And so it was the passing of our old friend, Jerome Seabast... The writer believes that many of his friends will join in these farewell words...

And farmers have willingly shouldered that responsibility. Will spends extra hours in his cornfield... From where I sit, America can be mighty grateful for her five million farmers...

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Will's Proud of His Big Ears

Will Dudley's mighty proud of his big ears! Best crop of corn he's grown since '38. And Will, like so many other farmers, has plenty of reason to be proud of what he raises.

From where I sit, America can be mighty grateful for her five million farmers. For their productivity, hard work, and temperate living—of which Will's moderate glass of beer is proof!

No, it hasn't always been easy, here of late, to be absolutely sure just which way automobile design was heading. So it's a refreshing thing, people tell us, to see one car that quite clearly knows where it's going — and shows it inside and out.

Board Sets Dates Rural Youth Fair For Sept. 15-19

Dates for the 1948 Berrien County Rural Youth Fair were set for Sept. 15 to 19 by the directors of the Berrien County Youth Fair Association, Inc., at a meeting in the Berrien Springs high school last night.

The decision on the fair dates was left to the directors at the annual meeting recently when the membership was almost evenly divided between holding the fair in mid-August and holding it after the start of the fall school term. The directors also studied a proposed layout of the fair grounds. The matter was referred to the buildings and grounds committee for estimates on building costs. The committee also is expected to report at the next board meeting on the type and number of buildings that should be erected in time for this year's exhibition.

President J. Burton Richards announced his appointment of fair committee chairmen as follows: Entertainment, John Pheil, Niles, concessions, Russell Pheil, Niles, buildings and grounds, Howard Westfall, Berrien Springs, exhibits, Ellis May, Buchanan; finance, Lester Lyons, Buchanan; fair catalogue, T. Edward Johnson, Three Oaks, and publicity, Jerry Krieger, Benton Harbor. Full committee appointments are to be announced at the next board meeting, Tuesday, Feb. 17.

Livestock Men Worry Over High Prices of Meat

By George Brown, Head Of Animal Husbandry Dept. Of Mich. State

Too many people look upon current prices for livestock and livestock products as a matter of grave concern only to the consumer of these foods. This, however, is far from the complete facts. The American farmer and producer of livestock products is even more concerned about the prices of these foods and especially the replacement costs of animals to put in his feed-lot when those now on feed are marketed. Another serious worry of the producer is the cost of feed. In many cases the cost of concentrates alone is not returned by current prices to say nothing of the cost of labor, use of equipment and risk involved in handling livestock. It is little wonder, therefore, that livestock numbers are being reduced by people who are taking advantage of the current prices and turning their lands over to the production of grain, which is in such great demand for export to Europe. You cannot question the motives of a man who is going all-out for crop production as much as he is trying to meet the situation immediately before you. You can, however, question with good cause the judgment of any man who gets too far away from a good system of crop rotation and the maintenance of adequate numbers of livestock to consume all of the roughages produced on the farm and utilize pasture lands to the fullest extent possible. While there is unquestionably urgent need for cereal grains to ship to Europe, we should not lose sight of the fact that 60 percent of all feed utilized by livestock is hay and pasture, with only 40 percent of their feed consumed from grain and concentrates. It seems quite probable that livestock numbers will be reduced to a point where we will not have a sufficient amount to utilize this hay and pasture, and thus our over-all food supply may be reduced even though we have large amounts of cereal grains on hand.

Another factor in the situation which should be carefully considered by every farmer is the fact that we are now producing annually than we were during the thirties when we accumulated burdensome surpluses. Fortunately, we were able to consume this large surplus by feeding it to livestock. Normally livestock provides us a market for at least 80 percent of all grain produced. A return to anywhere near normal grain production in Europe will mean that we must again depend upon livestock to consume our surpluses as there would be little, if any, export demand. Every livestock farmer should, therefore, give careful consideration to the maintenance, first of sufficient animals to provide a remunerative market for his pasture land, second, to utilize his leguminous roughages which should be a part of every careful farming plan and also the roughages which are a by-product of cereal production, and third, he should have sufficient livestock which would be necessary to consume the surplus of cereals which is bound to arise in the not too distant future.

Dr. Harold H. Siegel Optometrist Examination of The Eye Emergency Lens Repair Service 104 1/2 N 2nd St NILES, MICHIGAN Tel. 297 Hours: 9-12, 1-5-30 Closed Wednesday Afternoons

Many factors point to a future decline in meat supplies. Sheep numbers are at the lowest point in nearly a hundred years. Hog numbers are lower than they have been for several years. Beef cattle are being marketed in larger numbers than they were last year, with female stock making up a much larger proportion of the total than has been the case for several years. All of which points to the fact that livestock products will remain scarce for some time and relatively high in price. A normal gain crop in Europe would mean that we would again have to depend upon livestock as a market for our grain, and every American producer should ask himself, "Will I have the livestock when that time comes?" It has often been said that the wise man is he who is doing the opposite of the majority, and it really seems today that the majority of the people are reducing their livestock numbers altogether too far.

It would seem, therefore, good judgement for every man to make a careful appraisal of his farm situation not only for today but for the days and years immediately ahead with the idea of either maintaining, producing or acquiring livestock to make maximum use of his pasture, roughage and a considerable part of the future grain crops in order that the over-all production of food supplies for the American public may be safeguarded. Unless the American farmer can and is producing the livestock products demanded by the public, they are bound to be imported from other countries and thus we may lose our own markets.

Naval Stores Volume The naval stores industry represents an annual income to Georgia varying from a low of $7,500,000 in 1932 to as much as $23,500,000 in 1945. It annually employs about 20,000 to 25,000 people who work approximately 40,000,000 longleaf and slash pine acres yearly.

Travelogue Shown
At Family Night
In Lutheran Church
The members of St Paul's Lutheran congregation celebrated a family evening, last Wednesday at the church.
The program was highlighted by a travelogue given by F. W.
Burger, a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Niles. Mr Burger gave the audience an interesting account, supplemented by colored slides, of a trip made by him and Mrs. Berger to Florida last winter.
Of special interest were pictures of winter resort homes of many famous people, citrus groves, wildlife, both animal and natural, the sponge industry, the cypress swamps, the natural and man-made beauty of many of the cities of the state, and other notable and interesting sights.
A luncheon and get-together of members and friends followed Mr Burger's fine presentation.

Maurice L. Ihrie Dies in Florida
Word was received here Wednesday of last week of the death that morning of Maurice Ihrie, a resident and business man in Buchanan for a number of years.
Mr. Ihrie and his family came to Buchanan from Kendallville, Ind. He conducted a photographic studio in the duplex house at 117 North Oak street. Then they were engaged in the grocery business first where the Princess Ice Cream parlor now is, then in the quarters of the present Claude McGowan grocery at 412 W. Front street, and last in their home at 117 Oak street.
They went to Florida during the middle thirties, engaging in the restaurant business at Bradenton. About four years ago they ceased that business and for a time during the latter years of World War II, he was in charge of a military store at one of the Florida army posts.
He had been in ill health for about three years, but was believed to be much better. Bick Smith, who is now at Bradenton, had telephoned to his son, Tad Smith, that he and Ihrie planned to go fishing on the Monday which preceded his death.
He is survived by his widow, by a daughter, Miss Gwendolyn Williams, by a grandson, Tommy Williams of Tampa by several brothers living in Kendallville, Ind.

Besides the daughter, Mr. Shrader leaves two sons, Victor, of Crivitz and Ora of LaPorte, Ind., two sisters, Mrs. Frank Froeming of Hutchinson, Minn., and Mrs. Ida Johnson of Lebanon, Ore., and a brother, Frank, St. Paul, Minn.

Rev. M. Martin's Church At Piqua, O., Is Damaged by Fire
A recent issue of the Christian Standard, a publication of the church of that denomination at Piqua, Ohio, on the morning of Sunday, Feb. 1.
The story will be of interest here as Rev. M. M. Martin, until recently pastor here, is now in charge of that church. The flames were mainly confined to the church auditorium and the basement underneath it, including the pews, pipe organ and church public address system. The walls, roof and adjoining Sunday school annex were not severely damaged.
Evidence of fire was first seen at 9 a. m., a half hour before Sunday school opened, by two women church workers, who rushed to the nearby parsonage and told Rev. and Mrs. Martin that the church was full of smoke. They called the fire department and then ran to the church, just in time to see the flames burst through the floor into the auditorium from the basement. The damage was more extensive than might have been because of the failure of the fire department to get water from nearby hydrants, so that they had only chemicals to fight it for some time.
The damage is estimated at $25,000, most of which is covered by insurance.

A Valentine for Mother!

Such a grubby little valentine—no lace, no satin, no pretty poem! Butch made it himself, scribbled the message, pasted it crookedly together—it didn't cost much, but what a lift it gives a Mother's heart!

And when Mother struggles with her budget, she can't help noticing that electricity is just about the smallest item. While the cost of nearly everything else went up, the price of electricity came down—AND STAYED DOWN. Maybe you don't know it, but the average family now gets TWICE AS MUCH ELECTRICITY for its dollar as it did 20 years ago.

No, it isn't cost alone that counts. It's what a thing does for you. Like electricity, for instance. Dependable electric service is Mother's 365-days-a-year valentine—ready, all the time to lift the burden of home-making, ready to make life easier and happier for her.

Yes, electricity—like Butch's valentine—does a lot for a little!
