Corp. Agrees To Landscape Waste Ground; Dumping Refuse In Park Prohibited

Former waste ground in Athletic park consisting of a strip on either side along McCoy's creek south from the Smith Street bridge and low swampy ground in the southeast corner of the park were transferred by the city commission to the Buchanan Steel Products Corporation at the special meeting Tuesday evening.

The transaction was in the form of sale at the nominal price of $1, and was closed after the park board had met Monday evening at the call of President Clem Savoldi and inspected the land in question. The transfer totalled approximately 1 1/2 acres of ground which had been entirely waste during the more than twenty years that the city has owned the ground. The Buchanan Steel Products Corporation will drain and raise the level of the swampy ground and will use it as space on which to stack steel stock. The landscaping firm of Hamzinger Brothers, Niles, is already at work landscaping along the stream. They have installed a culvert and will install another culvert tube through the dam on which the road crosses to the old city gravel pit. This will permit drainage of the water above that dam.

The city also approved the recommendations of the park board that the street department cease dumping brush and other refuse in park grounds, and that refuse already dumped there be cleaned up as soon as possible, also that the hauling of top dirt from the park land be prohibited.

Lawrence Zupke Is Back From Service In Mediterranean

There'll be no problem of transfer from military to civilian life as far as he is concerned, according to Lawrence Zupke, SO2 2/c, here on leave until Sept 2 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zupke, 406 South Fort St.

Lawrence Zupke is one of three brothers in naval service, the others being George Zupke, in shore patrol service at a naval base in the Philippines, and James Zupke, on an attack transport ship in the Pacific area. All this service is doubtless in the past tense at this writing, but young Zupke talked with us before V-J day. The elder Zupke also has a record of naval service in the past tense, during the first World War.

During the year previous to his arrival home on Aug. 1, Zupke had served as Sound Man on small P. C. craft in Mediterranean waters. His work was detection of submarines. His ship arrived in those waters in July, 1944, and patrolled the waters along North Africa and along the shores of Italy and Sicily for enemy craft. At that time the Germans still had small vessels hidden in harbors which they used to load with explosives for the purposes of dashing out and ramming Allied shipping. Their home port during this time was Palermo, Sicily. He visited the ports of Naples, Salerno and Leghorn among others and enjoyed an inland excursion as far as Pisa where he saw the famous leaning tower.

Before going to the Mediterranean he was based at Bermuda, while his ship was on Atlantic convoy duty.

He will report to the naval receiving station at Chicago on Sept. 2, unless orders consequent to the ending of the war alter that arrangement.

Hoffman Opens Modern Theatre In Calumet, Mich.

Nearly three pages of special advertising and stories were carried in the Daily Mining Gazette, published in Houghton, Mich., on the occasion of the opening on Aug. 2 of the new Calumet Theatre by E. C. Hoffman, resident of this city and proprietor of the Hollywood theatre here.

Calumet is in the territory served by the Mining Gazette and is a city of 13,362 population (1945 census). The theatre was purchased by Hoffman and was modernized and improved. The enterprise is one of several operated by Hoffman and incorporated as the Hoffman Amusement company. They include theatres in Calumet, Buchanan and South Bend.

Ray Rough Has Rare Illness At Naval Hospital

Ludwig's Angina Follows Pulling Abscessed Tooth

Ray Rough, BoMM 1/c, is recovering at the U. S. Naval hospital at San Diego, Calif., from a dangerous and unusual illness, according to a wire and also letters received by his mother, Mrs. Lloyd Rough.

His trouble began with the extraction of a wisdom tooth, followed by inflammation. Three days afterward he was taken from the Camp Elliot base hospital to the main naval hospital at San Diego. While there his throat and tongue became swollen until he had difficulty in breathing. One of the hospital corpsmen happened to pass his bed and noticed that he was strangling for breath. Doctors were rushed to the scene and it was found that he had swallowed his tongue and it was so firmly lodged that it could not be extracted. The doctor in charge made an incision in the wind pipe below the swelling and inserted an oxygen tube. He was then placed in an oxygen tent for several days until he was out of danger.

His illness was diagnosed as "Ludwig's angina" and was reported to be comparatively rare. During the worst of the illness he received 50,000 CC of penicillin every two hours for four days. At the time of the emergency operation there were ten doctors, four nurses and two corpsmen attending him. After the tracheal tube had been inserted, a picture was taken for hospital newspaper. His address is Ray Rough, MoMM 1/c, U. S. Naval hospital, San Diego, Calif., Ward 9-2.

Buchanan May Harvest Record Corn Crop Yet

Buchanan has already nearly completed harvest of a wheat crop which has set a record for a number of years at least, a reasonably late frost with enough weather before hand may bring a record corn crop here also.

One of the best fields is on the Koenigsloh farm south of Bakerstown. This field stands eight feet in height at the present time, and given six weeks with some heat and no frost will yield a bumper crop. No reports have been coming in to date on corn borer operations, although the sweet corn in most gardens within the city limits of Buchanan has been ridden with them.

The hot weather recently has lodged a considerable part of the standing oats crop, and the weeds are growing up through the tangle, so that in many fields it will be impossible to combine the crop, which will have to be mowed and raked. This will require expense for extra handling and will also result in loss from shattering of the heads.

The Buchanan Co-ops, Inc., has already shipped 23 carloads of wheat, aggregating some 37,000 bushels. It is estimated that about five more carloads will be shipped during the regular harvest marketing run, raising the season's total to not less than 45,000 bushels.

Halderman And Bicard Named To City Police Jobs

Recommended By Safety Bd. From 8 Applications

Ed Bicard, member of the Clark Equipment guard force and previously a worker at the River street plant for several years, and William Halderman, ex-sergeant in the United States Marines who was released from service during May, were named to the Buchanan police force at a special meeting of the city commission Tuesday evening. They began work this morning.

Halderman came here recently to make his home, having married the former Ramona Dalenberg in California on Sept. 22, 1944. They were both members of the Marines at that time. They are now making their home with Mrs. Halderman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dalenberg, 508 Days avenue, Halderman's former home was at Miamisburg, O., a suburb of Dayton. Before entering the service he was active in Boy Scout leadership there. He was offered a position on the Dayton city police force after his discharge, but he and his wife preferred to come to Buchanan to make their home.

Gerald Quick, also an ex-sergeant in the United States Marines, in the event that another patrolman might be required these appointments confirmed recommendations made by the city safety board after interviewing eight applicants.

Peter Rosenthal Is Discharged By Army

The sons of Henry Rosenthal, Buchanan, secured considerable local publicity in the fall of 1942 when on the occasion of a War show held at Niles, the father was given a citation by the company as the employee of the Buchanan plant of the Clark Equipment company, who had done the most in furtherance of the war effort. This citation was given to Rosenthal not only because of his faithful discharge of a hard foundry job, but because of the fact that he had taken part in the service of Henry Rosenthal, Sr., still employed at the foundry, where he wheels scrap to the furnace in a wheelbarrow. Attention was again directed to his sons last week when the first of the remaining four, Staff Sergeant Peter Rosenthal, received an honorable discharge, arriving home Tuesday night after four and one-half years in service. One of the brothers, Pfc. Alex Rosenthal, was killed in action in Normandy on D-Day, June 6, 1944.

Sgt. Peter Rosenthal had served overseas in the Pacific area three and one-half years. He landed in Australia and has been serving as a supply sergeant. Stationed also in New Guinea and the Philippines he has seen plenty of action in the invasion campaigns at Buna, Aitape and Leyte.

He holds the Presidential Citation, Asiatic-Pacific and Philippine ribbon, Good Conduct medal and the Infantry Service Medal.

He arrived in this country on July 30, without receiving a scratch in the many campaigns in which he participated with great gallantry, as revealed by his citation.

Roland Lauer, son of Mrs. Luba Lauer of Baroda, was in another company but the boys saw each other often while in Luzon, and Pfc. Alex Reutz, whose wife, Marcelle, and children make their home in Baroda, was among the boys he saw from home.

He has been given an honorable discharge and is making his home with his parents. He has three brothers still in the service, Sgt. Carl Rosenthal, with the Air Corps in the Pacific, and in service more than two years, Cpl. Jacob Rosenthal, in France, in an engineer corps, and overseas for 14 months, and Pfc. Henry Rosenthal, in France with the Infantry, after going overseas about a year ago.

It has been some time since the brothers saw one another. Peter saw Carl in Australia two years ago.

Clark Equipment Here Closed Until Midnight Thursday

The Buchanan plant of the Clark Equipment company was closed down entirely following the announcement of peace at 6 p. m. Tuesday, to reopen at midnight Thursday for the 12-8 Friday shift

Lloyd Davis Is Victim Drowning

Was Foreman Of 12-8 Shift Wheel Dept. At Local Clark Plant

Lloyd Davis, Baroda, Mich., a foreman of the 12-8 shift of the Wheel department of the Clark Equipment company, was accidentally drowned in Boy's lake, seven miles northwest of Buchanan, at about 3:45 p. m. Monday.

Davis had gone to Boy's lake with his children for a swim. His oldest daughter, Phyllis Louise, age 14, said that he was out in deep water quite near the shore, while she was near the shore. She heard an inarticulate cry from him and turned to see his hands extended above the surface, apparently battling to emerge. However his head did not appear above the water. She waded out to her shoulder depth and tried to reach him but he was just beyond her reach. She then ran for a neighbor, Floyd Miller, about a quarter of a mile away. Mr. Miller and his 16-year-old son, Zane, came immediately. Davis' body was then floating on the surface. Zane swam out and towed him to shore but his body was lifeless.

He was born Sept. 24, 1909, at Baroda, Mich., the son of Dee Davis and Laysia Davis, now living in the Coventry district. He married Marion Gess Sept. 13, 1930, in South Bend. He was a member of the Maccabee lodge.

He is survived by his parents, by his widow, by the following children, all at home, Phyllis Louise, age 14, Donna M. Nancy Lee, by the following sisters and brothers, Mrs. Eva Winnell of Benton Harbor, Pfc. Ralph Davis serving with the U. S. army and stationed in California, Sherman Davis of Niles, Byron Davis of Stevensville, Mrs. Letha Frealing, Mrs. Ida Krause, and Lee Davis, all of the Buchanan farming district.

No water was found in the lungs of the man following the accident, which contributed to the belief that death was due to a heart attack.

Lions To Sponsor Circus As Youth Council Benefit

The Buchanan Lions club has completed arrangements to sponsor a showing of the Mills Bros circus on the V. F. W. lots at Fifth and Short streets on Friday, Aug. 31, all net receipts realized from the sale of tickets to go to the Buchanan Youth Council.

The Lions club of Niles has sponsored the Mills Bros circus two successive years, once as a benefit for their own club and once as a benefit for the Niles Youth Council. Good results were secured both times and the officers of the Niles Lions gave the showing here their hearty recommendation.

Representatives of the Youth Council, aided by the Lions club, will sell adult tickets at $1.10 during this week end. Fifty per cent of the price exclusive of the federal tax will go to the Youth Council. In two days a representative of the circus will come to Buchanan to sell a special afternoon 35-cent ticket for children. The Youth Council will get 25% of receipts from all the tickets he sells and also 10% of the gate receipts at the show.

Coal Situation May Grow Worse Says Local Dealer

Even if V-J day is past when this appears in print, the coal situation will continue to be bad and will probably grow worse, according to Robert Koenigslof, manager of Buchanan Co-ops, Inc.

The fact that 30,000,000 tons of coal, very likely of the better grades of coal is scheduled to be shipped to Europe during the coming winter will keep the available supply for home consumption down. It is not at all unlikely that even Illinois and Indiana coals which local dealers now have and which are not being ordered, will be put on the ration list by Sept. 1.

Although local dealers have considerable Kentucky egg coal on hand now, most patrons are waiting in the hope of getting lump coal of better grades. This hope may be based in part on the belief that the early arrival of V-J day will ease the situation. This can hardly be the case. It is recommended that all who use coal buy at least a ton or two of the inferior and at present unrationed coals.

Dan Merson Relates Instance Of Grit Of Jack Knight At 7 Years Age

Also Story Of Famous Night Flight As Told For Chicago Children In Text Book

Writes Dan Merson during the past week:

"I have been reading your articles on Jack Knight with great interest. Here's an incident that I remember. During the late twenties, when I was attending the Buchanan high school, we had a ball diamond on the east side of the school grounds. After school we would choose sides for a couple of nines and play a few innings.

"Jack" was called Herb at that time, and in this particular game he was playing shortstop. He could not have been over seven years of age. When we chose sides we would let the little fellows fill in.

"The batter hit a bad bouncer his way, which took a sharp angle up as it reached him and stuck him in the jaw. It must have hurt plenty, but instead of quitting the game, he gritted his teeth and insisted on staying in. In later years, whenever I heard his name mentioned I always recall this incident. Most kids would have bawled and quit the game. But not for Jack. This trait in his character, displayed when he was a very small boy, accounts for his courage and staying power later on."

The most famous instance of dogged courage during his flying career was on the occasion of the cross-continental mail flight test. The first mail across the continent was started in 1920, when mail planes flew from New York to California. A pilot named Page was the first. He had a relay of Liberty-powered DeHavilland across the country. He carried 16,000 letters weighing 400 pounds. Not being able to get all of the letters in the fuselage, he carried part of them in a suitcase strapped to a wing of his plane. He carried them by plane during the daytime, and at night he traveled by train. By this system of train-plane relays he crossed the continent with his mail burden in three days. This cut one day from the best train records.

In 1921 seven airplane pilots decided to prove that air mail could be carried from coast to coast by planes in continuous flight. They still used the remodeled World War I DeHavilland bombers. Each plane could carry only 400 pounds of mail but no passengers beside the pilot. They flew 100 miles per hour. It was not until 1927 that planes were designed and built especially for coast-to-coast mail transport.

The progress of mail transportation was greatly encouraged by the success of the 1921 experiment, which in turn owed its success entirely to the dogged courage and nerve of Knight. This story was told to thousands of youngsters in later years in an "Aviation Handbook" written for the intermediate grades of the Chicago schools by Laura Otfedal of the Laboratory Schools of the University of Chicago in collaboration with William A. Wheatley, Director of School and College Services for United Air Lines. This is the story as they wrote it.

The First Night Air Mail Flight

Early in the morning of February 22, 1921, a pilot headed east from San Francisco. He carried a bag of mail in his plane. It was the first time mail was flown at night and day between San Francisco and New York City. The plan was for one pilot to carry the mail a certain number of miles. Then another pilot in a fresh plane would carry the mail from there. Thus several pilots would take turns flying the mail until it reached New York.

When the mail reached North Platte, Nebraska, a pilot was waiting there with a fresh plane. He was Pilot Jack Knight. He took the mail bag, jumped into his single-engine, open-cockpit DeHavilland mail plane and was off. It was his job to fly the precious bags of mail to Omaha, Nebraska. He followed the lights of bonfires which had been set by kind and helpful farmers. He reached Omaha shortly after midnight. There, tired and ready for a good rest, he was disappointed to find that his relief pilot had been unable to reach Omaha on account of bad weather. So there was neither fresh pilot nor plane to carry the mail to Chicago.

What was there for Pilot Knight to do? The mail must go through. Could he go on? His nose, which he had broken a few days before, was aching with the cold. He was tired out from the flight he had just completed. He did not know the route ahead either in daylight or darkness. The officials begged him not to start out. The flight would have to be given up, they said.

But Jack Knight saw his duty. He had gas put into his plane. Then he went flying away into the night.

The post office in Omaha wired ahead and asked that bonfires be lighted at airports and other places along the way. But snow began to fall and the bonfires did not burn brightly through the snow flurries. However, Jack Knight picked his way from point

Buchanan Bangs And Howls Noisy Welcome To Peace

Workmen Throng From Shops At Signal Of Peace

Screaming fire sirens, honking cars, trucks trailing tinware, banging guns and fire crackers and any other impromptu method of making noise that an ingenious citizenry could devise made Front street very much like every other Main street of America during the four hours following the president's release of victory news at 6 p. m. Tuesday.

The rumpus began, when practically the entire 4-12 shift in every department at the Clark Equipment plant, here dashed out of the buildings at the buzzer signal shortly after six o'clock. After a short spell of racketing the noise quieted down until after seven o'clock when the crowds began to pour in from around town and from the country.

The high school band was marched to the scene by the director, R. R. Robinson, and a truck was stationed at the intersection of Main and Front where Arthur Johnston led in community singing. A speaker who had been scheduled to arrive, being probably detained by special celebrations elsewhere.

One of the features of the evening was the shooting down of an effigy of Tojo, swung by a cord over Front street opposite Desenberg's store. The marksmen who performed the feat were two discharged World War II veterans, Jack Leggett and Henry Tracy of Wexmar, Texas.

Among the improvised features was a truck carrying the old Galien high school bell, which was cast in England in 1815, swung in the Galien school which was burned down in 1875, and which survived that fire to ring over fifty more years in the belfry of the building which was erected in 1876 and served as grade and high school building until the erection of the new building in the early thirties. The bell is now the property of Howard Brewer.

A proclamation issued yesterday morning by Mayor Bradley specified Wednesday as a day for the closing of city offices and local stores.

A proclamation by Melvin Martin, president of the Buchanan Council of Churches, set the hour of 8 p. m. last (Wednesday) night as the time for the service of praise at the Methodist church. A special mass was held at the Catholic church at 8 a. m. yesterday morning.

writing to tell you and your colleagues how much I have appreciated having the "Record" all these many months.

Of special interest to me has been the "With The Boys In Service" column and quite frequently I have thus learned the whereabouts of some of my friends who were formerly members of my Scout troop.

Since entering the service in '42, I have been in a great number of cities, towns and places both in the East and West, including some of our more recently acquired temporary possessions out here in the Pacific and although we were helping in the war, we heated ourselves and necessary to get Iwo Jima and Okinawa, as far as I am concerned they can have them all back as soon as we are finished with them and I'll be plenty glad to come back and settle down in old Buchanan.

Recently I received a copy of the Buchanan Youth Council bulletin and know that the drive for funds is now on and wonder if a small contribution from out here in this God-forsaken place will be acceptable or if it all has to come from those at home. Assuming that it will be I am enclosing it in this letter.

As you know I have always been interested in youth movements but have usually been able to give a bit of my time instead of financial aid, however at this time that is impossible. If all the home folks realize as I do what splendid work the "Council" is doing I'm sure the drive will be very successful. Hope you will take care of it for me.

Well it is about time for show-down now so guess this will have to be all

Yours, Leo P. Slate, PHM 1/C

We'll Have To "Stretch" The Coal This Winter Don't put off ordering your coal supply too long while you wait for that "Poky" lump that you may not get. Lay in some of the Kentucky egg now on hand, also a ton or two of ration-free Illinois or Indiana coal. There may be a little more smoke and ashes in them but, even if the war is over when you read this, any kind of coal will be coal this year. Remember — we're sharing the fuel with Europe this winter—we can't be too particular. Get your order in.

Here are 5 reasons WHY Electric Cooking is COOL 1. FLAMELESS Electric heat is pure heat without flame or soot. 2. UTENSILS are in direct contact with the elements. Heat goes into the food. 3. OXYGEN is not needed for combustion, so that air remains pure. 4. PERFECT INSULATION keeps all the heat in the oven where it belongs. 5. AUTOMATIC—The housewife need give only a minimum of attention. MILLIONS of women plan to buy Electric Ranges as soon as they are available—and it shouldn't be long now. Some of these women have been sold on one outstanding feature, some on another—and there are enough reasons, including economy, to please all different groups. Many homemakers are sold on all five reasons... Electric Ranges are not only COOL, but they are automatically EASY, FAST and CLEAN. Very important—Electric Ranges are inexpensive to use. The average cost runs about ten cents a day. Since 1930 the average cost of electricity to our household customers has been cut in half.
