Board Announces A Tentative Plan For School Bldg.

Will Hold November Election On Bond Issue For Construction

In Berrien county's revised tax allocation, appearing in a larger share of the 15-mill tax limit to the county's schools, Buchanan School Dist No 1 Fractional received the highest allocation, having been allotted the full 10.17 mills for school purposes. Other cities of the county followed as follows: Benton Harbor, 8.6 mills, Niles, 8.23 mills; St Joseph, 7.44 mills.

A representative of the Buchanan school board states that the allocation of 10.17 mills for local school use does not mean that this amount will be actually levied. The board has been working for some time on a proposal for additional school construction as reported several months ago.

This construction program is necessarily tentative in a number of circumstances, chief of which is the future availability of materials, will influence action. However the board has been proceeding with a view to completing as much of the necessary ground work as possible, including a referendum to the voters in November on the proposed construction.

If the voters approve, then the board will still have the other intangibles, including materials, to deal with, which might influence toward any of the following three courses: indefinite suspension of construction, partial construction, entire construction. Consequently, if construction receives a majority of the votes cast at the election, the board may proceed with the whole or any part possible of the proposed building program.

It is building is to be done it is very desirable to build up a reserve fund that will take care of the cost of equipment, which will not be financed by the bond issue. Consequently the board might avail themselves of a part or all of the 10.17 mills allotted by the county.

A meeting of the Buchanan Parent-Teacher association is planned for October, at which the board will present the program in the form of more detailed information on the construction program and the bond issue. Every one in Buchanan who is affected is urged to attend that meeting.

Ross L. Renwick Associated With Shanahan Agency

Ross L. Renwick, Niles rural route, is now associated with the Shanahan insurance and real estate agency as a salesman. He recently received a license from the state as a real estate salesman and had previously been licensed to sell insurance. He has had previous experience as a salesman for factory products. He will represent the firm in the entire Buchanan and Niles area.

Public Asked To Turn In Pennies To Avert Shortage

The Union State Bank reports that many parts of the United States are now suffering a shortage of pennies, because of a growing copper shortage, whether from the results of the copper strike, defense uses, or both.

Buchanan people who have been hoarding pennies for which they have no real need are asked to turn them in at the bank in exchange for coins or bills of larger denominations.

Corn Needs Two Frostless Weeks

The prospects for the 1951 corn crop in the Buchanan district are reported to be excellent at the present time, and the fortunate ones who have out considerable acreages may recoup losses in other lines—if the frost holds off from ten days to two weeks.

The husks of the ears are now yellowing and the kernels in most fields have begun to dent indicating that the crop will soon be out of danger.

The price paid by the Buchanan Co-ops as of Friday was $1.75, or 35 cents higher than the price at the same time in 1950.

Mr and Mrs. Fred Appel of Niles, who spent one month with her sister, Mrs. L. B. Spafford, left Monday for San Diego, Calif., where they will make their home.

To Start Packing Museum In April

New Location Chosen To Secure Wider Audience For Exhibits

One of the largest and finest pioneer museums in the Midwest, the Henry Chamberlain Memorial Museum, now located at Three Oaks, has been given to Michigan State College, president John A. Hannah announced today.

Transfer of ownership was made by Fred P. Warren, president of the Edward K. Warren Foundation, which has operated the museum in Three Oaks since 1916.

Nearly 80,000 articles are in the collection. Many of the exhibits are internationally famous and include priceless items which could not be duplicated.

Among the outstanding collections and items are a vast array of pioneer farm and home implements and utensils, a 292-piece watch collection dating from 1700, the Warren Calculating Engine, which in the 1870's added, subtracted, multiplied and divided, as a marvel of that age, a scroll of the Samaritan Pentateuch (first five books of the Bible) copied by hand in 1903-04 by Holy Land high priests for E. K. Warren, founder of the museum, and a rare illuminated hymn book used in the 14th century Roman Catholic church.

The Henry Chamberlain Memorial Museum was founded by the late Mr and Mrs E. K. Warren. It was named in honor of Mrs Warren's father, a pioneer settler of the Three Oaks community, former legislator and member of the State Board of Agriculture, governing body of M S C E K. Warren, founder of the Warren Featherbone company at Three Oaks, with the help of Mrs Warren, gathered thousands of the items prior to his death in 1919. The museum continued to grow through the efforts of the Edward K. Warren Foundation and through countless contributions from members of the Three Oaks community.

"Three Oaks and its citizens now have the privilege to contribute this historical collection to one of the outstanding colleges in the United States, whose very purpose for existence is to educate the youth of America," Fred P. Warren stated. "Moving the exhibit to Michigan State College will permit a far greater number of Michigan residents to receive benefits from this outstanding collection of American history and heritage. It is estimated that at least 70,000 college and high school students, educators, Michigan residents and other visitors from throughout the nation will visit the museum in East Lansing each year."

In acknowledging the gift, President Hannah said: "Michigan State College accepts, with a sense of gratitude and responsibility, the generous gift of the collections in the Henry Chamberlain Memorial Museum of Three Oaks, tendered by the Edward K. Warren Foundation through its president, Mr. Fred P. Warren, and the foundation's board of trustees.

"It is recognized and appreciated that moving the collections to East Lansing will deprive the citizens of the Three Oaks community of a center of interest in which they have taken much pride and to which they have devoted great deal of effort over a long period of years. I hope that when the benefits of their unselfish action are fully revealed in the future, they will feel that their sacrifice has been wholly justified. Certainly Michigan State College will do everything within its power to see that the full benefits of this action are accomplished."

"Everyone at Michigan State who is familiar with the conditions in the final analysis, the gift is to the people of Michigan, and that Michigan State College is in the role of custodian of a valuable heritage.

"The obligation is accepted with the pledge that these items of such interest and importance will not be hoarded away, but will be used as a part of the educational program so that they may serve as never-failing sources of instruction, information and inspiration for faculty, students and visitors alike. That, we take it, was the aim of the founder of these collections, and to give greater expression to his ideas and ideals will be the perpetual objective of those who have these collections in their charge."

Packaging and transferring of the collections will begin in April under the direction of Joseph W. (Continued on Page 7)

The Story of Buchanan

The Setting Of Settlement

The Tide Of Land Seeking Turns To Michigan

Last week we left the surveying crew, rather prematurely, as they were coming down the north slope of the east end of the Chamberlain holdings, with the lead chainman, holding the twice-doubled 66-foot chain high over his head to keep it on the beam of the survey level.

Down the present line of Portage street they came, past the future intersection of Portage and Front, then guttless of filling stations, and out of the townsite and out of this story. Take a good look at them as they pass—there may be a future senator, governor or leader of business among them. Quite often there was—as you watch them, listen to that distant rumble. For as they went there came "haid on their heels a thousand wheels, a people and a—", excuse us Mr Kipling, not a "kung" this time but a government conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Just the same, the wheels were rolling, or which is much the same, the boats were coming, through the Erie Canal and up through Lake Erie, thronged with sharp-eyed Yankees from New England or one-generation-from-New Englanders from upper New York. Filed high about them on ferry, sail or steamboat were their household goods, and even some farming gear—they were surveying by the thousands as the surveyors mapped the lines of their future farms, and the flood grew until high tide in 1836, of which we will tell later.

For the peopling of Lower Michigan was long delayed but when it came it was with a rush. Never before in the history of wilderness settlements had so many axes been heard at once ringing in the primeval forest as men chopped trees to build cabins, or fences, or to clear an opening. The greater immigrations through lower Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, into Missouri, had come more slowly, pulsating in successive waves as the pressure of their employment tightened or relaxed. But the part of the Lower Peninsula of Michigan surveyed north and south of the base line from Detroit to South Haven was peopled in a few years.

Nearly a half-century before a long spearhead of settlement had been creeping more slowly past to the south, along the northern bank of the Ohio river, and another still earlier, through the Cumberland Gap into Kentucky and Tennessee.

The wave from the Middle South through Cumberland Gap came first and immediately after the Revolution. The Cumberland Gap trail is now followed by a highway over which many Buchanans have motored during summer vacations. The trail, and the subsequent road, are in the southeastern corner of Virginia, whose southern border, extended westward, forms the dividing line between Kentucky and Tennessee, and the trail winds through all three of the states. Through it the swarms of the Virginia and North Carolina cabins poured in growing volume until Kentucky had enough people (80,000) to become a state in 1792, and Tennessee in 1796. There the wave hit a dead-end at the Mississippi river, the western national boundary until the Louisiana Purchase of 1803, when the land west of the Mississippi was bought from France.

Meanwhile the tide through the southern part of the Northwest Territory and north of the Ohio river was progressing more slowly. The settlers in Kentucky and Tennessee had Indians to fight, as the title of "The Dark and Bloody Ground" attests. The northern tide, which poured through the Appalachian Gap by the river route to the Gateway at Pittsburgh had started earlier, but was blocked first by the French during eighty odd years of bitter war and armed truce while they contested with England for control of the Northwest country. When England won in the Seven Years War from 1756 to 1763 they in turn set up a road block at Pittsburgh, for avenue.

Neither nation wished the old thirteen to colonize westward. Both nations used the Indians to serve their ends, inflaming them with fear and hate of the tide of settlers who had designs on their hunting grounds.

But nevertheless the tide had begun and increased slowly against the opposition of French, English and Indians, gaining momentum when the Thirteen Colonies won their freedom in 1783 until Ohio had its 80,000 and statehood in 1803. The crushing of the final united stand of the tribes under Tecumseh removed the last danger and the tide progressed through southern Indiana, (Continued on Page 7)

Bucks Victors In Curtain Raiser With Late Scores

Speedy Buck Backs Break A Deadlock, Set Michigan City Back 12-0

A crowd of 1,800 watched a stubborn crew of Michigan City men battle the Buchanan Bucks football eleven on even terms for nearly three periods last Friday night before the locals finally sprung for two touchdowns and achieved a hard-fought, 12-0 decision.

For 32 minutes the lines from both teams battled each other even-Stephen before Dave, Best went over from four yards out late in the third stanza. Gib Mattson put the contest on the ice midway in the last period as he dashed over from the 13-yard marker.

Third Quarter With four minutes left in the period Richard Bestie, on a hand-off from Jim Burkett, sped 28 yards down the sidelines to put the pigskin on Michigan City's 4-yard line. There, on a power play off tackle, Dave Best scored on the next play to send the Bucks winging into a 6-0 lead. Johnny Rothfuch's point-after-touchdown attempt was wide.

Fourth Quarter Gib Mattson pranced over from 13 yards out in the quarter as he outran the Michigan City defense for a 12-0 lead. Mattson had set up his pay-off run just five plays before as he hit George Vincent with a 45-yard pass. Rothfuch's attempt for the extra point hit the goal posts.

Zone Ordinance Does Not Apply To Previous Bldgs.

Ordinance Provides Method Appeal For Interpretation Or Amendment

This and following articles on the proposed new city Zoning Ordinance are not designed as an advocate's plea in its behalf, other than to say that a great amount of time was spent by the Planning Commission in a sincere intent to produce, to the best of their ability, a good steering plan for future development of the city. The members urgently invite all citizens to study it and, if they consider any part imperfect, to come to the second and last public hearing at the city hall Monday evening, Oct. 15, starting at 8 p.m., and express their ideas.

Here are some points that should be clearly understood. The provisions of the Ordinance, when enacted by the city commission, will apply only to future locations and constructions. The ordinance states in Sec 502 "The lawfulness of any land or existing building on the effective date of this Ordinance may be continued as provided in Sec 1401."

Sec 1401, "The lawful use of a building existing on the effective date of this Ordinance may be continued, although such use does not conform with the provisions of this Ordinance."

That is, if you already have a house in a certain zone, or have taken definite steps toward the erection of such house, before the effective date which does not conform to the Ordinance requirements as to size of lot, distance from street line, size or any other specifications, the Ordinance will not apply.

If you are already conducting a business in a zone wherein such business is prohibited in the future, the Ordinance cannot apply to you. You may continue the business and you may sell it to another person for continued operation in the same location. But neither you nor any future owner may use the premises for another business. And if at any time the original business is discontinued it cannot be resumed in the same location.

This Ordinance cannot apply to existing construction for which the city has issued a permit before the effective date, or on which any considerable amount of work has already been done whether in excavation, of basement, construction of walls or in any other particular.

If, in any specific case, the Ordinance should impose practical difficulties or unnecessary hardships which cannot be avoided in accordance with the letter of the Ordinance, the person affected may have recourse to the Board of Appeals provided by this Ordinance. That board cannot change the classification of any property, or change the Ordinance in any way. But it can pass on appeals and vary or modify regulations where modification does not violate the spirit of the Ordinance.

This being a democracy, the City Commission which is the elected governing board of the municipality, may by ordinance amend, supplement or change the Zoning Ordinance in any particular and to the extent it deems advisable, provided that such procedure is carried through with proper observance of the requirements of advertised intention and public hearing.

In other words, the Zoning Ordinance cannot arbitrarily bind the city for all time to come any part of it that proves unjust or impractical. (Continued on Page 6)

Big 7 Notes

R. Koenigshof To Washington With Farm Group

8 Mich. Farm Representatives Call On Legislators In Interest Of Farms

Robert Koenigshof, manager of the Buchanan Co-ops, arrived home Thursday night from a visit in Washington, D.C., as a member of an eight-man delegation representing Michigan farmers' interests.

Together with other delegations of farmers from a number of North Central and Middle states they attended a meeting of the congressional appropriations committee named to consider reorganization and personnel reduction of the Department of Agriculture and heard Secretary Brannan oppose the reduction, stating that of its own accord the department had reduced its payroll one-third, being the only government department which had so acted.

They also visited Senator Homer Ferguson and Senator Blair Moody, Michigan senators, and discussed matters of farm interest. They interviewed Rep. Dingle of Michigan on the same issues, and called on Ray Hendrick, executive secretary of the National Grain Federation.

They reported that they received a very favorable audience from all three of the Michigan legislators.

Lighting Cigarette In Transit Causes Auto Upset, Injury

Delwyn G. Walker, 17, of Niles, was involved in a personal injury accident on East Front street at 8 p.m. Friday while bound to the Buchanan football game to report quarter scores back to Niles.

As he passed the entrance to the new Clark parking lot he lost control of his car while trying to light a cigarette. The car went off the pavement on the soft road shoulder on the left side. As he attempted to cut back on the pavement a wheel caught the pavement rim and he shot diagonally across the highway into the bank on the right side and the car turned over.

Dean Johnson, 16, Niles, his companion in the car, was taken to Pawating hospital for treatment of non-serious head injuries.

Buchanan To Get $2,057.51 State Auto Tax

To Spend 70 Pct. On Major Streets, 30 Pct. On Minor Streets

Counties and municipalities of Michigan have received notice of the portions of motor vehicle highway funds they will receive in accordance with the new state legislation.

Towns in Berrien county will receive the following amounts: Buchanan, $2,057.51; Berrien Springs, $498.63; Benton Harbor, $5,106.17; Niles, $4,655.62; St Joseph, $2,684.38. Berrien county will receive $53,400.91.

The first vouchers covering distribution of motor vehicle highway funds to the 83 counties, 487 municipalities of the state, and the State Highway department, under the new highway legislation, have been submitted to the State Controller for certification to the Auditor General. Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has announced the total funds to be distributed, after costs of collection have been deducted, amount to $6,203,408.78, as certified by the Secretary of State to the State Highway Commissioner and the State Controller.

In accordance with the law, 44 percent of the total deposits of highway revenues made during the period June 1 to June 30, amounting to $2,729,499.86, will be released to the State Highway department. Vouchers to the counties aggregate 37 percent of the total deposits, or $2,298,251.29, and those to the municipalities total 19 percent of total deposits, or $1,178,647.67. Under the new Acts, these funds must be expended on primary and local county roads and major and local streets in accordance with a formula established by the Legislature. The county funds are divided by law 75 percent for maintenance and construction of primary roads and 25 percent for maintenance and construction of local roads, after a fixed sum of $5,000 per year per county has been allocated for engineering services. City and village funds are divided by law 70 percent for major streets and 30 percent for local streets.

Future distributions will be made quarterly. The first substantial increases in highway funds to counties and municipalities resulting from the increased gasoline tax, will not be apparent until the next distribution is made.

Bottom 11 From Kalamazoo Hope To Hit Comeback Trail In 1951

State High of Kalamazoo, invades Buchanan next Friday night, Sept 21, with a team that threatens to be a power in the Big 7 Conference. It's been a long time since State has bested the Bucks in football, but this year, with a team nearly intact from last fall and a new coach, they are out for blood. All-Conference Tackle Hager and his fellow linemen will do their best to bottle up the Bucks hot-running backs, Mattson, Bestie, and Best. However State claims to have one of the fastest backs in the conference in left-half Fricke, who clipped off 50 and 60 yard runs plus many valuable shorter gains and racked up all of State High's points with his three touchdowns. Incidentally, he kicked his Dad for 10 bucks for each touchdown, but Pop said he couldn't afford any more nights like that one.

Our sticky-fingered ends, Vincent, Fitch and Rotzen will need more than that to bring down the ball carrier on State's wide-end sweeps and reverses. Co-Captain Pannel and Guard Pendley will have to, as Coach Burkett says, "build a fire—under some of their over-size colleagues" and continue their own outstanding performance.

Coach Miller says he is well satisfied but will expect a 30% improvement in defensive line play and also stated that the "educated toe" of John Rothfuchs would be back in form as those extra points often mean victory. In fact some of us had hoped we might see a few field goals this year. Some of the young varsity players are slated to see more action against State High.

More Girl Scout Leaders Are Needed

A plea for leaders is being made by the Buchanan Girl Scout Council, according to Commissioner Maude Slate. She announced that unless leaders are secured it will be impossible to have any new Brownie troops this year.

Not only are Brownie leaders needed, but leaders are needed for a second-year intermediate troop and a troop for seventh and eighth grade girls. There were 10 active troops in the Council last year with 160 girls registered. This year there are only 120 girls registered in troops with adequate leadership. Mrs. John Shanahan and Mrs. William Carlson are on the committee to secure leaders and women interested in the work are asked to get in touch with them.

A leaders' training course has been started and the instructor is Mrs. Arthur Anderson. This will be a 16-hour course with sessions in the Scout cabin in Kathryn Park from 9 to 11 a.m. Wednesdays. Plans were made at the first fall meeting of the Girl Scout Council, Thursday morning, for the annual drive for funds to open Oct. 1. Mrs. Philip R. Hazlin will be chairman of the drive.

E.U.B. Women Plan To Send Clothing To Korean Children
Members of the Women's Society of World Service of the First Evangelical U. B. church met last Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Edward Ruffer and voted to cooperate with other E. U. B. churches in helping provide relief clothing for the children in Korea, and to send two boxes.

The president, Mrs. Clifford Peters, presented the 1952 convention project paper for literature for Japan, and the group voted to help raise money for the project.
The membership drive rally was set for Oct. 9, and the annual Thanks Offering and Praise Service will be held at the morning worship service in the church on Nov. 11.

Mrs. Peters spoke on civil defense and urged members to attend the city-wide rally on Sept. 19.

The theme for the program and devotional service was "Christ Calls To Commitment," and was presented by Mrs. Guy Young in a candlelighted ceremony and assisted by Mrs. Lawrence Lee and Mrs. Arthur Mead.

To Start Packing Museum In April
Stack, director of the M. S. C. Museum. Cost of moving the entire museum from Three Oaks to East Lansing will be borne by the Edward K. Warren Foundation. These exhibits are not expected to be on display at Michigan State College for at least a year, Stack said.

Story Of Buchanan

which became a state in 1816, through Illinois which became a state in 1818, and into Missouri, a state in 1820.
The use of the terms "flood" and "wave" is not inapt, for the movement of the emigrant was not unlike that of water propelled in its course by gravity. Water plus gravity indeed carried a large number of the emigrants down the Ohio and to the force of gravity must be added the lessening of resistance ahead.

In the case of the western plains cuts a ditch bank to release a flood of water on his land, the tide plunges, directing its course partly by momentum, partly by choosing the lower courses, until it comes to a dead end against rising ground, when it checks, backs up and spreads on either side.

In the case of the emigrant flood down the northern bank of the Ohio, there was already a dike of settlement south of the river in Kentucky. So the settlements widened northward. They poured toward the Buchanan area, first on such Indian trails as that from Port Wayne to the Niles area, later on the roads built on the same routes.

When Edward Tiffin, surveyor-general for lands north of the Ohio from 1814 to 1829, was sent to survey 2,000,000 acres for military bounty lands, he reported that Michigan territory was not worth the expense of surveying. The entire extent of Michigan, he said, was low and wet, covered with swamp grass, brush and slime. "Taking the country altogether, there would not be more than one acre in a hundred, if there were one out of a thousand, that would in any case admit of cultivation."

Buchanan Has 2nd Car-Bicycle Crash Within Eight Days

The second bicycle-automobile collision within eight days on South Oak street, took place in front of the Cramer market at 12:42 p.m. Friday when Edward Vigil, 14, 305 Fulton, riding a bicycle, hit the side of a car driven by John Miller, 111 S. Cayuga.

The boy had been riding south on the east sidewalk. At the alley north of Cramer's market he turned out into the street heading into the path of the Miller car. Skidmarks indicated that Miller stopped in a distance of eight feet, and Vigil's bicycle hit the right side of his car just back of the front door.

Neither the boy or his bicycle were hurt, the only damage being to a corner which he was carrying in the basket of his bicycle. The corner had a damaged bell and valve.

75 Attend Annual Harvest Meeting At L.D.S. Church

The annual harvest meeting and homecoming of the Church of the Brethren held Sunday was attended by nearly 75 members and friends who came from southern Michigan and Indiana. Produce from the orchards, fields and gardens decorated the church for the affair.

The Rev. G. W. Grater of the Mexico Welfare Home in Mexico, Ind., former pastor of the Buchanan church, who is now retired, was guest speaker. He preached at the morning service and again at 2 p.m. The oldest person present was Mrs. Rebecca Ingelright, 92, who has been a member of the church since it was organized.

On Emergency Action During Civil Defense

Article II: On Emergency Treatment For Burns
(This is the second in a series of five articles prepared by the Michigan Office of Civil Defense, dealing with emergency action to save lives. The first article covered Preventing Death Through Loss of Blood. Readers are urged to save these articles.)

The rules for care of burn victims must be strictly followed when an untrained person must aid a burn victim.
1. Use no grease, salve, oil, or water, on the burn.
2. Make victim comfortable. Cut clothing around burns. Do not clean burns.

3. Cover burns with clean compress, using several layers of cloth. Cover entire burned area.
4. Fasten compress with a bandage, securely, so as to keep the wound covered. Do not remove.
5. Mix a teaspoon of salt, with a half-teaspoonful of soda, in a quart of water. Give to victim as he desires it.

6. Do not give salt-soda-water solution to anyone unconscious or semi-conscious, nor to anyone more than half of whose body is burned.
The importance of following these rules is demonstrated by the number of burn victims who have suffered greatly as a result of improper treatment. Surveys show that in many less serious burn cases, poor care is as often the result of death as is the burn itself.

The complete course in care of burn victims is given in the Official Red Cross First-Aid Training Course. Every adult should volunteer for complete training in First-Aid.
(The third article will deal with Emergency Treatment for Broken Bones)
