Wheat Planting in Full Swing Here

Wheat sowing is in full swing this week in the Buchanan district with Friday, Sept. 22, named as the Hessian flyfree date in Michigan.

It is estimated that wheat plantings this fall average about 10% above normal, in order to make up for the corn feed shortage in this district. Clearing of drought-stricken corn crops from fields by cutting the crop for silage has also rendered more than usual land available for planting at this time. The ground in many sections needs more moisture yet to ensure a good crop of late potatoes. If the needed moisture comes that crop will be excellent.

Tales of An Old Town An Attempt to Reproduce a Cross Section of The American Scene, As Witnessed Here Through the Past Century

Concerning the Ride of Thomas Huston from Niles to St. Joseph, 1832

Last week an article was run in this series explaining the unrest of Michigan Indians in 1832 which led to an incident related in Frank Noggle's "History Stories of Berrien County."

The writer had intended to append at least part of Noggle's story, but lack of time and space prevented, leaving the story "in the air." It deals with the ride of Thomas Huston, a pioneer mail carrier, from Niles to St. Joseph to reach the latter town in time to detain two boats scheduled to leave for Chicago, in order to use them in the transport of troops to head off the rising rebellion of the Illinois Indians.

Noggle writes: "Hardly had the first news of the uprising of the Blackhawk Indians reached Niles when the settlers of Berrien county were asked to aid in no time at all the settlers arrived in Niles armed with whatever weapons came to hand. Then at this juncture and to their surprise there appeared on the streets of Niles three companies of regular troops.

It was a matter of haste and the commander of the troops thought he could rush matters by taking his troops by boat from St. Joseph to Chicago. At that time it was known that there were two boats in the harbor due to leave in some ways these boats must be deterred. Thomas Huston, the man who carried the mail regularly from Niles to St. Joseph was assigned to the task of intercepting these boats. As he galloped through the forests on his horse by way of Berrien Springs he intercepted the river boat, the Matilda-Barney. Continuing his wild race he arrived at St. Joseph only to find one boat out in the lake and the other ready to leave, having already taken up anchor. By signals from shore both boats were induced to return to the St. Joseph harbor. In the meantime the troops had moved from Niles to Berrien Springs. Eventually with boat transportation they arrived at Chicago and from there to the front near Rockford, Ill. in time to quickly put down the rebellion.

To Establish African M.E. Local Church

Builder Elkhart Church From Lumber Former Saloon to Organize Here

Rev. D. D. Houston, minister of the African Episcopal church of Elkhart, and a resident of Battle Creek, was in Buchanan Friday preparatory to establishing a congregation in Buchanan under the jurisdiction of the A. M. E. church of Michigan.

Houston has been a resident of Battle Creek 27 years during which time he has preached 17 years, filling the following A. M. E. pastorates: Battle Creek, Adrian, Dowagiac, Cassopolis, Marcellus, Elkhart.

He stated that he wished to secure a location here as near the Trailer camp and Moccasin Court as possible. The church is to be known as the First United African Methodist Episcopal church of Buchanan.

In Elkhart Rev. Houston not only established a church and built up a congregation; he did the brick mason work on the walls, plastered the interior with the help of an assistant, laid the floors and did other interior and exterior work, with the exception of the roof and ceiling, which were let to a contractor. In the construction of the building he used lumber which he secured from wrecking a former saloon building which he bought. The seats were donated by the white Methodist congregation of Marcellus, Mich.

Tells Story of Nat. War Fund To CIO Council

G. V. McCausland, Twin Cities, Explains Country Budget and Its Use

The National War Fund story was brought before the OIO county council Monday night in Buchanan by G. V. McCausland, executive secretary of the Twin Cities Community and War Chest. Mr. McCausland told his audience that the National War Fund extends its service into 91 countries and major geographical areas on six continents.

The speaker stressed particularly the service of the fund to our own American fighting men through the USO, War Prisoners Aid and United Seaman's Service. He disclosed that 3,000 USO clubs from Alaska to Brazil, from Newfoundland to Hawaii provide recreation and home comforts during off-duty hours for servicemen and women.

War Prisoners Aid furnishes thousands of war prisoners with recreational, educational and spiritual assistance to relieve "stalag fog" the terrible boredom that haunts prisoners of war behind enemy barbed wire.

Mr. McCausland also related work of United Seaman's Service, mainly operation of clubs in ports around the world where men who transport supplies and equipment to the fighting fronts, braving attacks, torpedoes and shipwreck, may rest their "convoy nerves." He also told of the need for clothing in many countries where there has been no production of civilian clothing. All over the world and particularly in Greece and China, Mr. McCausland said, children and adults are in desperate need of food to prevent death from starvation. In Athens alone, he said, the only food 5,000 children receive is the one meal a day that Greek War Relief is able to provide.

In China and other Allied nations, the speaker said, some of the devastated land is ready to grow food again. But farmers have no seeds. A part of what they need will be supplied through the National War fund.

A shipment of vitamin tablets has been received in Poland, and during the past year, anti-malaria tablets and other medicines have been flown across the Atlantic to aid disease-ravaged Allies. More medicines are needed to fight typhus, tuberculosis and other dread plagues that follow in the wake of war.

New Mains to Straighten and Enlarge Water Routes to N. E. Buchanan Contract for the installation of water mains on Oak and Fourth streets has been let to the Niles Excavating company, which submitted the low bid among three bids submitted were: Niles Excavating company, $3,814, Central Excavating company (Logansport, Ind.), $4,292.50, James M. Meade (Highland, Mich.), $3,905.

The contract specifies the installation of 250 feet of 10-inch main on Oak street from Third to Fourth, and 510 feet of 8-inch main on Fourth street from Oak to Potage.

The installations are in great part new lines with sole replacement of smaller mains. The installation on Oak street will be a new line, there being no main there now. The water is now routed around in a circuitous route. Similarly, on Fourth street, the installation replaces much smaller mains from Oak to Short street, and will be a new line from Short to Potage, where the water had been previously routed around. The purpose of the new installation is to strengthen the flow to the northeast part of the city, where the Trailer Park and the Moccasin Court federal mobile housing project are located, by making the route shorter and more direct. In one place the present main is only a four-inch pipe. The city is assured that the shortening and replacement of small mains by large will improve the water flow and pressure very greatly in the parts of the city indicated.

IS WAR TOO COSTLY?

By Ruth Taylor
"War is the most expensive form of education." I read that sentence a week or so ago and, frankly, I've puzzled over it ever since. Is war really a great educator? Do we need war to reassess values?
True, we learn in war. War teaches us cooperation. War arouses ingenuity. War stimulates thought. War breaks down mental barriers. I grant you all of that.
Of course, we learn from war—but war is the most expensive form of education. Are we so weak minded that we need a crisis to make us work constructively or live intelligently?
Common suffering welds people together in time of war. Cannot common aims, aspirations, ambitions, weld people together in time of peace? If we worked one-tenth as hard and as selflessly for peace as we work for war, we could make peace permanent and assure to all the peoples of all the earth a healthy adventurous life.
It is not impractical idealism to look ahead. The really practical souls are those who plan for peace, who create something toward which to work, who admit imperfections, who strive always toward perfection, try to correct mistakes, not by tearing down what has been built, but by salvaging the good and building upon it.

There is a paragraph from the speech by Philip Marshall Brown that I think pretty well expresses the situation. "Peace is indivisible. It does not emanate from governments but from people. This has been called a 'People's War'. There must likewise be a 'People's Peace'. Tranquility of order results from the sum total of human relationships. If men and women cannot agree to live justly and peacefully in their own homes and in their communities; if employer and employees wage an incessant and undeclared war, if racial hatreds are fostered, if religious denominations are antagonistic, all that can only conduce to general unrest, disunity and demoralization."
Peace can be made by governments. It can only be kept by people—and "people means you and me, every one of us no matter what we are or at what task we work War is too expensive education. It is up to us to prove that peace can also teach!

Nelson Eddy Stars in "The Electric Hour"

In answer to the constant cry of the millions of radio listeners, "We want GOOD music," the electric companies will sponsor a new radio program over the entire CBS net-

Nelson Eddy, handsome young baritone of radio, opera, concert stage and moving pictures, will headline the new radio program, "The Electric Hour," which makes its debut on the entire CBS network, Wednesday, 9:30 p. m., CWT, starting September 20. With Eddy will be featured Robert Armbruster directing the orchestra and chorus.

work called "The Electric Hour" and starring Nelson Eddy and debuting on Wednesday, September 20.
Eddy, who is known the country over for his concert appearances, his fine musical moving pictures and his radio work, will be accompanied by Robert Armbruster and a symphonic-type orchestra. The combination of Eddy and Armbruster is a familiar one to lovers of fine music, for not only has Armbruster worked with the famous baritone on the air, but has furnished the musical background to Nelson Eddy record albums.
Nelson Eddy was born in Providence, Rhode Island, June 29, 1901, of musical parents. He sang in churches as a boy and when he moved to Philadelphia in 1915, he determined to study music. That meant work—and work he did. As a telephone operator, as a reporter, then as a writer of advertising. He learned operatic arias by listening to them on records. He continued working by day and studying by night and, in 1923, won his way into the part of Amonago in a local presentation of "Aida" by the Philadelphia Operatic Society. His notices were good and encouraged him to greater study.

His debut in professional grand opera came in 1924 at the Metropolitan Opera House with the Philadelphia Civic Opera Company. Alexander Smallens gave him additional coaching and today Eddy gives Smallens full credit for his operatic successes.
He came into the full zenith of his professional career through moving pictures. The whole country became "Nelson Eddy conscious" when he and Jeanette MacDonald were co-starred in one of the first great movie-musical hits—"Naughty Marietta," in 1933. His concert tours were amazing successes and he has been known as "America's Number One Box Office Singer."

His list of moving picture successes is a long one. He has been one of the nation's favorite radio stars for years, winning poll after poll even when he was not heard on a regular series, but merely making guest appearances.
He has a magnificent baritone voice, magnificently used. He had splendid diction in half a dozen languages, distinct gifts for acting and a fine stage presence. From first to last he is completely and naturally American.
The show, which will be heard at 10:30 p. m. EWT, will be a half-hour in length. Charles Herbert, brilliant young director who has just completed three years with CBS, has been signed to produce the show.
Informal in character, the half-hour will bring to listeners the best in music—whether it be operatic or a romantic ballad of today, a Gilbert and Sullivan "patter" song, or a melody from our Latin-American neighbors. Many of the hit songs of Eddy's moving pictures will be heard Eddy himself, a fine actor as well as singer, will announce his own numbers and will bring a note of informality to the half-hour.
The programs will originate in Hollywood's Radio City.

HOLLYWOOD Actor Turns Acrobat For Sake of His Art Mrs. Dale Hanover stood on his head for the better part of an afternoon, for a comedy sequence in which he amuses little Patricia Barker playing his sick patient, in "Three Men in White," the new M-G-M "Dr Gillespie" adventure which will be shown at the Hollywood theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept 21-22-23. Thereby hangs a tale When Luke admitted that he'd never stood on his head in his life, he was promised the aid of an acrobat to teach him the knack of it. The acrobat reported on the set, but Luke surprised all and sundry by doing it perfectly. He had told his dilemma to little Dickie Hall, who plays a role with him in the picture. Dickie, who is an expert head-stander, accompanied Luke to the "back lot" and taught him the trick. 15th Air Force in Italy—Sgt. Fred A. Reamer, 29, of Buchanan, a cook, has been authorized to wear a gold-bordered blue ribbon over his right pocket, indicative of a Unit Citation awarded the P-51 Mustang Fighter Group to which he is assigned.

The group, commanded by Lt. Col. Robert Levine, of Columbus, Ohio, was cited for outstanding performance of duty on a mission escorting heavy bombers attacking vital targets at Munich, Germany, June 9 of this year, just a few weeks before completing its second year of overseas service as a unit.

The personnel of the group were credited with the success of the mission which resulted in the blasting of airplane factories and supply and communication lines vital to the enemy at a critical phase in the battle of Europe, for despite apparently well thought out plans of the enemy to intercept the fighters, the prior planning and excellent leadership of the fighter group outwitted the enemy, and the mission was completed with excellent success without loss to the American fighters or bombers. Conversely, 14 of the enemy interceptors were shot down in the several enemy attacks.

Election Forecast

Article No. 3
By L. Benjamin Reber
Hello, Folks!
You have heard it said that history repeats itself, well here is a story to prove it. Twenty-five years ago we had exactly the same conditions, a probate judge seeking reelection and a popular sheriff who wanted the job. Here is the story.

Fred Franz was completing his second term as sheriff but could not run again for the law at that time limited a sheriff to two consecutive terms. Fred was immensely popular, he was a Democrat in a Republican county but twice won election by big majorities. He was a good mixer, a champion vote getter, an all around good fellow. Perhaps the public never has known that all though adult life Fred Franz has been the mainstay of the lovely rural church near his home on Pucker St. Fred really is a good fellow in more than one way.

Ex-Judge Frank Hammond is one of the finest men I have ever known, a courtly gentleman of the old school, but he is also one of the poorest campaigners I have ever known.

It looked like a cinch for popular Fred Franz as he went from picnic to family reunion, always welcome, always warmly received, always liked by the men and admired by the women. Poor Judge Hammond, slow, old fashioned, no mixer, no glad hander, was sure slated for defeat.

Then election day came and all the good fellows of both parties were hauling in votes and whooping it up for Fred while Judge Hammond forlornly stood seemingly alone. It was all over but the shouting but there was no shouting. When the votes were counted Judge Hammond had won by a big majority.

It seemed a miracle but after all it was just a plain demonstration of the intelligence of the voters. They liked Fred but they valued experience above personal dislikes. They knew that for all his popularity Franz did not have the qualifications of Judge Hammond. They liked Franz better but respected Hammond's ability for Probate Judge more.

Now we are again faced with exactly the same situation with some more minor differences. A popular ex-farm man sheriff who wants to be Probate Judge although he knows little about the work and has had absolutely no experience and Judge Hatfield who is nationally famous because of the marvelous record he has made in that office.

No, the case is not quite parallel for Judge Hatfield is far better known, more progressive, more active and more colorful than Judge Hammond. While Fred Franz and our present Sheriff both came from Niles township farms, Fred was more popular, an even better mixer and a much more clever vote getter than Al. He was the only kid of his day, a champion campaigner and far more glamorous than any of his successors. Yet he took an awful skinning because the people regard the Probate Court in a different light than they do other offices. Remember, history always repeats itself. Just ask Fred Franz what he thinks will be the outcome of this campaign the next time you are in the Niles post office. Incidentally, Fred is still one of the leading men of Southwestern Michigan. Look for next Thursday's article (Judged by the Non-Partisan Judiciary Committee).

Not for Women

Men's garments are not proportioned for women. They fit badly over a woman's bust and hips and are therefore less comfortable, less durable and less attractive than those especially designed for women.

The Line Is Busy...

You don't hear much about him...

Yet he is one of the heroes... one of the real heroes... of the war.

When the front moves up, the Army Signal Corpsman is in there where the fighting's hottest... dodging machine-gun slugs and mortar bursts... strapping phone wires across the battered face of Europe... keeping foxhole outposts in constant touch with headquarters behind the lines.

And because of his quiet courage and cool-headed skill under fire, the Army's lines of communication keep busy... and keep going forward with every step our fighting men advance.

It's a job we of the railroads can appreciate and understand. For today our lines are busy, too... busier than they have ever been before. And as Victory comes closer, they will be even busier... the job will grow even greater... for men and guns and fighting supplies must keep flowing in an ever-swelling stream to all our fighting fronts.

It's the biggest job the railroads of any nation have ever tackled. But we know now... with the continued cooperation of shippers and receivers of freight and of the traveling public... it will be done...

And we know, too, that—with final Victory at last in sight—the new skills and knowledge that we have found in the urgency of war must quickly be turned to our next great task... the job of helping speed industry's conversion to production for peace...

And that this new-found strength will make it possible for the New York Central—side by side with all the other railroads of the nation—to provide finer transportation for America than the world has ever known.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Yes, I'm afraid there's no denyin' it, Judge... jeeps and trucks and other kinds of motorized equipment have taken the place of the good old horse in modern warfare."
"It's true of lots of things in this war, Eben. Every day we hear of new tactics and requirements and new uses of products. For instance, take the alcohol that is used for war purposes. In World War 1, this vitally needed product was used mostly in making smokeless powder, chemical warfare materials and medical supplies. Today it must do far more... it must provide the base for such indispensable products as synthetic rubber, shatterproof glass, lacquers, plastics and many other of our requirements so essential to victory."
"As a result hundreds of millions of gallons are required every year... half of which is being produced by the beverage distilling industry. Bet you didn't know that, Eben."
"As a matter of fact, I didn't, Judge. That's a mighty important war contribution that had escaped me completely."

What's the Rush?

It's the telephone rush. Every night thousands of service men and women dash to the nearest telephones to talk with families and friends at home. Most of the Long Distance calls from camps and naval stations are crowded into a few short hours.

Many circuits are likely to be crowded at that time and it helps a lot when you "give 7 to 10 to the service men." That's about the best time for most of them to call.
