Police Nab Bike Riders On Walks In Business Dist.

At long last and after innumerable warnings the city police started last week to crack down on the practice of local youth to continue to ride their bicycles on the sidewalks in the business district in violation of the city ordinance.

Two tickets were issued last week and the receivers were sent to Mrs. Marietta Mathie, local property officer. The two offenders were placed on probation to report to Mrs. Mathie...

The restriction in the ordinance applies only to the business district. However, while young people or others on bicycles are not forbidden to ride on the sidewalks of the residential district, there are definite restrictions.

The ordinance requires that the rider equip his bicycle with a bell or other device capable of giving warning audible at least 100 feet and that in passing any pedestrian (or other vehicle) they sound that bell and slow down to a safe rate of speed.

No bicycle rider may carry another rider except on a seat designed for the carriage of such additional rider. And this does not mean on the handle bars.

Each bicycle must carry a license plate of the current year and must be equipped for night riding with a white light visible not less than 300 feet in front and a lamp or reflector in the rear producing a red light visible not less than 200 feet from the rear.

The city ordinance was drawn primarily for the safety of the young riders; and its enforcement is strictly in their interest. However it clearly places a responsibility upon them to have special care for the safety of pedestrians, and to observe all stop signs, lights or other signals and in other ways to co-operate with other vehicles in street traffic in the interest of the general safety.

Gerald Smith Is Slightly Hurt In Motorcycle Crash

Gerald Smith, son of Mrs. Pauline Smith, returned to his home on the South Bend Road Monday, after having spent two days in St. Joseph Hospital, Mishawaka, receiving treatment for minor injuries received when his motorcycle collided with a car north of Roseland on U. S. 31 at 6:45 p. m. Saturday.

Young Smith was riding south when a car, which was going north, swung across the southbound lanes in front of him, opposite the DeRuyves grocery and some distance from the road intersection. Thomas Evans, 63, Veteran Foundry Worker, Is Dead

Thomas Evans, 63, veteran foundry worker, died at his home on the Niles-Buchanan road at 5:55 p. m. Friday.

Evans was born Dec. 29, 1883, in Ionia, Mich., the son of Chester and Christina Evans. He married Mary Swift at Buchanan on Nov. 15, 1916.

He worked for some time as a foundryman in Marshall and Detroit. In 1912 the Celfor Tool Company, now the Clark Equipment Company, bought the machine equipment of the firm he worked for and brought it to Buchanan.

With it came the force which operated it, including the elder George Deming and Tom Evans at the original foundry in a small building just north of where the Heioul electric furnace sets in the present foundry. Tom Evans pooled from a crucible, the first steel made in Buchanan.

With one or two intervals he remained in the Clark foundry during the rest of his working life.

He was obliged to quit on account of ill health about March 1, 1945, and had since been confined most of the time at his home 2 1/2 miles east of Buchanan. He had been bedfast since August 5.

He made his home in Buchanan until 1940 when the family moved to the present home on the Niles-Buchanan road. He is survived by his widow, by one daughter, Lila Mae, at home, by two sisters, Mrs. Clara Swift, Albion, Mich., and Mrs. Ida Leggett, Olive, Mich., by several nieces and nephews.

Asks Whereabouts Antique Furniture

A letter was placed in the hands of the Record last week by Mrs. Ada Ambriester from Mrs. Marjorie Bauersfeld, 908 North Alfred, Los Angeles 46, Calif., requesting information as to the whereabouts of an old cherry corner cupboard, also a spool bedstead that were once part of the furnishings in the home of Mrs. Bauersfeld's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Crawford.

The name of the Crawford's is now owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Bodrick, 202 Clark street. The home was built by Mrs. Bauersfeld's mother, Mrs. Edith O'Neill, for her parents, the Crawford's. The home and its furnishings were sold many years ago, but Mrs. Bauersfeld believes that it is possible that some one here may have bought one or both of the articles, and may know where they came from. She states that she is willing to pay any price within reason to acquire them. Anyone having such information should write Mrs. Bauersfeld at the address given. An advertisement appears in the classified columns.

Clarks Announce Loss $1,027,000 In First Half 1946

The following letter was recently sent to all stockholders of the Clark Equipment Company, accompanying payment of a dividend to the stockholders of Clark Equipment Company.

At a meeting on August 9, 1946, the Directors of the Company declared a dividend of 75 cents per share on the Common Stock payable September 15, 1946.

This dividend which accompanies this letter commences at the rate which has been maintained for the past four years and brings the dividend payments so far this year to $225 per share.

While it has not been the custom of the Management to address the stockholders in the interim between annual reports, it is felt that the unusual conditions which have been operating since the beginning of 1946 deserve some comments.

The results of our operations for the first six months of 1946 show a loss of $1,027,000. Should a loss of this amount occur for the entire year, the carry-back provisions of the Federal tax laws would reduce this to $290,000.

This loss was not the result of ordinary operating conditions. The volume of production in the first 6 months of 1946 was less than half of what would have been accomplished but for the wave of strikes affecting industrial operations all over the country.

During the first quarter of 1946 much of our production was held up due to strikes in the plants of important customers and suppliers. This was followed by a strike in two of our plants which subsequently stopped nearly all production in all our plants for ten weeks.

A strike resulted in heavy losses in wages to our employees and a loss of production estimated at $5,000,000.

For a considerable period we were also faced with price increases from many of our suppliers without being afforded relief by OPA on our own products.

At this writing, however, OPA regulations have permitted us price adjustments on most of our products which appear satisfactory. Our current assets on June 30, 1946, amounted to $12,846,000, including cash and accounts receivable of $4,258,000. Total current liabilities including Federal taxes on income due from prior years were $3,443,000.

While we are still handicapped by strikes in the plants of customers and suppliers, operations for the third quarter are improved appreciably. Our backlog of orders is sufficient to sustain a satisfactory volume of production for the balance of the year. Should conditions stabilize and the indicated volume be realized, the Management believes that the losses incurred in the first six months can be eliminated and it is expected that we may make a profit for the year as a whole.

Respectfully submitted, George Spatta, President Buchanan, Michigan September 14, 1946

Checkley Firm To Replace Two Bridges On Race

Chicago And Smith Bridges To Be Replaced By Culverts

The bridges across the millrace at Chicago and Smith streets are both to be removed and replaced by double-tile culverts by the Checkley construction company in the course of its operations in cleaning the race, according to directions given that organization by the city last week.

The Checkley outfit returned to its work cleaning the millrace Saturday. They had been off the job two weeks.

Decision was made to replace the two bridges by culverts covered with a dirt fill. The city has ordered 200 feet of 36-inch cement culvert. Under each millrace crossing two of these tiles will be laid side by side. The Chicago street crossing will be approximately 52 feet wide and the Smith street crossing 48 feet wide, the combined length of the two dirt fills being approximately 100 feet.

The city engineer had pronounced the Smith street bridge to be defective and dangerous for the heavy loads, which occasionally went across it. The Chicago street bridge was too narrow and at traffic angles that had made it a hazardous for years. The Checkley company is to install the culvert at OPA prices on the use of equipment plus a 20% margin.

Niles OPA Branch Absorbed Oct. 1 By St. Joseph Office

The Niles OPA office, which is serving the south end of Berrien county and all of Cass county, will be absorbed by the St. Joseph OPA board on October 1.

The consolidation will take the files and work of the Niles office to St. Joseph but none of the Niles station workers will be transferred. Consolidation of two of more local OPA offices is reported being carried out in many parts of the nation. This move, it is believed, is an economy measure to allow increase in the OPA's enforcement division.

Closing of the Niles office, which had previously absorbed the Cass county office, has been protested by the Niles city council, which passed a resolution asking the Niles office be continued.

In Which We Get Acquainted With Mrs. Babe, Mr. Ike

Both Have Made Very Good Mothers, Says Mrs. Cox, Cat and Dog Specialist

"If you write anything about me, Eg Ike, in the next place, to have you say that a lot of people that like dogs and want to be kind to them don't know how," said Mrs. Devey Cox, who lives on a small farm east of Buchanan and specializes in Boston Bulls.

This writer had dropped off a bus on the Mrs. Buchanan road and was walking on a crossroad to M-60. He saw Mrs. Cox out in her yard with a brood of splendid Boston Bulls jumping around her. He couldn't resist inquiring "If you really want to see something, come into the house," she said. "There in the kitchen was a box in which lay the first pup mothering a brood of five. The brood included three Boston Bull pups about a half day old, a Mexican Chihuahua puppy two weeks old and a Persian kitten two days old. She had gotten the Chihuahua puppy from a payment she had made from another dog fancier. The Persian kitten had been taken by a Caesarian from its mother after she had died enroute to a dog doctor. The Boston Bulls had also been born by Caesarian and the mother was too ill to nurse them. Highbred Boston Bulls ordinarily cannot give birth to their young without surgical aid, she said.

On the table lay two large Persian cats. "This is Ike," she said, picking up a big male. "He's now serving as brooder at night for a flock of eight chickens. Last week he was brooder night for four goslings. I had incubated the goose eggs under an electric pad. After the eggs hatched I tried to use the electric pad as a brooder but it didn't work. I was wondering what to do, and happened to go back to the box where the goslings were, and found that Ike had jumped in the box and laid down, and the goslings had snuggled up to him. That took care of that. He slept with them regularly at nights until they didn't need brooding. Then I turned the goslings out and a week later got the goslings afterward Ike got the weasel."

"I'm a sort of animal doctor myself," said Mrs. Cox. "People bring me cats and dogs with broken legs or torn up in fights and I put splints on the legs and sew up the cuts. You see that calf down in the pasture? She was given to me. Her leg was broken and the driver said that if I could not save her I could kill her and cook her up into dog food.

"I took five yards of adhesive tape and a few steel splints and bound up the leg, thinking that she was so young that she might knit. It did. She's a pugnacious Gueney and will make a good cow."

"I could not distinguish the calf from three or four others by any difference in gait.

"About being kind to dogs," said Mrs. Cox. "I lived in town for several years with a flock of dogs on my premises and I did not ordinarily tie or shut them up. I found out I could train them to stay on the premises. I would take the puppies out to the edge of the gravel road at 14th and Silverbrook, Niles, and hold their noses to the gravel. As soon as they learned what 'no, no' meant, would say that to them as I held their noses on the paving. They soon got so they understood they must keep away from pavement.

They would walk around little stencils of gravel in the yard. Then I would take them to the edges of the yard and let them start to drift off. Then I'd get in front of them with a folded newspaper and beat the ground and shout at them. They would whimper and howl in fright, although I never touched them. The neighbors probably thought I was crazy but the puppies learned what I wanted them to do.

"You can't do much teaching animals unless you can take some time with them. You've got to be with them a lot when they are little. You can teach them the same things when they are grown but it takes more time."

Snuggled in the box with the foster mother was a potential value of from $400 to $550 in dogs, Mrs. Cox stated. Puppies are considered grown at ten months. In the case of the Chihuahua pup, its value will depend on the smallness of its size. If it weighs three pounds or under when grown it should be worth $100 at current prices. If it weighs more it will be worth less. The two Boston Bull females may be worth $100 each when grown. The Boston Bull male may be worth as much as $200 or $275, value depending on the development of correct breed markings and characteristics.

Machines Replace Horses On 20% Of Wisconsin Farms

The swift mechanization of the typical family-size farm in Wisconsin, following the national pattern, is one of the significant economic aspects of agriculture in Madison.

A survey by state agricultural economists has disclosed about 20% of Wisconsin farms have replaced the horse as a draft animal by mechanical power.

On many other farms the horses remain, but they are of negligible importance in production because of the increasing number of tractors.

Mechanization of Wisconsin agriculture, which got its first significant start during World War I, proceeded swiftly during World War II.

In recent years the number of tractors owned by farmers has increased at the rate of 6% annually. It is expected that as production of farm machinery is speeded, thousands of additional tractors and related machines will find their way to Wisconsin farms to allow greater and more efficient crop production. Latest figures, for 1945, show 116,000 tractors within Wisconsin, or about 71 per 100 farm units.

For 39 years, as a result of the mechanization of farm production, the number of work animals in Wisconsin has been in a steady decline. The horse population of the state stood at a peak in 1915, just before World War I introduced the significant numbers. There were then 748,000 horses. In the 1945 census there were only 285,000.

As the horse population has declined, its quality has improved. Most of the work animals today are younger than on the typical farm two decades ago, and the horses are worked less as most farmers supplement their use by tractors. More than half of the horses now on farms are between 5 and 10 years of age.

10 A. M. Is Starting Hour For Pheasant Hunt Season In 1946

A better break for the hens should be one of the chief benefits of the 10 a. m. starting hour on the first two days of pheasant season this fall, according to conservation department game men.

With good light at the late starting hour there will be no excuse even for beginners to mistake hens for cock pheasants. The late starting time also is expected to spread the kill over more days and give the birds more of a sporting chance.

September 29 - October 6, 1946
WHEREAS: No community is safe where the ethical and spiritual foundations of the people are inadequate to sustain it
WHEREAS: No community has adequately trained its people in the basic resources of noble character:
WHEREAS: No nation or world community is safe that is not filled with small community units built upon the insights of true religion.
WHEREAS: This, our community, has a responsibility for producing its full share of the world's quota of high resolve and worthy living.
NOW, THEREFORE, I, C. J. Wilson, Mayor of the City of Buchanan, hereby proclaim the period beginning Sunday, September 29, and continuing through Sunday, October 6, 1946, as the Sixteenth Annual Religious Education Week, and call upon my fellow citizens to mark its observance through fellowship in worship, by the re-establishment of religion in home conversations and activities, and in the fearless practice of the principles of religion.

Veterans In Schools Cautioned To Get VA Approval Of Leaves

Veterans Administration officials are advising veterans enrolled in educational institutions of the importance of getting approval from the VA before taking leaves of absence. When unauthorized leaves of absence are not satisfactorily explained, veterans may forfeit their subsistence allowance for the time they are out of school or away from training.

Ordinary leave under both the Servicemen's Readjustment Act and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act accrues at the rate of two and one-half days a month during the entire time a veteran actually is in education or training status, including the time he is on an approved leave. Accumulated leave cannot exceed 30 days, and no more than 30 days of leave may be taken in a 12-month period. Approved absences covering a period of one calendar week or more will be charged at the rate of five days for each seven consecutive days of leave.

Disabled veterans training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act are also entitled to sick leave not to exceed 30 days in each 12-month period, but sick leave includes all of the elapsed time from the beginning of absence from training until the veteran returns to training.

Not Inflation But Material Shortage Cause High Prices

Urban real estate prices are rising more because of actual shortages of housing and commercial buildings than because of inflationary "boom" factors, believes Dean Russell A. Stevenson, of the University of Michigan School of Business Administration.

Land prices have gone up sharply in urban areas, but there is little indication that real estate dealers, like that of the Florida land boom of the twenties, are in the making, he commented. Today's prices are based upon demand from people who wish to build homes and business establishments and not upon demand from speculators, he explained.

Land-owners may be encouraged by the fact that assessments rise more slowly than land prices but usually drop almost immediately after prices fall, the dean said.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Richter and family and the former's father, Will Richter of Michigan City, were callers here Saturday with relatives. Will Richter remained a few days to try his luck at fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Richter and Mrs. Beatie Crisp accompanied.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Matthews to Buchanan last Sunday afternoon to see Miss Doris Matthews, who was home for a short vacation from her duties as a nurse in a hospital in Pennsylvania.

Albert Ballard, who passed away in Niles last week after a long illness, is as usual, remembered by a few of our older residents as an engineer on the Michigan Central and in good health he had at one time one of the best runs on the road.

For several years at Christmas time, until his health failed to much—he would visit our school, to treat the children with an orange and candy. He was retired on a pension about five years ago, but his health was not so good as to enable him to enjoy the few remaining years.

Turkey Grades One of the best ways to secure good quality turkey is to buy by grade. Turkeys are classed on the market as young toms, weighing 9 to 18 pounds, young hens, 9 to 12, old toms, 16 to 30, and old hens, 10 to 15 pounds. The federal grades for each class are U S A A, which is an extra-fancy product selling for a high price, U S A, which is very good quality and what most of us would buy—about 60 per cent of the poultry crop comes in this class, U S grade B, which is a good buy for the money and should sell for less than the above grades, grade C, which is reserved for low-quality products.

THIRD INSTALLMENT Sales Tax Distribution As an example of the immediate effect of the proposed amendment the following figures illustrate how (1) school districts and (2) other local units would receive over $64,000,000 more under the amendment in 1947-48 than they received in 1946.

Table with 2 columns: Category and Amount. Includes School Districts, Legislative grant for schools in 45-46, Primary school interest fund, General Fund appropriation, Sales tax collection, etc.

Minimum possible legislative grant for schools in 1947-48 $100,564,000

Table with 2 columns: Category and Amount. Includes Cites, Villages and Townships, 1945-46, 1945-46 direct grants, etc.

Whether or not the sales tax amendment is approved by the voters in November, many improvements are necessary in Michigan's state and local financial structure.

PURELY INCIDENTAL

by Lew Barwick.

Dear Buchanantes: I little expected the fine (?) sendoff I received last week from the Ed Just between you and I, I'll let you in on a little secret that we members of the 4th estate agree on and that is that newspaper editors are the hardest people in the world to work for. This is a fact, not fiction (Ed Note For this Mr. Barwick's work will be doubted and his pay halved) Now to continue.

CLEAN UP TIME It appears that something ought to be done, in a nice sort of way, about some of the mess on North Portage street. It certainly isn't a nice sight that beholds travelers as they travel through Buchanan on this widely-used street. Buchanan is an up and coming city, not a facsimile of "Dead End Street".

THESE INQUIRING WOMEN A farmer about 7 miles out on the Red Bud Trail was explaining to a Chicago woman what a menace insects are to farm products—how potato bugs ruined potato crops and corn borers destroyed corn. The woman listened attentively, then she said, "And the poor dairy people, how the butterflies must bother them? Don't women wear the most adorable hats?"

A NEW APPROACH Charlie Babcock looked up wearily as another employee approached him the day before the big ball game.

"All right, I suppose your grandmother's being buried tomorrow, too?" The boy grinned, "No, sir! She's making her first parachute jump."

TRUE BUT DEFINITELY I've eaten chicken a la carte at Russells in Chicago, feasted on delicate shrimp at O'Donnells in Washington, D. C.—and gorged on saute-braten at the Chase in St. Louis; but for pure gastronomic delight nothing on God's green earth can beat that first glass of cold water gulped down in the morning after a hard night.

Michigan Gets Biggest Cut From US Firearms Tax Mich. Leads Nation in Sport Area; Number of Sport Licenses

Official notification that Michigan's share of Pittman-Robertson funds this year will be $129,651.82.

The federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition that provides the funds has furnished this state $546,759.95 in the last nine years for wildlife restoration.

Current Michigan Pittman-Robertson work includes four research projects — on pheasants, foxes, northern upland game birds (ruffed grouse, sharp-tailed grouse and prairie chickens), and the coordination of game management with good farming practices in southern Michigan.

Mulched Orchard Holds Moisture In Recent Drouth The value of mulch around orchard trees as a method of conserving moisture was clearly demonstrated last week to Alan W. Irvine, soil surveyor for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service, cooperating with the St. Joe River Soil Conservation District.

Irvine was making a soil survey of the Minardo farm in Bangor township, Van Buren county, between the tree-rows in the apple orchard in which he was mapping the soil was dry and powdery. So dry was the soil that it was impossible to get anything up with the auger. Underneath the trees was a thick mulch of alfalfa. When Irvine kicked the mulch aside and bored into the soil beneath it he found it moist and friable. Nearby, on the same kind of soil, was an orchard that had not been mulched. The soil under those trees was as dry as that between the tree rows. Only under the mulched trees was there enough moisture in the ground to enable soil samples to be taken with the auger.

46,000 GI Brides Come From Overseas

The Justice Department said today 46,000 G.I. brides plus 12,000 of their children have entered the United States.

The largest number—more than 22,000—came from England. An additional 16,000 odd immigrant aliens were admitted during the first five months of this year, a Department official told a reporter.

This figure includes 2,911 refugees admitted since April 1 under the displaced persons program. They include Austrians, Belgians, French, Estonians, Greeks, and Hungarians.

The Immigration Service expects about 1,200 refugees a month from now on. About 3,900 are eligible to come each month under the quota system but transportation difficulties keep the quota from being filled.

In 1941, the last peacetime year, 36,220 immigrants were admitted as compared with a quota for all countries of 153,774.

RUPTURE SHIELD EXPERT HERE J. M. SHEVYAN, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the LUKHARI HOTEL, ELKHART, Wednesday Only, September 25 from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M.

Mr. Shevyan says the Zotic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods affecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly no matter the size or location but it will increase the circulation of the weakened parts and thereby close the opening in ten days on the average case. Regardless of how long standing or any position the body may assume a nationally known scientific method—no matter steps or conditions at any time—will absolutely be the medicine of medical treatments.

Mr. Shevyan will be glad to demonstrate without charge. 6509 N. Artesian Ave., Chicago 45. Large incisional hernia or rupture following surgical operation especially selected.
