City Considers Contract For Revaluation of Property by Experts

VFW, Hi Grade Teams To Mount Hurricane Deck

Now Here's the Proposition

THE VILLAGE CRICKETS It pains me much to hear the joys Who look with lofty pity On village things, and only praise The vintage of the city

Who find at home no source of pride Nor raise the glad hosanna For anything they find this side Of Gary, Indiana.

Who, when their home town lays a claim To interest or beauty, Just snort and say "Too tame, too tame," And act extremely snooty

Who say the home town pulpitiere Can scantly preach a sermon And of their merchants speak with sneers As little else than veinn

Who say their paper's no good Remarkingly while they paw it, "It never has no nooze" but would They know it if they saw it?

If we should labor for their praise (Though this may seem a stricture) 'Twere merely using pearls in ways Referred to in the scripture

But, though this may seem rude, I know I safely thus can hand it— They'll never read a Bible, so They'll never understand it.

Fresh Water Chantrey It was bold Skipper Robinson that sailed the summer wave, all out on wild Lake Michigan—down many a swimmer's grave with a wild and frolicsome company on the good ship Anette, and nought to harbor or to port but water that was wet. It was a wheezy motor that died five miles from shore, with never a sail to aid them and nary stick for oar, and how the women wept and wailed and how the skipper swore! And terribly did all the men declaim in sulphurous wrath, for it was of a Sunday and they had had their bath.

"Oh tell us Skipper Robinson," moaned all the company, "Oh tell us, Skipper Robinson, where is it that we've, and must we all be drowned like rats beneath this angry sea?" But the skipper answered never a word for a frown on his face was he!

It was the skipper's only son that dove with valor fierce and swam a dozen miles to shore along with David Pierce. It was the east gull companion the steamship's masts score and brought the rescued passengers, all safe and sound to shore. And this, all would-be sailor folk the moral to the song if you would sail with Robinson, take water wings along Attends Meeting Of Students Of Public Library Mrs Lillian Vignasky, local librarian, attended a meeting last Monday evening of librarians and library trustees of Berrien county in Watervliet. Miss Evelyn Parks of the Michigan State Library led the discussion on library problems and ways to better serve the public. Miss Parks visited the local library Tuesday.

The meeting of some 40 trustees, librarians and other people interested in library development in this area was held in Watervliet on Monday, August 12. This was a dinner meeting at which discussion of better and more widespread library service to all areas was held. There was evidence that trustees of public libraries are becoming more aware of their part in making library services available. They are working together through a three-year experimental program sponsored by the Michigan State Library extension department by a grant made from the W K Kellogg Foundation.

There are over 18,000 people in Berrien county who have no public library. There are also many small areas to make many types of service to the area which they serve impossible. Cooperation between these libraries may be a means of helping to increase their usefulness.

J. M. Cleminshaw Of Cleveland, O., Gives Estimate

Firm Has Revalued Niles And St. Joseph

A representative of the J. M. Cleminshaw & Associates firm of tax revaluation specialists appeared before the city commission Monday evening and submitted an approximate estimate of $7,000 on a contract for equalization of all types of property in the city of Buchanan.

The representative stated that the contract would take from 3 to 5 months to complete. He stated that his firm had completed such work for St. Joseph and Niles, finishing in the latter city last spring. They are now engaged in revaluation of properties in the cities of Alpena and Bay City.

He stated that ordinarily such a revaluation is made for a ten-year period, after which readjustments may be made at less cost than the first revaluation price.

A force of trained and experienced men will canvass all properties in the town. They take accurate measurements of all buildings, extent of deterioration and all other factors making up value, and then set a valuation on the basis of replacement cost in 1941.

In the business section the fluctuations of land values are greater than in other sections, he said, and the necessity for periodic revision more pronounced. It is usual in commercial sections that use of greatest value shift from one section to another.

In revaluating industrial enterprises, the cost of replacement of buildings and permanent equipment is revalued on the 1941 basis, without relation to profit or loss of the concern owning.

As such an affair, possible is gathering on figures for previous sales of buildings. Records of real estate firms and banks are checked on these figures. He stated that his firm had little trouble from lack of cooperation. A very small per cent of owners objected to entrance, and the great majority were ready to furnish any required information on purchase prices. For the most part, he said, property owners took to the basis and that no one should get away with anything. Regular classifications of residence properties are set up and buildings are revalued mainly on the basis of classification and depreciation.

The commission will come to a decision on the offer at the regular September meeting.

B. & P. W. Club Donates $100 To Memorial Field

A contribution of $100 to the Buchanan War Memorial Field, Inc. was donated by members of the Buchanan Business and Professional Women's Club Monday evening when the August dinner meeting of the organization was held in the First Methodist church in New Carlisle, Ind.

To avoid labor day it was planned that the monthly meeting of the executive board be changed from Sept. 2 to Sept. 3 when it will meet with Miss Enid Reams.

The program was arranged by Mrs Helen Beaid and Miss Lena Ekstrom. Mrs Leah Weaver, who recently returned from Mexico City, Mexico, told of her experiences while attending the University of Mexico this summer. Drouth Is Still Threat To Crops In This District

Peaches Ripen In Rush; Basket Supply Is Very Critical

While the Buchanan district did have some relief in the way of rain nearly two weeks ago, it remains strictly dry territory, needing moisture the worst way, according to Robert Koenigshof, manager of Buchanan Co-ops, Inc. A number of farmers who have been plowing reported that they were turning up dry dirt and a number have quit because, as they said, the dust rose so thick that they could not see the furrow ahead.

Much of the plowing was in the way of turning under clover seed crops which had been sown by the crop as maturing in a rush, resulting in a crisis both in labor and baskets. At this time baskets are very short and in fact are now being rationed out in small quantities to growers who apply at the basket factories.

A few farmers who left their clover fields go to seed are taking a chance of some retrieval by harvesting and threshing.

Traveling Trophy For Softball On Display At Stubbs

As incentive for a warm finish to the remainder of the summer softball play, Lester Miller, city recreation director, placed a new championship trophy in the window of the Stubbs 5c to 10c store.

This trophy will go to the winner of the post-schedule play-off between the two high teams. Right now the Donkeys and Hi Grade teams seem the likely contenders.

The winning team will get its name inscribed on the trophy, and will be permitted to retain it until the 1947 play-off, when the winner of that series will again get its name on the cup and possession for a year. This will continue until some team manages to get its name on the cup the third time, after which it will retain the trophy permanently.

5,000 Pack Local Business District At V-J Day Fete

Three Entertainment Acts, Stunts And Street Entertainment

Buchanan's first observance of V-J Day on Wednesday evening, August 14, passed in a blaze of glory, with an attendance estimated at 5,000 people who jammed the entire downtown sections from 7.30 to 10 p. m.

Aside from one or two minor mishaps, such as the soiling of the public address system, the event passed very pleasantly. Several hundreds enjoyed the dance in the streets, although the participants at any one time were limited in number, because the crowd at the sides crowded out into the street. The Legion management stated that another year a space will be roped off for the dancing.

Three entertainments were staged, including Jimmy, who balanced precariously head down on piled up tables and chairs. Bill King, the juggler, and a clown.

Among the most popular of the stunt contests were the penny scramble and the egg throwing contest. In the former pennies were mixed with a bucket full of sawdust, and the mixture was thrown across the bandstand for the kids to scramble out the pennies. Twelve pairs of boys were lined up for the egg throwing contest. The pans were stood up facing each other, and each was given an egg, which they tossed between them as they backed away from each other. The pan won which were farthest apart when they failed to connect with the egg.

When the job is completed, the creek will be sixteen feet wide and probably about one foot deeper, of the depth of the original stream bed.

The cost of the work is to be divided between the city and the Co-ops. Co-ops has given the city a deed conveying all its rights, title and interest. The city is now responsible for the millrace.

Event To Be Benefit For Memorial Park

Twenty donkeys bestrode by the members of the High Grade and V F W softball teams will take the field at Athletic park at 8:30 p. m. in a contest which is usually more of a match between the merits of the donkeys and then riders than between the two ball clubs.

This is a never-failing attraction with the fans, for while the donkeys rarely have their heats in the game, their passion for quietude matched again the will of the ball-players to go places and do things never failing to produce good corny comedy.

The donkey game will start at 8:30 p. m. with the following crews taking to the hurricane decks of their asinine mounts for start.

V F W—Zook Trapp, George Graham, Steve Juhasz, Bill Frame, Mike and Steve Pradvika, Rusty Ralston, Dan and Lee Topash, Beans Holmes, Sleepy Ellis, Lee Donley, Bob Heaney.

The admission will be fifty cents for twelve-years and over, 25 cents for children under twelve. The event is sponsored by the Lions club as a benefit for Memorial Park.

Gallen News

Gallen Schools To Open Sept. 3 Preliminary plans for the opening of the fall term at the Gallen township schools have been announced.

The high school and grade school will open on Tuesday, Sept. 3, with three new members on the faculty staff.

It was also announced that the Pyle school, near here, has been closed and the students from that district will be transported here.

The three new members of the faculty include superintendent, Herbert B. Johnson, Donald Sweet and Miss Hannah Young.

Superintendent Johnson replaces the late Paul Harvey, superintendent here for many years, who died shortly before the end of the school year last spring. He is a graduate of Northern Michigan College at Marquette, and holds a master of arts degree in school administration from the University of Michigan.

During the past three years he served as superintendent of the Millan township schools at Ewen, Mich., and had 14 years of experience as a teacher and superintendent.

Mr. Sweet will be the new athletic coach and shop teacher, and will direct the boys' physical education program. He was discharged from the Army recently after three years of service, during which time he reached the rank of lieutenant. He is a graduate of DeKalb College, DeKalb, Ill.

Miss Young, a graduate of Western Michigan College of Education, will teach in the home economics department. She has taught at Marcellus, Mich., for the past three years.

Collection Of Scrap Metal Urged At Once

Robert G. Ernst, chairman of the Civilian Production Administration salvage committee for the food industry, has appealed for immediate collection and disposal of scrap metal by industries and individuals, to alleviate the shortage threatening widespread layoffs in affected plants.

Mr. Ernst, vice-president of the Quaker Maid Co., processing affiliate of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., said there can be no more direct way for manufacturers who have been waiting for new machines since the start of the war to speed delivery of such equipment.

The steel industry has reported 25 to 30 open-hearth furnaces shut down for lack of scrap.

"It is not enough for companies and individuals merely to 'survey' their plants and homes for idle metal," Mr. Ernst said. "It is more important to move this scrap to market without delay so that it can come back in useful form."

Traces Cause Of Pupil Failure To Parents, Teachers

Parents and teachers are more to blame for failures of high school students than are the pupils themselves, a University of Michigan educator believes. George E. Carrothers, director of the University's Bureau of Cooperation with Educational Institutions, says that among major reasons for high school failures are the heavy load carried by teachers, parental concern for the education of their children and community misunderstanding of real education.

"Increasing the number of teaching and other duties merely spreads the teacher a bit thinner and makes the teaching less satisfactory to both staff and pupils," Carrothers comments. "When we turn to the schools for help on every conceivable type of community enterprise, it is no wonder that the teaching is not up to standard."

Nearly 100% of the poor performance of children is the fault of adults, Carrothers charges. "Parental indifference is demonstrated by the failure of parents to visit the schools and become acquainted with teachers by their failure to supervise the study of their children, and by their unwillingness to stay at home evenings with their children to develop a satisfactory home life. The community at large likewise shares in the blame for school failures, the University educator believes. Communities oftentimes do not realize or understand what education really is. They mistake diplomas or grades for education, and therefore insist that children receive passing grades or be graduated from high school whether or not they have learned anything. Of course, there are other reasons for pupil failure, Carrothers admits. Among these are lack of interest on the part of the pupil, lack of understanding of pupils by the teacher, inability of youth to do the work expected, "spoon feeding" in home and school, and rigidity of school curriculum and requirements for both teachers and pupils.

Dead Elephants Dead elephants are rarely found, except when killed by other elephants. A tradition exists that they have secluded cemeteries where they go to die. African natives occasionally claim to have located such a cemetery, and bring tusks to market which they insist they have found. This is often a ruse to avoid legal restrictions on the killing of elephants.

Well, folks, once more the unexpected has happened. Floyd Klanser, who has conducted a grocery store here the past twelve years, has sold his building here to Mr. and Mrs. William Alford, who have lived here the past five years. They took possession last Thursday. We regret to see Mr. Klanser leave us, but we wish him good luck wherever he may go. He is undecided what his future plans are, but he intends to take a year's vacation at least.

Mr. and Mrs. Shear of Niles, have rented the home Mr. and Mrs. Alford vacated when they moved into the store building.

Dayton Postmaster Mixes With High Society

If you have noticed recently, the Dayton postmaster is holding his head rather high and hadly recognizing his friends, he has a reason for doing so. He was honored last Sunday with a visit by Royal E. Ingersoll, Admiral, U. S. Navy (recently retired) and Mrs. Ingersoll of LaPorte, Ind. Since his retirement, the Ingersolls are gathering all data they possibly can of the Redding descendants living or dead. A number of Reddings lived around the village many years ago. Ezeziel and Rebecca Redding seem to be on the top of the list and were buried in Mount Zion cemetery in 1863. Mr. Ingersoll's, great-great-grandparent, Benjamin Redding, founder and first postmaster of Dayton, was a son of Ezeziel and Rebecca. The Ingersolls intend to present a copy of their completed genealogy to Mr. Richter.

Farmers' Day On MSC Campus Will Be September 6

With new features added this year, the annual Farmers' Day program to be held on Tuesday, September 3, on the Michigan State college campus at East Lansing is expected to prove even more interesting and instructive to the several thousand visitors. Features of the 1946 event include a dusting and spraying demonstration for farm and orchard use, fly control with DDT, and mow drying of hay with forced, unheated air.

The annual Farmers' Day program is being held in conjunction with the State 4-H Club show because many farm families come to the agricultural college campus for the big farm youth contest of the year. Families are invited to hold picnic lunches noon or evening under the numerous shade trees on the college campus.

Special signs on the campus will direct the visitors to the various demonstrations and exhibits. At the college experiment station, guides will be present throughout the morning and afternoon to explain the experimental projects. Experiments with crop varieties, soils and fertilizing tests, and rotation will be explained and the values of approved methods shown. College livestock will be exhibited in the various barns and the college poultry plant will be open for inspection.

An evening program will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the college auditorium which will feature the 4-H club dress revue.

Should wives be roasted or boiled?

THIS may sound like a question for the Silly Quiz Department but, actually, spending hours over flaming fuel stoves isn't funny and makes the cook feel roasted or boiled, or both. An Electric Range is flameless and cooks without soot or smoke. Cool and serene, the cook can concentrate on delicious meals in the torrid weather - or if the heat gets her down, it won't be from the well insulated Electric Range. Too, she can leave a complete meal to cook automatically in the oven while she spends afternoons in recreation and pleasant pursuits.

As soon as Electric Ranges are again available, plan to have one. You need only ask those women fortunate enough to own an Electric Range to know there is no better way to cook. Electricity serves the modern home with Tomorrow's methods Today.

Michigan Leads

In Care Of Vets Of World War II
Michigan is recognized throughout the country as a leader in providing for the emergency needs of its service men of World War II. Adopting the constructive plan of Governor Harry F. Kelly, the Legislature in 1943 created from surplus in the state treasury, a post-war reserve fund of $50,000,000 for the purpose of liquidating Michigan's obligations, after termination of the war, to its returning service men, their widows or dependents.

Subsequently, Act No. 9 of the Public Acts of 1946, unanimously passed by the Legislature, created the Michigan Veterans' Trust Fund and its board of trustees, giving it control of the $50,000,000 fund, and outlining in general terms provisions for administration.

Administered By Veterans
The fund is administered entirely by World War II veterans, solely for the benefit of World War II veterans and their dependents. As the money is actually on hand, no future taxation is required for the purpose.

The Michigan Veterans' Trust Fund is patterned after that which has successfully operated in the State of Nebraska since its establishment soon after World War I, with an original corpus of $5,000,000. When its activities were expanded to include veterans of World War II, the authorized principal was increased to $8,000,000, which amount will be reached in 1950 through additions of $1,000,000 annually.

Officials of Nebraska and its fund were most cooperative in advising with Governor Kelly and the trustees of the Michigan fund, and their experience was of great assistance in planning the administration of the considerably larger operation in our state.

The board of trustees is composed of six members, appointed by the Governor, all of whom must be honorably separated veterans of World War II. Two represent the American Legion, two, the Veterans for Foreign Wars, one, the Disabled American Veterans, and one, the American Veterans of World War II, and are named for three-year staggered terms.

By the board of trustees, the operation of the fund is supervised by the board of other organizations, composed exclusively of World War II veterans, when they meet the requirements set forth in the act.

The fund was fully operative on July 1, the start of the new fiscal year of the state. The huge task was completed within ninety days from the time the board was appointed by the Governor. To accomplish this the trustees have given extra hours of their time in studying and planning procedures and operations and in promulgating regulations. In addition to frequent board meetings, the trustees have held conferences in Lansing, Battle Creek, and Midland, with committeemen from the areas contiguous, where they have been instructed in their duties and responsibilities.

The county committees elect their own chairmen, and are, so far as practicable, autonomous in their operations, under the rules prescribed by the board of trustees. They pass upon the applications and actually direct disbursement of funds in their own areas, where they are closely familiar with the situation, and where they can act with the greatest possible speed. They will work closely with existing local public and private charities. It is only when a veteran exercises his right of appeal to the trustees from a local decision that reference of cases to the board is necessary.

County Agent Tells

Practical Method Of Freezing Sweet Corn
Until a method was found to freeze corn successfully, the taste of sweet corn in season was all too brief. Now we can enjoy corn all the year around according to Edna Deo, home demonstration agent for Berrien county.

As usual, in successful vegetable freezing, the variety must be right. Golden Cross Bantam and Golden Bantam are the right ones for Michigan. Either variety must be prepared as "cut corn," "corn-on-the-cob."

Since locker space is always at a premium and since the preparation is longer for "corn-on-the-cob" only enough ears should be done for such occasion as holidays and special celebrations.

To get the best results, in corn freezing, follow these directions which Mrs. Deo says have been tested by Michigan State College specialists.

Harvest ears with well-rounded kernels and sweet flavor, early in the morning, handle quickly to preserve both quality and flavor. Husk, silk and trim ears. For cut corn submerge ears in boiling water 3 minutes, cool quickly, cut from cob and pack.

For corn on cob, submerge in boiling water 3 to 10 minutes, depending on size of cob and then pack.

Dried corn has been a favorite since colonial days and is relatively easy to do. Husk and trim freshly harvested sweet corn. Steam on cob until 15 minutes or until the milk is set. Cut from the cob and spread one-half inch deep on a cheese cloth covered rack 1/2 inch on current or light gas burner 15 minutes ahead of time. Use the bottom unit only in an electric oven. If there is a regular top set it as low as possible. For open a gas stove oven door at the top corner with an eight inch stick. If using electric oven use a one-half inch block to keep door open.

Several racks may be done at once if separated by wooden blocks so air can circulate freely. Use a thermometer on the top tray and try to keep the heat at 150 F.

About every half hour change position of trays after stirring the contents.

Vegetables take 4 to 12 hours to dry. Corn should be dry enough to shatter when hit with a hammer.

For canned corn, only the whole-grain type is recommended. Cut corn from cob so as to get most of the kernel, but not the husk. To each quart of corn add 1 teaspoon salt and pint boiling water. Heat to boiling and pack hot. Leave 1/2 inch head space in jars. Add no more salt and no extra water. Adjust lids. Process in pressure cooker 75 minutes at 10 lb. pressure.

Rural Youth Fair

Sept. 12-13-14 At Berrien Springs
Is Outcome Of Former 1-Day 4-H Fair And Farm Bureau Picnic

One of Michigan's largest rural youth events, a three-day event packed with fun for young and old and carrying $500 in prize money, will be held at Indian Fields, Berrien Springs, on Sept. 12, 13, and 14.

The event, which is known as the Berrien County Youth Fair, is the outgrowth of the annual one-day 4-H Club Fair and Farmers' Picnic which attracted crowds for years on the Saturday immediately preceding Labor Day.

The new and bigger show is sponsored by the Berrien County Agricultural Association, a non-profit corporation made up of members of the Berrien County Farm Bureau, various co-operative exchanges, 4-H Club units, vocational agricultural instructors and the Berrien Springs Lions club. John Johnson, Berrien county's 4-H Club agent, is general chairman of this year's three-day fair.

A committee of agricultural leaders from all parts of Berrien county is at work completing plans for this year's event.

On Thursday, Sept. 12, exhibits of 4-H members, vocational agricultural schools and rural youth at large will be set up in wide tents and tents at Indian Fields. There also will be exhibits of dairy, beef, cattle, hogs and fat lambs by boys and, and clothing, canning and baking displays by girls. More than $500 in cash prizes and many ribbons will be awarded Friday morning by judges of these exhibits. The judges will be extension men from Michigan State College.

Friday afternoon there will be a program by radio entertainers from WLS, the Prairie Farmer station, followed by another big entertainment in the evening. Also scheduled for Friday evening is a public auction of the hundreds of dollars worth of beef cattle, hogs and fat lambs.

Saturday is designated as Farm Bureau Day, in honor of the Berrien County Farm Bureau, the largest county unit in Michigan and one of the largest in the United States. There will be a public picnic open to all Berrien farm families. The morning will be devoted to games and contests for youths and oldsters.

After the picnic there will be a 1:30 p. m. parade in the arena of blue ribbon winners of livestock exhibits. Following at 2 p. m. will be a horse show, which will be a two-hour program, and the final event of the big three-day affair.

Berrien Farmers

File For Insurance On '47 Winter Wheat

Many Berrien county farmers have filed applications to date for Federal insurance on the 1947 winter wheat crop, according to Martin H. Kretchman, chairman of the Berrien county AAA committee.

September 14 is the closing date for purchase of insurance on winter wheat, or the date of seeding, whichever is the earlier. Every effort will be made by the county AAA committee or authorized agents to contact all wheat farmers in the county, but those farmers not reached by an agent are urged to visit the county AAA office.

"Crop insurance is a means by which farmers can join together to protect themselves if disaster strikes," Mr. Kretchman points out. "Every year, unavoidable natural hazards destroy somebody's crop. It may be yours—it may be your neighbor's—but if you buy crop insurance, you can cushion the blow."

"Notes signed for crop insurance do not fall due until harvest time, according to Kretchman. The farmer has wide leeway in deciding how much insurance he takes out, as several different levels of coverage are available. In case of loss, the grower receives an indemnity in proportion to his premium."

It is Ordered, That the 9th day of September A. D. 1946, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition.

It is Further Ordered, That public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Berrien County Record, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

Mrs. Leah Weaver Describes Color Of Mexican Life

Returns From Six Weeks Of Study At Ancient University

Mrs. Leah Weaver, instructor in language at the Buchanan high school, arrived home Tuesday evening from six weeks of language study, logging traffic and manufacturing changes and the intricacies of Mexican diet in the ancient capitol of Mexico, Mexico City.

Mrs. Weaver completed three courses in Spanish and one in folk lore and saw at first hand the vivid foreign life of the Mexican capitol.

"A high light of this 'life' was the Mexican national presidential election which took place on Sunday, July 6. On the preceding day all foreign students at the University of Mexico were told to remain in their rooms all that day, and on no account to let themselves be seen on the streets. Story disregarded that advice and went out. Mrs. Weaver stayed in her room at the Hotel Geneva, from which stronghold she occasionally heard the rattle of gunfire, which is one of the traditional means of persuasion in Mexican elections.

The backers of Aleman, the radical and union labor candidate, had ten thousand union men and peasants patrolling the streets in buses, ready for anticipated violence on the part of the Padillo or conservative faction. All elections are held on Sunday in Mexico and the affairs are traditionally riotous. The voting is all held in the great public square surrounded by the main government buildings, the Zocalo. Government troops were ready to take over in the event of violence, and all day and late at night cordons of jeeps and armored cars deployed through the city. At that, the event was reported in the press as the most orderly election in Mexican history and "without violence." Although the voting continued until late at night and during the following day, Aleman was declared elected at four o'clock Sunday afternoon. Actually he was reported to be receiving an even break with Padillo in the conservative districts and a two-to-one vote in the poorer sections of the capitol. Complete returns from remote provinces were not in until a week later, giving Aleman 2,000,000 and Padillo 600,000.

Before the election the Aleman faction held huge parades in the city, the feature of the parade being huge cartoons, the size of a side of a house, carried on trucks. The cartoons were done in Walt Disney style, praising the Aleman leaders and ridiculing Padillo and his followers. The trucks were interspersed by large bodies of marching men.

Mexico City is like nothing you ever saw in America. Mrs. Weaver said, and the comparison is not all in our favor. The great public buildings, for instance, are of marvelous architectural and artistic beauty, all of pillared Carrara marble on the outside and of reddish brown and green Mexican marble on the inside, ornately adorned with superb frescoes and bas relief sculpturing.

The University of Mexico is one of the two oldest institutions of higher education in the western world, having been founded in 1553, its only rival in collegiate antiquity in the Americas being a university in Lima, Peru, founded by the Spaniards the same year.

Many of the University buildings are hundreds of years old, all of heavy stone. The summer school classes were held in one of the oldest buildings, the college of the Mascarones, founded by one of the old royal families. The students came from all over the world, but predominating were young Americans apparently there to acquire "atmosphere" and to have a gay summer rather than to work.

Mrs. Leah Weaver and two others in one class of 35 taught by a young Mexican woman, who had studied at the University of North Carolina, were invited to a luncheon at her home, where they were honored as "the only three in the class that worked." The home was one of those incredibly beautiful residences of the Mexican wealthy, with only a blank stone wall facing the street, but with block-long patios and gardens back of the iron grill of the gate, and halls that were art galleries of Mexican painting.

She attended another social event given by the instructor in folklore, Frances Toor, an American woman, where she met near Diego Riviera, world-famous Mexican painter, who painted murals in the Ford rotunda in Detroit and in the buildings of the Rockefeller-built Radio City of New York. Mrs. Toor had been the patron of Riviera when he was a poor art student, supporting him for two years.

Then, just to get a balanced assessment of Mexican life, she attended a bull fight, where she went against the established American tradition and rooted for the torero instead of the bull. The poor fellows really take terrible chances, she said in defense, and she would rather teach school than fight bulls any day.

While there is reported to be a great Democratic upsurge throughout Mexico, there still exists a tremendous gap between the classes, she stated. Beyond the beautiful environment of ancient wealth and privilege in the center of the capitol, there are startling areas of indescribable poverty, where people actually live in dens not much above the status of the well-known foxholes where the G. I.'s resided temporarily under fire.

On the Sunset Limited, though passenger train from St. Louis to Mexico City, she met an American drug importer who advised her to go to the Hotel Geneva, where authentic American fare was available and living conditions were the equivalent of those in a first-class metropolitan hotel here. By virtue of the American cooking she enjoyed there, aided by the preventive typhoid and smallpox shots she took before leaving, she escaped the ill which a majority of the foreign visitors experience, and was thoroughly healthy during her stay.

Electricity Oil Operations
Oil well electrification, the equipment including electric motors for pumping and time clocks to start and stop operations at vital stages, is spreading rapidly, according to reports from the southwest's black gold belt. One company in Arkansas reports the electrification of 150 wells, with a 33 per cent reduction in pumping costs, and plans to bring at least 60 more wells under automatic control before the end of the year.

IT TOOK $13,000

to provide a job for this young lady!

You may never have thought about it this way, but for each Michigan Bell employee there is $13,000 worth of telephone buildings and equipment.

Where did the money for this telephone "plant" come from?

It came from the sale of Bell System securities to folks who had savings to invest. And, naturally, they want — and are entitled to — a fair return from their investment.

That return must come out of Bell System earnings — the money left after paying wages, taxes, and other operating expenses. But, if earnings are insufficient, investors will not put more money into the telephone business, and Michigan Bell would not be able to expand and improve your service.

Since earnings depend so largely on telephone rates it's important to remember this —

Our "cost of living", like yours, has been rising rapidly. If it continues to go up, rate increases may become necessary to insure adequate earnings. In any event, Michigan Bell wants rates no higher — and no lower — than necessary to operate the business efficiently... pay good wages... give a fair return to investors and, thereby, protect the future quality of the service we give you.
