Gerald Radde (center) shakes hands with City Clerk Herb Russell after he and Keith Welsh (right) were sworn in as city commissioners at Monday night's meeting Radde and Welsh defeated Mrs Mildred Anderson and Don Clifford in a four-way race for two commission seats last week

New majority flexes its muscles

City rehires law firm

The new majority on the city commission moved Monday night to reinstate the firm of Desenberg, Desenberg and Marrs as Buchanan's legal counsel

The commission also passed a resolution authorizing the city to advertise for a replacement for City Manager Robert Faulhaber, recommending that Faulhaber be replaced "by January 1, 1978 or shortly thereafter"

Commissioner Reginald Bellaire, who was elected mayor pro tem Monday night, offered both resolutions "I think our legal business belongs in Buchanan," he said

The resolution to rehire the Desenberg firm passed unanimously. Richard Gault, who was re-elected mayor Monday, voted for the resolution, pointing out that it was understood that Atty Michael Marrs would represent the firm at commission meetings B R. Desenberg had attended all commission meetings until the firm was fired by the city on October 24 Gault has supported the firing

Bellaire recommended that the commission meet with the firm immediately to iron out items to be included in the new contract, especially those items dealing with compensation Before being fired, the firm operated under a verbal agreement with the city

Bellaire confirmed after the meeting that it will be stipulated in the contract that Marrs will sit at commission meetings

"That was what the firm offered," Gault said "They thought it was best and I did too"

The third partner in the firm, Louis Desenberg, is also village attorney for Galien, whose meetings are also held on Monday nights

After the meeting, he said that there had been disagreement with the commission in the past over the firm's compensation The firm had been paid an hourly rate and it would prefer a flat retainer fee, he said

"We felt the hourly rate was too low and the commission felt it was too high," Desenberg added

Ben Jenson was the only commissioner to vote against the resolution authorizing the city to advertise for a new manager. "I think he's doing a good job," Jenson said "It's going to be rather rough finding a man who will stay around and isn't going to be moving up looking for another job"

Faulhaber announced his intention to resign at the same October 24 meeting that saw Desenberg fired At that time, Gault indicated that the city might take up to a year to find a new manager

However, Bellaire said Monday he hoped the city could find a new manager within 60 days "The transition should be done in an orderly fashion and we should take enough time to make a good decision, but we want to do it expeditously," he said

Former Mayor Joseph Garbert II attended the meeting and requested that the city set criteria for the selection of the new manager and organize a search and selection committee to carry out the task

Garbert said the citizens of Buchanan apparently demand a city manager who is both a public relations expert and a civil engineer "The kind of person we want will not be easy to find," he said "Nor will he come at a cost that it has been the custom of Buchanan to pay I don't see how in the world it (the search) could be completed in less than 90 days."

Gault said he didn't think the commission would act hastily

"There was some discussion of doing this immediately," Gault said, "but I think the commission is of a mind to take the time necessary to do it right."

Both Gault and Bellaire pointed out that Faulhaber has agreed to work with the commission to make the transition as smooth as possible The city manager did not attend Monday's meeting

The reinstatement of the Desenberg firm and Faulhaber's earlier than planned exit were engineered by the new majority that resulted from last week's city election Keith Welsh and Gerald Radde, who were sworn in Monday night, defeated incumbent Mildred Anderson and Don Clifford in the race for two open seats Incumbent Gene Wesner did not run for re-election

Bellaire was the city manager's only critic on the old commission and the only commissioner to vote against firing Desenberg, Mrs Anderson had supported the administration on all issues and made the motion to fire Desenberg on October 24

Both Welsh and Radde were critical of Faulhaber in campaign statements, and Welsh also opposed firing the city attorneys Mayor Gault joined Bellaire, Radde and Welsh in voting for both resolutions passed Monday night, in his words, "recognizing the realities of the situation"

Monday's meeting was held at the Middle School Media Center for the purpose of presenting the Downtown Development Authority's Phase II tax increment financing plan in a public hearing

Louis Desenberg, the DDA's attorney, described the financing plan to the audience and the commission He said tax increment financing is a new concept that has not been used in Michigan before, since the state law authorizing it is only a year old. Phase I of the Central Business District project was financed by Federal revenue sharing funds obtained by the city.

The plan involves establishing a base period for capturing tax increments in a designated downtown district Then, at some future date when the DDA decides to begin a project, the revenue resulting from the difference in the State Equalized Valuation of the district during the base period and the SEV at the time of the proposed project will be determined That amount would be used by the DDA to finance the project, probably by paying for revenue bonds, according to Desenberg

"At such time as we have a project, we would probably start with bonds," Desenberg said "Tax increment financing would pay for the bonds"

The plan assumes that property values in the district, which includes all of the downtown commercial district, will rise Desenberg said that historically property values in the county have risen at a rate of about six per cent a year

DDA Chairman Garbert said passage of the plan doesn't commit the authority to using it "It's only one option," he said

The DDA's plan requires other taxing entities, such as the school system, the city, and the intermediate school district to give up their claims to the extra increments resulting from an increase in the district's value This would not happen until the DDA comes up with a project

"The theory is that the benefits derived from the authority will also benefit the other taxing units," Desenberg said "The resolution is purely for the purpose of locking the tax base. It depends on what

Township faces annexation again

Annexation has sprung up again as a major issue in Buchanan Township

At Tuesday night's township board meeting Clerk Donna Newsom read a letter from the township's attorney, John Spelman, stating that a recent Supreme Court of Michigan decision may enable the City of Buchanan to annex land along the south end of Schirmer Parkway, located east of the city

The city originally sought to annex the land in 1972. The State Boundary Commission approved annexation, but the township sought and received an injunction which set aside the Boundary Commission's ruling pending the decision of a state supreme court case involving Midland Township That case has now been decided According to Spelman, it appears to decide against Buchanan Township's position

Spelman's letter said he was contacted by Murray Campbell, attorney for the city, who told him the city wishes to complete the annexation

Township Supervisor Dr Kenneth Jones said, "I'm not in favor of annexation The biggest reason is that the people who live in that area don't want it"

Jones said the area the city seeks has less than 100 people

"As I understand it," Jones said, "if an area has 100 or more people it must vote on annexation If it has less than 100 people, the people don't have a vote To me that's discriminatory"

He said that under those rules it would be possible for the city to annex as much land as it wants, as long as it took less than 100 people at a time, providing the Boundary Commission agreed

Jones said he would feel differently if the residents of the area had indicated they wanted to join the city

"The board and I will do everything possible to keep them in the township As long as the majority of the people want to stay in the township, it's our responsibility to try to keep them here," he said

The township hired George Burns, 33, as law enforcement officer. Burns has lived in the township all his life and is employed by Clark Equipment. His wife owns the Tastee-Freez in Buchanan

Fred Hankins asked if the new law enforcement officer would have the authority to go onto private property and enforce concealed weapons laws

Jones replied that the officer would be concerned only with township ordinances "He's not going to catch bank robbers and speeders," Jones said

Most of the rest of the meeting was taken up by discussion of several petitions and court cases initiated by Hankins

Hankins submitted a petition protesting the township's new zoning ordinance, which has not been passed yet by the board Of the petition's 132 signatures, 101 were valid

Jones said he thought the petition was illegal, since many of the signatures were reportedly obtained by Hankin's son, who is not a registered voter as required by law In any event, Jones, and some of the trustees speculated that the petition might be invalid because it was submitted before the board passed the ordinance.

"We're not trying to shove something down the residents' throats," Jones said of the zoning ordinance "We want what they want I would only ask that they read it before they vote on it"

Jones said he did not oppose a referendum on the ordinance, but he felt that if township residents read it, they would find few changes from the old ordinance

He said the ordinance cannot become law without being voted on by the board, The ordinance is currently in the hands of the county planning commission, and has not yet been submitted to the board

"I hope it works out that we have it in front of the board on the first Monday of the month meeting, because that's when the most people come," Jones said, refuting Hankins' claim that he was trying to sneak the ordinance by the residents The board tabled Hankins' petition

He said petitioners have 30 days after the ordinance's passage to force a referendum

Mrs. Newsom read a judgement, made November 4 by the Michigan Tax Tribunal, that affirmed the township's tax assessment of Hankins' property

Hankins also submitted a nominating petition He is running for supervisor in the Republican primary next August 8

"I've been a Democrat all my life," Hankins said, "but I'd like to put some of the Democratic spirit into the Republican Party."

Tax protest dropped

Buchanan's tax protest was officially set aside at Monday night's commission meeting

The commission voted to rescind the resolution passed last March directing City Assessor Ray Pease to apply a factor of 1 0 to industrial property on the city's tax rolls, while continuing to apply a factor of 1.47 to residential and commercial property

It is a violation of state law to apply two different factors within one governmental unit. Nevertheless, the commission, acting on the belief that industrial property in the city was overassessed, had the property reassessed by United Appraisal of Ohio in 1976 It then ordered Pease to apply a factor of 1 0 to the newly reassessed industrial property while retaining the factor ordered by the state, 1 47, for commercial and residential property.

The move would have resulted in a drop of $2,000,000 in the city's State Equalized Valuation and a total loss to taxing units of $116,293 The city itself was among those taxing units, along with the county and Buchanan Community Schools

County officials responded by telling the city to apply the factor of 1 47 across the board or apply a factor of 1 63 to commercial and residential properties to make up for the drop in revenue caused by the lowered industrial valuation.

Until recently, the city had refused to do either, In recent weeks, however, there have been indications that the city would soften its stance, so Monday's move was not unexpected

"This will allow the city assessor to take the most logical course of action according to law," Mayor Richard Gault said

What that course of action may be, however, is open to question Pease was to meet Tuesday with Atty Murray Campbell, of the firm of Klute, Stone and Campbell, to consider the city's options The Niles firm has served as the city's interim counsel between the October 24 firing of the Buchanan firm, Desenberg, Desenberg and Marrs, and its rehiring Monday night Gault said Campbell will continue to assist the city with the tax problem

Interestingly, the recently completed reappraisal of commercial and residential property, also done by United Appraisal, shows the value of residential property in the city to be higher than the amount arrived at by applying the factor of 1 63 to the previous appraisal (conducted in 1962)

The reappraisal of commercial property shows its true value to be lower than the previous values arrived at by applying either the factor of 1 47 or the factor of 1 63

The commission will hold a special meeting next Monday at 6 30 to discuss the new residen-

Bertrand resident finds 90-year-old Record subscription receipt

While going through some old papers and scrapbooks recently, Mrs C Dale Hanover of Curran Road, Bertrand Township found a 90 year old receipt for a subscription to The Record

The receipt is made out to her husband's grandmother, Mrs. James G (Matilda) Hanover, for $1 75 Matilda Hanover was apparently a bit late with her payment, since the receipt is dated August 24, 1887 and the subscription period listed on the receipt is from December 21, 1883 to February 21, 1885 In those days, The Record cost $1.50 a year

After Matilda Hanover's name, the receipt carries the parenthetical note "in wood," possibly to indicate where she lived The receipt is signed by John G. Holmes, editor and publisher of The Record in the 1880s. The paper was named "The Buchanan Record" during Holmes' editorship

Mrs. Hanover said her husband's grandparents owned a 160-acre grain and cattle farm on Glendora Road in Weesaw Township. They bought the farm in 1884 and it remained in the Hanover family until several years ago.

The newest "consumer agency"

By proclamation of its leader, the US Department of Agriculture has become a consumer agency Secretary Bob Bergland announced at the beginning of his administration that the USDA would no longer pit farmers against consumers. The unanswered question is whether the department ever did place farmers and consumers on opposite poles

If you can overlook the fact that farmers are consumers, just like anybody else, you might ask why the Secretary intends to bring the two closer together Of course, it's politically popular to protect consumers from all evils A lot of people have come way up in politics by starting out big in the so-called consumer move nent

But without voting to elect any consumer representative, the American housewife is her own consumer protection agency When she walks into the supermarket, she strikes with the force of lightning If a product is priced right, she buys it. If ot, she leaves it on the shelf. That's why thousands of brands of food, packaged in various forms, rotate across the grocery shelves, evidence that the biggest, most powerful consumer representative in the world is the American housewife.

But the Department of Agriculture evidently feels that the public is being ripped off by farmers The fact is that agriculture in this country is the most competitive, and the American consumer has a better choice of the food he consumes, for a smaller portion of his income, than anybody else in the world

Farmers are always striving to produce more food, and better food, more efficiently, in order to stay in business. This efficiency in agriculture is what has kept the cost of food down, despite inflationary pressure from labor, which is demanding and receiving more pay for less work in the food processing industry

Likes Unity

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this opportunity to express my thanks to the staff, employees, nurses and doctors at Unity Hospital

From the time I entered the hospital on Tuesday until I was released on the following Saturday I was treated expertly and with kindness and consideration Dr Sabato, the Emergency room physician was very competent and was praised by my regular family doctor of 20 years, Dr Atwood, who is a staff physician at Unity Hospital.

While Unity Hospital does not pretend to be a trauma type hospital it certainly offers a service for the many other types of cases that our community needs It is for this reason that I'm writing this letter, to make people more aware of Unity Hospital and the fact that they can and do perform a service with expertise, kindness, and consideration

Sincerely,
J H Garbert

1978 license plate tabs on sale

On Tuesday, November 15, Michigan passenger car and motorcycle owners began picking up their new 1978 license plate tabs at all Secretary of State Branch Offices

By the end of last week, the department had completed mailing more than 4 8 million prepared application forms to the owners of those vehicles The only persons who won't receive prepared applications are those whose vehicle purchases were not processed into the computer before the system began printing out 1978 applications That began in September with commercial vehicles and trailers

Secretary of State Richard H Austin noted that for persons who have received prepared applications, "The tabs-by-mail program is the practical, and economical, way to order. There is no difference in the registration fee , but you'll economize on time, energy, and gas when you buy by mail " He noted, "The instructions for ordering by mail are right on the back of the envelope in which your prepared application was sent. And you can order right now We'll process the application immediately -- so you'll be among the earliest to receive your tab "

"Whether you buy by mail or go in to a Secretary of State Branch Office, we are urging you to use your prepared application immediately If you do this, there won't be any danger of filing away the prepared application and then later forgetting where it's filed "

Austin is also urging people to put the new tabs on their plates immediately after they are received, in order to avoid the possibility of misplacing them

After November 15, persons without prepared applications may pick up their 1978 tabs by taking in to any Secretary of State branch their 1977 registration or their vehicle title and current license plate number , along with proof of insurance

Like the mail order program, the branch offices will accept personal checks or money orders Of course, cash may be used also

Tab sales for commercial vehicles and trailers are already underway, having started in early October They start about a month earlier than passenger vehicle tab sales because commercial tabs expire a month earlier than tabs for passenger cars

The directory, which can be obtained by writing to or telephoning the college's Continuing Education Office, contains the names of 42 teaching and administrative faculty members who have volunteered to provide free talks in the LMC region The directory also indicates the 69 different subjects the speakers are ready to address

"Civic, community, professional, service, educational, and other organizations are urged to use this source for speakers A wide variety of stimulating and educational ideas and concepts are offered in these talks," Dr Field said

Topics available to be discussed by LMC speakers range from aging, alcoholism, archeology, and the CIA to India, Idi Amin, Russia, and women's athletics Nineteen special topics are listed by LMC's Criminal Justice and Public Safety Dept., such as "The Bunco Boys and How to Beat Them," "Go Sober and Safe," "Playing with Fire," and "Family Crisis Intervention"

Program chairmen and other interested persons are urged by Dr. Field to contact the college Continuing Education Office for a free copy of the new brochure During the 1976-1977 academic year, nearly 30 LMC speakers made presentations to audiences totaling more than 5,500 individuals

A special presentation has been added to the directory this year to inform interested groups of the LMC Community Center-Fine Arts building now under construction on the college campus, according to Dr Field.

Color slides and a descriptive talk explaining the features, facilities, and potential uses of the new $8 5 million structure have been prepared by Dr Field and Dr Walter F Browe, LMC executive vice-president, as a special feature for the college community A phone call to the LMC Continuing Education office at 927-3571 will enable community groups to schedule this presentation as well as others indicated in the directory, Dr Field indicated

Girls clinch conference crown

Buchanan's girls edged Cassopolis 68-66 Tuesday night to clinch the Blossomland Conference championship. Berry's Beauties now lead the Rangers by three games with two to play

The game, played at Cassopolis, was close all the way Buchanan held only a one-point lead, 48-47, at the end of the third quarter after leading 35-32 at the half.

"At the end of the game we had a four-point lead and they cut it to two with 12 seconds left," said Coach Ray Berry.

Karen Bobo led Buchanan with 17 points Patience Vanderbush had 16, Tracee Hargreaves 14 and Sharon Rottman 13 Vanderbush had 21 rebunds and Rottman added 17 for the Bucks Buchanan is now 17-0 overall and 12-0 in the Blossomland

The Buchanan junior varsity fell to 6-10 as Cass won the jayvee game 30-18

Lynn Bobo (51) attempts to block a Lakeview shot

Buchanan took advantage of 34 Battle Creek Lakeview fouls in routing the Spartans 64-43 here last Thursday

Each team had 16 field goals, but the Bucks made good on 32 of 52 attempts from the foul line while Lakeview got only 18 chances and made 11

Buchanan held a 16-6 lead after the first period, even though it didn't score from th e field until Lynn Bobo hit a rebound shot with over seven minutes gone The Spartans, who were in a full-court press the whole game, were charged with 12 fouls in the first period alone

They were held to only two buckets in the period themselves as they failed to hit from outside and couldn't penetrate Buchanan's sagging 2-1-2 zone

"If they're going to score they have to hit from outside," Berry said of Buchanan's defense

Lakeview's press bothered the Bucks enough in the second quarter to cause several turnovers and traveling violations, and the Spartans were able to cut the lead to 25-18 with about four minutes left.

But Berry's Beauties broke away, led by two buckets and an assist by Sharon Rottman and a three-point play by Karen Bobo Debbie Hesser's 30 ft heave at the buzzer gave Buchanan a 37-21 halftime lead

The game was scheduled this summer when both teams were faced with open dates due to Niles' millage problems Spartan Coach Joe Kurti probably wished he could have played the Vikings instead

"Buchanan has a big strong team," Kurti said "They handled our press and that's what they had to do"

"We've been pressed in about half of our games at one time or another," Berry said "Tonight the press gave us trouble on two occasions. They we sort of regrouped and opened up our lead again."

Vanderbush and Rottman led Buchanan with 16 points apiece Vanderbush hit on 12 of 15 free throws, and also led in rebounding with 20 Rottman added 10 rebounds Karen Bobo had 13 points and Hargreaves made seven free throws

In the junior varsity game, Lakeview broke open a close game with seven straight points in the fourth quarter and won 33-24 Sherry Vanderbush led Buchanan with 12 points.

Buchanan has three home games next week, the final week of the regular season Thursday Berry's Beauties take on Dowagiac currently in third place in the Blossomland

Sports notes

Things will be better for Buchanan football

This year's 2-7 football season at Buchanan High School can hardly be called a roaring success but there were some bright spots, and you really don't have to look too hard to find them

First of all next year the Bucks will return eight players who started at one time or another on offense and defense Two of those, John Hall and Chad Cornwell were sophomores who were brought up from the junior varsity at midseason and performed well in the defensive backfield

In addition, the junior varsity was impressive in winning four of its first five games and going 5-4 overall Five jayvee players were freshmen

Most important of all was the positive attitude maintained by the coaching staff and players throughout a trying season After absorbing five straight beatings, the Bucks could easily have laid down and quit in the final against Paw Paw But they didn't

"We have a lot to do," Head Coach Mike Young said last week "A winning team needs two things, a solid defense and the ability to run the football This year we had one"

Young agrees that the Bucks will have a lot of experience returning next year but he knows his team must improve its strength and quickness To that end, he's encouraging his players to go out for other sports or join the football team's offseason weight program

"We're trying to stress the idea of playing something Even a sport like tennis is a great conditioner," Young said

Also he doesn't want his returning starters to think they have it made He pointed out that being the best tackle or quarterback in Buchanan doesn't guarantee success on Friday night He wants his players to become good enough to beat Cassopolis and Dowagiac, rather than just being satisfied with a starting position

"Just because they were junior starters doesn't mean they can sit back," Young said

A few more players wouldn't hurt Buchanan next year either Though Young steadfastly refused to blame injuries for the Bucks' plight this year, it's obvious that four or five injuries don't hurt a team with 35 players as much as they do a team with 25.

But numbers problems sometimes take care of themselves when a team gets turned around and starts winning For the Bucks, that could be next fall

Though everyone in Buchanan is anticipating the start of the boys' basketball season, the most exciting thing going right now is girls' basketball

At this writing "Berry's Beauties" are unbeaten in 16 games, counting three Class A teams among their victims The emergence of Patience Vanderbush as Gerald Busby's female counterpart began last year but it is the team play of this group that sets it apart.

None of the five starters, including Patience, is reluctant to pass up a shot when a teammate has a better one Each starter has led the team in scoring at least once this year

The addition of point guard Tracee Hargreaves, a transfer from Niles has given Buchanan the quick ball handler it lacked

If girls' teams were state-ranked as the boys are, Buchanan would surely be in the top five in Class C But the season is far from over for Berry's Beauties In addition to Tuesday night's Cassopolis game (the results of which appear elsewhere on these pages) the girls must play good teams from Dowagiac and Edwardsburg If the Bucks do manage to get through the regular season unscathed, they will probably face unbeaten Lake Michigan Catholic sometime during the district tournament which starts here November 22

It was interesting to hear the comments of Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine and Irish followers concerning the behavior of the crowd in "Death Valley" at Clemson, South Carolina last weekend They can talk you see because Notre Dame crowds are known to be among the best behaved and most mannerly in America

Bryan's not kicking, but he has no kicks

Bryan Virgil

Buchanan's Bryan Virgil hasn't seen action as the University of Michigan's third-string placekicker this season, but he's far from being discouraged

Bryan has had indications from Coach Bo Schembechler that he will be redshirted if he doesn't play this year, and he's caught up in the spirit of the winning Wolverine football team

"The guys are just tremendous up here You'd think with a hundred players I'd be just a number But a lot of guys have noticed me and told me I've been kicking good," Bryan said

Though Bryan hasn't been used in a game yet this year, he is among five kickers who dress for all the home games But only the top two, senior Greg Willner and junior Nick Labun, travel to away games The other two kickers are freshmen walk-ons.

"We all kick every night in practice All five of us work with the holder (Curt Stephenson) on the ball exchange, but only the top three kick live, with full offensive and defensive teams. The only difference between me and the top two kickers is that they go to the away games"

Willner has handled all place-kicking for the Wolverines this fall, and Labun has been used for kickoffs frequently Bryan nearly saw action early in the season when neither Labun or Willner was kicking well

"Bo told me to be ready before the Michigan State and Wisconsin games," he said But Willner kicked a wind-aided 50-yarder against State and was perfect on eight extra point tries in the 56-0 slaughter of Wisconsin

Assuming Bryan doesn't play in either of Michigan's last two games this year (Saturday's regular season finale against Ohio State and, hopefully, a New Year's Day bowl game) he'll probably be redshirted "Redshirting" is the practice of holding a player out of competition for a year while letting him work out with the team The player doesn't lose any eligibility, and improves with the year of practice

In the context of Michigan's placekicking situation, Schembechler is "saving" Bryan, who is only a sophomore, while Willner finishes out his eligibility Next year, Bryan will probably be competing with Labun for the top job

According to Bryan, Schembechler has told him as much "I think I improved a lot over the summer, and he was impressed But he thought he'd see if he could get by with his first two kickers," Bryan said

"He redshirted me for my own advantage He told me 'I think your're going to be a pretty good kicker'"

Bryan said that if he gets one of the top two positions next year he might get put on scholarship, since that is usually the result of redshirting. The extra year of football eligibility will mean that Bryan will also have to extend his academic career, but he said his engineering curriculum is so difficult he had planned to do that anyway

"I thought my sophomore year would be easier academically but there's more work to do and more difficult concepts to learn. I've been taking about 14 credits a term and you need to take about 16 to graduate in four years It's harder to take any more with football"

With five practices, games on Saturday and movies on Sunday Bryan is involved with football in one way or another seven days a week In addition to kicking, he plays offensive end for the demonstration team in scrimmages against the first defense

Of course, the thing that's on every Wolverine's mind right now is the annual showdown with Ohio State, set for this Saturday at Ann Arbor

"I think we'll be ready," Bryan said. "We're already up for it tonight (Monday). Ohio State week is completely different from the other ten weeks"

He admitted that it's frustrating to sit on the bench week after week, but he said he's used to it now "I've gone this far, so it's not as hard now," he said

But he wouldn't mind getting a chance to kick against the Buckeyes, even though it would cost him a year of eligibility

"Michigan's placekickers have had sort of a bad reputation the last few years," he said "If I got in and made one Saturday, it would really be great"

City Commission

happens to downtown property values."

The commission approved the ordinance, but it must have another hearing to become official.

Raymond Enfield of Architects Inc. reported on the five bids received for construction of the Jack Knight Memorial Chapel in Oak Ridge Cemetery. The apparent low bidder was Michigan Building Constructors of St Joseph, with a base bid of $77,950. The bid was $2,950 higher than Enfield's estimate of $75,000 and included five alternatives for construction of the chapel's roof

The alternatives ranged from an addition to the base bid of $7,000, for changing the wooden roof to slate, to a subtraction of $2300, which would involve deleting the insulation and plywood from the roof.

Enfield said wood shingles on the roof would last from 25 to 40 years, while a slate roof would have a lifetime of over 100 years

Enfield said the commission couldn't afford to delay construction too long or it won't be started before winter The chapel is scheduled for completion in late April

Gault moved to table action on the bid so the new commissioners could be brought up to date on it The matter was put on the agenda for next Monday's special meeting

The other four bids received were. Mollberg Construction, $83,980, Home Lumber, $93,865, Hollman and Roe, $98,844, and H G Christman, $103,700

Raymond Suabedissen, the city's financial director, requested that $15,000 of Federal Revenue Sharing anti-recession funds be transferred to a contingent fund of the waste-water treatment plant to repair corrosion damage to metal parts in under water tanks

The city has not used the anti-recession funds because, until now, there has been no project which would qualify. The funds must be used for operational expense such as supplies and repair. Suabedissen said the funds are available every financial quarter but revert to the Federal government if they are not used within six months

Gault said the corrosion resulted from a sudden change in the chemical balance of the water flowing through the sewers

The commission approved the purchase of a pickup truck for the fire department from Wesner Chevrolet The truck cost $3,440 with a trade-in

Herbert Henderson of 304 North Detroit Street presented the city a bill for $62, expenses he said he incurred in cleaning up his basement after the city sewer line backed up into it on October 14 The commission tabled action on Henderson's bill

Other services for which the commission approved payment were

$26,013 51 to Consumers Asphalt for street improvements in the northend of town;

$1049 03 to Cripps and Associates for work done on Community Development grants

$3,050 10 to Turf Services for installation of a sprinkler system on Russell Field, of which the commission withheld one-third until work is completed and a total of $11,456 to Cleary Construction Co for Community Development work

Three Galien players on Red Arrow Conference team

The Galien Gaels concluded a successful football season by placing three players on the Red Arrow All-Conference team announced by league coaches last week

Guard Rick Hein and running back Steve Benson were picked for the first team offense and linebacker Matt Koziel was named to the first defensive team

Koziel, who quarterbacked the Gaels on offense and adjusted the defense as middle linebacker was described by Coach Tony Yonto as a "top-notch, born leader"

"Matt knows the game very well" Yonto said of the 6-1, 195 lb senior "He studies the game and he can react to it on the field Very few high school players can do both" Koziel was one of only three players to repeat from last year's all-conference team

Yonto called Benson "a pleasant surprise He was a late bloomer who turned into a consistent runner We expect a lot from him next year"

The 5-9, 150 lb running back was the only sophomore picked for the offensive team

Hein is a 6-1 175 lb senior "Rick worked hard and played up to his potential" Yonto said, "He was consistent He was probably the best lineman we had both offensively and defensively"

Galien placed center Don Koziel and defensive back Joe Fate on the second team

Yonto is anticipating another good season next year for the Gaels who were 5-4 (3-4 in the Red Arrow) this year Galien's four losses came by a total of 19 points

"We'll miss Matt's leadership ability but we'll return everybody on the line except Hein" he said

The Gaels will have eight of 11 offensive starters coming back Seven starters will return from a defense that allowed only 7 9 points a game this year

Thursday Sue Heller again led Galien in scoring, this time with 12 However, Galien lost to a tough LMC team LMC took the lead in the first period as it outscored Galien 17-3. Galien then exploded for 16 points in the second quarter, narrowing the gap to 6 points at 25-19 LMC then outscored Galien in the third period 11-7 and led 36-26 Galien then tied LMC in the last quarter 12-12, but LMC still led by ten

Rules To Apply
Insurance Coverage To Uniform
Trade Practices

Problems with understanding terminology in insurance contracts?

The Michigan Insurance Commission, attempting to make insurance coverages readable and understandable to the layman, will open public hearings on proposed rules applying the insurance industry to the new uniform trade practices act

The new law and proposed rules are designed to curb abuses in the insurance industry Misrepresentation in sales, false advertising, shoddy claims practices and unfair discrimination are identified and prohibited

Another key area prohibits unfair claims settlement practices Companies would be prohibited from paying claims late and using that as a negotiating tool to get lower settlements

The new law and rules require companies to investigate and respond to claims quickly and fairly Interest penalties would be imposed on companies which fail to pay valid claims on a timely basis

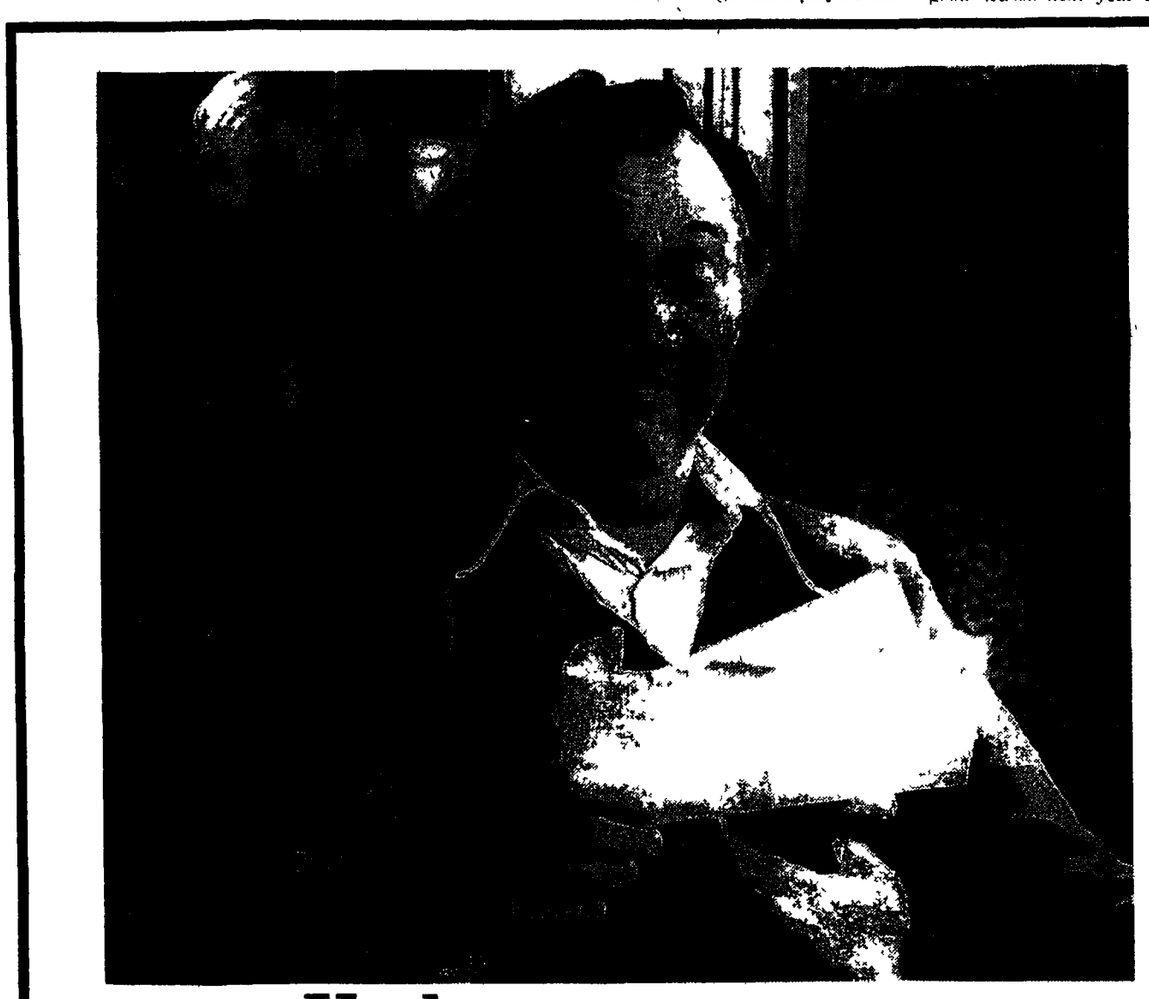
The Empire State Building in New York City is 102 stories high, can hold about 80,000 people and has seven miles of elevator shafts.



You have more power over your electric bill than you think.

No matter what we do to help keep your electric bill in line, there's one thing we have no power over.

The amount of power you use.

So we'd like to point out the most significant places where only you have the biggest opportunities to save.

Insulation

6 to 12 inches of insulation in your attic could save you real money each year.

You'll save even more if you insulate your walls, heating ducts and hot water pipes.

Caulking, weatherstripping, storm windows, shades and drapes also help keep heat inside in winter, and outside in summer.

Thermostat Control

Lower your thermostat in winter. Each degree below 68°F can save three percent of the energy needed for heating. If you have air conditioning, a higher thermostat setting will also save energy in summer.

Hot Water Use

You can save up to 5% a year of the energy needed to heat water if you turn your water heater thermostat down to 120 degrees and take quick showers instead of baths.

Fix leaky hot water faucets promptly. And wash clothes in cold water, if you can.

Washing and drying only full loads of clothes and dishes is more economical, too.

Appliance Efficiency

If you're in the market for appliances and equipment, look for the new energy saving features on refrigerators, freezers, and dishwashers. Choose an Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER) of 8 or higher on room air conditioners.

While there are a lot more ways to save electricity, these are the ones that will make the biggest impression on your bill.

World Record Set In Corn Field!

World corn yield record holder, Roy Lynn Jr of Schoolcraft, Michigan "reaches for the gold" — 352.64 bushels per acre of DeKalb XL-54

On September 30, 1977, history was made in a southern Michigan corn field when Roy Lynn, Jr harvested-by-machine a world record yield for one acre of 352 64 bushels. It was calculated on the basis of Number 2 corn at 15 5 per cent moisture

The new record-holder is a 28-year old bachelor whose home is near Schoolcraft, south of Kalamazoo, Michigan. Lynn broke the record after three years of research and a lot of hard work to boost corn yields on the 1,000 acres he farms with his father.

The previous known record yield is 338 bushels an acre, produced in 1975 by Herman Warsaw of central Illinois The average yield per acre for corn in the United States is about 90 bushels Lynn's yield has been recorded by the DeKalb Yieldmasters Club, which keeps such data, and confirmed by impartial witnesses

Blond-haired Roy Lynn, Jr., stands six-feet-one-inch and weighs 195. He needed a hearty constitution to stand up to the long and irregular hours of labor that were associated with producing the record yield.

"You can have all the fertilizer and water in the world," he comments, "and it won't help if you don't manage it properly." He sometimes had to start or change the traveling water irrigation system at 1 a.m , 3 a m. or 5 a m

"I memorized every stalk in the place," Roy says.

The hybrid seed used was DeKalb XL-54.

The high-yielding field has sandy soil and once was swampy Nearby is a wooded area and swamp, where Roy and friends have often hunted deer The woods may soon be cleared for more corn. But Roy is careful about conservation practices For instance, he doesn't fall plow because he wants to avoid erosion from winter winds.

Roy likes hunting, fishing and trapping. He also enjoys bowling and tennis. He is a native of Kalamazoo.

Wayne Fowler, agronomic education director at DeKalb, notes that, "used properly, high yield attempts have a place." However, he warned that too much emphasis on high yields on a single acre may not be economical More important, he said, is a good yield across the total number of acres in a farm.
