Seasonal Chant
When the winds are high as the price of eggs,
When the tree limbs are bare as the ladies' legs,
When all the thermometers, up and down the street,
Call each other liars through the fog and sleet,
"It's six" — "it's seven" — "it's ten below" —
"No it ain't, it's eleven, your so-and-so!"

The Sad Case of Mrs. K. Schneider
Perhaps they're "sunk root" but they don't seem to be sub anything else in particular which brings us to the consideration — how do the girls manage to go stockless without freezing the hide right off their calves?

Honest — this is an up-and-up scientific inquiry which we have a perfect right to go through with and not any matter of prurient curiosity. The term "prurient curiosity" has, as you very likely know, the meaning of — oh well, go look it up yourself!

But the whole thing carries us back to Mrs. K. Schneider, which was just about what her name was, out in good ol' Wyoming where we come from

It was in the happy days when skirts were getting shorter and shorter and the possible ceiling was a matter of much speculation. Mrs. K. Schneider took to the style even if she was old enough to know better.

Tales of An Old Town

An Attempt to Reproduce a Cross Section of The American Scene, As Witnessed Here Through the Past Century
The writer wishes to correct one detail in the "old town" series of last week — that stating that the present Hotel Buchanan was built by Dunbar. It was built by the firm of Weaver & Fox, but the writer believes that it was early acquired by Dunbar, for it was known not long after and for some time as the Hotel Dunbar.

1. Although the impact of war is of its nature cruel, yet experience has enabled the United States army to administer both enlistment and draft much more scientifically and more humanely than was the case in the Civil War.

2. Condition of both army life and home-front civilian life were much harder on the average in this war, but in the former case were met with more stolid endurance and less "squawk" than today.

Of course the population of Michigan grew slightly during the Civil War (and rapidly afterward) but allowing for increase, approximately 11% or one out of every nine of the entire population was in the army. In Berrien county, the portion in the army was over 12% or about one out of eight of the whole.

The only list of men in service in Buchanan that the writer knows of is one compiled in connection with the Buchanan service map, which now lists about 380 men from Buchanan and surrounding vicinity, including Buchanan township and parts of Bertrand and Niles townships.

Maroons to Try Again Here Fri. Eve vs. St. Johns

Loses to S.B. Central Catholic 49-26; Reserves Win in Curtain Raiser
Buchanan again will attempt to jump into the Benton Harbor Friday night on the local floor after losing to a strong South Bend Central Catholic team 49-26.

The sight of Buchanan's second team running completely over the younger friends in the first game must have had a highly inflammatory effect on Central Catholic Indians, who put on their war paint and burned up the court for a 25 to 8 lead in the first half here Friday night and then managed to save enough power the balance of the game to win 46-29.

Buchanan's second team salvaged some glory out of Friday night's battles by winning from Central Catholic Bees 29-12. Coach Sukys' boys had a 23 to 9 lead in the first half and coasted on from there to win a very lopsided game.

Eliminate Front and Oak Traffic Light

State Highway Department Is Advocating Cutting Out Unneeded Lights to Save Gasoline
The traffic-light at the intersection of Front and Oak streets was discontinued last week with the understanding that stop signs are to be installed calling for stops for both streets.

This was recommended some time ago by the state highway department, which stated that the light was not necessary and that its elimination would mean possible savings in both gasoline and rubber. This program is being actively pushed by the new state highway commissioner, Lloyd B. Reid.

Reid has written all county road commissions and municipalities in the state asking them to join in the program and offering them the services of highway department traffic engineers.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Quite a discussion some of the boys were having down at lodge meeting last night, Judge... you know, in the anteroom before the election of officers."

"Sure was... and Herb was dead wrong. The alcoholic beverage industry does account for more taxes than any other industry. I checked the figures in my office this morning. Why the figure on alcoholic beverages is pretty close to a billion and a half dollars a year. Lucky thing we haven't got prohibition or the government would have to make up the money some other way. And there's only one answer to that—more taxes. You know what that would add up to?... about $25 more taxes a year for every man and woman in the country. In other words you and Sue would have to pay about $50 more in some form of tax. I guess about the only ones who'd come out ahead on that deal would be the bootleggers and gangsters"

"Mexican Spitfire" in New Laugh Riot Piling laugh on laugh "Mexican Spitfire's Elephant" is said to be the biggest fun hit of all the popular RKO Radio comedies starring Leon Errol and Lupe Velez.

It appears on the Hollywood screen Friday and Saturday, Jan. 29-30.

The plot revolves around the loss of an onyx elephant containing a valuable jewel which smugglers have entrusted to Errol. The efforts of the crooks to retrieve the diamond and the complications which result when it is mislaid, build up to a new high in comedy as well as action. A beautiful blonde, who almost breaks up two homes in her efforts to locate the missing gem, and Lupe's flirtations with one of the smugglers, provide additional side-splitting situations, one of which involves a real pink elephant with green spots.

"Jingle Jangle" Song Written for Movie Yes, the phenomenally popular hit tune, "Jingle Jangle Jingle," was written specially for Paramount's thrilling outdoor adventure film, "The Forest Rangers."

Set to show Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Jan 31-Feb 1-2, at the Hollywood theatre with Paullette Goddard, Fred MacMurray and Susan Hayward as the stars, "The Forest Rangers" is a powerful romantic film from the pen of Thelma Strabel, who wrote Cecil B. DeMille's saga of the sea, "Reap the Wild Wind" Like that picture, this epic of America's great lumberlands was filmed in Technicolor. The supporting cast includes Lynne Overman, Albert Dekker, Regis Toomey and Rod Cameron.

"Buzz" Meredith New Lieutenant Lt. Burgess Meredith, U S Army Air Force, is all-out for victory.

Meredith, star of Paramount's chiller-diller mystery movie "Street of Chance," now giving the jitters is coming to the Hollywood Wednesday and Thursday, Feb 3-4. He joined the army as a private immediately upon completion of the picture. He was promptly given officer training and only recently received his commission. After entering the army he found himself in demand as an actor rather than as a fighting man—and appeared on Broadway opposite Katherine Cornell in a production of Bernard Shaw's "Candida" for Army Relief.

"Wings and the Woman" Shows Girls in War Co-operation of Great Britain's Air Ministry, Ministry of Aircraft Production, Army and Navy has enabled Herbert Wilcox to film one of the most extraordinary and moving sequences ever taken—nothing less than the saga of war effort of British and Allied women today.

The scenes make a fitting climax to "Wings and the Woman," his new film for RKO Radio in which Anna Neagle and Robert Newton re-enact the amazing careers of the record-breaking flyers Amy Johnson, Mollison and Jim Mollison.

Wife, ATS girls, Wrens, ferry pilots and women from all over the English-speaking world were among those released to take their part in this cavalcade of women at war. Some of their work is commonplace now in the Allied war effort. Other activities are as spectacular as they are little known.

But for the first time in two-and-a-half years of war they will all be seen marching in dramatic review, in this production, and also flying the fastest Spitfires and latest bombers to air bases, and even manning A-1 guns—one team recently opened the women's account against Hitler by bringing down a Nazi bomber.

The picture appears at the Hollywood Wednesday and Thursday, Feb 3-4.

State Plans Great Park at Warren Dunes Conserv. Dept. Buys More Land For State Park; Plans Post-War Development

The Michigan conservation department has purchased another 40 acres of land for the Warren Dunes State Park site on US-12, 22 miles northwest of Buchanan, Harry H. Whiteley, Dowagiac, member of the conservation commission, advised Robert H. Ludwig, St. Joseph, president of the Berrien County Sportsmen's club, last week.

The point in the Warren Dunes State Park best known by Buchananites is Tower Hill and its adjacent bathing beach, located toward the southwestern end of the state park acreage.

The land just acquired by the conservation commission is the Sasek property adjoining the Warren dunes, and is a key piece in the state park development.

Purchase of the Sasek property is another step in the gradual unfolding of plans for what will eventually become one of the outstanding recreational areas of the middle west.

Surveys Under Way "Surveys are now under way by the state parks division of the department of conservation to develop plans for improvement of the dunes area."

The plans will become a part of a proposed post-war public works program.

At the same time acquisition of more land is continuing.

The state contemplates a park embracing more than 4,000 acres, with a Lake Michigan frontage of more than 12,000 feet.

Warren Dunes Nucleus Development of the Warren Dunes, one of the finest formations of the kind along the Lake Michigan shore line, into a huge recreational area was first visualized fifteen years ago when the E. K. Warren Foundation gave the state of Michigan a 100-year lease on 250 acres along the shore. For the next decade nothing further was done toward converting the land and beach into a park. However, five years ago the department of conservation began to formulate plans. Since that time an additional 350 acres were acquired by purchase and exchange, until today there are 600 acres under state control having an aggregate of 3,100 feet of beach frontage. The state now has an investment of over $60,000 in the property. Options have now been obtained for an additional 220 acres having 2,770 feet of frontage.

What Plans Include The plans being formulated for development of the park include an entrance road or roads from highway US-12, which skirts the property on the east, bath houses, a hotel site, camping grounds, and group camp locations.

Editorial

Did you ever think what courtesy can do for a fellow? Yes, it will really put you ahead in the world. Remember, a man's first duty is to respect himself by being physically clean and neat. One of the fundamentals of respect is courtesy, and showing courtesy to your family, friends, and associates.

Show yourself that you can be courteous and respectful too. Start to do this with a few of the little things such as, removing your hat in the house, opening doors for others, and not shouting and whistling.

If you can do these small things without being told, you have taken a step in the right direction to be more courteous and respectful. Courtesy will unlock any door which you wish to open.

Pupils Should Make Real Effort to Help

Begin to be a useful citizen in the community, and a useful member of the family. When you are called in the morning, rise at once, help to save your mother a lot of nervous energy she needs for the day's work.

Before leaving the house in the morning put your room in order. This kind of help is needed badly. When you go to school, keep on being helpful by obeying the bells and whistles. Attend to the little things that make school and home life more comfortable.

Dewey Avenue News

The second grade is glad to have Yvonne Arndt back at school. We were all glad that the accident she suffered turned out to be a minor one.

The fourth grade at the Dewey School is, at present, enjoying the experience of creating and writing its own play for the assembly program next month. We think we are doing nicely, and we hope our prospective audience thinks the same.

The children in Kindergarten are working hard on Manuscript Writing. We've had fun playing the story of "The Three Little Pigs".

Mrs. Helm's first grade is studying the life of the Eskimos and painting pictures of the northland with some new poster paints.

The children in Miss Kappel's third grade had been discussing the scarcity of food for the birds in winter, so they decided to have a bird feeding station. They bring food for the birds every day, and many birds come each day for food.

The children in Mrs. Wilcox's third grade have been reading about early ways of travel by stage coach and about the first locomotive called the "Tom Thumb." There has been a great deal of absence in our room due to sickness and bad weather.

Grade School News
 The pupils in Miss Carnagan's first grade are completing their cartoon scrapbooks for the Junior Red Cross. The collection of cartoons was started last fall. The scrapbooks which were made by Miss Ekstrom's fifth grade are now ready, and the children are pasting in the cartoons.

The new helpers in Miss Morley's room are:
 Housekeeper — Nelie Antiss
 Doorkeeper — Norma Dokey
 Bookkeeper — Shirley Nordin
 Closetkeeper — Jimmy Goodrich
 Plantkeeper — Delores Stineback
 Boardkeeper — Jean Warner

The children enjoy the surprise snowflakes they cut out and put on the wall to see.

The children in Miss Fritz' room are making the change from manuscript to cursive writing.

Miss Kinney's room had a great many people absent from school last week because of the cold weather.

The children have started learning songs for a short operetta which they and Miss Fritz' room will present later for an assembly program.

Some of the boys and girls in the third grade are still absent from school with either mumps or chicken pox. The children hope that they will all be back to school soon.

Mrs. Fuller's fourth grade has started an interesting study of magnets. They have also been talking about how to recognize the various types of planes that may fly over.

Fourteen pupils in Miss Ekstrom's fifth grade reported to school Wednesday after the blizzard.

Miss D. Lovell's room this week has had its largest orders of milk. About three-fourths of the class has been drinking milk regularly.

They have been busy taking semester tests in some of their subjects. The show "Alaska's Silver Millions" was very interesting to the room, as they were just completing a study of the life of the salmon.

Many children have been absent, due to the snow and cold weather. Miss B. Lovell's sixth grade has just completed making maps of Australia and New Zealand. The best ones are displayed on the bulletin board.

A MESSAGE FROM DR. WILLIAM BEEBE

New York Zoological Society

DEPARTMENT OF TROPICAL RESEARCH

WILLIAM BEEBE, E. D., Director

Ants and Bees give one hundred percent of their time, income, activity, instinct, to the sustaining of optimum conditions of existence and the actual betterment of their fellow Ants and Bees. The parents of almost all Wild Animals hold back nothing which will aid the health and successful attainment of the freedom of life of their families and young. Even an Amoeba divides itself in half now and then to help the race of Amoebas.

We are asked for a minimum of only ten percent of our income to purchase War Bonds. Who wants to be less than an Amoeba or an Ant?

1941) and fine quality fur (trappers took an additional 10,000), the 'coons' fat 12- to 14-pound carcasses are rated good eating by many.

Normally raccoons make their dens 10 to 60 feet above the ground in hollow trees, but in areas of intensive farming where there is considerable food and few trees, their dens may be found in draw tiles, hollow logs and holes in the ground. The dens must be well distributed, for the home range of an individual raccoon seldom exceeds two square miles. Occasionally they may travel long distances. Yearling raccoons may range 15 to 20 miles in search of a new home site. The author once gave a pet raccoon to a friend living 25 miles away. It escaped the day it was delivered and two days later was back at its former home.

Young raccoons, conceived in February and born in May, are helpless at birth. The litter of four or five young remains in or about the nest for 10 or 11 weeks. They are cared for only by the mother. Since raccoon mating is promiscuous, the father may not even know where the den is located.

Early American naturalists considered raccoons small close-cousins of bears because the two species look and act so much alike. Both walk on the soles of their feet. Instead of on their toes as rabbits and squirrels do. Both live in or near forests and climb trees. Both were believed to hibernate in winter. Careful study has since re-hermation. Raccoons den up during cold spells but they move about on warm days in midwinter. It is revealed that only bears enter true hibernation. Even when they remain in their dens for several weeks, they may be awakened by a slight disturbance. Bears, on the other hand, enter a "half-sleep" to stupor which usually lasts throughout the winter regardless of daily temperature variations. Hibernating bears may be approached closely and sometimes prodded with sticks before they move.

It's true Labor is so cheap over here that anyone in our station is just expected to have so many servants. Regular labor over here gets about 16 cents a day. Things that you have to buy are very high however. Fruits and vegetables are very cheap and I bought a dozen roses for my desk this morning and they are about the most beautiful that I have ever seen and they cost one piastre which is equal to between 4 cents and 5 cents. The money over here is a big trouble. There is American, English, and this country money. You can guess where I am at all right but I can't come right out and say I wish you could see this place some time. I am taking a lot of pictures and I hope sometime to be able to explain them to you all. Oh yes, I am now in the same branch of the service as John W. My title is * * * I shall be responsible for * * * in all areas where men in this branch of the service are at. With things going like they have for the past few days it appears that the area will soon be considerably larger than it was when the first plans were made. So much for that as we are not supposed to talk about business any more than is absolutely essential, while in line of duty. I have had several letters from mother, sis, and you and Melvin and Glenna. I never thought that the day would come when I would be so darn glad to get a letter from home. It seems like I have been away for a long time. I have tried to convince mother that she should not worry about me. I am perfectly safe and unless a train runs over me I don't foresee any particular danger in store for me. A little about this city. The whole atmosphere is laden with the sweet smell of manure of man and beast and you can never picture the flies. There are billions of them. We have to carry little swatters with us all the time. You can see people on the streets with no less than several hundred flies on their face at one time. Sometimes it looks like they are wearing some kind of mask. Little babies are the most pitiful-looking things. You have never seen poor people until you have seen the low class of people here. Venereal disease rate is very high here (about 80%) so you see all types of deformities and the number of blind people is untold. All sorts of animals run loose all over the city and cars, donkeys, trams, and people, carriages are all going at every direction all the time. You should see a Yank cutting thru town with a Jeep. Another thing is the great numbers of military people here. They seem to be from every country in the world. You see this country is neutral and therefore the military of the world is here. The food that we have in our apartment is very good and it is very well prepared but what is most of the time I never will know. The only thing like we

I suppose that devilish long boat ride had something to do with it. In the future you all will most likely not hear from me regular because I will be out of this office and in the field making inspections and it won't be easy to get letters in the mail in that case. I am very anxious to get started as I believe it is going to be some of the most interesting work that I have ever done in spite of the fact that I would like to be with some horse outfit. By the way you should see the beautiful Arabian horses that are to be seen everywhere over here. They use them for everything I didn't know that they were work horses before but they sure use them for that purpose over here. Then they have little tiny donkeys and they use them to pull the biggest loads and they pile everything on their backs and then the old man gets on top and the old woman and kids chase along behind hitting the donkey on the hinder with a stick. There are camels, buffalo, cattle, goats, horses, donkeys, dogs, and man used as beasts of burden over here. You should see the loads that these old women can carry on their heads and never touch the load with their hands.

Well it is getting kind of late so I'll stop and try and get this in the mail. The mail situation over here is terrible but I guess it will get better after a while when the Americans get to running what you all were guessing about.

Captain Winter Writes From Egypt

The following letters were received by Miss Emd Keams from her cousin, Captain Alan W. Winter, a staff veterinarian with a U S Air Force Command in Egypt.

Captain Winter spent nearly two years in Buchanan as a practicing veterinarian before entering service and is well known and well liked here.

The Middle East, Nov. 11.

Dear Emd: Here and in good order. I had a long, long boat ride and to say the least I didn't enjoy it very much. I was seasick for three days two different times. Living conditions and the food were as bad as they could possibly be. Traveling on a British ship and with them in control is bad even up. There were eleven officers in a little room about 13 by 10 with all their equipment. That is about like holding a reunion in that little building that is in our back yard. We traveled a very great distance and made several stops on the way. The only one that I can mention is that is a very beautiful city just at the foot of a very large mountain named Mt. Sinai. We were ashore there and don't think that we didn't take advantage of it as far as food is concerned. If you want to see pretty flowers, that is the place that you should visit. Of course that country is at war and black-out regulations were in effect and we didn't see much of the night life but then we did have a good time. We finally arrived at the place where we were to disembark and we were all mighty happy to be there. We then had a wild ride on one of the most outlandish trams that you would ever imagine but then it got us here and that is all that is required. I was out in the desert for some time but now I have been brought in to a large town. As you know there were several veterinarians that came over here together. Well, when they finally decided where they wanted each of us we were separated and scattered to the four winds. I can truthfully say that I got the choice assignment of the lot. Why I don't know. As I say I am now in town and have very nice quarters. There are 14 American officers together in this large apartment. We have 7 bedrooms and 5 baths, 2 living rooms now, dining room and kitchen. We have a French woman as house keeper, two men servants, one errand boy, a man and woman cook, and a dish washer. That sounds like a story I know

Home Building Costs Decline

During November, the cost of constructing a standard six-room house registered a slight decline (1/10th of 1%), the first downward movement since the summer of 1940, the Federal Home Loan Bank Administration reported. Dealers' prices for materials dropped fractionally while labor costs were unchanged.

Although costs have risen during the past 30 months, a leveling off in the upward trend has been in evidence since last March, largely attributable to ceilings established by the Office of Price Administration, according to the Bank Administration.

At the end of November, the total cost index was 24% above the average month of 1935-1939. Labor costs were 30% above the average for that base period and dealers' prices of materials nearly 22% higher.

Wholesale building material prices, as reported by the U. S. Dept. of Labor, also moved down fractionally during November, carrying the composite index (1935-1939 equals 100) to 123.

- No change in number of trains.
- No change in leaving-time from South Bend.
- No change in leaving-time from Chicago.
- Slight changes in running-times on all trains to and from Chicago, but in no case more than 15 minutes per train.

Home---Farm---Business Property

Now is the time to make sure that your real estate is securely owned and legal papers proving it in a safe place. Where are they?

1. Look and see if abstract is brought to date and made by reliable abstractor. One with reputation for accuracy, sound financial backing and integrity.
2. Investigate to know if his records from Court House are double checked (proof read) and if the abstracts when typed are proof read.
3. Look to see if you have the written opinion of an Attorney on that Abstract. A signature may not be there, a wife may have died, a relative, heir to the property, could be in an insane asylum, all of which might affect your having a clear title to your farm or home. (Ownership). An attorney will catch that. We show only records from the Court House.
4. Did you have a survey? Your neighbor's garage may be on your lot. Four feet of your land may have crops of your neighbors planted on it. Not SURE without a survey. A man is serving a life sentence in jail from quarrelling over a few feet of land and finally shot his neighbor.

Now is the time to look about and purchase a lot for a home, or a farm for the son who is coming home from the service.

Do not purchase without the seller giving you an Abstract (History of property, not Title) and KNOW whether there is a mortgage, unpaid taxes or other liens BEFORE you hand over any cash.

* Through our Tax Card System, considered the most thorough in the country, you can KNOW immediately with a phone call, if there are any delinquent taxes on your property. Charge for this service only fifty cents.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SAFEGUARD YOUR REAL ESTATE
Come in and let us direct you to proper channels. Glad to help you.

We stand back of our abstracts.
