Buchanan Fruit Growers Call For More Labor For Fruit Harvest

Now Here's the Proposition

These service boys are sure in for it. If the Germans don't capture 'em—the women will.

Forget it. Don't keep a brother from living things down.

Forget it. All you accomplish is doubling a wrong.

Forget it. The sin of the tongue is the sin that endures.

Doing was his sin but telling is yours, Forget it.

R. Koenigshof to Allow More Gas For Farm Labor

Record Raspberry Crop Brings Heavy Calls For Fruit Pickers

Calls for more aid in farm work soared this week with requests for the raspberry harvest, which is expected to get under way Monday for a run of from three weeks to a month or more, with one of the largest crops on record in sight.

An advertisement elsewhere in the Record authorizes for 50 pickers at the Rudell Bros fruit farm 5 1/2 miles north of Buchanan on the Range Line road indicates something of the extent of the demand. Growers state that the price for picking has not been definitely defined but that it will be the highest ever paid, and that this picking charge together with the heavy crop will make the job very profitable for anyone who is at all capable. One grower stated that one Buchanan woman and three children aged 15, 13 and 11 made $32 in one day picking strawberries.

Miss Margaret Semple, in charge of the Youth Council employment service, reported yesterday that her organization had been canvassing the young people for berry pickers and had signed up 31 by Wednesday morning. These potential pickers are in addition to a considerable number of other young people who have been securing their own work.

Robert Koenigshof states that he has been authorized by Berrien county employment headquarters to approve additional gasoline ration for the people of the Buchanan district who wish such additional motor fuel for transportation to and from farm work. In the event that enough such work is done, additional tire allowances are possible, he stated.

Officials of the county headquarters for recruiting farm help report that their work has been complicated when many farmers decline to take workers who are available, after they had signed up for them. The situation is that workers will answer calls to particular farms, but when they report they are told that the work is not ready yet and are asked to come back again at a future date. The employment service urges farmers to put applicants at work when they can get them, stating that some work is always available around farms and that such consideration will be necessary if they wish to get the help when they need it most.

Lulu Willsey Taken by Death

Short Siege of Pneumonia Is Fatal to Local Business Woman

Mrs. Lulu Mae Willsey, a resident of Buchanan for the past 25 years and for the past eight years owner and operator of the Willsey Home Grocery at 101 East Fourth street, died at 9 p.m. Monday at the Pawating hospital, Niles, after an illness of a few days with pneumonia.

Mrs. Willsey had suffered from a severe cold for over three weeks but it was not considered serious until Friday, when pneumonia suddenly developed. Her husband was on his vacation, visiting his mother at Sparta, Wis. He was hurriedly called back and arrived some time before she died. A sister, Mrs. James Swanson, who was summoned from Riverside, Calif., arrived the day after her death.

She was born at Norwalk, Wis., Oct. 23, 1893, the daughter of Frank and Edna Fierbringer. She married Ellis V. Willsey at Sparta, Wis., June 7, 1915. The family moved to Buchanan 25 years ago. She purchased the neighborhood grocery at 101 East Fourth eight years ago, in June, 1935, and had conducted it since.

She was a member of the local Rebekah and Royal Neighbor lodges. Survivors are her husband, one daughter, Mrs. T. L. Houghtaling of Buchanan; one brother, Harold Fierbringer of Buchanan; three sisters, Mrs. Rosetta Dillman of Buchanan, Mrs. James Swanson of Riverside, Calif., and Mrs. O. D. Clark of Findlay, Ohio; and her mother, Mrs. Edna Fierbringer of Buchanan.

Funeral services will be held at the Swem Funeral Home at 2:30 p.m. today (Thursday), with Rev. Norman Klump, former Evangelical pastor here and now at Lansing, in charge. Burial will be made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Fifty-Three Degree Mercury Drop Brings Cool Weather

Pierce Cauffman, Portage Prairie Pioneer, Dies at Age of 90 Years

Remembered Days of Bleeding Kansas Trek Over Old Chicago Trail

This scavenger regrets that near two weeks ago there occurred a death in South Bend that escaped his notice and which yet had much interest for the Buchanan community. It is still worth a notice.

There passed away on Thursday, June 17, Pierce Cauffman, a member of one of the best known pioneer families of Portage Prairie. He would have been 91 years old on Aug. 20. On that date in 1852 he first saw the light of day in Pennsylvania, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cauffman. As a child of less than five he came with the Cauffman family to Portage Prairie, his father settling on the old homestead south of the present Olive Fork farm, now occupied by Allen Swain. He was a member of a family of nine children.

When he came, the old Chicago road, which ran east and west past the present York and Isaac Wells farms in a line with Bertrand, was still a great pioneer thoroughfare, a line of march for the white-winged prairie schooners and a drover's trail for livestock for the pioneer market of Chicago. A grove back of the Olive Fork farm was the resting place for the primitive caravans and a nightly bedding place for the herds of cattle and sheep in transit. And hardly had the Cauffman family settled in their new home when the great trek of Michigan pioneers started for "Bleeding Kansas," when the northern Abolitionists thronged there with intent to swell the anti-slavery vote when the great issue was in the balance whether that state should be slave or free. In 1857 his father, Michael, was helping build the present structure of the Kansas school. There as they called the sheathing on the framework and as they shingled the roof, they could see the constant stream of wagons placarded with rude signs of "Bleeding Kansas," "Rock, Kansas" and "Kansas or Bust." And the Michiganers almost everywhere and undoubtedly on Portage Prairie, were holding meetings to send aid and material comfort to the crusading pioneers in that blood-soaked land. Two schools were built that year, the "Rocky Kansas" and the "Nebraska" schools. The latter is now known as the "Wagon" school. It stands on the angling road now known as the Chicago road, but in reality an offshoot of that famous trail, built as a stage road through Niles and Kalamazoo.

Portage Prairie had been partly settled in the early thirties by settlers who had "jumped the gun" while the prairie was still part of the last Pottawatomie reservation in Michigan. Soon after 1835 the Indians were disinherited and the white population spread at once over the fertile lands. It had been settled twenty years when the Cauffmans came, and many of the first log-cabin settlers had passed that stage and had built and moved into the "big house." But the flavor of the wild still hung over it and a short way to the west still stood in virgin grandeur the great "Gallen woods," where settlement was just starting. The "burr oak clearings," of which the "prairie" really consisted, were still defined as in the beginning, and the settlers were just beginning to clear back the openings farther to make room for the fertile grain fields that made Bertrand township famous in those days as the heaviest wheat shipping district along the new Michigan Central from Detroit to Chicago.

Back in the times when 100-acre wheat fields were more the rule than the exception, Pierce Cauffman became a threshing man, and back in the old files of the Record are still to be found his accounts of threshing in the days of the horsepower sweep.

He was 9 years old when the fury of the Civil War broke, and as a boy he saw those days when communities even this far north were almost rest assunder by the heat of division. He told the writer once of the day he took part in a parade of horsemen from Bertrand town hall to New Carlisle for a Republican rally. Two by two, the procession rode, made up mostly of men too old or boys too young for service. If the writer remembers correctly the men and boys were dressed in white shirts with blue sashes worn over one shoulder and diagonally across their fronts. There

Hot Weather Goes as Mercury Toboggans to 43

If you can't sleep some of the hot nights, which were the rule until Monday evening at least, console yourself by listening to that far-off crunching sound made by the growing corn stalks moving against each other in the war for "lebensraum."

Hot nights added to hot days are what makes corn grow, and that is what we have. As a result, corn which was planted two and three weeks late in the Buchanan district has practically made up that time and is on regular maturity schedule, according to Robert Koenigshof of the Buchanan Co-ops. The corn in the Buchanan farm district will approach if not achieve the traditional schedule of "knee-high by the 4th of July," thanks to one of the most rapid upward thrusts of the green spears of the corn in Buchanan farm history. This means that the threat of a late corn crop subject to frost danger has to a considerable extent been obviated in this section.

The weather of May was not quite so good for that part of the fruit crop not killed by last winter's low mercury marks. Heavy rains during the blossom period washed the pollen out and prevented pollination of a large part of the blossoms.

F. Benak Named For Special B-26 Pilot Training

Graduate Air Cadet Goes to Dodge City, Kans., for Three-month Course

Frank Benak, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benak, Sr., 316 Fulton street, received his commission as flight officer and his silver wings in the graduation exercises at Randolph Field Saturday.

He was a member of a class of 217 which had completed advanced flight training at Lubbock, Texas. The exercises were held at Randolph Field, Frederick, Texas. He now has a pilot's rating. He had enlisted April 8 as an airplane mechanic and completed a course of training in a ground school at Chanute Field, Ill. At the completion of the course he signed up for training as an army aviation cadet and was sent to San Antonio, Texas, for pre-flight work. Afterwards he trained at Cuero, Waco and Lubbock, all in Texas.

He had expected to come home on the following graduation, but this was changed when he was named as a member of a group of 14 selected out of 217 graduates for special training for three months flying B-26 heavy bombers at Dodge City, Kans. He left there immediately with the understanding that he would get his home leave at the completion of the three months' course.

Public Library Gets Second Half Of State Grant

Local Library Qualifies on Basis Support From City and Two Townships

The Buchanan public library has received a check for $147.03 from the Michigan State Board for Libraries, Mrs. Lillian Vigan-sky, local librarian, announced Monday.

This amount represents the second half of the library's 1943 grant from the state aid to libraries fund. Coming with practically no strings attached, once a library has qualified, the state aid grants may be used for books, salaries, supplies, and equipment, or to keep the library open more hours. The grants, in fact, represent a bonus given to the library because the local tax support is being maintained. If the local tax support drops, the library will not qualify for a future grant from this fund. These grants also assist the library in meeting the standards set by the State Board for Libraries.

People want the best help they can get on all angles of family living and recreation. Women are coming to their libraries for books on fabrics, dress design, and the wearing qualities of substitute materials. Housewives are asking for help in feeding their families on a ration book. With pressure cookers scarce, victory gardeners want to know how to dry vegetables and fruits so as to store up all the vitamins.

Rev. Charles Hahn Is Transferred to Clare, Michigan

A post-conference shift of Methodist ministers in the Michigan district is depriving the local Methodist church of the services of Rev. Charles Hahn, who has been assigned to Clare, Mich., while Rev. Grant Jordan of Vicksburg comes to Buchanan.

Rev. Hahn had been popular during his three years here and much satisfaction had been expressed by his congregation on his return following the annual conference at Benton Harbor three weeks ago. However it is known that the change is advantageous to Rev. Hahn, including the privilege of being near the parents of both him and his wife.

As a result the reception which had been planned for him at the church Wednesday evening became a farewell under the auspices of the Women's Society of Christian Service. Included in the program were talks by Rev. Malcolm McNeal representing the Buchanan Ministerial association and by Walter Hawes, solos by Mrs. L. O. Swem, dramatic readings by Mrs. A. S. Boyer, colored movies of the Great Smoky Mountains by Roy Pierce, and group singing led by Kenneth Blake. In charge of arrangements were Mrs. W. L. Pierce, Mrs. Bert Bouws, and Miss Doris Reams.

Men and Women Eligible For Machine Classes

Elementary Students Enroll at U. S. Employment Bureau at Niles

The long-anticipated pre-employment and supplementary classes in machine operation are scheduled to start during the coming two weeks, with the pre-employment section opening next Monday evening, July 5.

The classes will have two purposes—the pre-employment class will make available additional employees for Buchanan factories and the supplementary classes will be for the purpose of providing additional machine skills for those already working at local plants.

Those wishing to enter the pre-employment class must enroll with the United States Employment Service office at Niles, from which the members will be recruited. The class will not necessarily be recruited entirely from Buchanan as applicants from Gallen or other nearby points will be considered. Supervisor Emory Toogood stated, however, that the training was being provided in order to secure more skilled or semi-skilled labor for local factories and that consequently most of the students would be local people.

The pre-employment classes will be held regularly on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 6 to 11 p.m. with Harlan Matthews in charge as instructor. Both men and women will be eligible and there is to be no charge. These eligibility provisions apply to all of the classes.

There will be two supplementary classes for men or women already working in the plants, who wish to learn more of machine operations or to operate other machines, than those they now work on. The instructors will be Charles Mills and Walter Ruske.

The first supplementary class will start Tuesday evening, July 6, and will be conducted Tuesdays and Thursdays afternoons from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. A second class will start Thursday, July 15, and will be conducted regularly on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m. Those wishing to enter such supplementary classes must get application blanks from their plant department superintendents. The school supervisor will accept students on the basis of the superintendents' recommendations. It is emphasized that a main purpose in addition to the provision of more machine labor is economy in transportation. Buchanan people have for some time been going to Niles to secure such training. The opening of the school here will render some of this transportation cost unnecessary.

The length of the courses will be 150 hours. Completion does not automatically guarantee employment.

At this school each student will be trained in the operation of only one machine.

Equipment for the school was secured by the Michigan Board of Control of Vocational Education, which had secured federal funds for purchase. The project will be as nearly on a production basis as possible, Supervisor Toogood stated. The students will be engaged in making small tools which will be sent to the redistribution center maintained by the State Board of Vocational Education at Lansing.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The more I read about it, Judge, the more I realize the tactics and requirements of this war are as different from the one I fought in 25 years ago as night is from day."

"Yes, and I can give you an example of how true that is, Fred. In World War I the chief uses of alcohol produced for war purposes were found in smokeless powder, medical supplies and chemical warfare materials. In this war the need for this product is far more vital because it is also used as a fuel to propel torpedoes, to make shatterproof glass for airplane windshields and instrument covers, to make lacquers-used in camouflaging equipment and as a base for synthetic rubber needed for tires, gas masks, paratrooper equipment and dozens of other things.

"Every time I think of it, Fred, I realize how fortunate we were in having a beverage distilling industry in existence when war broke out... ready and willing to convert 100% to the production of this critically needed war product. I'm mighty sure bootleggers wouldn't have."

City Branch P. O. Numbers to Speed Up Mail Delivery

The following release by the Post Office Department on a device to expedite city mail deliveries was given to the Record by Postmaster A. G. Haslett.

The new method of speeding up mail deliveries, through addition of a branch post office number to the address on mail for delivery in large cities, is being placed in operation rapidly. Reports from many cities indicate that it has been received enthusiastically by the press, postmasters, business concerns and the public.

Within a few days after initiation of the plan, under instructions of Postmaster General Frank C. Walker, nearly all the postmasters in the large cities affected had assigned postal unit numbers to their branch offices, millions of residents had been advised of the number to be added to their addresses, and a considerable volume of mail already was carrying the numbers assigned. By June 1, it is expected that practically all whose addresses are affected will have been notified of their postal unit number.

The new system speeds up the separation of mail for distribution to branch offices and permits much more rapid handling of mail by inexperienced postal clerks, thousands of whom have been employed to replace personnel who have gone into the armed forces and into war industries.

Rapid increase in volume of mail and the loss of the branch post office made it necessary to adopt the plan, in the interest of accurate, efficient mail service and for the relief of postal personnel who are carrying an extremely heavy burden of work. The average work week in the service now is about 52 hours, and in many post offices, employees are working 70 and 72 hours a day, seven days a week, because of local shortages of personnel.

An example of the new type of address is:

John C. Smith
 222 Mattapan Ave.
 Boston 3
 Massachusetts

The number after the name of the city indicates the branch post office or "postal unit" through which delivery is made. Each resident of the large cities is asked by his postmaster to add the postal unit number to his return address, and to notify all to whom he writes that his address is not complete without the number.

Residents of small cities, towns and rural regions should inquire of their correspondents in the large cities concerning the number assigned to the city residents' branch post office so that the mail may be expedited. The degree to which mail will be speeded depends upon the extent to which the numbers are used by mailers.

Under the new plan, mail that is sent to large cities, carrying the postal unit number, will be distributed more quickly than is possible now and with much less strain on postal clerks. While mail which does not bear the number will be delivered about as rapidly as at present, it will not receive the benefit of the speedier distribution and may not avoid possible delays caused by inability of the depleted force of experienced employees to handle all the mail.

Postmasters, the press and the radio in the cities affected are cooperating to bring the plan to the attention of the public. Hundreds of articles on the subject have appeared in newspapers, some postmasters have made radio talks advising the public of the advantages of the plan, maps showing the districts in cities, with their numbers, have been published, and members of commerce have assisted in bringing the plan to the attention of businessmen. In one large city, the mayor, who is unfamiliar with postal work, personally demonstrated the efficiency of the new system by making a separation of numbered mail rapidly and without a single mistake.

At the request of postmasters, scores of large companies are submitting their mailing lists for addition of the numbers, and millions of addresses have been so corrected.

Postmasters throughout the country are publicizing the plan, since its success depends on the degree to which the public realizes the fact that the mails will be speeded by addition of the proper number to mail for the large cities.

Urge Consumers To Consumption Of New Potatoes

Heavy Crop in Early Potato Areas Not Suitable for Long Storage

Following its policy of encouraging consumption of commodities in seasonal abundance, the war food administration today urged consumers to increase use of new potatoes being shipped in plentiful quantities from southern producing regions.

Scarce during the spring and early summer new potatoes now are abundant. Production is running about 35 per cent above last year, and although the armed forces are requiring substantial quantities, the supply available to civilians is large.

New crop potatoes are not suitable for long storage, and a large portion of this year's crop is particularly perishable because of the recent hot weather. If full advantage is to be taken of the large present supply, the potatoes must move into immediate consumption. If consumer demand does not move them immediately through distributive channels, they will go to waste.

Victory gardeners also were urged not to harvest their potatoes until they are fully mature, particularly in view of the abundant supply situation.

WFA officials stressed that such about-face changes in supply situations probably will continue to develop. It even may be possible, they pointed out, that potatoes again will be scarce later in the year, although this is not probable in the face of greatly expanded acreage unless there are severe weather setbacks or labor shortages.

With large supplies of new crop potatoes coming to market, the WFA today assured producers that it intends to provide full support to the potato market, through purchase operations. Purchases already have been inaugurated in North Carolina, Texas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas, and will be extended to other areas if necessary. The potatoes are being purchased at prices announced last February, as equivalent to about 92 per cent of currently perishable because of the recent hot weather. If full advantage is to be taken of the large present supply, the potatoes must move into immediate consumption. If consumer demand does not

MISTOOK THIEF FOR SLEEPWALKING MATE

Spouse Razza Prowler and Lodger Just Yawns.

CHICAGO—Vainer husbands may dress to go sleepwalking. Not Arthur Liebson. He's an old-fashioned sleepwalker. Pajamas are good enough for him.

And so Mrs. Margaret Liebson had to pinch herself to believe it really was her husband prowling around on his hands and knees at dawn one day recently in street clothes and a hat, looking under the twin beds in their Chicago home.

"So you're putting on airs," she said. "Dressing up to go walking in your sleep. Somnambulating, I suppose you'd say. Really, Arthur, this is going too far. Wake up now and go back to bed."

And she fell back drowsily upon her pillow as the searcher turned without a word and crawled back like to the door. She laughed aloud when he got to his feet and vanished into the hall.

Husband Wakes Up.

Her laughter awakened her husband, who was sleeping on the other twin bed as he should have been.

"O, it wasn't you!" cried Mrs. Liebson. "O!"

She noticed then that the $1.90 of household money she had left on the table was gone.

Her husband leaped from bed and followed just in time to see a man leaving by a window no one had ever been able to raise.

The Liebsons awakened their lodger, Irwin Rumbaugh, and told him they'd had a burglar in their home.

"Then he's the fellow who was in here and took my yellow sweater," said Rumbaugh. He looked at Liebson, an attorney, 30 years old. He yawned. And he told Liebson, as he went back to sleep.

"I thought it was you—sleepwalking."

State College Seeks Frost Proof Apricot. Taking advantage of a year which has discouraged most apricot trees in Michigan, one of the Michigan State college experiment station superintendents, Stanley Johnston at South Haven, seeks information on any apricot trees that indicate special vigor and a good crop of fruit in 1943.

A year ago the search was on for outstanding apricot trees based on age, size and quality of tree and the size and quality of fruit. Several excellent trees were located.

Frost injury and poor pollination kept most apricots from bearing this year. Superintendent Johnston has in mind the possible mating of the trees found superior in 1942 with the trees showing ability and willingness to bear in 1943.

The apricot has been a notoriously shy producer in Michigan, apparently due to the fact that it blossoms exceptionally early in the spring and almost always encounters bad weather," says Johnston.

"It is possible that one or more apricots are bearing in this state this year. Such trees would be of great value in the apricot variety development work being done at the South Haven experiment station. Owners of bearing trees will be performing a service if they send information regarding superior trees to the South Haven Experiment Station, South Haven, Mich."

Johnston predicts a valuable addition to Michigan's fruit growing industry and to market and canning plant operations if reliable producing varieties can be found for Michigan. At present the entire commercial apricot crop in the country is produced on the Pacific coast.

HOLLYWOOD

Funny Tragedy. Hollywood insiders tell an unusual behind-the-scenes story about one of the hilarious comedy scenes in Universal's "Hiya Chum," the Ritz Brothers' musical funfilm showing at the Hollywood theatre Friday and Saturday, July 2-3.

Watching Miss Clyde work in a sequence with the famous brothers in the new picture was two-year-old T. Clyde Freeland, son of the player, in real life Miss Clyde is the wife of Thornton Freeland, the director.

Miss Clyde was being "mussed up" by the trio of comers when Harry Ritz picked her up and started carrying her, struggling, toward an exit, the child broke away from his nurse, dashed into the scene, grabbed Ritz around the leg and shouted, "Let my mamma alone!"

Here's a Real Tip—Watch Carl Esmond. The little ladies might do well to keep their eyes peeled for a handsome young man named Carl Esmond, a newcomer to the American screen.

Esmond is currently appearing in support of Joan Bennett, Milton Berle and Otto Preminger in 20th Century-Fox's "Margan For Error," hilarious picture version of Clare Boothe Luce Broadway comedy hit. The film is to appear at the Hollywood theatre Friday and Saturday, July 2-3.

He was introduced to moviegoers here in "Sundown," but the meeting was a bit clouded. For in that film, Esmond played the villain role of Dr. Kuyper and from first need to last had behind a heavy set of whiskers.

"Margan For Error" therefore is in the nature of a coming out party for him. He not only appears clean shaven, but is seen in a sympathetic role—an important factor in a young actor's career.

Nashville Army Air Center—Cadet Burrel Weaver, 23, son of Mv and Mrs. Floyd Weaver, of 512 North Portage st., Buchanan, Mich., has entered the center here.

He is married to the former Miss Maxine Shaffer also of Buchanan. At the Center, Weaver will take physical and psychological examinations to determine for which branch of aircrew service, bombardiering, navigating or piloting, he is best fitted. Physical training, academic study, and military drill are also part of cadet training at the Center. This is the first step in a training program that will eventually graduate Weaver as a commissioned officer, with wings, in the army air forces.

He is a graduate of Buchanan high school. He has two brothers in service, Gerald Weaver in training as an air cadet at Cleveland, O., and Irvin Weaver, believed to be overseas.

Lt Robert Polley, son of Mv and Mrs. Maynard Polley of 210 Cecil avenue, was advanced last week to the rank of captain. He is now stationed at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Aberdeen, Md. Capt. and Mrs. Polley expect to come here after the former receives a furlough on July 10.

Cpl. Charles P. Dickrow, RFD No 2, Buchanan, Mich., has been assigned to duty with the U S army air forces following his graduation June 22 from the Camp Curtiss air training school, operated by Curtiss-Wright corporation, at Tonawanda, Buffalo, N. Y. A member of the army air forces technical training detachment stationed at the school, Cpl. Charles P. Dickrow has been given specialized instruction in the maintenance and repair of either the famous P-40 pursuit ship, or the C-46 commando, the largest twin motored cargo ship in the world in preparation for service with a skilled ground crew.

Corporal Richard Hess has had a change of address since he returned after his recent furlough here, although he remains at San Diego. His new address is Cpl. R. E. Hess, USMC, VMJ-353, AG-15 NAAS, Camp Kearney, San Diego, Calif.

Ensign Melvin R. Campbell, U. S. N. R., is visiting his mother, Mrs. M. H. Campbell, 109 Charles Court. He has completed his homelessness, loneliness or exile befriend one another. Grant us brave and enduring hearts that we may strengthen one another, till the disciplines and testings of these days be ended, and Thou dost give again peace in our time through Jesus Christ, our Lord, Amen.

Michigan Plywood Used in British Mosquito Bombers

Wood from northern Michigan's great forests used in the manufacture of the revolutionary new British Mosquito bombers is the latest of Michigan's natural resources to be turned to the United Nations' war effort.

Vener from the finest birch and maple trees in Michigan's upper peninsula and northern Wisconsin, processed in an Oshkosh, Wis., woodworking plant, is being rushed to England where it becomes wings and fuselages and propellers for these speedy and deadly Mosquito bombers, whose sting is already being felt in Hitler's Europe.

This veneer from northern Michigan's choicest timber is being processed into a new plywood, which it is reported is only half the weight of aluminum, but stronger than many metals, resists mild acid, fire and salt water, is virtually scratch-proof, has a brown, permanently glossy finish needing no paint, varnish, or wax, and can be sawed, drilled, turned, threaded, milled, and tapped like metals.

4-H Clubs Stage Safety Campaign on American Farms

"Every accident and fire you prevent is another knockout blow at Hitler-Hirohito."

The foregoing is the battle cry of more than 1 1/2 million 4-H club boys and girls throughout the nation who are "all out" to make rural America safety conscious for victory. Enrolled in the National 4-H Farm Safety Activity, they're impressing upon rural residents that accidents and fires—which exact staggering annual losses in lives, labor, livestock, and property on American farms—can be prevented. The 4-Hers are pointing out that extreme vigilance should be exercised this year because hundreds of thousands of inexperienced helpers will work on the farms.

Among their recommendations to prevent accidents and fires are to keep tools, when not being used, in secure places; electrical and mechanical equipment in repair to install fire-fighting equipment; establish fire lanes; mark containers of inflammable and explosive liquids. In short, they are impressing upon farm people the 4-H principle of the coordinated use of the Hands, Head and Heart for Health.

Outstanding records of achievement in this activity will receive honor awards provided by the Mennen Company, which include medals, special plaques, $100 War Savings Bonds, and trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. The activity is being conducted, along with other wartime projects of production and conservation, under the direction of the U. S. department of agriculture, state agricultural colleges and county extension agents. The last named will furnish full details.

Woman Working as Fire Tower Guard in Upper Peninsula

Stambaugh—"It's all in the family," says Mrs. Mary Scalucchi, one of the four women employed as tower watchers by the conservation department, when speaking of her job in the Bates fire tower in Iron county. Mrs. Scalucchi took over her present job of forest fire spotting in the Bates tower, which her husband manned for eight years, to release him to act as fire warden in Crystal Falls.

When the nation-wide civilian manpower shortage began to effect the conservation department, Mrs. Scalucchi, determined to do her bit, began quizzing her husband about his work and continued until she had undergone a complete course of study. Mrs. Scalucchi, who is the first tower-woman in Iron county, is now spoken of by Claude Smith, district supervisor for the conservation department in the area, as "one of our most valuable men."

No Decrease in Juvenile Crime, Hatfield Reports

With the monthly report of Probate Judge Malcolm Hatfield revealing that fifty-one children and minors under seventeen years of age were in difficulty during June it is apparent that young parents should replace their present foolish trust or lack of interest in what their children do with intelligent supervision and education.

Although the probate court was only in session twenty-six days in June it heard an average of two cases per day involving run-away-traffic violators, delinquent and dependent children, etc.

"It is unfair," Judge Hatfield commented, "to place the blame on the police or brand a boy or girl with delinquency when parents themselves are at fault."

During June the court investigated and ordered seven crippled and nine afflicted children treated at state expense. It also accepted four applications for adoption and confirmed eight others.

In the probate division of the court Judge Hatfield and his staff admitted 23 new estates to probate and closed 31 deceased estates. They also appointed guardians of nine minors and four formerly mentally incompetent adults were discharged.

Throughout June the court also committed five insane adults and three feeble-minded children to state institutions, permitted two adults to change their names, appointed commissioners to determine four dram matters, investigated and heard three partition cases, accepted inventories from seven lock boxes, took testimony in eight delayed birth proceedings, ordered to preserve the good names and reputations of the persons involved, investigated the cases of three illegitimate children, admitted two ancillary cases, heard testimony in the cases of one epileptic, two dope addicts and one disappeared person, examined contracts involving five courts, wards, investigated and approved 17 reviewed and disapproved two others, reviewed the findings of commissions on claims approved four notary licenses, checked the cases of seven boys and girls who were returned from various private and public institutions and reviewed the case of a young man who refused to receive medical treatment of a venereal disease.

Jr. Farm Bureau Holds Parents Meet

On June 23 the Berrien County Junior Farm Bureau held their annual "Parents' Meeting" at the Berrien Springs high school with 60 members, parents and Senior Farm Bureau members present. At the business meeting Barbara Preston and June Norris gave reports on the Mid-West Conference recently held in Chicago. Letters were read from the following service men: Harold Benedix and Warren Toney. The executive committee will meet Monday evening, July 5, at the home of June Norris.

Raymond DeWitt, Richard Koenigschaf, Mrs. Charles Richards, Dorothy Bittner, Mr. Rheinhold Stenke, Burton Richards, Harold Stenke and Mrs. Paul DeWitt took part in a panel discussion on "Farm Problems—Now and After the War." It was the general opinion of the group that "Subsidies tend to promote black markets since they give the consumer cheap food." Games and refreshments were served. The committee in charge was Dean Hewitt, Mary Baunton, Barbara French and Norris Young.

Lower Requirement For Eyesight For Women in Marines

Women who have been turned down by the Marines because of defective vision can now don the uniform that has been covered with glory from Tripoli to Guadalcanal if their eyes are correctable to 20/20, Capt. C. F. Morrison, acting officer-in-charge of the marine corps procurement office, Detroit, said today.

Marine corps women's reserve candidates who have been turned down because of poor eyesight, are urged to re-apply now that the requirements have been lowered.

Members of the women's reserve are not auxiliary members of the marines, Capt. Morrison ex-

Floor Insulation Very Economical in Fruit Storage

According to a recent survey, more than 300 fruit farms in Michigan have facilities for storing nearly two million bushels. Some 50 of these farm storages, with a combined capacity of more than 500,000 bushels, are now refrigerated.

The number of refrigerated farm storages with floor insulation is negligible. It has been cheaper to supply refrigeration to take care of losses through the soil than to provide adequate insulation with corkboard sandwiched between slabs of concrete. Adequate and most economical methods of insulating floors were developed recently.

Theoretical methods of calculating refrigeration losses through dirt floors may or may not give actual losses because of variations in soil moisture and other factors. However, a rather conservative statement would be that losses through dirt floors, or dirt covered with gravel, may be nearly three times the losses through all the walls and the ceiling of modern farm storages. If we can save a loss equivalent to two or three tons of refrigeration per day through inexpensive application of floor insulation, the rate of loading fruit into the storage may be increased some 250 to 400 bushels per day in a 10,000 bushel storage.

The cheapest method of floor insulation is to pack about 6 inches of cinders or gravel on the soil, then spread a 4-inch layer of sawdust concrete made by mixing Portland cement, sawdust, and water at the rate of 3 parts sawdust and 1 part cement, and finally top off with 1 1/2 inches of concrete. Such insulation will be equivalent to about two inches of corkboard or redwood bark fiber.

Another method is to lay the cinders or gravel as just mentioned, then water proof paper, then a 4-inch layer of Zonolite concrete, and finish off the following day with 1 1/2 inches of concrete wearing surface. The Zonolite concrete for one cubic yard of floor is made as follows: 4 1/2 bags Portland cement, 27 cu. ft. Zonolite concrete aggregate, 6 3/4 gallons Zonolite water proofing, and 83 gallons water. This has about the same insulation value as the sawdust concrete but should be more nearly water-proof.

Most fruit growers hope to have mechanical refrigeration some time later if they do not now have it. Such equipment is not readily available now. Growers with peaches and McIntosh apples should have some means of supplying refrigeration. In cases where mechanical refrigeration cannot be had, the grower should consider the installation of ice bunkers and fans to circulate the air through the ice and the storage room. Plans for such installations are available.

Storage Schedule Increases Value of Freezer Locker

Five hundred to 1,070 pounds of the family's home-grown perishable foods can be put through a frozen food locker in a year if the storage schedule is properly managed, say members of the home economics extension staff at Michigan State college.

Although a locker will hold only some 200 pounds of food at any one time this capacity can be increased and even multiplied by regulating the traffic in and out of it. The first step is to budget the year's supply. In the case of a family of five, it would be necessary to determine which of the 3,500 pounds of food needed for the year can be preserved best by freezing.

Knowing the seasons in which different foods are available makes it possible to schedule beef for freezing in March, fruit and vegetables for summer, when part of the beef has been used, and dressed pork for October, after some of the berries and beans have been consumed.

Some 2,500 pounds of that 3,500 pound family food budget can be preserved by freezing, curing, and canning. Freezing the steaks, roasts, and chops, curing the ham and bacon, and canning the stew and ground meat makes efficient use of storage space and adds desirable variety to the dinner table. Frozen berries, peas, beans and asparagus provide a pleasant change from canned vegetables and sausagekraut.

Halt Worm Disease

A winter dose of one ounce of phenothiazine for adult sheep and one-half ounce for lambs helps to control the nodular worm disease.

Insecticides From Tobacco

Insecticides are made chiefly from tobacco by-products—stems, leaf scraps, clippings and low-grade or damaged leaf.

Let's help our farmer neighbors with their hauling problems

AMERICA'S farmers have the tremendous responsibility of raising more food this Summer than ever before in the nation's history.

Farm manpower is scarce. Every hour of every farmer's time is vital to victory. Let's help conserve it.

Don't keep any farmer waiting. Owners of stores, operators of markets, warehouses, elevators, terminals and processing plants, can aid substantially in the success of the "Food for Victory" program by expediting the loading and unloading of farm products.

Every farmer is an essential home front soldier. Don't keep him waiting. He has a long way to go and no time to waste.

Studebaker dealers are co-operating. Studebaker dealers go out of their way to help obtain parts for all makes of trucks.

They co-operate further by handling special repair jobs for farmers as fast as possible.

Many Studebaker dealers have special facilities for locating used trucks, that have been idle or in part-time use, for sale to farmers.

Keep your car and truck up to par. All trucks and cars must be kept in good shape to safeguard the nation's vital transportation life lines. And that's especially important this Summer.

Drop in for regular inspections. Stude-

WATCHERS OF THE SKY

Night and day, at lonely outposts in northern Michigan, thousands of air spotters voluntarily undergo hardship and loss of sleep to protect our industrial areas from bombing raids.

They rarely get into the headlines. Often they watch patiently through the hours without seeing or hearing a plane. But the duty they so faithfully perform is vital. In case of air attack it will be their trained eyes and ears that detect the approach of Axis bombers.

A telephone stands ready in every spotter's post. With the words "Army Flash" the spotter gets an immediate connection with the nearest army information center. And if the aircraft he reports cannot be identified as friendly, fighter planes roar into the air at once to intercept the enemy. At the same time all Civilian Defense centers in the threatened area are warned by telephone to prepare for a raid.

Citizens of Michigan who sleep soundly in their beds at home owe a debt of gratitude to the Aircraft Warning Service.

Eat what you can ... and what you can't you CAN

MILLIONS of Victory gardens will be cultivated this year to help relieve the shortage of food brought about by our efforts to feed the largest army in our history, to assist our allies, and to avert starvation among the people of Europe.

To make the most effective use of the products of the Victory garden, the woman in the home is called upon to make another contribution towards winning the war—every woman whose garden has yielded a surplus beyond that which her family can consume immediately will wish to preserve that surplus by canning.

With the hope of rendering assistance to the homemaker in this enterprise, we have produced a compact booklet containing most of the essential information necessary for the successful canning of fruits and vegetables. This booklet is available in our office. Be sure to get your copy.

Sailor Writes of On US Carrier Wasp Use of Tructactors

The following letter was received at the Battle Creek plant of the Clark Equipment company from an American sailor, a former member of the crew of the aircraft carrier Wasp, sunk off Guadalcanal. Buchananites will remember that Lawrence Jackson was a crew member on the Wasp. The writer of the letter pays his respects to a Clark Equipment product as follows:

"I happened to be glancing through one of the better aviation magazines here at the library when my eye caught an article by your company.

I am writing this letter because I was on the Wasp, where we had two of your Clark Tructactors aboard. The men and officers in the air department couldn't bestow enough praise on your compact mechanical work horses.

When the Wasp was in the north Atlantic, where the snow was thick and plenty, there were the Clarks, both of them, acting as snow plows cleaning off the huge flight deck. The fellows would put skid chains on the wheels and away they would go. Many times they were used to bring supplies from the decks far below by means of ropes and pulleys.

They had a plenty tough job pulling those huge TBF's or "Avengers," as they were called. The plane is large, but those two babies were in there pitching. The fact that the planes took off shows you that the Clark's never let the men down.

In spotting planes on the deck, moving supplies, pushing wrecked planes off the flight deck, acting as snow plows and even though they were small and compact, they moved planes many times their weight.

This is all I have to say, gentlemen, for I can't say enough for your "Tructactor".
