To be used for bridges, housing repair

City gets $200,000 grant

The City of Buchanan was notified last week that it has been awarded a $200,000 Community Development Grant from the U S Department of Housing and Urban Development. The money is to be equally divided between capital improvements and housing rehabilitation, according to City Manager Robert Faulhaber

The portion of the grant allocated to capital improvements will be used to replace three bridges in the southern part of the city. Two of the bridges, one crossing the mill race and the other over McCoy's Creek, are on Oak Street. The third bridge to be replaced is the Alexander Street bridge over McCoy's Creek

The other half of the grant will be used to rehabilitate homes in an area bounded by Phelps Street on the west, the city limits on the south, Berrien Street on the east and Roe Street on the north Lots on the east side of Berrien Street and the north side of Roe Street are included

The purpose of housing rehabilitation is to bring repairable homes up to the level of the city's building code, Faulhaber said There are three requirements for eligibility for rehabilitation funds (1) the home must be in the section of the city described by the grant, (2) the home must be under building code standards, but repairable to meet those standards, and (3) the homeowner cannot be able to afford the needed repairs

Faulhaber said homeowners who meet the requirements should inquire at City Hall Houses will be evaluated and bids for repair work will be advertised on an individual basis for each house by Cripps and Associates, housing rehabilitation specialists

Faulhaber said the city will advertise immediately for bids on the bridge replacement work. Contracts will be let in three weeks to a month However, with winter only a few months away, it may be advisable to wait until spring to begin work on some of the bridges, he said

The latest HUD grand is similar to a $119,000 grant received by the city in 1975 The 1975 grant was used totally for housing rehabilitation, but was not restricted to any section of the city as the new grant is

The Sightmobile, manned by members of the Buchanan Lions Club, will be at the corner of Front and Main Streets from 4 p m. to 8 p m Friday and 10 a m to 6 p m Saturday.

VerHage pointed out that good vision is essential to school children, and urged children and parents to take advantage of the free screenings

The Sightmobile is owned by the Lions Clubs of district 11-B-2 and has been used for over 40,000 eye screenings since the program began in 1969

London bus purchase unlikely

The difficulty of obtaining liability insurance and a lack of public support have made the purchase of a double-decker London bus for transportation in downtown Buchanan unlikely, according to Joseph Garbert II of Sexton's Furniture Store But the idea hasn't been scuttled completely

Garbert, who with Vince Otteson of Roti-Roti Footwear presented the idea to the city commission three weeks ago, said Tuesday he would still like to see some form of public transportation for Buchanan

"The bus would have been unique, and it would have attracted a lot of attention to Buchanan," he said, "but I think something like a used school bus might be better received"

Garbert said the formation of a non-profit corporation might be one way to obtain liability insurance for a public transportation vehicle He also said it might be necessary to charge a small fare, "15 or 20 cents", to help defray the operating costs of the vehicle

Garbert said the idea may be presented to the retail division of the chamber of commerce in the future

Mrs Miller said, "With millions of children suffering from cystic fibrosis, asthma, bronchitis, bronchiectosis, and related lung and gastro-intestinal diseases, many are dependent upon your help for life itself.

Postal Service at crossroads

The sorry saga of the "corporate" Postal Service is about to reach a crossroads

Since the Postal Reorganization Act of 1971 changed the Postal Service from an organization run by the political patronage system to a supposedly self supporting "business", rates for all classes of mail have skyrocketed, yet deficits now run into the billions of dollars.

The Postal Service is now seeking to abolish the traditional uniform rates for editorial matter and impose a 2 cents per copy surcharge for all publications receiving "newspaper treatment" or "red-tag" delivery. This is definitely gloomy news for newspaper and magazine publishers and subscribers, who rely heavily on the mails for delivery of their publications

In addition to its plan to eliminate Saturday deliveries, the Postal Service has made a new rate filing in which it advocates reducing deliveries to three days a week

The U S Court of Appeals in Washington last December issued a ruling in which it endorsed the Postal Service's "business" posture and ordered the service to implement a rate system that is totally cost-based, with no consideration of public policy Two U S Congressmen, James Hanley (D-NY) and Charles Wilson (D-Calif) have introduced a bill which would overturn the court's decision and maintain basic services by increasing public service appropriations from the U S Treasury

Budget Director Bert Lance is scheduled to testify on the bill on September 8, and indications are that the Carter Administration will oppose the bill The National Newspaper Association, faced with the specter of astronomical shipping costs for editorial matter, is strenuously supporting the bill and seeking recognition of the Postal Service as a public service, rather than a self supporting business

Whatever the result of this latest episode in the six-year life of the corporate Postal Service, it is clear that the ultimate payee will again be the taxpayer, whether he's stuck with paying for increased Federal subsidies or forced to pay higher rates for curtailed services

Youth Fair impresses

Though it ended a week and a half ago, the Youth Fair is still on our minds We emerged from our four afternoons at the fair foot-weary, but impressed

Impressed with the youth who spend all year in preparation for this one summer week in the spotlight As one mother of a grand champion horseman said, "The kids work all year for this week, and if they don't it shows up here "

Impressed, also, with the efficiency and helpfulness of the Youth Fair personnel, from office clerks to judges and supervisors.

We have only one minor complaint the food. After four days of fair lunches, we were ready for the stomach pump Maybe next year some enterprising group will open a booth selling indigestion remedies

Ag in Action

Uproar over chemicals

The FDA is on the march to ban low-level use of penicillin and several other important drugs in animal feeds -- drugs used to keep animals healthy Some consumer groups are cheering but farmers and ranchers -- the nation's food producers -- are sure it would be an expensive mistake

The food producers are right Scientists have assembled a kind of economic impact statement, the economics of banning the use of all farm chemicals the banning of fertilizers pesticides, drugs -- the works Then conclusion was that crop and livestock production would drop by as much as one-third in two to three years

Not only would we have one-third less food to start with, if we also banned pesticides and fumigants used to keep the bugs and mice out of food transporting trucks rail cars, and airplanes, and out of food processing factories warehouses and stores -- and if we banned the use of chemical food preservatives even less food would make it to the consumer

Food prices would go up as consumers bid to get their fair share of that much smaller food supply

Ellen Zawell a prominent spokesman for the consumer movement noted that when a group she chaired -- a group investigating the feasibility of banning nitrates (nitrates are used in bacon hams and other cured meat products to kill botulism and bacteria) that such a ban would have a 10 to 15 per cent inflationary impact on the total market basket

Said Ms. Zawell "It becomes increasingly evident that deciding issues of public health and safety are more complex than one can imagine "

To help yourself drive through snow, place extra weight in the back, over—or slightly behind—the rear wheels

You have more power over your electric bill than you think.

No matter what we do to help keep your electric bill in line, there's one thing we have no power over.

The amount of power you use.

So we'd like to point out the most significant places where only you have the biggest opportunities to save

Insulation

6 to 12 inches of insulation in your attic could save you real money each year

You'll save even more if you insulate your walls, heating ducts and hot water pipes.

Caulking, weatherstripping, storm windows, shades and drapes also help keep heat inside in winter, and outside in summer.

Thermostat Control

Lower your thermostat in winter. Each degree below 68°F can save three percent of the energy needed for heating. If you have air conditioning, a higher thermostat setting will also save energy in summer

Hot Water Use

You can save up to 5% a year of the energy needed to heat water if you turn your water heater thermostat down to 120 degrees and take quick showers instead of baths.

Fix leaky hot water faucets promptly And wash clothes in cold water, if you can

Washing and drying only full loads of clothes and dishes is more economical, too.

Appliance Efficiency

If you're in the market for appliances and equipment, look for the new energy saving features on refrigerators, freezers, and dishwashers. Choose an Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER) of 8 or higher on room air conditioners

While there are a lot more ways to save electricity, these are the ones that will make the biggest impression on your bill.

Open house at solar heated home

Everyone in Southwest Michigan will have the opportunity to view a dramatic energy-saving solar heating system at an open house, Sunday, September 4, 1977, 1 p m. to 5 p.m , at a site in Bainbridge Township

This solar heating unit, according to Sanford Peck of Sanford & Son Building, will furnish 50 per cent of the heating load, including heating the domestic hot water With its air-collectors, this system is especially designed for the Northern climate of Michigan "Priced at approximately $6,000," Peck said, "this system will pay for itself within seven years, by current estimates of projected heating costs "

This system is installed in a house, just completed, located on Yund Road, which can be reached by exiting from I-94 on Napier Avenue (Exit 30) in Benton Harbor and continuing East approximately ten miles to Nichols Road Turn left and follow the signs to the site Refreshments will be served

Peck stated further, that they have just started construction on another solar-heated house, and have plans for more in the future. He and his associates will be pleased to consult with builders and home owners on the possibilities and capabilities of solar heat

Hesston Steam Show Labor Day Weekend

When you are in the vicinity of the tiny hamlet of Hesston, Indiana on Labor Day Weekend, don't be too surprised when you find yourself stepping back into a page of American History. Another era will unfold during the days of September 2, 3, 4 and 5, when the LaPorte County Historical Steam Society stages its 21st Annual Steam Show demonstrating the bygone uses of steam power which were so common in this country decades ago

Exhibitions include operating steam traction engines, steam electric light plant, sawmill, steam-powered veneer mill, pumpworks, 92-ton steam crane, and much more The Society's 2½-mile Flying Dutchman Scenic Railroad will be offering rides behind genuine coal-fired steam locomotives all day while numerous displays of antique cars, tractors, gas engines, and farm machinery (all in operating condition) grace the showgrounds. New this year is the recently completed full ¾ mile 1½" scale railroad with operating live steam scale models dutifully reproduced in miniature from the full size originals

The steam engine was primarily developed over a period of 125 years by inventors in both America and Great Britain. Historians have credited it as being the accelerating force behind the industrial revolution which wrought perhaps the most major sociological and economic changes to occur in the history of civilization Yet less than a scant 200 years after the era of the steam engine was spawned, it abruptly ended Dismayed by the number of historically valuable engines being discarded and destroyed, a number of private preservation societies were founded

The LaPorte County Historical Steam Society was founded in 1957 by a modest land purchase in northern Indiana near Hesston During that year, a small steam show was staged by a few men who owned steam equipment of one type or another and who thought the heritage of steam important Today, the not-for-profit society has grown to consist of a large collection of permanent displays on 155 acres of beautiful meadowed and forested Indiana countryside

The first wheels turn about 10 00 a m each day and continue throughout the afternoons Admission is $2 00 for adults and all children under 12 are free Parking is also free Full size country dinners will be available, served by a local church group

To get there Take Interstate 94 to the LaPorte-New Buffalo exit Go south on Michigan 239-Indiana 39 for 1½ miles, turn east on County Road 1000-North 2½ miles to the grounds Or take the Indiana Toll Road to Exit 7 (LaPorte) and go north on Indiana 39 for 5½ miles to County Road 1000-North.

Bucks depend on speed

Speed, versatility and enthusiasm will be the trademarks of the 1977 Buchanan football team, according to head coach Mike Young

Young hopes these three attributes will improve a defense that last year gave up 223 points in nine games as the Bucks finished at 3-6 overall and 2-5 in the Blossomland conference, good for sixth place Only three times did the Bucks manage to hold their opponents to less than three touchdowns Significantly, those were the three games Buchanan won

Young points to superior line speed and renewed enthusiasm for football at Buchanan as reasons for optimism this year "Nineteen of our 27 players are juniors, and they all want to play," he says "Some have returned to football after skipping last year"

The Bucks' linemen boast an excellent average of 5 1 seconds for the 40 yard dash Most of the backs are under 5 0

Young expects almost all of his 27 players to see a lot of action "We plan to use a lot of players to keep them fresh In addition, many of them can play more than one position," he said

The coach said six linemen, Ross Moore, Aaron Samson, Steve Moore, Craig Vergon, John Speckine and Eric Smith, can all play any of the five positions on the offensive interior line.

Though the coaches (Young is assisted by Bob Foster, line coach, and Dave Wishart, who coaches receivers and linebackers) say it's too early to say who will start, the Bucks do return eight lettermen and seven starters on both offense and defense

Defensively, down linemen Samson and Don Bumstead return, along with linebackers Tim McNeil and Scott Smith, who is being moved from a line position

In the secondary, Ricky Davis, Dan Pinkerton and Jim Longcrier return All seven are seniors The eighth returning letterman, junior Jeff Butler, started at quarterback last season

The Bucks will present an even front on defense most of the time this year, using either a four or six man line The front or "down" four will come from a group comprised of Bumstead (5-11, 190 lbs), Samson, Ross and Steve Moore, Jack Ross (5-11, 210 lbs), Scott Vergon and Terry Baich

McNeil, Smith, Speckine, Lewis and Craig Vergon are listed as linebackers, along with Bob Miller, Chuck Bissell and Dennis Bellaire

In addition to Longcrier, Davis and Pinkerton, Butler, Chris Hemminger, Don McClellan, Jim Stoner, Jim Topash and Jim Anderson will see action in the defensive secondary

Offensively, Young sees a running game that is already strong and hopes for improvement in a passing game that was one of Buchanan's weak spots last year

"You win football games on the ground," Young says "We hope we can pass more, but we won't have any aerial circus"

Butler, Davis and Longcrier all started in last year's backfield, but Davis is being pressed hard at fullback this year by junior Rydell Tutson

On the offensive line, McNeil, Samson, Bumstead and Pinkerton all return Pinkerton will move from center to end

With the exception of Ross and Bumstead, the Bucks aren't an especially large team Most of the linemen and backs weigh between 150 and 175 lbs Young hopes speed and aggressiveness will prove more important than size He expects Coloma and Dowagiac to be the favorites for the Blossomland crown this year

Bucks - Niles game depends on millage vote

The Buchanan Bucks will be ready to play Niles on September 9, but the Vikings may not be there

Niles' entire sports program is presently in limbo, awaiting a millage vote scheduled for next Tuesday, September 6 If the millage passes, the Bucks and the Vikes will meet in Buchanan on September 9. If it doesn't, they won't Meanwhile, both teams are practicing in the hope that the annual rivalry can be continued this year

Buchanan Athletic Director Ray Berry said, "Right now, our plans are to play Niles in the first game We're going to wait until Tuesday night and see if the millage passes"

If the millage fails, Berry said he'll try to contact another school Tuesday night in hopes of arranging a game for Friday If no other game can be scheduled, there is a possibility that the Buchanan team will hold a full-scale scrimmage, he said

McCollough bill would aid domestic crime victims

State Senator Patrick McCollough, D-Western Wayne County, has introduced legislation that will expand the ability of the Crime Victims Compensation Fund to provide compensation for persons injured in actions of domestic violence.

The Crime Victims Compensation Fund was established last year under legislation introduced by Senator McCollough and will provide financial compensation to innocent victims of crime in Michigan when it takes effect this year

"Beginning this October we will be able to help those persons who have been victimized by violent crimes in Michigan through the Crime Victims Compensation Fund," McCollough said "But, under the law approved by the Legislature last year those persons injured in domestic violence do not qualify to apply for reimbursement from the fund"

"However, after studying the statute it is clear that our original fears of fraudulent claims being filed by related persons are unjustified," McCollough explained

The Crime Victims Fund has a review board with authority to award up to $15,000 00 to a person who suffers a physical injury as a direct result of a crime.

"An award cannot be made on a claim unless the claimant has incurred out of pocket loss or two week's earnings or support," said McCollough

"Not only will this amendment expand the number of victims the compensation fund may assist, but it will give more discretionary power to the board in determining who will be compensated," the Wayne County Democrat added.

I & M gets PSC approval for energy storage system

Indiana & Michigan Electric Company last week received approval from the Michigan Public Service Commission to begin a study of electric energy storage systems and to make lower rates available to customers involved in the program

The utility will test off-peak electric storage systems in 50 residential customers' homes

Customers volunteering to take part in the study must purchase and install their own storage devices, although the utility will provide free technical assistance, the order stated.

The research will include studies of ceramic bricks for storage heating, storage water heating, and vehicle battery charging devices.

Electric storage systems are devices in which heat is retained for periods of time, then released slowly throughout the day The advantage to customers using these systems is that the electricity fed into the system will be supplied during the night at lower off-peak rates, and the stored heat will keep their homes

Under the plan, customers will be offered electricity at a special Residential Storage rate of 1 4 cents per kilowatt hour compared to the on-peak or day rate of 6 4 cents per kilowatt hour. Off-peak hours are from 11 p m to 7 a m On-peak hours are all other hours If the equipment is operated during on-peak periods, the customer will pay a higher flat rate penalty

I & M, which has already received Indiana's approval for the study and a similar rate program, hopes to place 15 energy storage devices for space heating and water heating in new homes throughout its two-state service area I & M says it will not file for a permanent special rate structure in either state unless result of load research and equipment performance tests are favorable and field test customers are satisfied with paying a higher initial cost for devices which enable them to earn lower operating costs

Quincy Turner, 12, son of Mr and Mrs Ernest Turner, 184 Hampton Road, Benton Harbor, and Margaret Valantiejus, 10, daughter of Dr and Mrs. John Valantiejus, New Buffalo, sampled some of the apples from one of the trees whose crop was donated to the CANAMER Games, by Herb Teichman, owner of the Tree-Mendous Fruit Farm, near Eau Claire. Quincy was among CANAMER game participants that went to Canada the weekend of August 12-14, as a member of the basketball team. Margaret was known as the "blonde bomb shell" on the girls Olympian games softball team

Approximately 10 bushels of the apple crop were aboard the buses which left Benton Harbor High School at 6:00 a.m. Friday, August 12, bound for Brantford, Ontario, Canada for the annual CANAMER games The fruit supplemented the lunches the CANAMER kids ate enroute to Canada

LMC awarded $31,800 Law Enforcement Program grant

Lake Michigan College has been awarded a $31,800 Law Enforcement Education Program (LEEP) grant for the 1977-1978 school year, the largest LEEP grant ever received by the college, it was announced last week by U S Rep David Stockman (R , 4th District).

Representative Stockman presented the award to Dr James L Lehman, LMC president, in a ceremony in the Board of Trustees Room on the college's Napier Avenue campus during a visit to the school by the congressman August 22.

Representative Stockman indicated that the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, created by Congress in June, 1968, to administer the nation's first coordinated program against crime, has been a major factor in criminal justice education programs for persons in the law enforcement, courts, and corrections field through the Law Enforcement Education Program which provides financial aid for college studies, according to Lt Michael Devine, LMC Criminal Justice and Public Safety Programs coordinator

The program is designed to help meet the criminal justice system's critical need for well-educated professionals to fill a variety of important positions, Lt Devine said

According to Dr Lehman, the first LEEP award to LMC occurred during the fiscal year 1969-1970 During that year, the college received 10 grants totalling $1,356 Since its inception in the fall of 1969, LMC has awarded a total of 803 LEEP grants to criminal justice personnel for tuition and fees at Lake Michigan College The 803 individual grants amount to $83,818 worth of financial assistance to personnel in law enforcement, courts, and corrections programs at the college.

The 1977-1978 grant of $31,800 will be administered by the LMC Financial Aids office. All law enforcement, courts and corrections officers in Berrien, Cass, Van Buren, and Allegan counties who are eligible for LEEP funding should contact the LMC Financial Aids office and request LEEP application forms, according to Lt. Devine

LMC has been authorized funding for off-campus training sites at Allegan, Cassopolis, Niles, Three Oaks, and South Haven in addition to the main campus on Napier Avenue east of Benton Harbor, Devine indicated

The $31,800 award will provide tuition and fee funding for approximately 300 criminal justice students at LMC during the fall, spring, and summer sessions of the 1977-1978 school year Deadline for filing individual applications at LMC for fall semester funding has been set at September 30, according to Lt Devine

Colorfastness Tests

By Mary Search

Fall means new colors and fabrics on the market. If you are not sure about whether a fabric color will fade, or discolor other clothes in the wash, or if the fabric can be bleached, tests can be done in the home

Bernetta Kahabka, Michigan State University human environment and design Extension specialist, talks about these tests According to her, these tests may be tedious and time consuming, but it's the only way to find out; and in the end can save you the money loss and disappointment of a ruined garment

Clip a small sample of fabric from a seam allowance, hem, or facing Use a pint jar and add one cup of water at the temperature recommended for the fiber content Add a teaspoon of detergent or soap, place the fabric into the jar Shake it frequently to simulate washing action and let it remain in the solution 8 to 10 minutes Observe the color of the water Rinse the sample twice in warm water, check any loss of color in the rinse water Compare the swatch with the original fabric to check for color loss

Another test to determine if the fabric will discolor others laundered at the same time, would be to follow the same test as mentioned Add to the jar samples of white fabrics in cotton, nylon, polyester, or others that would be typical of those laundered with the sample After the test inspect the samples, if there is any pickup of color, launder the colored fabric separately.

The use of bleach for colored fabrics can also be checked with a simple home test Nonchlorine bleaches can be safely used on virtually all washable, colored fabrics About 75 per cent of all colored, washable merchandise can be safely chlorine bleached without any adverse effect on colors

If in doubt mix one tablespoon liquid chlorine bleach with ¼ cup water and apply one drop of the solution to an inconspicuous part of the fabric

Be sure the solution penetrates the fabric, let it stand for one minute Blot dry with paper towels. If there is no color change, the item can be safely bleached.

Selection of wash temperatures will depend on the degree of soil, time cycle setting, and the type of fabric Clothes should also be separated according to similar weight, fabric content, and degree of soil. The best cleaning results will be obtained when dark colors are separated from lights and pastels.

In the interest of conserving energy, wait until a number of articles have accumulated to make up an adequate washload. Or, set the water level control on the washer according to the size of the load Using cold water for rinsing also saves energy

Grape harvest is top tourist attraction

The annual grape harvest in Michigan's winemaking country in Van Buren and Berrien counties is highlighted as a top Michigan tourism attraction in the September Motor News magazine, reports Automobile Club of Michigan Kalamazoo Manager Jack Van Overloop

"Each September, the residents of Paw Paw get together for a gigantic party to celebrate the annual grape harvest," Auto Club's 1 2 million reader-members are told in an article entitled, "Paw Paw's Grape Stomping Getaway."

They are joined by thousands of fun seekers who come to the wine capital of the Midwest to sip wine, stomp grapes and enjoy one of Michigan's most delightful yearly events, Motor News reports.

This year's 10th annual Grape and Wine Festival is set for September 16-18. Wine tasting has become an integral part of the festival, with area wineries providing samples of 100 of their finest varieties. Winery tours are available at seven area vintners the St. Julian Wine Co , Frontenac Vineyards, Warner Vineyards and Vendramino Vineyards, all in Paw Paw; Tabor Hill Vineyards and Wine Cellar, Buchanan, Lakeside Vineyard, Harbert, and the Bronte Wine Co , Keeler.

Motor News notes that although the wineries are open year-around for tours, the best time to visit is in September and October, when the harvest and crushing of the grapes is in full swing

Applications are available through either your local aging service office, the local department of social services, or the vocational rehabilitation office.

The program authorizes a one time payment of up to $250.00 to cover unpaid energy-fuel bills Payment will be made directly to the fuel supplier. Marketing With Mary Ann

Prices should level off

By Maryann Beckman

September means the end of summer and the start of the fall harvest, which promises to be a good one, says Maryann Beckman, Consumer Marketing Agent Farmers are expected to harvest near-record corn and wheat crops which should hold this year's food price increases to six per cent and possibly less next year.

Food prices should level off and then remain stable through mid-1978, which is welcome news to all consumers who've been hit by higher energy, transportation, housing and medical costs Lower food prices overall will mean less strain on back to-school clothes and supplies budgets too.

Beef prices are likely to go up slightly this fall due to some decline in numbers of animals available for market. How much they go up will depend on how much you buy If consumer demand does not hold up, neither will prices Retail prices for pork may hold at current levels into the fall Because of high losses from weather and disease in early 1977, the fall pig crop may be smaller than usual Normally, pork prices drop in the fall

The summer heat wave caused heavy death losses to chickens but supplies are still record large so prices will remain about as they have been Though you won't see many special features advertised, turkeys are another reasonably priced meat choice for fall menus

It looks like fish may be back in the bargain priced range soon for the fish catch for U S boats off New England shores had increased by 28 per cent since March 30, when the new 200 mile limit went into effect

Pink salmon and shrimp will be more reasonable too, for the pink salmon catch so far is up 58 per cent in Southeast Alaska than a year ago Red salmon runs are poor, however The canned shrimp pack is up 10 per cent but the small sizes are in smaller supply Tuna prices will probably increase because albacore deliveries to canners are 30 per cent under a year ago

Peaches, pears, plums, grapes and apples are the star fruit attractions right now. Red skin peaches, the last big volume variety, will be here this week (rather than after Labor Day in normal years) This popular variety, similar to the popular Red Haven, will be around for about three weeks only, so if you haven't gotten your fill of peaches, do it soon

Michigan's Bartlett pear crop will soon be gone too, for the crop was much smaller than a year ago Outside skins are showing many blemishes and russeting this year, but interior quality (which is the most important) is good The Western pear crop is good however. Michigan's purple plum crop, though smaller in size than normal, is here in peak volume now

Concord, Niagara, Delaware and several other grape varieties will be on markets in good supply by this week and until mid-September Like all local crops this year, the season is two to three weeks early, so don't miss out McIntosh apples will also start in next week Most of those that have already been in markets are starchy and immature Look for Jonathans and Delicious to start by mid-September

September is still peak time for fresh vegetables and supplies are larger than a year ago for cabbage, carrots, corn, onions, potatoes and peppers Though there are fewer tomatoes than a year ago, this week and all of September will be peak volume time Michigan is at it's peak in celery production with sizes running larger than usual. Prices are lower too, so there is good demand for quality

MSU information may help farmers

Two Michigan State University researchers have uncovered new information that could help farmers control a plant disease that attacks peach and cherry trees

D A. Rosenberger, a graduate student, told scientists attending the annual meeting of the American Phytopathological Society held August 14-19 at MSU that he and Prof A L Jones, plant pathologist, have discovered that X-disease is carried by six species of leafhoppers rather than four as previously believed Two of the leafhoppers were found in high numbers and were efficient in transmitting the disease

The scientists also found that transmission occurs throughout the growing season rather than just in the spring as scientists once thought Dr Jones said the new information could help farmers do a better job of controlling the disease-carrying insects.

X-disease causes plants to lose their leaves, and eventually leads to the death of the plant It attacks stone fruit trees in general (those producing fruit with pits), and is especially hard on peach trees The leafhoppers carry it from weeds called wild chokecherries

"It's one of the biggest diseases uncovered," said Jones "You have some fruit growers who are no longer raising peaches because of this disease And now it's moving into the tart cherry industry too"

Jones said in the last year it has increased in incidence in the state's peach industry by 16 per cent, and is not a severe problem in southwest Michigan

Computer language classes at SMC

A four-credit evening course in COBOL (Common Business Oriented Language), the most commonly used computer language in business and industry, has been added to the Southwestern Michigan College schedule of 1977 Fall Semester courses

The COBOL course will meet each Tuesday and Thursday from 7 p m until 10 p m beginning September 8 Students may enroll in the course during the pre-registration period which continues through September 2, or during the regular registration period on September 6 and 7

The introductory COBOL course, a data processing offering, is a required course for SMC students majoring in electronic data processing Students who successfully complete the two-year data processing curriculum are awarded Associate in Applied Science degrees, and are qualified to work as junior computer programmers

COBOL is used more than other computer language because the programs are written in sentences, rather than in mathematical symbols, as in other computer languages The COBOL system was originated by the U S. Navy, and is known for its adaptability to any computer system

Students in the course will write and test basic programs using the language, several hours of computer time per student will supplement lectures and discussions of the language.

The instructor for the course will be Jacqueline Bishop of Dowagiac, who has extensive experience in computer programming, as a technical representative, and as an account representative with the General Electric Company

Students interested in more information about the COBOL course or the SMC data processing curriculum may contact the SMC Admissions Office in the O'Leary Building on the campus, or call 782-5113

Using a grant from the Northern Indiana Public Service Company he is currently studying the effects of fish life near Nipsco's lake power plants Sonar tags are attached to netted fish and then are recorded by weight, length, pulse and general condition From different sonar signals he is able to track and record the movements of fish near these plants providing us with vaulable information of the environmental effect power plants may have on our public waters Dr Morgan and these studies were the topic of a recent article in Notre Dame magazine, written by Ronald Parent

A professor in the Biology Department of Notre Dame, Dr. Morgan is a graduate of the University of Georgia, and received his doctorate from the Graduate School of Oceanography of the University of Rhode Island

This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request.

City of Buchanan will undertake the project described above with Block Grant funds from the U S. Save a bundle- on consistently fine-quality foods!

What's the big concern—every trip you make to a supermarket? If it's quality food at the lowest possible price, get to know your supermarket's "store brand" products Why? "Store brand" merchandise offers quality at consistent savings. But what are "store brands"?

First of all, "store brand" products are food and nonfood items which supermarket buyers order in quantity directly from processors—often the same processors who market under their own nationally advertised brand manes

Food canned or packaged as "store brand" merchandise must meet the supermarket's specifications and must continue to pass its quality testing program which assures customers on consistently good product

Finally, items are labeled with the supermarket's chosen emblems This "store brand" label tells customers that the products are brought directly from processors at an average savings of 10%, compared to similar nationally advertised brands!

Try a can or package of "store brand" product—chances are you'll be back next week for more!
