Clark Equipment to Hold Exhibition New Equipment in Lab. Friday

Bldg. Open To All 9 A.M.-9 P.M. Friday, Aug. 15

Exhibit To Demonstrate Advance Engineering Work At Clark's

You, the average reader, have lived for some years in this community but do you really know what they make at the Clark Equipment company plants...

Or perhaps you work there, and know what they make in your department but do you know what they make in other departments...

Yet that production is significant to the entire world both in war and peace, and a basic knowledge of its nature should be a part of the education of the community...

The company will be hosts to this and neighboring communities from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Friday, August 15, at a comprehensive and beautiful display of all of the basic production of all the plants...

There is still more magic in the experimental laboratory beginning at the west door and occupying most of the building...

A giant lift truck designed to handle outdoor material will hoist or lower 6,000-pound loads. There is that familiar but revised caulk...

Oppose Method Of Procedure

Ask Mature Consideration As In Neighboring Cities

At a special meeting of the Buchanan Business Association held by request of members Monday evening a resolution was passed asking that the city commission withhold action on the installation of parking meters...

The resolution stated in part: "It is not the sense of the Association that it is opposed to parking meters, but it is the sense and desire of the association and its membership to best serve the wishes of the public, and that to that end the public who will be most affected thereby should be interviewed..."

Considerations which entered into the action of the association were the following:

1. Action on installation of parking meters in Buchanan was decided on with no notice at all, the community in general being unaware that the action was even being considered until after the contract had been approved

2. In the selection of type of meter only one type was considered and only one meter-manufacturing company representative appeared before the commission

3. In other communities, notably in Niles, the city governing body had the assurance of the support of the majority of business men and industries before action was taken...

The city of South Bend has been studying the matter of installation of parking meters for nearly two years, during which time the Association of Commerce has cooperated with the city government in polling business and industries, and in gathering an extensive file of information on the experience of cities of the size of South Bend all over the United States

The association is confident that the city commission acted in good faith, and, in their own opinion, in the best interests of their constituents, but the association reserves the right to disagree on the policy of the procedure, since the action is important

3. The members of the association are heartily in accord with the enforcement of limited parking in the business district, on themselves as well as on all others...

4. It may be true that the meters may be installed and paid for from intake, without preliminary cash outlay by the city. However the total cost approaches $15,000 and will be paid for in great part by the local shopping public

5. The work has been started and by Friday the construction of the 16x24 stockade-type log building will be started...

North From Niles
Highway Commissioner Charles

M. Ziegler said today grading and concrete paving operations are progressing satisfactorily on a 1.7-mile stretch of US-31 north of Niles in Berrien county. Work on the project up to the approaches of the new bridge over Dowagiac creek is expected to be completed approximately Oct. 15.
If final construction on the bridge is not completed by that time, through traffic will be maintained on a temporary structure. Commissioner Ziegler said work on the structure was held up last spring due to flood conditions.

Traffic through Niles is now being detoured east on Pokagen street, thence north on Fifth street to Electric Light road, thence west to US-31. Local traffic is being maintained. Carl Good-

Valuable Fertilizer
Droppings from 100 hens collected in the droppings pits amounts to about two tons a year, representing considerable fertilizing value. Fresh poultry manure contains about 78 per cent moisture, 1 per cent nitrogen, 0.8 per cent phosphoric acid, and 0.5 per cent potash. Superphosphates applied at the rate of 100 pounds per ton of fresh manure will prevent the loss of nitrogen as ammonia.

Poplars, 66 Oilers.
Baseball 9 Wins
2 Games Out Of 3
Poplars "66" Oilers, Buchanan's latest baseball team, reports two wins in three starting games this season. Their first game, a twilight affair, resulted in a 3-2 win over the Berrien Legion. The Oilers scored two runs in the first, and one in the fourth while Bidgman picked up a single tally in the second and fifth. The battery for the Oilers consisted of Dickey and Donley. Hampton and Weber formed the Bidgman battery. Poplars again hit the win column on August 2, meeting with the Berrien Legion. This one was won by the wide margin of 12-2. Tactled by the pitching of Montague and Dickey, the Oilers held the Berrien team to 6 hits and collected 12 on then, own. Berrien Springs stopped the locals on August 9 with a close 3-2 score. Making his first start for the Oilers was Luke, who allowed but three hits in six innings. Poplars failed to come through with the men on board for those needed runs and the box score proved this with a tally of 12 men left on bases. The Oilers return to Berrien Springs this Sunday with a game scheduled for 4 p m.

Huss Family Meet In 30th Reunion
Twenty-five descendants of Mathias and Michael Huss family gathered in Potawatomi Park, South Bend, Sunday for their 30th annual reunion. A basket dinner was served at noon. Andrew Huss, age 84, was the oldest member of the clan present and Margy Ann Heermann, eight-month-old daughter of Mr and Mrs John Heermann, was the youngest. Miss Irma Jean Koch, South Bend, was elected president and Mrs John Heermann named secretary-treasurer. Games and contests provided entertainment. Attending the reunion were members of the family from Kalamazoo, South Bend and Buchanan. The next reunion will be held at the Andrew Huss home on Walton Road. Mathias and Michael Huss came to America in 1850 and settled in Bertrand township. Andrew Huss is the only one left of 10 children born to Mathias Huss and his wife.

Control Of Ragweed Now Possible Says M. S. C. Scientist
Those sneezy hay fever days may be on the way out for some people thanks to experiments by Dr B H Grigsby, Michigan State college botany specialist. During the summer, and fall, many areas in Michigan are covered with a heavy growth of ragweed which produces a large amount of pollen. This pollen is airborne and causes hay fever in 5 to 10% of the population. Ragweed areas, however, usually are found on fallow lands, roadsides, and other uncultivated areas where a cover of vegetation is needed to prevent soil erosion. A program of weed control which reduces the pollen production in these areas and yet retains the soil-holding properties of the native vegetation is desirable. In his experiments, recently reported in the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station Quarterly Bulletin, Dr Grigsby found that 2.4-D fitted the need for this kind of weed control, and could be used at reasonable cost. In the experiments, ragweed was killed by a single application of 2.4-D at a concentration of 1 part of the weed killer to 1,000 parts of water. Pollen production by old plants was stopped, but plants were not immediately killed, by spraying with a concentration of 1 part of weed killer per 2,000 parts water. No pollen was formed at all when plants were sprayed with a 1 part of weed killer per 4,000 parts water at the stage of growth just before flowering. Already, the Muskegon area has declared war on the ragweed. A County Ragweed Control committee was formed recently and has assigned areas to co-operators who will act as district charmen. Garden clubs, parent-teacher associations and other civic groups aiding in the effort to get rid of the ragweed are cooperating.

Clark Equipment To Stage Exhibit On Friday, Aug. 15
There is a farm tractor transmission and axle assembly complete with power take-off and belt pulley. And there are a number of other new designs, but it is now time for the visitor who knows as little of mechanical principles as he does of the theory and practice of atomic fission, to crawl back off the limb. May heaven and the engineers forgive any inadequacies in the foregoing descriptions. The hundreds of mechanically-minded old and young in this community will find plenty to intrigue them. Go and see for yourself. You may find most interesting the assembly of dynamometers for testing equipment. There is in particular a specially-built job made for the company by General Electric. It is unique in its kind in the world, and in this respect it is typical of the care bestowed on Clark production. This is a real educational opportunity and an educational "must" if you wish to understand what goes on in your own community. The time is Friday, August 15, 9 a m to 9 p m. There will be attendants in charge to explain the designs in your own language. The Clark Equipment company cordially invites your presence.

Okch Fin Clipping Legal Size Trout For Second Season
A second season of marking legal-size planted trout by fin clipping has been approved by the conservation commission, and the annual production goal again has been set at 1,000,000 ready-to-catch fish. The 1948 trout will be marked by removal of the adipose or fatty fin - the little fin on the back just ahead of the tail - where 1947 plantings were marked by removal of the big dorsal fin. Fishermen's experience this summer with dorsal-clipped trout is expected to help them note the absence of the smaller fin next season. The markings of planted trout, conservation department fisheries men say, is to enable the man in the stream to see for certain how large a part of his catch is naturally produced wild fish, and how much of it comes from the hatcheries.

Penicillin Aids Scarlet Fever

Use of New Wonder Drugs Halts Complications From Disease.

PHILADELPHIA—Dr. Joseph C. Doane, clinical professor of medicine at Temple University Medical school, declared that penicillin, one of the new wonder drugs, had virtually altered the entire course of scarlet fever. He said that with careful use of penicillin "86 cases of scarlet fever under observation showed the complications—which are many—are practically obliterated."

Dr. Doane said that "the whole course of this disease has been changed by penicillin and streptomycin." He added that with sulfa drugs, the mortality rate of pneumonia was cut to 8 per cent.

Gives Warning

He warned, however, against indiscriminate use of the new wonder drugs. "Many doctors reach for penicillin before they reach for their stethoscopes."

Use of the miracle drugs "as shock drugs" was described by the speaker, who added that while the medical profession has made vast strides in use of these drugs since 1943, there is still much to be learned.

Dr. Harold A. Zintel of University of Pennsylvania hospital declared that penicillin has given the medical profession an entirely new field of therapy.

Dr. Zintel said that penicillin has "pioneered one of the most potent therapeutic agents known. Especially is it valuable in surgery." Sharing medical profession's respect with penicillin, he said, is streptomycin, which "has proved to be a valuable agent in many cases where penicillin and the sulfa drugs have failed."

Dr. Zintel said that a combination of penicillin and streptomycin has been "most effective in the treatment of peritonitis" and the oral use of streptomycin "is highly satisfactory as an agent for reducing the bacteria in the system" prior to operations for intestinal disorders.

Mortality Rate Lowered

Dr. Isadore S. Ravdin, professor of surgery and head of the surgical department of University of Pennsylvania, declared in a prepared paper that cancer of the intestine is no respecter of age.

The disease, he declared, is "very common and while as a rule it seems most frequently to occur in those past 40, it can occur at a very much earlier age."

Dr. Ravdin, in his paper read by Dr. Kendall A. Elsom of University of Pennsylvania hospital, declared that through decompression of the intestines, blood transfusions and the use of drugs, the medical profession has reduced the mortality rate of this disease to a point "where there is less risk to resection of the intestines than there is to operations for a ruptured appendix."

Dr. Ravdin said that the final results of treatment for cancer of this type are good. He added that "50 or more per cent of the patients operated on are alive and well at the end of a five-year period."

New Sawdust Plastic Solves Serious Problem of Salvage

DURHAM, N. H.—A new sawdust plastic has been created at University of New Hampshire which has many uses and promises to solve the problem of salvaging sawdust and wood shavings in lumber operations.

The new product, made by combining green saw dust with resin as a binder, is expected to use every bit of wood waste now lost in the forests when trees are cut down.

It is a low-cost, mass-production product. It can be put in a mold, shaped into whatever article is desired, heat-treated and painted exactly like wood.

580,000 Are Let Out of Navy At Great Lakes in One Year

CHICAGO—Men were discharged from the navy at the Great Lakes naval training center in 1946 at a rate 17 times greater than inductions, headquarters of the 9th naval district reported. The report showed 580,000 discharged and 34,000 inducted into the navy at Great Lakes.

The navy said its conversion to a peacetime basis was virtually completed and the big task ahead of the naval district in 1947 is organization of a reserve training program.

Personnel at Great Lakes decreased from 36,000 in 1945 to 16,500 in 1946.

Dismiss Indictment of Man Who Once Slapped Tojo

TOKYO, JAPAN—The international war crimes tribunal dismissed the indictment against Dr. Shumei Okawa, who started the early days of the trial by slapping Hideki Tojo on the head. The tribunal acted after receiving medical reports that Okawa, who had been on trial in absentia, was incapable of "conducting his defense." Okawa, a wartime propagandist, had been confined to a mental institution under treatment for a brain disease. The judges ordered him kept in custody.

His Tenants Name Him 'Best Landlord'

Tenants Never Sign a Lease; He Sends No Bills.

DOBBS FERRY, N. Y.—The Suchins, some 27 years ago, gave a small party for their first child. The party, as father Harry Suchin, looks back on it today, was what ultimately gave him the informal title of "the best landlord in the world."

"There was some singing—just a little," says the 53-year-old man reflectively, "but in the morning the landlord said there was too much noise and we had to get out."

There's nothing like that in Rosalind Gardens. Rosalind Gardens is a 60-family apartment house high on a Hudson river bank and Suchin, who built it, has been managing it the way he would like to have it managed if he were a tenant instead of the landlord.

One of Suchin's long-time tenants told about the deal. "First, Harry never makes his tenants sign a lease," Lawyer John E. Baker said. "That was true even in the depression days. Harry said he didn't think people should be forced to live where they didn't want to."

"He never sends bills. People just drop into Harry's apartment around the first of the month and pay their rent. In all the 20 years, he's raised rents just once—after the depression eased up."

"Nobody ever asks for, or gets, receipts for anything Harry always has open house and tenants are forever dropping in for a chat and a glass of beer. Mrs. Suchin makes wonderful cookies, too. There's never been anyone evicted from the place, and Harry likes nothing better than families with children."

"All through the years there's been an enormous waiting list—although, of course, that's nothing unusual now. During the depression Harry carried along any number of tenants who lost their jobs and told him they'd have to move because they couldn't pay the rent."

$44,000 in Cash Found in Old Trunk of Woman

COLFAK, WIS.—Mrs. Daniel Murphy, aged widow of a Wisconsin pioneer, died after instructing relatives to be sure to look in an old trunk she had brought with her from Norway when she was 5 years old.

Her brother, George Knutson, 78, finally got around to inspecting the trunk.

In it he found nearly $44,000 in old coins and currency. Nearly $2,000 of the money was in gold coins now out of circulation. The rest was in large, old-style bills which were withdrawn from use years ago.

Poisonous Waste Is Killing Many Fish in Waters of Gulf

CORAL GABLES, FLA.—Untold millions of yellowish microscopic blobs—less than one-thousandth of an inch in length—are sweeping in a lethal yellow tide from the lower Florida keys to Cape Sable in the Gulf of Mexico, leaving millions of dead fish in their wake.

The deadly tide is composed of a previously unknown type of plankton, the poisonous waste from which are killing the fish, Dr. F. G. Walton Smith, University of Miami director of marine laboratory, reported.

Dr. Smith said Miami scientists had concluded that the plankton, which in normal amounts serves as the basic food for all marine life, has always been in the gulf, but that some freak of nature has caused this particular type to reproduce in astronomical numbers.

Caste System in Cemeteries Is Abolished by U. S. Army

WASHINGTON—The army ordered that the caste system be abolished in military cemeteries.

A directive by War Secretary Patterson said no distinction should be made between location of graves of officers and enlisted men in new sections of national cemeteries.

"The policy of providing uniform burial facilities without distinction as to rank or race of deceased veterans will be effected as new sections are laid out," the directive said.

The army said that because of the large number of veterans now entitled to burial in national cemeteries, an expansion of facilities has become necessary. This will be accomplished largely through additions to existing cemeteries.

Check Your Shooting Irons, Theaters Warn Small Fry

MADISON, IND.—Check your shooting irons at the box office, apprehensive theater managers announced.

The return of the cap pistol prompted local theaters to band together and rule that all guns be placed on a special table in the lobby.

Indiana's legislature recently legalized the cap pistol again. It was outlawed along with firecrackers for a number of years.

Collegiate Radio Field Advances

Low-Powered Stations Are Manned by Students in College.

NEW YORK—The glamor of radio has supplanted the austere debating society and chess club as the key extra-curricular activity in 66 progressive campuses. Youthful announcers, engineers, directors and actors in the low-powered broadcasting stations which make up the coast-to-coast Intercollegiate Broadcasting system, with an estimated 125,000 listeners.

Approximately 100 IBS alumni enter the radio profession annually, and the system is looked upon as one of the industry's best proving grounds for talent.

College radio was born 11 years ago at Brown university, where undergraduates George Abraham and David Borst, now IBS executive chairman and technical director, respectively, toyed with the idea of their own intramural broadcast station WBRU, their brain child, today boasts a technical plant comparable to that of many an independent commercial station.

Late Broadcasts

Most of the campus stations broadcast from 7 to 11 in the evening, although many feature wake-up shows and post-midnight programs for all-night crammers.

A typical night's schedule includes news, sports, popular and classical music, drama, comedy and educational shows. Special events coverage is handled to the envy of many a college newspaper.

At WKCR, Columbia, for instance, a wire recorder is used for on-the-scene accounts of spot news happenings and interviews with visiting celebrities.

Home and away sports events are broadcast by most of the IBS affiliates. WHFV, Haverford, WVER, Cornell, and WYBC, Yale, are currently vying for top distance honors. Special telephone company lines are rented for the remote pickups.

David Linton, who but a few years ago produced dramatic shows at WSRN, Swarthmore, is program director of Intercollegiate Broadcasting system. Keeping the network coordinated is a full-time job, says Linton, who envisions a national system of 250 student operated stations.

Fans Phone In

While serious music leads all campus popularity polls, the all-request shows of dance tunes are the bane of local switchboard operators, the disc jockeys often elicit a phone call every minute from "hep" listeners.

"Limited area coverage" is the key to campus stations' selectivity of audience. Through low-powered transmitters student programs can be channeled for dormitory and fraternity audiences only.

When a student has finished four years of college radio—writing plays, running turntables, acting, fixing loose connections, staying before a "live" mike continually—he is considered ready for a vital spot in the broadcasting industry.

Return of War Dead Will Cost Nation 187 Million Dollars

WASHINGTON—It will cost about 187 million dollars for the final burial of America's World War II dead, latest war department figures indicated.

This compares with an original estimate of 200 million dollars. Congress last July appropriated 92.5 million dollars to start the program—search for the missing dead which numbered 44,389 on V-J Day, identification, concentration in temporary overseas cemeteries of remains found in isolated graves, and preparations for return to the United States of possibly 228,000 before fall, congress will be asked for 95 million dollars to complete the program.

The first bodies will be returned from cemeteries in Hawaii and from Henri Chapelle cemetery in Belgium. They are to reach the United States about October 1.

Amputation of Both Legs Kept Secret From Boy, 11

MALDEN, MASS.—Nurses swallowed hard when Glennwood Brann Jr. talks about playing baseball with the other kids now that he's on the road to recovery—for they haven't told the courageous 11-year-old youngster yet that both his legs have been amputated above the knees.

Glenn was burned from toes to waist when his clothing caught fire after companions tied him to a post in a game of cowboys and Indians. Glenn still "feels" the legs he has lost because the severed nerves still carry sensory messages to his brain, attendants said.

Son of Fire Lieutenant Is Burned to Death in His Bed

CINCINNATI, OHIO—Lt. Mark Devine of the fire department made a run to his own home to learn that his 6-year-old son, Mickey, an invalid, had burned to death in his bed. Mrs. Devine said her efforts to beat out the flames were futile. Several other children had been playing in the room and it was believed one of them set the bed afire with a cigaret lighter.

Boy, 16, Lives Year In Shack With Dog

Mongrel Puts Up Fierce Fight Against Officers.

MT. CLEMENS, MICH.—The tale of an orphaned boy and his faithful mongrel dog who lived a primitive existence for more than a year within the shadow of this city unfolded with the arrest of the 16-year-old youth.

The boy was taken into custody by Masonic county sheriff's deputies only after they had overpowered the black-and-white mongrel Bozo. The dog fought fiercely to protect his master.

The boy was sought on complaint of a farmer that he had stolen chickens. Deputies said he would not be prosecuted.

The dog is being taken care of. The boy will be turned over to a Catholic juvenile agency in Detroit in an attempt to find a home for both.

Deputy John Dye said the boy, mid-mannered and polite, told the following story.

His father and mother died two years ago and he went to live with an uncle. He left the uncle after a quarrel with a cousin.

For a time he worked for $15 a week in a grocery but the owner sold the store and he lost the job. He then went from door to door earning money at odd jobs.

He occasionally earned a meal but usually ate bread, cookies and canned goods which he heated on a crude stove in a shack where he lived.

Dye said the youth survived one of Michigan's worst winters with only a single, ragged blanket and the feeble heat from the stove to warm his rough abode.

His clothes were in rags. He was wearing a pair of pants purchased for him by his father before he died, a cotton shirt and a jacket and shoes he had purchased with pennies saved when he was working in the grocery.

Dye said the boy was making his way north to rejoin the uncle, who now lives in a tent in the Marine City area. The uncle is the only relative or friend the boy has, the deputy added.

The deputy quoted the youth as saying he was preparing to slew the two chickens for food for himself and the dog when he was seized.

Trailer Is Home for 12 of Evicted Family

COVINGTON, IND.—Clinton Vestal crowded his wife and 10 children into a one-room trailer home and declared that he had about given up house-hunting.

He said he would settle for a tent, if he could find one large enough.

Vestal, 56, his wife, Nancy, 36, and their children, ranging from 9 months to 15 years of age, were evicted from their four-room bungalow on a muddy country lane.

They spent the next three days living in the community room or the Fountain County Courthouse.

A sympathetic resident who heard of their plight finally offered them use of his trailer.

Atlanta Man Makes Machine To Scale and Clean Fish

ATLANTA, GA.—An Atlanta man has produced a machine to scale and clean fish quicker than you can say "Isaak Walton."

Nathan Kaplan, a gadget man who previously perfected a "non-fall" bed slat, a "non-slip-out" shirt-tail, and other devices, has announced completion of the fish cleaning equipment.

The machine, made up of numerous gadgets, shafts, belts, brushes, brackets, rods, metal teeth and nuts, has one place on which to fasten the fish, two at a time.

He gave newsmen a treat in Atlanta by proving the machine would do its work.

He fastened the clamps on the fish. They scales flew hither and yon, and bottom.

Employers Shun College Grind

Personal Qualities Rated Of Major Importance For Employment.

MINNEAPOLIS.—Few employers now seek the "greasy grind"—the student who has shunned all outside distractions, kept to the solitude of his dormitory room and recorded an endless succession of "A" grades.

Most employers of college graduates today ask for students who have taken vigorous part in worthwhile campus activities. Except for research and other highly technical work, the 1947 employer puts first importance on personality, leadership and ability to get along with people; he ranks brilliant scholarship second in importance, although demanding "satisfactory" scholastic records.

These are some of the facts brought out in a new survey of employment experience of college placement departments, recently completed by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

Out of 101 universities and colleges reporting in the survey, placement officials of 72 schools stated that the majority of employers rate personal qualities of the graduate first in importance. Only 10 schools reported top scholarship to be the primary requirement in their placements, and nearly all of these are engineering colleges or other technical schools.

Responsives from 21 schools were difficult to classify, some stating that their prevailing call is for top-bracket scholarship and high personality qualifications combined; others that employers are so hungry for men that they will take anybody who can squeeze past his finals with a passing grade.

Noteworthy in this year's employment picture, the survey finds, is the large proportion of engineering graduates who are being hired for non-engineering jobs, such as selling and office administrative work. Most large firms have their own training programs, and many feel that the background of an engineering training yields especially desirable sales and junior executive material.

Others welcome liberal arts graduates and business administration grads with equal warmth, there is a growing tendency on the part of personnel executives of firms to pay little attention to the particular course a candidate has pursued while in college, so long as his personal qualities are good and his scholastic record has been satisfactory.

Old fashioned study and good marks still pay off, however, placement officials state, between two candidates of equal personal qualities, the one with the higher scholarship gets the nod.

Store Surplus Food at Pole For Lean Years, Byrd's Idea

WASHINGTON—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, on his return from the navy's antarctic expedition said that long range planes and powerful ice breakers could crack the great white south polar continent wide open for exploration and that within 25 years men may be tapping its resources.

"There's a lot of coal down there," he said.

Byrd also envisaged exploiting the vast ice cap as a natural refrigerator for the storage of surplus crops in bumper years.

"The world need never have another famine," he said. "Surplus food could be stored away in the polar ice as insurance against lean production years. I'm pretty sure it would keep perfectly time steps for such things down there."

"We brought back with us some of the food left in the 1933-35 Little America camp to see whether it has lost any of its value in calories, vitamins or minerals. I'm fairly certain the 13 or 14 years' exposure hasn't done much harm. The dry cold makes a perfect refrigerator."

School Teachers Take Extra Jobs to Increase Incomes

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Providence high school teachers are padding their income with extra jobs.

Irving Nelson, a mathematics instructor and father of two children works in a gasoline station after classes.

A music instructor, Edward B. McCabe plays the bass fiddle in a night club orchestra four nights a week and makes more money than he does teaching.

Richard Bailey, art instructor, spends nights designing greeting cards for publishers.

Runs Out of Gas With Truck Load and Has to Hitchhike

ARKANSAS CITY, KANS.—Henry Brodeson says it just had to happen sometime.

After 24 years of hauling gasoline on the highways he ran out of gas—and while driving a truck loaded with several hundred gallons of it.

"Because the gasoline already was sold to a customer, Brodeson decided against using any. He hopped a ride to a filling station, borrowed a can, bought some gas and got his truck going again.

Then he delivered his load to the same station.

Half of Doctors in Russia Are Women

Must Be Members of Union of Medical Workers.

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R.—When a person in the Soviet Union calls for medical help, the chances are even that a woman doctor will come around.

It's certain that the doctor, whether man or woman, will be a member of the Trade Union of Medical Workers and will be pulling down between 1,500 and 2,000 rubles a month in government pay, which is between two and three times what ordinary workers make.

There is room at the top for top men, however, and if a doctor succeeds in becoming a professor of medicine, he eventually may make 6,000 to 7,000 rubles a month (The ruble is worth about 18 cents at the official rate, but only 8 1/2 cents at the diplomats' exchange rate).

This information was gathered along with other facts about Soviet medical services in a visit to the Moscow Medical institute.

The institute's director, Dr. Andrei Lihachev, and Dr. Ilya Strashon, a member of the Soviet Medical academy, answered questions freely.

The questions brought out that state employed doctors are allowed to practice privately after hours if they want to enlarge their income. Standard medical service is supposed to be available to any person, regardless of position. There are some hospitals, however, such as Moscow's top notch Kremlin, which are open only to high officials, diplomats and the like.

Of the 150,000 doctors in the Soviet Union, half are women. Before the revolution, there were only 18,000 doctors in the country, they said. About 70 per cent of the 4,000 students at the institute are women, but the percentage of men has increased since the war.

The medical leaders were asked what happens when someone in Moscow gets an acute appendix attack. They replied that a telephone call would bring an ambulance and a doctor within 10 minutes, and the patient would be rushed to a hospital. There a diagnosis would be made by a commission of doctors, and the patient either would undergo an operation or be taken to a specialized hospital.

The informants said rural sections had the same system of medical districts as big cities, and that some industries, such as railways, had their own hospitals.

When in New York Don't Act in Seattle Style

NEW YORK—Mrs. Pearl Jensen, thinking to save her husband from being murdered by a pair of alleged thieves on the edge of Chinatown, pulled a fire alarm, just as she had been taught to do back home in Seattle, Wash.

The thieves were caught, the husband saved. But justice proved swifter for Mrs. Jensen than the thieves. She was fined $50 for turning in a false alarm. The thieves were being held in $2,000 bond on felony charges. The fine later was remitted.

Mrs. Jensen, 39, told Magistrate Joseph Levine that she and her husband, William, 42, were strangers in town.

Shannon Airport in Ireland Is Now Free of Customs

LIMERICK, EIRE.—The Shannon airport, stopping point for many transatlantic planes, has become the world's first customs-free landing field.

Goods coming into the 800-acre airport zone were freed of customs duties unless the merchandise is intended for sale in Eire. The new system, inaugurated at a ceremony presided over by Trade Minister Sean Lemass, will permit American and European manufacturers to place their goods in display warehouses at Shannon, making it a "world store window for buyers."

Officials said they hoped to enter into similar agreements with other manufacturers in building factories within the zone for processing raw material, imported duty free by air, into finished goods for customs-free aerial export.

Television to Revolutionize Political Campaign Technique

NEW YORK—Television will revolutionize the technique of political campaigning in 1948 just as the radio did in 1924, is the opinion of Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, president of Radio Corporation of America.

Sarnoff thinks 1947 can be television's first major year if the flow of materials for the manufacture of television sets is increased.

By 1948 several thousand homes, possibly as many as 50,000, will have television sets, the RCA head believes.

Truck Owner Didn't Know, But Neither Did the Judge

MILWAUKEE.—He didn't know it was illegal to put a "for sale" sign in the window of his truck parked on a city street, Carl Deuster told District Judge Harvey L. Neelen.

"Well," answered the judge, "I've been up here eight years and I didn't know it either. Sentence suspended."

New Life Table To Alter Costs

Increased Life Expectancy Reflected in Revised Payment Schedule.

NEW YORK—On January 1, 1948, life insurance companies will abandon a mortality table they have used since 1888. They are replacing it with a new table that bears a more reasonable relationship to the current mortality rate.

Under the old table, children reaching one year of age had a life expectancy of 48.94 years. The new rate increases this to 63.76 years. For people reaching 20, the old table gave them 42.20, additional years. The new table gives them 46.54 more years.

According to the old table, 98 out of every 1,000 policyholders died at the age of 40. According to the new listing only 62 die.

The new table, known as the 1941 commissioners' standard ordinary table of mortality, reflects the actual life and death experience of policyholders of almost all life insurance companies between 1930 and 1940.

As a result of amendments to state laws, it will go into effect in about 40 states January 1, replacing the 79-year-old American experience table of mortality on that date.

The new table gives life insurance companies a new basis for calculating values. The Institute of Life Insurance describes it as a new pattern of cost.

New Cost Pattern

The new pattern applies only to policies issued on or after January 1, 1948.

Those already in force will continue under their present basis.

"This is a more equitable distribution of cost than we've ever had," the institute said. "In the lower age levels, where mortality is low, net cost to policyholders will be a little lower than it is now. In some age levels, where mortality increases, it will be a little higher. But the over-all cost is about the same."

The following figures, obtained from a major New York life insurance company, illustrate the point. A man takes out a $1,000 participating life insurance policy at the age of 25. At the end of two years, the net cost to him would be $26.74. Net cost for the same policy under the new system at the end of two years would be $19.77.

Basis for Figuring

According to insurance men, adoption of the new mortality table accomplishes three things:

It provides a better basis for calculating reserves and non-forfeiture benefits of new policies, and balances more closely the amount paid as premiums with what their beneficiaries will receive as benefits.

It establishes a direct basis for determining non-forfeiture benefits to which policyholders are entitled when they turn in their policies. The cash surrender value after 10 years of a participating $1,000 insurance policy, issued at age 25, is now $98.98. The same policy, under the new system, would pay $143.58.

Many companies after January 1 will decrease the rate of interest guaranteed in new life insurance policies. Since 1930, the rate earned on invested funds has dropped from 4 1/2 per cent to 3 per cent. A decreased interest rate, however, has no effect on premiums. Cost of insurance is regulated by the actual mortality experience of the company issuing the policy.

Puppy Hiding in a Handbag Rides Plane From Germany

NEW YORK.—A dubious distinction—that of being the first aerial stowaway to arrive at the airport—attached itself at La Guardia field to one Blanka, a year-old female Pekinese puppy.

Blanka's voyage from Germany, notwithstanding the rigid airlines rule against transportation of dogs, became known after the landing of a Pan American Frankfurt-to-New York plane Mrs. Adolphus J. Tudbury of New Orleans stepped from the plane with other passengers, and then opened her handbag. Blanka popped out. The little Pekinese was able to ride undiscovered and in apparent comfort throughout the long trip.

Mrs. Tudbury said she had been living in Munich with her husband, an army officer, and had decided to return with Blanka when her husband was transferred to another post at Hannover.

Historic Treaties Are Missing From State Department Files

WASHINGTON.—The mysterious disappearance of historic treaties from state department files was reported by Assistant Secretary of State William Benton.

Amendment Affects Pay To Relatives Deceased Veterans

A member of the local post of the American Legion who had written to the office of the state adjutant at Lansing relative to provisions of the Michigan Veterans Military Pay act under which beneficiaries of deceased veterans might receive gratuities, received the following information on a late amendment to the act covering the matter:

In the belief that it may be of interest to others in the community the Record reproduces the following except:

Act 12, Public Acts of 1947, providing payment of a gratuity to beneficiaries of deceased veterans, states that payment will be made first to the surviving husband or wife, second, to the child or children, then to the surviving dependent mother, dependent father, dependent person standing in place of parents, dependent brothers and sisters, in the order named.

"The new Amendment to the Act, passed recently by the State Legislature, authorizes us to pay the gratuity to mothers and fathers of veterans who died of service connected causes and who are unable in any way to show dependency in any part.

"It does not provide for payment of a gratuity to patients when the veteran was survived by husband or wife, child or children.

"Many veterans sent home allowances, sums of money, or gave aid in some way to their parents, and patients receiving any of these are eligible to claim dependency in part.

"The sum appropriated for payment to non-dependent parents is limited to $200,000, which will take care of 400 applications of non-dependent parents. Our files indicate that we will receive more non-dependent applications than we will be able to pay from the $200,000 appropriation. To enable us to pay off

Why Not Put Fish On Breakfast Menu?

"Why confine the eating of fish for breakfast to a few weeks' summer camping?" ask the conservation department's fish division and the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service. Fresh-caught trout for breakfast is considered one of the highlights of a vacation trip, but few people envision the morning meal with fish recipes the rest of the year. Yet fishermen say fish is easily and quickly prepared, and is a high-quality protein food well supplied with vitamins and minerals. In defense of fish for breakfast, to perk up the relatively standardized American morning meal, the fisheries men also point out that in Britain and other European countries appreciation of fish as a food for starting the day off is long and firmly established.

Plan Outdoor Art Festival Aug. 24 In Friendship Gardens

There will be an outdoor Art Exhibition at the International Friendship Gardens on August 24 when artists from southern Michigan and northern Indiana will show their paintings. The spacious green lawns of the many acres of gardens will be the gayest setting that has ever taken place at the Gardens for artists. They will have sites among the hundreds of shady and picturesque sites of the Gardens of Nations as well as the much-loved Willow Promenade, made famous by the opera goers for the last seven years. Portraits, landscapes and other objects of art, oil, pastel and other mediums will be on exhibition for the public to view. This is the largest gathering of artists in one exhibition that has ever been arranged for an outdoor exhibition and will therefore be a most unusual feature for the many thousands of tourists and lovers of art who are anxious to have the privilege of such special occasions. Colorful umbrellas and tents will be used by some of the artists to show their individual exhibits. There is no limit that each artist may show; therefore, those who like to acquaint themselves with the techniques and style of the many artists, will find here an opportunity to do so as well as select paintings for their own use.

M.S.C. Advises On Proper Storage Of Inflammable Goods

Burns and explosions on Michigan farms accounted for approximately one out of every three farm accidents last year, points out Fred Roth, farm safety specialist at Michigan State college. Nearly one-half of these were fatal. One of the most important features should be a careful check of inflammable liquid storage. Roth states that there are three methods of storing these liquids on farms. They can be kept in underground tanks, in safe elevated tanks, or in tanks in separate buildings that are used only for that purpose. Outside containers must be kept at least 50 feet from buildings, haystacks, and other combustible materials. If these containers are kept inside, nothing except the inflammable liquid should be stored in the building and the 50 foot rule should be observed. All containers for gasoline must be painted bright red. When refueling tractors or other equipment, the engine should be turned off and the motor allowed to cool. One gallon of gasoline or kerosene has as much destructive power as 80 pounds of dynamite.

Passenger Deaths There are only 17 deaths per 100 million miles of street car, trackless trolley coach and bus travel.

You'll go for it — look, line and sinew! This is the big one that mustn't get away. This is the prize catch that's worth all the patience you can muster, because there's never been an automobile quite so full of all the things to make your heart rejoice. Take the looks of it. The looks of something really good and able — broad, deep-chested, solid in its footing, a performer if there ever was one. Take the sweeping lines. Clean — fresh — eye-winning wherever you go. Smart now and smart for years to come — because it's plainly the pattern that calls the turn for many a season. Lift the bonnet. Fill your eyes on that spacious compartment filled to its brim with the makings of thrilling, zinging, winging power. Here's everything it takes to take you places in effortless ease — eight big cylinders smoothed to velvety action by superfine finish and precision, the matchless flashing action of Buick's exclusive Fireball power. Watch this traveler stride the roads with the steadiness, only ample roadway and size can give you. Catch its nimble footwork, as four gentle coil springs soak up the bumps, leveling them flat, shielding you against solid jar and annoying ripple with equal ease. Take the wheel and handle it a while. Feel the "sweetness" of the steering, the firmness of controls, the surprising lightness of a car that's two-tons husky. Check the lean and sinewy toughness that means a long and durable life. Go for this Buick? Of course you do — with the same eagerness it goes for you when you touch your foot to its treadle. Then why not do as smart buyers are doing all over the country? Get your order in now — and make sure that you'll drive America's most wanted automobile. We'll take your order, you know, whether or not you have a car to trade. Sloping Pig Pen Cuts Litter Loss

1 In 4 To 1 In 30
The new slant on pig growing that takes advantage of the life-saving possibilities of a sloping floor is finding favor with many Michigan swine men, points out N. C. McMillen, Michigan state college swine specialist
The idea takes advantage of two simple facts of hog behavior: First, the mother pig likes to lie down with her back slightly up hill

Second, the little pigs are wobbly on their legs during their first few days and are more likely to wander down a sloping floor than up. When the mother pig is ready to lie down, she is likely to choose the high side of the pen, and the little pigs are likely to be bunched on the low side. Thus, the mother is not so likely to lie down and crush one or more pigs
Reports from Kentucky show that in 385 litters, sloping floors reduced the death rate by crushing from one pig in four to one pig in thirty

Sloping the floor isn't much of a problem when individual farrowing houses are used. If they are set on level land, they can be blocked up to get the right slope of floor. For a standard size 8x8-foot house, the house should be tilted so the lower side is about one foot lower than the upper side. In areas of rolling land, the houses can be placed so that the slope of the land does the job

When central farrowing houses are used, sloping floor sections can be built and put in the pen
Too much bedding should not be used on sloping floors. It has a tendency to work down the floor and gather at the lower end. Wooden strips can be provided to give the pigs a foothold if the floor is slippery

$5 Red Fox Bounty Effective Oct. 11

That new $5 bounty on red fox provided by the Legislature will not become effective until October 11, the conservation department already is informing eager claimants
The department is further informing trappers that:
The law applies only to foxes killed after it becomes effective, and it specifically states that pelts must be presented within 10 days of the time the fox is killed

Applications for state fox bounties will be certified only by township clerks, who will mark each pelt in the ear and return it to the trapper Each fox actually will net the trapper $4.50, as a 50-cent fee must be paid in each case to the township clerk. The conservation department will make payment by mail according to records certified by the township clerk

The Conservation Department will deal only with township clerks in fox bounty matters, but trappers may learn from conservation officers and district game managers how the bounty process operates.

Is the Servant's Door Open in Your House?
INVITE this flock of ELECTric servants into your home by the simple expedient of flicking an electric switch... they will serve you well, faithfully and cheaply, twenty-four hours a day—if you provide the open door of Adequate Wiring.
If you are building a new home or remodeling, remember present-day living standards require many more electric appliances than in the days when your present home may have been built... be sure to provide enough electric circuits having large enough wires and plenty of outlets conveniently placed.
Every day sees advances in lighting, cooking, refrigeration, house heating and cooling, all for the health, comfort and convenience of your family.
Be wise—use foresight—provide ADEQUATE WIRING.

Re-upholstery To Make Furniture Better Than New

What to do about furniture that is in a "state" and can't be replaced because of high prices is a problem for most homemakers. Your old furniture is very likely to have better framework than that on the market today...

New burlap used to replace the old should be 10-ounce, or even 14-ounce. Old padding may be used over again if it is moss of hair and can be re-worked. New padding should be made with moss, not excelsior. New cotton felt used to cover the moss should be a good grade and white in color, not greyish.

World's Champion Valve-in-Head Design!

The new Chevrolet is the lowest-priced motor car with a Valve-in-Head Engine—the type of car engine which holds all records for efficiency—for giving maximum power from every ounce of fuel.

once at lowest prices, (2) billions of miles of service to owners; and (3) number of owners served. In fact, this sturdy Chevrolet Valve-in-Head Engine has delivered more miles, for more owners, over a longer period, than any other automotive engine built today, regardless of type, size or price!

Chevrolet gives you the BIG-CAR styling of Body by Fisher—exclusive to Chevrolet in the lowest-price range. Chevrolet also brings you the safety of Fisher Unsteel Body construction, the Knee-Action Ride and Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes—a combination of safety factors found only in Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

You can't match Chevrolet's BIG-CAR COMFORT at lowest cost, either—the outstanding comfort of its Knee-Action Riding Ride—for this, too, is exclusive to Chevrolet in its price range.

Be wise! Keep your present car in good running condition by bringing it to us for skilled service, now and at regular intervals, until you secure delivery of your new Chevrolet. Come in—today!

You stand to GAIN from Michigan Bell's proposed rate increase BUCHANAN telephone users could call NILES and GALIEN without paying toll charges.

When somebody raises prices, it usually means you just pay more for what you've been getting all along.

But that's not entirely the case with the rate increase Michigan Bell will propose to the Michigan Public Service Commission on August 27.

The suggested rate increase would help protect the future quality of your telephone service...

AND—the suggested rate increase also would provide more service to most telephone users.

Compared with the time when present rates were established many years ago, telephone service has become far more useful—and far more valuable. That's because we've added so many more telephones which you can call under the flat rate you've been paying.

Now, under the proposed rates, telephone customers also could call telephones in certain adjacent communities without paying toll charges.

This means telephone service would be "tailor made" to fit calling needs in this area. It means that telephone service would be geared more closely to the widespread social and business interests of modern living.

Community by community, our proposed local rates are related to the number of telephones each subscriber could reach, and thus the amount of service he could get, without a toll charge.

Now that increased rates are needed to meet increased costs, this is the fair way for each subscriber to help assure the future quality of everybody's service.

Table with 5 columns: Class of Service, One-party, Two-party, Four-party, Rural. Rows include Residence and Business rates.
