Joe Kiehl drives the scraper at the new Southeast Berrien County Landfill. This new facility will formerly open Monday for use of residents in Buchanan, Buchanan township, Niles, Niles township and Bertrand township. There will be an open house Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. to enable the public to inspect the building, office, equipment and the landfill itself.

This will be the window at which the customers will check in with items to be left at the Southeast Berrien County Landfill. The charges are explained elsewhere in this paper.

Ann Desenberg is busy these days keeping Harry the Horse adequately filled with his favorite formula, he's shown polishing off his second bottle at this particular feeding. Harry was rejected by his mother and has subsequently developed an inordinate fondness for humans. The six weeks old colt, a pure Arabian stallion, presently has a most un-stallionlike disposition. Harry's current feeding schedule of every six hours is a great improvement over the four hour one he held to the first month. Ann is often assisted with the chore by Louis and Rob, the young sons of her brother Lou, who weren't home when we stopped.

Buchanan's Assessor Resigns

It was announced last week that city assessor John Leich has resigned his post effective August 10. No reason was given by either Leich or city manager Robert Faulhaber, although it had been apparent that the Buchanan city commission had not approved Leich's methods of assessing by completely following the guidelines set down by the state. Nor had they approved the action of the board of review in upholding the assessor in almost every case.

The big dispute has been over Clark Equipment's large increase in assessments which amount to $463,000 more taxes on personal property and $129,000 more taxes on real property. Clark is appealing the assessments made by Leich before the state tax tribunal. At first the city of Buchanan had stated that they would not defend the action of the assessor or the local board of review, but they have now been advised to appear as defendant in this case. They now feel that the City should be represented at the tribunal, and they've been advised that they can save the taxpayers some money by appearing.

Leich was quoted as saying that although his resignation is effective in August, he will not return to city hall. He was hired last August at a $12,000 a year salary, having previously worked in the Berrien County tax equalization office.

I & M To Reopen Cook Nuclear

The Cook Nuclear Information Center, adjacent to the Donald C Cook Nuclear Plant on Lake Michigan north of Bridgman, will reopen to the public June 18 on a limited scheduled basis. Indiana & Michigan Electric Company officials said that numerous requests by schools, clubs and organizations and the general public asking that the facility once again be made available as a source of information for not only the Cook Plant but nuclear energy in general, has prompted the company to again open the doors of the Center.

Since closing last December, company officials said literally hundreds of letters and telephone calls had been received from schools, colleges and universities expressing regret that the Center could no longer be utilized as a part of their respective educational programs. The West Michigan Tourist Association also expressed disappointment when the Center was closed and requested that the Company hopefully reopen at an early date since the Center has become a major tourist attraction in the area aiding the local economy.

I&M officials said the Center will only be open weekly from Wednesday through Saturday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sunday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Opinions Vary Over Drug Increase

In interviews with several persons who seem to know what they are talking about, the Record learned that many feel that the amount of drug abuse in Buchanan is again on the increase. The Record is reporting what has been learned with no attempt to arrive at a solution of the problem.

The problem now is not marijuana. It's the harder stuff, and even heroin is in use here. The main concern of many is that the users are becoming younger. Several among the 13 and 14 year olds are already in trouble with drugs.

In comparison between Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, the per capita use of drugs is higher in St. Joe. This is because of the income factor. An habitual user needs money - lots of it. As jobs become harder to get, the need for money to buy needed drugs becomes more acute. This is where an increase in crime rate is seen.

A spokesman from the Berrien County Drug Treatment Center attests that the problem is increasing at an alarming rate. It was substantiated that Buchanan presently has a large number of young people with serious problems either with drugs or alcohol.

On the other hand, teachers in the middle school and members of the Buchanan police department have stated that they have detected no increase in drug use among younger persons, although they are aware of some individual cases which have come to their attention. They indicate, however, that a supply is still readily available if someone is looking for it.

The variety of drugs to be obtained in Buchanan seems to come from Niles or South Bend rather than the north part of the county. During school periods, pushers know where to make their contacts near the school area. During summer vacation, they frequent local sports events or places near where they can make contact. According to the Center, it would be no problem for a 14-year old to obtain hard drugs within the city limits of Buchanan.

A worker for the Youth Service Bureau asserted that the court cases with which he is involved deal mostly with larceny and other crimes in the north end of the county, but that the bulk of juveniles involved with drugs come from the southern part of the county (Niles and Buchanan area). The local juvenile authorities said that drug cases aren't referred to them, but that alcohol has become an increasing problem for them.

Those who are making large financial gains are those highly professional people who are dealing in drugs. Some of the come from South Bend and others from Michigan City or Gary. Authorities admit that not much progress can be made until the real sources can be dried up. The Berrien County Metro Narcotics Squad, with which Buchanan police have been cooperating fully, has been highly successful in apprehending many of the local or area pushers. Their conviction average has been good and has discouraged many would-be pushers in the south county.

The Drug Abuse Center wishes that adults would continue to be alarmed and would make efforts to educate themselves on the problem. For this reason, volunteers are available to speak to and work with large and small groups in Buchanan who are concerned.

Let's Control Them

The area through which the new Schirmer Parkway goes is one of the most beautiful in the Buchanan area. Hills and deep ravines near the old mill site make it a perfect place for a future park. The engineers and contractors cut quite a slice through it, but time can restore much of it to its natural beauty.

A new problem has arisen. It's become a favorite haunt for motor bikes. The riders, unable to use the public roads, have been taking out their recreation in this area, and they're running it over the newly seeded banks, they've cut large ruts, causing erosion. Where no paths were intended they've made deep, ugly ones.

Recently, young motor bike enthusiasts, forbidden to use the Niles-Buchanan Road, struck out across country to get to Route 31. They cut through private property all the way, even cutting through fences to get to their destination.

The biggest losers are the farmers. Thoughtless persons drive right through plowed and seeded land. There have been instances where whole rows of corn have been deliberately ruined by motorcycles. This doesn't strike farmers as very funny when so much expense has gone into their crops.

There's an ideal facility for motorbikes on North Redbud Trail. It's well run and well supervised. There are trails there to appeal to the professionals or the novices.

What is really requested is more parental supervision of the young people who have been given these vehicles. The use of them should be regarded as a privilege. If a young person isn't able to indulge in regard for the property rights of others, he should be forbidden the use of his motorcycle until he can learn common courtesy to others.

E-V & Union Reach Agreement

Officials of Electro-Voice, Inc., Buchanan, and Local 900 IUE-AFL-CIO-CLC jointly announced today that they had reached accord on a new three-year labor contract to replace the current agreement which expires June 18th.

The agreement covers all production and maintenance workers in the Buchanan plant. Neither Company nor Union officials would disclose details of the settlement. However, Dana Fair, President of Local 900, stated that the agreement included an across-the-board increase in wages, a continuation of a cost-of-living escalator clause, and increased pension benefits. Also, an additional paid holiday will be effective in 1976 as will vacation plan improvements. Fair added that a new plan of compensating employees for lost time due to illness was also a part of the settlement as were improvements in the group insurance plan.

Former Owner Worries About Redbud Inn

On February 15 there was a bad fire at the Redbud Inn. This was followed by another one on Easter Sunday, which completely put it out of business, although remodeling from the first fire had been started.

Several persons have complained that the ruins of the building are still standing, causing an eyesore along Redbud Trail. There is also the problem of safety.

Glenn Sult, former owner of Redbud Inn, says that, although he has no legal responsibility to fix the place up, he feels, as former owner, some moral obligation. He said that he's attempted unsuccessfully on several occasions to contact the present owner, James Gideon of Benton Harbor. He said he understands that a settlement has been made between the insurance company and Gideon and he is at a loss to understand why something now isn't being done to clean the place up.

Unable to reach Gideon, Sult is wondering if the Buchanan township board has influence to force the present owners to remove the debris from the fires.

Paint Thrown

On Sunday morning at 1:41 somebody threw a bottle of multi-colored paint through the front window of the John Letcher home at 308 Alexander. There was considerable damage to the carpet, drapes and furniture.

Moulds Resigns From Buchanan School Board

The Buchanan school board will need another member Monday night they accepted the resignation of Gerald Moulds who was finishing his third year. He resigned because of the press of business affairs. The board has 20 days to make the appointment of his replacement for one year.

Clyde Remmo, a member of the community school advisory board, presented a proposal for an activity bus. The idea would be to have one which went south and west and another to go north and east to take home students who have been participating in extra-curricular activities. Remmo said that it would be planned to have the bus self supporting, and he wanted the board to determine if there would be enough parental demand for such a program.

New board members, Mrs. Conrad Larson and Bill DeVos were sworn in, and the election results were certified. Out of 942 ballots, DeVos got 463 votes and Mrs. Larson 526. It was revealed that there were three write in votes, one each for John Zeider, Vern Lubben and Dr. Beistle.

The resignation of Norman Kreager as assistant superintendent was accepted with deep regret. Betty Brassington is retiring after 21 years and Ardelle Huston after 25 years. Resignations were also accepted from Joann Smary from Middle School and Julie Moffitt from Stark.

A resolution was passed to borrow $375,000 against anticipated state aid from Inter City Bank at 4.75 percent interest.

Negotiations have been in progress with the school secretaries Norman Kreager and retiring board member Vern Lubben have been on the negotiating team, so superintendent Dougherty will take Kreager's place and Lubben will remain on the team.

Principal William Fischer explained the choices of new textbooks, and the board adopted new ones in business law and United States history for high school and in social studies, music, and reading in the elementary grades.

Wayne Writer gave a report after his first year as community education director. He pointed out that there had been 32 graduates in the adult graduation as against 18 last year, and he outlined the many activities available for people of all ages. He said that there had been a great deal of cooperation between the community and the school to make the programs successful during the year.

Stockman Resigns From Republican Conference

Congressman John B. Anderson, Chairman of the House Republican Conference, announced that he had accepted with "sincere regret" the resignation of David A. Stockman as Executive Director of the Conference. Stockman, who has served in this capacity since January 1972, cited his own political plans as his reason for leaving the post. He is a native of St. Joseph, Michigan.

Anderson, the third-ranking House Republican, praised Stockman's "conscientious stewardship" of the post, saying that "in the past three and one half years he has made an enormous contribution to the work of the Republican Party in the House." Anderson added, "he has been an especially valuable source of ideas and assistance to me personally."

Anderson gave Stockman special credit for initiating and developing the Legislative Digest, a weekly publication of the Conference which analyzes and summarizes all legislation scheduled for floor action by the House. It is circulated to all Republican Members, staff, the press, the executive agencies and numerous other interested parties on Capitol Hill.

"Prior to the time that David took over as staff director," Anderson said, "the Party had no centralized legislative research effort or publication. Each Member had to cope with the weekly legislative agenda on his own. The enormous success of the Legislative Digest in filling this vacuum is a tribute to David's intellectual capabilities and managerial skills."

The House GOP leader said that Stockman, who has worked for him in various capacities since 1970, "is an enormously talented young man who has a bright future in the Republican Party. He has been a great asset to the Conference and we are sorry to see him leave."

In a letter to Anderson, Stockman cited the fact that he is currently actively exploring the possibility of being a candidate for Congress from the 4th Congressional District of Michigan as his major reason for resigning. "This undertaking will require far more time than would be consistent with my duties as Executive Director," he said. "In addition, I do not want to create a shadow of a doubt as to a conflict of interest between my own personal aspirations and my responsibilities to all of the Members of the Republican Conference."

Stockman will continue as a Special Assistant to Congressman Anderson for the remainder of the summer.

Bert Rowe, new president of the Buchanan United Way, accepts congratulations from former president, Joseph Garbert.

Last Saturday morning an Appalachia Service work crew left from the First United Methodist Church to drive to Whitley, Kentucky where they planned to stay at Sandy Hill 4-H Camp with crews from other churches. Their work was to be assigned after arrival, but it was expected to be primarily house repair for impoverished families. Such work camps are organized in six states under the Board of Discipleship of the United Methodist Church.

Down in the front are Robin Entenman, Mrs. Robert Hamilton and Mark Entenman. Standing are Rev. Ronald Entenman, Jerry Ritter, Don Hesser, Tracy Marsh, Shelley Hamilton and Dana Skidmore. The group will remain all week at Whitley, located south of Lexington not far from the Tennessee state line.

Strictly Personal
 By D. E. N.

Every time the mockingbird gives his hour-long concert, we're tempted to get on the phone and call people to share the experience. As yet, it's been a private performance. He's certainly versatile.

It becomes more and more apparent that Michigan made a terrible mistake when it allowed 18-year olds the right to drink legally.

We were told this week of a real horror story about a couple who bought their drapes in South Bend from a company which went out of business. If readers know of cases like this we'd be happy to have an "Action Line" to see if we could help.

We liked the story about the two old ladies at a rest home who decided to live up the place by streaking. They passed two old gents. One said "Wasn't that Mable? What was she wearing?" The other said "I don't know, but whatever it was, it sure needed ironing."

The record had a printing job which had to be collated - white sheet, green, pink, yellow, etc. This writer went to the neighboring food stamp office and asked if anyone in line wanted to earn a few easy dollars. Everybody looked as though we were out of our mind. No takers.

There's a bad situation which has developed in the 300 block of Main Street, causing neighbors great anguish. It's hoped that proper authorities can soon do something about it.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sirs:
 I know that what I'm about to say will probably not be of interest to the parties concerned, but feel the urge to say it "anyhow".

As the old timers would put it, "instead of letting old man barley corn rear his ugly head" at a place that is such a boon to our young people, why not devise another form of recreation such as bowling or roller skating and let the liquor license go to places that should not and will not be available to many of our young people?

Anyone who can dream up a place as nice as Royal Valley, can surely, with the proper backing, come up with a year around amusement that would benefit the community!

Sincerely,
 Peg Blake

Dear Editor:
 Our Social Security program is in danger of going in the red by the year 1980, unless Congress revises the system or imposes even higher taxes on the people. Can America really afford a retirement program with the ever increasing population of poor people, many of whom are not even covered by our welfare system, and without employment? Is it not our first obligation to aid the poor, rather than, rather than increasing the poor population with social security taxes that reward the rich with retirement check higher than that paid the working poor when they retire, while poor people reap too little or get denied proper aid if any?

It is time we reduced the need to raise social security taxes by limiting benefits to the retired and disabled poor only by a means test tax on income from other forms of income not just wages, and permit the system to take in more money without paying more out than it takes in. Also we need to impose a means test tax on those 72 and older with the exception of those whom do not retire until they are 72. The present system permits the 72 elderly to collect social security while employed robbing the younger generation of needed jobs to support families, as well as their rights to earn social security credits. The medicare program should also be based on need, and not fed to the rich on the basis of age alone.

We do not need a retirement system that robs the economy of funds needed to aid the poor, which serves to make the rich richer, and the poor poorer. The rich have already gained enough in tax loopholes for tax rebates, without collecting the largest social security benefits, while the working poor collect only partial benefits for surrendering employment that is often denied welfare supplements, and which is inadequate to live on anyway.

Sincerely,
 Mrs. June B. Carr

Dear Editor:
 In Feb 20 Record, you show "Knuckle Brain" Casey in the team picture with a long list of out of adjustment harness parts. The tongue is on top of neck yoke and rings are turned backward.

In June 12 Record you show KBC bringing along double trees for Pee-Raid photo.

What will you say if brought before the chimpanzee council. You cannot tell me chimps cannot drive horses or tractors.

I asked a man who lives in Sec 36 Bambridge township to send me a photo of his team. I did not coach him in any way how the team should be shown. Horses are shown left front so that off horse and near horse appears correctly. This team 5 years old would easily bring $2500 at regular horse auction.

Casey was using his little school teacher brain in hunting up a team perhaps under $100.

In 1930 I drove a pair of mares from Hopkins saw mill into driveway on Madron Lake Rd in 20 minutes. The pair did not run a step but trotted a better time than most teams could run. In 1938 I owned a pair that could easily run eight miles without trotting.

I grew up with horses and will make a bet with anyone there are 12 things in Feb 20 picture which are wrong.

Safety Rules For Mowers

Power lawnmowers injure hundreds of people every year, says Richard Pfister, Extension safety engineer at Michigan State University. Most of these accidental injuries could be avoided, he says, if people would plan ahead and

--Read and study the operator's manual that came with the mower. If you wait until all else fails before you follow the directions it could be too late.

--Inspect the lawn before you mow and remove sticks, stones, toys, wire and other debris that could be thrown by a rotary lawnmower blade.

--Keep your hands, feet and clothing away from all moving parts.

--Keep children and pets away from the mowing area. If children or animals come into the mowing area, shut off a rotary mower to protect them from objects thrown by the blades.

--Always be sure of your footing. Wait until grass is dry to mow. Mowing wet grass is not only hard on the lawn, but it is slippery and clogs your mower. When mowing a slope, mow across the slope for best footing. And do not pull the mower toward you. It's very easy when you're walking backwards for --Shut off the mower if you're your foot to slip under the guard going to leave it, even if it is "just for a minute."

--Always disconnect the power cord of an electric mower or the spark plug wire of a gasoline-powered mower when you adjust or clean the mower or sharpen the blades.

Fuel a gasoline-powered mower before you start it. If you must refuel, let the engine cool for several minutes first. Never add fuel to a running engine.

--If you have a riding mower, never take passengers and avoid mowing across slopes -- the mower might tip over on you.

--After you've finished mowing, disconnect the power cord on an electric mower or the spark plug wire on a gasoline-driven engine. Store the cord out of sight so it will not tempt children to play with the mower. Never leave a mower with a crank-type starter in a cocked, ready-to-go position.

Buchanan Steel Products Is Forty Years Old

Buchanan Company Is Still Growing

Buchanan Steel Products is forty years old this summer. Currently it is a major division of National Standard Company. It is estimated that 90 percent of the wheat grown in North America is touched by Buchanan Steel's sickle guards. As one officer put it, "Our product is the first thing that hits the crop."

In the early 1930's there was a plating company under the ownership of Dan Larson. Goodyear was one of the early customers. In 1935, Larson decided to produce some of the components the company had been plating, so he installed two forging hammers. Then Larson encountered financial difficulties and eventually sold the business to Elmer Cress, who had been a stock broker with interests in the Buchanan firm. Cress had gone to Buchanan to look over the business, and he brought Dennis Donahue from Studebaker to run the forging business. Thus Buchanan Products was formed.

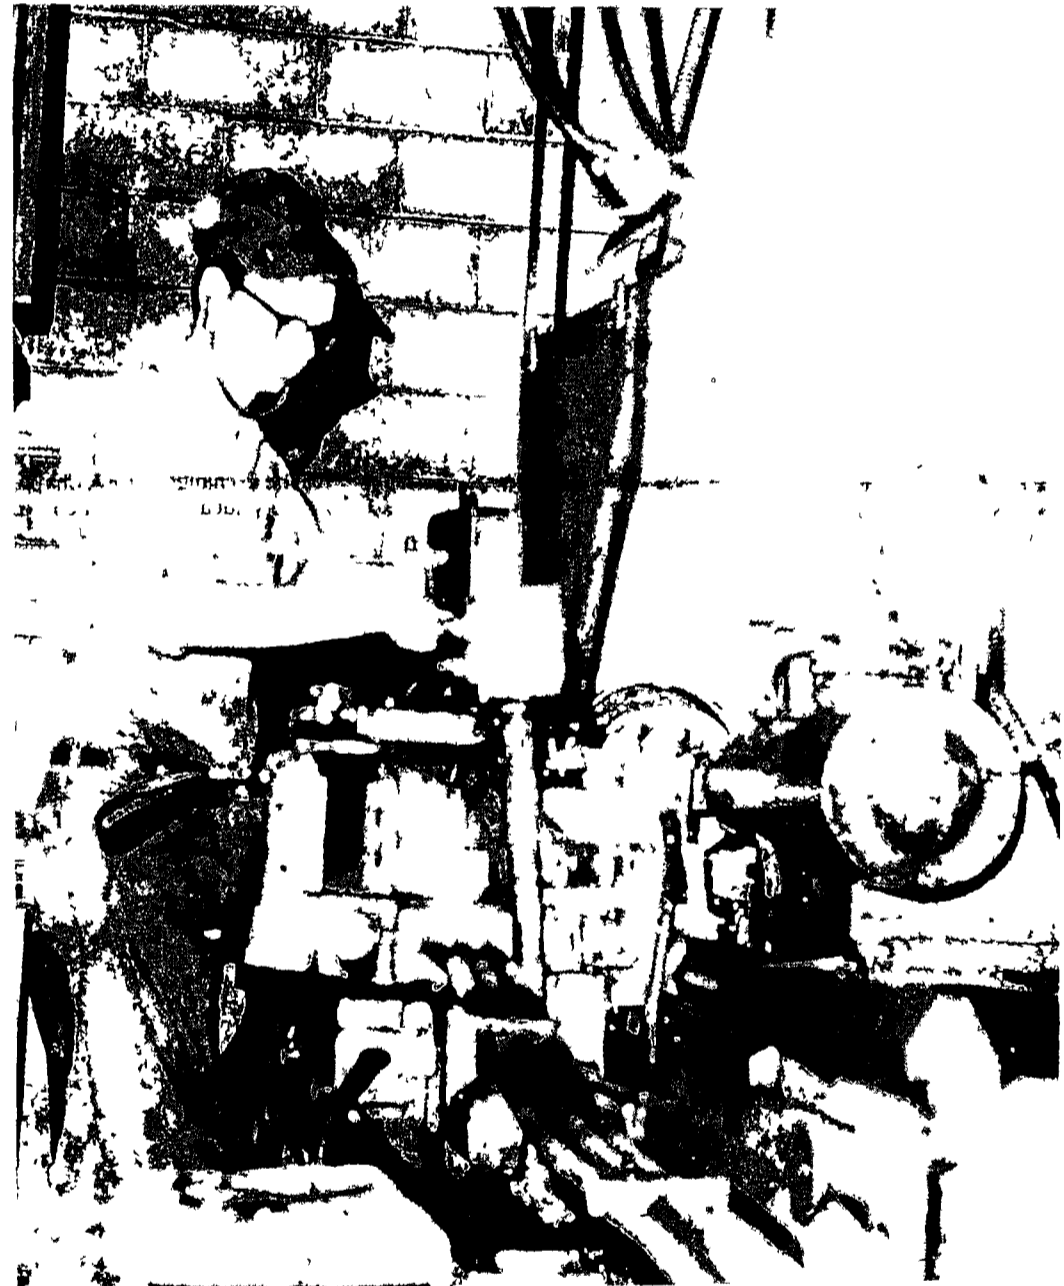

Just after World War II an Allis-Chalmers engineer asked Buchanan Steel to try and forge a sickle guard for a large quantity of completed combines. BSP did so and made an initial order of 25,000 guards. The following year forged guards were specified for the full Allis-Chalmers line. Later the guard was patented.

In the early 1950's, John Cress, son of Elmer, who had joined the firm in 1947, spearheaded a move to exploit the farm equipment market rather than expand further in automotive. A gradual switch has been made, and now automotive volume is a minor part of the business.

In April 1964, National Standard acquired Buchanan Steel Products and established it as a division. At about the same time Hubbard Tool and Gauge was acquired and was established as Buchanan's machine shop. In 1967, a branch plant was built in Havana, Illinois to expand production capacity of hot forgings. In 1968, Precision Cold Forge was acquired, and a line of cold forgings added to the Buchanan operation. Currently, the Buchanan Division is a major part of National Standard. Of over 200 employees in Buchanan, there are now 19 with over 25 years of service.

Buchanan Steel's expectations for the long range future are bright. Further expansion is contemplated, and the company expects to continue as a major force in Buchanan's economy.

Besides the training sessions, the week's activities include visits to Mt. Vernon Plantation, the National Archives, Smithsonian Institution, Arlington National Cemetery, and several other historic monuments and memorials in and around the Capital. A highlight of the Conference was a Thursday morning visit to the office of Congressman Edward Hutchinson of 4th district. ## Five-Day Plan Helps Smokers Kick Habit

Smokers who want to "kick the habit" will have their chance next week under a special Five-day Plan to be conducted here by a physician and clergyman team.

The plan consists of regular evening group therapy sessions, films and a daily personal control program for home or work. It has been successful over a period of more than ten years in major cities around the world.

The program here will be conducted by Dr. J. Russel Ham-Ying and Dr. Alfred Boyce, staff physicians of Unity Hospital, and Pastor Walter Koch. Dr. Boyce worked with the originator of the program, Dr. McFarland. Group therapy sessions will be held from 7:30 each evening beginning Sunday, June 22-26, at the Buchanan Clark Credit Union building, 808 E. Front Street.

Sponsored by the Buchanan Seventh Day Adventist church as a free community service, the Five-Day Plan aims to help improve the health of the community and to contribute to the national physical fitness program, Koch explains.

Already held successfully in cities all across the United States and Canada, the Five-Day Plan to stop smoking features such topics as the psychological and physical aspects of the habit, how craving can be lessened, how willpower can be strengthened, physical effects of smoking, organization of a buddy system and many other techniques designed to break the habit within the five-day period. A feature will be the film "countdown" depicting in full color a lung cancer operation, to be shown Sunday, the first evening of the therapy session. Other films will be shown during the five-day period.

Honeymoon To Include Visit To Nova Scotia

Mrs. David Lynn Casey

A 7 o'clock ceremony last Saturday evening in Trinity Episcopal Church, Niles, joined in marriage Lorraine Curtis Miller of Niles and David Lynn Casey of Route 1, Buchanan. Mr. and Mrs. Manley H. Curtis, 745 Hickory, Niles, and William Casey of Hudson, Indiana, are the parents of the couple.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Vincent Anderson with Edward Cuhigan of St. Joseph at the organ. Mixed bouquets of blue and pink mums, yellow daisies and white gladiolus adorned the sanctuary with candelabra on the altar trimmed with matching blossoms.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of ivory candlelight organza enhanced on the bodice with rows of Cluny lace which formed a ruffle at the top of her long full sheer sleeves, edged at the wrist with a wide band of matching lace. The high neckline was edged with a pleated ruffe and small covered buttons were placed in a row from waist to neckline. Her full skirt featured a full flounce forming a chapel train. The bride's Cluny lace cap was edged with pearls and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations, yellow rosebuds and baby's breath accented with small midnight blue bows.

Serving the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Todd Tyler of Niles and her sister, Diane Curtis, was her bridesmaid.

Both wore powder blue knit gowns with short full puffed sleeves, small tucks to the waist were featured on the bodices. Their colonial bouquets combined mums, daisies and carnations in blue, pink, yellow and white with midnight blue streamers. Matching blossoms were held in their hair with a bow of midnight blue.

Damon Casey, Garrett, Indiana, brother of the bridegroom, attended him as best man and the bride's brother-in-law, Richard Rossow of Buchanan was the groomsmen. Seating the guests were David Repp of Greencastle, Indiana and Thomas Bose of Boston, Massachusetts.

The mother of the bride wore a frosted blue knit gown with a short floral jacket and a corsage of white daisies.

The reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Olney, 2290 Franz Drive, Niles, where the bride's sisters served, Mrs. T. H. Winquist, Mrs. James Litty and Mrs. Robert Wetmore.

The bride graduated from Niles High School and Lake Michigan College and is enrolled for the fall term at Andrews University. Principal of Moccasin School in Buchanan, the bridegroom graduated from DePauw University and earned his master's degree from Michigan State University.

The couple is taking a three week wedding trip to the eastern states, Nova Scotia and Canada and will be home in the future in Buchanan on Route 1.

Food Safety in the Kitchen
So you have an "upset stomach". Or abdominal cramps. Or diarrhea. Or all three.

Do you, like many people, accept it as one of those things that can't be helped and say, "It's probably a bug going around?"

In a way, you're right. Upset stomach, cramps, and diarrhea can be caused by any number of "bugs" or bacteria. So can many other symptoms.

What you may not know is that many illnesses are caused by harmful bacteria in foods, and that you can do something to prevent them.

How You Can Guard Against Food Contamination

Perhaps you have learned poor food handling habits from your parents, or have not realized how important correct handling of foods can be. Cooking and refrigeration control bacterial hazards in food, but often foods become contaminated and cause illness simply because they are not handled properly in the home. Beginning now, make it a habit to follow these safety rules:

1 Clean your hands before and after handling raw foods. Wash thoroughly all cutting surfaces and utensils after each use.

2 Put perishable and frozen foods in the refrigerator as soon as you get home after shopping.

3 If you prepare foods ahead of time, put them in the refrigerator until you're ready to serve them.

4 Don't leave leftover foods on the table, but store them in the refrigerator promptly.

5 Keep your refrigerator at 40 degrees F or below.

6 Don't let frozen foods thaw at room temperature. Defrost them in the refrigerator.

7 Cool foods promptly in small quantities and shallow layers so that the temperature of the food is brought down to refrigerator temperature (40 degrees F) in 2 to 3 hours.

8 When cooking meats, use a meat thermometer to make sure the interior part of the meat is cooked thoroughly (for example, at least 175 to 185 degrees F for poultry, 170 degrees F for fresh pork).

9 If you do home canning, use the water-bath canner only for acid foods. Vegetables and meats must be canned in a pressure canner. If you find a jar or can in which the food does not appear or smell right, destroy the entire lot. Do not taste the food. It could be fatal.

10 Be careful in the handling of pets in the home. Pet feeding dishes, toys, or bedding should not be allowed in the kitchen or near any items which come in contact with the family's food or with utensils or working surfaces used in the preparation of food.

Use these hints, and you'll find you'll use the phrase, "It must be something I ate" less often.

Offer Practice Times For CANAMER Swimming

Those entering the Olympian Finals of this year's CANAMER Games in Swimming will have an opportunity to practice even though they may not belong to an organized swim club according to Games President, Bill Wallis. The Benton Harbor YMCA will be open Monday thru Friday from 3 to 3:45 p.m. starting June 23 until July 18, the day before the Olympian Finals Meet.

The Niles YMCA will have its pool available from 9 to 11 a.m. each Saturday from June 21 to 12 (4 Saturdays).

Qualified instructors will teach the fine points of turns, stroke and individual event peculiarities to the young people who will then refine these competitive techniques under the watchful eye of a registered lifeguard.

"This is not an open swim nor a beginning swim class," Wallis explained. "These sessions are for serious competitors to practice. Those attending should be good swimmers who just need to refine their technique."

Those in charge have been told to eliminate anyone disrupting diving, padding around or soaking, horse-play will not be tolerated. Wallis concluded.

The Olympian Finals in Swimming will start at 8:30 a.m. at the St. Joseph High School Pool Saturday, July 19.

Activities At Fernwood

The early summer scenery at Fernwood has mellowed from spring's fresh bright greens to more subdued and soft colors while the herb garden borders become more showy at the Meeting House Entrance. This favorite time of fledgling birds, daisies and fresh strawberries should be equaled with a visit to Fernwood.

The first reprieve of the summer for some mothers arrived when a series of day camps began at Fernwood the second week of June. A week for 4-year olds, and two weeks of 5 & 6 year olds has been completed with Don Harker, Fernwood Naturalist, and Connie Myers, his assistant.

This coming week another children's class begins for youngsters who will be in Grades 1, 2 and 3 this fall. Children's Art-Craft 1, 2, 3 is made up of five nature-oriented art projects meeting from Monday, June 23 through Friday, June 27 from 9:30 a.m. 'til 12 noon. This popular class is taught by Phyllis Hokanson, fourth grade teacher at River Valley School, a past elementary and middle school art teacher, in addition to raising five youngsters of her own. She has an M.A. degree from Western Michigan University.

Each day a new and creative project is undertaken, completed, and brought home. Children will try their hand at nature printing, painting, constructing mobiles, and making transfer rubbings. Part of the class period will be spent outdoors.

Creative Stitchery is the second class beginning this week and marks an anniversary of its being taught for its tenth year at Fernwood, nine of these years under the same teacher, Lois McBride Creative. Stitchery begins Tuesday, June 24 to meet for four consecutive days at 9:30 a.m. in the Meeting House.

Only a few places are left for those who would like to take part in an all day stitchery adventure. Lois is especially talented with threads and yarns and each year plans a new approach for returning "stitchers". She also sets aside special time to work with beginners. Stitchery projects are almost endless. Possible creations include wall hangings, bags, pillows, book jackets, stoles, clothing, or even a custom luggage rack. For those who register for the remaining few openings, a few supplies must be brought from home and a list may be obtained when calling to reserve a place.

Two other classes are now in progress at Fernwood. Marie Remington's Pottery Design is in its seventh and last week. Her students have had excellent success in developing mastery over several new ceramic glazing and decorating techniques.

Another class also in session under Marie Remington is Evening Pottery for both beginning and returning potters, meeting on Monday and Thursday nights. Students are continuing to practice on various kinds of wheels and are attempting initial glazing combinations. It looks like everyone is having a very productive summer in the Pottery Studio!

The Spinal Column

There has been much in song and story to celebrate the satisfaction of sleep. Shakespeare called it "sleep that knits up the raveled sleeve of care" and again, "Balm of hurt minds, great Nature's second course, Chief nourisher in life's feast."

Sleep is nature's way of resting the mind and is an essential "medicine" needed by everyone in regular doses. The amount of sleep a person needs depends on age, physical condition, temperament and activity.

It is during sleep that the batteries of life are recharged, and vitality is raised to the point where there is once more power to perform.

If sleep refuses to come, then vitality begins to ebb, the mind is beset with worries and the body with pain and exhaustion. The nerves seem to come to the surface, raw and irritable instead of being "encased in contentment." There is no method that restores nerve ease and strength that more quickly and naturally conquers sleeplessness than chiropractic spinal adjustments.

Yours for better health, naturally.

At The Library

The Guardian by Jr. Hough, Jr

This is a well-written novel by a promising young author who has an ability to use words

The plot isn't really very much, although there is a murder. A woman is found dead near a small New England town. The main character who tells the story is a police chief who's widowed and near retirement.

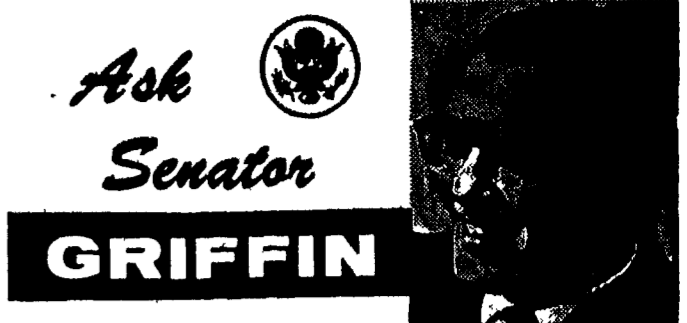

The characters are finely drawn, and a reader gets a good insight into various factors in the town

It would appear that we'll hear a great deal more from the young man who wrote this

Political Animals by Walter Trohan

This is Trohan's story of his 38 years in Washington and of his employment at the Chicago Tribune. It's biased as Trohan always was, but it gives some interesting tidbits about those people in the administrations from Roosevelt to Nixon. Trohan revered Hoover, loved Goldwater, liked LBJ, and respected Nixon. He developed respect for Ike's administration and thought that FDR's fourth term was a disaster. He felt that Bobby Kennedy had the most on the ball of the three brothers, and he includes some gossip about Teddy's extra-curricular activities

Trohan claims that everybody sought his advice, and he takes credit for many great decisions made. There are some funny stories and some sad ones

By cutting through red tape, members of Congress can often lend a hand to those with problems involving the federal government. Through the columns of this newspaper, Senator Griffin answers questions of general interest. He will respond personally to all communications addressed to: Senator Robert P. Griffin, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

My daughter is a real Women's libber. She gets very upset with what she calls the "man's world." As her father, of course, I want her to have just as good a chance in life as my sons, and I'm sure that there are still a lot of inequities that ought to be corrected. But just to cheer her up, isn't it also true that in this so-called "man's world," American women outnumber the men, live longer on the average, and own a pretty big chunk of the national wealth?

—L. C., Dearborn

You're right on all counts. Research by the Library of Congress confirms that 51.2% of the people in America are women. Women live approximately eight years longer than men on the average, and they do control immense portions of the nation's wealth. One study reveals that women in America bring home an estimated $116 billion in salaries, own some $10 billion in mutual funds and have about half the corporate stock in this country registered in their names

I hate to bother you about something so mundane as home canning jars and lids, but I had a rough time finding any to buy last year. Will they be difficult to come by again this year?

—J. K., Muskegon

You're not the only one to ask—I've received over 500 inquiries on that subject

Over 6 million new family gardens were planted last year, and that sent the demand for home canning materials skyrocketing by 170%.

According to the President's Special Assistant for Consumer Affairs, Virginia Knauer, the major manufacturers of canning jars and lids will produce 400 million more units this year. If people buy only what they need, and leave some for the next gardener, there should be enough supplies in all parts of the country for the home canners

Cage Or Stake Tomatoes For Best Quality

Cage or stake your tomato plants to reduce disease problems and insure high quality tomatoes, suggests Jim Motes, Michigan State University Extension horticulture specialist.

"But be prepared to pay for the increase in quality with a decrease in yield," he adds.

Caging is the process of placing a wire or wooded cage around each young tomato plant. Motes explains, The plants naturally grow up in the cages as they mature.

Staking is just what the name implies: the plants are first pruned down to one or two main stems and then tied to a stake or other support. Staking reduces the yield, Motes says, but it also increases the size of the fruit and improves the quality.

Tomato plants left to grow on the ground will normally yield more tomatoes than caged or staked plants, he says, but the ground-grown tomatoes will be more susceptible to disease. They also tend to become stained and are prone to rots, which lower quality and appearance.

Though it takes more work to cage or stake your plants than simply to let them grow, caging and staking hold the vines of the ground and so prevent the problems that plague ground-grown plants.
