Now Here's the Proposition

You Can't Lose At The Legion Auction On July 13 And 14. If you are superstitious about Friday the 13th, the place for you that day and the following day will be the American Legion auction sale in front of the new Legion home Thursday night, July 13, and Saturday night, July 14, from 7 to 9 p. m.

Give something—buy something. You simply can't lose that way. There will be a large stock of both new and used merchandise. With the Freeze Brothers of Niles as auctioneers, the evening can't fail to be cool and delightful. If it rains the auction will be held in the new building.

There will be refreshments that sustain but do not intoxicate on tap on the grounds, for a very moderate price of course. You'll be boosting the Legion building fund.

The women of the Legion Auxiliary will be holding a rummage sale on the afternoons of the same days inside the building.

Elections Held By Rural Schools

Rural schools of the Buchanan district held their annual elections Monday night.

The Colvin district elected Ted Florey (treasurer) of the school board and voted to have the interior of the school building redecorated during the summer. It was decided to continue the special five-mill school tax voted on five years ago.

The Howe school elected Miss Leslie Garling to succeed Gowin Berry as director of the board and voted to purchase $300 worth of playground equipment.

Donald Fleming was elected director of the Brocous school board to succeed Clarence Huff. It was decided to hold a special meeting in the near future, when eligible voters will vote on the question of raising the school tax rate and on whether or not to buy an oil burning furnace for the school.

At the meeting of the Holmes school, Albert Herman was elected as treasurer of the board. It was voted to retain Mrs. William Beardsley as music teacher for the coming year.

Russell Letcher was re-elected treasurer of the Kanzas school board and the group voted to pay the tuition fees for pupils from the district who will attend high school in Niles or Buchanan.

The voters of the Dutch Corners school district elected Wilmer E. Baker as director of the school board. Dr. E. R. Ruthsatz is the treasurer and Donald Wagone is moderator.

Mrs. Alma Naragon was elected treasurer of the Dayton school board. Mrs. Irving VanLew was re-elected moderator. It was voted to send the pupils to the Galien school again next year.

North Buchanan

Mr and Mrs Elson Fough have rented their farm to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Glendinning, manager of the National Tea store in Buchanan. The Foughs have bought a farm near Hinchman and moved there recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Welsh of South Bend, and Mr. and Mrs. William Letter, Buchanan, called on Mr. and Mrs. A. Frank Kann Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Herbert Wallquist will be hostess to members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Oronoko Methodist church Tuesday evening. Mrs. A. Frank Kann will conduct the business session and Mrs. Elmer Handley will present the lesson. Following the business session a reception and family party will be held, honoring Rev. and Mrs. C. V. Bigler. Rev. Bigler was returned to the pastorate of the Oronoko church.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Kann attended the funeral services Tuesday morning of Rodgers Sult, in Buchanan.

Miss Pegé French of Berrien Springs, and Harry Schillo of Chicago, were dinner guests Sunday of Mr and Mrs A. F. Kann.

First Business P.O. News Stand At Age 18 Years

Was Loved By Buchananites As Kindly Philosopher And Humorist

The citizens of Buchanan woke Saturday morning the poorer by the loss of Harry Binns, a business man here for over 67 years, and a kindly philosopher and humorist well loved by all who knew him.

He actually began his business career about 70 years ago at the age of 15 as a clerk in a news and stationery stand in the lobby of the postoffice in 1881. One of his customers was Charles Cowles, the first resident of the site of Buchanan in 1833. The postoffice was in a wooden building about where Riley's Newsstand is. The stand was owned by others and Harry Binns ran it. On Sept. 18, 1893, at the age of 18, he bought the stand and became a business man in his own right. His death was noted in the Chicago Tribune, which cited him as the first Buchananite to represent the paper here.

When the postoffice was moved in 1889 to the present location of Fabiano's Bar, Harry Binns' business had grown so that it took up much of the room and paid most of the rent. Finally he was obliged to move into quarters of his own, where Roti Roti's shoe store now is. In 1896 he moved to a room occupying the southeast part of the present Sexton's store. In 1900 he moved to the present quarters of the store, which had been previously occupied by a business operated by his family.

But even before he began as a clerk in the newsstand Harry Binns was in business. At the age of nine he built a hotbed at the family home at 127 South Oak, using sliding glass doors from wallcases in a store which his father had bought and dismantled. In the bed he raised plants, cabbage, tomato, pepper and very plants, selling them in Seth Smith's grocery, where the Stubbis store now is. In fact he grew the first celery known in Buchanan, back in 1875. All his life he remained a gardener, and it may be that overwork in his garden this summer, only two weeks ago, contributed to the heart attack that caused his death last Saturday morning.

In the accompanying picture you can see five books lying horizontally on the shelf, just above his right shoulder. You cannot read the titles in the picture, but it is fittingly "The American Story". That could be the title of Harry Binns' life. He represented the soul of private enterprise, at its genuine best. But that wasn't all. He had his very human side. In the store room today are hung the moralistic verses he loved to pass on, among them a quotation from that "heart-beat of the American conscience", Longfellow's "Psalm of Life".

"Life is real, life is earnest, And the grave is not its goal. Dust thou art, to dust returnest Was not spoken of the soul."

Not many knew the philosophy and religion that underlaid his thinking, which he used to express in poetry shown to his friends. On the death of one of his family he wrote:

"These eyes that in their life did shine With all the glory of love divine Now are closed How can it be? Why is it so? All of us wonder, none of us know. In all of this immensity In all of this vast mystery We turn to Thee, Oh Diety!"

CAREY MISSION FAILS TO

ISAC McCoy had been working for some time toward the founding of a religious and educational mission among the Indians before his idea became a reality with the creation of the Carey Mission.

In 1820 he established a school at the frontier post of Fort Wayne, where he began with the children of the white settlers and eventually added some 39 Indian pupils. In June, 1821, he visited the Potawatomi chiefs in this vicinity, to interest them in the establishment of a mission and a school in which they would be taught not only religion and the fundamentals, but also agriculture and mechanical and craft trades. The Indians agreed and promised to ask for the gift of a tract of land for that purpose at the treaty conference soon to be held at Chicago. A U. S. Senator, Col. Trimble of Ohio, called on McCoy on his way to the conference and promised his support.

By the treaty approved at Chicago Aug. 29, 1821, and ratified by the United States government March 25, 1822, the mission was to be allotted a section or square mile of land on the south side of the St. Joseph, and within the Indian lands not ceded. On July 18, 1822, General Cass appointed McCoy to take charge of the Mission at a salary of $400 a year, with an assistant to receive the same salary. A blacksmith was to be paid $365 a year. The site was selected in August, 1822.

The site of the proposed mission was then covered by a dense forest of great trees. When the mission party arrived Oct. 19, 1822, the work of clearing the ground and building houses began at once. Logs from the forest were used to build six houses including four dwellings, a school, and a blacksmith shop.

By July 1, 1823, 60 acres of land had been enclosed by a fence. The Indian boys spent half their time in labor and half time in school. The girls, who were fewer in number, worked more than half time in order to complete the necessary household duties. By this time all the girls had been taught to sew, twelve could knit, six could spin, two could weave, and twelve could embroider with the needle, in all of which they were as skillful as white girls.

All the inmates of the mission rose at the sound of a trumpet. At sunrise the ringing of a bell summoned them to morning prayers, after which the students went to work. At 6.30 the trumpet called them to breakfast. School began at 8 a. m. and lasted until noon. Dinner was at 12.30 and in the afternoons all the pupils worked.

In 1825 200 acres had been enclosed by a fence, and the mission had an orchard of between 200 and 300 peach trees, and many apple trees. Thirty acres were planted to corn, and other ground to wheat. That year a flouring mill was erected, operated by horse or ox power, the first mill in Michigan west of Ann Arbor and Tecumseh. Three hundred bushels of wheat were harvested. That year there were other developments. A new settler came in and squatted on land north of the river, not far from the mission. He had in a small stock of bread and meat and a barrel of whiskey and started trading with the Indians. Two other newcomers squatted nearby and followed suit.

The Indians could not resist the lure of the whiskey. The Indians had begun to move their homes to the neighborhood of the mission. Topinabe, the Potawatomi head chief had settled with about 30 Indian families just south of the mission. The Indian men as well as the women began to work the fields, aided by plows, hoes, and axes supplied by the mission. But when the whiskey traders thickened in the neighborhood, the foothold which the mission had obtained among the Indians melted away. Articles which the natives had been taught to make in the mission blacksmith shop were traded for whiskey, as well as their clothing and cooking utensils.

McCoy tried to stop the avalanche by securing from the government grants of land on which the Indians could settle, with added grants of money, to enable them to create permanent homes.

On Sept. 17, 1827, Gov. Cass came to the Carey Mission to help. At that meeting, several of the small grants of land to the Indians were consolidated, and the Indians received $500 in goods and $2,500 in money. Within 24 hours the traders had most of the $2,500 in return for whiskey.

McCoy left the following Oct. 15, to treat with the president and the department of Indian affairs with a view to establishing an Indian territory west of the Mississippi. He returned the next year and again left on July 2, 1828, for a tour of exploration to select the western reservation site. In October of 1828 the United States government made provision to pay the missionaries for the houses and other improvements they had made as soon as the mission should be vacated. In September of 1830 two appraisers named by the government assessed the value of the improvement at $5,080 and the growing crops at $641.50. This amount was paid to the Baptist Board of Missions, to be applied in establishing missions in the west. The mission was soon thereafter discontinued.

On Aug. 11, 1833, 15 members of the Carey Mission church met at the Shawanoe Mission House, where they organized a new church in the new Indian Territory, which the devotion of Isaac McCoy had secured them.

Rodgers Sult Is Taken By Early Death At 34 Yrs.

Co-Operator Of Red Red Apple Farm Stricken By Acute Heart Attack

Sterling Rodgers Sult, 34, a native and lifelong resident of the Buchanan district, was struck down by sudden and untimely death Saturday, July 7, death being the result of acute coronary thrombosis.

He had spent until 7 p. m. the previous Friday mowing in the orchard, and in the evening had accompanied his brother, Clell, to see a show and visit friends at St. Joseph. The heart attack occurred about 5:15 a. m. He was taken to the awaiting hospital but all efforts to save him were fruitless.

He was born Nov. 7, 1916, in Buchanan, the son of the late Edwin Sult and Mrs. Zoda Hopkins Sult. His birthplace was at 301 Main street, known many years as the Norah Wood home.

In 1925 the family moved to the present Sult home, widely known as the Red Red Apple Farm, where he lived the remainder of his life.

He did not complete high school in Buchanan, but after the death of his father he engaged in the operation of a fruit farm with his brothers. He continued his education while he worked, attending many Michigan State College short courses and horticultural conventions, and became widely known among fruit men for his knowledge of the business. He was a very active member of the Michigan State Horticultural Society.

He is survived by his mother; by the following brothers and sisters: Marcelline DeGen, Clell E. Sult, Jack E. Sult, Glenn W. Sult, Mrs. Hermina Perkins, Mrs. Janet Jasper, all of Buchanan.

The funeral was held at the Swem Funeral Home at 11 a. m. Tuesday, July 10, with Rev. Lawrence E. Lee in charge. Burial was made in the Oak Ridge cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Besinger and children will be guests Friday of Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Smith, Manchester, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Varga, South Bend, are the parents of a daughter, Michelle, born Sunday morning in Memorial hospital, Mishawaka. Mrs. Varga was formerly Mary Crews of Buchanan.

Small Colored Group Builds Church Home With Little Assistance

The dedication of the new home of the New Good Hope Baptist Church on 212 E. Fulton street, between Main and Portage, will be held there at 3 p. m. next Sunday, July 15, with a regular dedication program to which all are invited.

The church was first organized during the latter part of World War I by a congregation of the families of colored workers who were brought to Buchanan by war work. For several years they met in the USO building. Some time since they bought a lot and an old frame house on the site of the new church and met there for a time. The building was unsatisfactory and they tore it down and began the new structure last fall.

The cost of the site and the completed structure which will be dedicated next Sunday was approximately $6,000. Although some unmet canvasses for funds were made last year, the structure has been financed almost entirely by the members of the church. Some of the colored people had been contributing at the rate of one day's pay per month, others making smaller contributions.

For some time progress was so slow that the congregation were discouraged. However, last fall they started with new enthusiasm, staging a number of benefit events, including many fish fries and other entertainments and programs. The cost was much reduced by a large amount of volunteer labor on the building.

The success of this little congregation, composed entirely of people dependent on a daily wage, deserves the admiration and the congratulations of the white people of Buchanan. The meeting next Sunday will be open to all, regardless of denomination or color.

Charles Wesner Gets Commission As Postmaster

Succeeds A. G. Haslett As First "Career Appointee" Under New Law

Charles E. Wesner received his commission as full-fledged postmaster of Buchanan on Thursday, July 5, after serving since Dec. 1, 1950, as acting postmaster, following the retirement of his predecessor, A. G. Haslett.

Wesner becomes the first "career appointee" in the Buchanan postoffice, under the law passed during the latter thirties placing the postmaster's selection under the civil service. As a result of that law, the appointment was made on the basis of a civil service examination from within the office. He serves under Postmaster-General Jesse Donaldson, the first career appointee at the top of the department. Donald had begun his career at the bottom as a substitute carrier.

The policy of the postoffice now is that the appointment of postmasters who have come up in the service and are familiar with the work of the office in which they are given charge, rather than assigning appointments to persons not only outside the office but also outside the profession, tends to improve the efficiency of the postal service. Under the present law the new postmaster begins with an expert knowledge based on experience and at least does not require a long period of rather informal training during which he must learn the business from employees under him.

Wesner's appointment was approved by the Senate on June 7, the intervening time being consumed by the routine of legal bonding. He entered the service April 25, 1939, as a substitute carrier. After "subbing" as carrier and clerk until 1945, he entered the office as a full-time clerk in 1945. He became acting postmaster Dec. 1, and full-fledged postmaster July 5, probably being the youngest man to be named to the position in the history of the Buchanan postoffice. He is 31 years old.

Gene Lolmaugh Wins Junior State Title In '51 Trap Shoot

During the last week-end the father-and-son shooting team of Clyde Lolmaugh and Gene Lolmaugh attended the state trap shooting matches at Detroit. Last year the senior member of the team brought back the honors, this year his son, Gene, brought back the laurels.

On Saturday, Gene won the Michigan Junior Championship in the 16-yard trap-shooting event with a score of 80 out of a possible 100. In the handicap match from the 18-yard line Sunday he again won the Michigan Junior Championship with a score of 79 out of a possible 100. In this event the firing gun on every gun makes the third trap and he finished the match with his father's gun.

Emma J. Knight Resident Here 76 Years, Dies

Was Member 1st Graduating Class Buchanan H.S. And Taught In City Schools

Mrs. Emma J. Knight, a resident of Buchanan for over 76 years, died at Rest Haven, Clear Lake Woods, at 3:30 a. m. Tuesday, July 10, 1951, at the age of nearly 92 years.

She was born at Canboro Ontario, Canada, on July 19, 1859, the daughter of Seth and Sarah J. Smith. They moved to Buchanan May 28, 1868, the father having bought the home on the south of the Michigan Central railway and a short distance east of the present route of the South Bend Freeway road. There they grew up and she lived there until she went to the Rest Haven home a few years ago. The residence had been retained since by the family.

She was a member of the first class to be graduated from Buchanan high school on June 1, 1877. After teaching five years in the Buchanan schools she married Dr. M. M. Knight on Oct. 31, 1883. They moved to Saganaw, Mich., and lived there seven years when her father, Seth Smith, died, they returned to Buchanan. One son, S. F. Knight, was born in Saganaw Dec. 12, 1885. He is now a resident of Chicago, and the only immediate relative living. Her father died in 1889 and her mother in 1900. Her husband, Dr. J. M. Knight, died in 1923.

Her sister, Mattie, who shared the old home with her for many years, died in 1946. When another sister died young she took her two small children, Lucille and James Herbert Blockett, by that company as an aviator advisor to the Argentine government during World War II. He was also a U. S. air force instructor in Texas during World War I. He died in 1945. His mother treasured many mementoes and trophies of his career. He had been legally adopted as her son.

She was a member of and an active worker in the Methodist church, and a member of the Sylvia chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

The last rites will be held at the Swem Funeral Home at 2 p. m. today (Thursday), with Rev. W. V. Pohly in charge. Burial will be made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Charles Hartine Graduated From Purdue University

William Dunlap, former Buchanan resident, was graduated from Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind., June 9, when he received his B.S. degree in chemistry.

He left Sunday for Midland, Mich., where he will be employed at the Dowglac Chemical company, after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Gibbs.

Charles Hartine In Borgess Hospital

Charles, 9 1/2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hartine, entered Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo, Wednesday. He will undergo surgery Thursday (today) for a bone graft.

James is one of the youngsters who is benefiting so much because of the active work of the Berrien County Crippled Children's association.

Laura Montague Taken By Death At Nearly 96 Yrs.

Daughter Of Founder Colvin School District Lived Entire Life Here

Buchanan lost one of its few remaining links with the cabin and candlelight days with the passing of Mrs. Laura Jane Montague at the age of 95 at 3:30 a. m. Saturday at her home at 307 West Third street, after an illness of several months.

Mrs. Montague was born July 9, 1855, and would have been 96 years of age on her July 9 birthday, two days after her death. She was the daughter of well-known pioneers, George and Mary Colvin. The old Colvin homestead was located on a crossroads between the present Red Bud Trail and the Main street road. Her father at one time owned a large amount of land extending from Main street road to the river. He was the founder of the Colvin school district, which still bears his name. The first school was a log building standing back in the woods north of the crossroad extending east from the Damsen farm on the road northeast from the present location of the Colvin school. The old log building was extant until about 1930, when it was torn down.

She married John F. Montague, another son of the pioneers, on Dec. 30, 1883. They lived many years on what is now known as the Reed farm west of the Miller school, and later on the Montague farm across the road from the b. c. Cave farm on Red Bud Trail.

Following the death of her husband, on Jan. 14, 1925, she bought the Third street home where she lived until her death. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Helen G. Beck, who made her home with her in recent years by one son, F. R. Montague, by three grandchildren and four great grandchildren. She was an active member of the Sylvia chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Last rites were held at the Swem Funeral Home at 2 p. m. Tuesday, with the Rev. William T. Hunt in charge and burial was made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Home Furnishings, a magazine for the national furniture trade, carried a feature on Phil Sexton and his business development here in the July issue.

Sexton Ups Sales 10 Times In 10 Years

Small-town store owner combines casual buying and friendly service with dreamer's thinking to make successful merchandising operation.

On December 16, 1940, a 28-year-old youth, Phil Sexton, obtained the local Hotpoint franchise and opened a small appliance store in Buchanan, Mich., six miles from the larger town of Niles. This first store used about 480 square feet of floor space. Ten years and two moves later, Phil Sexton owned his own building at 101 W. Front street in Buchanan, using a floor space of about 15,000 square feet — and doing ten times the volume of business as in 1940.

In 1942, primarily because of the wartime shortage of appliances, a stock of furniture was added and the store became Sexton's Furniture and Appliances. He also services Niles with a second (Continued on page 3)

Lightning Hits A. A. Rosa Home And Hanover Furniture Mart, Glendora

While not accompanied by the had winds that ravaged fruit crops in the northern part of the county, a succession of three rain storms accompanied by wind and lightning, led to ripening wheat fields and held up the red raspberry harvest after Sunday.

The first rain came late Saturday night and Sunday morning, the second Sunday morning, and the third Sunday night and Saturday morning, totaling 3.07 inches of water, or only 0.3 of an inch under the average July normal fall of 3.10 inches as recorded by the South Bend weather station.

"The first farm" of the Buchanan district, as far as we know to start cutting wheat was Galen Weaver, who went up to his fields with a binder Monday. He will thresh the grain next week. Weaver stated that his wheat was partly down and going down fast, though he would be able to recover most of it with a binder. All the wheat has a heavy straw, but some pairs are not well headed out.

General reports from the Buchanan section are that the yields will be considerably under the earlier estimates. Fields in the Bend of the River and around Galien are reported to be hard hit by Russian fly ravages. Winds have lodged the grain enough to render it difficult to recover all with combines.

Damage to fruit was comparatively light in the Buchanan district, except for a heavy apple drop caused by the wind and water-logged raspberries that have slowed down the market.

Lightning Bolts

Lightning struck the chimney of the A. A. Rosa home at 302 Sylvan Ave., Sunday at 7:06 a. m. It knocked out some of the bricks, and shingles between the chimney and the bathroom stack were blown off. The permanent chimney stoppers in the kitchen and basement were blown out and everything covered with soot. Mrs. Rosa had just walked through the kitchen into her bedroom but reports that they did not notice the bolt quite as much as did the neighbors. Mr. Rosa checked for fire but found none. At 5:10 Sylvan the same lightning blew out the switch of the electric stove in Ralph Harbaugh's home at the Raymond Kohler home, 402 Sylvan. The bolt burned out the wiring in their electric water heater and burned a hole in the casing.

Lightning also hit the Hanover Furniture Mart on the Glendora road shortly after midnight on Monday morning. The bolt apparently hit a window, crashing out the glass and igniting three mattresses inside, which burned and a part of the stock suffered smoke damage. Three fire departments ran to the scene from Buchanan, Weesaw township and St. Joseph. The local department arrived in time to throw water on the mattresses and prevent any spread of the flames.

High Winds Dim Effectiveness 1951 Fireworks

That wind as well as rain can be a factor to consider in the staging of July 4th fireworks displays was proven by the experience of Buchanan this year.

While rain threatened all day, it did not interfere in the evening and a large crowd had turned out at the two fields. However, the wind was strong, especially on the sides and top of the Chamberlain Hills, which had been selected for the place of discharge. In this Buchanan shared the plight of cities throughout the Midwest, in most of which the display was canceled or postponed.

The wind prevented the aerial pieces from following the effective arch toward the direction of the audience, and in many cases wearing out the momentum of the pieces so that they looped almost directly back to the spot from which they had been set off, interfering with safety, duration and general effectiveness. Its possibilities were indicated by the beauty of a few pieces, when the wind abated enough to allow them to float down and burn at their (Continued on Page Six)

Dayton

The weather on the 4th of July this year was rather discouraging. The day ended with a chilly drizzling rain in late afternoon.

Lyle Barber was a caller on friends here the forepart of last week. Lyle lives in Lowell, Mass., and is well known here.

Retd. Adm'l. and Mrs. R. E. Ingersoll recently of Washington, D. C., and now of LaPorte, Ind., called on Fred Richter one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Malott who have been staying at the Hamilton home for some time, are diving a new Studebaker.

Friends from Dowagiac write that Minnie (Dempsey) Carney has recently been taken from her home there to the Lee Hospital in that city for treatment. Miss Carney is well known here by the older residents of this community.

Guests last week at the home of Lewis and Helen Long here were Fred Budde III and his wife of Jackson, Tenn.

Called Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William McLeod were the recent newcomers, Pvt. and Mrs. Robert Gleissner, of Lynd, Ind. Their marriage took place last Saturday afternoon at South Bend. Congratulations.

Frederick Richter was a caller Sunday afternoon at the Mary Boyle and Kathryn Sarver home on route 2, Buchanan. Relatives of the latter were also visiting there at the time.

We are pleased to announce that our friend and neighbor, Mrs. Ethel Einspenger, will have another birthday Sunday, July 15. She is turning her 90th. Although Mrs. Einspenger is up every day her health is not as good as we would wish. This writer has asked the Benton Harbor radio station to have a hymn sung for her at 9:30 a.m. Sunday. Don't forget to listen. Rev. and Mrs. Guy Walsh will do the singing.

In the passing of Harry Bunn last Saturday morning Buchanan has truly lost an old timer, or might say his death was like the disappearance of an old landmark on a tree that we have had the pleasure of seeing many, many years. Of late years this correspondent hardly let a week go by without calling on him at least a few minutes to have a chat with him at the store. I will surely miss him "So long" Harry.

Mrs. Amy Hayden

Is Guest Speaker For Royal Neighbors
Primrose camp members of the Royal Neighbors of America met Thursday evening in the R. N. A. hall and voted to contribute $5 to the national R. N. A. blood bank project.

Mrs. Amy Hayden of Jones, district deputy, was guest speaker and discussed the work of the organization. Activities for the coming months were discussed and it was decided that as a money-raising project the group will hold a box lunch social after every meeting. Mrs. Leon Forbes, Mrs. Robert Grundhofer and Mrs. Belva Greene were named to arrange the entertainment for the meeting July 19.

Prizes at cards and games were won by Mrs. William Lingle, Mrs. Donald Trowbridge, Mrs. Arthur Voorhees, Mrs. John Bowman, Mrs. Gay Hardebeck, Mrs. William Keller, Mrs. Clifford Shafer, Mrs. Alta Bunker, Mrs. Clyde Shafer, Mrs. Russell Bishop, Mrs. Lena Mitchell, Mrs. Fred Webster, Mrs. George Barnore and Mrs. Lydia Scott.

Women's Day will be an all-day session and the local delegation will hold a cooperative luncheon at noon. Mrs. Richard White and Mrs. Ora Briney reported on the W. S. C. S. Institute at Albion on June 24 to 27. The lesson on "Missions in The Philippine Islands" was given by Mrs. Spencer Gibbs.

Mrs. Reginald Pike was chairman of the committee for the social hour.

POORMAN'S RECIPE OF THE WEEK

By Mary Lee Taylor

Crispy Fried Chicken

Broadcast: July 14, 1951

2 1/2 lb. cut up chicken
1 cup Pet Milk
1/2 cup flour
2 1/2 teaspoons salt

1/4 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons flour
few grains pepper
1/2 cup water
No. 2 cut peas

Put chicken into bowl. Pour milk over chicken; let stand in refrigerator 2 hours. Drain well, save milk for gravy. Roll chicken in mixture of 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teasp salt and 1/4 teasp. pepper. Place on paper towel. Slowly heat 1/4 in. shortening in heavy skillet. Brown chicken slowly until drumstick is tender when pierced with fork. Remove chicken; keep hot. Drain off all fat; measure and return 2 tablesp. fat to skillet. Blend in 3 tablesp. flour, 1/4 teasp. salt and few grains pepper. Stir in water. Boil and stir 2 min. Add milk drained off chicken, stir and heat until steaming hot, but do not boil. Serve with chicken and hot buttered peas. Makes 4 servings.

7,000,000th Maytag

NEWEST AND OLDEST share the spotlight during celebration marking production of seven millionth Maytag on June 14 at Newton, Iowa. Becky Conrad, 1951 Maytag Queen, compares 1907 hamper model with No. 7,000,000, a Maytag Automatic. More than 10,000 visitors attended the all-day Open House honoring a new world-record in washer production. Founded in 1893, Maytag began building washers in 1907, completed the first million in 1927. Many of these are still in regular service.

Mrs. George Adams returned Friday to her home in San Mateo, Calif., after spending a month in Buchanan, Mich. and Milwaukee. She visited her mother-in-law, Mrs. Henry Adams and sister-in-law, Miss Louise Adams, Buchanan.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Beers and children of Royal Oak, Mich., were week-end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Montgomery.

Chief Reports June Police Activities

The following report of Buchanan police activities for the month of June was presented at the Monday night meeting of the city commission by Chief Jack H. Krugh.

Sexton Receives Feature Article In Trade Paper

Phil Sexton's sincere belief in the future of his own community and his vision of better things for himself and his customers are put to good and constant use. He is by way of being a City Father, serving on the school board, the town planning committee, and the committee which recently rewrote the town's charter.

Buchanan merchants, telling the townspeople that the things they wanted were available in their own home town.

Phil Sexton's business and living philosophy can be summed up in his own words. "If you want to earn a living, you can work from 9.00 to 5.00. If you want to live, it's a 24-hour-a-day proposition."

AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION PROPOSES NEW DIVORCE PROCEDURE

A basic change in the divorce system of the United States, in which the present basis of "guilt" of one party to the controversy will give way to consideration of "what's best for the family" is now being studied by the "Interprofessional Commission on Marriage and Divorce Laws" established by the American Bar Association at the suggestion of the legal section of the 1948 National Conference on Family Life.

The idea on which the commission is working is borrowed from the policy developed in the children's courts, where the ruling consideration is not "Is this child guilty?" but "What is best for this child?" It would adapt to divorce the philosophy and techniques of the standard juvenile court.

An article on "Divorce Without Guilt Or Sm" in the July 1 issue of the New York Times Magazine develops the theory and prospective operation of the plan. The article was written by Paul W. Alexander, judge of the Domestic Relations court of Toledo, Ohio, and also chairman of the Interprofessional Commission on Marriage and Divorce Laws referred to above. In his 14 years in the Toledo court Judge Alexander presided over 28,000 divorce cases.

He states "In no state can you get a divorce until, with minor exceptions you have proved your spouse guilty of some sin specified by the law—called grounds. This predicating of divorce upon proof of the other partner's guilt appears no longer to serve a useful purpose—if it ever did. Worse, it is affirmatively harmful. A failing marriage, a broken family presents more than one simple question of guilt. It presents a delicate, fragile situation, complicated by the many facets of the family's interpersonal relationships.

"Most embattled spouses are heartsick over their marriage failure. They are frightened, wounded, angry, ashamed, often in distress of body, mind, and estate as well as soul. They can't think straight, they surrender to their emotions, they yield to the pathetic, popular panacea, they prescribe for themselves a divorce to solve their problems, restore their lost happiness.

"In this upset state they turn to the law for help. But the ponderous, judgmental, heavy-handed law gives them not help but hell—more of the very hell on earth they have created for themselves and in which they have been stewing and simmering. As if they had not had enough of bickering and battling, the law intensifies their antagonism. It arrays spouse against spouse, it compels one to prove bitter, nasty accusations against the other. It (the law) punishes good, rewards evil. It rewards not purity but perjury. By the doctrine of condonation, if the wife takes her husband back in an honest attempt at reconciliation, the law throws her case out of court.

"And if both spouses have sinned, the law simply leaves them as they were, still bound together like two quailing cats tied together by the tails. For the law insists on preserving the myth of the innocent spouse, and holds that if both have grounds, neither have grounds.

The application would be for the remedial services of the state. There would be no plaintiff, no defendant. Instead of "Jane Doe versus John Doe," the title would be "In the Interests of the John Doe Family." The proceeding would, if possible, reunite the broken family. "The final decree would be issued only if the investigation plus proper judicial inquiry compelled the conclusion that the marriage could no longer be useful to the spouses, the children, or the state. . . that perpetuation of the bare legal bond would be more harmful than beneficial to all concerned."

On the Interprofessional Committee there is a Catholic bishop, as well as a Protestant dean and a Jewish rabbi. The Catholic church, hitherto opposed to divorce on any grounds, appears to be giving the plan thoughtful consideration. Says Father Francis O'Connell, quoted by the Times article "In the supposition that such a code would definitely diminish the number of divorces in our land, it would seem that a Catholic legislator might vote for it to be substituted for the present law, on the principle that one may advocate the lesser of two moral evils when one of the two is sure to ensue."

County Jail Labor Not To Clash With Regular Jail Work

Clarification of the dispute over county jail labor being used in conjunction with persons employed by the county road commission was made today by Carl Johnson, engineer-manager of the road commission Saturday.

Prisoners will in no way be connected with persons working on the county roads, he said. Projects on the sides of the road, such as cutting weeds, will be handed to the sheriff for his prison labor, he explained. Johnson pointed out the prisoners will be under different supervision than road workers, and will not be attached to near any construction crews working on the roads. Work on the road itself will not be done by prison labor, he stated.

Raymond Steffen Is Elected Coach, Buchanan

Raymond Steffen signed a contract Saturday as basketball coach for the Buchanan high school. He will be head basketball coach and will assist in coaching football and track. He was graduated from Michigan State College this year. He has a fine athletic background, having been a regular center on the Michigan State College basketball team for three years, and having starred three years in football and basketball at Flint Central high school. He will coach the reserve football team here.

Vacation Notes

Mr and Mrs George Chain arrived home July 9, after a delightful vacation trip through Wisconsin and Minnesota. They left July 1, stopped first at Templeau, Wis., near Winona, visiting with the parents of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Duane Chain. Mr and Mrs Duane Chain met them there and went on with them. On the morning of July 5 they started on again to the region of Superior and Duluth, Minn., thence northeast along the north shore of Lake Superior to Ilgen City, and then north to the Hibbing (Minn.) open pit iron mines. They returned by way of Minneapolis and St. Paul and Rochester, Minn.

Mr and Mrs Harry Heath and family arrived home last week from a long trip through New York state and New England, reporting an itinerary that would make any scenery fan's eyes water. After visiting at the home of Judge F. Andrew Hall at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., they went on to the lovely scenes of the Adirondacks, Lake St. George, the Green Mountains of New Hampshire and Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts, then they came home by way of Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Fern James Speaks At Meeting Of Bayleaf Rebekahs

Members of Bayleaf Rebekah lodge met Friday evening in the Odd Fellow clubrooms for their regular meeting. Mrs. Fern James of Galien, president of the Michigan Rebekah lodge, was guest speaker. She talked on the topic, "We Rededicate Ourselves To Working Toward The Goal Of A Better World."

Mrs. Harold Coger presided during the business session, during which certificates of perfection in the ritualistic secret work were presented by Mrs. James to Mrs. Harold Kramer and Mrs. Floyd Antsdel. Invitations were read asking the local group to attend the open house at the Odd Fellow-Rebekah camp at Big Star Lake, near Baldwin, on July 22, and the picnic at the Odd Fellow-Rebekah home in Jackson today (Thursday).

The host committee for the July 20 meeting will include Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lightfoot, Mrs. Aletha Treat, Mrs. Arthur Voorhees and Mrs. Harlan Matthews. Prizes at cards and games were won by Mrs. Treat, Mrs. Voorhees, Mrs. William Keller, Mrs. Charles Babcock, Mrs. Fred Hamilton, Mrs. Antsdel, Mrs. Clyde Paxton, Mrs. John Bewman, Mrs. Edith Clark and Mrs. George Barmore.

Junior Baseball Resumes Schedule Play This Week

The Buchanan junior baseball league, which has suspended play two weeks because of rain and the July 4th holiday, resumed their schedule last (Wednesday) evening. The standing in the Midget Soft Ball league is as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Team, Won, Lost. Rows include Methodist, Church of Christ, Evangelical, Presbyterian, Catholic, and Bombers.

1927 Vandalia H.S. Class Holds Reunion At L. Anderson Home

Members of the 1927 graduating class of the Vandalia high school and their families met in the home of Mr and Mrs Loren Anderson, 309 Elizabeth street, Buchanan, Sunday for the 16th annual class reunion. Nineteen persons attended the affair. A basket dinner was served at noon. During the business session Mrs. Flossie Curtis of Marcellus, was elected secretary-treasurer. The 1952 reunion will be held at the Curtis home on July 13.

Among those present from out-of-town were Mr and Mrs Archie Rumsey and Mr and Mrs Frank Curtis of Marcellus, Mrs. Ruth Newton and children of Vandalia, Mr and Mrs Howard Powell and children of Constantine and Mr and Mrs John Warner and son of Three Oaks.

Charles Wesner Gets Commission As P.M.

(Continued from Page 1) and America a "post" was a station where horses were kept to relay first government messages and later private letters in a relay-carrying service. Later the word came to mean a place of deposit and reception of mail. The first postoffice in this vicinity east of Niles is said to have been the Cottage Hill Inn, still standing and now used as a barn, about two miles southwest of the Portage Road. It was actually a place for relay horses on the Chicago Road mail route by stage coach, before the Michigan Central was built through in 1849.

Seeing Double. Some eyesight patients in Houston, Texas, are liable to think they have double vision. The reason? A pair of identical twins are practicing optometrists there.

Harry Binns, Buchanan Business Man, Dies At 85

(Continued from Page 1) were more interesting than the teaming book of his own mind, in which he dived often for verses, sayings and anecdotes of Lincoln-like folksy humor. Perhaps no one outside his family circle will miss him more than this writer for whom he was an unflinching source of information on the past of Buchanan. Somewhere in his papers is a prose piece which he wrote and gave us explaining his life philosophy. At the time of need we could not place our hand on it. He was born Sept. 20, 1865, in Buchanan, the son of Joseph and Rebecca Buckler Binns. He married Tamerson Carlisle Aug. 7, 1910, in Buchanan. He is survived by the following children: Reba Lamb of Buchanan, Nina Betten-court of Alameda, Calif., Ruth Stanley of Ridgewood, N. J., and Clem Binns or Niles; by nine grandchildren. He served as village clerk of Buchanan in the 1890's. The last rites were held at the family home over his wife at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 10, with the Rev. W. Y. Pohly in charge. Burial was made in Oak Ridge cemetery. All of the business houses of Buchanan were closed in his honor during the funeral. On January 2, the sun is about 3,110,000 miles nearer the earth than at any other time.

Fabiano 9 Wins 2 League Games During Past Week

Defeats LaPorte 4-0 There Friday; Plymouth 4-3 Here Monday

The Fabiano softball team improved their standing in the Northern Indiana League in the past week by winning two victories, the first over LaPorte at LaPorte by a score of 4-0, and the second over the powerful Plymouth team, on Memorial Field by a score of 4 to 3. The Bierwagon was in the pink in the LaPorte game, striking out 17 batters. The Fabs scored three of their four runs in the first inning, aided by a homer by Everett Deeds, second baseman, with one on base. Jim Free hit another home run in the second, with none out, which ended the scoring. In the Plymouth game Bierwagon was off form, but the Fabs won again 4-3, by virtue of tight fielding in his support and a flock of walks and errors by the visitors. The locals again did all their scoring in the first two innings. Three were scored in the second inning without a single hit, when Greenlee, pitching for Plymouth, temporarily lost control, allowing several walks and missing catches at critical spots. The feature of the game was fine support in both the infield and outfield. A homer by Don Arnold, center field, brought in the Fab's first run. Plymouth, Studebaker's and Fabianos are now bunched together with two losses apiece. No league standings were available when this was written, but the Studebaker and Plymouth teams may still shade Fabianos in the standings as a result of fewer team-outs and more games played. The score by innings was: Fabianos 130 000 000 Plymouth 100 110 000

Big Business The Japan Central Post Exchange operated by the United States Army and which supplies servicemen with tobacco, soap, razor blades, and many other necessities, now has 36 branch exchange outlets in Korea. In a recent month, sales in these Korean outlets amounted to $1,130,000.00. A total of 625 long tons of merchandise is being shipped to Korea each two weeks to meet the demand.

High Winds Dim Effectiveness Of Fireworks Display

(Continued from Page One) by the wind. Undoubtedly the display will be repeated, and the results of the 1951 display can only be charged up to experience. The displays were undoubtedly more effective than in previous years when they were discharged immediately in Memorial Field or on the hillside next to the high school, but it must be remembered that this year the wind would have increased the hazard to the audience. Normal rate in full effectiveness, illuminating the side of the hill, which made a marvellous background.

Jack Wilson, who discharged the pieces, actually did a fine job under the conditions. Several of the pieces did not get off at all, as the high wind whipped the fire in the fuses, exploding them almost instantly after lighting. In some cases the aerial pieces were prevented by the wind from getting effective distance, exploding dangerously near the discharging force. Jack Wilson received several minor burns, and some narrow escapes. There was also constant apprehension that one of the unexploded bombs discharged might have been blown back in dangerous proximity, to explode unexpectedly.

Several small fires were started in the hills by the failure of the pieces to reach proper exploding heights. Quick work by a force of volunteers in the hills prevented any serious fires. On these occasions the audience, not knowing the difficulties involved, waited impatiently for the next piece while the volunteer force on the hill scurried around putting out fires. One set piece, the American Flag, was set off under conditions of considerable danger. Even this piece was, from the point of view of the audience, whipped ragged.

Election Held By Rural Schools

Ruby E. Stoops, Native Of Buchanan Dies At Age 58 Yrs.

Mrs. Ruby E. Stoops of Niles, Mich., passed away in Pawating hospital, July 10, 1951, at 10:45 p.m. She was born in Buchanan, April 2, 1893, the daughter of Simon and Nettie Strawser. She lived at 405 S. Barrett St. in Niles. She was married to John A. Stoops April 2, 1913, in Grand Rapids. Surviving are the husband, a daughter, Mrs. Lucy Mead, Niles, three sons, Homer M., Louisville Ky., Lawrence R., Dozwagie, Fred A. Niles, a sister, Mrs. William Dooge, Los Angeles, Calif., and seven grandchildren. Another son, Clarence A., was killed in 1943 in Fort Meyer, Fla. Funeral services will be held in the Swem Funeral Home, Friday, June 13, at 2 p.m. Rev. Wm. Y. Pohly will officiate. Burial will be in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Cars Essential Recent surveys show that nearly three-fourths of intra-city travel is by passenger car. Studies showed that smaller cities are more dependent on automobiles than larger ones. In the smaller cities 86.5 per cent of the passenger traffic was by automobile, in the larger cities 60.3 per cent of the passenger traffic used automobiles. The average is 76.1 per cent for cities in the population range of 100,000 to 250,000, and 80 per cent in the 50,000 to 100,000 group.

Pruner's Delight A pruner has been developed that will give a clean cut without mashing the end of the stem. The pruner's cutting edge closes between parallel guards on the opposing blade which prevents the usual injury. Also, the head of the shears is sharply angled to give more power to the bite with less strain on the wrist. It has a tool-steel knife blade and pistol-grip handles. The pruner weighs less than half a pound, yet has a 600-pound bite.

Feet Breathe The 100,000 sweat glands on the soles of the foot are able to "breathe" freely through the intricate fibrous network of leather soles. That's why feet feel hot and damp when soles are encased in rubbers or galoshes.

Wheat Harvest To Start Rolling In Next Few Days

Yield Estimates Dropped Some As Ripening Advances

With suitable ripening weather, the first of the deliveries of local wheat are expected at the Buchanan-Co-ops the latter part of this week, states Robert Koengshof, Co-ops manager. Just at the present the guesses on the wheat crop of the Buchanan district will not quite average in yields the crops of 1949 and 1950. This is in accord with the estimates of last spring. During late May and early June more optimism was felt when ideal growing weather and plenty of rain seemed to have increased the prospects. However, the threat of rust showed up, some Hessian fly damage appeared, some wheat heads were apparently scalded by hot sun immediately following rain, close inspection of some fields indicated that the stand was not so good as it appeared—anyway if you don't set your stakes too high, your optimism won't suffer a chill when the harvest tells the real story.

A number of fields of corn planted around May 20 have equalled or exceeded the traditional knee-high-by-the-4th-of-July requirement. The majority of fields, planted around June 1 or later have a ways to go. Most of the fields except for a few on low wet ground have been cultivated and are clean of weeds. The showers that have delayed haying, permitted cultivating.

Stabilized Prices Over $35 billion of goods are sold annually in the U.S. under various legal forms of resale price maintenance, which permits trade-mark owners to establish the minimum prices at which their products are to be sold. Items sold under the fair trade method in 12 retail fields, notably drug stores, account for only $5 billion. Other price-maintenance methods have sales of $30 billion a year, including consignment selling, which all newspapers and magazines practice, and exclusive dealerships, used extensively in the auto industry.

Watch Hood Ornaments Many state laws require that no lights other than white or amber can be displayed on the front of a car so that they are visible to an approaching car. Only emergency vehicles can display red light on the front, for example. In some states ornamental lights for the hood are becoming stylish. Dealers have been urged to take caution before installing such lights to make sure that state laws do not forbid them.

Wagner News The Conrad reunion will be held Sunday, July 15, at the Portage Prairie community hall. Albert Wesmer, Jr., left last Thursday for Fort Jackson, S. C., after spending a 10-day furlough here with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Muesbeck and son, Donald, called on Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hess and Miss Margaret Nagel, Friday. They were on their way to Roscommon, Mich., where they will spend their vacation. They will also visit their son, Edward, who is in training at Camp Grayling, Mich. Mrs. Marian Schouten and family of Chicago, and Mrs. E. Ambador and son of Washington state, will arrive Thursday (today) for a visit with Mrs. Ralph Hess and her family. Mrs. May Swartz called on Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hess, Tuesday evening. Charles Hess and Dick Rolston returned Sunday from a trip through the South. At the annual meeting of Wagner school district, Don Marsh was re-elected as moderator. Kenneth Herman was elected as director, and Mrs. Galen Weaver as treasurer, succeeding Richard Best and Mrs. Roy Barz, who resigned. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Best and son and Mr. and Mrs. Galen Weaver were in Knox and Toto, Ind., on business, Monday.

West Buchanan Mrs. Rozelle Wallace and family and Miss Bessie Glass of Glasgow, Ky., were guests last week of Mrs. Irving VanLew. Mrs. Effie Mae Wilson is spending several days with her granddaughters, Mrs. Loren Jewell and Mrs. Richard Tumbleson, and their families, Portage Prairie. Mrs. Irving VanLew and house guests, Mrs. Rozelle Wallace and Miss Bessie Glass, visited the former's father, James Crews, a patient at Pine Crest sanatorium, at Osthemo.

"Good Neighbor" Color Schemes When you plan the color scheme for the re-painting of your house, be sure to take into consideration the houses on each side of your dwelling. A color scheme for your house that will harmonize with your neighbor's homes improves the appearance of the neighborhood as a whole. When repainting a "row house"—while there are advantages to making a house distinctive—the first consideration should be appearance of the entire row.

Benefit Auction Slated Tomorrow Night, July 13

Freeze Bros., Auctioneers, Say No Frozen Prices In Biggest Auction Sale Ever

Here's to the men who are stout-hearted — the men of Ralph Runbaugh Post No. 51 of the American Legion, who have taken their fate in their hands and will hold their long-wanted-for benefit auction on the grounds, in front of their new building on East Front street hill tomorrow night, Friday, July 13.

After all, the public has nothing to be afraid of, states Mr. Sprague, auction impresario. Any bad luck the Legion incurs from the date will be the public's good luck. For everything's going to the highest bidders. Just to show there will be no price freeze, the Legion has employed the Freeze brothers, noted Niles auctioneers, to cry the sale.

KILL* the ACHE, BURN, ITCH of ATHLETES FOOT GERM OR YOUR 40c BACK. T-4-L, made with undiluted alcohol base, DILATES THE VESSELS OF THE SKIN to reach imbedded infection and kills on contact* Get instant-drying T-4-L at all drug stores Today at WISNER CORNER DRUG STORE

The auction will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. and will continue until everything is sold, including the light poles in front of the grounds. Sprague's truck and other vehicles have been scouring the town for many weeks and there will be something for everybody in the offerings presented. If anyone has some late offering, call Sprague's at Telephone 104 and it will be collected.

The ladies of the Legion Auxiliary will also have a sales event on their own, a rummage sale, to be held in the building tomorrow, Friday the 13th, starting at noon and proceeding during the afternoon.

The proceeds will go to the Legion building fund. Let's all turn out and buy our heads off!

Red-Cross Classes In Swimming Now On At Clear Lake Woods

Swimming classes sponsored by the American Red Cross started Monday, July 9, at 10 a.m., at the beach at Clear Lake Woods. There are classes for all ages, including beginning, and advanced swimming and lifesaving. They will be held consecutively five days a week instead of weekly as heretofore. It is possible that applications can still be accepted.

This activity has been extremely popular for several years. The date and the notice of it was delayed because of weather conditions.

The popular instructors of last year's classes, William Howard of Benton Harbor and Carole Gibney of St. Joseph, are again in charge.

Mothers World War Give To Television Fund At Ft. Custer

Members of Buchanan unit of the Mothers of World War II, meeting in the Buchanan Co-ops, Inc., auditorium Tuesday evening, voted to donate $25 to the state project fund, which will be used to purchase two television sets for Veterans Administration hospital at Fort Custer, and a wheel chair stretcher for Sunshine sanitarium in Grand Rapids.

President Katherine McGowan conducted the meeting, during which a contribution of $5 was made to the fund for a memorial for the late Dr. J. C. Strayer.

Plans were made to collect contributions this month which will be sent to Percy Jones General hospital at Battle Creek. Other plans made include a picnic for patients in Veterans Administration hospital, to be held as soon as arrangements can be made. Mrs. Kelsey Bainton is chairman in charge of arrangements. Plans were completed for the unit to meet at the home of Mrs. J. F. Pennell, July 18, for a picnic supper and white elephant party.

Reports on the national convention in Cleveland, O., last month, were given by Mrs. Bainton and Mrs. Ralph DeNardo. Mrs. Gay Hardebeck presented highlights of the fourth district convention in South Haven, June 28.

Social security for farm workers went into effect Jan. 1, 1951.

Train 4-H Members In Judging Crops, Garden, Poultry

A training day in judging of crops, garden varieties and poultry has been set for July 13, according to Leonard J. Hill, county 4-H club agent. This meeting is set up with a combination of Cass, St. Joe and Berrien counties participating. The program has been tentatively set to be held at Cassopolis. P. G. Lundne and Kenneth Ousterhout, assistant state 4-H club leaders, will give the subject matter on these projects at this meeting. The purpose of the get-together is to select the county judging teams in the respective classes for crops and garden and poultry.

All 4-H members who have been enrolled in any of these three projects this past year are eligible to compete at this meeting. At this time the Berrien county crops and garden judging team and the poultry judging team will be picked. These teams will then compete at the state eliminations held August 9 and 10 at Michigan State College.

The remains of Miles Standish are buried in the cemetery at Duxbury, Mass.

The Newest Frontier In Agriculture

(By Jim Wilson, secretary of the National Weather Improvement Association)

For thousands of years, in times of drought, primitive tribes have sought the aid of professional rainmakers supposed to have influence with the Gods. In the latter part of the last century, the clouds were bombarded in an endeavor to bring precipitation, and the same end was sought by sending up mysterious gasses.

But, as recently as four years ago,
"cloud seeding" to increase rainfall and modify weather patterns was an untried theory. Six months ago it was still a fairy tale that almost no one believed but a handful of excited farmers and ranchers in Washington, New Mexico and Colorado who claimed they'd seen a miracle. Today, in half a dozen states, reports indicate that the most important agricultural development of the century may be in the making.

The pattern was set last June,
when, in history's first commercial cloud-seeding project on farm land, the Water Resources Development corporation of Pasadena, Calif., produced 430% of the normal rainfall for the month on the 100,000-acre wheat farm of the Horrigan Brothers of Prosser, Wash.

It was retraced in July when Albert Mitchell, northeastern New Mexico rancher, hired the same company to see what could be done about a drought that had lasted 11 months. Seven Weather Bureau stations in the Mitchell area recorded from 3.72 to 10.26 inches of rainfall in July (156% to 419% of normal), as compared to 4.6 to 2.69 inches (44% to 125% of normal) for seven stations upwind from the area.

Late in the summer, 12 counties in southeastern Colorado reported similar results. "We got started to help our wheat," says Warren Jewett, manager of the project, "but we believe the operation was worth about $20 million to the range lands of the 12 counties."

The same counties are sponsoring a winter project to increase the snowpack at the headwaters of the Arkansas river to provide more water for irrigation. Preliminary reports are now in. Despite a scarcity of natural storms to work on, the snowpack in the target area on March 1 was 120% to 210% of normal.

Late in January an 8,000,000 acre project was authorized in seven counties of northeastern Colorado. "Light snow flurries" were predicted for January—26 to 30. The storm was seeded and the whole area was blanketed with four to six inches of snow.
Two weeks later, "light scattered snow flurries" were predicted again. The storm was seeded, and again the whole area got four to eight inches. "Maybe it's coincidence," says Harvey Harris, Sterling, Colo., rancher and president of the group, "and maybe it isn't. Anyway, the storms broke a four-month drought."

As of February 20, 26 organized groups, covering more than 300,000 square miles, in 11 states, have contracted with commercial companies, either for actual operations or for preliminary surveys to learn whether operations are feasible.

In early experiments, clouds were seeded by airplane. However, the particles spread more evenly through greater space when swept up from the ground.
Dr. Krick uses ground generators burning silver-iodide-impregnated coke briquets under forced draft at 2,500 to 3,000° F. The blast

A Living Fence

A different type of fencing is becoming conspicuous on a growing number of southern Michigan farms. This row of two-year-old blossoming multiflora rose shrubs, providing a living fence and food and cover for small game, is replacing a post and wire fence on the William R. Hale farm north of Charlotte. Including 675 farms recently planted, 1,755 southern farms have received stock in the co-operative farmer-conservation department wildlife habitat improvement program started in 1948. Here department program adviser W. C. Ryder inspects the Hale farm hedge. Once roots are established, the rose shrubs need a minimum of future attention.

carries the particles up where they are caught by natural up-drafts and swept on into the upper atmosphere. Although a generator gives off about 30 quad-rillion particles a minute, it takes only about one-450,000 of a pound of silver iodide to seed a cubic mile of atmosphere. The particles are incredibly small.

The trick is to know just where, when, how long, and at what intensity to run the generators, so that as the impregnated air stream drifts downward, the clouds will "gel" over the right spot and give down on the farmers who paid for the rain.

"The way it's been coming down has been even more important than the extra rain itself," says Ralph Crum, of Ione, Ore., president of the local group backing the project. "Normally we get hard, dashing rains with a lot of erosion and run-off. Out "silver iodide storms" have been slow, gentle, general rains, with almost no run-off. Think of what this means in terms of saving the soil."

These seeming miracles all stem from one simple scientific principle. To condense in drops big enough to fall, cloud moisture has to freeze. The tiny particles won't freeze of their own accord except at 40° below zero (F) or colder.

The atmosphere is seldom this cold, even in winter. However, there are myriads of sub-microscopic particles of solid matter in the air—minuscule flecks of salt, clay, loam, and other substance swept up from the earth's surface.
Cloud moisture will freeze and collect on these natural nuclei at 0°. For all practical purposes in the temperate zone, every natural raindrop begins as baby ice crystals clustering about one of these particles.

Usually, only the tops of clouds are cold enough for moisture to freeze and condense about these natural nuclei. That's where silver iodide comes in. It starts working at 25° above zero, producing precipitation also from the lower, warmer parts of the cloud. This rain begins sooner, falls slower, lasts longer, and spreads out more. Often the silver iodide starts a chain reaction that causes clouds to build up, seemingly out of nothing, and precipitate in a slow, gentle even rain over hundreds of square miles.

Nor is it a matter of robbing Peter to wet Paul. The amount of moisture that can possibly be removed from clouds by natural and artificial means is trivial compared to the total amount in the cloudy air stream. These air streams are continually replenished by moisture evaporated from the oceans and carried over the land by winds. If this moisture doesn't fall on the land, it is swept on to fall on the ocean.

Cloud-seeding concentrates rainfall on the land.

It isn't expected that cloud-seeding will completely change the ways of life and farming but only that it will make the old ways easier, pleasanter, and more productive.

Change may pass to farm land, summer fallow to diversified continuous cropping, barren farmsteads to trees and bluegrass.

If all this—or even part of it —comes to pass on a large scale,
the effects on production, markets, population trends, and political and economic balances will be tremendous.

But the big thing to keep in mind about cloud-seeding is that it will not work miracles. Most of the evidence so far indicates that it will increase the precipitation from most cloud formations that come your way, but it also indicates that if you don't get the clouds, you won't get the rain.

The strongest muscle of the average person is the one that closes the jaws.

Pull In Your Chest Doctors Now Advise

This business of sitting and standing straight can be overdone, according to Dr. Paul Williams of Dallas.

Declaring that 60% of all adults suffer low-back pains, Dr. Williams told the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons that most of it is due to erroneous ideas about what constitutes correct posture.

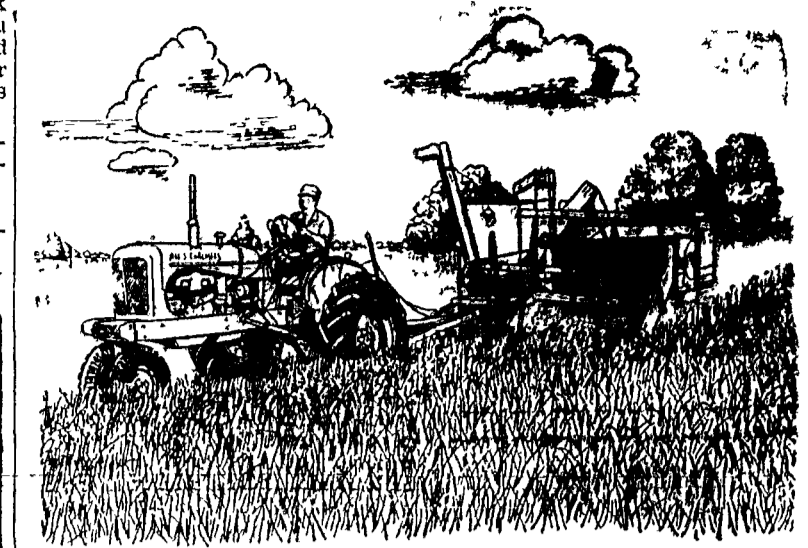

He advocated sitting slightly slumped so the spine describes a moderate curve instead of being somewhat S-shaped.

When you walk, place your chest forward by creasing your belly slightly, he said.

From Buchanan Farm To Korean Artillery Duel
With X Corps, U. S. Army in Korea—Efc Leon D. Nissen, 22, of Buchanan, is fighting with the 196th Field Artillery Battalion in the "biggest artillery shoot" in the history of warfare in the Far East.

The artillery unit, a Tennessee National Guard battalion, played a key role in smashing back the May Red offensive, greatest unleashed in this war, hurled back massed enemy forces in the X Corps sector with staggering losses.

The 196th fired thousands of rounds of high explosive and white phosphorous shells into Red ranks during late May, joining with other X Corps forces to inflict over 50,000 Chinese and North Korean casualties.

Nissen, assigned to "Charlie" battery, a 155-mm howitzer battalion, was rushed to this Oriental theater of war with the battalion in January. A reservist, he was called to active duty late last year.

This is his second tour of duty in the Far East. Nissen was stationed with occupational forces in Japan from March, 1949, until April, 1950.

As a civilian, he was engaged in farming in the Buchanan community.
His mother, Mrs. George Cooper, resides at 202 South Oak street, Buchanan, where he earlier attended high school.

Lt C. U. Leggett In Artillery In Korea
