Hint of Coming Coal Crisis Recalls Buchanan Fuel Shortage of 1918

Although we may not have time to think of it often, it is true that history is repeating itself in many ways in Buchanan these days, and that there are more parallels that might be drawn between the days of World War No 1 and World War No 2 than good policy might permit.

Local coal dealers state that it will be in the interest of all users of anthracite, bituminous and coke

Mrs. P. B. Boone, who has been spending several weeks at Daytona Beach, Florida, arrived home Tuesday.

Later The body of Charles Kelley, Jr., was found at 12:30 p. m. yesterday by the South Haven coast guard, who had been searching the river bed for two days. The body was located exactly at the point where the car entered the river. It had apparently been covered with mud for two days, and the current had then washed it clear. A double funeral was held at the Calvin Funeral Home at 2 p. m. for the bodies of Marjorie and Charles Kelley Rev. L. E. Tenhopen was in charge and burial was made in McDowell cemetery at South Haven.

The Buchanan community was visited by poignant tragedy late Sunday evening when three popular young people, Donald Keller, 19, Marjorie Kelley, 18, and Charles Kelley, Jr., 16, lost their lives by drowning at South Haven when the car driven by the former left the highway and plunged into the Black River adjoining the bridge that connects the northern and southern parts of that city.

There was no witness of the tragedy and it is only possible to reconstruct it from preceding circumstances and from vestiges at the scene of the accident.

The three young people left Buchanan about 7 p. m. Sunday evening to drive 45 miles to visit the home of the Kelly children's grandmother, Mrs. Jessie Kelley, living five miles northeast of South Haven. The young folks were looking for company on the trip during the early evening and called about 7 p. m. at a local ice cream parlor in search of Eleanor Ingelright. Miss Ingelright had just left the place a few minutes before to go to the show. The grandmother, Mrs. Jessie Kelley, of South Haven, stated that they left her home for the return at 11 p. m.

A severe storm was in progress when they left and continued during the night. The first intimation that a tragedy had occurred was received by Harry Chaddock, who lives near the scene of the accident. When he got up early Monday morning he noticed car tracks leaving the highway on a curve approaching the bridge and proceeding through a light barricade and over the river embankment opposite the Coast Guard Station. Combined efforts by the coast guard, aided by South Haven firemen and police, located the submerged car, in which the body of Miss Kelley was found. The body of Donald Keller was soon found in the river bed near the car. The body of Charles Kelley had not been discovered as the Record went to press.

The point where the car plunged into the river is four short blocks directly south of the intersection of North Shore drive and Dyckman street, where US-31 makes a sharp left turn to cross the river via the Dyckman street bridge. There are regulation state highway markers north of the intersection, but they are believed to have been made invisible by the heavy snow.

A barricade of wooden posts was erected years ago at the foot of North Shore drive, but the barricade offered slight resistance to the car, which missed the Dyckman street turn and continued straight ahead.

The South Haven police traced the identity of the victims by checking the automobile license and thus tracing ownership to Albert Keller of Buchanan, the father of Donald.

Funeral rites for Keller Last rites for Donald Keller were held at 2.30 p. m., Wednesday from the Swem Funeral Home with Rev. Norman Klump in charge and burial was made in Oak Ridge cemetery. Pallbearers were William Beardsley, Neal Burks, James Morris, John Jerue, Cleland Eagley, Henry Alfs.

He was born in Buchanan on July 8, 1923, the son of Albert and Julia Keller. He was a member of the senior class of 1942 of the Buchanan high school. He had worked at the A&P store for three years, working full time in vacations and part time during the school year. Surviving are his parents; four sisters and brothers, Clifford Keller, Scotts Field Ill., Ivan Keller at home; Armabelle and Doris at home; by a grandmother, Mrs. Charles Fuller of Buchanan.

The Homely Homestead Vs. The Highway Hot Spot

THE WRITERS remembers, back in the days when he lived on a dusty farm, how the howling hail storm used to rise and rip across the prairies, mowing the vegetation in its path until the ground was as bare as a concrete sidewalk in its wake.
BUT THE HAIL-BELT dwellers were hardened to catastrophe. Their year's income had vanished like mist with that hail storm, but they salvaged what they could. At worst, they gathered up a few buckets of the large hail stones, got out the ice cream freezer and had them a mess of home made ice cream. Instead of crying about the split milk, they merely took a little more milk and celebrated the disaster.
FEW WINDS MORE will have blown in the history of the world than that which now strews the wreckage of empires in its wake. But perhaps it's blowing a little good in some direction.
FOR INSTANCE, now that trees are scarce and gas may be the same, we might possibly learn to keep the home fires burning a little brighter than we did in the dazy days. The much bewept "war time" is at least likely to give a lot of us more daylight at home. How about cultivating the family homestead for a change instead of the highway hot spot?
MANY FAMILY men have forgotten the wholesome pleasure to be had from work with their own hands around the home, according to Hunter M. Gaines, Secretary of Michigan Retail Lumber Dealers Association, who has a wood-working shop in his own basement and gets both pleasure and profit from its use. Now is a good time for every man to give a large share of his leisure to such work. Gaines says, even if there are only the simplest carpentry tools available.
REPAIRING the home, in the matter of maintenance, repairs and improvements which do not require skilled craftsmanship, is good for mental health as well as the physical man in these dark days. Gaines declares "You cannot worry to no purpose when your hands are occupied with building tools. To see a built-in bookcase, or a paneled wall or a kitchen cupboard grow under the work of your own hands is a positive experience that feeds morale."

With The Boys in Service

Having completed the first step of his training as a pilot in the fighting Army Air Corps, Aviation Cadet Earl Louis Stevens of Buchanan, Mich., has arrived at Goodfellow Field, San Angelo, Tex., to begin the intermediate phase of his flight instruction.

At Goodfellow Field, typical of the Air Corps' newest, war-expanded, training centers, he will graduate to the cockpit of a speedy, 850 horsepower, BT-13A trainer, learning to master aerobatics, formation, cross country, instrument, and night flying.

Ground school instruction will include courses in radio code, weather, engine maintenance, and military law from Goodfellow, Cadet Stevens will go on to an advanced school to specialize in pursuit, bombardment, or observation flying, and win the coveted wings and bars of a flying lieutenant in the Army Air Corps.

Cadet Stevens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Stevens, Buchanan, Mich. He attended Michigan State College, East Lansing, Mich., (1933-41). He received his primary flight training at the Harman Flying School, Ballinger, Texas.

I'm going out on a destroyer soon. The first three weeks was awful but it's not so bad now. I get invited to a lot of dances, and I've been to the Arrow Club—is it class! I don't have to pay for anything.

I'm up for a rating, as store-keeper. If I make it I'll be getting $60 a month, and I think I will because I've had experience.

You should see the Normandie now. It's rolled over on its side and all you can see is the bottom sticking out of the water. I'm on guard three days and three nights. On guard four hours it isn't hard. The rest of the time I'm off. I would have written sooner but I thought I was pulling out on the Normandie.

I will close with love,
Bud

The following letter has just been received by Mrs. Edith DeWees from her son, R. E. DeWees, a sailor on a U. S. warship.

March 2, 1942

Dear Mom and All,

I received your package just before we left the States. The fellows said I was the luckiest guy in the Navy. The boys in A division sure went for the candy and cookies in a big way. They said they were the best they had eaten in many a year.

I certainly am proud of my presents. They were the nicest sets aboard ship. I almost cried when I received them.

I hope you let all the gang read my letter as I haven't much time to write any more. I try to do my best but somehow I always get behind. I'm in the very best of health and haven't a worry in the world.

I have very safe duty. I guess I am just lucky. Say Mom have you started receiving my allotment yet? You should be by now.

Did you get it straight about my money? I want you to put $150.00 in the bank and to buy Defense Bonds with the rest of it. That way I'll be helping to win the war two ways at once, by fighting and buying Bonds. I am a little homesick but it won't last long. It just happens at times, I don't think you can hardly blame me.

Tell Leigh, Jimmie, Kenny, Vic Metzger, Melvin and all the rest of the gang "Hello," and "hello" to their wives also. Well Bye Bye now and be good.

Lots of Love,
Your son, R. E. DeWees

Bud Ruth on Normandie When Fire Broke Out

The following letter was received by Mrs. Bennie Ruth, 215 1/2 East Front street, from her son, Bud Ruth, now in the navy. Bud left Buchanan for U. S. navy service in early January.

He was a guard on the French liner Normandie when the fire broke out which destroyed that vessel. The letter followed:

Dear Mom, I am in New York city waiting to be transferred to my boat. I'm having a swell time. I visited the Murphys Sunday and did I have a good time!

Alice Murphy is the girl I go with up here. Her dad is a broker down on Wall Street, who makes $100,000 a year. Some class! Boy! They come down and get me every Sunday.

Mom, you heard about the Normandie being burned. Well, I was on it when it happened but I was lucky—I didn't get hurt. I wish I could have stayed on it. It was one of the largest boats in the world, and was it nice! My buddy got both his hands burned. All my clothes burned up and now I have new ones.

Now I'm staying just four blocks from Times Square. We get free tickets to all the shows. I've seen all of the famous movie stars already. I suppose you got the telegram Mr. Murphy sent you. It was sure nice of him. His daughter has a '41 Mercury, just like Johnny Jeru's, and she comes and gets me every Sunday. Is she

Marjorie Kelley, 18, and Charles Kelley, Jr., 16, were the children of Charles Kelley, S. Portage street, who is a mechanic at the Ford garage. Marjorie was graduated from the Buchanan high school with the class of 1941. She had recently been engaged as a member of the night staff of the Michigan Bell telephone company and was to start a period of schooling in preparation for working as day operator on the Monday following her death. Charles was a freshman in the Buchanan high school. He was widely known in Buchanan through his several years of service as a paper boy and in other juvenile sales activities. Both children were widely popular.

Co. Farm Bureau Lifts Membership Over 1,500 Quota

John Kinney and Geo. Shafer Of Oronoko Win Prizes For Canvass

Defense stamps are being awarded to the leading canvassers in the annual Farm Bureau membership campaign that is just being concluded with Berrien county still at the top of the list among county units in the state.

At the beginning of the drive a week ago the Berrien Farm Bureau had 1,040 members, but 469 new members have been signed, according to Alex. Gale, of Sodus, campaign manager.

"The tabulation isn't all complete," said Mr. Gale, "but we anticipate 100 new members which will more than replace the 40 former members who dropped out for one reason or another. Thus, with the 469 new signatories, will put us over the quota of 1,500 for 1942."

The membership campaign began with each township in the county being organized with active committees. Township chairmen included Lucian Strong, Berrien, Robert Koeninghof, Bertrand, Robert Kneeger, Baumbringer, Glen Kinney, Buchanan, James Adams, Benton, Herbert Seede, Chikaming, Leo Hosben and Kenneth Miller, Coloma, Carl Benson, Gahen, Henry Peters, Kagar, Charles Hildbrand and Herbert Ziegert, Lake, August Totzke, Lincoln, Robert Camp, Niles, Carl Wheatstone, Oronoko, Alfede Shilling, Pipestone, Harry Nye, Royals, Daij Bittner, Sodus, Thomas Payne, Three Oaks, L R Boyer, Waterlylet, and Clarence Pinkert, Weesaw.

A Victory dinner for leaders of the Berrien County Farm Bureau took 225 to the Methodist church at Berrien Springs Friday night. The affair being given for leaders, who had worked in the recent membership drive and their wives.

Awards were given to membership workers and a team from Oronoko township, John Kinney and George Shafer, received the highest award, $5 in defense stamps. Vice-president Bert Keith of Sawyer presided in the absence of the president, Charles Heckathorne of Three Oaks, who is ill. It was voted to send a letter of sympathy and flowers to Burton Richards, secretary-treasurer of the bureau, who is ill in Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor.

Flake Makers Put Premium On White Corn

White corn is at a premium of from 5 to 15 cents above the market price in Michigan for use in factories making corn flakes. That is the word given out by Howard Rafter, head of the farm crops department of Michigan State College.

In recent weeks, Professor Rafter reports, the premium on white corn has been as high as 15 cents a bushel, and the W. K. Kellogg company is currently offering Michigan farm growers contracts guaranteeing a premium of at least 5 cents a bushel for corn of the 1942 crop which conforms to the standards for natural white milling corn. This company alone uses 5,000,000 bushels of white corn annually.

A few good white corn hybrids have been developed, and one, Iowa W-46, developed privately in Iowa, has proved adapted to the three lower tiers of Michigan counties. It has proved equal in productivity to yellow hybrids of similar maturity in Michigan State College trials. It is earlier than the later hybrids used in Monroe and Lenawee counties, consequently not so productive, but more certain of being fully mature and dry enough to avoid moisture discounts when marketed.

Highway Dept. Has Balance of 7 Million

The Michigan State Highway Department this week started its 1942 calendar year with a cash balance of $6,960,474.50.

In offering tabulations showing financial operations for the calendar year just ended, State Highway Commissioner, G. Donald Kennedy stated this balance, an increase of $3,565,197 more than that shown at the start of 1941, was made possible by a planned economy program looking forward to 1942.

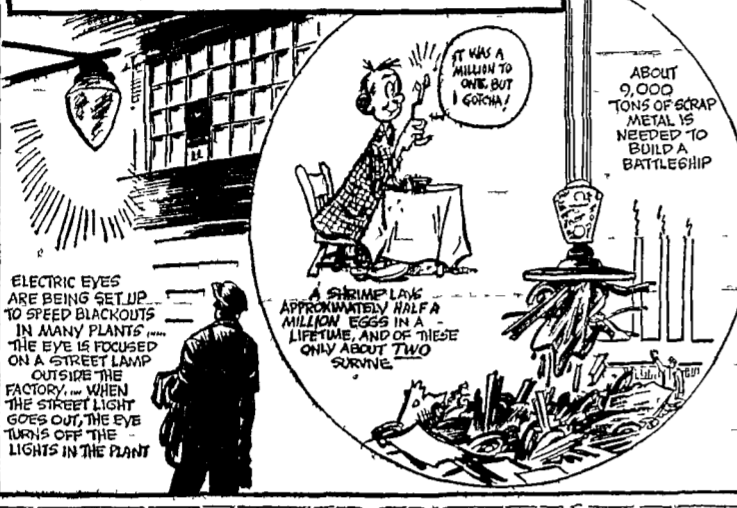

"This balance," Kennedy said, "will be needed to help finance highways urgently needed for our war program. It will also permit continuation of normal highway functions in addition to the regular Federal Aid program which will be limited to construction of highways certified as essential to defense. This is especially important in view of possible revenue reductions resulting from the tire rationing program and curtailment of automobile production."

Kennedy explained that because of the war program, virtually all construction of the war department must be financed by state funds.

THE POCKETBOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

MANY INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS ARE MADE IN AIR CONDITIONED ROOMS SO THAT OUTSIDE TEMPERATURE CHANGES WILL NOT AFFECT THEIR DIMENSIONS WHILE THEY ARE BEING MANUFACTURED.

ABOUT 10,000 TONS OF SCRAP METAL IS WASTED EVERY YEAR TO BUILD A BATTLESHIP.

As traffic volume soared to an all-time record, gas tax for the calendar year totaled $35,410,890.24, an increase of $3,095,726 over 1940. Despite this increase, however, total receipts were but $343,904 over last year. This was due to a cut of $1,821,443 in regular Federal Aid construction programs and a reduction of $253,799 in FWA construction.

Expenditures totaled $38,773,382.37 and included $11,613,870.80 in fixed charges, $16,029,063.61 for construction of roads and bridges including light-of-way and engineering, $7,239,033.71 for road and bridge maintenance and operation.

Contour Planting Stops Hill Erosion

"A combination of terraces and contour planting has stopped erosion on our hillside peach orchard," reports Otto and Wilfred DeSchaaf, who operate a forty acre fruit farm on Meadowbrook road, southeast of Pearl Grange in Benton township.

"We had planted this four acre orchard by the old square system in 1937, but the next year when the whole farm was being planned for soil and water conservation, we decided to reset the trees on the contour. Three terraces were built on the highest and steepest part and the remainder of the field was contour planted."

No trees died because of the terracing and no ill effects have been observed by the DeSchaaf brothers. The young orchard was interplanted with truck for three years. Now it receives spring and early summer cultivation. This cultivation is only in the middle parallel to the contour terraces and it is done in such a manner that small ridges or back furrows are formed in the tree rows.

These small ridges act as miniature terraces to prevent runoff of rain water. Holding the rain where it falls is the first step in water conservation. Holding it there effects soil conservation as well, since water can erode only when it is moving. Less manure and fertilizer are lost too, the DeSchaaf brothers believe.

500 Swans Seen In Detroit River

Filling the air with melodious calls and "chatter" within sight and hearing of hundreds of shore residents, flocks of whistling swans are awaiting signs of spring in the lower Detroit river to return to nesting areas in lakes and watercourses of the far north.

Herb Miller, conservation department biologist, reports observing a flock of at least 500 swans off House island, the largest flock seen thus far this winter. These large, white birds are wintering in the ice-free waters of the river.

Plan War Program For Future Farmers

Goals of $50,000 in Defense Savings Stamps and Bonds purchased, and a Victory garden in every one of Michigan's 183,000 farms, have been established for Michigan Future Farmers of America, it was announced today jointly by Harry E. Nesman, chief of Agricultural Education and George H. Fern, director of the State Board of Control for Vocational Education.

Members of Future Farmers of America chapters are all students of vocational agriculture in Michigan high schools, courses which are reimbursed by the State Board of Control for Vocational Education. Mr. Nesman is state adviser of the F F A.

In a special message to Future Farmers, Mr. Fern stated "No longer can we follow our individual pursuits complacently, with a dormant gratitude to the nation which makes this way of life possible."

Spring Winds Cut Light, Sandy Soils

March and April, with their high winds, will remove tons of humus and top soil from Berrien County fields again this spring, according to H. J. Lurkins, County Agricultural Agent. Wherever light sandy fields are exposed to the wind we can expect wind erosion to start, unless cover crops, or windbreaks are used to reduce wind velocities and soil movement. This is one of the reasons for always having a cover crop on cultivated land.

Light sandy soils should never be left unprotected during the winter and spring months. Figures obtained by the U S Department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service on wind erosion demonstration plots near Spinks Corners, indicate that soil losses may run as high as 63 tons per acre in a single season. This loss represents the removal of the finest and best part of the soil, which is humus or organic matter because the humus and lighter soil particles are more easily moved by the wind.

Windbreaks and shelter belts aid greatly in reducing soil losses and the evaporation of moisture. Where snow fencing was used as a windbreak, soil losses on the demonstration plots was completely eliminated and there was an accumulation of soil on the protected area. This soil was removed from adjacent unprotected areas. When wind velocities are reduced, the evaporation from the land is likewise reduced. Moisture conservation is extremely important for crop production on the light sandy soils.

Windbreaks and shelter belts aid growers in many other ways, by conservation of snowfall, reducing frost injury to fruit, and protecting fruit trees from cold, dry, winter winds.

Due to the great demand for forest tree planting stock, supplies are being depleted rapidly, however, red pine and white spruce transplants are still available at the Michigan State College Nursery and red pine transplants are available at the Michigan State Conservation Department. These species may be used for windbreak planting.

sible. We are now called upon for proof of our loyalty, and the sincerity of our pledge of allegiance."

Future Farmers were urged to help provide the food which is necessary to winning both the war and the peace which must be written after the war. A Victory garden on every farm in Michigan is one of the goals set up for the organization.

Repair of farm machinery is another goal. "Every piece of farm equipment, your own and your neighbors', must be repaired. It must go into active duty to help win the war. Repair farm machinery in farm shop classes, in National Defense classes in General Metals, and in the home-farm shops on the farms. Save farm labor and valuable time by doing this needed repair work now. When spring comes, the machines will be needed and time will be valuable. There isn't going to be much new farm machinery this spring!" the state message reads.

"Waste paper is not WASTE PAPER any more," the message continues. "Save it! Find out where it is being collected in your community and take all old newspapers, wrapping paper, paper bags, etc. to the community station for collection." The chapter members were urged also to look about their home farms for bits of scrap metal no longer usable. If no central station has been established for the collection of scrap metal, chapters were urged to take the leadership in establishing such a depot, and in conducting a local drive to gather up this scrap.

There are 5,524 members in 222 Michigan Chapters of Future Farmers. Many of them are already active in Defense programs.

In Nashville, Future Farmers are tapping all maple trees in the village for maple syrup. They have located a building for boiling down the sap and obtained the services of a man who knows the maple syrup industry to take charge of the work. Already this chapter has orders for 100 gallons of maple syrup. The village council in Nashville approved their enterprise, and with only one or two exceptions, property owners have given the boys permission to tap their trees.

Apple reports, the food supply of the country is not likely to be reduced through the lack of vegetable seeds. Growers who place their orders early will find the supply will be adequate for many of the varieties and strains which they desire.

Seed growers, however, have been forced to cut down on the number of varieties, and concentrate on the more important ones. In some instances it may be necessary for the grower to use a second choice variety of some vegetables.

The home gardener will find it easy to make a second choice in varieties, and may find it necessary to make a second choice in the kinds of vegetables he wishes to plant. Thus, if spinach seed becomes scarce, he may easily substitute chard, mustard, kale, or turnip greens which, if properly harvested and cooked, are highly desirable.

Nearly all seeds are higher in price than last year, but Apple reminds that the cost of seed per acre is a small part of the total cost per acre. Most serious shortages at present are in beets, carrots, onions and spinach. The government is asking for additional acreages in tomatoes and peas for canning, and this fact, with the increased interest in home gardens, may cause some shortage in seeds.

Army Air Corps Reports Shortage Civilian Employees

For every Army Air Corps plane in combat there must be experienced civilians back home busily employed in the many duties involved in the manufacture of airplanes, parts and equipment.

To enlarge the ranks of these capable and devoted civilians, the Army Air Corps today issued a call for applications from patriotic men and women who are anxious to do their part in helping their country defeat its enemies.

There are all kinds of openings for experienced persons. Men and women who are able to perform typing, stenographic and clerical work are needed just as much as those with years of experience and training in modern cost auditing, precision aircraft inspection, metallurgy, mechanical engineering and administrative supervision.

Women who can qualify are urged to apply. Men who are in their late 40's and over are preferred, but everyone who is a loyal American citizen not engaged in National Defense Work is eligible.

The Air Corps calls attention to the fact that slight physical disabilities do not disqualify applicants. Men who are unable to enlist in the nation's armed forces because of minor physical handicaps may thus serve their country just as well in the capacities of government civilian employees of the Air Corps.

The only prerequisites for the many available positions are American citizenship and a determination to do everything possible to support the courageous fighting men who are piloting planes on the country's battlefronts.

In addition to the vacancies for typing, stenographic and clerical personnel, which pay from $1,260 to $1,620 a year to start, the Air Corps needs experienced calculating machine operators at $1,440 and persons trained in the supervision of inventories, stock requisition and issue and general supply management for positions starting at from $1,620 to $1,800.

Experienced aircraft inspectors who are skilled in the use of precision instruments such as height gauges, verniers and micrometers, who can read blueprints and interpret specifications on precision airplane parts, and who have had two years or more of experience in actual inspection of aircraft tools and gauges, sub-assemblies, engines, fuelages, wings, propellers, fabrics and miscellaneous parts, are offered from $2,000 to $2,900 to start.

Men with four or more years of experience in the use of these precision inspection instruments in other allied lines of industry also are needed for these positions.

Auditors experienced in modern procedures of allocating costs in large manufacturing plants are offered from $2,600 to $4,600, and clerks with timekeeping and payroll experience may obtain positions paying from $1,620 to $2,300. The need for women is especially great in the accounting division—particularly women who can operate calculating machines of the type commonly used in business concerns.

Persons with college engineering degrees are offered $2,000 and upward depending upon their experience and the type of work to which they are assigned.

All applicants will be considered first for positions at defense plants doing Air Corps work located in their own cities or in the immediate vicinity of their homes.

Everyone who wishes to do his or her part in this extremely necessary war work should obtain Civil Service application forms from the nearest first or second-class postoffice, fill them out and attach a letter outlining chronologically their education and experience, and mail immediately to the Air Corps, United States Army, Central Procurement District, 8565 West Darren Avenue, Detroit, Michigan. The forms and letters should be directed to the attention of District Personnel Officer.

The work of filling the many vacancies is to start at once.

Good prices for both lots and acreage in the second sale series of the year boosted well above $100,000 the 1942 income from conservation department auctions of tax-reverted lands. Counties, townships and school districts will share this income according to tax counties in the delinquent category.

The second series covered lands in Alcona, Arenac, Crawford, Iosco, Gladwin, Midland, Ogemaw, Oscoda, Roscommon and Wexford counties. A total of 238 lots, 27 per cent of those offered, was sold for an average price of $62.55, a total sale price of $14,887. Many of the platted properties included some habitable housing and others were bought for building sites.

Acreage purchased, largely for woodlot and pasture additions to farms, averaged $4.25 an acre, and the 9,946 acres sold—67 per cent of the total offered—brought $42,246. Besides the $37,133 realized from the general sales, a little less than $1,000 worth of lands were disposed of at sales requested by former owners.

Together with the first series of conservation department land sales held in Clare, Isabella, Lake, Manistee, Mason, Mecosta, Newaygo, Oceana and Osceola counties earlier in the month, the recent auctions have returned 2,698 lots and 15,519 acres worth $105,834 to the tax rolls and made a good deal more available for immediate purchase from the department's market lists.

new construction and $5,233,000 reused material. Net additions to the company's plant were $22,489,000, raising the company's total plant investment to $226,478,000.

Cost of central office expansion was more than double that of 1940. Outlay for land and buildings was nearly three times that of the previous year.

To finance capital outlays, the company issued $10,000,000 worth of stock in 1941 and increased its authorized capital structure by another $25,000,000 to help finance future construction.

Company taxes increased $1,843,000 to $9,466,000, while rate reductions of $1,500,000, on an annual basis, were made. Payrolls rose $4,654,000 to $22,417,000. The company increased its personnel by 26 per cent and at the end of the year had 13,872 employees.

Aside from the increasing difficulty of meeting record service demands arising out of the Defense and War efforts, Welch cited six highlights of the year. They were:

1. A relative increase in telephones nearly double that of the Bell System. A total of 929,314 telephones in service at the end of the year, or 35 per cent over the 1930 pre-depression peak.
2. A record telephone gain for one year of 110,223, or 41 per cent above the previous high, registered in 1940.
3. A total of 30,137,000 long distance messages, 19 per cent over the 1940 record.
4. An average of 4,789,000 daily calls, 17 per cent over 1940, the previous record.
5. An increase of 10,956 telephones in March, largest monthly gain in the company's history.

Michigan Bell Net Down $400,000 in '41

Despite record revenues resulting from unparalleled demands for its service, the Michigan Bell Telephone Company today reported that its net operating income for 1941 fell off 4 per cent, or more than $400,000.

George M. Welch, president of the company, in his annual report to stockholders, pointed out that earnings would have been substantially lower had the company not taken a tax credit for the funds on long distance messages made during 1941 but applicable also to previous years. (The refunds covered the period, August 1, 1938-April 25, 1941, but the entire credit was taken last year.)

Eliminating that non-recurring tax credit, the report said that the net operating income was $274 less per average telephone than that decline took place despite a $1.10 increase in revenue per telephone. That result was attributed to sharp increases in tax and payroll costs.

Operating revenues reached $54,159,000, an increase of 13 per cent over 1940, while operating expenses were up 17 per cent and operating taxes were up 24 per cent. Net income amounted to $10,904,000, the equivalent of 7.59 per cent on the average capital stock outstanding. Dividends of $7.00 a share were paid and the company transferred $841,000 to its "rainy day" surplus fund.

The task of keeping pace with the record increases in service demand was made more difficult by critical shortages in materials. In matching the armament and industrial tempo, the company made record total plant additions of $32,943,000, including $27,710,000

Mistake to Buy Auto Batteries Ahead of Needs

By B. F. Morris
President, Ass'n of Battery Mfgs.

It seems quite obvious that the increase in the purchase of car batteries that has been noticeable the last two months has not been for immediate needs. This is indicated by the fact that many of the purchasers took such batteries away in the luggage compartments of their cars. Some have even purchased two or three at one time.

If a car owner has purchased a battery to put away in anticipation of using at some future date, he should bring it back to the dealer for recharging every 30 days.

Not all of the car-owning public realize that a battery is a "perishable" just as much as fresh fruit and vegetables are perishables. Of course, you can readily notice when fruits and vegetables become bad but a battery, left idle for months, looks all right externally, but its utility may have utterly vanished.

A battery left in an inoperative condition deteriorates and becomes discharged. It becomes sulphated merely through standing idle. Unless a person buying an extra battery has charging facilities or remembers to have the battery recharged at regular intervals, it is useless to store it away. It is a waste of money and it is a waste of materials—some of which are quite vital for our war efforts.

Even battery dealers charge their new batteries every 30 days as do new car dealers when such cars remain on their premises for a period longer than a month. But they understand this, and battery charging is done on a systematic basis. However, a car owner is apt to forget to keep his "extra" battery recharged and the blame for such failure cannot be laid at the door of the dealer that sold the battery.

It is both good common sense as well as patriotic not to purchase a battery until it is actually needed for your car—and then to have the battery placed in operation in the car. It is likewise well to remember that a car battery is a "perishable" but if you have such an extra battery on hand, make sure to have it recharged periodically to keep it "alive."

Ernest E. Miller Graduated From MSC Short Course

Ready to return to their homes to take up the vital work of providing food for the nation are the 157 young men and women graduating from the winter short courses in agriculture and home economics at Michigan State College. Graduation exercises will be held at the college March 6.

Included among the graduates announced by Ralph W. Tenny, Short Course director, is Ernest E. Miller of Buchanan, who completed a short course of 16 weeks covering two years.

War Bonnet for 'Big Joe' Stalin

The head of the Russian Reds has been named honorary chief of the Red Indians, an outstanding warrior for 1941, although the Indians associated with the Indian Confederation admit that Gen. Douglas MacArthur is a sure candidate for honors in 1942. A fine war bonnet, which will go to Stalin, is being presented to Edward Carter, president of the Russian war relief, by Chief Falling Trees at the Indian Confederation pow wow in New York.

Urges Training Girl Teachers Industrial Arts

Girls are being urged to enroll in industrial arts classes at Central Michigan college this semester as part of the school's effort to find instructors for one of the fields hit hardest by the present teacher shortage.

The serious lack of industrial arts instructors has already curtailed shop classes in many of the state's smaller Class C and D institutions. George F. DePuy, Central's industrial arts head, points out. Small schools are fighting a losing battle against the attractive salaries offered by large city systems.

One state high school was forced to offer $300 a month to a shop man when their regular instructor resigned to work in a defense plant.

Replacements from college institutions are at a minimum. Very few men will be graduated from the field this year—who will not have to answer the army call. Other men, who would ordinarily enroll for such classes, have already enlisted in the army or some other fighting force.

"Girls are just as capable of being good industrial arts instructors as men," DePuy says. "Several are already enrolled in classes here and are rapidly becoming as good as the men in the field."

Women will be particularly well suited for positions in elementary, junior high and small secondary schools, DePuy indicated. Although now being considered on a much larger scale, shop classes are not new to many schools in home economics who have been required to take some industrial arts courses for several years as part of their curriculum.

Scheduling of nine week summer terms may also alleviate the present shortage because a minor in the shop field may be secured by any instructor who now has three hours of work in that curriculum. This means that 12 hours of shop work can be taken in the nine week term with 15 hours credit as the minimum needed.

Many present secondary teachers who are now qualified to teach other classes may find it advantageous to take the summer work and become eligible for school shop instructor, DePuy pointed out.

It is also possible to obtain fertilizer through the Conservation Materials Program. The only fertilizer available is 0-20-20 at this time. The cost of it is $42.40 a ton, and it must be applied on fields devoted to soil-conserving crops. Any farmer wishing this material should call at the county office, Room 255, City Hall, St. Joseph and have an order made out.

Mr. Kretschman urges all farmers to use conservation materials for the following reasons: (1) In interest of national defense we should use these materials to stimulate production. (2) Material available may be insufficient to meet the demand, thus the need for ordering and using materials now.

Report Net Gain for 230 Oil Fields in Mich. in 1941

Michigan began the year with 230 more producing oil wells and 82 more producing gas wells than the state had one year earlier, in spite of abandonment of 201 oil wells and 15 gas wells during 1941, according to a review of the industry's accomplishments by the conservation department's geology division.

Operators completed 951 wells during the year—441 of them with initial production of 491,400 barrels of oil, 97 with initial production of 468,465,000 cubic feet of gas, and 413 dry holes. As 1942 began, 3,158 oil wells and 585 gas wells were producing. Total 1941 production was 16,355,717 barrels of oil, 15,092,464,000 cubic feet of gas—more gas but less oil than in the year before.

Six of the state's 70 producing oil fields yielded more than one million barrels each. These leaders were: Reed City field, 2,754,365; Redding field, 1,748,686; Porter, 1,136,076; Walker, 1,291,690; Adams, 1,117,892; and Winterfield, 1,101,337 barrels. The Headquarters field, a late starter, produced 314,770 barrels last year.

The Six Lakes pool led the 14 producing gas fields with an output of 4,710,879,000 cubic feet. Lincoln pool was second with 1,012,743,000 cubic feet.

Counties having the greatest drilling activity were Osceola, Allegan, Van Buren and Clare. Of 156 holes completed in Osceola county 109 yielded oil, 27 produced gas, and 20 were dry. More wells were drilled in Allegan county, but 97 of the 176 completed were dry, with 78 oil producers and one gas well.

State Can Sell Pine Seedlings For Planting on Farms

Farmers planning to restock some idle acreage with trees this spring are getting white pine seedlings at $4, red pine seedlings at $4 and jack pine seedlings at $2 a thousand from the conservation department's big nursery at Higgins Lake, near Roscommon. White and red pine transplant stock also is available, at $7.50 a thousand.

Farm winbreaks and reforestation cover the extent of farm use of such stock, which may not be employed in ornamental plantings, not may it be cut before it is big enough to produce timber products. Orders must be for at least 500 trees. Those being accepted now at the Lansing office of the department's forestry division will be filled and shipped between April 15 and May 20.

Limited allotments of free seedlings for planting in school and community forests on publicly-owned land also are being ordered now. Maximum amount which may be obtained by any one public agency in any one year is 5,000. Most plantings are made in the spring. Spring planting is particularly recommended over fall planting in the southern part of the state.

Fix Prices On Marl Contracts In Berrien County

Mr. Martin H. Kretschman, Chairman of Berrien County Agricultural Conservation Association, announces that contracts have been let for the furnishing of marl to farmers in Berrien County. Any farmer cooperating under the 1942 Farm Program is eligible to have marl either delivered or spread on his farm. This is made possible under the Conservation Materials Program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Mr. Kretschman urges farmers to call at the county office to

Wartime Session Of Michigan Legislature Enacts Special Laws

Governor Van Wagoner this week completed the signing of 22 measures passed by the recent special war session of the Legislature and declared the non-political cooperation of all elements of the State Government had set a record for which "the citizens of Michigan can be proud."

Major war acts of the sessions were the liberalization of unemployment compensation payments to provide a maximum of $20 for 20 weeks for persons who lost their jobs in the war transition period, and increased allotments for aged persons and mothers with dependent children, to meet higher living costs.

Other war Acts will attract private capital for defense housing, prevent slum housing around defense plants, and permit Detroit busses to carry workers to the Willow Run war plant.

Other measures allow county boards of supervisors to provide fire protection in rural areas, authorize use of tax-delinquent lands for defense purposes, permit the closing of estates in which foreign heirs are involved, and allow Bar examinations for law students who are called into the armed forces before completing their courses.

Other Acts make it a felony to steal an airplane, permit townships to combine funds for fire protection; allow school board elections in districts consolidated in defense areas, permit the State Department of Health to continue free distribution of anti-toxins, permit better control of venereal disease, and provide for recording of unregistered births, to help persons who must have such certificates to get war jobs.

Galien Cow Gets National Repute For Milk Record

Contributing her part to national defense is Segis Hazel Ormsby, a purebred Holstein cow owned by Lewis Frenkert, Galien. She produced 6,478 quarts of milk this past year, and 512 pounds of butterfat. Mr. Frenkert states that "Hazel" was milked two times daily, and that her production for the entire period was supervised by the Michigan State College of Agriculture and Applied Science and the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Berrien Tops Red Cross Quota

$6,000-More Asked For By March 10; 1,000 Enroll In First Aid Work

A meeting of the Berrien County Chapter of the American Red Cross was held at the Hotel Whitcomb Wednesday noon, March 4th at 12 15. There were twenty eight members and guests present Mr Vawter, Chairman of the County chapter, presided It was announced by Mr. Stark, Treasurer of the Chapter, that the War Relief Campaign fund was $22,171 69 This is $2,171 69 over the quota of $20,000.00 that was asked for the first national quota of $50,000,000 Since that time it has been necessary for the National Red Cross to ask for a Fifteen Million Dollar increase, which makes Berrien County's share an additional $6,000.00. Because of this additional amount to be raised the Chapter's campaign will remain open for donations until March 10th Donations may be made at the Headquarters in St. Joseph and at Mr Vawter's office in Benton Harbor

It was reported by the First Aid Chairman that thirty-eight classes in First Aid are being taught in this County, which indicates that over one thousand people in Berrien County are having First Aid training at the present time The first aiders are all people who are doing their part in the national defense of the County.

Mrs. Beebe, Chairman of the nursing activities committee reported that classes in home nursing were now getting under way A class in Benton Harbor and St Joseph will be started within the week Nurses are being qualified to teach home nursing and as soon as the credentials have been returned from National Headquarters Mr. Cunningham reported for Mr. Walter Stevens, Chairman of the Disaster Committee of the Red Cross that the Chapter was co-operating with the Civilian Defense Council in every way possible to set up a disaster relief organization for the protection of Berrien County.

Thirty women in Benton Harbor and St. Joseph are being trained in a staff assistance corps These women will serve as volunteers in the Red Cross Headquarters of the Twin Cities

The total subscription credited to Buchanan was $1,537 28, collected under the direction of Mrs J. C Strayer, chairman

Draft Board To Await Orders On Induction Policy

Niles' draft board still is awaiting orders from Lansing concerning immediate instruction of draftees after they pass their final physical examinations

Colonel E M Rosecrans, state director of the selective service, called attention today that effective Monday, March 16, immediate induction will take place.

Under this procedure, the army will abandon the policy of allowing 10 days between examination and induction Draftees needing time to complete personal affairs will have to arrange with the army for a furlough, Rosecrans said

The Niles board has shuffled cards of the 1920 men who registered in the February 16 call and order numbers will be given to these men at the national lottery to be held Tuesday, March 17

An Raid Warning

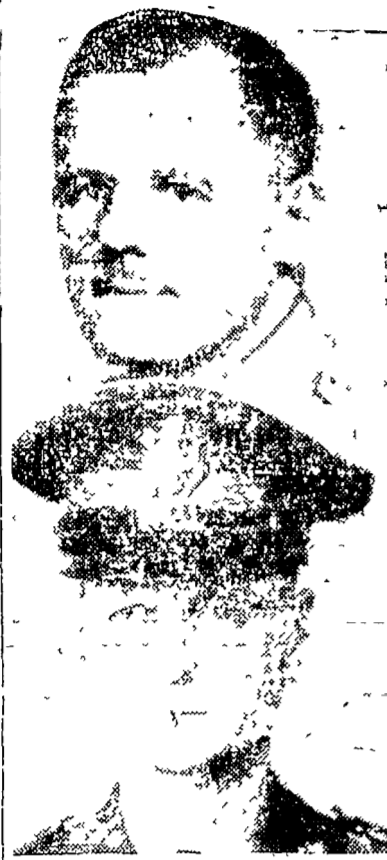

Students cheerfully laughed as they went through the process of practicing for possible air raid attacks. We wonder if they realize the seriousness of air raid protection. There would be no laughter if the dropping of airplanes sounded from above, or if bombs and machine gun fire raged without warning. We must strive for more seriousness, cooperation, and better order. All three of these are vitally needed. This will not be so difficult if every student does his or her own part. We surely don't want another Pearl Harbor here from lack of preparation.

AMBITIONS

Are you one of the many persons whose cherished ambition has been shattered by the war? Some students have been thinking of some occupation that interests them, and now believe that it is impossible to carry their plans out. However, there is no need to give up your hopes and ideals. There are many possibilities that you will succeed in fulfilling your ambition. Continue to work toward your goal. Furthermore, pick one ambition and maintain it. What if someone else does laugh at it? Don't let that bother you. Someday you may get a chance to laugh right back.

If the war calls for a little sacrificing of your ambition, do it willingly, but don't give it up entirely.

Head of South Bend College of Commerce Talks To Students

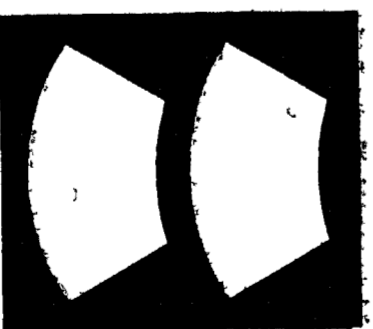

Mr. Kern, from the South Bend College of Commerce, spoke to the high school students Friday afternoon. He believed, "Eighty-five per cent of your success in life is determined by your daily habits of posture, daily conversation and use of English. Honesty in all your actions. Watch your Table Manners and have some time and place in your life for spiritual activities." Miss Lucile Quade, Head of the Commercial Department, had charge of the program.

After Stab-in-the-Back by Japs

year, the games were played in Niles' small gym which is much smaller than our home gym. Although only by small margins, all three games went to our foes.

Grade News—H. S.

The people in Miss Carnagan's room are glad to have Jo Ann Merrifield back in school. She spent two weeks in Florida with her family. She and Jimmy gave an interesting report of their trip. They also showed their collection of shells.

There are twelve boys and girls in Miss Connell's room on the Dental Honor Roll. Gordon Quick and Albert Laken's names have been added since the last report.

Judith Ann Adolph enrolled in our room this week. Judy came from the Wagner country school. Miss Kinney's room chose lieutenants and captains last week. The captains are Charles Nehring and Norman Davidson. Lieutenants are Carol Shreve and Jimmie Bulton.

Last week Miss Shepell asked the third grade to draw pictures. This week they painted them with water colors. Most of the pictures were very attractive even though this was their first experience at painting.

Miss Fritz's room chose houterants and captains for the next six weeks. The lieutenants are Jeannine Fairman and Gordon Cease. The captains are Lois Henson and Billy Hartman.

Dried Eggs
 (From Our Weekly Reader)
 Fresh eggs are broken and put into tanks. Pipes from tanks lead to a machine called the cyclone. The eggs go from the tanks to the cyclone. They become yellow powder. The yellow powder is put in barrels lined with wax. The wax keeps the egg powder dry. The barrels of powdered eggs are shipped to other countries. This powder is used to feed the soldiers—Harry Johnson.

Miss Gate's fourth and fifth grades have elected Donna Mathie to act as Captain for the next six weeks; Charles Stroud and Kathryn Turner are the new lieutenants.

Jimmy Merrifield gave a very interesting talk to his classmates upon his return from a trip in the South. He took notes on the interesting things he saw, so that he might give us the information. He also showed us his collection of shells, a pin cushion fish, a horseshoe crab, and a starfish. Jimmy was asked to give his talk to Miss Kinney's third grade and Miss Carnagan's first grade Monday afternoon.

The boys and girls of Mr. Fuller's room are studying about the various kinds of farming carried on in our state of Michigan.

Richard Adolf from the Wagner District enrolled this week in Mrs. Fuller's fourth grade.

Miss Ekstrom's fifth grade has finished the study of the Central States and has begun map studies of the Western States.

The children in Miss Halton's room are busy knitting and weaving squares for afghans and blankets for the Junior Red Cross. We want to do our part in so far as we are able.

This week Miss Ream's room is working on the multiplication of decimals.

We are starting a new unit in health—"The Pilot." This unit is about the care and training of the nervous system and the special senses.

Miss Jeffery's room has read an interesting history book called "The Middle Ages." It had many new facts which we had not read in our text book. We will be glad when we start our new book, "The Background of a Modern Nation," written by McClure, Scheck, and Wright.

Sandra brought a little Mexican doll to show the Kindergarten children. Wally told us that most of the Mexicans wear clothes like ours, now. Sandra's doll had been sent to her by her uncle. We'd like to go to Mexico, too.

The children in Miss Gustafson's first grade are trying hard to do perfect work in their reading workbooks as well as in their oral reading. Joyce Reese brought two of her story books to school, and Miss Gustafson is reading one of them to the class.

The children in Miss Doolittle's second grade are all trying to have a perfect score in spelling each week. This week there were fifteen perfect papers. Miss Doolittle is reading the book, "Winnie the Pooh," to the class.

Miss Kinney's second grade has some new science readers. J. D. Niles brought a theodolite and a magnet which were used with the books, to illustrate these lessons.

The new lieutenants in Mrs. Wilcox's third grade are Mary Lois Stroud and Bill Batchelor. Donna Turtle's name has been added to the Dental Honor Roll. The new lieutenants in Miss Olson's fourth grade are Marion Dempsey and Richard Martin. The class is traveling from France to Switzerland on a new imaginary journey. They shall visit a little Swiss girl named Gretchen.

HOLLYWOOD

What Twelve-Year-Old Shuley Temple Looks Like
 Shuley Temple's eagerly-awaited return to the screen after a two-year absence, takes place in the new M-G-M drama, "Kathleen," which will be shown Friday and Saturday, March 13-14, at the Hollywood Theatre, with Shirley in the title role and Herbert Marshall, Lorraine Day, Gail Patrick and Fern Bressart prominently cast.

To the oft-repeated question of fans as to what the now twelve-year-old Shuley looks like—she is an inch and a half taller and ten pounds heavier, while her once blonde curls are now a chestnut brown.

During her absence from the screen, following her last appearance in "Young People," Shuley has been attending the Westlake School for Girls in her freshman year of high school. On her schedule are French, English, algebra, ancient history and art, with piano lessons on the side. She has also developed a keen interest in clothes, and designs many of her own dresses.

Two Films a Year
 It was Shuley's own pleading that persuaded her parents to allow her to return to the screen. She will not make more than two pictures a year, thus giving her the opportunity to continue her school work. She returned to class immediately upon completing her role in "Kathleen."

Riotous Comedy Packs Laughs in Hal Roach's "Miss Polly"
 Gay comedy and laughter highlight the action of Hal Roach's new streamlined comedy, "Miss Polly," which will be shown on the Hollywood screen Friday and Saturday, March 13-14, with Zasu Fitts in the title role, and with a featured cast which includes Shirl Summerville, Kathleen Howard, Brenda Forbes, Elyse Knox and Dick Clayton.

The zany action of "Miss Polly" unwinds in the sleepy town of Midville where the Civic League, headed by Mrs. Snodgrass, has clamped down on fun, progress, romance in the opposite camp is fragile Miss Polly and Slim, handy man and amateur inventor. The latter pair undertake to foster a romance between Mrs. Snodgrass' daughter and Eddie, who irritates the Civic League president. How the plans go floozy and wreck the Snodgrass mansion and how Miss Polly finally saves the day by rattling several family skeletons of the Reformers brings the story to a laugh-packed, punchy finish.

Deanna Possesses Ideal Figure, Says Stylist
 Figuratively and literally, Deanna Durbin is one of Hollywood's leading stars.

Miss Durbin comes to the screen of the Hollywood theatre Sunday and Monday, March 15 and 16 in Universal's "It Started With Eve" to give further evidence that hers is one of Hollywood's best figures. Those who know stellar proportions best, the studio wardrobe girls, insist that Deanna's figure is "tops."

Measurements Given
 Here are Miss Durbin's measurements: height, 5 feet, 5 inches; weight, 115 pounds; bust, 35 inches; waist, 25 inches; hips, 35, calf, 13; and ankle, 7 1/2.

Edward Arnold Portrays Daniel Webster Role
 Daniel Webster, one of the great statesmen and undoubtedly the greatest orator of his time, is recreated on the screen as a leading character in RKO Radio's newest offering, "All That Money Can Buy," showing at the Hollywood Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 17-18-19.

His role as a champion of the farmer and his prowess as a speaker are both stressed in this unique film, which deals with the famous leader's dramatic attempt to rescue a friend from a bad bargain.

Edward Arnold is featured as Webster, and with Walter Huston,

Anne Shirley, James Craig, Simone Simon and other notables heads the cast of the William Dieterle production.

"Go West" Hit Nets
Ann Miller Now Contract
 Hollywood's renewed interest in film musicals has benefited no one more than lovely Ann Miller, who recently was handed a brand new term contract by Columbia Pictures—the second in as many months.

After viewing rushes from "Go West, Young Lady," rowdy new cowboy musical to appear at the Hollywood theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 17-18-19, with Penny Singleton and Glenn Ford also featured, studio executives wrote a new term ticket for the dancer giving Columbia exclusive right to her services. Charles Ruggles and Allen Jenkins are others in the cast.

AT YOUR SERVICE

With the rationing of sugar it's going to mean some changes in your cake and cookie baking. Honey has many uses but must be used with judgment. Here are some essential facts:

(a) 1 cup of honey weighs 12 ounces, of which not quite 1/5 is water.

(b) 1 cup of sugar weighs 7 ounces.

In replacing sugar with honey in a cake or cookie recipe, the amount of liquid should be reduced 1/5 cup for each cup of honey used.

After measuring the liquid, if you would be absolutely sure of the correct amount to use, remove 3 tablespoons plus 1 teaspoon of the liquid for each cup of honey used.

Certain cakes made with honey, when first baked, seem less light and fluffy, and not as sweet as sugar cakes. These same cakes, upon aging, become moist, flavorful and better in texture.

The simplest way to use honey is the drizzling method: Warm honey will drizzle from a sharp pointed pitcher, whereas cold honey will pour in a heavy stream, making any food too sweet.

Place the honey jar in warm—not hot—water for 10 minutes before using.

An easy way to measure is with a moist or greased cup. Measure fat in measuring cup first, then the honey in the same cup. (This is also true of molasses.)

Keep liquid honey in a warm, dry place, where the temperature is 75 degrees or over, or in a cold place where the temperature is below 50 degrees. Freezing does not injure the color or flavor, but may hasten granulation. Do not keep comb honey in refrigerator.

Molasses is also excellent for sweetening. The iron in molasses is from 80% to 95% available for use by the body, depending upon the grade of molasses. None of this iron richness is lost in cooking.

Here are a few favorite honey recipes:

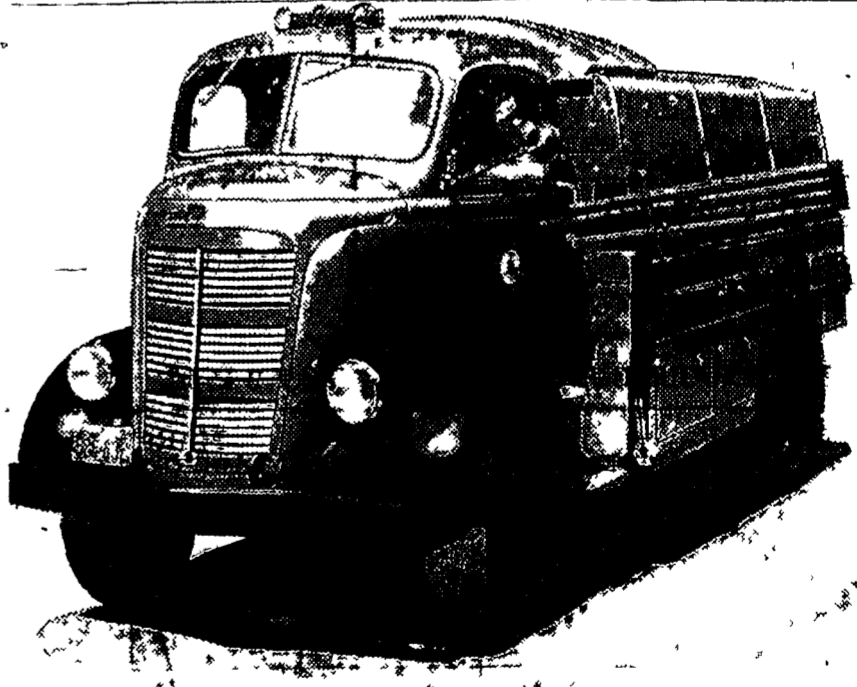

Honey, Clover Leaf Roll
 2 cakes compressed yeast
 1/2 cup water, lukewarm
 1/3 cup milk
 -2/3 cup shortening
 2/3 cup honey
 1 cup warm mashed potatoes
 1 teaspoon salt
 6 1/2 to 7 cups flour
 2 eggs

Disolve yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk and add shortening, honey, mashed potatoes, and salt. Blend well. Cool to lukewarm and add well beaten eggs. Add enough flour to make a soft dough that will not stick. Knead for 10 minutes, wrap in wax paper and put in tightly covered bowl. Store in refrigerator and use as needed. Dough will keep several days. To make cloveleaf rolls, form dough into small balls that will fill a muffin pan half full. Place three balls of dough in each greased muffin pan. Let rise until light or double in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 10 to 15 minutes. Yield 3 dozen rolls.

Apple Sauce Cake
 3/4 cup honey
 1/3 cup shortening
 1 egg
 1 cup thick apple sauce (unsweetened)
 2 cups flour
 1/2 teaspoon cloves
 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 cup seeded raisins
 1/2 cup nuts
 1 teaspoon soda

Thoroughly cream honey and shortening, add egg-beat-well, add apple sauce alternately with sifted dry ingredients which have been mixed with raisins and nuts. Bake 1 hour in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.)

There is NO priority on Careful Driving

Last week, honor was paid to 106 Michigan Bell employees in Detroit who have driven telephone company vehicles for 10 or more years without an accident! Combined distances driven by those men equal 574 times around the earth—without a scratch!

Michigan Bell employees are instructed, and cooperate enthusiastically, in safe driving. In the National Emergency, safe driving takes on added significance, for it is an important means of conserving cars, tires and gasoline.

Albert E. Webb and Hazel Pearsall United in Military Wedding

A military wedding of recent interest took place February 21 at 8 p. m. in the chapel of Fort Myer, Va., when Hazel Ellen Pearsall, daughter of Mr and Mrs Charles R. Pearsall, of Fort Byron, Ill., became the bride of Lieut Albert E. Webb, son of Mr and Mrs. Arnold S. Webb of this city.

The ceremony was performed by Chaplain Linsley of Fort Myer and the traditional marches, Liebestraum and Moonlight Sonata, were used. The chapel decorations were of white candles and white gladioli. The bride was given in marriage by Colonel Charles S. Reed, Ordnance Department, U. S. Army.

The bride's gown was of parachute silk with long full bishop sleeves, high neckline with yoke trimmed with loops of satin covered parachute cord, fitted bodice with long torso coming up to a point in front, full skirt and long flowing train. She carried a white prayer book, an heirloom, with a white orchid, and long, white satin streamers adorned with white roses. Her coronet was of loops of pearls, with a full length veil and a fingertip flounce.

The maid of honor, Miss Caroline Webb, sister of the groom, wore a gown of cherry red net over red taffeta, with sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves. Her headpiece was of loops of red covered parachute cord. Miss Dorothy Arnold, bridesmaid, of Virginia, Minn., wore a royal blue gown of net over taffeta and her headpiece was also of loops of parachute cord in blue. Both young ladies carried arm bouquets of red, white and blue carnations.

The groom was attended by Lieut Edwin I. Donley, formerly of Buchanan, Mich., a brother officer, station in the office of the Chief of Ordnance. The ushers were Lieut Lloyd G. Mount and Lieut John P. Strange, who formed the traditional arch of sabres after the ceremony.

The reception was held at the home of Lieut and Mrs Edwin I. Donley, Arlington, Va. A three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with a miniature lieutenant and bride, was cut by the bride and groom with his sabre.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Miss Lillian Hebe of Davenport, Iowa, Lieut Robert Lamb, Fort Byron, Ill., Lieut Horace W. Risteen, Houghton, Mich., Lieut Pakela, Minneapolis, Minn., and Lieut Philip Morell, Virginia, Minn.

Mrs. D. Pangborn Honored on Anniversary of Marriage 62 Years Ago

Mrs. John Nelson and Mrs. Glenn Jesse held a reception for their grandparents, Mr and Mrs D. D. Pangborn, Tuesday, March 10, at the home of Mr and Mrs. John Nelson, 309 West Front street. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Grace Nutt and Mrs. Ethel Krueger, Mr and Mrs. Howard Nutt, Dearborn, Mich. Owing to the storm that swept over the state, other relatives were unable to attend.

The ceremony commemorated the marriage solemnized in 1880 Methodst parsonage on Days av. by Rev. Joshua White in the old enue, now occupied by Cress Watson. Following their marriage they went to housekeeping in the deep woods near Lakeside. After a few months there they went to the old Tomlinson farm in the Miller district north of Buchanan and thence to Newaygo county, where they cleared a farm in the pine woods and lived 11 years. They then returned to Buchanan and again lived on a farm until 1904 when they moved into town. Mr Pangborn started in the grocery business, first down town and later in the location of the present Willsey home grocery on Fourth street. He sold his business in 1930 and has since lived in retirement.
