Doter is, we grieve to say, 'A rip-snorter Why don't doter dress the way 'Doter orter'

Dorter, Model '46, Has a nifty bag of tricks Neatly that beltless trenchcoat 'slack Autographed 'all down the back; Doter sure can't swing it few— Doter has the will to win, She goes out and drags 'em in

Dorter doesn't stall till they Come to court her— Why don't doter act the way Doter orter

Engineer Draws Layout For Park

Work in transfer of the Bohl nursery stock from its original setting to the northeast corner of the plot of the Buchanan War Memorial Park, adjacent to the west side of the high school grounds, was completed at the end of week before last. It has been suggested that credit should be expressed to the workers who made the transfer. The work was directed by Bert Adams, now maintenance engineer of the Buchanan schools. Assisting were the boys of the Future Farmers organization of the Buchanan high school headed by Ellis May, instructor, the boys of the E Club of the Buchanan high school and a number of other volunteer students and townspeople.

Atty. Bill Desenberg, chairman of the executive committee of Buchanan War Memorial, Inc., has received several sketches of the projected improvement of the park, drafted by the firm of Clyde C. Williams & Associates, Engineers, South Bend.

The draft has spotted a group of four tennis courts in the northeast corner where the nursery stocks now located. This group of courts is arranged to be hooded for a sitting room in the winter. On the ends and sides will be a rolled-back curb to hold the water and provision also for draining the water off.

Centering the plot is the football gridiron, running diagonally from northwest to southeast, with the stadium on the northeast side. North of the gridiron, bordering Chicago street on the south. To the west along Chicago street and in the northeast corner of the park are plotted the badminton courts. Immediately north of the badminton courts is the baseball diamond. Next north and lying diagonally southwest of the football gridiron is a practice gridiron. To the north and in the southwest corner of the park is plotted a softball diamond. At the northeast of this and immediately adjacent to the football field is plotted an archery court.

Smith street, which extends along the south side of the high school grounds and if extended in a straight line, would cut across the park, is deflected at an angle along the southeast side of the park and then turns in a right angle along the southwest side of the park to emerge at the intersection of Chicago and Terre Coupe.

Take Heaviest Freeze Damage

Apple growers of the Buchanan district were fairly confident yesterday that the freezes of Saturday and Sunday nights did not do extensive damage, although most admit more time will be required to assess full damage.

Robert Hall of the Hall Apple Farm stated that his crop appeared unhurt, and that while a sizeable June drop is not an impossibility over the district, the weak condition and lack of foliage in many orchards last year may contribute to that result more than the frost.

At the Red Apple Farm a mile north of town, the Sult brothers reported that heavy foliage appeared to have protected the apples, and that no damage is now evident. Further north, Glenn Kinney reported the peach crop undamaged in his orchard, and a fine crop in prospect. Apples, he said, are not looking as well as the peaches, and had not been growing satisfactorily some time before the week-end frosts. The full damage will be more evident in June.

Strawberries apparently bore the brunt of the damage, and all that were not mulched with straw are reported a heavy loss as far as the first blossoms are concerned. Clarence Dunbar reported that about half the blossoms on his tract were killed, but that later blossoms would retrieve part of the crop prospects. His vineyard, he stated appeared entirely un-damaged. Similar reports came from the Sarver farm and other grape-producing tracts west of town, where the land lies generally on a high level. Vineyards on low ground are generally reported to be killed, if not total losses.

Plums are reported to be unhurt. Cherries are not doing well, but appear to have been hurt mainly by earlier frosts that caught them at more critical times. The sizes of the fruit are uneven, some appearing stunted.

Glenn Kinney reported that the lowest temperature noted at his farm 6 miles north of Buchanan was 31 degrees on Monday morning.

Lowest recorded temperature in the twin cities over the week-end was 26 degrees, but below-freezing temperatures were common in the twin areas where the effects were most devastating.

Growers in the Sodus region said the mercury dropped to 27. The South Haven state experiment station reported a minimum of 33 Saturday and Sunday. Official lows of 27 and 28 degrees were reported south of St. Joseph and at Benton Springs a low of 26 was reported. The Coloma area reported 32 degrees.

Children Don't Fight Dentist In Buchanan School

Work Sponsored By School Is Foundation Better Care Later

Thursday is the day pupils in the lower seven grades of the Buchanan schools (kindergarten through the sixth grade) "open wide" for Dr. Virginia Winterhoff, school dentist.

The dental service for Buchanan school pupils serves two very valuable purposes: it sees that practically no child is omitted in the school program for dental improvement, 2 It educates the children to go to the dentist, and to have a pride in good teeth.

"O.K."

Clingenpeel

I'm the man who says "O.K." to requests for loans at Local Finance.

My job is to build up our office. The more often I say "O.K." to requests for money, the more business we will do.

So, if you need money, you can be sure I will do my best to say "O.K." If you will phone in advance and arrange for the amount you want, everything will be ready when you stop in.

Let me have a chance to say "O.K." the next time you need money. Phone 1673, or see me personally at Local Finance Corporation's office, 223 East Main Street, Niles.

It also serves another purpose: it removes from the children's mind the fear of the dentist. For observation of dental work in the little office of the school nurse, Reda Lamb, proves that the Buchanan pupils are not afraid of getting into the dental chair. Specifically they are not afraid of Dr. Winterhoff. For, notwithstanding her name, there is nothing "wintry" about her. She has a "good line" with them, she can talk steadily with a visitor even while filling teeth or while extracting them. They get into the chair smiling, and in one particular case we observed a fourth-grade girl get out of the chair still smiling after the extraction of a permanent molar with roots like those of a Portage Prairie burr oak tree. And she never admitted that it hurt.

Banishment of the fear of dental treatment is something, and the maintenance of dental health rolls in each class also promotes the dental habit.

The promotion of this attitude in the younger children distinctly makes business for the dentists of the community, states the school nurse. Dr. Winterhoff does not do all of the dental work in the lower grades—only in the case of children whose parents signify that they are not financially able to give their children adequate dental care. The free work is limited to the lower grades, after that it is up to the parents to send their children to local dentists. But after they have been on the class honor roll for good teeth for several years, they are much more likely to get this later attention.

While we looked on Dr. Winterhoff completed filling four teeth and extracted one from the patient. She reported it took about 45 minutes. The girl was to all appearances enjoying herself talking with the dentist during interludes in the filling process, but after the deep roots of a back tooth were dragged out, she lay soberly quiet clamping a drape to stop the blood from the cavity. But she never flinched. Hardly any of the children misbehave or lose control while in the dental chair. If they do, out they go.

In the fall soon after school starts, all of the pupils in all thirteen grades have a dental examination, and reports are made to their parents. This is as far as it goes for the six upper grades. The reports of the lower grades are kept on file and in cases where the parents apply for the work of the school dentist, treatment is spread through the year according to the need.

Last fall 1,145 were examined at once in the preliminary canvass, and the remainder of the 1,300 enrollment who missed this preliminary once-over were caught up later. Findings for the 1,145 were: cavities in baby teeth, 257; extraction of baby teeth advisable, 102; cavities in permanent teeth, 425; extraction of permanent teeth advisable, 70, some filled teeth, 561, teeth okeh, 414.

The ages of seven and eight, approximating the 2nd grade, are the most advantageous time for filling teeth, according to Nurse Lamb. As a rule at that age the "deciduous" or baby teeth starting decay need attention, and the beginning troubles in the permanent teeth can be nipped in the bud, forestalling more work later. It is then that the foundation of good teeth for later years can be laid.

Are many perfect sets of molars found among the Buchanan children? The best teeth are found among the children from the south, says the dentist. The teeth of most of the colored children from the south are beautifully perfect. Those of the southern whites are almost as good. The teeth of colored children that have lived in Chicago are not so good. Few of the children born and reared in the north have perfect teeth.

What's the answer? Probably the fact that in the south the children have less spending money for candy and ice cream. Possibly a greater predominance of a green diet the year around tends to dental health. Possibly there is some mineral content in drinking water or in the home-grown foods that is conducive to dental health. There's a region in Texas now under scientific study where almost all of the native residents have perfect teeth.

An experiment is now being made in Michigan whereby the teeth of children in Grand Rapids drinking water treated with fluoride, are compared with the teeth of Muskegon children drinking ordinary water.

The foundations of this work in the Buchanan schools was laid by means of a ten-year endowment from the Couzen's Fund, approximately from 1927 to 1937. Then this aid was discontinued under that arrangement. But the Buchanan district began collaboration in the employment of a school dentist, other parties to the arrange being Benton Harbor, St. Joseph and Niles. The larger cities get the most attention of course, Buchanan gets 24 days a year. Most of these days are put in in the fall and spring when the roads are best, during the winter period Dr. Winterhoff comes once a month.

H.S. Students Asked To Enroll As VFV Workers

Should Enroll With Agr. Agt. Or At Emergency Labor Office

More people in the world will be hungry and starving this year than at any time during the war. The Department of Agriculture reports that actually three-fourths of the world's population, faces starvation.

Victory Farm Volunteers, young farm workers who organized during the war to insure plenty of food for men overseas, are fighting again this year, this time to clinch the peace. Mrs. Doris Shumkus, Victory Farm Volunteer supervisor at Michigan State College, has announced a VFV program that may easily be larger than at any time during the war.

High school boys between the ages of 14 and 18 help in the peacetime fight for food by spending their summer working on farms. At the same time these workers will be earning a little money and enjoying country life. For those who prefer to live at home, farm jobs will be available by the day, week, or season, and picking string beans, cucumbers, strawberries, and so on.

Mrs. Shumkus points out, however, that the life of a VFV is anything but easy and honey. Farm work is difficult, it requires early and long hours, and it means adapting oneself to the serenity of country living. Besides being physically fit, a prospective VFV must be sincerely willing to work and to learn. "You must have a genuine desire to do farm work, rather than some other kind of work. Farming is not a vacation, for it requires determination to stick to the job, hard work, cooperation and a desire to understand farm life."

High school youths who meet the age and physical qualifications and who have their parents' consent may apply for farm work as a Victory Farm Volunteer. In view of the greater number of VFV's this year, it's important to apply for all-summer jobs now. Anyone who has done farm work before may wish to contact his former employer and return to his old job. Other prospective Victory Farm Volunteers should contact County Agricultural Agent, L. A. Zillman at 360 E. Main St., Benton Harbor or the Emergency Farm Labor office at Benton Harbor fruit market before farm jobs are filled.

Vikings Trounce Bucks In Ball Game

The Buchanan high school baseball team lost to the Niles nine Friday afternoon in a game on the Niles diamond by a score of 8-3. Buck errors coupled with Niles hits provided the foe its margin of advantage.

Niles scored three runs in the second inning by capitalizing on 2 Buck errors, one walk and three hits. They scored four runs in the sixth inning, as three Buck errors coupled with two walks and three hits.

Buchanan scored two runs in the second off one error, two walks and a double hit for Wesner, which was the only hit for more than one base in the game. Wesner starred in batting with three hits, including the double, out of four times up. Coach Heizer used Heizer, Wesner and Blake in the pitcher's box. Dokey catching.

Harrell pitched and Mitchell received for Niles. The inning score was:

Table with 2 columns: Team, Score. Niles 8, Buchanan 3.

B.H.S. Track Team Takes 6th Place In Conference Contest

The Buchanan high school track squad managed to eke out 6th place in the Big Seven conference meet at the Kalamazoo Normal track Friday, with a total of 14 points accumulated in one third place, four fourth places and three fifths.

Polley, Vergon and Harvel led in Buchanan's scoring with three points each. Polley took fourth place in the 200-yard low hurdles and 5th place in the 220 yard dash. Harvel took a third in the second heat of the 440 yard dash, in which no finals of the two heats were run off. Vergon scored fourth in the shot and fifth in the high jump. Lauer accounted for fourth in the high hurdles. Holmes took fifth in the mile.

The standing of the conference teams in the meet was as follows: St. Joseph, 54 1/2 points, Niles 50 points; State High, 25, South Haven, 23, Three Rivers, 15, Buchanan, 14; Dowagiac 1 1/2.

In the relay the locals were lacking their anchor man Rifenberg, and only made fourth place, which was outside the scoring in this event. The race was won by St. Joseph in the fast time of 1:36 4, with State High second and South Haven third.

2 Seniors Win Honors In U. S. Writing Contest

Edna Lauer, Max Polley Win Places On Entries

Two students in the 1946 senior English class at the Buchanan high school placed in the national awards sponsored by Scholastic Magazine, Edna Lauer being awarded third place and a prize of $10 in the Literary Article class and Max Polley receiving honorable mention in the dramatic division.

Miss Lauer's theme was "Magazines For Teen-Agers." Max Polley had submitted the play "Two Hundred Feet Down," which was included in the Velmaitan play program. The play dealt with racial discrimination. In his case honorable mention means that he was rated among the eight highest in the dramatic division, which is one of the largest in the Scholastic Magazine's contest.

This year a record number of 110,000 students submitted their entries in art, music, and writing in contests sponsored by the national high school publication.

Each entry had to go through regional eliminations, after which about 10,000 literary manuscripts and music compositions went on to the national judges. Entries came from every state in the Union, including Hawaii and Alaska, and even from the Philippines and Canada. Among the judges in the writing contest were Dorothy Canfield Fisher, Robert Pristlam Coffin, MacKinley Kantor, Howard Vincent O'Brien and others.

One time there were two farmers

One day Jake stopped over at Bill's farm. "Got a great plan to save money this winter," he said. "I'm mixin' a little sawdust with the feed. Hoss don't notice the difference."

Around Christmas they met again. "Say," Jake grinned, "you oughta try my system. Got the nag eatin' half-sawdust-an' half-grain now. It's a lot cheaper."

Bill wasn't so sure. "B'lieve I'll stick to oats."

Along about spring plowing time Jake came over to Bill's place, looking kind of glum.

"What's wrong?" asked Bill. "Isn't your money-savin' idea workin'?"

"Oh, it worked fine," Jake said. "Had him trained so he was eatin' nothin' but sawdust. Only this mornin' the ornery cuss fell down an' wasn't able to get up. Hoss 'bout lettin' me hire your hoss for my plowin'?"

There's a big "plowing" job ahead if Michigan Bell is to expand and improve telephone service and supply it to all who are waiting. It can't be done on sawdust.

Here is why. Thousands of thrifty people have their savings invested in Bell System securities. Their money makes good telephone service possible. In fact, Michigan Bell's 5-year $150,000,000 expansion and improvement program will be financed largely by these and other investors. And that program will provide more and better telephone service for you.

So you see, our earnings are important all around. And telephone rates—such a small part of your monthly budget—must be maintained at a level which will keep our earnings adequate. Otherwise, investors would not put their money into the telephone business, and the future quality and extent of your telephone service would suffer.

We believe our customers want good telephone service, even if it costs a trifle more than inferior service.

Technical improvements over the years have brought rates for good service down and have kept them down in the face of rising costs. But if the recent rapid rise in costs continues, rate increases may become necessary. In any event, Michigan Bell wants rates no higher—and no lower—than necessary, to insure good telephone service.

HOLLYWOOD
Thursday, Friday, Saturday, May 1-16-17-18, the Hollywood Theatre again present an outstanding double feature program, that is sure to please the entire family. "Hit Number 1" will be "Too Young To Know", with Joan Leslie and Robert Hutton. It's a warm and moving comedy-romance, posing the provocative question of teen-age marriage. The film is sometimes poignant, sometimes happy, but always a tender salute to today's youngsters-in-love. The second hit is "Dick Tracy" with Morgan Conway, Ann Jeffreys and Jane Greer. Thrills, comedy and romance features Dick Tracy's first appearance on the screen. The square-jawed sleuth tangles with a new menace, "Splitface", who sets out to murder all the people who were responsible for sending him to prison and who actually accounts for four of them before Tracy is able to run him to earth. Chapter Two of the popular serial, "The Royal Mounted Rides Again", and a color cartoon will round out the program.

Sunday and Monday finds Shirley Temple, America's Darling, returning to the Hollywood screen in "Kill-And-Tell" with Walter Abel and Robert Benchley. It was filmed from the rib-wrecking stage hit that rocked Broadway and the nation. It's a screen-hit that is sure to please everyone, and especially those who enjoy a good laugh.

Tales of An Old Town

An Attempt to Reproduce a Cross Section of The American Scene, As Witnessed Here Through the Past Century

Fred Richter Writes Of Old-Time Sport On Dayton Lake

By Fred Richter
I'll try and carry on a bit of the "Tales of An Old Town" which have been lacking from the Record in recent weeks, whether from lack of space or lack of material. I don't know. I'm sure that there are many who have enjoyed these columns in the past. The story which I'm about to tell is not really a "tale of an old town" but a "tale of an old lake"—about the days when fishing was real sport that made one think he was really living in the land of the free, with no one telling you when you could go fishing, what kind or how many you could catch, let alone telling you what you should do with them after they were caught—eat, sell or give them away. The days I am writing of were fifty or more years ago. As I gaze on the old lake, which I can see from my home day after day, my thoughts wander back to those times, wondering if the changes that have come in a half-century are for better or for worse. Worse, as I look at it now. The Dayton mill pond, or Dayton Lake as it has been called in later years, was originally not a lake at all and where its bed now is wandered a zigzag stream of water, which had its beginning in a spring at what is now the far end of the lake, south of the present M-60 highway. It flowed through the present lake bed, emerging where the dam is, and then on to the Galien river and into Lake Michigan. There was indeed in those times a small pond just south of the Michigan Central railway. This pond is probably now the deepest part of Dayton Lake.

The dam which formed this mill pond or lake, was installed somewhere about 1830. I have often wondered how long it took after the dam was put in for the water to back up and form the lake. I know that the lake is a much larger body of water in both acreage and depth, than it was fifty years ago.

There was a time about 25 years ago, while the mill was yet running, that the lake got so low the mill had to dig a channel out from the flume to draw enough water to run the mill. Stumps were sticking out of the water where none had ever been seen before. At that time much water was wasted from running out of the lake while repairs were being made on the mill.

There was also a time, forty years ago or more, when the marsh land on the east side of the large part of the lake was perfectly dry. During the spring, summer and fall months many cattle and some horses could be seen grazing on the marsh, which was owned at that time by Frank Lamb and rented out for pasture. It is now, and has been for many years, impassable for any animals, and the marsh is almost entirely covered with shallow water.

was with another kind of set-line. These set-lines were called "floats" or "tip-ups". These tip-ups consisted of a board about six inches square, with a hole in the middle through which a round stick about sixteen inches long was inserted. They were set so that about five inches were above the water and the remainder below. A line from ten to twelve feet long was attached to the upper part of the stick, with a hook and minnow on the other end. On a windy day I'd take a dozen or fifteen of these floats, place them on the lee side of the lake, and let them drift to the other side. All I had to do was to watch for one of the floats to tip up. Then I would know that there was either a fish on the end of the line, or else a pickerel got the minnow and left for parts unknown.

At night I set these floats out with small pieces of meat instead of minnows on the hooks. In the morning I'd have a bullhead or an eel on each float. Boy! does an eel make a fuss over being caught. Some times one of these eels would have so much moss and weeds wrapped about himself that when I tried to pull him in the line would break and it was good-bye eel, hook and all.
