The fishing story of the week is as follows: Mi and Mrs Albert Decker and family spent the weekend at Gravel Lake near Marcellus, and they report the following catch: one pickerel, 29 1/2 inches long and weighing 5 1/2 pounds, one pickerel 24 inches long, weighing 3 1/2 pounds, legal limit of both bass and bluegills

From Buchanan Knoblauch went to Cassopolis as superintendent of schools, resigning to accept a scholarship at Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. He is now on the staff of the University of Connecticut at Storrs, Conn. The article follows:

10 Cans Beans Blown to Bits Wrecking Oven

New Type Can Lids With No Allowance for Escape Steam Blamed

That "Victory" canning campaigns may have their hazards as well as more military aspects of the war was forcibly illustrated in the case of Mrs. F. R. Arthurhultz, who very narrowly escaped death Wednesday afternoon when ten cans of beans which she was baking in an electric oven exploded, blowing out the oven door and showering the right side of her body with fine glass and hot beans.

Mrs. Arthurhultz had turned off the current a few minutes before. Although the violence of the impact of the explosion had left her only partly conscious, she stated afterward that she believed she had just gone to the oven, opened the door to look at the beans, and had closed it, the explosion practically coinciding with the impact of closing the door.

The force bulged the entire oven out of shape, running it, and bent the door so that much of the force went out Mrs. Arthurhultz was standing in front of the plates on the combination stove, to the right of the oven. The main force of the explosion went directly outward, shooting beans and glass over the opposite side and ceiling. The enamel of a refrigerator was damaged by the glass and the paint on walls and woodwork also hurt. Only the right side of Mrs. Arthurhultz, on the side next to the oven, was hurt. She received second degree burns on the forearm holding the door and on the right leg. She also received numerous cuts from flying glass.

Although stunned she was able to get to the telephone and notify her husband and a physician. She was taken to the Pawating hospital at Niles.

Trailer Camp Best Plan For Migrant Labor

Complete Installation of Unit to be Rented Only to New Defense Labor

A unit of 25 trailer camps has been installed on the trailer lot adjoining the William Forst property on the north, which are to be rented to new employees coming from the outside to work in Buchanan defense plants.

It is emphasized by those in charge that they cannot be rented to people already living and working here. It is also emphasized that this is a federal trailer camp and that it is outside of the jurisdiction of the city, which had no jurisdiction over its establishment or management.

City officials stated, however, that much of the objections heard from local people have not been very well informed, as the camp now established is complete in sanitary appointments and is to be supervised. They stated that in their opinion this arrangement is the best that can be made for the accommodation of transient labor coming here for the duration of the war only. Last winter and spring a number of flimsy houses were erected in the northeast part of the city which at once became a sanitary problem because all sanitary utilities were lacking.

They emphasize that these trailer houses belong to the federal government and are to be moved away as soon as the war emergency is past. At present the completed unit has a laundry trailer at one end and a public toilet trailer at the other, with very satisfactory sanitary connections. Such sanitary units are to be set up for each unit of 25 trailer houses. There will be a federal man in constant charge to take care of all problems including order.

Movable trailers are a better arrangement than promiscuous shacks, with no sanitary arrangements, constituting a problem while inhabited and an eye sore afterward.

Miss Joy Longworth visited her grandmother, Mrs. C. E. Carlson, Dearborn, Mich., on Wednesday until Friday of last week.

M and Mrs. A. I. Frey of Chicago arrived Sunday to visit until Wednesday with Rev. and Mrs. Neil Pease.

Soldier Says Home Front Lax on Buying Bonds

Asserts That if Soldier With Family Can Buy Little, Civilians Could Buy a Lot

If men drawing $50 per month army pay, with family responsibilities, can buy bonds, it ought to be easy for people on the home front making several times that much in wages or business revenue, according to Everett W. Place, who left Tuesday for his service post at Camp Carson, Colo., after a furlough spent visiting his father, Harry Place.

"I've heard a lot of kidding around Buchanan just during the week while I've been home," said young Place, "People kick about everything, particularly about tax deductions and having to buy bonds. They say they can't afford to buy bonds on account of the higher cost of living and the deductions for taxes. I think that nearly all of them can."

"I get $50 a month. My wife gets a dependent's allowance of $50 and there is an additional allowance of $12.50 for my baby. A total of $92.50 is deducted from my $50 for insurance, bonds and laundry. That leaves just a bit over $100 per month for the three of us to live on."

"We rent an apartment in Colorado Springs, where I stay nights with my family, eating only one meal at the army mess. If I and the other soldiers can spare a little out of that much to buy bonds the people making as much money as they are at home can buy a lot."

Bertha Markley, Native of Buchanan, Community, Dies

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Guy Cauffman of R. R. 2, Buchanan, and Mrs. Keith Everman of R. R. Niles, by a sister, Mrs. Lucie Moger of Long Beach, Calif. She died Thursday at her home on R. R. 2, seven miles northwest of Buchanan.

Entire Quota For Buchanan Is $750,000

Includes $337,500 War Savings Bonds; County Gets Quota $5,430,000

The campaign to meet the Buchanan quota of $750,000 for the Third War Loan Drive will start on Sept. 1, which is next Wednesday, according to the local chairman, Oscar Swartz.

Chairman Swartz states that the overall quota is divided as follows: E-Bonds (commonly known as War Savings Bonds) $337,500; Series F and G bonds, $43,750; 16 corporations, 2 and 2 1/2% bonds, 7/8 bonds and C tax notes, $360,750. The total quota is slightly larger than it was for the Second Victory Drive during April, when Buchanan had an overall quota of $725,000, which however was oversubscribed by more than 200%.

The local quotas will include the Clark Equipment company force here.

Berrien county's quota in the Third War Loan drive starting Sept. 9 is $51,430,000 it was announced Thursday.

About one-half of this quota is to be subscribed by individuals with the other half by corporations. Banks will not be permitted to participate in the Third War Loan.

The county's quota was fixed at last night's meeting of the September campaign. Bond chairmen from each community in the county attended the meeting, held at Holly's Grill, St. Joseph.

Dave Segan, Benton Harbor, chairman of the county committee, presided and the group was addressed by Walter J. Wade, Grand Rapids, executive manager of the Michigan War Finance committee, and Russell A. Swaney, deputy director of banking division of the War Finance committee.

"Stress Sales to Individuals." Mr. Wade said that Michigan's quota for the drive, which opens Sept. 9 and continues through the month, has been fixed at $74,814,000, and that the purpose of the drive is to sell the bonds to individual citizens and corporations.

The slogan for the Third War Loan drive is "Back The Attack With War Bonds" as the allies continue their drive against the Axis.

Others who spoke last night include Lowell Swem, Buchanan, who explained the methods used in the successful drive here last April, Chester I. Monroe, of Watervliet, Oscar Barker, Benton Harbor, Fred Vandenburg, of Niles, Dave Barton, of New Troy, and W. C. Herbold, of New Buffalo.

Three Sales Methods. Three methods will be employed to speed the sale of war bonds in the September drive.

The "Gallant 60,000," comprising persons who have each agreed to sell $1,000 worth of bonds or more, will operate again next month. The Retail Merchants Association of Michigan has agreed to furnish 30,000 of the "Gallant 60,000."

The E Bond Fathers will be organized. They are the men with sons in the service who will each buy a $100 bond for their sons and also sell bonds to others.

The third method will be to increase the payroll deductions of all factory workers during September.

Community Quotas. More than half of the county's quota will be sold in the four largest cities. Benton Harbor's quota was fixed at $2,000,000; Niles, $1,000,000; St. Joseph, $900,000, and Buchanan, $750,000.

Quotas for other communities will be as follows: Baroda, $25,000; Berrien Springs, $200,000; Bridgman, $100,000; Coloma, $100,000; Eau Claire, $50,000; Galien, $50,000; Grand Beach, $10,000; Harbor, $5,000; Lakeside, $10,000; New Buffalo, $50,000; New Troy, $15,000; Sawyer, $10,000; Soda, $10,000; Stevensville, $20,000; Three Oaks, $200,000; Watervliet, $150,000; Union Pier, $10,000.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Anything new, Bert, on that black market trial up at the county seat?"
"The jury came in 'bout an hour ago, Judge. The verdict was 'guilty.' I understand the sentence is going to be a mighty stiff one."
"Can't be too stiff to suit me. Anything those law-flouting racketeers get will be too good for them. How they thrive every time there's an opportunity to sell something illegally instead of legally in this country. Just like the bootleggers did during the 14 years when liquor was sold illegally instead of legally."
"Unless this black market in meat and other commodities is stamped out and stamped out quickly, Bert, we're in for another dose of the crime, corruption and lawlessness we had following the last World War."

If They Can Do It, We Can!

Whenever the going here at home seems too tough, we think of the front-line railroaders... the men who keep supplies moving up to the fighters in the battle zones. Bombs rip the tracks from under their wheels. Enemy planes machine-gun them from cab to caboose. Yet somehow, by sheer guts and fighting heart, they get the Army supply trains through. Some of them worked with us on the Central, before they traded their overalls for uniforms. And a lot more of us would like to be over there with them. But we know that we've got our railroading job to do too... behind the lines. We can't hear the big guns blasting back here. But we can see thousands of freight trains thundering across the country day and night... packed to the couplings with fighting equipment... carrying double the loads they carried before... racing against time. We can't go into battle with the two million soldiers we help transport each month. But we can back them up. We can keep guns and shells, tanks and jeeps, planes and bombs pouring in a mighty torrent over America's rails... from thousands of roaring warplants to thousands of waiting ships... to make sure that these fighting men have more than enough to bury Axis aggression beneath an overwhelming weight of armor and firepower!

And we can't ride with those fighting railroaders in the cabs of their Army engines. But we can promise them that no job will be too big, no working hours too long, no sacrifice too great... if what we do will shorten the war as much as a single day.

For they are more than holding up their end of the greatest supply line on earth. And if they can do it over there, we can keep on doing it here!

Sgt. Bachman Sends Story of How Mich. Man Flew Faster Than Sound

Clipping From London Daily Mail Tells How Lt. Col. Hough Power-Dived 780 M. P. H.

The following account of how a Michigan man achieved the feat of flying faster than sound was clipped from an English newspaper, The London Daily Mail, by Sgt. Joe Bachman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bachman, Charles Court.

Dear Mr Hawes I thought perhaps you might have read the story in the American papers of this flyer who made these spectacular speeds while in England. If so, and he's from Michigan he was once my C. O. and still is, in fact, with Fighter Command, here, where I am I've known him since I've been in the air force, in fact, he was the first one I flew with when I was at Selfridge Field.

We have been awfully busy here, of which, has Germany now practically on her knees — and has put a lot of gray hair in some heads, but, the sooner the better I guess.

This is the fantastic story of how a man flew faster than sound can travel, at how he power-dived vertically at 780 miles an hour from 43,000 ft.—more than eight miles—above England's summit countryside, of what he felt and saw in the fleeting space of 30 seconds which "seemed like 20 years."

"I didn't think about taking the plunge — I just put her nose down and went for the earth, gradually gaining maximum speed. I suppose it was about five seconds after reaching my ceiling that I started to make the power dive and I was diving for 25 seconds at 1,000 ft a second.

"In the middle 15 seconds my hands were off the controls — it was a bit risky, I admit — and I was writing data with my eyes glued to the instruments that told me of my speed and other things. "It sure was a thrill when I realized at one point that I was traveling faster than the sound of my engines and faster than the speed of my propellers.

"I wasn't conscious of any sensation in particular — only the rather comfortable feeling of going through solid air. There was the noise of it like the roaring and rushing of a sea past my cabin and the shrill screaming of the propellers.

"When I judged that I had reached the limit of possible velocity with the engines full on I thought I would feather the propellers to give me even a little more speed.

"But as I began to reduce power the nose of the plane started to turn inwards on an outside loop. That cured me pretty quick of any desire to 'feather' the propellers just 18 seconds.

"I held on to maximum speed for 10 sec — I had no sensation of speed at all, for there was nothing to impress it on my notice.

"If I had passed anything going down or could have kept my eyes on the earth leaping up to meet me it would have been different.

"When I had got to within 18,000 ft of the ground I guessed it was time to let the old instinct of self-preservation have its way. I started to flatten out. This was the really exciting part.

"I had only 18 sec to go before reaching the ground, and I had to act quickly and at the same time very carefully. If I had pulled out suddenly I wouldn't have been here to tell the tale. However, I got her out in a nice curve — and that was unpleasant enough.

Revitalize Room Color contrasts relieve the bare feeling of an underfurnished room. If pictures or furniture are lacking for one side of the room, try installing a sun-foot color panel on that wall.

Select a color which will accentuate the color dominant in a piece of furniture in the other side of the room. Also, architectural features can be accented by color panels. If the dining room is not a separate room from the living, it can be made to appear as such, by the clever installation of panels to seemingly divide the room.

Ration Boards Short Over 10,000 Tires In West Michigan

If your application for a grade one tire has been approved by a rationing board and you are still without a new tire — you be patient — there are 4,907 others in western Michigan waiting for the same purpose.

In figures released today by F. A. Starr, district OPA mileage rationing representative at Grand Rapids, the critical rubber situation is emphasized since the spread between approved applications and reduced tire and tube quotas grows greater. Each month more tires on automobiles are rendered useless while at the same time ration board tire quotas are reduced.

The following table reveals the number of approved but unfilled applications now in the hands of 41 rationing boards in the 30 county OPA district in western Michigan:

Grade 1 passenger car tires, 4,907
Grade 3 passenger car tires, 2,425
Passenger car tubes, 2,372
Truck tires, 1,571
Truck tubes, 685
Farm tractor and implement tires, 195

National quotas are established on a monthly basis by William Jeffers, rubber director, Western Michigan rationing boards are operating with an August quota of 29% below the July figure.

Plan to Resume Salvaging Paper in Berrien County

Paper is playing a tremendously important role in winning the war, yet the majority of Michigan's paper mills are facing a shortage of supply. Through the state salvage committee, WPF has issued a call to all salvage committees to begin an intensive drive for waste paper, based on a situation which finds one of Michigan's most important mills with only enough paper for seven days production.

"Our army fights with paper," said W H Ebbenberg, chairman of the Berrien county salvage committee. In making V containers in which food, medical supplies and ammunition are shipped overseas, a half million tons of paper are needed each year. In the kind of warfare which we have today, not only the officers but the men have maps, — literally thousands of tons of maps to chart the road to victory.

The Berrien county salvage committee is working out plans for the collection of waste paper, and asks each home, office, store and plant to start now, salvaging and bundling brown paper bags and wrapping paper, corrugated and cardboard containers, newspaper, magazines and wastebasket paper. The collection will be expedited if sorting is done in advance, and the various kinds of paper stacked and banded individually. Wastebasket paper should be packed down in a box or bag for easy handling. It is the job of Michigan homes and business to keep the state's paper mills adequately supplied for war production. Start salvaging paper today, and have a good supply ready for collection when definite plans are announced by the salvage committee.

Appearance Counts
Personnel managers know from long experience that employees who are immaculate about their own bodies and clothes are much more likely to produce accurate work.

I write letters in the nearly-dark.

THIS is part of an actual letter from a soldier overseas:

"It's not the big things that you miss out here. It's little things. Like street noises. Or an electric lamp. Where we are there ain't no such. Since I'm on duty all day, I write letters in the nearly-dark. Funny, how you can miss a common, ordinary electric light bulb."

Here at home, folks take electricity for granted. Take for granted that, when their fingers flip that switch, the lights will blaze — instantly!

The fact that you do take electric service for granted is a tribute to the men and women who supply it. They've made it dependable—and they've made it cheap. The average American family gets about twice as much electricity for its money as it did fifteen years ago.

Soldier, we're sorry we can't do much about sending you electricity over there. But we are pouring power into industry over here, so that you can have the tanks, planes, ships and guns you need.

The electric companies under business management are in the war — as you are — to dispel the darkness of state slavery! . . . Here's for seeing you — when the lights go on again — everywhere!
