Just an Old Western Fan

This here J-C Ovington is the guy that ever come in a while walks up to us on the street and says

"If it's true that you were ever in Colorado and Wyoming, how come you are back here? I just been out there"

And of course we come back "Mebbe it's true you just came back but explain why"

So that leaves it a draw and he tells us about the trip

He returned the first of the month from a short run-around through Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona

He couldn't take his car with him, but he got a break He sold his railway ticket in Denver and traveled down into Albuquerque and Phoenix by buying gas for army boys traveling to or from their homes on Yarrlough

There was no speed limit on army cars, and it was a fine way to see the country and good company to see it with, Ovington reports

Or don't you?

Well, here's the idea It's not a new idea—you've all had it called to your attention before, but in the case of a lot of you, the idea hasn't soaked down into your intentions It's a little matter of decency which you are overlooking

Ida M. Barlow Confesses, Gets a Jail Sentence

Two Men Plead Not Guilty; Jailed to Wait Trial on August 19

Mrs. Ida May Barlow, 101 Jordan street, was sentenced to a $50 fine and thirty days in jail by Justice Lee Mathe Tuesday, following her confession to having "contributing to the delinquency of a minor" by giving beer to a ten-year-old boy in a local tavern Monday evening.

The complaint was made by the mother of the boy, and included also John Settle, 316 Short street, and Claude C. Duncan, a newcomer in town. The two men were also taken before Justice Mathe but pleaded not guilty. Their trial was set for Aug. 19. Failing to give the required bond of $200, they were taken to the county jail at St. Joseph to await trial. The three defendants were arrested Monday evening and were kept in the Niles city jail until morning.

The mother made the complaint after the 10-year-old boy got home about 8:30 p. m. after lying in the weeds along the way too dizzy and ill to walk. In his drunken condition he had fallen, breaking out a tooth. He said that he had gone into the tavern looking for his father. Apparently the person or persons who then gave him beer did so for the amusement of watching its effects.

Police Chief Paul Kane stated that henceforth he will enforce in Buchanan the legal regulations forbidding minors in taverns and that if any minors are found in such places the proprietors will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law and if the parents or other adults are in any way responsible for the minor's presence they will also be prosecuted.

City Clerk Post Explains Meaning Trailer Ordinance

The new trailer ordinance will not make it mandatory for all trailer house owners to live within a regulated city trailer camp, if their location elsewhere is approved by the city clerk and they are conforming to sanitary requirements, according to City Clerk Post. If they are permitted to park on the property of a relative or friend, and are permitted use of the sanitary facilities there, they need not move to a trailer camp. However, it will be no longer allowable for trailer houses to park on vacant lots or other locations lacking the required sanitary facilities.

Lt. Ranahan Tells of Safe Arrival Somewhere in Eng.

The following letter has been received by Dan Ranahan, 112 1/2 Main street, from his daughter, Lt. Anna Grace Ranahan, announcing her arrival in England: "Dear Dad in case you haven't received my other letters, this finds me safe and well somewhere in England. The change of scenery has been quite a thrill, although it is a great deal like home. There are many thatched roofs and I keep recalling what you used to tell me about them. Every house has a rose garden, and they build pretty cute haystacks too. I'll have to learn to ride a bike, as everyone seems to be doing it here. I'd give most anything to have a real American hamburger and coca cola. Have one for me, will you? I was disappointed not to receive a letter from you. Please write soon and if you use a V-mail I would receive it sooner. Stay well and I will be home soon, I hope. Love, Anna Grace."

New Scholarship Plan Announced by U. of Michigan

One Student From Each H.S. Eligible; Must Apply by August 25

A new scholarship plan announced by the University of Michigan is called to the attention of the Record by Supt. H. C. Stark, who states that young people of Buchanan looking forward to a college education will do well to read the following release: "The University List Scholarship Plan"

The University of Michigan announces a new scholarship plan for graduates of Michigan high schools. Each scholarship carries with it a stipend equivalent to semester fees for the freshman year with the added provision for renewal through the sophomore, junior, and senior years, if performance warrants such action. The objective of the plan is to provide educational opportunities for young men and women who show special promise in terms of intellectual ability and general personal quality and who could be expected to develop into more useful citizens as a result of the training the university can offer them. The scholarships constitute a definite recognition of possibilities for future leadership.

One student graduating each year from each of the high schools on the university accredited list may receive a scholarship provided the following qualifications are met: (a) Scholarship—upper third of the graduating class. (b) Successful performance on psychological tests and on achievement tests covering the principal high school subjects. (c) Known interest in further education. (d) Character, good citizenship, and health. (e) Financial need (should, however, be able to meet expenses during the first college year with the aid of the scholarship).

Eligibility and selection of successful candidates will be determined on the basis of high school records, psychological tests, an application from the candidate, and letters from local citizens, including the high school principal, university alumni, a physician, and any others selected by the committee. Provision will be made also for personal interviews.

Follow-up and Counseling Service Special attention will be given to the scholarship students both as a group and as individuals in order to aid the university experience as valuable as possible—academically and with respect to personal development, satisfaction, and progressive orientation in broad life terms. Thus, individual student interests and aims, together with the high school record, test results, and other data will be utilized to aid the scholarship recipients in planning their programs. These preliminary plans will be made in conference with the students before the actual commencement of university work. Furthermore, this aspect will be followed through during the entire period of university attendance, insuring as far as possible against mistakes in curricular and vocational planning.

Every consideration will be given throughout the entire time, to the promotion of health and sound study habits, to living arrangements and cultural opportunities, and the provision of adequate social, recreational, and special interest outlets. Likewise, opportunity will be afforded, on a systematic and regular basis, for consultation with specially qualified persons respecting any problems or questions which may arise, directly concerning the university or of a personal nature. In other words, there is to be available a competent and fully rounded counseling service operating in a dis-

William Eisele Gets 42 Bushels Wheat Per Acre

William Eisele, Portage Prairie farmer, thinks he holds the record for wheat production, not only on the prairie, but in the Buchanan district, for 1943.

Here is his record. From 13 acres of wheat he achieved a yield of 545 bushels, or almost 42 bushels per acre. The wheat is of extra fine quality and contains no foreign seed of any kind. The wheat is of a new variety, the Thorax wheat. Although the heads are very smooth, Mr. Eisele counted 40 kernels in one head. If anyone has a better record, this paper would like to hear from them.

Tales of An Old Town

An Attempt to Reproduce a Cross Section of The American Scene, As Witnessed Here Through the Past Century

Contribution by May Mitchell On Items of Grange and Other History

The following letter was received by the more or less industrious compiler from a very good friend of the Record and of this department. We are going to print most of the letter in the contents of the column this week. If the writer, Mrs. May Mitchell, does not like it, it will reach her not to trust newspapers with letters, or anything else.

Here it is: Dear Sir: I have been watching the Berrien County Record to see whether there would be any write-ups under "Tales of an Old Town" about the Mt. Tabor Grange being organized in the first week of August, 1873. In other words, it's a seventieth anniversary.

There is a good paragraph in the history of Berrien County, published in 1879, on the Mt. Tabor Grange. This is it: "Mt. Tabor Grange, No. 43, Patrons of Husbandry, was organized Aug. 5, 1873, with the following members: Joseph Beach and wife, Stephen Harner and wife, P. Helmick and wife, William M. Tabor and wife, Orlando Nelson and wife, Christopher Raver, J. C. Beach, D. Sylvester and wife, Richard Edwards and wife, William M. Tabor was the first master and B. Helmick the first secretary. Until August, 1877, the grange held meetings in the homes of its members. A fine grange hall was completed and opened at that time, costing $1200. The members now number 59. The officers chosen for 1879 were Master, W. J. Jones, secretary, Matie J. Helmick; treasurer, Chester Fisher; overseer, Thomas J. Crandall, chaplain, Joseph Beach; steward, A. D. Stowe, assistant steward, Mrs. A. D. Stowe; clerk, Mrs. Sarah Jones, Flora, Miss Nellie McOmber; Pomona, Miss Lettie Fisher; O. G. Mrs. E. A. Green."

Berrien Center Grange No. 34, which is still alive, was organized before Mt. Tabor. There was no publicity about its seventieth birthday. According to the Michigan Patron, the state grange publication, only one grange in the state, Paris Grange, No. 19, of Kent county, has celebrated its 70th birthday. Besides Mt. Tabor there is only one other grange in the county organized in 1873, the Bainbridge Grange. The Pipestone Grange, No. 194, was organized Jan. 13, 1874. I think the Mt. Tabor Grange will have a celebration later on. Of course you know that the site was donated by Jesse Helmick. The Helmick reunion is always held in the grange. Have you noticed the boulder which commemorates Judge Helmick, and which is close to the highway on the grange lot? Has there ever been a write-up of Judge Helmick in the Record, aside from that in connection with the holding of pioneer church meetings at his home? Later, if I can get some more information about Weesaw and adjacent territory I can write something about the history of Hills Corners and vicinity. Another matter of interest—in May of next year the Wagner school will be 100 years old, that is, according to the letter written by Jane Wagner and published some time ago in the Record. Have you ever read in the Berrien County histories about Alonzo Sherwood, who owned 600 acres of land in Weesaw and Lake townships, I believe in the sixties and seventies he ran a saw mill at Oak Grove. After he left for Nebraska, one of the Wagners bought it from a Wormer, who had had a big mortgage on the acreage. I think Alonzo was one of Seth Sherwood's sons. According to the county history, Seth Sherwood was one of the first settlers on the flats west of the St. Joseph river, north of Buchanan. In one of the histories the present Miller district was called the Sherwood district. Alonzo Sherwood was at one time supervisor of Weesaw township, also a representative in the Michigan state legislature. It would be interesting to learn how many sawmills there used to be in Weesaw and Lake townships, also how many mills there were along the lake front from Union Pier to past Stevensville. Respectfully yours, May C. Mitchell.

MSC Tells How to Control Blight In State Potato Crop

Scattered infestations of late blight indicate serious threat of the disease in the 220,000 acres of Michigan's 1943 potato crop. In the lower peninsula the late blight has made its appearance in Oakland and Wexford counties. In the upper peninsula the blight has been found in Menominee, Iron and Delta counties. Cool nights, heavy dews and showers have brought conditions favorable for spread of the blight, comments H. C. Moore, potato specialist at Michigan State college. A cut in yield can be accompanied by rot in storage if widespread damage occurs. Two methods of control are open to the commercial grower, the patch grower or the victory gardener. For the commercial grower with large acreage, the spraying program is recommended by Moore. This should have been started as a safety measure when the young potato plants were four to five inches out of the ground. Spraying with Bordeaux requires a supply of water, preferably near the potato field. The other method, usually used for small acreages or patches such as those in farm or victory gardens, consists of dusting, using a fixed or insoluble copper dust, already mixed for application. Supplies of the dust are available in stores or feed or seed dealers or at farm supply warehouses. Either the dust or the spray, according to Moore, helps control leaf hoppers which alone can reduce yields 24 to 25 per cent unless held down by applications of sprays or dusts.

Has Solution For Keeping Rabbits Away From Garden

A western Michigan farmer has a simple home remedy which he is recommending to victory gardeners and which he declares will keep rabbits and squirrels away from tender garden plants. He contends that rabbits will not bother vegetables and green-stuffs sprayed with a weak solution of lime, pepper, and water. He advises making a solution of one-half pound of pepper and one pound of lime to five or ten gallons of water. Abram Nash of Oak Park, Ill., was a week-end guest of his son, Fred Welch.

First Contingent of 25 House Trailers to Arrive Today

Twenty-five house trailers, the first of 100 to be placed in a federal owned and managed trailer camp here, were scheduled to arrive last night or today, to be located at a site a block east of the River street plant on the north side of River street.

The trailers were to be transported to Buchanan from Wilmington, Ill. by a subcontracting transfer company. They were to be located at once on the site leased by the federal government. Connections are to be made immediately for lights and water, and temporary sanitary arrangements are to be set up so that occupation may begin in a few days. The house trailers will be accompanied by a laundry trailer and a public toilet trailer. These two units will at once be connected with city water and with a cesspool to be installed at once by government workers.

Most of the houses will be the standard type for two people, but a part will be of the "expandable type," providing an extra sleeping apartment to accommodate one or two additional family members. All will be furnished complete. It is emphasized that these trailers will not be available for people already living here and working in local plants, but will be for the use of workers and their families to be brought in as additional labor supply. The camp will be managed by a federal man.

The remaining 75 house trailers are expected to arrive in from 20 to 30 days. If the housing emergency continues it is expected that the trailer camp will be only a temporary emergency measure, and will be succeeded by housing construction by the federal government.

Library News

New books received at the public library recently, mentioned in order of name of book and author, are:

Between tears and laughter, Lin Yutang, Simon and Schuster; Living and My country and my people, opens a new storehouse of keen and pungent observations of East and West. Here are some fifty sketches and essays and satires, many of them turned out during his years of editing and contributing to Chinese magazines and newspapers, and others written for American periodicals during his stay in the United States. This book is a positive contribution to the store of Chinese political philosophy to the vexed question of world peace. More important than the Four Freedoms, says Lin, is Freedom from Humbug. The changes of our thinking must be basic if we are to be saved from utter disaster. We cannot be saved by science, by mathematics, by modern mechanism. We need deep draughts of the wine of wisdom, matured through four thousand years by Asiatic thought and experience in learning how man must deal with man.

The library checked out a total of 1,689 books during the month of July, 1,208 fiction and 481 non-fiction. One of the new books well worth reading is, Lin Yutang's "Between tears and laughter."

On the preceding two and one-half days, Aug. 27 and 28 and 29 until 3 p. m., a community goodwill conference will be held at the camp under the auspices of county council of churches through the direction of the Michigan council. This is one of eight conferences being held throughout Michigan this month for the purpose of analyzing some of the misunderstandings among occupational groups—farmers, labor, business, educational, etc. These groups will be invited to send delegates to the conference to talk over their mutual problems.

The area covered by the Camp Warren conferences will include the communities of Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Niles, Dowagiac, Three Rivers, Kalamazoo and South Haven. About 40 delegates are expected.

There's still hope for that kitchen larder of home canned Michigan fruits, if a housewife will watch the calendar and match it with a schedule put together by Don Hootman, extension specialist in horticulture at Michigan State college.

There's no argument with Hootman that a disappointing crop of cherries, red and black raspberries or strawberries appeared in 1943. But there is hope yet, in a parade of some fine Michigan fruit that will include peaches, two excellent varieties of apples, and the grape harvest.

Peaches this year will be about a week later than normal. In 1942, peaches were a week early, so the 1943 peak of harvest will be approximately two weeks later than a year ago. According to Hootman, peaches should be most plentiful from Aug. 25 to Sept. 15. More than two million bushels is the estimate this year from Michigan peach orchards, about equal to the 1942 crops.

Duchess and Wealthy apple varieties will make good crops this year. Home-made jelly can be processed from the Wealthies if housewives add some pectin to the juice. Apple sauce or canned apples can be put up from either

Council of Churches To Meet at Camp Warren Aug. 27-29

Two important conferences will be held at Camp Warren on Lake Michigan Aug. 27, 28, 29 under the auspices of the Berrien County Council of Churches according to announcements made at the monthly meeting of the executive board, Thursday, Aug. 5, at the Y. W. C. A. Benton Harbor.

To aid the individual churches to meet the challenge of religious education in their respective communities, the council has secured the services of Dr. Harry Munro, nationally known specialist in the field of religious education, author of a lecture and at present director of advanced adult education under the International Council of Religious Education, to direct its program at the summer meeting, Aug. 29, at the camp.

The meeting, which is open to all church workers of Berrien county interested in religious education, will convene at 3 p. m. Supper will be served at the camp and an evening conference with Dr. Munro will follow.

variety. The season on these will run from Aug. 15 to Oct. 1, with a total apple harvest about two-thirds of the past year.

The grape crop looks good, Hootman says. There are fewer vines than 10 years ago, but prospects this year are good for volume and quality. The time of harvest will likely extend from Sept. 25 to Oct. 15 for any marketing in volume from Michigan vineyards.

So if the preserve shelf looks empty, forget about the fruit that didn't get canned, Hootman advises, and mark the calendar for those yet to appear.

HOLLYWOOD

Ambition Is Realized

By Hopalong Cassidy
Hopalong Cassidy has a firm grasp on many records. Now it can be said that at least one actor in his midst has realized every ambition he harbored in his youth. And that's a tall order to live up to.

The luminary is William Boyd, who stars in the exciting Hopalong Cassidy adventure series, the latest of which "Border Patrol" comes to the Hollywood theatre Friday and Saturday, Aug. 13 and 14, through United Artists release.

"Border Patrol" marks the forty-fourth western drama in which Bill Boyd as Hopalong Cassidy is right in the thick of action, excitement and plenty of gunplay.

Bill always wanted to spend his life in the outdoors, roughing it. From his father, he inherited a love for mechanical things and he always intended to be an engineer like his father.

But more than anything else, he wanted to be a cowboy.

This last ambition was satisfied first. Bill has been a cowboy hero on the screen going on eight years, characterizing Hopalong Cassidy, the adventurer in Clarence E. Mulford's novels. Bill is so closely identified with the screen character that much of his fan mail comes to the studio addressed to Hopalong Cassidy.

Dead Enders, Tough Guys

Become Screen Favorites
Hollywood has been good to the Dead End Kids and the Little Tough Guys.

Coming to the film capitol for one picture, "Dead End" based on Elmer Rice's famous New York stage play, they remained and have appeared in more than 30 pictures together.

The original group which came to Hollywood has changed in the course of time, but three "old timers" are still together in "Universal's" "Keep 'Em Slugging" which comes to the Hollywood theatre Friday and Saturday, Aug. 13 and 14. They are Huntz Hall, Gabriel Dell and Bobby Jordan.

When the Dead End Kids first came to Hollywood they averaged fifteen years in age. Now they have grown up and have solidly established themselves in the ranks of movie stars.

Mowbray Is Host To Service Men

Time was when a Sunday afternoon at the home of Alan Mowbray who portrays John Powers in "The Powers Girl" the new United Artists release, showing at the Hollywood Sunday and Monday, Aug. 15 and 16, was one long round of conviviality for the Hollywood movie set. Entertainment included swimming meets at the Mowbray pool, and barbecue suppers on the spacious lawns.

Today the note of frivolity is gone from the Mowbray gatherings. And there's a change in the guests too. Instead of movie celebrities gracing the lawns, there are service men — British, Australian, American and Dutch soldiers, sailors and aviators. The atmosphere is still cheerful and convivial, but it is a conviviality tempered by the grim reality of a people at war.

Nor is there any deference to rank. There is no such thing as rank in a bathing suit. Nor is there any more small-talk as the servicemen sun themselves. The conversation has turned more serious — near the heart of the war.

Heflin-Barrymore-Hussey in "Tennessee Johnson"

Lionel Barrymore, Var Heflin and Ruth Hussey, hailed by critics as the best-balanced trio of stars ever to appear in a Hollywood production, are brought together in M-G-M's great historical drama, "Tennessee Johnson" which will be shown at the Hollywood Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 17, 18 and 19.

The drama is based on the life of Andrew Johnson, one-time illiterate runaway tailor's apprentice, who rises to the Presidency of the United States.

Van Heflin has the role of the illiterate backwoodsman who becomes the nation's leader. Miss Hussey will be seen as the understanding sweetheart and wife who educates him and aids him in the trials and tribulations which beset him.

Lionel Barrymore has the role of Thaddeus Stevens. The cast also includes Marjorie Main, Grant Withers, Regis Toomey and Noah Beery, sr.

Urges Prevention of Use of B and C Gasoline Rations

In a memorandum issued recently to all war price and rationing boards, Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown asked gasoline panels to intensify their efforts to prevent the misuse of "B" and "C" gasoline rations. He called their attention to the fact that gasoline stocks are gradually falling and that the quotas are drastically reduced for the month of August. He took the occasion to express his appreciation to volunteer panels for their past help, but urged even greater activity in the future.

In addressing the boards, Brown's statement reads, "We must depend on you not only to issue rations properly in the first place but also to see that these rations are properly used after they are issued. A program cannot operate effectively as long as violators go unpunished." He urges them further to carry out with all possible vigor the revocation of gasoline rations of motorists who violate rationing regulations.

Along with Brown's instructions to the boards, Jacob Zweedyk, district OPA director, advises that by a recent amendment motorists are required to endorse each gasoline ration coupon immediately upon receipt of their gasoline ration books "A" book holders who received a renewal as of July 22, should already have endorsed on the face of each coupon the license number and state of registration of the car. The same is true of "B," "C," "D," "E," "F" and "T-2" books. "E" and "R" book coupons must be endorsed with the name and address of the person to whom the ration was issued, exactly as it appears on the front cover of the book. The name and address should also have been placed on bulk coupons as of July 22.

Immediate endorsement favors the motorist, since it lessens the chances of theft and aids in the return of lost coupons or books. "The station operator is relieved of the burden of having to insist that he cannot accept unendorsed coupons, since it is now a violation of the regulations for even the motorist to have such coupons in his possession. James H. McLaughlin, chief enforcement attorney, advises that his department will conduct a drive throughout the district to obtain compliance with the amendment requiring that motorists have in their possession only properly endorsed coupons. He stated also that his department would cooperate with all board gas panels in carrying out the administrator's request for quick and vigorous action against motorists misusing their gasoline rations.

Jack C. Zarembo, Information Officer, Grand Rapids District.
