Truck Load Soldiers' Helmets Mixes With Load of Beer on M-60

Will Exhibit Products Made For War Use

Now Here's the Proposition

August is the time most men wish they'd been women so they could run around half dressed

Their only so much sympathy to go around anyway and if you use all yures on yourself, don't expect any from enybuddy else

Since Some One Swiped the City Scythes

We miss no more the ancient trees, That shaded once the summer street, Since o'er those sunny thoroughs The ragweed and the dogbane meet

Though stately oak and beech are gone Young lovers seal their fervent vows

On sundry spots on vacant lots Beneath the towering horsemint boughs

The climbing Comph-vine twines and writhes, The umfaluka grows in stacks, Since someone took the city scythes And did not bring them back

For someone's swiped the city scythes (I wonder if it was the street Department) which is why The pigweed and the heavens meet

And so it is the bind weed winds The milkweed flutters in the breeze Since city scythes are hard to get Regardless of priorities

Well, friends and fellow-rationers the big mystery this week is that somebody's got the city scythes, which is why nothing has been done about the vacant lots and you can't go down town of a dewey evening without having to change pants when you get home.

It is really no joke. Somebody needed a scythe or so and figured "I'm a tax payer and I own a share in the city scythes" So they guessed that the city garage doors would be unlocked, which they were, and they took the scythes and still have them.

The city is now considering passing an ordinance or inserting an ad in the Record saying "The party is known who took the city scythes, and they are warned to bring them back at once and no questions asked"

For there are no scythes at Gangle's or Allen's or Mill's or Stranger yet—even at the Corner Drug, which, however, says it expects a shipment next Wednesday.

Start Installing Utilities on Lot For Trailer Camp

Arrangements were made the first of the week by the Indiana & Michigan Electric company for a permit from the city to install lights on the site leased by the federal government from the Clark Equipment company and William Borst for a site for a house trailer camp a block north of River street

A representative of the federal government now at the River street plant stated yesterday that about 25 had arrived that the remainder of the total camp of 100 were expected in small groups, from time to time. They are being brought here under contract by a trucking company from Wilmington, Ill., and Prairie Du Sac, Wis.

Contractors working for the government will make connections with city water and sewer facilities, which will be installed at federal expense

Beer Truck Hits Rear End Stalled Cargo of Steel

Wreck Ties Up Road 4 Hours; Driver of Beer Truck Has Narrow Escape

A spectacular crash between two big helmets, one loaded with soldiers' helmets and the other with beer, brought Fire Chief Cramer and his smoke eaters a-runnin' early Saturday morning to the foot of the hill just west of Bakertown on M-60

A big semi-trailer owned by the Schiller Trucking Company of Detroit was eastward bound on M-60 when it was brought to a stop by a broken axle at the foot of the hill immediately west of Bakertown. The driver, Joe Bancroft, of New Buffalo, was placed in the steel truck. The impact demolished the beer truck driven by Lee Swoverland of Three Rivers crashed into the rear end. Swoverland asserted later that there were no flames and the Buchanan fire crew said that when they arrived there was no light in the flames although they had been stationed

Swoverland was driving at a fair rate of speed to make the hill when he struck the rear of the steel truck. The impact demolished the cab in which he was riding, and it immediately burst into flames. The weight of the load on the steel truck stopped the beer truck dead, but the steel cargo was dashed all over the highway

The load was made up of circular flat steel plates cut to be shaped into soldiers' helmets in Detroit. Much of the load was damaged by both crash and fire, and the highway was closed by police until 8 a. m. before the wreckage was cleared. The cab and tractor of the beer truck were both practically destroyed

Swoverland escaped with only minor cuts and bruises, but those who saw the wreck said that his escape with his life was almost miraculous. The motor of his truck was driven back into the cab immediately behind him, and he was wedged so that he was hardly able to get out of the burning cab

Firemen reported that the cargo of beer was almost a total loss. Chief Cramer took both city and township trucks, and with the 600 gallons of water they carried helped very materially in saving part of both trucks.

Wins Air Medal For Conduct in Fight Over Germany

Leader in Lodge and Church Work Called by Death

Elizabeth Longfellow, 35, Passes Away After Long Illness

"Well, we've lost a good citizen from the drill," was the greeting this writer received a few days ago from a veteran shop worker of that department of the Clark Equipment company, his reference being to the untimely death of Elizabeth Longfellow

His expression doubtless represented the feeling of her many friends, not only at the Clark Equipment but throughout the city

Elizabeth C. Longfellow had been a valued member of and worker in a number of organizations. She was one of that valued minority who always do more than their share. She had been a former superintendent of the primary department of the Methodist Sunday school, a teacher in that department for many years, and the treasurer of the entire Sunday school until a few years before her death

She had been noble grand of the Bayleaf Rebekah lodge, and financial secretary of the organization for about five years. She was a member of the Business & Professional Women's club and the Ceco club of the Clark offices.

She was born Dec. 7, 1908, at Galen, Mich., the daughter of Albert and Effie Longfellow. Her mother died May 4, 1938

She lived during her first ten years at Galen, Three Oaks, Baroda and Hartford, coming to Buchanan in 1918. She completed her schooling here, being graduated from the Buchanan high school in 1927. She had worked at the Clark Equipment company for 15 years.

She had made a home for her brother, Emerson, who was building a new house for her at 507 Oak street when she died. She had been in ill health for about four years. She had gone to Mayo Brothers at Rochester, Minn., and to the University hospital at Ann Arbor, but no deep-lying trouble had been found by those clinics

In March of 1943 she went to Hot Springs, Ark., to try the benefit of the baths there for a streptococcal infection in her blood. She seemed to get relief from this, and after her return she went back to her employment in the office of the drill department

About the first of the present month her condition took a radical change for the worse. She quit her work at the drill office Monday, Aug. 2, and on Wednesday, Aug. 4, she went to the Pawating hospital where she died eight days later, on Thursday, Aug. 12. She is survived by her father, Albert Longfellow, of Buchanan; by two brothers, Emerson and Raymond Longfellow, of Buchanan; by her mother, Mrs. M. D. Childs, of Buchanan; by her sister, Mrs. Everett Watson

Funeral services were held from the Swem Funeral home at 2 p. m. Sunday, with Rev. Grant Jordan in charge. Burial was made in Oak Ridge cemetery. The pallbearers, all members of a former young people's class at the Methodist church, were as follows: Burlan Rhoades, Jerry Mann, Elmer Keyes, Max Cooper, Earl Derflinger, Everett Watson

Arthur Myers has sold the residence at 221 Lake street to Hayden Beatty who moved there from 820 Sylvan avenue. Jack Hess purchased the property at 320 Sylvan avenue from Henry Schultz and is moving there this week.

Babe McIntosh Wins 2nd Award In Aerial Fight

One of Crew Making Miracle Escape in Fight Over Western Germany

Later Mrs. Mabel McIntosh, mother of William E. (Babe) McIntosh received a letter from him just before the Record went to press yesterday. The letter was written after the July 17 battle of the story below. It did not give details other than to say that he had "done it again" and won his second citation for bravery in action, this time the Air Medal.

The brief V-Mail note of Aug. 7 said: "Well, Mom, your little boy has done it again. I was awarded another medal today. I am sure proud of it. That makes two. It is the air medal, so you'll know."

We are listening to the Kite Smith hour and she just sang my favorite song "Don't Get Around Much Any More"

Tell all I said hello. All my love, BILL.

The name of Sgt. William E. McIntosh, son of Mrs. Mabel McIntosh, 107 West Alexander, was mentioned as a member of a crew of the Flying Fortress "Flagship", which made a miraculous getaway from a swarm of attacking Focke-Wulfs and Messerschmitts, during a raid over Western Germany on July 17.

Sgt. McIntosh, a ball turret gunner, received wide mention when he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for shooting down a Focke-Wulf during an aerial engagement over France on Sept. 6, 1942.

In the action of July 17 his gun was jammed during the fight and the pilot, Captain G. Parker of East Valparaiso, Ind., and the navigator, L. H. Knapf of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., were hurt and temporarily unconscious. Special citation in this fight went to Lieut. Col. William E. Buck, who took over the controls with one hand while working over the unconscious pilot with the other and operating a fire extinguisher with his feet. He pulled Parker out of the fire, while bringing the plane out of the fight by violent dodging maneuvers

With the nose shot off the ship, the brakes out of commission, and one wing so weakened by cannon shot that it was likely to break any time, Buck brought the plane to a safe landing in England.

Navy Mothers Get Acknowledgment of Junk Jewelry Gifts

The following letter was received by Mrs. Claude Hess, chairman of the Navy Mothers campaign for Junk Jewelry, from the county chairman, Dear Mrs. Hess:

Your acknowledgment card received Glad the trinkets were acceptable. Other articles such as the buttons, etc., were among them rather unintentionally but all right if you find them useful. They were in another collection for the soldiers' hospital so please don't think we are trying to rid ourselves of trash. They can be used anyway you choose. I also have quite a number of books on hand to be placed wherever there is a call. Are you interested? Two or three I have already sent to certain soldiers in California who stated that they read "everything they can get their hands on."

If any acknowledgement of our contribution is given to the papers will you kindly make mention of the Brownstown Home Service club. My name personally need not be included. Perhaps when you make your next shipment the newspaper will like the news of your very worthwhile activity.

Will be pleased to hear from you and any help I can give through the medium of our little club will be cheerfully contributed.

Most sincerely yours, Mrs. E. J. Dolzel, Bridgman, Mich., R. 1.

Tales of An Old Town

An Attempt to Reproduce a Cross Section of The American Scene, As Witnessed Here Through the Past Century

Alma Hartline writes story of historic home of Longs on Portage Prairie

For three years Isaac and Susan lived with the Rough family. In 1851 they moved on the farm where they spent the remainder of their lives. In 1861 Mr. Long built the brick house which stands today. One of the old Berrien County Records mentions it as a fine brick residence costing $2000. Apparently labor and materials were some what cheaper during the Civil War than they are in the war of today."

Mr. and Mrs. Long raised eleven children in this house and it was not until all had gone to homes of their own and the father and mother had died that the farm passed into other hands. However in 1913 it was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades and as Mrs. Rhoades was a niece of Susan Long, the home was again in the family possession for 30 years. Because of the farm labor shortage Mr. Rhoades can no longer work the farm. They will have their sale on Thursday and then go to another home.

Jacob C. Rough, Once Postmaster Buchanan, Dies

Son of Pioneer Family Was Born Here, Conducted Rough Opera House Many Years

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Swem Funeral Home for Jacob C. Rough, former Buchanan postmaster and at one time a leading business man of this city.

Rough died early Saturday morning in the St. Joseph hospital, South Bend, as the result of cancer of the pancreas. He had been ill in the hospital five weeks.

He was born in Buchanan Mar. 31, 1872, the son of Solomon and Katherine Rough. He grew to manhood in Buchanan and received his education here, being a graduate of the Buchanan high school. His father, Solomon Rough was one of the organizers and operators of the Rough Bros. Wagon Works, and a man of large wealth and influence. Jacob Rough inherited a portion of his wealth and influence and was for many years one of the leading men of Buchanan.

During the days before the development of "movies" he conducted the Rough Opera House, in the old Rough building at the corner of Front and Oak, in which the Boardman store now occupies the ground floor. For years this was the place where practically all professional and amateur theatricals were performed, and also where high school graduations, political rallies and other public affairs attended by large audiences were held. During the administration of Woodrow Wilson he was appointed postmaster for Buchanan, holding the post several years. He had lived in South Bend during the past 14 years.

His brother, Harry Rough, died June 27, the last of his immediate family. His only surviving relatives was an aunt, Mrs. James Boone, 305 Berrien street, Buchanan and an uncle.

The funeral was held at the Swem Funeral Home at 2 p. m. Monday, with Rev. Malcolm McNeal in charge. Burial was made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Lindsley had as guests over the week end Mr. and Mrs. William Dursten and Mrs. Hazel McCarthy of Chicago.

Miss Vickey Kobe left today (Thursday) for Los Angeles, Calif., for an indefinite stay.

Plan Park Contest In Sand Modeling

Since the new sandbox was built by Isaac Hayes and the sand installed, the children who use Kathryn Park have developed a surprising aptitude for sand modeling, according to the supervisor, Miss Maude Slate.

Miss Slate plans on some date when the moisture conditions are favorable to hold a sand modeling tournament. In the croquet tournament held Friday for children, from 7 to 12 inclusive the following were winners: first, Emily Sekan, second, Janet Beck.

Early Vegetables Scarce and Costly

If the early truck crops around Buchanan are any indication it will pay Buchanan gardeners and others to can what they can, according to one local observer who was looking over the offerings on US-31 between Niles and Berrien Springs Sunday afternoon.

Early sweet corn is short on account of corn borer ravages, this observer stated, and the early ears were selling at 35 cents a dozen. After a one day slump of tomato sales on the Benton Harbor market last week during which Grade Seconds were sent home, chain store buyers rushed in and the price went to $8 per bushel or 10 cents a pound on Grade Ones. The late plantings and varieties of sweet corn are reported to be less affected by borer. Early sweet corn, however, suffered much worse than field corn.

7,000 Trees on State Highways Will be Removed

A state-wide survey of county roads to study hazardous conditions caused by trees on highway rights-of-way too close to the road surfaces will get under way this week, state highway commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has announced. This covers principally those trees between the ditch lines of the highway.
Commissioner Ziegler explained that the survey is a result of a concurrent resolution passed by the state legislature last winter requesting the state highway commissioner to assemble such information and present a report to the next legislative session.
County road commissioners are being requested to find out how many trees need to be removed for safety purposes along roads under their jurisdiction. The state highway department's maintenance division has already determined the number of trees that should be removed along state and federal trunkline rights-of-way. Some 7,000 trees are to be removed under this safety program. To date approximately 2,400 have been eliminated.

Disappearance of Meteor

The disappearance of a meteor may be explained by its passing through our atmosphere and emerging again into space, or it may be that the atmospheric friction has consumed it; that is, it has been worn away to fine particles of dust which may settle without our becoming aware of it.

DRUG STORE

* We compound Prescriptions. And we are proud of it. We have no quarrel with those stores that feature a wide variety of general merchandise, for they do have their place. But our policy is, and always has been, to put the accent on PRESCRIPTION DRUGS.

The compounding of prescriptions is our primary interest. And because we handle the other phases of them, our service is uniformly fresh and potent. On our shelves are many items rare and difficult to obtain. That's why physicians direct patients to bring prescriptions here for accurate compounding.

judging of 4-H livestock and home-making exhibits will start at 9:30 a. m. A horseshoe pitching contest will also start in the morning, followed by a basket dinner at noon.

The afternoon program will begin with music at 1:00 p. m. and finals of the horseshoe pitching contest from 1:00 to 2:00. The 4-H livestock parade is scheduled for 1:30 followed by the awarding of prizes for exhibits. There will be special contests for old and young with suitable prizes. The ladies are invited to enter the rolling pin throwing contest which should provide some excitement.

The big feature of the day will be the 4-H Calf Scramble scheduled to take place at 3:30. Twelve white faced calves weighing 300-400 pounds each will be turned loose in an arena to be caught, haltered, and led out of the ring, by several husky 4-H boys. These calves are sponsored by the farmers cooperatives and organizations of the county. The Buchanan Co-Ops, Inc. and The Buchanan Farmers Credit Union are sponsoring calves for this area.

Once my ship was a luxury liner!

"She used to carry fifteen hundred passengers in luxurious comfort—mostly tourists bound for a holiday abroad. Now she's a transport. How many thousands of husky Yanks we pack aboard is a military secret. But we make the most of all the deck space there is—and we get 'em there!"

"I know it's the same way with lots of long distance telephone lines. In peacetime, they handled comfortably a lot of social traffic. Now they're crowded with calls, and a lot of them are war messages that must go through pronto."

Not only must vital war calls be handled promptly, but urgent civilian calls should not be delayed. You alone can judge whether your call is important enough to justify placing it on telephone wires to war-busy centers.

When lines are overloaded, the operator will ask you to limit your call to 5 minutes. Your co-operation will help others who are waiting.

Victory Gardens Being Judged in Michigan Contest

With final inspections under way in the local, county and state contests, 8,000 victory gardeners in 42 counties in Michigan will soon know just how good they are as horticulturists.

The 8,000 represent the number of entries in the state contest as reported by Paul R. Krone, chief of the victory garden section of the Michigan office of civilian defense. Six of the 42 counties are in the upper peninsula.

State prizes totaling $2,500 in war bonds and local and county awards of approximately $5,000 are offered. Two trophies will be presented by Governor Harry F. Kelly for the best city and farm gardens.

According to Krone, nature has been in a contrary mood this season. Normally gardens in the southern half of the lower peninsula are the finest in the state because of weather conditions, but this year the situation is reversed. The southern section suffered from prolonged rainfall during the spring and plantings were delayed or given up. Conversely, the northern section of the lower peninsula and the upper peninsula have enjoyed favorable weather and the gardens in those areas are thriving.

The second and final local judging inspection was started this week, and a list of gardens is being selected for consideration in the state contest. State judges will visit the counties during a two-week period beginning Aug. 30, after which the winners will be announced.

Many victory gardeners will have exhibits at harvest shows and county fairs, and the best will receive certificates from the office of civilian defense.

Hannah Explains Grid Cancellation at Michigan State

The wartime fate of football at Michigan State college was settled last week when President John A. Hannah announced the termination of inter-collegiate athletics for the duration on East Lansing's campus. This marks the first break in 59 years of consecutive football at MSC.

President Hannah stated that almost 100 per cent of Michigan State college's able-bodied men are now serving in the armed services. Last fall there were 135 men participating in varsity or freshmen football. Today 134 are in the armed services and one is still in college. Although the army has approximately 3,000 soldier trainees on the campus, the war department does not permit these men to participate in inter-collegiate athletics.

"During Michigan State college's 86 years of existence," said President Hannah, "the college has cooperated continuously with the war department. As the army is determined that inter-collegiate athletics are incompatible with the war training program, Michigan State college will continue to cooperate in the prosecution of the war through making available training facilities."

President Hannah stated emphatically that Michigan State college would proceed with all inter-collegiate competition in all sports when the war is over or when the war department says such activities are not detrimental to the army college war training program second to none in the

Big GOP Rally to Be Held in South Bend on August 22

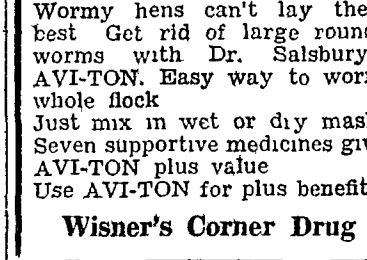

South Bend, Ind.—What is expected to be one of the largest republican gatherings in northern Indiana, will assemble Sunday, Aug. 22, in South Bend's Potawatomi park under the direction of the River Park Republican club. The affair is to have the form of an old settlers' basket picnic and therefore is open to old settlers as well as everyone else of any political belief residing in Indiana, Michigan or any other place.

Visitors will open their baskets to family groups at noon. Then will follow registration. At 2:30 o'clock an interesting program will begin with James Oliver II, of the noted plow family, as master of ceremonies. Singing, the national anthem, salute to the flag and a tribute to gold star mothers will be followed by speeches. Among the speakers will be Indiana's United States senator, Raymond E. Willis, of Angola; Congressman Robert A. Grant, of Indiana's third district, and Ralph F. Gates, of Columbia City, Indiana republican state chairman. Music will add to the pleasure of what is expected to be an unusual day. Republican state officials, district and county chairmen in northern Indiana and other prominent citizens are to be present.

DELIVER REPORT Forms Required in Auto Injury Cases

Lansing, Mich.—Report forms on which all drivers involved in bodily injury accidents after the new financial responsibility law takes effect on July 30 were delivered this week by Herman H. Dignan, secretary of state, who has charge of administering the new law, to all police and sheriff's departments in Michigan.

The forms are simplified so that anyone may easily answer the required questions, and it is mandatory under the law that a form be filled out within ten days of a bodily injury accident by every driver involved in the accident.

Questions asked include the information contained on all car registration certificates and operator licenses, plus data on time and place of the accident, names and addresses of all owners or drivers involved in the accident, persons injured or killed and information on whether the car involved was protected by public liability insurance at the time of the accident, and if so, the name of the issuing company and the policy number.

A notation at the bottom of the form warns that failure to render the report to the department of state within ten days of the accident constitutes a misdemeanor and is sufficient grounds for the suspension or revocation of the operator's license and registration certificate.

Secretary Dignan pointed out that the information on liability insurance is required in order that his offices may determine the financial liability of the driver. If acceptable insurance was in force at the time of the accident, his office need proceed no further. If no liability insurance was in force, his office is required under the law to demand a deposit of cash or a bond up to an amount of $11,000 for satisfaction of any damage claims arising from the accident.

Inability to furnish either cash or a bond will result in revocation of the operator's license, car registration certificate and license plates until such time as damage claims are satisfied and proof of future financial responsibility is furnished.

Yes, we're out here in the jungle, And the jungle leaves are red, Red with the blood from Yank boys, 'Twas freedom's blood they shed.

The famous (32nd Div) Was chosen for this task, We fought grim and determined, No quarter gave, none asked.

Ten weeks we fought the Yellow tide, Ten weary weeks of Hell, Till the last of Tojo's stronghold, In the Buna battle 'ell.

For days and nights there was no sleep, We had no food to eat, But there was no backing for us, Till the Japs took full retreat.

The (126th) Infantry, Has soldiers good and true, We will keep our pledge and promise, To the Red, White and Blue.

We will keep Old Glory flying, And in enemy breeze shall wave, From the distant lands in which we'll fight, Then back to the home of the brave.

'Tis time to leave the jungle, And the jungle leaves still red, While we think of our brave comrades, We just can't believe they're dead.

But some day we'll avenge them, Yes, each and every one, When (32nd) marches on, To the land of the Rising Sun.

So you better prepare now Tojo, For we've got you on the run, And the 32nd Div shall not stop, Till we set your Rising Sun.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 270): "Pew deny the hypothesis that intelligence, apart from man and matter, governs the universe, and it is generally admitted that this intelligence is the eternal Mind or divine Principle, Love"

The Battle of New Guinea. (This week we start the service column with a good verse by Cpl Ralph Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Gray, 210 East Fourth Street. Corporal Gray serves with the 32nd Division, which has distinguished itself in combat in New Guinea to the extent that the entire division received a citation for heroic conduct in most unusually difficult circumstances. The poem speaks for itself.)

Letter From Sicily. The following letter was received by Clyde Shaffer, Sr. from his son, Sgt. Clyde Shaffer, Jr. July 29, 1943 Somewhere in Sicily

Dear Dad I have not received your letter so I will write you this morning regardless. I'm in charge of quarters so I'm going to take this opportunity to do a little letter writing.

I'm sitting at a desk writing this letter at the point where we are now stationed. You are undoubtedly wondering as to when I left Africa. At my last writing I did not know that I could state as to which I left Africa. I left Africa July 7 and landed in southern Sicily with the first American troops July 10. The rest you have read in the newspaper so I need not write of that.

I'm perfectly well and feeling fine so please don't you and mom worry about me. Sicily seems better to me, due to the fact there is not a dozen Arabians around you all the time. Of course these Italians have been depressed for so long and have done without everything for such a great period of time, that they ask of us the same as the Arabs. It's difficult for one to realize, he almost has to be here to understand the situation.

From the countries I visited since I left home I can sincerely write that the American standard of living is much higher and to me seems further advanced in civilization. Agriculture is the same as Africa, undeveloped, poor equipment and methods of farming.

This is a historic island which has had nothing but complications since its beginning. There are many historic buildings which I hope to have the opportunity to visit.

The language puzzles us boys, as it did in Africa and we are in a state of confusion when we try to converse with these people, or do business.

The people here seem kind, friendly, sincere and they in turn are treated likewise by the happy go lucky G. I.

Well, Dad, this is more than I expected to write so its best that I close for this time.

As ever, your son, Clyde

Housewives Urged To Utilize Supply 'Ration-Free' Foods

Housewives were urged today to preserve valuable supplies of ration-free food through full utilization of Michigan-grown fruits and vegetables at the time of peak production.

"Improved crop prospects indicate that at least two fruits and three vegetables suitable for canning will be produced in Michigan in abundance," said C. Wall, official of the A&P Tea company, one of the nation's largest purchasers of Michigan produce.

"Agricultural experts list these vegetables as snap beans, sweet corn and tomatoes, and the fruits as peaches and summer and fall apples."

He pointed out that although no surplus is forecast, these foods are expected to reach the market in large volume at peak periods and at comparatively reasonable prices.

"Experts foresee a Michigan peach crop of about 2,600,000 bushels, or 450,000 bushels more than last year," Wall said. "Hale Havens should start to ripen in southern Michigan about August 20 and the Elberta harvest usually terminates about September 20 or 25. These two varieties constitute the bulk of the state's commercial crop."

The total United States peach crop is estimated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at only 45,000,000 bushels, or 32 per cent less than last year.

Pointing out that the crop of summer and fall apples (Duchess and Wealthy) is expected to be larger than last year's 582,000 bushels, Wall said that these varieties are excellent for canning and are among the fruits which can be processed without the use of sugar.

In response to the demands of thousands of women planning to do home canning for the first time, the A&P has set up a new information service to keep home-makers posted on available foods and leaflets giving full information on food preservation are being distributed in A&P stores.

Buchanan Youth Council News

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE
The summer is nearly over and school time is close at hand. With the opening of the fall semester, the Employment Service will close for this season. The Youth Council board and I feel that this project of providing work for the youngsters of the community has been a worthy one and we are very much pleased with the all-around efforts that have made this work a practical and successful project.

Our plans for next year's Employment Service are not entirely formulated, but we hope to have a more unified program mapped out. This summer with a registration of 95 youngsters, we have been able to have very little effective organization. We have found many flaws in our working methods which we hope to remedy in next summer's program.

It makes us very proud to think that so many people have called on us to provide youngsters for odd jobs, it makes us even prouder to see how interested the young people have been in this project, without their interest nothing could have been accomplished. Whatever mistakes have been made or whatever poor jobs have been done, we have tried to remedy as best we could. It is our wish that anyone who has any complaints or suggestions about this project will contact either one of the Youth Council board members or myself so that we may file them and thus make amendments next season.

As a parting word to the youngsters, I would like to see a little more effort on the part of some in the matter of carrying out their intentions. Several times youngsters have said that they would call me or see me about whether they would take a job or not, and then I have never heard from them again. We all err in this respect, but it is a good thing to learn—either mean to carry out your intentions, or don't make them at all.

On behalf of the Youth Council board and myself, I wish to thank everyone who has helped to make our work a success, and I hope that you can make a better Youth Council Employment Service next summer.

Visit South Bend Recreation Spot
Several times some of the Youth Councilors have visited the High Spot, the place of recreation for the young people of South Bend.

It is open from 7 p. m. until 10:30 p. m. They have the entire lower floor of the Y.W.C.A. building, which is open six nights a week from 7 to 10:30. They were given $500 by the city to start with. They have a soda fountain which is operated by the young people for the most part. They have collected some very nice furniture and curtains, and have some excellent piano players and dancers. About 250 young people attend nightly. A different high school band plays for dances each week.

After July 12, only those were permitted to attend from South Bend who were registered. They recently had a jitterbug contest in which there was a good number of entries.

The Friday Night Dance
Last Friday night we enjoyed the weekly round-up at the recreation hall, at which we gaily kicked up our heels to the music of them windy fellers known as the Youth Council Dance Band.

We had a very good crowd and many eyes were on the men attending from the armed forces. A Seabee was there by the name of Harold Sprague, who was visiting his brother, A. P. Sprague. He came with his niece, Dorothy Lamont. Another man in uniform was Jack DeWeese, who is spending thirty days here with his sisters, Mrs. Carl Herdt and Mrs. Warner. We also had some dudes from out-of-town who eyed the girls with a whistle on their lips.

We are always glad to have out-of-town guests, and especially the service men, so why don't you invite them to the last dance of the summer to be held Friday evening, Aug. 20.

Guest From U of Michigan
Friday morning of this week the Buchanan Youth Council recreation hall will be visited by Miss Cynthia Jones, a representative of the Extension Department of the University of Michigan, who comes to find out what has been done and is being done for the recreation of local young people. She is coming to collect information to be passed on to other communities considering a project of the sort, and to other communities now operating such projects. A story will be prepared for university publications, and also as the basis for a radio script for a broadcast over the university station some time this coming fall.

Fund Reaches $2300
Phil Hanlin, director of the Buchanan Youth Council, announces that the fund from the canvass for the recreation room has now passed $2200, with more in sight, which practically assures the operation of the room for the coming year.

Andy Devine Sings In "Rhythm of the Islands"
When Garbo talked, and Baby Sandy walked, it was news. And now, when Andy Devine sings, that's news too. Universal's corpulent comedian, who parlayed a throat affliction into a fortune via the talking screen, sings for the first time in a picture.

This newest milestone in moviemaking is in the Allan Jones-Jane Frazee starring production, "Rhythm of the Islands" showing at the Hollywood Theatre Friday and Saturday, Aug. 20-21. Andy portrays the role of a beach-comber.

Andy's initial musical number is entitled "Manhattan Isle." Other prominent players in the cast of "Rhythm of the Islands" include Mary Wickes, Ernest Tenen, the Step Brothers, the Horton Dancers and Acquasanta Roy. William Neil directed and the associate producer was Bernard W. Burton.

Tarzan Triumphs Over Nazis in Jungle Conflict
"Tarzan Triumphs," first of Sol Lesser's new series for RKO Radio based on the popular Edgar Rice Burroughs' stories, has as its theme a melodramatic plot that brings the present war into the wilds of Africa. Starring Johnny Weissmuller, "Tarzan Triumphs" shows the fictional hero of hundreds of stories as one who has no interest in the war at first. This attitude continues until the Germans invade the jungle to enslave the people of a peacefully living there. It is then that Tarzan makes war. Equipped with knowledge of the country that aids him in making an onslaught on the invaders, he meets the most dangerous enemy of his many exciting adventures. Frances Gifford is Weissmuller's new leading lady, chosen over thirty candidates for the part. Also seen in the cast are Johnny Sheffield, popularly known as "Tarzan, Jr.," Stanley Ridges, Stanley Brown, Rex Williams, Sig Ruman, Pedro de Cordoba, and Cheta, the famous chimpanzee. William Thiele directed. The play comes to the Hollywood Theatre Friday and Saturday, Aug. 20-21.

Ladd and Young Star in "China"
Alan Ladd, the incomparable tough guy, takes his blazing guns half way around the world to do a job on the Japs in Paramount's powerful "China," the exciting film of love and war due at the Hollywood Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 22, 23 and 24. Ladd's co-star is lovely Loretta Young.

Made by the experts—who gave us the immortal "Wake Island," director John Farrow and screen writer Frank Butler, "China" has that picture's smashing impact and stark drama. If you don't hate the little double-crossers of Nippon now with fervor, you'll hate them plenty after you've seen "China."

Incidentally, the film is Ladd's last for the duration. He is in the army now, and he couldn't have been put into a better vehicle or given a greater role. If Paramount wants him remembered by film fans until he comes marching home again, then "China" is the picture that will turn the trick.

Vincent Sherman Hollywood's Newest Triple Threat Man
It would take more than fifty roller-skaters whirling around, Ida Lupino shrilly beating her movie antagonists, Jack Carson, Dennis Morgan rehearsing songs with full orchestra, Joan Leslie dancing her newest number for Leo Roy Prinz approval, and James Wong Howe asking questions about the next camera set-up, to get Vincent Sherman down.

Sherman, directing one of the prize assignments of the year at Warner Bros., "The Hard Way," takes everything in stride—and what a stride. For Vincent Sherman, of Vienna, Dooly County, Ga., at 33 years of age has caused Hollywood to salute him as actor, writer and director. The play will be seen at the Hollywood Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 25 and 26.

Jr. Farm Bureau Holds Lawn Party

Over 60 members of the Berrien County Junior Farm Bureau attended the annual lawn party at the home of Josephine Taylor on the River Road in Sodus, Monday evening, August 16.

Outdoor games, relay races and running contests were played on the brilliantly lighted lawn at the Taylor home. After the social hour the group divided into six divisions to list their ideas and suggestions for a tentative program for the coming year. These lists will be tabulated and sent with the members to camp to be discussed and worked out.

During the latter part of the evening the group gathered around a camp fire while Burton Richards, the retiring adviser, explained the aims and objectives of camp. June Norris, the retiring secretary, gave a short resume of the accomplishments of the organization in the last year. It was reported that we now have over 29 members in the armed service of the country with an equal number on the home front, who are doing their share in the farming effort. George Zechlin, a former member, attended in uniform of the Army.

Refreshments of ice cream bars were served by the committee, composed of Harold Stanke, Josephine Taylor, Jeanne Bittner and Bob Tillstrom.

Chinese Painted Pottery Culture
The Painted Pottery culture of China (sometimes also called Yangshao after the name of the place where it was discovered) seems to have begun a little earlier than the Black Pottery culture. The Neolithic people who developed it made ordinary pottery of several sorts, but their most distinctive ware was an orange or reddish pottery, carefully smoothed and then painted with brown or red designs. The Neolithic people who made it lived by agriculture and pig-raising as well as by hunting and fishing, and used stone tools primarily.

50 Pct. Oil Users Failing to Renew Oil Heating Rations

War Price and Rationing Boards in western Michigan report that as many as fifty per cent of the fuel oil users in their areas have thus far failed to renew their home heating fuel oil rations according to L. L. Anderson, District O.P.A. Fuel Rationing Officer, the warm weather is undoubtedly the contributing factor in the user's failure to renew. He emphasizes that fuel oil dealers have limited fuel oil storage capacity and every time they fill a consumer's tank now, they have that much more room for refill. This is important since at a later time transportation facilities might interfere with replenishing their storage supplies.

Ration Boards have mailed fuel oil renewal applications to all consumers who applied last year. The ration coupons have in turn been remitted to users by the boards after receiving the applications. Anderson points out that it is important for householders who have their coupons to place their orders well enough in advance of the cold season, or otherwise find themselves caught in an avalanche of last minute and emergency orders. He urges last year fuel oil users to return their renewal applications at once.

Fix Price of Jan., 1943 As Ceiling For Milk Resale

Purchasers of milk from producers (or resale as fluid milk) cannot pay to new producers more than the maximum prices received by those producers during January, 1943, or the adjusted prices established for those producers since January, 1943, the OPA said today.

This action, designed to prevent one purchaser from taking producers from another purchaser by offering a higher price, was taken through an amendment to the regulation covering purchase of milk from producers for resale as fluid milk.

The amendment provides, in effect, that a producer carries with him the maximum price at which different purchasers may purchase his milk for sale as fluid milk. Provision has been made for application to OPA regional offices where a maximum price can not be determined from the regulation itself.

The amendment further revises the definition of a "producer" to clarify the position of a farmers' co-operative under the regulation. These co-operatives may be engaged simultaneously in receiving milk from farmer in physical facilities owned and operated by the co-operative, and in acting as a bargaining or marketing agent for producers who make direct deliveries to distributors or other handlers. Sales of the first type are excluded from the provisions of the regulation, sales of the second are included.

Michigan Boasts Greatest Drop In Death Rate From TB

Michigan boasts the greatest decline in tuberculosis death rate of any industrial state for the ten year period 1930 to 1940, according to statistics in the July issue of the Bulletin of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Michigan's tuberculosis death rate has come down 43.4 per cent during these ten years, against a decline of 35.7 per cent for the nation as a whole. Only 12 states in the union showed a larger per cent decrease in tuberculosis deaths during this period. They include New Mexico which had the largest decrease of 57 per cent, Colorado, New Hampshire, Idaho, Wisconsin, Arizona, Rhode Island, Iowa, Wyoming, Maine, Mississippi and California.

In 1930 Michigan's tuberculosis death rate was 60 per 100,000 population. In 1940 it had been forced down to 34. Part of the credit for this gain may be traced to the year round educational work of the tuberculosis Christmas seal organizations, to their clinics which search out unknown cases of the disease, as well as to improved sanatorium facilities.

A. & P. Urges Home Canning of Green Bean Crop

Increased home canning of green beans during the remaining weeks of abundant supplies was urged by an official of the nation's largest produce buyer.

"Harvest from farm and garden is at a peak," said R. L. Ritter, A&P store executive in this area. "Home canning of beans at this time will prove a patriotic service in freeing more of the commercially canned commodities for the armed forces and at the same time guard against a home shortage of nutritious food."

Pointing out that 30 pounds of beans will yield about 20 quarts when canned, Ritter said all A&P stores are distributing free leaflets containing easy-to-follow, approved methods of home canning as part of the company's new information service to housewives.

More slices from a rib of beef

← This is the way they went into their ovens... This is the way they came out

The piece on the left went into an oven too hot — much of it has gone up in smoke or drained off in fat. It's gone — vanished — just as completely as though it had been stolen by Hitler, Mussolini or Hirohito. Contrast it with the piece on the right which was roasted slowly at an optimum temperature of 300 degrees. There are extra slices here of tender juicy meat — practically an extra helping all around for a medium-sized family!

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Makes me feel extra good hearin' you talk that way, Judge... never realized I was contributin' to the war effort in the way you mention."

"You certainly are, Hank. Part of the grain you farmers grow is used by the beverage distilling industry to make alcohol for war purposes. Hundreds of millions of gallons are required every year for smokeless powder, medical supplies, chemical warfare materials, shatterproof glass, lacquer for camouflaging equipment, fuel to propel torpedoes and in the making of critically needed synthetic rubber. But, Hank, the grain used in distilling this alcohol is not thrown away. It is processed and comes back to the farm again in the form of distillers' dried grains or dried molasses which you use for dairy feeds, hog supplements and poultry mash. This year alone it is estimated 388,000 tons of these much needed feed stuffs will be produced by the distillers."

"I can see now, Judge, why you say it's a mighty good thing we have a legal distilling industry in times like these."

Drivers Average Four Miles Over State Speed Limit

The steady rise in Michigan highway travel speeds which started soon after the 35-mile an hour speed limit was ordered on state roads last October has halted, and there has been a slight decrease in the speed being maintained by drivers in the last few weeks according to a recent survey by the State Highway Department. Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler reported this week.

The July average of drivers' speed on Michigan highways was 39.1 miles an hour, compared to 39.3 miles in May and 39.9 miles in April, the commissioner reported. The low average for July, however, is 3.6 miles an hour faster than the low point of 35.5 miles an hour which was recorded for the first few weeks after the 35 m.p.h. order went in effect.

The highway department survey also reveals there has been a drop in the speed of commercial vehicles in recent weeks. The July record of commercial vehicles shows an average speed of 36.8 miles, compared to 37.6 miles an hour in March and 33.9 miles per hour in October, 1942.

A great majority of truck and car drivers are travelling between 36 and 40 miles an hour, the survey showed, tending to produce smoother and less complicated traffic movements.

The survey also showed that

CAN VITAMINS CHANGE GRAY HAIR?

Read the amazing experience of gray-haired people in Calcium Pantothenate tests sponsored by Good Housekeeping magazine.

According to this report: Age—did not seem to affect results. The earliest color change occurred in a 50 year old, the latest in a 23 year old. Color—begin to appear near the roots of the hair. The color may not appear all over the head at the same time. Symmetrical areas, perhaps on the temples or the back of the head, may show traces of color first, after which the color will spread to other parts of the head. Time—ranged from 1 month to 6 months. Results—85% of those tested had positive evidence of a return of some hair color. Now thousands use GRAYVITA, which contains 10 mgm. of Calcium Pantothenate (the same amount used in tests above) PLUS 400 U. S. P. units of B₁₂, the vitamin necessary to healthy nerves. Try GRAYVITA. Changes Reported In Regulations For Shoe Ration

Changes in the shoe rationing regulations which emphasize the fact that loose shoe stamps detached from ration books may be used only to make bona fide mail order purchases are contained in an amendment issued today by the office of price administration. Public attention will be directed to this requirement by the following notice which dealers must post by Sept. 1 at each place where shoe sales are made directly to consumers: Rationing Regulations Prohibit This Store From Accepting Loose War Ration Stamps for Shoes Selected or Delivered at the Store. Herman Schmitt, district commodities rationing officer, explained that the use of detached shoe stamps has been limited to mail order purchases since the ration order became effective. Some customers and dealers, however, have assumed that the practice of selecting shoes at a store, and mailing a loose stamp for delivery, is a proper mail order transaction. Today's action strengthens the original regulations by specifying that loose stamps are not valid for such sales. Under the new provisions a shoe stamp may be detached from a war ration book and sent with a mail order only if the customer, or his agent, does not personally select or receive the shoes at the supplier's place of business. Selection and transaction must be made entirely by mail.

Amendment 31 to Ration Order 17 (shoes) is effective Aug. 16, 1943.

Marines Status Settled
In 1943 much debating arose in Washington as to who should maintain jurisdiction over the marine corps—the army or the navy. Congress on June 30, 1934, settled the question by providing that, unless detached by the President for duty with the army, the navy should maintain exclusive jurisdiction.

Do Not Waste Electricity Just Because It Is Not Rationed

.. FORCES THAT MUST NOT FAIL

SEATED in your living room beside the comforting light of an electric lamp, you listen to the storm roaring overhead. Should you hear a plane droning through the thunder, your only concern would be for the safety of the pilot—a whispered prayer that lightning might not strike him down.

Far away, high in their control rooms in stations throughout our system sit "Load Dispatchers," men who with intense concentration watch the progress of the storm on instrument boards. On them rests a grave responsibility—the responsibility not alone of your comfort and convenience, but of Peace and War—of life and death.

Should the storm interrupt the electric power facilities, these dispatchers must be alert to find the way to bring the power to the stricken area. Other dispatchers down the line must pick up the load until finally at the power houses idle turbines come to throbbing life.

These dispatchers are only a few of the 986 employees whose responsibility is maintaining this company's service. In the aggregate, this loyal body of men and women represents 9,990 years of experience, an average of over 10 years for each person employed by the company.

Before the War we had the "know how" and, in these war times, that is partly the secret of America's Power to Produce. We are proud of our employees and their unceasing efforts to help win Victory.
