NOVEMBER.

The following pretty poem, appropriate to this season of the year, is from the graceful pen of James G. Clark, the poet vocalist:

The red sun gathers up his beams,
To bid the withered earth farewell,
And voices from the swelling streams
Are ringing with the evening bell;
The cold lake sobs with restless grief,
Where late the water-lilies grew,
While autumn fowl, and autumn leaf
Are sailing down the rivers blue.

Forsaken are the woodland shrines,
The robin and the wren have fled,
And winds are wafting through the pines,
A dirge for summer's glorious dead;
Even man forsakes his daily strife,
And muses on the bright things flown,
As if in Nature's changing life,
He saw the picture of his own.

I often think, at this late hour,
As evening weeps her earliest tear,
And sunset glids the naked shore,
And waves are breaking cold and clear,
Of that glad time, whose memory dwells
Like starlight o'er life's cloudy weather,
When side by side we roved the dells
Of proud New England's coast together.

'Twas on old Plymouth's rock-famed shore,
One calm November night, with thee,
I watched the long light trombling o'er
The billows of the eastern sea;
The weary day had sunk to rest
Beyond the lines of leafless wood,
And guardian clouds from south to west,
Arrayed in rays of crimson stood.

We climbed the hill of noble graves,
Where the stern Patriarchs of the land,
Seemed listening to the same grand waves
That freed them from their oppressors' hand;
We talked of spirits pure and kind,
With gentle forms and loving eyes,
Of happy homes we left behind,
In valleys beneath the western skies.

A few brief days—and when the earth
Grew white around the traveler's feet,
And bright fires blazed on every hearth,
We parted, nevermore to meet
Until I go, where thou art gone,
From this dark world of death and blight,
And walk with thee above the sun,
That sank upon thy grave to-night.

I hear the muffled tramp of years
Come steading up the slope of Time;
They bear a train of smiles and tears,
Of burning hopes and dreams sublime;
But future years may never fling
A treasure from their passing hours,
Like those that come on sleepless wings,
From memory's golden plain of flowers.

The morning breezes of long ago
Sweep o'er my brain with soft control,
Fanning the embers to a glow,
Avoid the ashes round my soul;
As by the dim and flickering light,
I see thy beautiful form appear,
Like one returned from wanderings bright,
To bless my lonely moments here.

THE OLD CARTMAN.

A STORY OF CALIFORNIA LIFE.

From a San Francisco Paper.

Some five years ago, or thereabouts, John Ainsley—or "Pap Ainsley," as he was familiarly called—was the owner of a hand cart, and earned a living by conveying miscellaneous parcels from one section of the city to another, and receiving therefor the reasonable remuneration of fifty cents per load. To designate the occupation in the prosiest language possible, he was a hand cartman, and when not employed, could always be found during working hours at the corner of Montgomery and California streets. His hair and long beard were quite gray, and his limbs feeble; and if he could not shove as heavy a load through the deep sand or up the steep grade above him as the stalwart Teuton on the opposite corner, thereby losing many a job and many a dollar, all the light loads in the neighborhood fell to his lot, and kind-hearted men not infrequently traveled a square or two out of their way to give an easy job to "Pap Ainsley."

Four years ago last September, (I recollect the month, for I had a note of four thousand dollars to pay and was compelled to do some pretty sharp financing to meet it,) having two or three dozen volumes to transfer to my lodgings, I gave "Pap Ainsley" the task of transportation. Arriving at my room just as he had deposited the last armful on the table, and observing that the old man looked considerable fatigued after climbing three flights of stairs to or three times, I invited him to take a glass of brandy—a bottle of which I usually kept in my room for medicinal and sporadic purposes. Although grateful for the invitation, he politely declined. "I urged, but he was inflexible. I was astonished.

"Do you never drink?" said I.
"Very seldom," he replied, dropping into a chair at my request and wiping the perspiration from his forehead.
"Well, if you drink at all," I insisted, "you will not find as fair an excuse in the next twelve months for indulging for you appear fatigued and scarcely able to stand."
"To be frank," said the old man, "I do not drink now. I have not tasted intoxicating liquors for fifteen years, since—"
"Since when?" I inquired, thoughtlessly, observing his hesitation.
The old man told me: "Sixteen years ago he was a well-to-do farmer near Syracuse, New York. He had one child, a daughter. While attending a boarding school in that city, then a girl of sixteen years of age, she formed an attachment for a young physician. Acquainting her farther with the circumstances, he flatly refused his consent to a union with a man whom he had never seen, and removing her from school, dispatched a note to the young gallant with the somewhat pointed information that his presence in the neighborhood of the Ainsley farm would not meet with favor. The reader, of course, surmises the result, for such a proceeding could have but one result. In less than a month there was an elopement. The father loaded his double barreled shot gun, and swore vengeance; but failing to find the fugitives, he took to the bottle. His good wife implored him not to give way to despair, but he drank the deeper, and accused her of encouraging the elopement. In three months the wife died; and at the expiration of a year, when the young people returned to Syracuse, from Connecticut, where they had remained with the parents of the husband, they learned that the old man had sold his farm, squandered the proceeds, and was almost destitute. Learning of their arrival, Ainsley drank himself into a frenzy, and proceeded to the hotel where they were stopping, attacked the husband, wounded him in the arm by a pistol shot, and attempted the life of his daughter, who happily escaped uninjured, through the interposition of persons brought to the spot by the report of the pistol. Ainsley was arrested, tried, and acquitted on the plea of insanity. The daughter and her husband returned to Connecticut, since which time the father had not heard from them. He was sent to a lunatic asylum, from which he was dismissed after remaining six months. In 1851 he came to California. He had followed mining for two years, but finding his strength unequal to the pursuit, returned to this city, purchased a hand cart, and—the rest is known. "Since then," concluded the old man, bowing his face in his hand in agony. "I have not tasted liquor, nor have I seen my poor child."

"I regretted that I had been so inquisitive, and expressed to the sufferer the sympathy I really felt for him. After that I seldom passed the corner without looking for "Pap Ainsley," and never saw him but to think of the sad story he had told me.

One chilly, drizzly day in the December following, a gentleman having purchased a small marble top table at an auction room opposite, proffered to the old man the job of carrying it to his residence on Stockton street. Not wishing to accompany the carrier, he had selected the face probably giving the best assurance of careful delivery of the purchase.

Furnished with the number of the house, the old cartman, after a pretty trying struggle with the steep ascent of California street, reached his destination, and deposited the table in the hall. Lingered a moment, the lady did not surmise the reason, until he politely informed her that her husband (for such he took him to be) had probably by accident omitted to settle for the carriage.

"Very well, I will pay you," said the lady, stepping into an adjoining room. She returned, and stating that she had no small coin in the house, handed the man a twenty dollar piece.

He could not make change. "Never mind, I will call to-morrow," he said, turning to go.

"No, no!" replied the lady, glancing pityingly at his white locks and trembling limbs. "I will not put you to so much trouble," and she handed the coin to Bridget, with instructions to see if she could get it changed at one of the stores or markets in the neighborhood.

"Step into the parlor until the girl returns; the air is chilly, and you must be cold," continued the lady. "Come," she added, as he looked at his attire and hesitated: "there is a fire in the grate, and no one there but the children."

"It is somewhat chilly," replied the old man, following her into the parlor, and taking a seat near the fire.

"Perhaps I may find some silver in the house," said the lady, as she left the room, "for I fear Bridget will not succeed in getting the twenty dollar piece changed."

"Come—I love little children," and the child who had been watching him with curiosity, ran behind the large arm chair, and hesitatingly approached. "What is your name, my dear?" inquired the cartman.

"Maria," replied the little one.

"Maria?" he repeated, while the great tears gathered in his eyes; "I once had a little girl named Maria, and you look very much as she did."

"Did you?" inquired the child, with seeming interest; and was her name Maria, Eastman, too?"

"Merciful God!" exclaimed the old man, starting from his chair, and dropping into it with his head bowed upon his breast. "This cannot be! and yet, why not?"

He caught the child in his arms with an eagerness that frightened her, and gazing into her face until he found conviction there, suddenly rose to leave the house. "I cannot meet her without betraying myself, and I dare not tell her that I am that drunken father who once attempted to take her life, and perhaps left her husband a cripple," he groaned as he hurried toward the door. The little ones were bewildered. "You are not going," said the mother, reappearing, and discovering the old man in the act of leaving the hall.

He stopped, and apparently turned his face, but seemed to lack the resolution to do aught else.

"He said he had a little Maria once, that looked just like me, mother," shouted the child, her eyes sparkling with delight.

The knees of the old cartman trembled and he leaped against the door for support. The lady sprung toward him, took him by the arm, and attempted to conduct him to a chair.

"No, no!" he exclaimed, not till you tell me I am forgiven."

"Forgiven—for what?" replied the mother in alarm.

"Recognize in me your wretched father, and I need not tell you," he faltered.

"My poor father!" she cried, throwing her arms around his neck, "all is forgiven—all forgotten."

All was forgiven, and the husband, when he returned late in the afternoon, was scarcely less rejoiced than his good wife at the discovery. Whether or not Bridget succeeded in changing the double eagle, I never learned. But this I do know; it took the honest female all of two months to unravel the domestic knot into which the family had tied itself during her absence. "Pap Ainsley" still keeps his cart, for money would not induce him to part with it. I peeped into the back yard of Dr. Eastman one day last week, and discovered the old man dragging the favorite vehicle around the inclosure, with his four grandchildren piled promiscuously into it.

Fourteen Follies.

1. To think that the more a man eats the fatter and stronger he will become.

2. To believe that the more hours children are confined in study at school the faster they learn.

3. To conclude that if exercise is good for the health, the more violent and exhausting it is, the more good is done.

4. To imagine that every hour taken from sleep is one gained.

5. To act on the presumption that the smallest room in the house is large enough to sleep in.

6. To argue that whatever remedy causes one to feel immediately better is good for the system without regard to ulterior effects.

7. To commit an act which is felt in itself to be prejudicial, hoping that somehow or other it may be done in your case with impunity.

8. To advise another to take a remedy which you have not tried yourself, or without making special inquiry whether all the conditions are alike.

A Touching Tribute to the Memory of Abraham Lincoln.

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, writing from Florence, Italy, says:

"Among the first incidents which met my eyes as I entered Italy were one or two, which are perhaps not altogether unworthy of being read, and one of which in particular may have a peculiar interest for American readers. I was walking through the narrow streets of the little town of Lugano, when my eyes were attracted by a well-known portrait suspended in front of a small book store. The portrait was that of Abraham Lincoln; and you will not wonder that the sight alone of the familiar features arrested one's footsteps, as they hung there in that quaint, mediæval, out-of-the-way place, looking round upon a scene so wholly foreign to that other world, of which the late President of the United States was so vividly the personification. I went up by an irresistible impulse of respect to look at it, and I was glad I did so, for I found beneath it in writing, and in Italian, an inscription which showed that the little portrait had in fact been attached to his house by the owner like a sacred image, at once a testimony of his own faith and feelings, and an appeal to those of his fellow citizens. 'This,' said the inscription, 'is a portrait of Abraham Lincoln, and so long as the sun shines on men, so long shall the name of him who redeemed four millions of slaves from captivity, of him who, clutching to his strong breast the fasces of the American Union, fell a victim to horrible assassination—so long shall his name resound great, venerated, and blessed throughout the world.'"

It is already time for those who have been troubled the past season with the canker worm to begin to take active measures to prevent its injuries another year. The female moth will soon commence to rise from the ground, and being wingless, the only way she can reach the branches to deposit her eggs is by ascending the trunk. It is the interest of every fruit grower to prevent this, and we advise them to see to it in time. There are more good ways than one which our readers are acquainted with, and each one will know which is most profitable and convenient, according to the material at command.

A few trees may be saved every time by simply piling up around their base, sifted ashes, as steep as they will stay—fresh ones to be applied after every rain. In a large orchard, however, this plan cannot be adopted without too much trouble, and either the troughs must be restored to, or tar, which is to be kept moist, applied around them, either directly or on pieces of canvas or other material. Hay-bands wound several times around the tree in a proper manner, i. e., by binding the upper rope tight to the tree, and making the lower ones looser, so that the miller may creep under them, would doubtless answer a good purpose.

A LONG MARCH.—Gen. Sully, with 860 mounted men, about 100 six mile wagons and some beef cattle, in all about 2,000 animals left Sioux City, in June, 1865, marched up the Missouri to Fort Rice, thence to Devil's Lake and nearly to the British line, then down the Mouse River to Fort Berthold, from which point he returned to Sioux City, having marched a distance of nearly sixteen hundred miles. It occupied about sixty-two marching days. Some few days it was necessary to march from thirty-five to forty miles a day on account of there being no water. During the march the animals had to depend mostly on grazing food, and yet these animals returned to Sioux City in October in better condition than they started in June. Not over one dozen animals were lost during the march from June to October. This includes all the animals that died or strayed. This shows the good effect of discipline and experience. The troops with Gen. Sully had already served with him two years on the frontier. There are few, if any marches on record that can surpass this. The General always gives his personal care and attention to his whole command as well on the march as in camp, and no General in the field commands a greater degree of respect and esteem from his men.

A singular accident occurred in Palmyra, Lenawee county, a week or two since. A returned soldier was shooting squirrels with the Springfield rifle which he had brought home with him from the army. Missing his game, at one fire, the ball went over the trees, and at the distance of a full mile, struck a brother of the soldier in the lower part of the back, as he was stooping over, penetrating his coat, pantaloons and shirt, and inflicting a pretty severe flesh wound, which bled freely. The ball did not, however, effect a lodgment in the flesh, and as the wounded man straightened up it fell into his boot. Had the ball struck him in the head it would doubtless have killed him. This is one of the most singular accidents on record, and furnishes a proof of the projectile force of the Springfield rifle.

THE NEWS!

According to the terms of his sentence Wirz was executed at Washington, on Friday last. He declared his innocence on the gallows. Just previous to his execution, he wrote to his counsel, Mr. Schade, thanking him for his service.

The trial of Commodore Cravin for neglecting to attack the pirate Stonewall when he should have done it, has been commenced before the naval court martial.

The army now consists of 180,000 men, equally divided on either side of the Mississippi.

Important treaties of peace have been made with the Cheyennes and other Indian tribes, numbering from 12,000 to 15,000.

William Johnson, the only brother of the President, died at Velasco, Texas, on the 4th inst.

A court martial has been ordered to convene at Vicksburg on the first Monday in December, for the trial of Captain R. B. Hatch, the former Chief Quartermaster of the Department; Captain W. F. Kearns, late master of Transportation, and all other persons connected with the placing of the troops on the Sultana, in June last.

Chief Justice Chase objects to Jeff Davis' trial taking place in Richmond, and urges a postponement until after Congress meets.

Great destitution is reported among the poor whites of Georgia, many of whom have no house in which to shelter themselves, suffer for food, and their children are without school privileges.

New counterfeit $50 treasury notes, excellent imitations of the genuine, are in circulation in New York.

The siege of Matamoros by the Liberals is still maintained, and great suffering exists at that place. Two french vessels with reinforcements for the garrison, were at the mouth of the Rio Grand, but their opponents held the river banks, and it would be hard for them to get up to the city.

The Indians of the Plains are again giving trouble, and Gen. Heath is reported to have had a battle with them.

A letter from Salt Lake City says the Mormons have proclaimed polygamy as their religion, which they will sustain by force of arms. They are preparing for hostilities, and defy Federal authority.

War has been declared between Spain and Chili, and the ports of the latter country have been declared closed by the commander of the Spanish fleet. Extensive preparations for a prolonged war are being made by the Chilean government.

Forty of the negro insurrectionists of Jamaica have been hung by the authorities. Martial law has been proclaimed in St. Thomas. Additional troops have been sent there.

The Fenians seem to be preparing anew for some movement. Rumor has it that the release of John Mitchell has something to do with it, and that he is to have an important command in a part of the Fenian organization which is to meet him somewhere outside of the United States. The Fenian Congress, which has been in session at New York, has adjourned. Considerable money has been raised by the sale of the bonds of the Irish Republic, and people look with much interest to see what will be done next.

By an arrival from Hayti we learn that a difficulty had occurred at Cape Haytien, between the Rebels and the British Consul. The former demanded the surrender of some Haytiens whom the Consul had taken under his protection, and when the surrender was refused, broke in the doors, took the Haytiens and shot them. The British ship Bull Dog, lying in the port, when satisfaction was refused, opened fired upon Fort Seckete which was returned by the fort. The ship getting on a reef was abandoned by the commander and blown up. The affairs of the country are in an unsettled condition.

MICHIGAN'S RECORD IN THE WAR.—The report of the Adjutant General of this State, just published, shows a glorious record for the Wolverine State. Some of its statements can but be gratifying to an honorable pride. Eighteen organizations of this State re-enlisted as veterans, volunteers, and considerable detachments in other regiments took a similar patriotic step. During ten months of 1864, Michigan sent to the war more than half as many men as were enlisted in the State during the whole of the first three years of hostilities, and of these only 1,600 were drafted.

The records of the several regiments given evidence of the greatest valor upon their part, which has been justly rewarded by glorious results. The achievements of Michigan troops in the war are matters of fame, and the report of the Adjutant General teems with important testimony on this question. It is a most important contribution to the military history of the past four years.

A COMET VISIBLE.—Biela's comet is now visible to the naked eye. It may be seen in the constellation Pegasus, and close to the bright star Markab, one of the bright luminaries which form the well-known square of Pegasus. It is now pursuing a southerly course, and will cross the celestial square about the middle of December. Singular enough, it then crosses the old path followed in 1346 and near a point where it was then observed to separate into two comets. It will continue to approach the earth until the end of February, when its distance from us will be only eighteen millions of miles. At that time, however, it will have advanced far into the Southern heavens, and disappears from here and in higher latitude.

It has been officially decided that a volunteer who enlisted as a representative recruit for a person who was not liable to the draft, is entitled to the same bounty as other recruits. A soldier who was transferred to the Veteran Reserve Corps, and honorably discharged before the expiration of his term of enlistment, is declared to be entitled to all the bounty, the same as if he had served out his entire term.

Wirz's Last Hours.

Mr. Schade, counsel for Wirz, says he was called upon by several persons last night, as was also Father Boyle, who communicated information purporting to come from a member of the cabinet, to the effect that if Wirz would acknowledge that Jeff Davis was connected with the atrocities at Andersonville, his sentence should be commuted. Although Mr. Schade did not place full confidence in the report, he considered it to be his duty to relate it to the prisoner at his last conference with him. Capt. Wirz, in reply, said: "Mr. Schade, you know I have always told you that I did not know anything about Jeff Davis. He had no connection with me as to what was done at Andersonville, and if I knew he had, I would not become a traitor against him or any one else to save my life."

Among his last acts, Captain W. addressed a letter to Mr. O. S. Baker, one of his counsel, in which he remarked he had not said a word that could be construed into reflection upon him. He merely stated that he had not solicited him as his counsel at first, but accepted his services cheerfully. He concluded as follows: "I will say again as I said before, that I believe you have done all you could for me, and therefore accept my thanks, the thanks of a dying man."

The following letter was written, just before mounting the gallows, to Mr. Schade: "Dear Sir—It is no doubt the last time I address myself to you. What I have said to you often and often, accept my thanks, my sincere heartfelt thanks, for all you have done for me. May God reward you, I cannot. Still I have something more to ask of you, and I am convinced you will not refuse to receive my dying request. Please help my poor family, my dear wife and children. War, cruel war, has swept everything from me, and to-day my wife and children are beggars. My life is demanded as an atonement; I am willing to give it, and I hope after a while I will be judged different from what I am now. If any one ought to come to the relief of my family it is the people of the South, for whose sake I have sacrificed all. I know you will excuse me for troubling you again. Farewell, dear sir; may God bless you.

"Your thankful, H. WIRZ."

SIMON'S WIFE'S MOTHER.—A friend just returned from New York tells us a pretty good story of an Illinoisian who was stopping at the same hotel. On Sunday, the western man being desirous of hearing several of the more famous pulpit orators of the metropolis, went in the morning to Dr. Chapin's church but heard a stranger preach from the text: "But Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever." In the afternoon he went to Beecher's Plymouth Church, and heard the same discourse from the same preacher. Going in the evening to Dr. Osgood's church he found the same clergyman and the same theme: "Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever." The next day the patient bearer of the thrice-told discourse was crossing to Brooklyn in a ferry boat when the alarm bell in the Park agitated the air with its great shocks of sound, and a man behind him inquired why that bell was tolling. Looking up he saw the now familiar countenance of the preacher, and was prompt to reply: "I think Simon's wife's mother must be dead; I heard three times yesterday that she was sick of a fever."

DOMESTIC LIFE.—No man ever prospered in the world without the consent and co-operation of his wife. If she unites in mutual endeavors, or rewards his labor with an endearing smile, with what spirit and perseverance does he apply his vocation; with what confidence will he resort either to his merchandise, or farm; fly over land; sail upon the seas; meet difficulty; and encounter danger—if he knows he is not spending his strength in vain, but that his labor will be rewarded by the sweets of home! How delightful it is to have a friend to cheer and companion; to soothe the solitary hours of grief and pain! Solitude and disappointment enter into the history of every man's life; and he but half provided for his voyage who finds but an associate for happy hours, while for his months of darkness and distress no sympathizing partner is prepared!

THE ECLIPSE OF THE SUN AS SEEN AT SAVANNAH, Ga.—The Savannah Republican of the 20th says:

At a quarter before eight o'clock yesterday morning the eclipse commenced, and the brilliant sunlight commenced to grow less, until it had become almost entirely extinguish. The city presented a very beautiful but somewhat unnatural appearance, for the darkness could not be said to belong either to evening or morning, but had a peculiarly strange effect, especially when the sun was seen through the trees. From the half moon appearance it gradually becomes less, till it had assumed the appearance of a quarter moon, leaving the rest in complete darkness. A strange chill was keenly felt during the entire eclipse somewhat similar to that frequently felt just immediately before sunrise, and which passed away with the eclipse. Children on their way to school, who had probably never seen an eclipse or remembered one, looked at each other with astonishment on seeing that beautiful morning changed again in so short a time into what appeared to be nightfall.

The singing birds, which had commenced so melodiously in the parks and outside the city, suddenly ceased, and the creatures fluttered among the trees from branch to branch, as though they were undecided as to whether they should again go to roost or fly off to the fields for their breakfast. Some of our shoe-blacks, the lazy portion, congratulated each other on the shortness of the day, and wondered if the sun was really in earnest, or was "only selling" everybody, being probably like themselves, for at least one day, more inclined to play tricks than go through his day's work. Shortly after eleven o'clock the eclipse passed away, and with it the peculiar chill with which it was accompanied, and the sun again shone forth with his usual brilliancy and flow of heat throughout the entire day, which was beautifully fine.

THE MORNING AND EVENING STARS.—The planet Venus has been visible to the naked eye thus far all the month. It is some four degrees north of the moon. It will approach the sun until February 9th, 1866; after that date it will set after the sun. The planet Jupiter is now our evening star, and is slowly approaching the sun, and on December 31st it will set with the sun. After that date it will become a morning star. Saturn crossed the meridian on the 21st, at noon, and is now a morning star. Mars crossed the meridian Sept. 30th, 37 minutes behind the sun, and on the 28th will set with it. After that date it becomes a morning star.

WEEKLY UNION.

"There's a child among ye taken notes, And faith he'll prent 'em."

A few lengths of 6-inch second-hand stove pipe for sale at this office.

There will be preaching at the United Brethren church next Sabbath at 10 1-2 o'clock, by Rev. Wm. Proutz.

For Sale.—A house, and two lots and a half, with good well, cistern, &c. One of the most desirable locations in town. For particulars, price, &c., inquire at this office.

We hear a rumor that the murderers of Mr. Chauncey Earl, at Duval's Bluff, Ark., are found, and one or more of them have been arrested. It is said that a young man, who lodged in the same store was the leader of the villains, and that two others were implicated.—Niles Freeman.

SOCIAL SOIREE.—Cushman and Troupe give an entertainment at Union Hall next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Nov. 21st and 22d. Mr. Cushman will be assisted by the best guitarist now traveling; also by Clarence H. Burke, organist of the First Baptist Church, Washington, D. C. For particulars, see the "Peoples' Paper," circulated in this village to-day.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS.—Such is the title of what is now acknowledged to be the favorite magazine of the young folks, for whom it is specially designed. It would form a handsome gift from parents to children at any time of year, but more especially for the holidays, when they always expect something. Published by Ticknor & Fields, Boston, at $2 per year.

CONVICTED.—A man named David Wood, who was arrested for passing counterfeit greenbacks at Three Oaks, in this county, last June, has been convicted before the U. S. District Court, at its recent session in Grand Rapids, and sentenced to five years' hard labor in the State Prison.—Niles Freeman.

CHANGED HANDS.—The St. Joseph Valley Register, published at South Bend, Ind., by Colfax & Wheeler, and then by Wheeler & Hall, has changed hands, the latter gentlemen having disposed of the establishment to Mr. Archibald Beal, late editor and proprietor of the Mishawaka Enterprise, and Mr. C. E. Fuller, formerly of the Rochester Chronicle. These are both gentlemen of marked ability, and under their able management the Register cannot be less than what it has been—i. e. one of the best county papers published in the Northwest. We would extend the hand of fraternal friendship, and hope that prosperity may ever attend them in their new field of labors.

First Premiums have been awarded with commendable alacrity by the ladies to the incomparable Florence, and the reason is obvious. The Florence Sewing Machine is easily managed and not liable to get out of order, and is consequently always ready for work; its absolute stillness has deservedly won for it the title of the noiseless machine. The reversible feed is universally spoken of in the highest terms of praise, both for its simplicity and utility. The four different stitches are the wonder and admiration of all. Those desiring the purchase of a sewing machine should not fail to examine the Florence. Samples of work and descriptive circulars sent on application to Messrs. Wm. H. Sharp & Co., General Northwestern agents, 100 Washington street, Chicago.—Three Rivers Reporter.

Let it be remembered that Mrs. P. B. Dunning, of this village, is agent for the sale of the above excellent machine. Call at her rooms over Cotten, Estes & Co's store, on the corner of Front and Main streets.

THE LADY'S FRIEND.—The December number of this favorite magazine is a superb one. The leading steel engraving, in illustration of the text, "Children's children are the crown of old men. And the glory of children are their fathers," is one that will go home to many hearts. The engraved title-page is truly beautiful—it is a gem of art. It represents The Past and The Future—while, round, "The little birds sing East, and the little birds sing West."

to use a well-known line from Mrs. Brown's beautiful "Rhyme of the Dutchess May." The Double Colored Steel Fashion Plate for this number will be pronounced by the ladies "superb," or else we are very greatly mistaken. Then there are engravings of the new fashions in jackets, cloaks, embroidery, collifures, bonnets, &c. The literary matter is excellent as usual. Price $2.50 a year; 2 copies $4.00; 8 copies (and one gratis) $16. Now is the time to get up clubs for 1866. Specimen numbers for this purpose will be sent for 15 cents. Wheeler & Wilson's celebrated Sewing Machines are furnished as Premiums in certain cases. The Prospectus of this magazine for next year embodies a splendid list of contributors. Address Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

The Terms of Court.

By a recent order of Judge Smith, the time for holding the regular terms of the Circuit Court for the Second Judicial Circuit have been fixed as follows:

Berrien County.—Third Tuesdays of February and May; first Tuesday of August, and second Tuesday of November. Cass County.—Third Tuesdays of January, April, and July, and last Tuesday of September. St. Joseph County.—First Tuesdays of March and June, second Tuesday of August, and fourth Tuesday of November. Branch County.—First Tuesdays of February and May, fourth Tuesday of July, and third Tuesday of October.

A CARD. Ross & Fulton desire to inform their numerous friends that they are about closing out their large stock of Domestic and Fancy Dry Goods, Clothing, Boots & Shoes, &c., &c., and for the next 30 or 60 days will offer all their goods for less than they can be bought anywhere else in Berrien county. We mean it, call and examine for yourselves. n27

PARTICULAR NOTICE.—All persons having unsettled accounts with my deceased husband are requested to call upon me at his late residence, at their earliest convenience, and adjust the same, as I intend going East in a few weeks. Parties having teeth engaged will please call and see about them, as he left several set already finished. Mrs. Wm. Remington. Buchanan, Oct. 23rd, 1865.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—I have placed my books in the hands of N. H. Merrill for settlement and collection. Therefore, all persons knowing themselves to be indebted to me will call at once and settle, as I am determined to settle all my outstanding accounts immediately. Mr. Merrill may be found in the office of Wm. S. Merrill, Esq. E. S. Dodd.

NOTICE.—Persons having accounts of long standing with us are requested to call and settle, as short settlements make long friends. We are bound to sell goods at a very small profit, and hence must have quick returns. DAY & BURN'S. Aug. 9th, 1865. n14tf

MARRIED. At the residence of the bride's father, on the evening of Nov. 9th, 1865, by Eld. Wm. M. Roe, Mr. Scott WILKINSON and Miss FRANCES TORREN, both of this village. Our young friends will please accept the thanks of the editor and family—for those nice slices of wedding cake, together with the expressed hope that its good qualities may be an index to the future life-journeys of the happy couple. That their "days may be of silver and their nights of gold" is our most earnest wish. At Pontiac, Ill., on Friday, Nov. 10th, 1865, Mr. HENRY R. BAKER, and Miss JULIETT HOOKER, both of this village. At the Advent Chapel, in this village, on the evening of the 12th inst., by Eld. D. R. Mansfield, Mr. DON Mc ROSE and Miss MARGARET M. STRONG, both of this place.

WILLCOX & GIBBS SEWING MACHINE

WILL STITCH, HEM, FELL, TUCK, COED, BIND, &c. WILL BRAD, QUILT AND EMBROIDER BEAUTIFULLY. It will sew the finest muslin, over the heaviest button cloth and cowhide, with the same ease and precision. It will make every cotton, linen, silk, and wool. It runs easier, faster and stiffer than any other machine. It forms a flat, even and straight seam, allowing every other machine to be beaten. THE "ROTATING HOOK," said sewing the twist into the goods, thus securing fastening every stitch, and the same will hold the goods together, and in that case even, the thread is warranted NOT TO RIP IN wear, and under all circumstances to "retrieve the washings." Old worn out family garments, button, button, button, have been sent to Committees at FATHS' "WIGGIE" and the "WIGGIE" cannot be compared with THIS STITCH. Machines have been awarded for their SUPERIORITY, DURABILITY, ELASTICITY and BEAUTY. A Patent has been granted for the possibility of the machine being run in the wrong direction, or the balance wheel being out of touching the drive.

THE NEEDLE CANNOT BE SET WRONG. NO BREAKING OF NEEDLES. The blade of the needle is less than three fourths of an inch long, and is straight. THE HEMMER AND FELLER CAN NEVER BE SET WRONG. They may be adjusted to suit any fabric. The hem may be of any width. The feller will follow the line of the hem, and will not cut the right or under side of you work. IT WILL NOT DRAG STITCHES. As the needle is always set right, the blade does not drag, does not pull, like longer needles. It runs by steam at 2000 stitches per minute—other machines at only 400 to 1200, with safety. They are Manufactured with Mathematical Precision. Hence each part is interchangeable and can be readily replaced in case of accident. The machine cannot be adjusted, and will not get out of order. It will last a generation, if properly cared for. None who have used it can be brought to us. THE REMAINS, EVENING, DURABILITY and BEAUTY of its stitch. WE NEVER EQUIVALENT. THE RATCHET, ABSOLUTE SILENCE, EASE OF MOTION, HERRINGBONE and PATENT OF ITS HEM AND FELL, were NEVER APPROVED by any other machine. We can call in any boy or girl from the street, and with three minutes instruction they will be able to sew, attach the Hemmer, or Feller, and do the work with entire ease. The press uniformly pronounced this the Best Family Sewing Machine in the world. Whatever the merits of the other machines, it is no disparagement to say that Willcox & Gibbs, for family use, double that of any other ever offered to the public. It received the Gold Medal of the American Institute—the first premium for

"THE BEST SEWING MACHINE." at the Great New England Fair—the Vermont State Fair—the New York State Fair—the Indiana State Fair—the Ohio State Fair—the First Premiums at the meetings of Mechanical and Scientific Societies all over the world, among its trophies in 1864. It is now the Great Leading Family Sewing Machine ALL OVER THE WORLD. Price of Machines, with hammer, feller, gage, oil, case, extra needles, full directions, &c., from $50 to $125. BARNUM'S SELF-SEWER, for all Sewing Machines, Guides the work itself, avoiding the best posture and strain on the eye. Price $1.50. Large Office to Agents. We take other machines in exchange. We sell Oil, Cotton, Silk, Wool and every kind of sewing machine. AGENTS WANTED.—Terms to agents, descriptive circular and specimens of work sent free by mail, on receipt of stamp, or had of L. CORNELL & CO., Gen'l Ag'ts, 133 Lake Street, CHICAGO.

NEW SKIRT FOR 1865-6.

The Great Invention of the Age in HOOP SKIRTS.

J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (or double) SPRING SKIRT.

This Invention consists of Duff's (or two) ELLIPTIC PURE REFINED STEEL SPRINGS, ingeniously BRADED TOGETHER and FAMILY BEGOTTED, &c., &c., making the "ROUNDEST," "MOST FLEXIBLE," "ELASTIC" and "DURABLE" SPRING ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the Single Springs, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful Shape more than twice as long as any Single Spring Skirt that Ever Has or Can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small space as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin Dress.

A Lady having Enjoyed the Pleasure, Comfort and Great Convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double twisted thread and will wear twice as long as the Single yarn covering which is used on all Single Steel Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rods on every Skirt are also Double Steel, and twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, stone steps, &c., &c. which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegant Corded Tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearers the most graceful and perfect Shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical Skirt ever made.

WEST'S BRADLEY & CARY, PROPRIETORS of the Invention, and SOLE MANUFACTURERS, 97 CHAMBERS, and 75 & 81 READE STREETS, New York.

For Sale in all first-class Stores in this City, and throughout the United States and Canada, Havana de Cuba, Mexico, South America, and the West Indies.

Inquire for the Duplex Elliptic (or double) Spring Skirt. n17m8 A. & C.

Anecdotes of the Letter "A."

There is living on Martha's vineyard an old man who has never been off the island and the extent of his knowledge is bounded by the confines of his home. He has been told of a war between the North and South, but as he has never heard the din of battle nor seen any soldiers, considers it a hoax. He is utterly unable to read and is ignorant to the last degree. An excellent story is told of his first and only day at school. He was quite a lad when a lady came to the district where his father resided to teach school. He was sent, and as the teacher was classifying the school, he was called up in turn and interrogated as to his former studies. Of course he had to say that he had never been to school and knew none of his letters. The schoolmistress gave him a seat on one side until she had finished the preliminary examination of the rest of the scholars. She then called him to her, and drew on the black board the letter A, told him what it was, and wished him to remember how it looked. He looked at it a moment, and inquired (he stammered):

"H-h-how do you know it's A?" The teacher replied that when she was a girl, she had been to school to an old gentleman who told her so.

The boy eyed the A for a moment, and then asked, "H-h-how did he know?"

This was almost a stunner, but the teacher suddenly recollected that her teacher had told her that when a boy had been to school to a lady who had taught him that it was A.

The boy eyed the letter a little longer, when he burst out with, "H-h-how did he know but she lied?"

The teacher could not get over this obstacle and the poor boy was sent home as incorrigible.

When the above was told at the breakfast table, the excellent lady who made the coffee was reminded of a little girl in Worcester, whose first lesson was this wise:—"That is A my dear, and you must remember to tell me its name to-morrow morning."

"What letter is that?" was the inquiry the next day.

"Don't you know," asked the pupil.

"Yes, I know, of course."

"Well, then," said the three-year old, "if you know, and I know, that's enough!"

Upon this the school-master, putting an unusual lump of sugar in his coffee (thirty cents a pound!), was reminded of a boy on the coast of Maine, who was more familiar with Capt. Cuttle's "briny deep" than with the inside of a school-house. When the master pointed to the first letter of the alphabet, and asked him what it was—

"Darned if I know."

"Well, that's A."

"Thunder, is that A? By holl-wacks, I've hearn tell of it, but never saw it afore!"—[Boston Advertiser.]

"That was a horrible affair," said Mr. Marton to Mr. Southgate, "the murder of Dean and sealing up his remains in a tin box." "What Dean?" asked the bewildered musician. "Sardine," replied the funny actor.

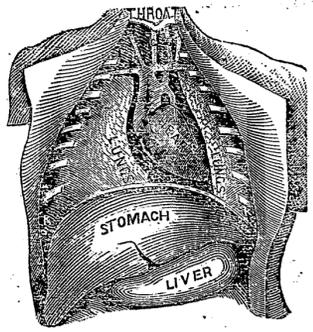

Mr. Quilp, who is an uncommercial traveler, tried a Camden and Amboy sleeping car, a few nights since, and confesses that during the night "a great many things came into his head."

Artemus Ward says when he hears the song, "Come where my love lies dreaming," he don't go. He don't think it would be right.

"My lord," said the foreman of a Welsh jury, when giving in their verdict, "we find this man that stole the mate not guilty."

OBSERVE WELL
The Noted Analytical Physician,
DR. V. CLARENCE PRICE.

THE only Physician of his kind in the West, who has met with the greatest success, gained a better reputation, effected more complete cures, visited places the longest without missing an engagement, than any physician that travels, has outlived them all, and become noted for his skill in treating all chronic diseases of the head, nerves, kidneys, bladder, womb and blood affections of the urinary organs, gravel, scrofula, rheumatism, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, dyspepsia, &c.

Our practice, not one of experiments, but of twenty years standing, founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it. Do not tear down, make sick to make well, no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattery. We know the cause and the remedy needed, no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of these diseases exclusively, no encouragement without a prospect. Candid in our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or cure everybody, but do claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailment, to call, investigate before they abandon hope, make interrogations and decide for themselves, will cost nothing, as consultation is free. This is the seventh year that I have visited this place, and I shall make my visits for years regularly on the same days of the week every eight weeks.

I shall be for consultation at Niles, Bond House, on Friday the 15th of December; at Laporte, Parker House, 17th and 18th of December; at South Bend, Deming's Hotel, 16th of December.

HELMBOLD!

FLUID EXTRACT

—OR—

BUCHU.

AT THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE

THE HOTTENTOTS

Have long used

FOR A VARIETY OF DISEASES.

It was borrowed from those rude practitioners by the

ENGLISH AND DUTCH PHYSICIANS,

On whose recommendation it was employed in Europe, and has now come into general use.

IT IS GIVEN CHIEFLY IN

Gravel, Chronic Catarrh of the Bladder,

MORBID IRRITATION

OF THE BLADDER AND URETHRA,

FOR FEMALE WEAKNESS AND

DEBILITY,

For Prolapsus and Bearing Down, or Prolapsus Uteri,

DISEASES OF THE PROSTATE GLAND,

Retention, or Incontinence of Urine,

And all diseases requiring the aid of a diuretic arising from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation.

IT IS ALSO RECOMMENDED IN CASES OF

DYSPEPSIA,

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM,

Cutaneous Affections and Dropsy.

To cure these diseases we must bring into action the muscles, which are engaged in their various functions. To neglect them, however slight may be the attack, is sure to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

OUR FLESH AND BLOOD,

are supported from these sources.

PERSONS AT EVERY PERIOD OF LIFE

From Infancy to Old Age,

and in every state of health, are liable to be subjects of these diseases.

The Cause in Many Instances are Unknown.

The patient has, however, an admirable remedy in

HELMBOLD'S

FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU.

Philadelphia Evening Bulletin Editorial, SEPT. 15, 1865.

HELMBOLD'S

GENUINE PREPARATIONS.

His Solid and Fluid Extracts embody the full strength of the ingredients of which they are named. They are left to the inspection of all. A ready and conclusive test of their properties will be a comparison with those set forth in the United States Dispensary. These remedies are prepared by H. T. Helmbold, a druggist of sixteen years' experience in this city, and we believe them to be reliable; in fact, we have never known an article lacking merit to meet with a permanent success, and Mr. Helmbold's success is certainly prima facie evidence. His Drug and Chemical Warehouse, in the city of New York, is not excelled, if equaled, by any in the country, and we would advise our readers, when visiting that city, to give him a call, and judge for themselves.

THE WEED

with all the recent Improvements, is beyond question, more Perfect than any Machine now in use for all kinds of work.

It has become established in all parts of Europe, and is in like manner becoming the Machine all over the loyal North. Such unparalleled success is due to the merit of the Machine, as all may see upon examination. We challenge comparison, and invite all who desire a perfect Sewing Machine to test for themselves. Send or bring work which other Machines cannot do, and the WEED will do it. They use two threads, with a straight needle and shuttle, making the lock stitch, which is alike on both sides, and for it is the only stitch worthy of use. Are simple in construction, and never get out of order; are kept clean without taking apart or moving a screw; run easily, and as still as the most nervous person could wish. They stitch, hem, fell, braid, cord, bind, and gather, without basting. They use silk, cotton, or linen thread, and will sew from one to twenty thicknesses of Marseilles without any change whatever, and make every stitch perfect.

Economy, Durability, Elasticity, and Beauty,

The Manufacturing Machine is without doubt the best for all kinds of heavy army clothing, tailoring, &c., and yet the same Machine will stitch perfectly the finest shirt bosom. In proof of their superiority over other Machines, we can refer to many of the leading clothing houses in the eastern States, now using them, who have tried and laid aside the other standard machines. The Manufacturing Machines are set to run at different rates of speed, from three to five stitches to a revolution, although all our Machines may be run by steam and bear tremendous speed. A Manufacturer at No. 91 Washington street, Chicago, writes that "the No. 8 Machine has been running by steam there at a greater rate of speed than any other machine has ever been capable of enduring." The test mentioned was 1100 stitches per minute.

We would call the special attention of Boot & Shoe Manufacturers to the fact that the WEED makes the tightest stitch and fills the holes in the leather better than any machine extant. They are fast superseding all other machines with the leading Boot & Shoe and Harness Manufacturers.

Every Machine WARRANTED AS REPRESENTED or money refunded. AGENTS wanted, to whom great inducements are offered. Also a few good men to travel.

Address all letters to WEED SEWING MACHINE CO., No. 506 Broadway, N. Y.

FLORENCE

Sewing Machine

The only Machine making more than one kind of Stitch and having the reversible Feed Motion.

The Florence makes the Lock, Knot, Double Lock and Double Knot Stitches, on one and the same Machine. Each Stitch is alike on both sides of the fabric.

The Operator by simply turning a thumb screw, can have the work run either to the right or left, stay any part of the seam, or fasten the ends of seams without turning the fabric, or stopping the motion of the machine.

It does the finest and heaviest work with equal facility.

It is simple, and easily managed, is durable and not liable to get out of order. Is unequalled in beauty of design.

It will hem, fell, braid, cord, tuck, quilt, &c. Each Machine furnished with "Barnum's Self-Sewer."

Every Machine fully warranted.
