A JUNE

WEDDING

Miss Blanche Peck and Mr. Ray F. Weaver Married Yesterday.

The Contracting Parties are Popular Young People of Buchanan.

At high noon yesterday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bishop, occurred the marriage of their daugh ter, Miss Blanche A. Peck to Mr. Ray F. Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Weaver, in the presence of the near relatives of the contracting parties.

At the appointed time the bride and groom, attended by Miss Pearl Peck, as bridesmaid and Mr. Clarence Peck as best man, marched down the stairway to the sweet strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Nina Rapp, of Benton Harbor, and took their places under an artistically arranged bower of white lace and feins. Here Rev. C. E. Marvin, of Niles, pronounced the words that linked their lives together.

The bride was attired in a hand some gown of white silk mousseline and carried white bridal roses, while the bridesmaid wore baby blue organdie and carried pale pink roses. The gentlemen wore the customary black. After the congratulations were over, a two course luncheon was served in the spacious dining room, where the same color scheme, of green and white, was carried out.

The presents were many and beautiful, among them being many pieces of cut glass, hand painted china and two elegant rocking chairs.

Friday evening a party of fifteen of gave her a pleasant surprise and left her a fine mantel clock as a token of their esteem. They also brought ice cream and cake and had a jolly good

Among the guests present at the wedding were the following from out of town: Mrs. Geo. Papson, of Buffalo, N. Y., Miss Maymie Dunbar, of and Miss Nina Rapp, of Benton Harbor, Mrs. H. D. Rough, of Goshen, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hill, of Niles and Miss Eva Morris, of South

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver will occupy their own home (eight miles northwest of town) which the groom had all furnished. The RECORD together with their many friends extend them hearty congratulations.

CEREMONIES

Were Carried Out Tuesday At | Several Legislative Measures Oak Ridge Cemetery

Program Was Perfect and Executed as Arranged

The Memorial Day exercises under the direction of the G. A. R. were perfect. The weather in the morning looked threatering but by the time the procession was formed at 1:30 o'clock the sky began to clear and the rest of the day was ideal.

The procession was formed at the Engine house, and headed by the Buchanan band. Next came the members of the Wm. Perrott Post G. A. R. then the school children with red, white and blue paper hats and each carrying a flag and flowers, Following them were the members of the Ladies Circle of the G. A. R. and citizens in carriages.

At the soldiers lot the balance of the exercises took place and the following program was carried out:

Song by choir.

Prayer by Rev. W. J. Tarrant. Song by choir.

Address by Rev. J. R. Darling. Song by choir.

Music by Band.

Rev. Darling's address was well received and has brought fourth many complimentary remarks both as to its sentiment and to his ability | the printer to be put into its final and as a speaker.

The line of march was then reformed and returned to town, where the band escorted the G.A. R. to their postroom. Again have we done be the case now, in what further honor to those who gave up their direction, if any, it will need amendlives, that we might be a free and united people, and again we will continue, to bedeck their last resting places with sweet garlands, until we shall all answer the last roll call, and be mustered out by the Great Gener-

LANSING LETTER

of Statewide Value Completed

Representative and Senatorial Districts Will Probably Not be Changed-Review of the Week at Lansing

Lansing, May 29, 1905. -The conflict is ended, the question is settled, the Michigan primary law for the next two years is framed and determined. The republican party of this state has fulfilled its promise to the people, and has even performed more than it promised. The legislature, composed solely of republicans, has completed the enactment of the measure described two weeks ago, and the republican governor will affix his signature to it as soon as it can be prepared in form to be pre-

The house did not spend a great day afternoon. Two amendments plurality feature, and both were voted down one to strike out the forty per cent, failing by sixty three to thirtyfive, and one to substitute twentyfive percent losing by fifty-three to thirty-one. Some other amendments shared the same fate, only some verbal ones for the purpose of perfecting the bill being adopted, and the bill to eight, the fullest vote of the session, all but three of the members being present and voting. The senate concurred in those formal amendments. Thursday, and the act went to completed form. When it shall have been tested by the experience of next spring and the following fall, it may be more intelligently seen than can

Following the disposal of the primary bill, the house took up another measure over which there had already been some skirmishing, giving rise to considerable hysterical talk in certain quarters. That was the bill of Senator Brown, to authorize the attorney general to examine the books of a railroad company when deemed pleadings in any litigation between paration of state cases, and it was the approval of the governor, which only waited for the printing of the act. And thus those Detroit papers which have been throwing several kinds of fits over the maglin purpose and power of the "machine" to kill that bill in the interest of the Michigan Central, have the, to them, unwelcome duty of reporting its triumphant passage, which they cannot successfully minimize nor dis-

Another measure of much importance and of wide interest in the state which was successfully carried through the house during the week, was Representative Lovell's bill to reorganize the tax commission, which had passed the committee of the whole the week previous, and was here outlined last week. It met determined the 17th for final adjournment after opposition in the house, as it had in the signing and entry of acts upon the committee, but it went through. sixty-three to twenty-three, and was sent to the senate, where it was referred. Detroit, and the amendments were the next day accepted by the house in committee of the whole, and placed upon the order of third reading.

Thursday, the house passed the bill to limit the extortions of Detroit chattel mortgage sharks, introduced by Representative Lord of Detroit, which makes a rate of seven percent on chattel mortgage loans, with fees for examination of the property. The been introduced in the senate, by Senator Hayden of Cass.

The constitution requires that the state shall be reapportioned for representative and senatorial districts after each state census, and Senator Doherty on Thursday introduced two bills for that purpose, neither of which makes any change in the existing districts, differing in that res pect from bills already introduced in the house. It would be remarkable if changes in population in ten years could leave the apportionment of ten years ago at all suitable to present necessary for the preparation of his conditions. If it could, it could not have been very fair before. Comparsuch company and the state or any of ison of population of northern and its officers on its behalf. The bill southern districts, and urban and pany were quietly married Tuesday was declared by the attorney general rural districts, shows that considerable inequalities exist at present. It would seem, however, that the likeliof the First Baptist church, South passed by the emphantic vote of hood of any scheme of apportionment Bend. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside eighty-four to thirteen, as it came being enacted now, unless it would from the senate, and so only needed be the simple thing that the senator proposes, is not at all likely. A joint resolution has passed author izing the Stevens T. Mason commission to provide for the erection of a monument to the first governor in the small park in Detroit which is the site of the old state capitol; at Griswold and State streets. Elaborate programs are out, for the two days meeting of the state pioneer and historical society, June 7 and 8, the sessions of which are to be held in the senate chamber, and the closing session which is called the Stevens Thompson Mason Evening. The senate can easily conclude its business and yield the chamber to the society Tuesday noon, June 7, though a joint resolution for adjournment names the 8th for termination of business, and the journals. Meantime, both houses go right on introducing new bills at the rate of fifty or more per week, a though they had all summer to work testing your eyes. We guarantee to give them off. IN MEMORIAM

HARRY ARLINGTON COX

Harry Arlington Cox, was born in Cairo, Ill., Aug. 2, 1891, and died in Buchanan May 31, 1905. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Cox and has spent the greater part of his life in this place. The cause of his death was consumption. He had been quite sick the past few weeks, but only for the last ten days had he been confined to his bed. Everything possible was done to relieve him but the disease was too deeply seated and he passed quietly away just before noon. The funeral will be held at the Advent Christian church at 2 o'clock today, Rev. Chas. A. Shook officiating. Interment will be made in Oak Ridge.

MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial day is to remember the soldiers who fought in the war. They fought in the Civil and Spanish wars. The Civil war was between the Confederate and Union States. It started because the Confederate wanted slaves and the Union didn't, so the Confederate states said that they would be a country for themselves. It was about forty years ago. Abraham Lincoln was president then. About a month after the war closed, President Lincoln was in a theatre in Washington. In his seat Old Glory was around it. A mannamed Wilkes Booth shot Mr. Lincoln, just as he tried to get away the flag caught him in the knee and broke his leg. He hobbled across the stage. After decorate the graves of loved ones. while they found him in a barn. Some of the soldiers are alive now. Tuesday they decorated the soldiers graves and we marched with them. 4 4 A

The teachers of the Buchanan Schools gave an announcement party Wednesday night at the home of Miss Theoda Treat, in honor of the Misses Holliday and Tatem. The feature of the evening was the way in which each one was to take their place at the table. A card was upon each plate and on each card was a picture that indicated the person who should occupy that position. From each of these cards a ribbon extended to the chandelier and hanging from the other end an Egnlsih walnut, which when opened, contained the fortune of the possessor. A fine luncheon was served and a general good time had by all.

MAN-WHO ONCE MADE

DIAMONDS

By Cutcliffe Hyneon. Copyright, 1905, by Cutcliffe Hyne

T is a remark past doubt the Conrad Macdonald was ney most wonderful chemist. Myself I know this, eyes. that's why I say it. His small koraof acquaintances are, with few excien. tions, entirely ignorant on the subject, Even the Hatton Garden people, v ought to know, have overlooked talent in their awe at one anothelory the man's peculiar attributes.

Pedantically Macdonald was Pha he of Leipsic and a D. Sc. of Lon which, of course, does not go much, and he was also a B. A. of Charle bridge, first class Nat. Science Tripos, both parts, which naturally goes for nothing at all. Honors men are notorious fizzles in after life, and so none of these things in the least proves that he was usefully and practically clever. Even the post at Burton-on-Trent, from which he derived a living during some sixteen preparatory years, was no criterion of his powers. He was merely analyst in a brewery. Officially that may argue certain niceties of manipulation and an elementary knowledge of organic work, but no operations are required which are not exhaustively remarked upon in the text books. Original research is entirely foreign to that branch of the trade. For the style of work he drew a good income—few journeymen analysts could boast a better-but the exoteric public | alogy and the whole of physics, crysfailed to see how he spent it. He fared on Spanish claret, Camembert cheese, brown biscuit and plug tobacco entirely; bought one inferior suit of black per annum, which became many hued with bleach and acid before the day of went in buying diamonds to experidiscarding; never purchased letterpress, amusement or new hats, and yet | more funds and got this job of analyst | collapsing as I was crossing the brewwore his money down to the breaking strain. The local bank manager while sending him uncivil letters about overdrawing his account used to wonder whether Macdonald was supporting an invalid mother in luxury elsewhere.

Macdonald knew very few people outside the brewery. Myself and one other man made up his list of callers.

Not counting experimental labor, the actual manufacture of that crystal cost me £9. On the market, as you see it now, the stone is worth fully £1,900." "And this is what you've been pegging at all these years?" "It's what I have had in my mind.all my life. It's what I've worked for ever since I could read or reason. It's been my one idea for making a fortune, just as other men try for their millions in coals or cotton. I'm there now, assets ready to realize, but I tell you, old man, the apprenticeship has been too bad to even remember in detail. The original outfit before even I touched work was enormous-chemistry, minertallography, geology, mechanics—all to the utmost verge that any man had ever worked before. They took up years of ferocious labor and almost all my capital. The balance of money time. You know I'm a luxurious minded chap, fond of purple and soft living, and yet I've not spent £50 a twelvemonth on my body through all these I had my swim in that tank, I've been mixture of parasiin spirit and bone oil distillate with lithium in a strong iron tube to the prolonged heat of a reverberatory furnace. He got specimens of diamantoid carbon, but they were small in size and when placed on the polishing wheel immediately crumbled. I was about as lucky, except that in addition I had a bad blow-up which cost me half a femoral muscle and will make me limp to my dying day. Afterward I found that there was something else in natural diamonds besides pure carbon, and, working with that something else and a mechanical contrivance with electrical adjuncts"— "Oh, look here," I cut in, "that'll do. You make me tired."

"Greek, still Greek to you?" "Emphatically; so come to results. You say you know how to make diamonds of large size for half nothing a carat-diamonds which will stand cutting and which are in all respects equal to the dug up animal?"

Macdonald nodded and rubbed his hands softly.

"And now you're going to put them on the market? Well, don't flood it and you've got the softest thing any one man ever owned since Noah had the monopoly for live stock."

"It's highly improbable that I make or sell a single crystal."

I turned and stared at him. Was the man crazy? "There's a much better dodge than setting up a diamond factory." He paused again and laughed.

"Speak, you scoundrel!" I shouted. "Don't keep me in the thumbscrews here. What's better?"

"Why, not doing it and being paid for that same. Don't you know that all the diamond people have clubbed together into the biggest ring or trust or corner or whatever you choose to call it of any commercial fraternity in all the world? This ring either owns or has a governing interest in all the big mines in Africa, Brazil and India. and even the lesser ones in Virginia and Borneo and those places, and it regulates the output and brings the price to what it exactly likes. Do you think that ring would submit to having another mine opened-my mine-without trying very hard to have two fingers and a thumb in it?" "Not much. And so you offered to trade with the ring?"

"I wrote to two Hatton Garden fellows I knew-they were merchants I used to buy my diamonds from to experimentalize with-and invited them to come down here with an expert friend. They came and brought a man with them who-on paper, at any rateis one of the first chemists of the day. I treated them to a short scientific lecture, stated some facts and showed them some specimens. Then before them I loaded up a small gun metal cylinder with various things, screwed on the top and sealed it.

"Now, Mr. Levenstein,' said I to one of them, 'you put that in your pocket and take it away with you. If you leave it as it is the thing's safe as a paving stone. If you try to unscrew it before a week's out you'll have an explosion which an anarchist might be proud of, and, whatever else happens to the diamond ring, their subsequent proceedings won't interest you any more. But if at the end of the week you take out the stopper, which you can do then as safely as I put it in, you'll find a colorless liquid and rather a good diamond. I'll make you a present of the lot to do what you like

"They went away then, and I heard at the end of the week they'd found the diamond all right-a gem, I guess, worth about £150-and that they sent to Amsterdam to get it cut into a bril-

"Well, that specimen gem took its facets all right, and then I didn't hear anything more from the diamond ring directly for some time. They communicated indirectly. First a pyramid of ment upon. Then I had to work for beer barrels took the opportunity of here in Burton. It's been an awful ery yard. I escaped by the skin of my teeth and thought it was an accident. Then there was a gas explosion in my laboratory, and the place was wrecked body and walls. By the greatest mirayears. Except the odd moments when cle on earth I'd just gone outside, and the only victim was a strange man, who was blown to rags. That made me suspicious, and when walking across the fields here tonight a man
