Buchanan appeal rejected by County Commission-accept Niles proposal

An emergency session of the Buchanan City Commission was called for 7:30 p.m , Wednesday, May 25, at City Hall

City Commissioners Bellaire, Anderson, Mayor Gault, Wesner and Jenson were in attendance along with City Manager Faulhaber, City Clerk Russell and City Attorney Desenberg. Also in attendance was Joe Garbert II and two members of the press

The emergency meeting was called to respond to, and give authority to meet with, the County Board of Commissioners in a special session on Thursday, May 26, at the County Courthouse, St Joseph

After hearing the announcement of the City of Niles deeding property to the county to be used for a south county courthouse, the City Commission called the emergency session to decide what, if anything could be done to influence the County Commission's decision.

The City of Buchanan had made a rather detailed offer of land to the County Commission 3-4 years ago and plans for a building were drawn up at that time The County Commission said it had no plans to build a south county courthouse at that time but would consider Buchanan's offer should a courthouse be planned in the future

The Buchanan City Commission voted yes on a proposal and statement to be presented at the County Commission meeting on May 25, to request the Niles Proposal be tabled for 30 days to give Buchanan a chance to present its courthouse plan Buchanan had planned to offer a parcel (4-10 acres) of land on North Red Bud Trail or a parcel south of Front Street that is part of Downtown Development Phase II program The Phase II property already has a priority rating for a $1 5 million grant from the Overall Economic Development Program The OEDP is a county committee that deals with federal money

About 24 Buchanan businessmen and community leaders, led by Mayor Richard Gault, attended the County Commission meeting They requested the Berrien County Board of Commissioners to delay action for 30 days

The county commissioners rejected the appeal by Buchanan officials to delay its decision until Buchanan could present its proposal for the county building in Buchanan The commission accepted the option on 5 3 acres of land offered by the City of Niles Now they have to wait for a decision on a federal grant from the Economic Development Administration before a building can begin. The building can be built only if a grant is approved by the EDA

County offices are at scattered locations in Niles and Buchanan and a sheriffs substation is located in Galien Most of these offices would be housed in the new building

Indiana and Michigan Electric begins customer refunds

Indiana & Michigan Electric Company reported that, starting June 1, it will begin refunding more than one-half million dollars to Michigan retail customers as the result of a suit filed by the utility on behalf of its customers

A settlement last year stemmed from I&M's suit against AMOCO Oil Company relative to the price of oil charged I&M at its Twin Branch Generating Plant near Mishawaka, Indiana I&M initiated the suit to force the cost of oil down and won an out-of-court settlement

The Michigan Public Service Commission May 20 gave its approval to I&M to pass the Michigan portion of the AMOCO refund, totaling $561,247, on to the utility's approximately 75,000 Michigan retail customers as of May 31, 1977 who qualify because they pay a fuel cost adjustment A "Special Refund Credit" will be applied to the customer's June bill in the amount of 4 14 mills per kilowatt-hour the Commission staff ruled

The refund credit is based upon the customer's kw-h usage during the month of May 1977, and reflects revenues collected under the settlement plus interest paid to the customer at a rate of 7 per cent per annum

Late last year, affected Indiana retail customers of the utility received their portion of the refund according to a method prescribed by the Public Service Commission of Indiana. The total refund for all of I&M's 427,000 retail customers amounts to more than $4 million.

Senator McCollough introduces solar energy legislation

State Senator Patrick McCollough (D Dearborn) has introduced legislation requiring government agencies to consider solar energy systems for any building they construct after December 31, 1978

McCollough's bill would force government to take the lead in making solar energy a viable consideration for heating and cooling systems in the near future.

"If energy conservation is to be a way of life in Michigan, government must set an example by adopting an energy conservation plan," McCollough said "The first step in that plan should be consideration of alternative energy methods"

Under McCollough's bill, any government agency constructing a new facility would have to prepare a cost analysis of at least two energy systems for that new facility. At least one of those energy systems would have to be a solai energy system

"Recently the Energy Resource Development Administration urged Michigan to take a leadership role in developing solar energy research into systems marketable for private industry," McCollough said. "Hand in hand with that responsibility is a need to develop widespread acceptance of solar energy for instance, as an alternative to our present heating and cooling methods

"The best way to gain that acceptance will be for government to give serious consideration to energy alternatives in construction designs," McCollough added

McCollough's bill would apply to government facilities over 35 000 square feet and would exempt construction replacing older facilities considered imperative to the health, safety and welfare of the public

"I hope the Legislature will act quickly on this bill to give solar energy and energy conservation a priority in future construction projects throughout the state" McCollough said

Quality education is sought

By Mary Firehammer

The people of Buchanan are involved in a millage election in connection with the annual election It is important to understand that as far as quality of education is concerned, at the present time with the present funding, the students are not going to receive an education equal to that received by the last generation

The Board of Education, because of inflation, is forced to eliminate programs such as wood shop, Home Economics, Mechanical Drawing, Orchestra, extracurricular activities, middle school resource room, etc These programs have been a part of the school for many years We would be depriving our students of an opportunity to learn skills of much practical value to each of them

Since an adequate education is essential to a future for the community, we should be glad to contribute the necessary additional funds to ensure a high level of education

Some answers to breakfast program controversy

There has been some controversy over the issue of the school breakfast program that was recently presented The program would be a requirement of schools, if passed, and would provide children with breakfast for those who do not eat at home

Apparently, the community has misunderstood the funding of this program Although the state requires certain programs, it does NOT have to provide funds The taxpayers, through millage, would have to pay for them

Special Education is another state mandated program which would not be cut out in case of low funds from the community. If the additional millage is not passed this June, the Home Economics, Wood Shop and German courses will be cut

According to Dr. Hogan, Superintendent of Buchanan Schools, he feels (along with many others) that the state should not require schools to feed children breakfast The parents should have the responsibility to provide them with breakfast.

Having this mandated program would possibly mean a raise in the millage which would cut back more school programs if need be $78,000 Tractor?

A Kansas State University economist has taken a look at what it will cost to farm and what it will cost consumers to eat in the year 2000 – if inflation continues at 6 per cent. His figures include $78,000 for a tractor, .. and $3.10 for a dozen eggs'

Dr. T. Roy Bogle says farmers can expect a drastic increase in all farming expenses although some will rise faster than others For example, a '77 model tractor, selling for $20,000 today, will cost at least $78,000 in 2000 if inflation continues at 6 per cent -- but it could sell for more than that because machinery prices are tied closely to labor costs which could exceed the 6 per cent figure

Fertilizer and fuel costs are expected to increase faster than the inflation rate in the next 23 years because of shortages If it costs $8 an acre to fertilize wheat ground today, Bogle says it will cost more than $31 an acre in 2000 and fuel costs for wheat would jump from $4 50 an acre to approximately $17 50

What this means is that if all expenses increase at 6 per cent a year, cost of producing a bushel of wheat will soar from approximately $3 25 today to $12 58 by 2000.

And the same applies for other crops and livestock.

The farmer's cost of producing a pound of beef or a half gallon of milk also will increase Simply stated, if a farmer spends 50 cents to produce a pound of grain today, it will cost him $1 95 by 2000. If it costs a dairyman 9 5c to produce a pound of milk this year, it will cost him 37 5c in 23 years

Six per cent annual inflation also would take its toll on consumers If there is 3c worth of wheat in every loaf of bread today, there would have to be approximately 12c in every loaf in 2000

Consumers would have to pay $2.75 for a pound of hamburger, $1 30 for a half gallon of milk, and $3.10 for a dozen eggs in the year 2000

Whether you look at those figures (and gasp') from a producer's viewpoint or a consumer's viewpoint. . ..inflation is a real bummer'

Quality of education

To the Editor,

Do you realize students in Buchanan High School in the year 1977-1978 will not receive the level of education that was available thirty years ago? Todays students also do not have the opportunities for extra curricular activities that were possible as recently as six or seven years ago

The fact that our present students will not be able to have wood shop, Home Economics, Mechanical drawing or Orchestra which are all programes that have been offered in Buchanan High School for over thirty years is one of the measures of inflation However, it is a shame to allow this regression in our educational system, when less than 7c per day can restore our previous level of programs.

We do presently have fully equipped wood shop and home economic facilities which will be expensive to replace, if the classes are re-instated at some future time It is always harder and more expensive to re-instate a program that has been dropped and both of these are giving students useful, practical information for daily living.

In many cases, the high school years are the only opportunity to sample various types of skills, and we have already lost our carpentry class Mechanical drawing is an art useful in many occupations. Music is a basic art that is difficult to develop after high school

We feel we cannot afford to lose any of the programs that have been proven useful and were available to all before the price squeeze Is it right to deprive the students?

Sincerely,
Mary Firehammer

Response to letters

Dear Editor,

I should like to respond to the two letters last week concerning the closing of Indian Hills elementary school First, I'd like to say that both letters made some excellent points and the Indian Hills issue is one which the next board will have to wrestle with, I happen to be infavor of keeping Indian Hills open from some intangible educational reasons

However, I feel it is a legitimate issue, so I won't concern myself with it at this time What I would like to is correct some of the assertions made by the two authors

The first was that if we closed Indian Hills we could have a full program This just isn't so The best board estimates have been that to close Indian Hills would save 35 to 40 thousand dollars The present budget deficit from this year's program being run again next year is 160 thousand dollars.

Secondly, one letter suggested that passage of the additional millage would be an increase of six mills Again this just isn't so The 2 4 mill renewed in April was just that a renewal This election calls for an additional 2 6, and 2 4 plus 2 6 equals 5 Still the increase is only 2 6 mills.

One of the letters suggested this would mean an additional $100 in taxes for them. While I don't know if this is true or not, I can say that if it is then they are living in one of the nicest houses in the school district On my home it will amount to an additional $11, and for most people it will be between $20 and $35 dollars. Which figures out to be about 8 cents a day. If we would take the pennies out of our change each night and save them we could probably pay the additional tax with them

The final assertion, that I'd like to comment on is the comment that the people are being blackmailed Nothing could be further from the truth The fact is that last year's millage will not run last year's school So the board, figuring the people won't stand for an increase, chose to cut programs. A group of citizens, realizing that to cut basic programs is to go backwards at a time when we must go forward, petitioned to have an additional millage added to the June ballot It was heartening to see that the people of this town are aware and do care about the quality of education I certainly hope the people will respond again with a strong voice telling us that they do want the best education for their children

A concerned educator
Michael Bashara

Concerned citizen

Letters to the Editor:

As a concerned citizen and parent who cares this writer must go on record of expressing opposition for the unwarranted 2.6 millage increase being placed on the ballot for the school election on June 13th

If by slightest chance the writer thought that the 2 6 increase would mean a better education for the children of Buchanan I would be fully in support of the increase. However, I must agree with the many who see it as just another tax bonanza underhandedly pushed through serving no educational advantages

When we recognize the fact that school revenues are based on millage and real estate valuation and acknowledge the fact that real estate valuation has increased 90 per cent (faster than overall inflation) over the past ten years, common sense dictates there is no logical reason for increasing the millage

It is true that the entire cost of operating the schools is not derived from local property taxes. The state of Michigan supplements the cost through per pupil aid There have been times when the states financial condition necessitated a reduction in per pupil aid and in those instances a slight millage increase was justified Such, however, is not the present day condition

On May 19th the Michigan State House of Representatives approved by a vote of 85 to 3 a school aid appropriation bill of 787 5 million dollars The new appropriation will increase per pupil aid $164 for school year 1977-78 and $260 per pupil for the school year 1978-79 This new appropriation will be financed by retaining state income tax at 4.6 per cent The increase in state aid per pupil is supposedly to permit local school districts to begin lowering school millage Accordingly, instead of seeking a 2 6 millage increase the school board should be making plans to reduce the millage. A millage reduction is in order and should not adversely affect the present educational program

For the past several years citizens in practically every school district in Southwestern Michigan has been blackmailed (threats of cutting the curriculum) into paying additional burdensome taxes These unwarranted tax increases have subsequently resulted in broadening the curriculum, expanding the local school bureaucacy and consequently jeopardizing basic education

Some parents allegedly concerned with educating the 'total person' fail to realize that at the present time in many school districts students are not getting adequate (3 R's) education. There is a decisive difference between education and vocational training A high school graduate with an all round basic education will find that any vocation will come easy. However, a graduate with vocational training, but a poor education, will find it difficult to maintain suitable employment in the present day society

It has been reported that millage matters have been discussed in the school during school hours If this is true it is not only out of order but also in poor taste and must be discontinued Parents do not send their children to school to be taught how the parents should vote in school elections

Putting the entire matter of education into proper perspective many will agree we are paying too much and receiving too little. Real education (reading, writing and arithmetic) is being gradually abandoned through expansion of the curriculum as vocational training is being substituted for basic education

Many students graduating from high school are not being properly prepared for entering college and many are unable to satisfactorily fill out hiring applications for suitable employment. In short, our children education wise are being shortchanged. While school taxes skyrocket,

It is time to reverse the present trend by emphatically rejecting the 2 6 millage increase on June 13th. It is time to re-evaluate our schools present educational program and to acknowledge the fact that quality education is not gained through unwarranted tax increases but rather by more efficient management of the educational system by the school administrators

For You From Unity Hospital

Being in GOOD PHYSICAL CONDITION may help prevent diseases of the heart, blood vessels--may help lessen severity if heart attack occurs--helps burn off calories to avoid obesity

Your heart is the hardest working muscle in your body...it needs care and attention The average American settles down at an early age to a life of physical inactivity When he does get exercise, he tends to overdo it and may strain his out-of-shape-body Anyone at any age can improve his physical condition

When you're in good physical condition your heart benefits in eight ways

1. Increased vital capacity 2. Better blood supply. 3. Healthier blood vessels. 4. Improved digestion. 5. Lower blood cholesterol. 6. More energy. 7. Weight control. 8. Better rest

Fitness hints for folks of all ages; where do you find yourself.

1 YOUNGSTERS -- sometimes don't get as much exercise as they should! Let them walk or ride bikes to school. Build or buy simple equipment for climbing, balancing, tumbling.

2. TEENS -- Now is the time to develop exercise skills and wise eating habits. Emphasize hikes, canoeing, individual exercise, in addition to competitive team sports.

3 ADULTS -- The age group 20-40 frequently gets less exercise than any other age group. What about an adult fitness program in your neighborhood or where you work?

4. SENIOR CITIZENS -- enjoy retirement when they're feeling fit Instead of a rocking chair, try a bicycle seat or bowling shoes! Regular activity encourages mental well-being, too.

IT'S WITHIN YOUR POWER TO LOOK BETTER AND FEEL BETTER -- THINK FITNESS!!!

Canamer arranges pre-trial events

Since 1969, CANAMER Games has tackled the huge task each summer of arranging pre-trial sports events and Olympian Games in up to 16 sports areas for several thousands of Berrien County youth under 19 years of age This year, thanks to the Benton Harbor Recreation program, under the directorship of Larry Nielsen, this task will be made much easier The recreation program will coordinate in three major sports areas. Boys basketball (midget and bantam divisions), track and field (9-13 year olds), and in girls' softball (all divisions).

The Benton Harbor Recreation Department is taking a two-prong approach to CANAMER. first, through fee-based instructional experience camps and second, through park activity feed-in.

The Board of the Benton Harbor Recreation program has undertaken the task of running the Olympian Games for those divisions and sports areas, supplying the facilities, personnel and tournament directors for those specific Olympian competitions CANAMER will continue to maintain the sports area chairmen, the final selection of athletes to the CANAMER teams, and to supply the medals, registration forms and CANAMER shirts, as it has done since 1969

Practice sessions in boys basketball and girls' softball will be held in the recreation program summer camps Nielsen explains "The camps are on a fee basis with the camp athletes participating in the Olympian Games of the CANAMER program. Other kids not in the camps will participate in the parks program. There are no fees for entering the Olympian Games of CANAMER."

Nielsen continued: "These activities will provide more opportunity for the young people of our service area to compete for CANAMER slots. CANAMER is a fine quality program with a values approach to recreation which we thoroughly endorse." "I have been familiar with CANAMER Games since 1970 and realize the value this program offers our county youth, so naturally I am most happy that our Board of Directors has consented to this coordination with the CANAMER Games," Nielsen commented

For six weeks prior to the Olympian Games (July 17-23) the Benton Harbor Recreation Department will conduct Saturday track meets The pre-Olympian practice sessions are open to any youngster in the county under age 19. The 14-18 year old track division will be held at St Joseph High School on July 23

The Benton Harbor Recreation Department is striving to fulfill the recreational needs of our community youth, has taken positive steps, by including in its programming, instructional sports clinics in areas, and by sponsoring the Olympian competition in track and field, girls' softball, and two divisions of boys' basketball

The direction the recreation department has taken will mean more available instruction, training, and competition for the area's young people, and that's the name of that tune

Clark Ladies Golf League

The results of the Clark Women Golf Club are as follows Low Net, Jane Metzger; Low Gross, Lynea Dalrymple; Low Putts, Emily Coda and Play of the Day (tie), Colleen Syson and Lynea Dalrymple

High blood pressure fatal says Berrien County Health Department

High blood pressure is one of the most common diseases in the country, causing serious illness and attacking one out of seven adults. In order to control this relentless disease through a program of mass information, the month of May was designated as National High Blood Pressure Month.

"High blood pressure is the major cause of stroke, heart attack and kidney failure," said Jerome Erickson, Health Officer of the Berrien County Health Department. "It may have no outward symptoms and there is frequently no cure; but it can be controlled."

The effects of hypertension are internal damage to the blood vessels -- hardening and scarring of the 'arteries' outer walls (arterioscolerosis), and build-up of fat and other material inside the artery walls (atherosclerosis). Both impede the flow of blood through the vessels.

Once an individual has been diagnosed as hypertensive, according to Jerome Erickson, he must follow a lifelong regimen which may include prescribed medication, modified diet, exercise, weight reduction and relaxation High blood pressure is easily detected through a quick painless test by a physician, nurse or trained person.

Sometimes damage to the blood vessels cannot be repaired; there is only control to prevent further damage.

On the basis of estimates derived from the National Health Examination Survey, it is estimated that one million Michigan adults have high blood pressure. About 500,000 are unaware that they have it; 250,000 know they have it and are controlling it; and 250,000 people know they are hypertensive but are doing nothing to control it. Berrien County has an estimated 30,800 persons over age 18 with high blood pressure, 14,000 of whom are not aware of the problem and-or are not under treatment.

The disease rarely becomes a problem before the age of 30. It affects twice as many blacks as whites, more women than men, and more adults who are overweight than thin, and more persons in lower socioeconomic classes than middle or upper.

Blood pressure is the amount of force required to circulate the blood through the body. When blood pressure is read, the top number (systolic) measures the force of the heartbeat pushing blood from the heart into the vessels. The bottom number (diastolic) measures the pressure of the blood against the vessel walls when the heart is relaxing between beats.

Approximately 300,000 Americans each year succumb to fatal heart attacks, strokes and kidney failure, caused by high blood pressure. These debilitating effects result also in loss of personal function and increased medical costs Prevention by early detection and treatment can greatly reduce these social and personal costs

F.A. (Mike) Jones, 4th Congressional Republican Chairman, revealed the resolutions passed at the last district meeting held May 14 in Battle Creek First, the group passed a resolution "urging Governor William Milliken to seek election in 1978 to either the Senate or the Governor's office His competency, insight and integrity are greatly needed in government today"

Congressman Dave Stockman Reports

Extensive Hearings on Energy Package Now Complete

The day after President Carter outlined his National Energy Program before the Congress and the American people, the Subcommittee on Energy and Power got down to work We met every day for three solid weeks sifting through those sections of the plan that fell within our purview We heard hundreds of witnesses testify for and against various aspects of the President's plan

Some of the less popular proposals such as the gasoline tax and the tax on larger family cars have come under heavy attack . . . and rightfully so But lost in the barrage of criticism are some very worthwhile measures that if implemented, could actually save the consumer money as well as save energy for the country

Our investigation into proposed residential conservation programs demonstrated potential for significant energy savings We found clear evidence that if consumers undertook proper insulation measures, they could save up to 30% on their annual heating bills and that within three years the costs of insultation could be recouped in the form of lower fuel costs. The hearings zeroed in on how much insulation would be enough and what role the utility companies should play in encouraging fuel conservation.

We also investigated the feasibility of adjusting electricity rates the same way telephone rates vary from peak to non-peak hours. Off-peak usage would cost less and, according to many who testified, would more even consumption and consequently reduce the need for costly new electricity generators

Minimum efficiency standards for appliances, from refrigerators to hair dryers, were researched

Proposals for coal conversion absorbed a great deal of the Subcommittee's attention over the past three weeks We focused on potential savings which would be realized by encouraging industrial and utility users to convert from natural gas to coal As a by-product, conversion would save the limited supplies of natural gas that we do have so that residential users won't be faced with threats of gas cutoffs similar to last winter.

The energy plan now goes to 'mark up' within the subcommittee. It is here that the changes and recommendations based on our hearings will be incorporated into the energy package. The resulting plan wil then go to full Committee (Interstate and Foreign Commerce) and then, finally, the floor of the House

There are some rough spots and gaps in the President's program, however. Not enough emphasis has been placed on encouraging energy production. Conservation without increased production only postpones the inevitable. If we are to cut to the heart of the problem, our sword must be double-edged: conservation and

Otterbacher introduces seat belt bill

Senator John R Otterbacher (D-Grand Rapids) introduced a bill that would require installation of seat belts on all school buses operating in Michigan

Otterbacher said passage of his proposal could help to make school bus transportation safer.

"At the present time no state mandates seat belts on school buses In addition the federal government has failed to develop safety standards or guidelines in this area."

Otterbacher said, "Statistics measuring the use of seat belts by persons involved in traffic mishaps show a dramatic drop in fatalities and serious injuries, when compared to accidents that involve individuals not wearing safety belts. I believe we owe it to our school aged children to provide them with the best safety regulations and equipment available." Otterbacher continued, "They could be taught how to fasten the belts as part of their safety education course. In turn drivers would be instructed not to proceed on their runs until everyone buckled up."

The Grand Rapids Democrat pointed to a recent school bus accident in Oakland County that killed one child and seriously injured four others.

"If these kids had been wearing safety belts they

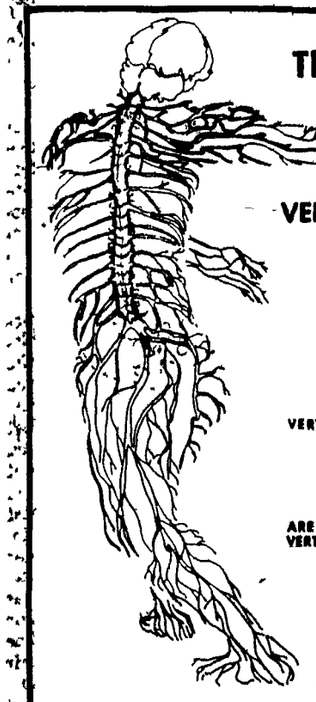
THE SILENT KILLER



VERTEBRAL SUBLUXATION
(A HARD BONE ON A SOFT NERVE!)
A killer of millions of people yearly as a basic cause of the "failure diseases" such as
• failure to control nervous tension
• failure to deliver a baby properly
• muscle function failure
• digestive failure
• failure of any organ to function properly
VERTEBRAL SUBLUXATION is a condition in which nerve control is lost or blocked between the brain control centers and the organs by a small displacement of the spinal bones, causing organ failure
ARE YOU A VICTIM OF VERTEBRAL SUBLUXATIONS?
Only a chiropractor is trained to detect and eliminate vertebral subluxations We call them silent killers because they cause no pain, generally, nor do they produce any obvious sign of their presence Only a careful chiropractic examination will reveal them And yet, they silently eat away at your life and well being...until it is too late
