Now Here's the Proposition

Uncle Hank of Hills Corners sez.

It don't take many facts to form an opinion on if you want to form the opinion bad enuff

Give a woman driver and a rattling tongue plenty of room

Jim Achenbottom, the well-known Clark street Democrat, says he's so glad Jim Reed is a Republican it proves that there ain't a good guy on that side of the fence

A town needs cooperation just as much as a football team does—and you know what happens when the center is so mad at the quarterback he won't give him the ball

We take this here occasion to announce that our old friend, Hank of Hills Corners, has been released to civilian life by the Army for some reason or other and is now back at Hills Corners and we more or less sincerely hope you won't mind too much

Hank had been in military service for the duration and afterward until somebody noticed he was there and got rid of him. He served with other heroes in the Grand Army of the Potomac, like, at Washington, D. C., where he held an important position with the O-W-M (Office of War Misinformation) and wears as insignia several stars won at the battles of the Bronx, of Newark, N. J., and Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Asked for a statement on his impressions of the home front he released the following

You're Going To See More Of Me Now

Not a Chinaman's chance of my buying more pants

But I just adore wearing old clothes

For the white of the hide where the holes have grown wide

Soon mellow to gold and old rose

So, the fashions outgrew from the '36 mode

I gleefully drag from the shelf, It's either wear them, or, if not, then—ahem!

You're going to see more of myself

Ezra W. Clark Is Included In Latest Who's Who Edition

Sen. Vandenberg Supports Knight Stamp Campaign

Michigan Senator Writes To Hannegan — How About More Letters?

Rex Lamb, who has been carrying on a one-man campaign for the Jack Knight memorial stamp, recently received a letter from Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg with a copy of the letter which he had written at Mr. Lamb's request.

April 15, 1946
Honorable Robert E. Hannegan,
Postmaster General,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Postmaster General: I want to endorse the proposal that has been made to you by the "Jack Knight Air Mail Society" of Brookfield, Ill., that a Jack Knight commemorative stamp be issued memorializing the 25th anniversary of the heroically successful air mail flight which occurred on the night of Feb. 22-23, 1921, and which was the forerunner of coast-to-coast air mail delivery. It seems to me that the event is a vitally important one on the calendar of the Post Office Department and that this emphasis might well be put on this momentous event.

My personal interest in the match stems from the fact that Buchanan is the home town of Captain Jack Knight, who, as you know, was one of the most famous of our aerial pilot-pioneers. The Captain's mother still lives in Buchanan. The people of Buchanan are proudly interested in this request. I shall personally appreciate any consideration it may receive.

With warm personal regards and
Cordially and faithfully,
Arthur H. Vandenberg

Wayne Castle Buys Jewelry And Gift Shop From K. Morat

An advertisement elsewhere in this issue announces the purchase and possession of the former Sander's Jewelry & Gift Shop by Wayne C. Castle of South Bend, buying from Karl Morat.

Mr. Castle took over the store Wednesday of this week. He is an experienced jeweler and watch and clock repairer, having had thirteen years of experience in Mishawaka, and later in South Bend as an employee of Joe, the Jeweler.

He states that he expects to continue both the jewelry and gift departments, but will considerably enlarge the business as soon as stocks and materials are available. He expects to specialize in watch, clock and jewelry repair work. The firm name has been changed to "Castle Jewelry and Gift Shop."

Mrs. Castle, wife of the new proprietor, is the former Lena Koenigshtof, daughter of the late Fred Koenigshtof, and a long-time resident of the Buchanan community before entering employment in South Bend. Consequently they have a wide acquaintance here.

SINCE WE ARE NEIGHBORS

As the Record goes to press this week, the Buchanan community is experiencing its first organized stoppage of work during seventy-five years of industrial history.

Although legally organized as a "city," this community is still in the "neighborhood town" class. The parties to each side of the misunderstanding are our neighbors, whom we meet very often, in social, fraternal, religious or other affairs or in incidental contact on the streets. Our houses are adjacent, and our back yards join. Our children play together at school and at home. And we're going to remain neighbors and fellow townsmen.

We of the Public who form the third party in the situation may remain neutral but we cannot be oblivious, since we are too close to those involved not to be affected by what happens to them. The proceedings have taken an orderly and considerate course to date. We sincerely hope that, while they continue, they will keep in that course, and that every possible effort will be made to arrive at a satisfactory understanding.

The matter of $600,000 in wages per month flows into the business channels of the Buchanan and Berrien Springs communities during normal employment; forming the economic basis of the community life. The stoppage of this flow of economic life blood is as serious to the economic body of the community as a circulatory stoppage in a physical body—it means stagnation, growing worse each day it lasts. May it soon end, and to the utmost possible extent let us remain friends.

Stage Campaign For Health Dept. In Berrien County

Mrs. E. C. Witwer, of Niles, chairman of the Berrien County Council on Public Health, announced at a recent meeting of the Council that the plans for the establishment of a County Health Department are proceeding according to schedule. The meeting was held at the Berrien High school April 17.

"If the voters of Berrien county want a health department, we will establish it." This has been told to members of the Health Council by members of the Board of Supervisors. In order that the supervisors may know how the voters think on this matter, petitions and resolutions are being signed, and sent to the supervisors. Thirty-seven major organizations in the county have already approved the health department plan. To date approximately 2,000 persons have signed petitions and in the next few days 100 other organizations will be asked to consider the plan.

The speakers bureau of the Health Council has furnished speakers for 40 meetings thus far and many more speakers will be heard before May 27, when the supervisors are to vote on the Health Department plan. A committee of 100 residents and voters of Berrien County are now working on the establishment of this health department. More workers are needed. Persons wishing to help should write or call Mrs. E. C. Witwer, Niles, Michigan. Business men in the county are writing letters to their supervisors on their business letterheads. Copies of all letters should be sent to Mrs. Witwer, Niles, Michigan.

Workers Buchanan, Berrien Springs Clark Plants Strike On Wage Issue

At 9:01 a. m. last Friday shop employees of the Buchanan and Berrien Springs plants left the plants on strike, following a breakdown of negotiations on wages, the proudest day.

Picketing at all approaches to both plants was immediately begun by U. A. W. C. I. O. and has continued in orderly fashion. On Monday management and union representatives met in Niles and agreed that the following classifications of employees should be permitted to enter the plants without protest: company officials, maintenance, office employees, plant superintendents, part of production control force, engineers, tool designers.

The union had asked for a blanket wage increase of 18 1/2 cents an hour for all shop employees. The company offered an increase of fifteen cents an hour. The positions of the principals in the negotiations are given below.

Company Statement

The following notice was placed on all plant bulletin boards following the breakdown of negotiations.

Notice to Buchanan Employees

The Management of the Company has just come from a meeting with the bargaining committee and some International Representatives.

After spending several hours considering a wage increase for the Buchanan and Berrien Springs plants, the Management made an offer of 15 cents per hour across the board to all hourly-paid employees.

This offer was flatly rejected by the officials of the International, with very little comment or bargaining on the part of the local committee.

According to a statement made by the International Representative, "you are to go on strike at 9:01 tomorrow morning, if demand being 18 cents or nothing."

This is most unfortunate. We have been operating at a heavy loss for the first three months this year, and are offering this 15-cent per hour increase without any assurance that we will be able to get the full amount of this increase for our products. You are going on strike for three cents an hour and take a chance of losing between $50 and $70 a week for every week you strike.

Dr. E. T. Elliott Gives Last Sermon To Full Auditorium

"When two men meet face to face as enemies, then there is always a third enemy present which is the spirit of enmity itself," said Dr. Eliot T. Elliott, speaking at the Good Friday services which terminated the regular Holy Week services held at the Evangelical church last week.

Dr. Elliott spoke to an audience that practically filled the auditorium of the Evangelical church Friday afternoon, perhaps the largest Holy Week audience seen in Buchanan for many years, and his previous evening meetings were characterized by good attendance.

Lee F. Pierce Home From Navy To Dad's Bedside

Lee Frost Pierce arrived home from Pacific naval service on a recent date, called by the illness of his father, W. L. Pierce. The following release from the naval public relations service details the story of how he was sped on his way.

U.S.S. Sitkoh Bay (CVE86) As an example of what the Navy will do for its men in case of an emergency, it cites the role of the U.S.S. Sitkoh Bay played in bringing a man who was granted emergency leave back to the United States because of his father's illness.

On one of our operational cruises carrying planes and passengers from the Hawaiian Islands, the Sitkoh Bay received a despatch directing us to rendezvous with PCE 895 to pick up L. F. Pierce, MOMM 1/C, USN, USN skipper, James P. Walker, USN, of Forest City, Penn., immediately complied and headed for the small craft acting as plane guard midway between Pearl Harbor and San Diego, Calif.

In the meantime we had obtained voice communications with them to inquire as to their need of special supplies, since they had set out for quite some time. It seemed that in crew, bread and reading materials were the extent of their desires, so we prepared everything in abundance—much to the crew's delight. The meeting was effected on time, and we received Pierce on board via beehives-boat despite the adverse weather conditions.

After coming on board, transportation by air was arranged for him through to Chicago by official channels. His immediate return home was assisted by the Navy's persistent interest in their men.

Berrien USDA Points To Record Hunger In World

Advise 6-Point Program To Conserve Food In Homes

The Berrien County USDA council reminded residents of the Buchanan area today that millions of persons in Europe and Asia are being starved in the face of starvation, the scope of which has never before been equalled in the history of the world.

To back President Truman's determined effort to sustain these millions until they can harvest their first post-war crops later this summer, the council offered a 6-point program by which farms and urban families alike in this area can help to conserve food and help produce more food.

The six-point program is as follows:
1. Save food in your home. Don't throw 15 cents of each food dollar in your garbage can.
2. Save all household fats. Use and re-use, then deliver all waste fats to your butcher.
3. Use one less slice of bread per day per individual. Take a potato instead, if you need the starch.
4. Continue your Victory garden.
5. Save feed. Cull the non-payers out of your poultry and livestock.
6. Increase farm production, or keep it at war time high.

Council Chairman Martin H. Kuechman asked that each family in this area follow as many of the points as apply to its household. "If by following one or more of these simple rules, we can help prevent widespread death from starvation in the war-torn countries, it is a moral obligation that we conserve food and feed and produce more food," said Mr. Kuechman.

The council chairman pointed out surveys have shown that the average American household throws 15 per cent of its food into the garbage can. With a little care much of this waste could and should be avoided at this time when the peoples of these other lands need every bit of food we can spare them, he added.

The suggestion that each individual use one less slice of bread per day has been instituted in many other areas throughout the United States. Flour, together with fats and oils, are particularly scarce at this time and are vital in the shipments being made in the battle against starvation.

Farm and city families were advised not to give up Victory gardens this year. Immense quantities of food were produced in American Victory gardens during the war, the council pointed out, and this added source of supply is as vital now as it was during the war.

Dr. E. T. Elliott Is Speaker At HS Easter Program

Tells Students Sportsmanship Embodies Practical Christianity

Easter convocation exercises at the Buchanan high school at 10 a. m. Thursday were marked by an address by Dr. E. T. Elliott, speaker at the inter-church Holy Week program here.

Chairman of the exercises was Gene Wesner, president of the Buchanan high school student council. He introduced Rev. Malcolm McNeal, who in turn introduced the speaker.

Paraphrasing the Golden Rule in the popular slogan, "Be a good sport," Dr. Elliott said that the slogan of the athletic world comprised, if thoroughly practiced, the essence of the Christian religion. He urged the students to carry that spirit of athletics into other affairs as they went into the world.

The sport world, he said, had set standards that are urgently needed in the general realm of adult affairs. American sports have combined a keen spirit of competition with co-operation and fair play of a very high order. That spirit, he said, should be carried on into the life of the nation.

He especially emphasized the need of the good sport attitude in our relations with minority groups and particularly in the interracial field. We need, he said, to be fellow-workers, not haters of other people, and particularly in America we are not to be haters of other races.

If the 400 students who sat in the audience that morning should constitute themselves active propagandists of good will between races, determined on fair play, they would constitute a power competent to block any campaign of race hatred, not only in Buchanan but in this entire section.

We have something yet to learn in good sportsmanship, he said, from other peoples and particularly from the English. Eviding of players on opposing teams is never heard in an English sports audience, he said, and the rule is for the entire audience to cheer good players regardless of which side makes them.

Student Council Advisory Body In School Affairs

3-Year-Old Organization Grows Gradually In Self-Government

The Buchanan High school has had for the past three years a student council elected by the students, but it is likely that most of the public know as little about its actual functions as did the writer, until he very recently looked into the matter.

The writer had believed vaguely that the Buchanan High School student council was some sort of venture in student self-government. It might have been that, for in many high schools it is designated to that end. About 15 years ago the high school here had a student council which, we believe, was an experiment in student self-government.

But it seems that the present student council has a very different, though quite practical capacity—it pipelines student gripes on things in general to school management, and general policies on school management back to the students, while serving in a rather broad field as an advisory council and in a quite limited field as an progressive experiment in gradual self-government.

The present council is a liaison body between faculty and students, advising the faculty management, what the students want, or their reactions to management policy, and in turn carrying school policy to the students. This is no contrivance of the actual meaning of the word "council," which is akin in origin to the word "consult" and is more often applied to a deliberative or advisory body than to an executive body.

At the Buchanan high school the main function of the student council seems to be to help in the administration—rather than to administer. It is a very important sense it seems also an attempt to educate the students in the nature of school problems and in their solution. It is also felt that after a time such education may increase the capacity of the students for more direct self-administration.

The council was organized three years ago by Principal Pierre T. Bailey, with the idea that progress toward a degree of self-government should be gradual. The character of the specific problems it has taken up may aid in understanding its place in the school here are some of them.

It draws up the yearly schedule of class and school events in order to avoid conflicts.

It has promoted a yearly amateur show in order to discover resources of school talent willing to appear before the student body in assembly programs.

It is responsible for nominating and electing the cheer leaders.

It has made up the Buchanan high school handbook.

It is responsible through appointed committees for seeing that the auditorium stage is in order and set up for assembly or other programs, although this responsibility does not include stage decoration for plays and like events.

A group from the student council is responsible for the operation of the school audio-visual equipment, including the movie projector and attendant paraphernalia. In this case a manager was named—Curtis Morelock, who appointed three helpers, Phil Hawks, Bill Blake and Jack Hemminger.

It has laid down an order of class procedure to make sure that the class governments are truly democratic rather than government by a small group in semi-private sessions.

The Council meets each Tuesday for a 55-minute period, the hour being changed each week so that no single class may be missed in consecutive meetings.

The officers are selected annually in elections which are in charge of the high school government class. Voting booths are set up in the halls and the polls are administered very much as any election is in the adult world, with the secret ballot and adequate checks against multiple voting by any individual. Candidates must be nominated by petition, it being required that any candidate engaged must have on his petition not less than ten per cent of the student body.

In addition to the officers of the general student body, the council includes two representatives from each class, and the president of each class may attend without the power to vote. The officers this year are:

Corp. Annabelle B. Herman, USMCWR, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Heiman, McCumber street, and Master Gunnery Sgt. Dominick Magallo, USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Magallo, of 1227 Fairview avenue, Berkeley, Calif., were united in marriage Feb. 10, 1946, in Reno, Nev. The double ring service was read by Rev. J. R. Eckelberger.

The bridal party wore full dress uniforms. The attendants were Pfc. Geraldine C. Bower, USMCWR, of Denver, Colo., and Master Sgt. Harold S. Lange, USMC, of Cottonwood, N. D. The bride wore a corsage of white orchids.

The bride was graduated from Buchanan high school in 1943 and was employed in the Clark Equipment company plant before enlisting in the Marine Corps in April, 1944. She received her boot training at Camp Lejeune, N. C., and in July was sent to San Francisco, where she is a personnel clerk in the Tank and LVT section of the Ordnance division. She plans to remain there until the Women's Reserve Corps is demobilized in September.

M/Sgt. Magallo, who will complete his six years enlistment in the Marines Aug. 26, has served overseas 48 months and participated in nine major battles. He is now attached to the Marine Detachment, USS Northampton, 4th Regiment, 1st Brigade, as an instructor at the Sea School, San Diego before entering the service. He was assistant pro at the University City golf club in University City, Mo.

Dr. Leeder pointed out that the state and federal contributions to the operation of the health unit would defray approximately $13,500 of the total $36,230 expense, leaving a net cost to the county of $22,730.

Mrs. Edwin C. Wilwer, head of the County Council on Public Health, presided at the meeting. Key personnel of the health unit as outlined by Dr. Leeder would be a medical director, who would be an M. D., at a salary of $6,600 a year, a supervisor of nurses at $3,000, and a senior engineer at $3,120.

These salaries are based on present averages throughout the state, Dr. Leeder stated.

HOLLYWOOD

The Hollywood theatre is celebrating its 12th birthday the week of April 25 to May 1, and to make it a joyous occasion, we have booked an outstanding week of smash screen hits. Celebrate with us—plan now to see every one of these outstanding programs.

Thursday - Friday - Saturday, April 25-26-27, finds two smash hits on the Hollywood screen. The first feature will be "Johnny Angel" with George Raft and Signe Hasso. It tells the gripping story of modern piracy, stolen gold, romance, and a son's merciless search for his father's murderers. It's loaded with action from start to finish. The second feature attraction is Charles Starrett as the Durango Kid in "Texas Panhandle" with Spade Cooley, the King of Western Swing. The feature picture contains plenty of action, suspense, comedy relief and tuncful ballads of the range to turn out one of the most entertaining features of this very successful Western series.

Sunday and Monday, April 28-29 "They Were Expensible" with Robert Montgomery, John Wayne, Donna Reed and Jack Holt. Montgomery is seen as Lt. Brickley, commanding a PT Squadron when the Philippines are blockaded after the Pearl Harbor attack. The PT's are ordered to sink a Jap cruiser in Subic Bay. The cruiser is sunk.

but one PT has been sabotaged and is abandoned. They then go off to more and dangerous missions, and finally return to the U. S. to train other PT crew's.

Tuesday and Wednesday, April 30 - May 1, finds two Academy Award Winners on the Hollywood screen—Ray Milland for the best performance of the year, and "Lost Weekend" for the best picture of the year. It is strange—savage—and sensational. It is the picture that dares to bare a man's soul—as it rips five relentless—unforgettable—days—straight from the powerful pages of the sensational—best-seller—that—millions talked about in shocked whispers.

Dennis Pudell Is Badly Injured By Teeth Vicious Dog

Dennis Pudell, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pudell, Walton road, had the left side of his face slashed from eyebrow to chin by the fangs of a pet dog Sunday afternoon at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Harry Massow, Baroda. The boy was treated in Pawating hospital, at Niles. Forty stitches were required to close the wounds.

The incident occurred in the yard at the home of his aunt where four children were playing when the dog lunged in the direction of Dennis' cousin, five-year-old Connie Massow. The girl dodged and the dog landed on the boy and began to slash with its fangs. The child was painfully injured before help could arrive.

Local Men Join Unit Alcoholics Anonymous, S. B.

Former Buchanan Business Man Is Worker In Midwest City

A strong branch of the new organization, Alcoholics Anonymous, has been formed in South Bend and a number of Buchanan people who wish to end the drink habit have enrolled in it, according to a Buchanan informant, who states that the nature of the organization prohibits publication of membership. The work of the organization was testified by a recent reprint in the Berrien County Record of the results achieved in Detroit. A former Buchanan business man who broke the drink habit by means of association with Alcoholics Anonymous, and who is now actively working in a midwestern city in aiding others to achieve freedom from alcoholism, talked recently with the writer about it. The organization draws heavily on the aid of religion, medicine and psychology, he stated, but its success is due to the fact that the contact with the drink victim is not made by an "outsider," but by one who has been through the mill and knows the difficulties of reform from first hand experience. It is typical of the addict attempting to secure his freedom that he may go for a long time without a drink, but almost invariably there are times of crisis when the appetite returns with almost compulsory force. Since the habit often has its roots in other personal problems and difficulties, its recurrence follows the periods of crisis in such difficulties. The advantage of association with Alcoholics Anonymous is that the membership is pledged to immediately aid any fellow member who calls, regardless of the time or the circumstances. The man who is fighting off the habit knows that he has this support available from understanding men. "I've gone at a minute's notice to a fellow's home, at any hour of the day or night, and stayed with him until I saw him out. If he can get that kind of support, the former addict can usually pull through, but without it he is almost sure to cave in," said the former Buchananite. "Tell them something about this in your paper when you can. We're really got something." One difficulty has been that any non-alcoholic, whether clergyman, doctor, or whatever he may be, has been unable to transmit his ideas effectively enough in the crisis. It is the fellow at his elbow who has won the fight himself that can give best aid, as a rule. "The alcoholic responds to him because he thinks he knows the score," as he speaks out of a common experience. "The doctor will not let the clergyman or physician build the bridge of understanding necessary for success. But once this bridge of understanding is built, the wisdom of the men of religion and science can cross over it and bring further reinforcement. Says one former alcoholic now actively working in Alcoholics Anonymous: "Doctors and clergymen seem to be in surprising agreement. The doctor says, 'The alcoholic needs a personality change.' The minister says, 'The alcoholic needs a change of heart, a spiritual awakening.' The doctor says, 'The patient ought to be analyzed and should make a full and honest mental catharsis.' The minister says, 'The alcoholic should make an examination of his conscience—or a moral inventory and a frank discussion.' The doctor says, 'Serious personality defects must be cured through an accurate self-knowledge and realistic adjustment to life.' The minister says, 'Character defects (sins) can be eliminated by acquiring more honesty, humility, unselfishness, tolerance, generosity, love, etc.' The doctor says, 'The alcoholic neurotic retreats from life, is a picture of anxiety and abnormal self-concern. He withdraws from the herd.' The minister says, 'The alcoholic's basic trouble is self-centeredness filled with fear and self-seeking, he has forgotten the 'Brotherhood of Man.' The doctor says, 'The alcoholic must have a new compelling interest in life, must get back into the herd, find an interesting occupation, join clubs, social activities, political parties, or discover hobbies to take the place of alcohol.' The minister says, 'The alcoholic should learn the expulsive power of a new affection, love of serving man, of serving God. He should lose his life to find it, he should join the church and there find self-fulfillment in service. For 'faith without works is dead.' This medicine and religion are in accord to an extent, but in one thing they differ. When the doctor has shown the alcoholic his underlying difficulties and prescribed a program of readjustment, he stays to him. 'Now that you understand what is necessary for recovery, you should no longer depend on me. You must depend on yourself. YOU GO DO IT.' The object of the doctor then is to make the patient self-sufficient and largely if not wholly dependent on himself. Religion does not attempt this. It says, 'Faith in self is not enough, even for an alcoholic.' He must find and depend on a higher power. By this means he discovers strength beyond his own resources." In Alcoholics Anonymous the man may try either method. He sometimes eliminates the spiritual angle, and relies wholly on honesty, tolerance and working with others. But it is curious to note that faith always comes to those who try this simple approach with an open mind—and in the meantime they say so. The spiritual content is actively denied, they can seldom remain dry. So Alcoholics Anonymous stresses—the spiritual—because thousands of them have found they cannot get along without it. Thus medicine and religion furnish the principles of recovery. Actually A. A. has added only a little—the power to transmit these principles to the man who is in trouble, and to impart an effect of and compelling interest in life. This interest which A. A. gives is the responsibility, as the addict recovers, to help the other fellow win a similar victory. Each new member, no matter how far down he has been, is given a field to work in—to bring hope and faith to other alcoholics who have abandoned both.
