Clark Equipment Company to Build Experimental Laboratory Here

Fed. Gov't. To Match Funds With City on Expense

Now Here's the Proposition

NEW YORK, NEW YORK Out where the shapnel's tap dance rattles, Out on the sweep of the Seven Seas, Out on the decks of the arks of battle, Out in the holds of the L S T's, Out where the P. T's seek their quarry, Riding the waves like a bounding cork, Somewhere east of that blanket address— New York, New York, West winds, carry our heartfelt greeting, Carry our love to the lads from home, Tell them we wait for the hour of meeting, After the last war cloud has flown, Tell them our prayers go night and morning, Out where the battle smoke is murky, Tell them our hearts are somewhere east of New York, New York

A Letter to a Soldier, A Sailor or a Marine, as the Case May Be

Well, guys (and gals) of the Armed Forces, visiting military personnel were as scarce in the Loop District Saturday and Sunday as automobile salesmen are these days

All we saw in a turnabout along the Main Stem were Admiral Bud Bach, now anchored at Notre Dame University, and a stern-eyed view of Admiral Jimmie Zupke negotiating west on Front past Matt's under full sail (Maybe we jumped the boys' rank up a bit but anyway we were impartial.)

True, in passing Johnny Giver's USO, we heard voices lifted in song in a back room and found two former guests back for more, Pvt Herbert Lucia and Pvt. Lawrence S. Stamen, members of the Fort Custer military police unit. A former New York investigator for the F. B. I., was seated at the piano, the melody simply dripping off the end of his fingers like maple sap in March. They had tasted Johnny's hospitality two weeks before and were back for more.

Almost as scarce, according to some of the boys who come back after two years or so away, are faces of the home folk that they recognize. But there's always one familiar face that they see first when they come, as it was very likely the last they saw on leaving. That is the face of the Old Town Clock at the corner of Reamer's Locker plant at Front and Daze avenue.

Perhaps some of you boys who answered the call to the colors back in the winter of 1941-2 can remember how you used to stand down on the corner of Front and Daze in the cold and early yawning, waiting for McCollum's bus to take you to Niles on the first leg of the Long Trek to Kalamazoo, Fort Custer, Bogaumville, Dutch Harbor and the Salerno, Anzio and Normandy beachheads. I suppose you looked nervously up at the clock when you reached the corner, wondering how long you had to stand around until bus time, and then glanced back as you went up the Niles hill and caught another glimpse, wondering when you would see it again. It still stands, year in and year out, on the corner, a true symbol of Buchanan as it was and as it is, and the one face on the Main Drag that doesn't change, that will look just the same when you see it again as when you left.

Openly and obviously two-faced is the old Town Clock, with one face looking westward to where the maples close over the street by the postoffice and another looking eastward to where the road dips over Niles hill. And yet not two faced in the way some of the passers-by may be, for one face tells the same story as the other. If you were born and grew up in Buchanan, then you've known the town clock all of your life, for it's now been here just about 34 years. It was installed up on the corner of Front and Main by the Chicago-Buchanan society during the Great Home-Coming staged in August 1910 during the reign in city government of Mert Harlin I (not the one in the Merchant Marines). Then when they widened the sidewalk from Main to Oak about eight years ago they took the clock down. But there rose from the enraged citizenry a frenzied roar and the city dads (Continued on Page 3)

Worker Killed When Tractor Runs Off Dock

Is Crushed Under Machine Which Skids on Wet Platform

Nute Carl Martin, 44, was instantly killed at 4 10 p m Wednesday when the tractor which he was driving skidded off a loading dock on the south side of the new River street forge shop, overturning on him and crushing his skull. Martin, who lived in Berrien Springs, had just arrived in company with John Diment, in whose car he rode regularly, to go on the 4-12 shift. A rain a short time before had made the dock slippery. Martin had come from Decatur, Ala., in March to enter the employ of the local plant. He and his wife had made their home in Berrien Springs. At the time of his death his wife was on a trip to visit her parents at Gullman, Ala. His body was sent there for the funeral which was held Sunday. He was born July 14, 1900, in Cedartown, Ga., the son of Sunny and Nanny Martin. He married Flora Canada at Kennett, Mo., Oct. 7, 1939. He is survived by two brothers, Marvin and Rufus Martin of Birmingham, Ala., and by one sister, Madie Leonard of Cullman, Ala.

Emery Ferry Incurs Broken Knee Cap In Truck-Tree Crash

Emery Ferry, local driver for the American Railway Express, incurred a broken knee cap Thursday when the truck which he was driving left the road and struck a tree on the Main street or upper Berrien stone road between the Walter Reese and Meffert farms. Ferry was en route to deliver a casualty telegram sent by the war department to a Baroda resident, shortly after noon. He stated that he believed he must have fallen asleep, as the tracks left by his truck indicated that he had run along in the ditch at the side of the pavement for some time, without being aware of it. The children riding with him were unhurt. The accident was witnessed by two northbound motorists whose names are unknown.

Flames Destroy C. Kuhl Home

Believed to Have Started From Explosion of Oil Stove

Fire believed to have originated in the explosion of a kerosene stove nearly destroyed the residence and personal property of Mr and Mrs Charles Kuhl at 407 Pheph street Friday afternoon. Mrs Julia Maciejewski, the daughter, had left the dinner cooking on the stove and had gone to a neighbor's home to make a call on the telephone. When she returned the house was ablaze. The fire department was called but so rapid was the spread of the flames that they were not able to extinguish them. Only a sewing machine and a radio were saved. The loss included furniture and clothing, canned goods, the personal possessions of the daughter and her two children who live with the Kuhls, including a purse containing $70 and several uniforms of her husband, Seaman Stanley Maciejewski, who was home from completion of boot training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. The loss was estimated at $1200, only partially covered by insurance.

Ask Local People To Pick Peaches In Own Baskets

Representative of County to Canvass South For Basket Supply

The harvest of Berrien county's estimated 2,700,000 bushel peach crop is now confronting two major emergencies which may result in much loss if not solved, according to Manager Robert Koenigshof of the Buchanan Co-ops, Inc., who attended meetings of the Berrien County Farm Bureau Board-Friday and Saturday to inquire into both situations. Scarcity of help is the real trouble underlying each shortage. In former years the Deaneet basket making plant at Sodus and the Berrien County package plant at Berrien Springs have taken care of the needs of the county. However, because of lower wage scales these plants have been unable to get enough help to meet the local needs. Manager Koenigshof stated that the woman came to the Deaneet plant at Sodus at 10 p m. Friday night when she was 52nd in line. At 11 a m Saturday she was still 23rd in line with the plant scheduled to close at noon. At the Berrien County Package Co. plant there were between 30 and 40 in line the same day. The Deaneet plant has been able to produce at record capacity of 350 dozen baskets daily in spite of shortage of workers. However, the Berrien County Package plant is a former production Deaneet's has been allotting five dozen baskets per purchase per customer, while Berrien County Package company allots three dozen. Manager Koenigshof states that local people can aid to the extent of volunteering for work and by going to the orchards with their own containers to pick the peaches for their own needs. Elsewhere in this issue is a classified advertisement inserted by a local grower asking for that co-operation. Arrangements were made for a broadcast plea over WLS for merchandisers and wholesalers of the entire Chicago area to collect their used baskets and turn them over to truckers en route to the Benton Harbor market. It is stated that used baskets and those of the manufacture of former years will now be accepted, contrary to the practice of the past. Manager Koenigshof said that it is likely that a representative of this district will be sent to Texas to attempt to buy up any supplies of baskets there, as the fruit picking season is past in that district. A petition signed by 68 growers asking for action and demanding an investigation has been presented to the local U S. Employment Service office. Robert Bernard, manager of the office, in a statement said, "We have given top priority to package manufacturers for labor. Because of the low wage rates and the seasonal nature of the work, the U S. Employment Service has been unable to recruit enough experienced labor for them." Mr Bernard said he was willing to take a list of the former workers of the package manufacturing plants who have quit to take other employment and appeal to each one personally to return to their former jobs to relieve the package bottleneck. Possibility of securing prisoners of war to make baskets was discounted because Nazi in the local area were engaged for fruit harvesting and to work in processing plants. The change in shifts and the rotation of war prisoners from job to job eliminates the likelihood of their gaining enough experience to be of use even if they were permitted to work in the package plants, observers said.

Will Be Center Experimental Work For All Company Plants

Construction of a central laboratory building at the corner of Portage and Dewey to serve experimental-needs of all of the plants of the Clark Equipment Company will be started as soon as the approval of the federal government is secured, according to a statement by plant officials Monday. This laboratory will extend 200 feet east and west along Dewey and 50 feet north and south along Portage. It will be one-story, constructed of brick and glass block, with regular factory sash. It will be set back about 50 feet east of Portage and a lesser distance off Dewey, to the left of the plant entrance in driving in from Portage street. In this building will be centralized all of the experimental work which is being carried on in various parts of the plants in Buchanan, Battle Creek, Berrien Springs and Jackson. In addition to housing all of the present experimental facilities and projects, it will make possible an enlargement and a better organization of such facilities. The lot immediately at the corner of Portage and Dewey had been cleared some time ago. Last week the residence property of Mrs Pauline Donley, which the company had recently bought, was moved to a location on Rynearson street to complete the evacuation of the laboratory site.

Tales of An Old Town An Attempt to Reproduce a Cross Section of The American Scene, As Witnessed Here Through the Past Century

One of the features in Frank Noggle's "Stories of Berrien County" is his list of the first settlers in each township. Noggle limits the classification of "settlers" to those who took up land with the purpose of improving it for a home. Early traders and others who were transient or who had no root in the soil were not included. The list was as follows: Bertrand, Joseph, Bertrand 1796 (West Bertrand, Benjamin Redding, 1832); Niles, Isaac McCoy, 1821; John Johnson, Berrien, 1825; Major Timothy Smith, Lincoln, 1827; St. Joseph, Calvin Brittain, 1825; Oronoko, Samuel Pike, 1825; Buchanan, Charles Cowles, 1833; Bainbridge, Bartholomew Sharris, 1833; Galien, Samuel Garwood, 1834; New Buffalo, Capt. Whitaker, 1834; Benton, Jehll Enos, 1834; Three Oaks, Richard Love, 1835; Lake, John Harner, 1835; Weesaw, Phineas Stratton, 1836; Sodus, William Rector, 1836; Pipestone, James Kirk, 1836; Hagan, Henry Hawley, 1839, and Chickaming, Luman Northrup, 1840. John Johnson, the first man who came to Berrien county for the prime purpose of settlement on the land, walked to the present site of Niles in 1824, in company with four other young men, Squire Thompson, John Lybrook, Joel Yard and Jake Johnson. In 1825 John Johnson acquired some land and built a house near the present site of Berrien Center. In the same year Squire Thompson built the first home on the present site of Niles. Improvements to Include $4-100k Project to Enlarge Oak, 4th, Portage Mains

Announcement of intentions on the part of the city commission of Buchanan to pass a resolution on Sept 11 authorizing the issuance of approximately $20,000 in revenue bonds for waterworks extension is contained in a publication of this issue of the Record. The city commission is taking this action with the understanding that the Federal government will furnish an equal amount in order to assure adequate water supply to the federal trailer and mobile housing communities in the north part of the city. The improvements include the installation of the new pumping station in the west part of Athletic Park, the installation of a large main to Chicago street for the water from the new wells, the enlargement of mains further to accommodate this inflow, and the enlargement of mains on Oak street, Fourth street and North Portage leading immediately to the Federal housing section. Mayor Bradley stated that the sale of the bonds to the extent of $20,000 of the city will be entirely dependent on the final assurance of the government of an equal amount. However, the commission has been given a schedule by the government for its procedure up to the time of securing government approval. The city will be required to place the entire waterworks system on a business basis entirely separate from all city finances, to change the third of the city users now on flat rate over to meters, and to charge such rates as shall be determined by the department, shall both pay its own current expenses and defray the bonded obligations. Bradley stated that the city would proceed with the enlargement of mains on Oak, Fourth and North Portage on the basis of the temporary arrangement by which the government is to advance half of the cost of the estimated $4,100 and not to exceed $4,500, out of the money which it pays to the city in lieu of taxes. If the bond issue through this $4,100 to $4,500 will be covered by the proceeds of their sale.

Sgt. Anderson of Merrill's Marauders Here

Served Four Months With Famed Mission In Burma Area

The Buchanan district has the honor of being host this week to one of the first of the personnel of the famous Merrill Marauders to be returned from their Japanese Burma-China-India theatre of operations, in the person of St Sgt. William J. Anderson, Jr., who is resting at the home of his parents, Mr and Mrs William J. Anderson, Sr., in their cottage on the Fuller side off Clear Lake. Merrill's Marauders, consisting of a regiment who volunteered to go to the assistance of Gen. Stilwell's Chinese army in Burma, harassing their Japanese opponents to permit Stilwell's advance. They were all volunteers enlisted for a dangerous and difficult mission. During the four months while they were accomplishing their mission they walked about 1,000 miles, following indistinct forest paths, cutting their way through dense jungles, operating off the flank of the Japanese forces. They came in frequent contact with patrols of Japanese and at times with the main body. They received only one consignment of mail by plane during that time. They had no motor trucks, their supplies consisting of what they carried themselves or loaded on pack animals, and what was dropped by plane. Their wounded were evacuated by small Taylor Cub planes which landed in rice fields. They effected a junction with Stilwell's army about May 22, and Sgt. Anderson, who had contracted typhus, was evacuated to a hospital in India. Merrill's Marauders consisted of a regiment under the command of Gen. G. Frank Merrill. Before going to Burma Sgt. Anderson was a member of the 126th Infantry, 32nd division. He entered the army at Grand Rapids. In all he has been overseas in the South Pacific 28 months, going first to Australia, and then to New Guinea where he served in the Buna and Buna Mission fights. After hospitalization in India, he was flown back to the United States. (Continued on page 2.)

HOME COOKING

By Ruth Taylor
What America needs is old fashioned home cooking. You know the kind I mean. Those big hearty country dishes that simmered in an iron pot on a big stove for hours and that came to the table in a steaming aroma that made your mouth water. Cooked slowly, you could distinguish the taste of every ingredient so blended together that it made a delicious whole.

Pressure cooking may be modern—but as a people we resent it. We want to know what is cooking. We want to see what is in the pot. We want to know what we are eating. We don't want our vegetables and meat so mixed we can't tell which is which.

We are a beef stew country. And we want our stew made just right. Not one of those quick conglomeration hastily thrown together—being a carefully blended dish with due respect shown to the beef and the onions, the carrots and the potatoes. Any good cook knows the longer you simmer it together, the better it is. In fact, the old school holds it should never be eaten until the second day.

Another analogy. We are mixed peoples—all ingredients needed and none better than any other. Each at its best and each adding to the whole.

You know, after all we have a right to be pretty proud of our melting pot. Our nation grew from transplanted stock—and here a fruit tree, the transplanting and grafting have worked to give better fruit.

This admixture of other bloods, this heterogeneity has been our strength in the past. It will be our strength and safeguard in the future. Not for us the deadly monotony of uniformity. The spice that adds zest and savor to the dish comes from the mixing of the ingredients.

This does not imply that any one ingredient in our national life must be more predominant over any other. This does not mean that each ingredient must be separate and apart—cooked in compartments where the aroma cannot blend. It does mean that the cooking of the national "stew" must be a drawing from all ingredients of their finest qualities, that of them so as to give out their goodness and to combine it so as to blend the flavor of each separate ingredient into a harmonious whole.

We don't want formulas or short cuts. We want home cooking not pressure cooking—and we are not afraid to set up our national dish against that of any other nation!

HOLLYWOOD

Helen Talbot Tops in Film Startlets
Among the most promising of the current crop of film startlets is lovely Helen Talbot, who plays the feminine lead opposite Don "Red" Barry in Republic's "Canyon City," to be shown at the Hollywood theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 10-11-12.

And whereas young startlets usually exchange a more or less commonplace legal name for a glamorous screen name, Helen did just the opposite, her real surname is Darding.

Wally Vernon provides comedy for "Canyon City." Other players featured are Morgan Conway, Twinkie Watts, Emmett Vogan, Roy Barcroft, Leroy Mason, Jack Kirk, Stanley Andrews and Pierce Lyden.

Top Tunes Tops in "Hey, Rookie"
Columbia's soldier musical, "Hey, Rookie" showing at the Hollywood theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 10-11-12, is gay with eight potential song hits. "It's Great to be in Uniform," "There Goes Taps," "Take a Chance," "It's a Swelluva Life in the Army" and "When the Yard Birds Come to Town" composed by Sgt. J. C. Lewis, Jr. and "Hey, Rookie," "Streamlined Sheik" and "You're Good for My Morale" by Henry Myers, Edward Elsen and Jay Gorney, who are also co-authors of the screenplay.

Nancy Walker Gives Her View on a Glamour Girl
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's portrait photographer has given up attempts to glamorize Nancy Walker, persuaded by Nancy herself.

When he arrived on the set of "Broadway Rhythm," Technicolor musical which appears at the Hollywood theatre Sunday and Monday, Aug. 13-14, loaded to the gunnels with cameras and equipment, Nancy greeted him.

"What in thunder do you want?" "I've come to glamorize you," he said.

Nancy scowled. "Are you kidding? You haven't got enough equipment!"

"But, Nancy, the boys in camp want to make you their pin-up girl!"

"Oh, no, you don't! They're not going to pin up my picture so they can throw darts at it!"

And no pictures were made!

Robert Watson is Hitler's Double in "Hitler Gang"
The closest thing to Hitler that has yet reached American shores is Robert Watson. He is seen as the degenerate Fuehrer in Paramount's "The Hitler Gang," showing at the Hollywood Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 15-16.

Watson was chosen to portray Hitler by Director John Farrow after an exhaustive search and much screen-testing. The reason Watson was selected is readily apparent to audiences viewing the film. The resemblance is astounding.

In the first place, Watson is built along Hitler's lines (physical only), his height and weight being practically identical with the misguided Fuehrer's.

When make-up is applied, however, any F. B. I. man might be fooled and certainly an amateur could never spot the difference.

Watson, an old-timer in Hollywood, is debonair and amusing off the screen. His acting ability, though, can go unquestioned after his "Hitler Gang" role. He practically lived the part prior to filming and it showed up in the screening of the picture.

Watson makes a trailer his residence in Hollywood and on many occasions the neighbors heard ranting and guttural noises as Watson rehearsed. The Hitlerian ravings reached a point where even the actor's friends wondered whether or not Hitler was in Berlin or Hollywood.

speedily found another spot a block down Front. It really does much better where it is.

Up on the corner of Main and Front they had the drinking fountain hooked up in the base of it and every cold spell the clock would freeze up.

Then pretty soon all the Front streeters would say, darn it! why don't Ed Mitchell get that clock started, what else has he got to do, and then Ed Mitchell would go across the street and tell Arlie Hamlin, damn it, why not fix the clock since he had nothing else to do.

None of which signified anything but politeness as it is known on Front street, and after the ritual had been completed Arlie would go over and start the clock. If we remember right, it was when they moved the clock down to the present location that they electrified it.

Anyway if we're not right all the Old Timers will call up and electrify us as soon as the paper is out.

But there it stands today as it has stood day in and day out for night on to 34 years, the most consistent corner-stander-owner in the history of the town and believe me, that is a real accomplishment for it has had some good competition.

During its reign on Front it saw the first World War come and go, it saw the boom days of the twenties and the hungry days of the thirties; it saw World War II come in and it will see it go out, and what else it will see lies in the dim, undecipherable future.

But you guys who waved your hands at it as you went will see it again when you return, although the rigidity of its routine never permits it to wave a hand back.

It was about the only constant fare-well committee for all of the outgoing units. Here's hoping there will be a larger reception committee when you return.

That you and the old town clock will soon meet again and that there will be a bigger reunion than that of the historic Home Com'ag of 1910 is the fervent wish of

Your Humble Correspondent.

Robert Clark Sends Story of His Ship

Robert Clark, Fireman First Class, U. S. Adonis, former LST boat and now a repair ship heavily damaged during the preliminary invasion operations, has recently written to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Judson Clark, Gahen, enclosing a story which appeared in the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal relative to the ship's experience. He was formerly an apprentice at the Clark Equipment Company. His father is an employee in the foundry. The letter was, in part, as follows:

Some where in France Hello Everybody I am enclosing an article written a short time ago on some happenings so I suppose it will answer a few questions—not all, I know. The captain let us copy it and let us send it to our homes for you folks to read now if you haven't read it. This is all I can say about it for now.

Well, not much more news only I hope to see you all soon. So write be good all I am going to drop Grandmother Clark a copy of it.

Well be good and tell all I said hello So long for now

Your son,

Robert Edward Clark F 1/c

The following is the release from the Louisville Courier-Journal, Louisville, Ky.

Seriously, the Adonis has played a very important role in the invasion and preparation for it, and she's still playing it. Some time ago no less a personage than Britain's First Lord of the Admiralty, Alexander visited aboard and told Commander Thompson that the ex-LST was "one of the finest pieces of equipment I've ever seen."

Half a dozen American and British admirals have inspected her and agreed unanimously that the old lady is quite a girl. And Joe Louis had lunch aboard one day, to make the accolade complete.

The Adonis is a highly specialized craft—a combination floating machine shop, carpenter shop, foundry and what have you. She was built to do major repair work on all types of small craft, and minor to middling jobs for any ship afloat.

For more than four months she was moored in one of Britain's largest invasion ports, with her 250 crew members swarming over an endless procession of all sorts of landing craft and warships. Up to D-day she had worked on more than 300 craft ranging in size from a tiny LVT to one of our most powerful destroyers.

She followed Invasion Forces. She had converted a destroyer escort into a DE flotilla flagship, making extensive additions and alterations. She had overhauled and repaired the power plants of dozens of LST's and other ships. She had been a busy and efficient lady, despite her look of awkwardness and her tendency to try to play possum at sea.

The Adonis arrived at one of the hottest of the invasion beaches the day after D-day, and she's been here ever since, working sixteen to seventeen hours a day to put knocked-out landing craft back into service.

Jeffersonville well may be proud that the Adonis was built there, she's real unsung heroine of the Second Front.

Mrs. Wuma Maxwell left Tuesday for Providence, R. I., to make her home with her husband, Gene Maxwell Petty Officer, 3rd class.

Merton Lee Hanlin is expected to arrive home about Sept 1 after a year of active duty in the South Pacific as an armed guard on a merchantman.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Good morning, Doc. Your good wife tells me you're working night and day now that so many of the younger doctors are in the army." "That's right, Judge, and I'm glad I'm still able to do it. Had a long letter from Harry... that bright young fellow I was broken in to take over my practice. He said the boys in the service are getting the best medical care of any armed force in our history. They really should with all those brilliant doctors and plenty of supplies to work with." "Speaking of supplies, Doc, not many people realize that a large part of the alcohol required to make the medical supplies that are being used right this minute to alleviate pain, combat infection and save human lives, is produced by the beverage distilling industry. For nearly two years this entire industry has been working night and day producing nothing but alcohol for the government's program." "Nobody knows better than I, Judge, what an important contribution to our war effort that has been."

My neighbor on the next street had a telephone installed. Why did he get one before me? Possibly your neighbor is a person to whom a telephone is essential in performance of important war duties, or for public health, welfare or security. Such orders come first today, and are filled promptly. Or he may have moved from elsewhere in the same exchange or an adjacent one where he already had service. Or, it may be that your neighbor ordered a telephone before you did, in which case it's only right that he should have the preference. Such orders can be installed only as present users give up service. In handling them, we follow a uniform and fair procedure provided for in orders of the War Production Board and in tariffs filed with the proper regulatory bodies. Problems like this are unavoidable in wartime, when the armed forces need almost all the telephone and other communications equipment that can be manufactured. We, too, will be glad when we again can supply all the service everybody needs - immediately.

Is the "Servants Door" Open in Your House? FOR low wages, innumerable electric servants will do your bidding at the touch of a switch—provided you invite them into your home through the open door of adequate wiring. Without enough electric circuits having large enough wires—without enough outlets conveniently placed, you limit the uses of electricity. Ample channels must be provided for all the appliances that will be available to make living more enjoyable. The future will bring new developments—in lighting, cooking, refrigeration, air conditioning—that will enrich family life and enhance health and welfare. You should start thinking and planning now for Electrical Living, whether you intend to build a new home or to remodel the old. The Electrical Home of Tomorrow will run as smoothly and easily—will serve you as unobtrusively as Electricity itself—if, by wise foresight now and action as soon as possible after the war, you provide Adequate Wiring. He doesn't have time to think about being a hero... He's too busy winning the war. When a landing is made, he often leads the way. When a river is crossed, he is among the first to go over. When a town or a pillbox is tough to crack, he moves in and cracks it wide open. He's the guy they call on for miracles... and he makes 'em in his stride. He's G. I. Joe... the doughboy... the mud-slogging Infantryman. He's doing one of the biggest jobs in the war... and it gets bigger every day. Our job over here... the job of backing him up... is growing bigger and tougher, too... as we speed more men, more guns, more fighting equipment on the way to the front lines. Last year, the nation's railroads hauled more passengers and freight than at any time in history. And this year, in spite of manpower shortages, they are carrying even more. That's why we ask you-when you use the New York Central or any railroad-to remember that railway space is more vital today than it has ever been before... and that every inch must carry its full wartime load. For only by even greater cooperation and understanding, on the part of shippers and receivers of freight and the traveling public, can we get the things done over here that help the doughboy make his "miracles" over there.
