet Baird and Geo W. Rough were married at high noon today, at the home of the bride on North Oak street, by Rev. D. O. Ruth. The ceremony was witnessed only by the near relatives. They will be at home to their friends at the home of the groom on Portage Prairie. The Record extends congratulations.

WANTED—Carpenters, first-class workmen; steady employment the year round for goodmen. Wages $2 to $2.50 per day. No labor troubles. If you are needing work call us on the long distance telephone at our expense or write.

TRUSCOTT BOAT MFG. COMPANY
St. Joseph, Michigan.

During the past month all kinds of reports have been set afloat regarding the business of the Geo. R. Rich Manufacturing Co. These stories have been so many and at such wide variance that a Record representative called upon Mr. W. B. Johnston, manager of the company, requesting that he give the true state of affairs. Mr. Johnston informed us that the reason a number of the men had been laid off, during the past few weeks, was due to the general depression in their line, and the fact that they had a large stock of the finished product. Within the past week business has been greatly improving and a number of the men were put back to work. Mr. Geo. R. Rich, who has been superintendent of the factory, has resigned that position and will act as sales agent for the company throughout the east and middle west.

ARE FREAKS OF SEAQUAKES

Mighty Disturbances of the Ocean Known Under That Name—
Described by Author.
Seaquakes are mighty disturbances of the waters of the ocean, their cause or causes being identical with the causes of earthquakes. In Maj. C. E. Dutton's book, "Earthquakes," the author has some interesting facts regarding the ocean variety of quake. From the entries in the logs of many ships he concludes that in rare cases the power of the seaquake shocks may be great enough to cause the vessel to be shaken to pieces. Gigantic waves in the ocean are, of course, a frequent accompaniment of the seaquake. On the west coast of South America, where these waves are frequent, they may sometimes follow a quake having its center below the sea level, that is also felt on land. But more often they come without warning. The most memorable seaquake of this locality occurred August 3, 1868.

Maj. Dutton describes it as follows: "The coast of South America was shaken all the way from Guayaquil in Ecuador to Valdivia in Chili, the highest intensity being manifested in the neighborhood of Arica. The force of the quake in this town was very great, throwing down most of the structures and producing land slips. A few minutes later—precisely how many minutes is not known—the sea was observed to retire slowly from the shore, so that ships anchored in seven fathoms of water were left high and dry. "A few minutes later still it was seen returning in a great wall or 'bore' which caught up the ships in the roadstead and swept them inland as if they were mere chips of wood. Among them was the United States steamer Waterlee, one of the improvised war vessels of the blockading fleet of the civil war, which was carried inland nearly half a mile and left with little injury on shore by the recession of the wave."

IS LARGEST UNIVERSITY.

That of Berlin Has 7,774 Matriculated Students According to Year Book.

The year book of the University of Berlin gives statistics which show that this institute is the largest in the world. The number of matriculated students at present attending lectures is 7,774. There are only 835 divinity students in the university. The faculty of law has 2,756 students, that of medicine 1,111, and philosophy 3,572. In addition to students from every German state, the Berlin university contains 413 Russians, 130 Austrians, 102 Swiss, 81 Hungarians, 39 British, 35 Roumanians, 25 Bulgarians, 24 French, and smaller numbers from every other European country, including Turkey and Montenegro. America sends 123 students, Asiatic lands 37, Africa 8 and Australia 3.

In addition to the matriculated students 1,330 persons have received permission to attend the lectures. It is curious to note that the decline in the number of theological students is not confined to Berlin university, but is observed in every other German seat of learning. This decline has been so rapid in the last ten years as seriously to alarm the leaders of the church. Since 1895 the decrease has been nearly 50 per cent. Two reasons are given for this: First, the superior attractions offered by commerce and industry since Germany became a great manufacturing country, and, secondly, the decay of belief mainly owing to the destructive criticism of the Bible and religious dogmas by the professors of the modern liberal schools.

ST. MARK'S IS CRUMBLING.

Noted Church of Venice Must Have New Foundations, Says Report of Expert.

The report of Prof. Manfredo Manfredi, the eminent architect, and Signor Luigi Marangoni, the engineer, on the condition of St Mark's shows an alarming state of affairs, says the Kansas City Journal.

It confirms the statement that the fall of the Campanile two years ago was a blessing in disguise, as it called attention to the Venetian antique monument of art.

The greatest danger to St. Mark's is in the foundations, which have been constantly giving way in divers directions. All the walls show such cracking and weakening that it leads to the conclusion that under the magnificent dress of marble and mosaic is concealed the most alarming decrepitude.

So bad is the condition of the vaults, called the Paradise and the Apocalypse, that their complete and definite restoration is absolutely necessary. It is a miracle that they maintain their equilibrium.

The dome and the choir claim the most immediate and radical measures, as does also the great dome. Both are out of place and show fissures.

Restoration will have to be made of the walls and decorations almost everywhere to preserve intact their artistic and antique value.

Apart from the work necessary to rebuild the foundations, it is estimated that the cost of restoration will be $30,000, part of which is already in the hands of the administration of the Basilica, who have not always spent the whole of the $10,000 provided yearly by the government for the upkeep of St. Mark's.

St. Mark's is one of the famous churches of the world. Mr. Ruskin was enraptured with the beauty of its coloring—"the color of glass, of transparent alabaster of polished marble, and lustrous gold." The church was first built in 829, and frequently remodeled thereafter, and enriched with decorations of lavish magnificence. It has 500 marble columns.

ATTRACTION IN LUNATICS.

Eccentric Hermit Found Food for Study in Mental Malady—Obstinacy a Factor.

The late Dr. Leroy M. Taylor, the eccentric hermit and orientalist of Washington, devoted some years of his early life to the study of insanity, and he would sometimes discuss insanity in an interesting way, says the Los Angeles Times.

"Obstinacy, invincible obstinacy, is a phase of insanity that attracts me," he said, one day. "I have often tried with all my ingenuity to drive their delusions out of the heads of obstinate lunatics, but I have never succeeded in this. The obstinate lunatic was always cleverer than I.

"I once knew an insane chemist who declared that he was dead. I said to him: 'Now, sir, you know you are not dead. Why not admit it?'"

"I admit nothing," said the chemist. "I am dead."

"Dead men," said I, "don't bleed. Their blood doesn't circulate. Will you let me cut you slightly by way of an experiment so as to see whether you bleed or not?"

"How deep would you cut?" the lunatic asked, gruffly.

"Oh, a mere scratch," I answered. "A scratch would suffice."

"Here, then, go ahead," said he, and he turned back his sleeve and bared his forearm.

"I made a slight incision, and blood, of course, flowed instantly from the wound.

"There," said I, "you bleed. That proves you are not dead."

"Not at all," returned the obstinate lunatic. "It only proves that dead men can bleed."
