C. E. Wage Rate Is Stabilized Until May 15

Tales of An Old Town An Attempt to Reproduce a Cross Section of The Ameri- can Scene, As Witnessed Here Through the Past Century

MONEY IS SILVER—APPRECIATION IS GOLDEN

Although teachers like other mortals need money and could doubtless use a little more of it notwithstanding recent wage advances and bonuses, it is not any diminution of their financial deserts, to say that the best reward of the good teacher is the appreciation of the pupil.

Continued Cold Results in Heavy Loss In Apiaries

Effect On Wheat Of Ice Underneath Snow Is Feared

Loss of bees in this section because of prolonged severe cold has been estimated at 35% by L. Sherrburn, state bee inspector and apary owner of the Red Bull Trail.

Chief cause of the loss was the fact that there was no let-up in the continued cold that permitted the bees to make the occasional flights that are necessary to their health and vitality. Either the bees did not attempt flight, and died of lack of air and exercise in the hive, or they ventured to fly when the weather was too cold and were frozen before they got back to the hives. It was reported by one North Buchanan farmer that the highway adjacent to an apary location was black with dead bees after one cold day when sunlight tempted the bees to fly in near-zero cold.

Some entire swarms are reported dead although the hives were well-stocked with honey. This winter the bees have been deprived of their needed airing for two months by the continued cold.

Partial Loss Peaches Reported

The back of the 8-week cold wave appeared definitely broken yesterday, as mercury readings at mid-day yesterday were round 60 above on front street.

Following the more temperate weather of the past few days, extended but spotty damage is showing up in the peach orchards, according to reports from the farms, while it is not possible to state damage, if any, to the winter wheat.

Glenn Kinney, who has a large orchard near the Mt. Taber school hall, reports that he has already taken selection of Hale Haven buds into his home and they are now beginning to bloom with no evidence of damage. Lawrence Sherrburn, who has a peach orchard further north in Otsego township, states that nearly all buds are killed on his trees.

While reports have been persistent that the heavy snow blanket over a great part of the country has been favorable for wheat, the growers here are not so sure. When the snowfall began, there was a sheet of ice over much of the area. If this persisted under the snow, then some smothering may result.

Union, Management Agree On 6 1/2 Hr. Increase And 6 Paid Holi- days Yearly

Production wage rate at the Buchanan and Berrien Springs plants of the Clark Equipment company have been stabilized until May 15, 1948, as the result of mutual agreements concluded between unions and management on Feb. 6.

At that time the union bargaining representatives accepted an offer of 6 1/2 cents per hour increase and six paid holidays per year, starting with Memorial Day, 1948. The arrangement agreed on relative to paid holidays follows in general a similar agreement between management and employees of General Motors. The wage advance was made retroactive to Jan. 5, 1948.

It was agreed that this understanding closed wage discussions until May 15, 1948, with the further understanding that there be no wage increases before July 1, and that 5 cents of the present wage increase be considered a part of any wage increase hereafter agreed on.

An understanding was reached on certain changes in labor classification, effective Feb. 2.

State High Game Canceled Because Of Icy Highways

The Buchanan-State high game of the regular Big Seven series, which was to have been played in the local high school gymnasium Friday, was cancelled by the latter team because of icy conditions which rendered travel dangerous.

Since the local high school had scheduled two games for the present week, the State Interscholastic department refused to grant permission for a third game here on Monday night of this week to play off the contest. The State High team has agreed to make up for the cancellation by playing both games here next year. The state department will decide whether the cancelled contest was merely "no game" or a forfeit on the part of State High.

On Work Of A Farm Wife In 1870's and 1880's

When Frances Norris married George Wyman Batchelor in 1876, she went with him to the old Batchelor homestead a mile north of Buchanan on the east side of the river, where she was to lead in the ensuing years the round of home activities typical of a farmer's wife in those days.

Those were indeed times when, in the last half of the proverb, "women's work is never done." Not only was she a farmer's wife, but for much of the time that she lived there she was a dairyman's wife. For years her husband retained milk in Buchanan during that time he employed four men steadily, sometimes extra help.

The Batchelor household rose at 4 a. m. and the men had stabled and fed the cows and started milking by 4:30. By 6 a. m. the two enclosed horse-drawn milk wagons were delivering in town. First they carried the milk in tin cans, from which it was dipped with long-handled dipper, capacity one pint. Later the milk was carried in a much larger can, packed in ice in warm weather. This large can was fitted with a faucet, which measured out the milk.

In summer, they made two deliveries, since very few had any means of keeping milk cool and sweet in hot weather.

The second milking was begun at 3 p. m. and by 4:30 the wagons were on the delivery route in town. Usually they were back at the farm at 9 p. m., but sometimes it was later. After that they ate a supper. When supper was over and the dishes put away there was nothing to do until 4 a. m.

There were not many breathing spells in Frances Batchelor's life. In addition to the regular round of cooking, she baked ten loaves of bread every other day. Twice a week she would bake eight pies. For years she baked "Johnny cake" three times a week. Johnny cake is a concoction that is favorably remembered by many medium oldsters of the present day—in fact it is likely that many local people with an appreciation of good cooking try it occasionally even yet.

The recipe is as follows: two cups corn meal, one cup white flour, three cups sour cream, one egg, 3/4 cup of brown sugar, salt to suit. Of course brown sugar is not an essential—white may be used. But brown sugar was the prevalent sweetening on the market when Frances was making Johnny cake. If sour cream was not available, "other shortening" such as lard or meat fryings might be used.

Later Johnny cake was superseded in favor at the Batchelor's table by brown bread, made of flour, corn meal, molasses and sour cream or other shortening. The bread was placed in a "steamer" and steamed over boiling water three hours, after which it was placed in the oven and baked a half hour to firm a crust on the outside.

The Batchelors raised, butchered and cured their own meat in late fall. A beef was killed and the meat preserved during cold weather merely by hanging it in an outbuilding. If some remained after warm weather set in, Frances Batchelor would make it into corn beef and can it.

Several hogs were killed during the year. The usual method of preserving the pork in warm weather was to pickle it in brine. The meat would be cut up into slabs and rectangular pieces suitable for packing. The bottom of the barrel into which it was to go was then covered with salt. Then the pieces were rubbed with salt and packed in, the slabs being placed on edge, with the skin or rind side next to the wall of the barrel. Then water was heated, and salt added, until the mixture was heavy enough to float an egg. This was determined by placing an egg in a dipper and lowering it into the brine. If the brine was strong enough to raise the egg off the bottom of the dipper, it was ready. The seam on top was skimmed off and it was poured over the meat.

Sometimes the meat was smoked. In this event the pork was left in the brine two or three weeks. The smoking process was done in a number of ways, some even having a special smoke house. However in the first years

4-Weeks Program To Have Theme "Objectives Of Religious Education"

A new series of Saturday programs on the general theme, "Objectives of Religious Education," will be conducted over Station WHFE, Benton Harbor, at 8:45 a. m. during the next four weeks, under auspices of the Berrien County Council of Churches, according to an announcement by Howard Nagle, council director.

The Rev. F. O. Bradshaw, Stevestonville, secretary emeritus of the Chicago church federation, and a long time director of religious education for the federation, will conduct the series. Besides devoting years to this work, he has a wide experience as one of the founders of the Vacation Church school movement here.

Phases of the general theme, which will be of especial significance to Sunday school teachers, ministers and parents, include the subject, "God, Christ, Bible, Church, Kingdom, Community and World."

Ministers who will have the devotions on the "Today's Inspiration" programs on WHFE at 8:45 a. m. Monday through Friday, during the next few weeks, will be the following: Feb. 16-20, the Rev. Russell Striffer, Cass Street Evangelical United Brethren church, Benton Harbor, Feb. 23-27, Rev. Seth Clay, Community Congregational church, Eau Claire, Mar. 1-5, Rev. Donald Browne, Congregational church, Benton Harbor.

Oil Shortage Moves Farmers to Hunt For Hay-Burning Power

Here's a new angle on the oil shortage. It is reported that some farmers, afraid that the oil scarcity may leave their tractors stranded in the fence-rows in the height of the cropping season, are looking for hay-burning motive power just in case.

Source of this report was a buyer and truck representing the Casopolis Community sales auction, which was canvassing the North Buchanan district last week for horses. However little relief was found. Earl Dunbar, who reported the story to the Record, stated that he knows of only six teams of horses in the entire North Buchanan district.

The club president, Mrs. Walter E. Schirmer, presided and the group voted to contribute $10 to the Girl Scouts. Plans were laid to meet March 1, with Mrs. Sheldon Heim, when Mrs. Max Smith will review a current book.

Bridgman Prowess Poses Query: What Makes 'em That Way

What does it take to win ball games? I wish Bridgman would share their secret. Where earlier in the year they had to go out to beat us by one point, last Tuesday they stomped the Bucks into the floor, taking unmolested shots from all angles, scoring 20 points to our one in the final quarter ending up with a 29 point lead. 60-31. This final quarter is some what explained by the fact that nearly the whole quarter was played by our reserves against their starters, but they're part of the team, too.

Wissler led our scoring with 10 points, Rifenberg following with 8. Ott led their scoring with 15 points, Mead and Smith rebounding and adding the necessary height and 21 points more.

The second team, sans Topash, divided the scoring so equally amongst the rest, that no man scored more than Art Blake's 8 points in a 41-21 victory for our home town juniors. In as much as the State High game was indefinitely postponed last Friday because of the icy roads, the next game is, with Niles over there this Friday.

A Retraction, Plus Correction, Plus Excuse It, Please

This department now deposes that Whereas it did wittingly and without proper information state in a previous issue that the memorial stamp honoring Thomas N. Carver, the Negro scientist, was the first ever issued by the U. S. with the face of a colored man on it, and

Whereas this department since has been informed that a stamp was issued in 1940 honoring the great Negro educator, Booker T. Washington, such information having been furnished by Frank Merson, leading philatelist of these parts.

Therefore, it appears that this department was wrong.

Furthermore, be it acknowledged, that in the issue of Feb. 12 the hysterical department which holds forth in another column stated that the Octagonal building erected by the Buchanan Fair Association in 1869 and known as the "floral hall" was located about where the present Clark Equipment greenhouse house is now located, and

Be it known that the same Frank Merson did stop the writer in front of Matt Kellings and state that said floral hall was actually located on a site approximately between the two trees and the switch track on the present lawn east of the Miscellaneous department building.

Therefore, whereas and as the case may be, we are willing to move the floral hall over to the site designated.

In a vacation special from the land of bogs, frogs and fogs, Florida, Bill Sullivan reports that the fishing take as of Sunday last by him and his buddy, Gamble, dealer of Charlotte, was 12 big-mouth bass averaging 7 1/2 pounds each.

If Bill wasn't Irish we might say something at this point. However we want to emphasize that we are not envious of or jealous of these boys who have been, are, or will be high-tailing it south. On the contrary, we think that it is just awfully nice that those whose blood is thinned by age until they can no longer take a bracing he-man's climate like that of Michigan have a place like Florida to go to.

Hollywood Will Show Crossfire Sun-Mon Feb. 22-23

Great Expectations, Charles Dickens Classic, On Feb. 24-25

THURS., FRI., SAT.—"The Miller's Case" A gripping, unusual mystery tale, set in the colorful Blue Ridge Mountain region of West Virginia, starts with the Crime Doctor planning a hunt and fishing trip. He gets more hunting than he bargained for, but his quarry turns out to be a different kind of game, a half-crazed killer who murders twice and finally even attempts to poison Dr. Ordway.

On the same program is "Under the Tonto Rim" When the depredations of the notorious Tonto bandits extend to a stagecoach holdup and murder, the young owner of the line vows vengeance. Posing as an outlaw, he gains admittance to their secret hideout, but finds himself in desperate peril before a posse comes to his rescue.

SUN, MON.—"Crossfire" The story has a Washington locale and centers around the murder of a Jewish ex-serviceman. Unpremeditated and lacking in motive, the crime presents the police with a tough problem. The stories of the many suspects offer only a dense mass of tangled, contradictory evidence. The case is finally cracked when the murderer, in co-operating with the authorities, overreaches himself and falls into a clever trap.

TUES, WED.—"Great Expectations" The enduring love story of a boy who had great expectations of a fine future and a girl who lived in the shadow of another's unhappy past. Charles Dickens' classic tale of life, love and adventure in London and in a Kentish Village springs vividly to life on the screen.

GIRL SCOUTS

Girl Scouts Troop 3 enjoyed a Valentine party at the home of Mrs. W. Juhl Thursday afternoon, Feb. 12. The decorations were red and white with red tapers, with Lynette Greer, Jeanne Eorland and Patsy Noe on the decoration committee. The refreshment committee, Lenora Dickson, Carolyn Grimes and Norma Jean Dokey, served hot chocolate and homemade cookies and candy, after the Valentine exchange.

Red Cross Has Heavy Case Load In Berrien Co.

Needs Of Servicemen And Families Main Part Of 300 Cases Monthly

One of the most active phases of Red Cross work in Berrien county is the home service department which in spite of the termination of the war is still carrying a case load of 400 each month.

Home service is the case work section of the American Red Cross which takes care of immediate human needs for the benefit of servicemen and their dependents, veterans and their dependents and occasional civilians when no other agency in the community can meet the need.

Just last week two children were abandoned by their father and mother and placed in custody of the Juvenile Court. According to Mrs. Raymond Granzow, home service director, "the only provision that the court could make was placement in the detention home. The Red Cross for help, and after having exhausted every resource, and due to the need for immediate action until a permanent plan can be made through a proper agency, the Red Cross is paying board and room in a private home of a friend for these children."

The most important work of this department, however, is claims service, compensation, outpatient and hospital care which includes prosthesis and hearing aids.

Secondly, the Red Cross assists with monetary benefits, such as assisting in obtaining subsistence in education, training on the job, case-work-for-the-Michigan-Veterans Trust fund or any other phase of the program which is emergency hospitalization and monetary grants.

Explaining the financial program, Mrs. Granzow stated that the Red Cross assists veterans and their dependents during the interim of any benefit. For instance, after a man files a claim for disability compensation he is eligible for assistance until the claim is adjudicated. The financial assistance may be either basic maintenance which includes food, shelter, fuel and clothing, or non-recurring needs such as an occasional, grocery order, fuel or emergency medical care.

In the interim of application by dependents for benefits for deceased veterans, compensation, insurance benefits, gratuities or appears in pay, financial aid may be obtained.

The financial assistance is available to active servicemen-dependents in the interim of the family allowance check.

The home service program is one of the most active phases of work in the county for which $45,840 will be sought during the third campaign to begin on March 8.

Rural Tele-news

NUMBER PLEASE: Two dozen different kinds of Michigan Bell operators provide telephone service in Michigan—local, long distance, information and others. Latest is the mobile service operator who handles calls to and from motor vehicles.

BIGGER SPAN... LOWER-COST: New high-strength steel wire now is being used for many rural lines instead of galvanized iron wire. The new wire, under certain conditions, lets us span out poles up to 350 feet apart. This means fewer poles and less hardware and reduces the cost of rural-line construction.

GOODBYE, OLD CRANK: Last year, some 2,700 Michigan Bell customers said goodbye to familiar crank-type telephones which were replaced with more modern equipment. Still more Michigan Bell customers in rural areas will have their telephones "changed over" this year. It's all a part of our $13,500,000 postwar rural expansion and improvement program.

NO GEARS EVER SHIFT IN DYNAFLOW DRIVE¹

In Buick's new Dynaflo Drive, sliding gear transmissions and complex gear changers are made unnecessary. You simply set a selector lever and step on the gas. The selector lever does the rest, adjusting itself to varying driving conditions—with utter smoothness. You start up—accelerate—climb hills—cruise—stop—start up again—all without touching the selector lever.

Smokers First And Railroads 2nd As Forest Fire Cause

Railroads, handicapped by poor locomotive coal because of troubles in the coal mining industry, ranked second only to smokers in the number of Michigan forest fires started in 1947, according to the conservation department's annual forest fire report.

The unusually large number of railroad-caused fires fortunately burned a relatively small acreage. The major villain in the forest fire picture still, without question, is the careless tobacco smoker.

Smokers are credited with starting 575 fires that burned 15,477 acres, railroads with 439 burning 2,517 acres, camp fires with 53 that burned 284 acres, bush burning with 151 that burned 1,359 acres, lumbering with 27 that burned 478 acres. Lightning caused 58 fires that damaged 304 acres, 41 fires of incendiary origin burned 2,972 acres, the causes of 32 fires burning 600 acres are unknown and 163 fires with miscellaneous causes burned 858 acres.

In spite of exceptionally high hazards in May, August and October, the year's total damage in 1,539 fires on 24,851 acres was held to $158,724. This includes the loss in the critical October period when the Governor by proclamation forbade open fires and smoking in the northern Michigan danger zone, and at Bar Harbor, Maine, the forest fire loss was being counted in the millions.

Michigan's 1947 forest fire damage is listed as follows: to merchantable timber, $73,596, young forest growth, $28,353, game and recreation values, $7,442, nonforest land improvements, $7,250, equipment, $3,646, forest products, $7,657, other damages, $5,930.

The season was notable for the first postwar replacement of equipment, including 40 trucks and a dozen tractors, successful trial of "wet" water, manufacture in department shops of a score of special plows, tanker trailers with high-pressure fog-producing pumps, and new models of the "Michigan linebuilder," a sand throwing machine. The radio system was extended and improved. There were 65 arrests for violation of forest fire laws. Forest fires cost the lives of three fire fighters.

The conservation department's forest fire section, the biggest fire department in the state, in 1947 required part-time services of 130 conservation officers, full-time, in season, of 90 fire officers, 36 equipment operators, and 140 tower lookouts, and in emergencies of 1,000 local volunteers called keymen. It literally provides fire protection for half of Michigan—18,000,000 forested acres and the millions of dollars worth of resort developments and small communities located in them.

Storage Important To Maintain Eating Quality of Potatoes

Whether you potatoes cook up the way you like to have them depends on their variety and also on the way you store them.

If you like nice mealy potatoes you should watch the temperature where they are stored advises May Morr, foods specialist at Michigan State college.

Storing potatoes at a temperature of 50 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit for two weeks before they are cooked will give you high quality potatoes which have been held at a low storage temperature should be brought to a higher holding temperature for a while before they are used. How long they have been stored at low temperatures will decide how long they should be held at higher temperature before cooking.

Storage temperatures, length of storage, and the cooking water all affect the color of cooked potatoes. Potatoes held at a low temperature, about 35 degrees, may become very brown before they are thoroughly cooked when used for fried potatoes.

5 South Berrien Cows Each Exceed Ton Milk In January

Five cows in the South Berrien Dairy Herd Improvement Association produced over a ton of milk each during the month of January, according to George W. Lozmach, tester for the association. High cow for the month was "Princess," a registered Holstein, owned by Charles Heckathorn, with a production of 2,185 pounds of milk and 83 pounds of butterfat. Second place in milk production was "Starlette," also a registered Holstein, owned by Charles Heckathorn of Three Oaks, with 2,173 pounds of milk and 99.9 pounds of butterfat, which was the highest butterfat production in the association for the month of January.

During the month, 26 herds with a total of 370 cows were tested, and had an average production of 744.06 pounds of milk and 31.6 pounds of butterfat for the month. Also during the month, 65 cows were listed as dry and 67 were reported producing over 50 pounds of butterfat for the month.

The three high producing cows in each class were as follows: In the under three year class, "Vichy" a registered Holstein, owned by Doan Straub of Galien produced 1,702 pounds of milk and 78.8 pounds of butterfat, second place went to Russell Pile's "Lilly" a registered Guernsey, with a production of 964 pounds of milk and 68.4 pounds of butterfat, third place went to a grade

Brant Tells About Some Cold Weather As Is Cold Weather

Dear friend Walt,
Well, I see by the Record, where you have had some 10 below zero weather around the Old Home Town.

I am sending you a clipping about the weather in this part of the country. It has been below zero here, since New Years Eve. Sometimes around noon, it gets up to five degrees below for about one hour. Then it starts dropping again to twenty and thirty below every night. We have had thirty-four inches of snow on the level. They still put up ice here. They just got through putting up ice this week, the average thickness of which was thirty-four inches. Of course, they kept the snow plowed off the ice-field. It is out on Rainy Lake, about one-half mile out, in front of my place.

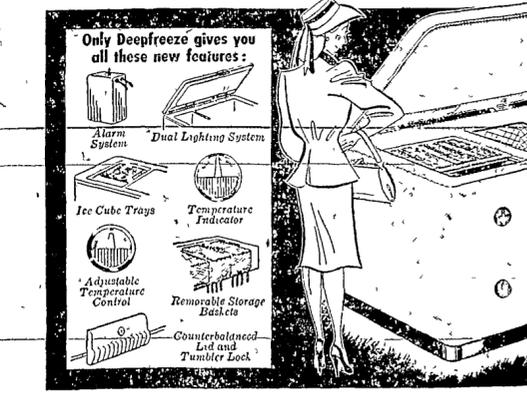

There is not much news around here in the winter, only about the weather.

I will also enclose a clipping from last week's Fort Frances Times. This man, Myers, has his hangar about 500 feet up the lake from me. It is a bush air line, with about ten months a year flying service. He is usually grounded two months during freezing up and spring breakup.
