Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hein present the Julie Hein Eighth Grade Citizenship Award to Eric Koenig (left), at the Buchanan Middle School Achievement Assembly, Thursday, June 9.

Master Plan is shown by Plan Commission

The city plan commission had reason to be pleased at the turnout of interested citizens at hearings to reveal a comprehensive plan for Buchanan. A year ago the city received a grant for a 701 program to devise a new master plan for the city Architect Ray Enfield was hired to gather necessary data There is a deadline of June 30 to submit the plan to HUD, so the hearings had to be set before that time

The master plan is divided into seven different sections under the broad titles of (1) goals, objectives and policies, (2) a zoning ordinance update, (3) transportation plan, (4) physical, economic and social conditions, derived from the city census, (5) housing, (6) land use and (7) community facilities

Each section is generously supplemented with maps and charts.

Specific problems and goals were tackled in various phases of the plan It was pointed out, for example, that, when the proposed 31 by-pass is completed, traffic coming into Buchanan on the Niles-Buchanan Road will increase substantially Proposals included a new method of entrance and egress around the city and possible conversion to one-way streets of Main Street and Moccasin Street

It was pointed out that the population of Buchanan hasn't grown since the 1970 census, and such statistics as the number of apartment vacancies led to proposals on how to maintain and attract quality housing and to keep the small town atmosphere of Buchanan

Plan commission chairman Keith Morrow pointed out that these projections for the future are intended to be flexible with provisions for continued review It is hoped, he pointed out, to receive plenty of input from all of Buchanan's citizens, and it is planned to work closely with the surrounding townships with an exchange of ideas and goals

The whole master plan, the first for the city since 1963, contains data obtained from a variety of sources Printed in seven different books, the various phases of the plan and accompanying maps are available for inspection at the city hall

New softball field named for Herb Russell

The city commission met Monday in its newly decorated chambers for which it approved a bill of $5,940 with the stipulation that something be done to correct a chip in the counter top

Keith Welsh appeared to represent the chamber of commerce He asked first for permission to limit parking and to close off parts of the streets during Sidewalk Days July 22 and 23 Front from Oak to Redbud will be closed to through traffic with an attempt to keep the area open in front of Ross Standard The half block of Main Street will also be closed

Welsh's second request was for city financial help for the 4th of July fireworks He explained that the total cost would be $1600, and that he wondered if the city could donate $300-$500 The commission turned him down flat

Willie Brown is interested in purchasing three city owned lots on Bluff Street After considerable discussion the matter was tabled until the city manager can gather information and have a resolution prepared for offering these lots at open bidding

There have been at least three requests, all of which had been tabled, for vacation of alleys It was decided to set a public hearing for July 11 to discuss all of these requests

The commission approved a bill from Clifton Engineering for $15,000 for the lighting of the softball field. It was voted to name the new softball field H.D. Russell Field after Herb Russell, who did a great deal of work on establishing the field Centennial Park will now be known as McCoy Creek Recreation Area,

The city paid its usual bill to Cripps and Associates for community development services Ben Jenson voted no

The city manager was authorized to advertise for bids for construction of the Oak Street and Alexander Street bridges, for street work in the northeast area (Arctic), and for the purchase of a pole building to be installed at the sewer plant and enlargement of the storage building at the department of public works,

Linda Shelles was reappointed to the volunteer ambulance authority, and everybody was invited to the special meeting of the Landfill Authority on Wednesday

On March 2, 1977, Savoie wrote from memory Pi (ratio of circles circumference to diameter) to 5,015 decimal places He sent his entry to Guinness but the reply came back, someone else had written Pi to 5,050 decimal places.

Undaunted, Savoie tried again on Friday, May 27, 1977, at the Berrien County Record office, 111 Days Avenue, Buchanan, Michigan He began at 2.59 p m. and finished at 4 28 p m. He was under the unremitting surveillance of Elizabeth Hellwig, managing editor In his second try Savoie wrote Pi to 5,105 decimal places in 89 minutes. His work was checked by Hellwig and Don Stowell, staff reporter at the Record

Niles-Buchanan Big Brothers-Big Sisters receive concession trailer — donated by Jayco, Inc.

A comment made during a week-end camping trip became a fact with the presentation of a new concession trailer by Jayco, Inc , a Middlebury, Indiana, based RV manufacturer, to Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Niles-Buchanan, Inc.

During the past several summers the Niles-Buchanan Big Brothers and Sisters Chapter under the direction of Mark Nawrocki have rented a concession trailer during the summer and followed the county fair circuit through Southwestern Michigan, to raise funds for their activities, by selling food and drinks.

Because of the rental cost and the trailer not being adapted to specific concession needs, one of the members of the Big Brothers-Big Sisters Board of Directors, Bob Britton, made a comment to a fellow member of the Jayco Jaunters Camping Club last fall that it would be nice if Jayco would sell a frame and the boys would have a project of building a trailer over the winter for the hotdog season ahead.

The idea was presented to company management, who has in the past supported very generously the Elkhart County Big Brothers. Lloyd Bontrager, Jayco president stated "that Jayco could probably build a concession trailer better and quicker in our own facilities."

During the winter months Jayco engineering people worked 153 hours on their own time planning and constructing this 18-ft tandem axle trailer

Suppliers to the RV industry were contacted, and contributed materials to the project Dometic Refrigeration contributed a 3 cu ft refrigerator, Trawood, counter tops, Sailor Mfg., entrance door; and Fleming Sales a 6 gal. Mor-flo Water Heater

The unit includes 42 sq ft of counter space and 90 cu ft. of storage arranged so 6 people can work comfortably and sell from the inside simultaneously. Three sides of the unit open exposing the interior selling and working areas while sheltering customers from the elements Generally construction follows the same Jayco quality hallmark 2x2 sidewalls with 3-inch tapered roof rafters, metal underbelly and electric brakes on all 4 wheels

Big Brothers-Big Sisters this year has a better idea to raise money for more activities thanks to a lot of hard-working individuals and companies in Elkhart County

Jayco, Inc. of Middlebury, Indiana, has donated a 1977, 18 ft., fully equipped, concession trailer valued at approximately $4,000, to Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Niles-Buchanan.

Big Brothers-Big Sisters will use the concession trailer for the first time at the Fayette on July 16. Funds raised from concession sales will be used for Big Brother-Big Sister

Thanks farmers

An automobile bumper sticker was spotted in traffic the other y it said, "I Have Found a New Word for American riculture--Thanks!"

But, what does it say to the farmer? "Thanks'" A small word ich says volumes. It says we appreciate:

All the times you get up before dawn to check a newly-born imal just struggling to get its legs unfolded; to check the moisture the perfectly ripened grain in the swath waiting to be harvested; look at the sky to see if another day of rain is coming to ruin what le crop is left after yesterday's hailstorm.

All the years you've struck out when the crop burned up and ere was no harvest, the market was at the bottom when the crop 's good, and when the buying price went sky high and you had hing in the bins.

All the times you invested all your savings to buy a large tractor implement to help make the work a little easier only to find out t payment money wasn't there at the end of the year, credit was nt; the urban-oriented legislature and Congress imposed new gulations to make your paperwork so time consuming that you e to work half the night to stay ahead of it;

All the times your prize beef herd came down with a disease just market time and had to be destroyed,

All the times you came to town and heard someone say "dumb mer" and you just grin and bear it knowing that anyone who uld say such a thing is really the dumb one,

All the times that you got blamed for the price of food when you t only pennies for your product compared to what all the middle en between you and the consumer get

But, most of all, for hanging in there and saying, "Hang it all, xt year is going to be better"

Thanks.

WHAT IS STRESS??? It's pressure from outside that can make us feel tense inside Stress is an unavoidable fact of life Some stress is a part of daily life -- it affects everyone. Certain kinds are actually helpful -- they keep you on your toes But too much stress on your mind and body can make you miserable, worried, sad and ill If you allow it to build up, stress can sometimes produce tensions serious enough to interfere with your normal daily activities In today's world -- STRESS and its symptoms are common problems, Many people visiting doctors for physical complaints have stress linked problems -- mental and emotional woes.

One of the main causes of stress is CHANGE -- too many or too drastic changes often result in harmful tension FOR EXAMPLE personal loss, job changes, money problems, illness-injury, change in life style, family changes, retirement Excess tension can then result in anxiety and depression The results of anxiety tension "that worried, uptight feeling" The results of depression tension "that sad and blue feeling"

YOU can do a lot to keep tensions within reasonable limits before they lead to trouble Tips on keeping your tensions within reasonable limits will be in next weeks article -- FOR YOU FROM UNITY

Morse's reply

Dear Editor

I was very pleased to read the letter in last week's Record from Mr. Mason concerning the performance of the Buchanan High School Band at the Memorial Day activities This letter seemed to indicate that the Band is a very important part of the community and that there is a great deal of interest in the Band However, there are some statements made in this letter which are unfair to both myself and the Band which I would like to clarify

First, in the three years which I have been associated with the Buchanan High School Band, the Band has never been invited to participate in the Memorial Day Parade and Ceremonies nor have we been informed of starting times, parade order, program order, or specific needs for the program The Band has apparently been taken for granted and we have tried to provide music which would be required for such an occasion It is true that we have been requested to play some special music in the cemetery, but this request has not been made until the Band is actually standing in the cemetery on that day! There is no band in the country (outside of the military service bands) that could, on the spur of the moment, come up with music to play which would be appropriate for such an occasion If, indeed, this music is so important to the ceremony, why was this music not requested in advance so that the Band could adequately prepare for this occasion? A simple telephone call would have sufficed to make these arrangements

It has been my observation that perhaps no music is actually needed from the Band prior to the start of the ceremony for several reasons First, the parade itself is still in progress It would be inappropriate for the High School Band to be playing in the cemetery while the Middle School Band is still playing on the parade route Also, there are very few people in the cemetery until the parade is actually finished It would seem a little out of place to prepare an eighty-piece marching band to play for an empty cemetery.

The allegation that I am "un-cooperative" is totally untrue Obviously, whoever made this allegation would not know that since he has never given me the opportunity to cooperate Had someone contacted me in advance and requested some specific music, I would have made every effort possible to provide what was requested as long as it was in the best interests of the Band and Band members

I am always honored when the Band is invited to play for any community group or function, We will make every effort to meet these requests whenever our schedule allows and the request will provide a beneficial experience for the Band members If anyone is ever displeased with any aspect of the Band program, please do not feel that you must write in the newspaper in order to get my attention I would welcome any sincere constructive criticism and, although I may not agree with the point, I will respectfully consider it in light of the total Band program.

I hope that the Buchanan High School Band can continue to be an important and active part of the total school-community picture in Buchanan

Sincerely,
Michael Morse
Director of Instrumental Music
Buchanan High School

Reply to Mason

Dear Editor,

I am rather disturbed with the tone of the letter from the Legionaire concerning the High School band and the Memorial Day observance. The letter did not present all the facts

Neither Mr Morse or myself have received any communication from the Legion prior to the parade for at least two years We read in the newspaper where we are to appear in the parade and that we should meet in the Clark parking lot. (Which one? There are three!)

The request for music from the High School band at the cemetery has been made just before the ceremony at the cemetery Contrary to popular belief, bands must know ahead of time what music they're going to play The director can't wave his "magic wand" and the band instantly plays Please remember we work with children

If the Legion wants appropriate music before the ceremony, they should call the first of May and make specific requests Music played on the march (such as "Disco Duck") isn't necessarily suited for cemetery use

The Memorial Day Parade isn't a part of the school music curriculum It's done as a service to the community and hopefully, as a learning experience for our students

As I march the parade route, I see my fellow teachers and townspeople lining the streets watching Or perhaps they went out of town for the weekend (as does one third of our bands) to rest and relax Band directors, as long as I've lived in Buchanan (and that's quite a while), have never had the opportunity to rest and relax that weekend.

In essence, we directors, the students, and their families sacrifice in order to be a part of this annual commemoration. I feel we deserve some thanks instead of a smear in the newspaper

However, since I'm on the subject of the parade, I have a complaint. Each year the Middle School band is harassed by bicycle riders. Last year I called the Legion and spoke with someone concerning this matter. This year I wrote a letter to the editor. Neither met with much success

May I suggest for next year that some members of the Legion march before the bicycles to make them stay back where they belong?

Thank you for the opportunity to clarify this matter

Disagrees

To the Editor,

Concerning the letters of the past few weeks on how it would be to the advantage of the people of Buchanan to close Indian Hills I like so many others hardily disagree!

Why should more students be added to the already overcrowded classrooms that the other elementary schools already have That is what would happen if Indian Hills were to close

As stated in previous letters the closing of Indian Hills would not be enough to take care of the present deficit So why ruin a good thing

On a large scale, I feel the ones complaining are just distressed over the fact that their children are just not lucky enough to go to such a great school, or have the privilege of having a school where classes are small enough were the teacher knows each student and what that student excels in or what that student is poor in.

My son had had the privilege of going to Indian Hills for the past four years, and now my youngest son will start 1st grade there in the fall. I just hope he is lucky enough to be able to attend his first years of school there

The letter in last weeks Record stated "but in a way it is not fair to the other teachers and students in the system who have about 30 in a classroom while Indian Hills has only 15 to 20". If Indian Hills closes, the schools in town will have bigger classes then now, People in town you should be glad to have Indian Hills stay open.

I also dislike being called one of the elite few that has children attending Indian Hills I have the opportunity to live in the boundaries that take in Indian Hills school district and just lucky enough that my kids can go there

If Indian Hills is closed it will be one of the biggest mistakes the Buchanan School system has ever made

It seems to me the people who wrote those letters must be ashamed of them or they would have signed them

Out of the Past

40 Years Ago
June 17, 1937

This poem was written by J.E. Johnson.

The Dollar and the Cent

A big silver dollar, and a little brown cent,
Rolling along together they went,
Rolling along the smooth sidewalk,
When the dollar remarked--for the dollar can talk:
You poor little cent, you cheap little mite,
I'm bigger and more than twice as bright,
I'm worth more than you a hundred fold,
And written on me in letters bold,
Is the motto drawn from the pious creed,
"In God we trust," which all can read.
Yes, I know, said the cent, I'm a cheap little mite, and I know
I'm not big, nor good, nor bright,
And yet, said the cent, with a meek little sigh--
You don't go to church as often as I

The parade of seniors in blue and white caps and gowns, plus the pastel pageant of the juniors were warrent enough for attending the high school commencement; the lesser attractiveness of the ancient school board and faculty members serving only as a foil to set off youth.

The sandy beach has a roped off swimming area for children and non-swimmers. There is a diving raft in deeper water for the more experienced swimmers. The beach area also has a wide variety of playground equipment, such as merry-go-round, slide, swings, monkey bars, seesaw and even horseshoes.

Three Braves features 150 campsites; from full hook-ups to primitive campsites. There is a laundry, hot showers, modern bathrooms for squaws and braves, camp store, game room, playground, sandy beach, boat rental and public telephone. Motorboats are not allowed on the lake with the exception of small electric motors.

Western Amateur at Point O'Woods Country Club

Bill Sander admits that "my mind definitely is on professional golf," but he's committed himself to playing as an amateur the rest of this year.

That is good news for thousands of fans who will get a chance to see the reigning U.S. Amateur champion in action during the 75th Western Amateur golf tournament August 3-7 at Point O'Woods Golf & Country Club, Benton Harbor.

Sander, a slender 21-year-old from the Seattle suburb of Kenmore, Washington, burst on the amateur golf scene like a meteor last September when he fought his way through eight matches -- including an incredible comeback victory over Jim Blair -- to produce a Hollywood ending to the U S. Amateur tournament at Bel-Air Country Club in Los Angeles

Then, just as suddenly, he virtually disappeared from sight in the amateur golf world

While his peers have been playing in events like the All-American Intercollegiate, Chris Schenkel Invitational and the North & South Amateur while looking ahead to the NCAA championships this coming weekend, Bill Sander has been marching to the beat of a different drummer.

"It's been kind of a different world I've been playing in the past year," Sander says of a tournament schedule that has included the Masters -- where he was low amateur -- the Colonial National in Forth Worth, Texas, and the Jack Nicklaus Memorial tournament, all regular stops for the top players on the professional tour.

One of the main reasons it's been a different world is that Bill Sander is a college dropout -- a double dropout, if you please -- and he's not all embarassed to admit it.

He dropped out of Brigham Young University in 1974 after only one semester ("they had too many strict rules") and he dropped out of the University Houston without attending a class last fall

"I felt like I made the right choice in the situations I've had," he says. "I just couldn't handle school at Brigham Young and then last year I was all set to go to Houston after the U.S. Amateur, but winning it opened a lot of doors for me

"I had so many tournaments I could play in that would have kept me away from school, and I would have been ineligible for a year anyway because I was transferring. It didn't make sense to go there. If I wanted to get an education, it would have been different, but I want to play professional golf."

Despite his determination to achieve this goal, Sander has not forgotten his debts, and has declined an opportunity to play in the World Series of Golf because it conflicts with the 1977 U S. Amateur, which will be played August 31-September 5 at the Aronimink Golf Club in Newtown Square, Pennsylvania.

"The amateur really has done a lot for me," he says. "I want to defend the championship."

In the meantime, he plans to play in the U.S. Open, the British Open, the Porter Cup, the Walker Cup matches and the Western Amateur.

"I've heard a lot about the Western Amateur," he says, "that it's really well run and played on a super course " "I'm really looking forward to it."

Sander was introduced to golf by his father, Hank, an insurance man, and emerged as a budding star at Shorecrest high school in Seattle, winning the Washington State Junior championship and during his junior year finishing under par in every one of his matches.

The youngest of three children, he has been helped out financially by both his parents -- his mother is a part-time nurse -- while traveling the country to play golf, and says sincerely that "someday I hope I'll be able to repay them."

In one sense, he repaid them to a great degree last fall when he went into the U.S. Amateur as a virtual unknown whose only previous adult title was the Northwest Amateur and emerged as the new champion, despite a virus infection that produced a 102 degree fever and doubts that he would be able to finish the tournament.

He now says that he played his best golf of the tournament during a 2-up victory over Skeeter Heath in the quarterfinals when he birdied the final hole, but admits that his toughest and most dramatic match was a fifth-round duel with Blair, a Brigham Young star who might have been his teammate had he remained in college

In that match Sander was four down at one point and two down with two holes to play, but he won the 17th and 18th with pars and then sank a birdie putt to wrap it up on the first extra hole. "It really never entered my mind that I was going to lose that match," Sander says with the confidence and composure of which champions are made but after all, he knew it probably wasn't really his toughest test

That came in the regional qualifying tournament at Tacoma, Washington, where he stood on the final green needing to sink a 15-foot birdie putt to earn the last berth in the U S. Amateur

"I'd been watching the leader boards and I knew I had to make the putt," he recalls, "and my good old Zebra just tapped it in "

On a golf course Bill Sander definitely is not a dropout

THE SILENT KILLER

VERTEBRAL SUBLUXATION
(A HARD BONE ON A SOFT NERVE!)
A killer of millions of people yearly as a basic cause of the "failure diseases" such as :
- failure to control nervous tension
- failure to deliver a baby properly
- muscle function failure
- digestive failure
- failure of any organ to function properly

VERTEBRAL SUBLUXATION is a condition in which nerve control is lost or blocked between the brain control centers and the organs by a small displacement of the spinal bones, causing organ failure

ARE YOU A VICTIM OF VERTEBRAL SUBLUXATIONS?
Only a chiropractor is trained to detect and eliminate vertebral subluxations. We call them silent killers because they cause no pain, generally, nor do they produce any obvious sign of their presence. Only a careful chiropractic examination will reveal them. And yet, they silently eat away at your life and well being, until it is too late.

...n and Flanagan build ...me first motor homes

The k... for the "home on wheels" developed soon after the Model T came into existence in America. The desire to travel was also an influence to produce the mobile home.

Two bachelor friends from Buchanan decided to construct a motor home. The year was 1925; a time when work was hard to find and living was tough. Ira E. Flanagan, 24, and Marvin P. Mann, 21, liked to tinker with cars. So it came about that one of the nation's first real motor homes was constructed.

Work started in the autumn but soon the weather turned bad and slowed progress. Mann stated that they had taken a new Ford 1½-ton Model T truck and build a tar-paper shack around it to work inside.

The work was not that simple, but they kept on with odd jobs and finally had the unit rolling in early June, 1926 They drove it downtown where it drew a large crowd

Suspended under the truck was a 30-gallon galvanized tank piped to a built-in sink They put a tire valve on the water tank, filled it about three-quarters full, then put in air at service stations whenever they stopped for gas There was a two-burner Coleman gas stove next to the sink. The unit included an overhang in front like today's models, but was not used for a sleeping area It served as a place for storage of canned goods and kitchen needs

Also included was a built-in bookcase with an Atwater-Kent radio and spring-powered phonograph. Mann and Flanagan built in two bunks, a wardrobe, table and chairs, and a swivel seat for the driver Mann said that they had electric lights which were plugged into the city current when they could find a hookup Most of the time, ...n there wasn't a hookup ...ble, the lights were run ... battery

... journey out west began ...e 9, 1926 The trip led them ... places as Chicago, ...ort and Des Moines, Denver and Colorado ...gs, Colorado; Salt Lake ...Utah; through Oregon and ...tle, Washington, San ...ancisco and Los Angeles, California and finally to Winslow, Arizona and the panhandle of Texas

What proved to be "the biggest headache of the whole adventure" was the changing of tires The unpaved roads, sharp and large rocks gave wear and tear to the tires

The two men traveled between 46 and 215 miles a day with their "home on wheels" As they traveled, they kept odd jobs

Mann recalled having to construct a flat board on the end of a pole and use utter strength to keep the motorhome from overturning on the steep sides because of road construction. The idea worked (one drove while the other used the pole to hold the unit upright) but it took alot of time to cover a distance.

The unit, Flanagan said, was 14 feet long, six feet wide and 9 feet high from the ground. They could go 40 miles per hour at a maximum. The engine was 25 horsepower; when they added a Warford transmission, the power doubled but it slowed the speed.

The two friends eventually made their way to Taft, California to work in the oil fields, then later to Boerger, Texas for comparatively the same kind of employment.

By October 10, 1926, both men were getting tired of the gallivanting life and decided to find other employment

Both had kept record of their travel which showed that they covered 6,499 miles to Texas using 384 gallons of gas, 26 gallons of oil and "tires by the dozens".

Gas prices ranged from 20 to 50 cents in those days, so their average purchase was about two to seven gallons

The unit was sold in Texas, Flanagan said, for about what they had invested in it – $2000. The truck was $360 and the Warford transmission was $140 The rest was built into the camper portion of the vehicle

Both men are retired Flanagan went to work in Chicago for awhile and then moved back to Michigan He later became a tool and die-maker He retired from the Bendix Corporation in South Bend about nine years ago Mann went into the grocery business in 1927 as a manager of an A & P store for nine years. Later, he bought and ran his own store

This Week at Fernwood

Beikman teaches garden problems workshop

The third class in the five-part gardening workshop series, "Midsummer Garden Problems", meets Saturday, June 25, from 9:30 a.m. until 12:00 noon. Fernwood's horticulturist and director, Stan Beikmann, will instruct this class on control of summer disease and insect pests. The control of mildews, black spot, iris borer and other general problems that make the garden unsightly will be discussed. Cultivation and care of dahlias, mums, gladiolus, will also be included. Additional classes in this series are "Early Fall Garden Chores" on August 20, and the "Houseplant Clinic" on October 1

Also on Saturday, June 25, a class in Nesting Birds with Fernwood naturalist, Mike Champagne, will be held. This morning class from 8:00-11:00 a.m. will feature a tour of Fernwood's resident nesters. At this time of year many birds have already produced one brood of young, fledged them, and have started on their second brood Some are in the midst of nesting while others have just begun This class will also include information on types of bird houses your family can construct to attract backyard birds

Reservations are now open for a class in miniatures that is scheduled for June 27 and 29 and July 1 This three-day workshop will include many construction techniques and illusory effects. For an insight into this tiny world make your reservations now.

Opening Sunday, June 26, will be a showing of the Emma T. Watson "Bird Watercolors". A portion of this treasured collection was viewed by many Fernwood visitors during 1976. After the passing of Mrs Watson this collection of nearly 100 watercolors was presented to Fernwood by members of her family, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wykes and Mr. and Mrs Roger Wykes of Grand Rapids

Emma T. Watson was born in Chicago in 1878 Rather a frail woman in her youth, she devoted time to sewing, gardening, and illustrating books for her nieces Her painting experience included china painting for a well known china shop in Chicago Here her talents were practiced and she became appreciative of plant and bird details Married to a noted architect, Vernon S Watson, each of their homes was surrounded by magnificent gardens and plantings. She tended each one with care and her attention to detail and love of nature was carried over into her paintings

At retirement, Mrs. Watson and her husband moved to a summer home on the St. Joseph river, south of Berrien Springs, which they called "Tranquility". Here, too, they built extraordinary gardens and plant collections. A collection of lilacs from her gardens at Tranquility formed Fernwood's Emma T Watson Lilac Gardens in the 1940's She tended her gardens into her eighties with only a minimum of outside help In later years, after the death of her husband, Mrs Watson resumed watercolor painting A sincere dedication to this water based media consumed her remaining years.

Plants and birds were the subjects of every painting and were painted in every seasonal color Sometimes, bundling up in coats and blanket she would raise her windows in winter to better observe and paint nature.

The unusual and beautiful showing will remain in the meeting house walls through Sunday, July 10.

Another beautiful show you won't want to miss will take place in another two or three weeks on the Fernwood grounds. The large task of placing annuals has been completed in the various gardens with the planting of over 12,000 plants. These plants represent over 300 varieties of flowers and vegetables and each was started from seed in the greenhouse. Come out for a walk soon and take in the beauty of these plantings. Also if you have not been to Fernwood in a while, a new garden is taking shape in the ravine in the area of the office and greenhouse. Plantings of azalea and rhododendron have added color to this secluded spot.

Camp Warren announces youth camp dates

Camp Warren, owned and operated by the Berrien County Council of Churches, announces that July 3-9 are the dates for Community Youth Camp. Registrations and information brochures are available from area churches, the Department of Social Services, or BCCC offices at 305 Lake Blvd., St Joseph.

The camp is located on the shore of Lake Michigan and annually offers opportunity for children from grades 4 through 8 to play games, explore the natural world, develop relationships, and discover themselves in the rustic setting. Independence, freedom, responsibility and maturity are encouraged. Friendship and an appreciation of diverse backgrounds are nurtured Campers sleep in cabins with other campers and counselors, swim in a carefully guarded pool, and enjoy excellent meals, crafts, sports, or other entertainments

Director, John Sonnemann, tailors the camp program to provide a balance of regimine and individual activity. The BCCC nor the camp have any denominational affiliations, their goal is to promote cooperation and affirm that growth and faith are realities to which people respond in unique ways We delight in sharing and in choice

Registration and initial fee of $10 are due at the BCCC office, by June 30, and the remaining $32 00 is payable upon arrival at camp A current health form, signed by a family physician, is essential.

Many adults report such positive personal experience and fond memories of their years at Camp Warren that they wish the same advantages for less priviledged youth "Campership" are one way some have found to insure widespread participation in the Community Camp; $42 is required for one young person to attend the camp. This sum, or multiples of it can be donated to the BCCC and designated for this purpose. Partial campership of $32 are also encouraged. The greater the response from community organizations and individuals, the greater the number of youth who can be involved. Camp Warren, located 8 miles north of the twin cities, is "near home, but away".

Camp Warren is under the supervision of the BCCC General Camp Warren Committee, the Board of Directors of the BCCC, and under the direct auspices of Camp Administrator, Mari O'Keefe Address inquires or donations to her at BCCC offices; or at the camp mornings, 8:30-12:00 at 925-5920.

Michigan Department of Health announces licensing and certification activities

A 42-bed nursing home in Detroit was the object of regulatory action by the Michigan Department of Public Health in May

Frederick A Traill, chief of the Division of Health Facility Standards and Licensing, said the department served notice on the Jessie Thompson Convalescent Home, 650 East Grand Boulevard, that its license and certification were to be denied

The move to deny the facility's license was initiated when the State Fire Marshall took action to deny certification by his office under the Life Safety Code. This is a code which is specifically designed to protect the health and safety of patients in nursing homes.

The denial of license to a long term care facility is subject to appeal, in which case the operating status of the facility would not change until the appeal process had run its course

Reporting on other licensing and certification activities in May, Traill said the department renewed the licenses of 2 freestanding surgical outpatient facilities, issued licenses to a new hospital and home for the aged, granted annual renewal licenses to 36 nursing homes and amended licenses for 7 others, renewed the licenses of 10 homes for the aged and 22 hospitals, and certified to the Department of Social Services that 8 county medical car facilities met nursing home standards

An initial license was granted to the new 200 bed William Beaumont Hospital in Troy last month As pre-planned and coincident with the Beaumont opening at 44201 Dequindre, the Ardmore Hospital (24 beds) in Ferndale and Memorial Hospital (37 beds) in Warren ceased operations A new home for the aged -- Livingston Care Center (34 beds) in Howell -- was also given its first license in May

Nursing homes whose license were renewed included Michigan Skilled Care Center (100 beds), Niles.

The homes for the aged receiving renewal licenses included Heritage Home (48 beds), Buchanan

At the end of May, Michigan had under license and-or certification, and in operation. 455 nursing care facilities with 47,287 beds, 130 homes for the aged with 9,671 beds, and 228 general hospitals with 41,644 beds.

Horticulture contests underway for young Americans

Young Americans are growing, plants, that is!

The 1977 Young American Horticulture Contests are underway, but it isn't too late for young people to enter, says J Lee Taylor, Michigan State University horticulturist and national project chairman

"There are four free contests in which participants may compete: gardening, plant propagation, environmental beautification, and experimental horticulture," says Taylor

Contestants compete in four age groups: 8 and younger, 9 to 11, 12 to 14, and 15 to 17 based on their age on December 31, 1977. The competitions are sponsored annually by the National Junior Horticulture Association (NJHA)

For a contest enrollment card, and contest details, or if you have any questions, write to: NJHA, 384 Colonial Avenue, Worthington, Ohio 43085. "Entering one of the contests makes a youth a member of the NJHA and entitles him or her to receive the NJHA newsletter," says Taylor. "There is no cost for enrollment or for the newsletter."

National awards will be announced in November, and are based on reports written by the contestants. Winners will receive framed certificates and gift certificates Grand award winners get a special plaque.

Wanda Shirley, Community Relations Manager, Niles, reminds you:

"How and When you call Long Distance can make a big difference in savings"...

Be sure you know all the ways you can save on long distance Most people already save by dialing direct, instead of going through the operator. And, on calls within Michigan, you can save most by calling weekdays after 5 p m or on weekends till 5 p m Sunday You save when you dial direct on out-of-state calls, too Check the front pages of your telephone directory for the best times.

When you want to dial direct, but don't know the number, you can receive long distance directory assistance by dialing 1, plus the area code of the city you want to reach, plus 555-1212 You'll find a listing of some distant city area codes in the front of your directory If you have any questions, just call your local Michigan Bell business office, also listed in the front of your telephone book. We're ready to help
