Now Here's the Proposition

A Prayer for Spring

Lord, we've been waiting while the weeks go by
For a little bit of blue where there used to be a sky—
Spring takes more than a robin or two
Please open up your heaven to a little bit of blue!
Spring takes more than nights that start to taper
Spring takes more than a promise in the paper
Days so dark and gloomy may make us blue and sad—
Open up the heaven just to show you aren't mad!
You don't need to be hasty, just make it sweet and slow,
With a patch of blue above, Lord, a bit of green below,
A reddish in the maple, a bluebird now and then
As a sort of promise there might be spring again!

By Haws

I hid me to a dentist man and paid him all my tin to take my time-worn old ones out and put some new ones in. So, I met him in his office in a moment fraught with fate, in which he blithely yanked them out and hammered in a plate.

Now when a T-bone I would bite my gums with firm insistence all shriek that even turtle soup puts up too much resistance. Yet while it is with medicine and soothing salve I paint that aching inner cavern where my erstwhile molars solemnly thought that soothes these growing gums—I COULD vote against a dentist when the spring election comes!

He Can Say That Again!

BHS Class Wins 1st In Michigan Latin Contest

Takes Trophy In Latin Skit Presentation Over 17 State Schools

The tenth grade Latin class of Buchanan high school, with their sponsor, Mrs. Leah Weaver, went to Lansing last Friday to attend the State Federation of Junior Classical Leagues.

Junior Classical Leagues are sponsored by Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. Buchanan has been a member five years and this was the first time they attended the state convention.

Seventeen schools had been asked to compete in Skits, based on any theme dealing with Latin, Roman or Greek backgrounds.

Buchanan won first place and the trophy, a small statuette of Venus de Milo. The award was made by Dr. James Dunlap, University of Michigan, who based the award on authenticity, finesse of presentation, beauty, originality, style, and accuracy.

32 Local Artists Sing For Dear Old Memorial Field

Begin Nightly At 8 P.M. In High School Auditorium

It's going to be just like it was in the good old days tonight and tomorrow (Thursday and Friday) night, when an aggregation of synthetic Epithetians will stage a minstrel show complete with interlocutor, end men, and everything. The only difference will be that it is to be in the Buchanan high school auditorium instead of at the Rough opera house. And the lights will be electric instead of kerosene, although the jokes may have a kerosene flavor.

After all, it's high time we had another minstrel show in Buchanan—so there's going to be another minstrel show in town. Time March 15 and March 16 (Thursday and Friday of this week), starting each evening at 8 p.m. Place Buchanan high school auditorium. Sponsors: The Buchanan Lions' Club. Beneficiary: Memorial Field fund.

As was stated last week, one of the appealing merits of this fund-raising effort by the Lions' club is that the entire program is locally promoted. Expenses will accordingly be quite small, the net portion to the beneficiary correspondingly large.

The show is being produced and will be directed by Ralph R. Robinson, head of the music department of the Buchanan high school. The burden of the show will be carried by the popular Four Bards' quartet of the Band of the River, assisted by a chorus of 32 local men. The interlocutor will be the agile-tongued Pierre T. Bailey, and the end men will be Bones Converse, Pork Chops Mould, Rastus Kingsbury, Sambo DeWitt, Satchel Borst, and Ham-Fat Borst.

The program will be as follows:
Part I
Opening Chorus by Entire Company.
"Mammy's Lil' Coal-Black Rose" by Bones Converse
Spasms—
"Carry Me Back To Ol' Virginia" by Pork Chops Mould
Spasms—
"Beautiful Garden of Roses" by The Four Bards
Spasms—
"My Gallant Crew" by the Chorus
Spasms—
"Ol' Man River" by Rastus Kingsbury
Spasms—
"Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" by The Four Bards
Spasms—
Close harmony by the Chorus
Spasms—
"Swanee River", Closing Chorus.

The second part will consist of a series of numbers by the Four Bards, interspersed by "spasms", with a finale, "So Long", by the Chorus.
Part I will be presented in a lawn setting in front of an idealization of the Old Kentucky Home, and Part II will be an interior scene in the Old Kentucky Home.
The tickets are selling at 60 cents and may be purchased from any member of the Lions' Club.

Six Local Pastors To Be Speakers For Holy Week Here

The Story of Buchanan

PART III OUR HERITAGE FROM FRANCE AND ENGLAND (2nd Installment)

If we read the story of the four colonial wars and the uneasy peace between each, it is apparent that the fight for democracy is a continuing struggle that began neither in Poland in 1939 nor in Korea in 1950 and that it has endured peril and struggle crucial as those of today.

While the European powers were fighting the second "hundred years war" series, in each of which the battlefields lapped over to the western frontiers of North America, settlement of the issue of democratic institutions was nearly as fundamental then as now.

In the lands that are now the northeastern section of the United States and the southeastern section of Canada, France and England collided in a struggle for colonial mastery of the newly discovered parts of the world.

French colonialism emphasized the supreme militaristic state, permitting little or no local government. It gave a monopoly of opportunity into the hands of the French crown. Neither what we call democracy or free enterprise was possible, except to outlaws in the remote wilderness.

England, in spite of a stiff aristocracy, was the nursery of democratic ideas. Englishmen, in the comparative isolation of their sea-girt island, could afford to permit the development of local self government. Their land was ringed with harbors and the ocean stretched in all directions. Her sons found relief from pressure of population by taking to the seas. So they developed the greatest sea power, as France remained the most powerful land power. England's sea power was supreme after its defeat of the Spanish Armada in the English channel in 1588, placing the nation in a favored position for planting and developing colonies.

When Englishmen went to America they took with them their democratic ideas, and forms of government, which had more liberty for growth because the power of the mother country was tied up in the wars of the continent. Their colonists were mainly the more rugged individuals who wanted more freedom for themselves, if not always for others, and their individualism grew even more rugged in America. England attempted to limit the freedom of enterprise in the colonies for the benefit of home interests, but enforcement was only partial, and the struggle over that issue led to the war of separation.

The important element in English colonialism in America was the individual looking for and what would yield a home and a living. The chief human elements in French colonialization were the scheming traders whose business it was to make immediate profits for the Kings' favorites or the crown itself, the soldiers who guarded the trading centers and outposts, and the restless young sons of the lesser nobles, who meant to work but without the Recollect and Jesuit fathers of the Catholic church, moved by a passion for saving souls. The traders, whose main asset in Indian barter was liquor, soon clashed with the Catholic missionaries, but their interests were the same in keeping the land a wilderness. The quickest profits here in the furs which, in that sub-Arctic climate, were the heaviest and finest that Europe had ever known. Settlement by colonists would break up the habitats of the fur bearers. The Indians, paid in rum and cheap utensils and ornaments, were useful instruments as trappers and transporters of furs to central trading posts. They preferred leaving the land as it was. The Catholic fathers soon saw how the neighborhood of white men corrupted the Indians and saw the only salvation for the red race in completely banning even the traders.

The settlers of the English colonies won on their own, their interest was in gaining a foothold on land from which they were barred in England by the vast estates of the nobility. They had little military protection, so they settled in communities which they organized for their own protection.

The race for continental control by the two countries began almost at the same time. The English planted their first official colony at Jamestown, Va., in 1607, the French made their first permanent settlement authorized by the crown at Quebec in 1608. The policies of the rivals in making land claims were curiously molded to the convenience of each.

The French settlement was in the lower part of the valley of the St. Lawrence river, with tributaries that penetrated to the heart of the continent. The broad, slow waters of the great river, with only one barrier at the falls now called Niagara, afforded

Schirmer Tells Foremen's Club Of Oversea Trip

Visits Western Europe And Northern Coast Of S. America

Walter E. Schirmer, vice-president of the Clark Equipment Company, took the members of the Foremen's Club on a very interesting tour of parts of western Europe and of the northern coast of South America, both visited by him recently.

He made the trip to and from Europe by plane. His plane was scheduled to leave LaGuardia Field, New York City, on the evening of Nov. 25, which was the evening the severe blizzard struck. The plane delayed a day, and took off the following night, via Shannon, Ireland, for Paris.

From Paris he went to Belgium, where he spent several days, and thence to Strasbourg, France, and across into western Germany. In a Belgian city he visited a plant devoted principally to the manufacture of railway cars. He commented on the efficiency of Belgium industry, which often rated with American plants on an efficiency basis, with certain spots of obsolescent equipment.

The Belgium heavy industry production lines were housed in high-ceilinged rooms in which there is apparently much waste of overhead space. The Belgians explained this room height by the fact that they used cranes in handling heavy material. Thus, said Schirmer, appeared to be an opportunity for selling the Clark ever financial barriers were difficult hurdles.

Buchanan Schools To Close Wednesday For Easter Vacation

The public schools of the city of Buchanan will close at the end of the day, Wednesday, March 21, for the Easter recess. Classes will be resumed Tuesday, March 27.

HERE'S A NEAT CARD TRICK

Not so seldom a stranger with a facile tongue will canvass the business section of Buchanan, and, departing, leave behind him sizeable dents in many pocketbooks and a growing wonder on the part of the donors as to just what they didn't get enough. Nearly always they might have saved themselves with a neat card trick.

Here's the trick. The trick really takes two cards, a big one that is yours and a small one that should be his. The big card informs all sollicitors that they must have a card of approval from the Buchanan Business Association. To do business, the visitor must have a matching card which he has already procured, or must go and get one.

Just a little game of matching cards, that's all, but it will stop a lot of rackets. The stranger knows that getting the little card means that his deal will at least be scrutinized. The fact is that he will have to answer a lot of questions on paper and sign his name to the statement. If there is any graft in his racket, he merely leaves.

Not too long ago a stranger with the gift of gab came to town and sold a lot of people membership in a national business organization. His deal was not a graft, but there is considerable doubt that it had a value equivalent to the money paid. In fact, the representative frankly admitted that when he was challenged. He had been smart enough to avoid the B. E. A. official who issued the cards. The merchants had not asked for it. The offer was not crooked, but its value would not have stood up under scrutiny.

This arrangement by the Buchanan Business Association has been in effect for three years, and has been widely advertised in the past but perhaps not repeated often enough. Anyway people seem to forget. The money they have lost by forgetting has totalled far more than the Business Association has ever received in dues in one year, or altogether.

The Navy Mothers are making woolen laprobes for hospital patients and need yarn for the work. If anyone has yarn of any color or length to contribute for this purpose it will be greatly appreciated by the club and doubly appreciated by the service men in hospitals.
The robes are 48 by 60 inches in size, made of squares crocheted and then sewn together. They are cheerful, warm and beautiful. Yarns may be left at the home of Mrs. Fred A. Hall, 107 S. Portage or if you will phone 26, she will pick them up.

Robert Dixon Is Hurt In Crash At Grant St. Viaduct

Robert Dixon, 209 E. Fulton, was on the east side of the Grant street viaduct in Niles early Saturday morning. His car crashed into a sand barrel and a telephone pole and was demolished. Dixon suffered a possible broken right shoulder blade and bruises on his face and body. He was examined at Pawating hospital and released.
He was charged with reckless driving by the Niles police.

Other Candidates Are W. Castle, John Cress, M. Schultz, Goldwyn Smith

The addition of the name of Robert C. Strayer to the list of candidates for the city commission by the filing of his petition late Monday brought the total field to five, one of the best array of choices city electors have been presented for some time.

Terms ending this spring, to be filled at the spring election, April 2, are those of Milford Schultz, Robert Strayer and Goldwyn Smith. All three incumbents, are running again, additional candidates being Wayne Castle and John Cress. The entrance of this array seems to disprove the argument used against the present city government plan that it would tend to reduce interest in participation in city affairs.

Voters may now be assured that, while they may use their judgment in their opinion of the choice, the city will be well represented whoever wins. Winning candidates will assume office on April 9, a week after the election.

Keller, Nelson, Jail Breakers, Caught In Nevada

Arrested On Minor Charges Feb. 18; Forced Door Of Old Jail

Chief Jack Krugh received a wire Sunday morning from the sheriff of Lincoln county, Nevada, that Lawrence Keller and Maurice Nelson had been captured at Pioche, Nev., that morning.
The two young men broke out of the old jail on the morning of Sunday, Feb. 18, by forcing the jail door lock with the metal leg taken from an iron cot. With them was Arthur Morley, who did not leave. The three young men had been arrested at 3:15 a.m. that day when police caught them weaving back and forth across Michigan street, first in forward gear and then in reverse. A number of beer bottles were found in the back of the car. Charges were entered against Morley and Nelson for disorderly conduct and against Keller for reckless driving.
Chief Krugh had listed Pioche, Nev. as a possible destination for the boys, as they had a mutual friend there. Last Sunday morning the Nevada sheriff wired that the two boys had just arrived there and had been placed under arrest.
Chief Krugh and Sheriff Erwin Knuth left this (Thursday) morning for Pioche to return the two young men here. They are reported to have waived extradition.

The Women's Society of Christian Service members of the First Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors and made plans for the annual Lenten sacrificial breakfast, March 22.

The breakfast, a potluck affair, will be served at 9:30 a.m. and Mrs. Ralph Taylor, Niles, will be guest speaker. Members of the W.S.C.S. of the Oronoko Methodist church will be guests. Mrs. Fred Hall was named to head the breakfast committee.

Mrs. Richard White, president, reported that the group had sent three boxes of warm clothing to the needy Navajo Indians in New Mexico, and two boxes to destitute people in Korea.

The next meeting will be held April 4, when Mrs. Olive Kels Colcord, Berrien county can nurse, will speak and show movies.

Advise What To Do In Case Of Air Raid Alarm

Civilian defense officials have asked that the following instructions on "What To Do If There Is An Air Raid Alarm" be printed for the local public.

- 1. Above all, keep calm, avoid panic and confusion, and obey instructions.
2. Don't rush into street to see what is happening.
3. If at home or place of employment, stay there. Take in passersby—they need shelter, too.
4. Stay away from windows. Do not stand in doorways, hallways, etc. Take refuge in basement.
5. Turn gas off at meter because of danger of broken gas lines.
6. Have flashlights handy in case electric lines are damaged.
7. Provide access to attic and roof so fires can be extinguished.
8. If on street, take cover in nearest available good basement or shelter.
9. If in car, park at once, being certain to leave lanes open for police and fire apparatus and ambulances. Turn off ignition and lights, remove keys, but leave doors unlocked. Seek shelter. Avoid parking at street intersections, in front of police and fire stations, hospital entrances or fire hydrants.
10. Buses, street cars, taxicabs, etc. should unload passengers as near as possible to best shelter.
11. During and after signal periods, and for some time following the All Clear, do not use telephone except in extreme emergencies.

Defense Chief Offers Use Film, Pattern Survival

Thomas Mitchell Organizes Ham Radio Operators With 14 Members Now Enrolled

William S. Manspeker, director of Civilian Defense for Buchanan, reported at the regular meeting of the local defense organization that he would have the atomic bomb picture, "Pattern of Survival" at next week and would release it for presentation to any organization wanting it, including churches. The rule will be "first come, first served" on the dates applied for. The powerful picture was shown several weeks ago at the Clark theatre.

Director Manspeker stated that the Michigan division has decided that blackouts will not be necessary. As possible planes carrying bombs would be flying too high. Les Mathie, named as director of public safety, announced the following heads in his department: police, Jack Krugh, fire, Ted Cramer; first aid training, Dr. Aalsworth, transportation, John Nelson.

Thomas Mitchell of Electro-Voice, Inc. resigned as director of industrial defense, stating that he could do more good pushing a local organization of ham radio operators.

5-Year-Old Boy Run Down By Car At Days, Front

Jerry Scroggins Is Slightly Hurt As He Dashes In Front Of Car

Jerry Scroggins, age 5, son of Mr and Mrs Jesse Scroggins, 215 East Dewey, was struck and knocked down at the intersection of Days avenue and Front street about 4:30 p.m. Saturday by a car driven by Henry Brinkley, Jr., 124 1/2 East Front street. Brinkley, driving north on Days avenue, had stopped his car at the Front street intersection. He looked both ways for cars and then started to turn into Front when someone shouted to him that he had struck a child. The Scroggins boy had been standing at the street edge with his mother when he started and dashed ahead of them into the street. The boy's head did not show up above the car front and Brinkley failed to see him. The middle of the front bumper knocked the boy over and he fell, the front wheels passing on each side of him. The car stopped directly over him. A number of men rushed to the scene and lifted the car, so that the boy could be examined carefully. He was taken to the office of Dr. J. C. Elliott, who found that he had only minor hurts, consisting of bruises and abrasions on the left hip, both thighs and the right side of the face.

There are only THREE kinds of insurance!

- The kind that protects you against catastrophes that could cost you almost everything you have
- The kind that will prevent your losing smaller amounts of money—still important but not disastrous
- The kind that it's nice to have so you won't worry about unexpected losses—losses that you won't enjoy but that won't break your heart or your bankroll if you have to pay them yourself

The more than 50 different types of protection we offer can all be accurately divided into these three major kinds of insurance. The classification of a particular type of protection, however, varies with different people and their special situations.

Do you know whether the policies you have are in the first, second or third class? Perhaps you have some in the third class and don't have all of the few in the first class. That's dangerous to your bank account.

We'll be glad to study your policies, without charge or obligation on your part, and classify them according to your individual needs.

Schirmer Tells Foremen's Club Of Overseas Trip

price increase is the 30% import duty charged by the Belgium government, plus the cost of shipping from Battle Creek to the port of embarkation, the ocean freight, the penalty involved in exchange of currencies. Also the shortage of Belgian supply of American dollars, is a barrier.

In entering the plant grounds, said Schirmer, he first looked for the large parking spaces such as are provided for employees cars by American plants. But in the typical case of the car-building plant, where about 2,000 employees worked, there were no paved roofed-over sheds with rows of parking space on each side—but bicycles, not cars.

Hardly more than a half dozen used cars, the remainder used bicycles if anything.

Strassbourg, which is on the French side of the Rhine river, was the first French city he saw that had suffered heavily from bombing and artillery attack during the late world war.

This was because the retreating Germans staged bitter fighting there. The beautiful cathedral there, built in the sixth century A.D., was scarcely marred. Most interesting was an 80-foot clock built in the fifteenth century and consequently about five centuries old.

The clock was a marvel of ingenuity, with a series of faces and table platforms on each side. Just above the base was a glass face behind which the constellations which were in the sky at that particular time of the year rotated as they do in the skies, changing throughout the seasons to follow the changes in the night heavens. Just above this was another glass face behind which the planets rotated.

The higher was a small table on which mechanically-actuated figures of two angels and Death stood. One angel struck the hours and the other held an hour glass. As the quarters were struck figures marched across the platform. At the first quarter a child passed across, at the second a young man, at the third a middle-aged man, and at the fourth an old man. As the last figure passed the hourglass was inverted.

Higher yet was another table at which stood the figure of Christ, before whom passed the Twelve Apostles. As each passed Christ laid a hand on him in the benediction. As he fell a tile, Judas Iscariot passed, he fell to the ground as Christ gave him the kiss. As the bell struck a large rooster at the top of the clock crowed three times, illustrating the saying of Christ that he would not be betrayed until the cock crowed thrice.

The mechanical operation of the rooster crow was explained. His body held a large bellows. When the rooster dropped his wings they expelled the air from the bellows, the air passing through his throat, in which were installed a selection of reeds that produced a very passable crow.

Some of the details were not heard by the writer when the rooster in the clubroom refrigerator out-crowed the one at the speaker's table.

The mechanism which operated the entire clock consisted of a complex assembly of gears, pulleys and a large weight which was regularly hoisted to the top of the tower by hand power.

In Germany Schirmer was impressed by the effectiveness and accuracy with which the Americans bombed the entire cities to a common level, leaving cathedrals in their midst unharmed except by the concussion that shattered the glass windows. The great planets of the Ruhr were so thoroughly bombed that there was not a wall left over a few feet high. He enjoyed an extended visit with Hugo Stunnes, the German industrialist, who lived in a three-room home built for the caretaker in the rear of his 20-room home which had been commandeered as official headquarters for the British staff in charge of their zone.

Stunnes took Schirmer to visit a steel plant at Dortmund which he had operated during the war, producing about 3,000,000 tons of steel annually. Adjacent was a huge bomb shelter in which the plant employees had taken refuge during the allied raids.

them an easy highway westward, comparatively safe from Indian ambush. So the French adopted a policy that when any representative of the king was the first to discover and enter the western territory, he might claim all the lands of the drainage basin for the French crown.

Through their discovery, exploration and settlement on the lower waters of the St. Lawrence and Mississippi rivers they established claims of title to the great drainage basins of both, including the basin of the Ohio river, where they first came into direct conflict with English claims in view of the natural barriers the French covered both basins with a skeleton chain of waterway navigable to the Gulf of Mexico.

As a result, when the deciding struggle for title to the eastern part of the continent began in 1756, there were only 80,000 white colonists in French territory, compared with 1,250,000 in the English seaboard colonies. The English colonial policy proved most soundly based, and victory became only a matter of time.

So was formed gradually the welded strength that was to extend the domination of the English-speaking people to the Pacific.

The regular story of the meeting in the second section of the Record, had been printed before this correction came in.

Individual consultations for those with special problems will be arranged for Tuesday morning at the co-operative extension office, 150 Water street, in Benton Harbor, while the afternoon meeting will be held at 330 W. Main street in Benton Harbor at the Indiana & Michigan Electric company service building meeting room.

Signs of the early arrival of spring are increasing in number as 1951 spray calendars have arrived and are being mailed to 2,500 fruit farmers on our Berrien County Extension mailing list. The dormant spray season will soon be here though Cliff Conrad cautions against using dormant oil sprays on trees suffering from winter injury.

Reports of oats being planted are also very early this year. Alyia Shunkwiler of Hinchman, reports that he and two of his neighbors in the Hinchman area planted oats March 8 on light sand loam soils. This is certainly the earliest that we have ever heard of oats being planted in Berrien county. Heavier soils are, of course, always much later and require more caution to see that they aren't worked when too wet. In 1950 most of our oats were planted in May with some in June and it could happen again.

When Johnny aims his pretend gun and "shoots you dead", he is laying out his violent feelings in play form. Here is how the matter is explained by Dr. Benjamin Spock, child specialist, whose book, "Baby and Child Care", has become something of a Bible for young parents.

Johnny is "having fun with the idea of killing. But he doesn't need to be scolded or 'taught better'." He already knows that it's unthinkable to harm friendly people seriously but all right to kill the acid-loving bacteria associated with cavities, soon will be breaking out "all over." Penicillin has a head start, but other antibiotic drugs such as terramycin and aureomycin may come into the picture.

Deisel locomotives are fast replacing steam power units on American railroads but throughout the rest of the world electric locomotives seem to be preferred.

In the first eight months of 1950 the number of deisel units ordered by domestic railroads totaled 2,433. These are all of the type known as the deisel-electric, the diesels operating the generators which provide driving power. Meanwhile, extensive electrification programs are underway

Will Tell Why He Preferred To Be An American

Members Elect 3 Directors Receive Dividends And Hear Finance Report

The Buchanan Co-ops, Inc., has arranged a very timely variation of the program for the annual meeting, to be held at the Buchanan high school auditorium Wednesday afternoon, March 21, by bringing the Rev. Robert D. Richards, pastor of the New Bethany Methodist church of Detroit.

Rev. Richards was the speaker at the Co-ops annual meeting eight years ago and he made a deep impression on all who heard him. He spoke then and will speak again on the meaning of America for a man who is a citizen by choice rather than by birth. Rev. Richards was born in Wales and grew to manhood there, served in the British army during World War I, and afterwards worked in the coal mines of Wales, employment which, by reputation, is only a shade less rigorous than armed service during war. He then came to America, worked in automobile factories studied at and was graduated from Albion college, and entered the ministry.

He is a deeply sincere speaker who is able to vary the sincerity of his talk with humor. He will tell why he chose to remain in America. The Co-ops management engaged him again in the belief that such a talk would be more fitting for these times than the humorous programs which they have been reporting in recent years. Rev. Richards has a wide reputation for effectiveness as a public speaker and has delivered his message of practical patriotism to hundreds of audiences over the United States. His talk will be given following the business meeting, and probably shortly after 3 p. m. While there will be a considerable gathering of stockholders, it is likely that there will be a number of seats available for others. All who are interested are cordially invited to come and hear this timely message.

The doors of the auditorium will open at 12 noon and registration of the stockholders attending will be taken at the doors. The business meeting will open at 1 p. m. Before its opening the high school band will play from 12:45 to 1 p. m. Directors are to be elected to fill three vacancies, caused by the expirations of the 3-year terms of Albert Houswerth and Glenn Haslett, and also of Robert Camp, who had been appointed to serve out the unexpired term of the late Charles Tichenor. There will also be a program of local talent, including two monologues by Lois Kell.

There are approximately 1,050 stockholders. The sales total for 1950 was $1,444,245.89. Payments will be made at the rate of 4% on all outstanding stock. There will also be a 4% refund on merchandise purchased by eligible producing stockholders, and a 1% patrons' dividend on all grain and other produce marketed through the Co-ops by producing members. The above payments will be made after the reduction of income and other government taxes.

Legislative News Letter

The cigarette tax bill, intended to close loopholes in tax collection, and break up the illicit trade which is costing the State annually somewhere in the neighborhood of 1/2 to 1 1/2 million dollars, was finally passed by the House. Although amended to overcome much of the stiff opposition it encountered since it first was reported to the floor late in January, it was considered by the proponents as a strong bill with teeth, and by the opposition as unpalatable and likened to a "life for a pint law".

As passed, it makes it a felony to bring into the State more than 20 cartons of untaxed cigarettes without a permit. Revenue Department inspectors and police have the right to search and seize without warrant, trucks and cars if they have reason to believe the law is being violated. Bill also provides for confiscation of bootlegging trucks and cars, stiffens the penalties for tax evasion and tightens the collection procedure.

The House passed the bill, already approved by the Senate, authorizing the issuance of not over 65 million dollars of hospital bonds. This is in accordance with the constitutional mandate of the people in last Fall's election. Also passed by the House are bills to require all state employees to swear to uphold the federal and state constitution and laws; permit sales of fair trade merchandise to state and local governments below fair trade price; and permit courts to require that a husband pay maintenance and conserve the real and personal property during the period in which a divorce suit is pending.

A communication from the State Police Commissioner, enclosing a copy of the Fire Marshal's report covering the fire hazard inspection of the State Capitol, was read to the House. Numerous recommendations, some 34 in all, were made. The House promptly and officially requested the Department of Administration Building Division to submit to the House its recommendations for funds necessary to correct the existing fire hazards.

A bill imposing annual license fees of $200 on each coin-operated amusement (pinball) machine, and $100 on each juke machine, was debated rather heatedly on the floor. Despite assurance from the sponsor of the bill that it would not legalize slot machines, many were fearful that it would attempt to send it back to committee for burial were voted down, and it was advanced to third reading. Its fate, however, when it comes up for final passage on the 13th is uncertain.

A joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution providing for a 4-year term for elective state officers was reported to the floor March 7. Committee amendments to limit a governor to two terms, or one full elective term if he has served for two or more years of his predecessor's term, were accepted by the House, and subsequently by the Senate, it will go on the ballot in the November, 1952, election.

Look what the Smart Money's buying

Now that the 1951 offerings of the motorcar industry have had a chance to strut their stuff, we ask you—can there be any doubt which is the really smart buy?

If you want a "new look"—Buick has it. That sturdy push-bar forefront says "1951" to all who see it—and provides unsurpassed front-end protection to boot.

If you want power that you can live with through many moons to come—Buick has that too. Years of expert engineering have made Buick's thrill-packed Fireball engine just about as dependable as a power plant can be.

If you want features that combine present pleasure with long-time durability, consider this: Buick's level-going ride stems from coil springs on all four wheels which are virtually break-proof and never need servicing.

Buick's Dynaflo Drive takes the strain out of every mile of driving—and pays off by eliminating any need for friction clutch repairs and replacements, by reducing engine and transmission upkeep, and lengthening life of tires.

If you want room and comfort and handling that make any trip a breeze—there's no simpler way to find them than to take over a '51 Buick SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER—relax and enjoy yourself.

And if you want all this at a minimum outlay of dollars—one look at Buick prices will settle this point. So the smartest thing you can do is get in touch with your Buick dealer. How about doing that right now?

NO OTHER CAR PROVIDES ALL THIS: DYNAFLOW DRIVE—saves strain on driver and car FIREBALL POWER—high-compression, valve-in-head engine gets more good from every drop of fuel PUSH-BAR FOREFRONT—combines smart style and unsurpassed protection WHITE-GLOW INSTRUMENTS—greater clarity at night TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE—steadies ride, improves driving control 4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING—cushions ride, saves servicing costs DUAL VENTILATION—outside air fed separately to right or left of front compartment SELF-ENERGIZING BRAKES—hydraulic—multiply pedal-pressure five times at brake drum DREAMLINE STYLING—tapered, car-length fenders, gleaming sweepers on most models Plus: Self-locking luggage lid, Step-On parking brake, two-way ignition lock, Safety-Ride rims, Hi-Poised engine mounting, Body by Fisher

Discuss Formation Berrien Co. Swine Breeders' Assoc.

Robert Norris and Maurice Shembarger of Berrien Center, and Louis Hennessey of Water-vliet, met recently at the Norris home to discuss arrangements for a meeting of Berrien County Swine Breeders to discuss the possibility of a Berrien County Swine

Breeders Association. Interest in this type of organization is increasing in Berrien county as farm operators in this rapidly growing farm enterprise desire a sound footing on which to build their business. An organization meeting is being planned for late this month or early April.

In commenting on this success with this year's spring pig litters which are already arriving, Bob says that the best way to warm up a baby pig that has been seriously chilled is to dip them up to the head in a pail of warm water which is about as hot as your hand will stand, dry them and wrap them until thoroughly warm before returning to the litter. Bob reports that he has been doing this for two years with good success.

Most Berrien county hog raisers are using heat lamps as a brooder for baby pigs, though Harry Nye of route 1, St. Joseph, uses a farrowing crate with good success. Harry uses heat lamps, however, after the sow and pigs are removed from the crate when the first few critical days are past.

Notes From Service Men

Richard Politt Learns The Army Lingo The Hard Way. Richard L. Politt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Politt, is another one of the lads called by Uncle Sam on Feb. 12. After 10 days at Fort Sheridan, he was transferred to Camp Rucker, Ala. Dick makes no complaint, event accepts KP duty with good nature, because of the extra food available. He attends a GI party every Friday night. It turns out to be washing the windows, walls and floors of the barracks. Dick has learned that you must say "hiffe" and not "gitt" in the infantry. The penalty is that you sleep with the rifle for a week. In a recent class in their basic training a movie on "First Aid" was shown with close-ups of all types of wounds. The importance of it was stressed and figures shown to prove that 95% of our boys who are wounded live because of the first aid given them by their buddies. Dick writes home "keep the mail coming". He wants to hear from friends, who may write him: Pvt. Richard L. Politt, US 55-088-383, Co. E, 130 Infantry Reg., 47th Div., Camp Rucker, Ala.

The 1951 pig crop is expected to be larger. Road hogs will probably be as numerous as usual.

THE CENTRAL IDEA Things you'd like to know about your Railroad A lift with your School Taxes. A LOCOMOTIVE BELL sounds a lot like a school bell. And that's as it should be. Because your railroads are steady supporters of your school system. For instance, in Michigan last year, New York Central paid taxes totaling almost $2,000,000, the major portion going to schools! RAILROAD DOLLARS helped build and keep up many a fine district school. Helped pay many a teacher's salary. Helped to buy laboratory supplies or playground equipment. Helped many a youngster finish his training at state university or agricultural college. ONLY RAILROADS in the transportation field give you this kind of a lift with school taxes, because only railroads are self-supporting. They build their own right-of-way... their own stations... yards. And remember school taxes are only part of the tax they pay on their property. SO NEXT TIME you watch all the school youngsters and their proud parents sit cross-legged... or the soft line Tax Day rolls around... remember your Railroad! Paying taxes is one more way New York Central is a living part of your community. And that's the CENTRAL IDEA!
