THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 8, 1870.

Republican State Ticket.

Governor—HENRY B. BALDWIN.
Lieut. Governor—MORDECAI BAKER.
Attorney General—EDWARD D. BAXTER.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

The Congressional Convention assembled at White Pigeon on Wednesday. It was apparent from the first that no other man than Gen. Stoughton could be nominated.

There were 39 delegates in the Convention for Mr. Stoughton to 11 against him. There was one peculiar feature which, at least, would have prevented the success of any other man in the Convention, viz: a large number of the delegates were office holders under Mr. Stoughton.

Great events, in the history of the Franco-Prussian war, have crowded themselves into the doings of the last week. The Emperor Napoleon is a prisoner of King William, of Prussia. The French have laid aside the Emperor and the Empire, and have proclaimed a Republic.

Republican State Convention.

One of the largest and in every way most important Republican Conventions that ever met in the State, assembled in this city yesterday. It was composed of a large number of the leading men of the State, and its action will undoubtedly prove acceptable to the party it represents.

The re-nomination of Gov. Baldwin was expected, of course, party usage required it, as well as the unusual capable and faithful public servant which the Governor, as Chief Executive of the State Gov. Baldwin has performed his whole duty; indeed, he has given to his public duties a degree of personal attention and labor that few officers could be induced to do.

The War—Latest Dispatches.

SEDES, Sept. 2-1:22 p. m.—The whole French army are prisoners of war. The Emperor surrendered to me. MacMahon is wounded.

BERLIN, Sept. 3.—The following important dispatch has just been made public: "BROUARD SEDAN, France, Sept. 2—1222 p. m.—From the King to the Queen: A capitulation, whereby the whole army at Sedan are prisoners of war, has just been concluded with General Wimpfen, commanding instead of Marshal MacMahon, who is wounded. The Emperor surrendered himself to me, as he has no command, and left everything to the Regent."

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED AT THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION. Resolved, That we adhere with undiminished confidence and pride to the Republican party, that by its wisdom, fidelity and courage crushed the slaveholder's rebellion, preserved the Union, and by a change in the constitution established liberty and equality; overthrew armed rebels in the field, and achieved victories at the polls over political opponents who not only pronounced the war for the national life a failure, but gave sympathy and support to the armed forces of the country; and with the aid of such loyal Democrats as preserved their country to the Republic, crushed treason, abolished slavery, established equal suffrage, gave the poor man a homestead, built the Pacific railway, established the right of extradition, vindicated the Monroe Doctrine, and in spite of the combined opposition of its political enemies, has maintained its integrity, its credit and the honor of the nation.

Proclamations Issued.

PARIS, 6.—The Journal Officiel de la Republique publishes the following: PROCLAMATION. The republic is proclaimed. A government has been appointed by acclamation. It is composed of the citizens Emanuel Ferry, Groutoux, Jules Favre, Jules Ferry, Groutoux, Groutoux, Jules Simon, Representatives of France. General Trochu is entrusted with full military powers for the national defence. He has been called to the Presidency of the Government. The government invites the people to be calm, and not to forget that they are in the face of the enemy. The government which is before all a government for National Defence has formed a Ministry as follows: Jules Favre, Minister of Foreign Affairs; General Trochu, Minister of War; Admiral Fournier, Minister of Marine; Emmanuel Groutoux, Minister of Justice; Ernest Picard, Minister of Finance; Jules Simon, Minister of Public Instruction and Worship; Dorian, Minister of Public Works; Maguin, Minister of Agriculture and Commerce. The Minister of the Presidency of the Council of State is supreme. Mr. Steuckers is appointed Director of Telegraphs. The Government of National Defence calls the Corps Legislatif to be dissolved, and the Senate abolished. Full amnesty is accorded for all political crimes and offences anterior to the press laws committed since December 3, 1852, to December 6, 1870. All the condemned still detained, whether by judgment or correctional tribunals, or cours d'assises, or councils of war, shall be immediately set at liberty.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—The vote on the deposition of the Emperor Napoleon III, by the Corps Legislatif was carried by a vote of 188 out of 207 votes. LONDON, Sept. 6.—Lambton lies dead at Namur, in Belgium. Decrees abolishing the citizens from oaths to the empire, and abolishing stamps on Journals, have been issued. NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The Commercial Advertiser says President Grant has instructed Secretary Fish to issue a proclamation recognizing the new French Republic.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—The Emperor Napoleon III, King of Prussia. The whole French army at Sedan are prisoners of war. The Emperor surrendered himself to me, as he has no command, and left everything to the Regent. The Emperor's residence is to be appointed by the King, after an interview with him. The capitulation was concluded with General Wimpfen, instead of MacMahon, who was wounded.

The Wedding.

The engrossing topic of conversation, especially among the ladies, for a week preceding Tuesday night, was the approaching wedding. The parties around whom the interest gathered were our highly esteemed and respected young friends, Mr. Henry C. French, formerly of the firm of French Bros., and Miss Emily K., daughter of Hon. L. P. Alexander, of our village. No two young persons, in all our community, were more highly esteemed, and could claim a larger circle of friends than Mr. French and Miss Alexander. In view of the approaching marriage the conversation among the ladies turned much upon "What shall I wear to the wedding?" Well, suffice it to say, judging from the appearances among the invited, on the evening of the marriage, there was no scarcity of "what to wear" among the ladies.

As the appointed hour, six and a half p. m., drew near, couple after couple, dressed in their best, could be seen wending their way to the residence of Mr. Alexander, to attend the wedding. All was interest and good cheer, and by the arrival of the designated hour, the large and commodious residence of Mr. A. was well filled with some two hundred guests. Soon it was announced that all things were in readiness for the marriage. All were on tip-toe to gain a view of the bride and groom as they entered the room where the "triumph" was to be made.

The particular interest, at this moment, centered on the bride, who was richly and gracefully attired in brown silk, trimmed with white lace, and with tastefully arranged hair, decorated by a single bunch of snow-white flowers. There was no effort at display, but all was in harmony with good taste, and we must say, good sense.

When all things were in order, Rev. Wm. Fuller, former Pastor of the Presbyterian Church, in a brief and impressive ceremony, duly pronounced the twin "husband and wife." Then followed congratulations from the host of friends present. And we would, in no wise, forget the hour of refreshment. The cakes of a dozen delicious kinds, the ice cream in abundance, delicious fruits of the season, candies, and, in fact, everything that was good for the "outer man." These all were enjoyed by those present.

A little laughable episode transpired, by Hon. B. M. Plimpton announcing during the evening, that a war dispatch had been received reporting a "French" victory, in which it was announced that the "French" had stormed the castle of Alexander, and captured his only daughter, without the loss of a single man. Our dispatches, however, read that one "single" man had been captured in the storming of the castle referred to.

About half past eight the party "broke up," and soon the newly married couple started for the east, via South Bend, on their wedding tour, with the kind wishes of a host of friends following them.

There was a large attendance at the Annual School Meeting on Monday evening last, and considerable interest in school matters was manifested. After considerable debate it was voted unanimously that the district proceed to erect a school house, to cost not more than $25,000, and the School Board was instructed to issue the bonds of the district to the amount of $15,000.

The following are the expenditures of the School District for last year, as per report of the Director: Teachers wages (7 teachers) $3,110.00. Incidental expenses, including the fitting up of rooms in Day & Binns' block 757.79. Repairing school house, wood house, fences, &c. 809.54. Total $4,677.53.

The election of Trustees resulted in the choice of Messrs. Charles Clark and Wm. S. Merrill.

The counties comprising the Second Congressional District are requested to send delegates to a convention to be held in the village of Three Rivers, on Wednesday, the 14th day of September, 1870, at 11 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for Congress at the approaching general election. All who endorse the Platform adopted at the Prohibition Convention held in Jackson, Aug. 3d, 1870, are invited to send in the convention.

HORSE THIEVES.—Owners of fine horses cannot watch them too carefully, as there are undoubtedly thieves about. On Saturday night last some of them made an attempt to steal the horse of Mr. D. Totter, but were discovered and scared off, and we learn that suspicious looking persons have been sneaking about the barns of other parties in this vicinity. Look out for them!

According to the census of 1869 there were 810 school children in this district, yet the average daily attendance of scholars during the year was only 800, and with our present buildings not many more than this number can be accommodated this year at our public schools. This we consider a strong argument in favor of completing the new school house as soon as possible.

UNION SCHOOL.—The Buchanan schools commenced on Monday last with a large attendance. The following are the teachers engaged for the ensuing year: Prof. S. P. Barrett, Principal; Miss Emma Richards, Assistant; Mrs. S. B. Strong, Principal of Intermediate Department; Miss Mary Leeds, Assistant; Miss Mary French, Primary Department; Miss Maria Sampson, 2d Intermediate Department; Miss Susie Brewer, 2d Primary Department.

A Murder—A Mystery. Who is the Murdered, and Who the Murderer?

On Wednesday, of last week, Mr. Samuel Dempsey and Mr. Wm. Morley discovered the remains of a man in a "huckleberry" marsh some three miles west of Buchanan. The body had been buried or slightly covered with earth and muck, and was discovered by the projection of some of the bones above the surface. On Thursday morning a number of our citizens repaired to the place, and a Coroner's Jury was empaneled by Esq. Merrill.

When the earth was removed it was found that the flesh was almost wholly decayed, excepting some portions of the legs. The decomposition had, doubtless, been very rapid, as the earth covering was so thin as not to exclude the air. The body had been buried face downward, and had on a white shirt, wide and narrow pleated bosom; a black cloth or doeksin vest, bound around the edge, and had an inside pocket, the appearance of which indicated that it had been used to carry a pocket book or something of the kind. A pair of cotton socks were on the feet. This comprised the clothing on the body. A coat was thrown partially over the body. This was of black cloth, bound, half sacque, with one skirt torn off. Around the neck was a rope with a noose, at the other end was also a noose which had been cut. Around the waist was an old surcingle also having a noose around the body, the other end had been cut. Looking as if the murdered man had been carried to the place by means of a pole being passed through the nooses of the top and under the angle, on one end of the rope being under the neck, the other around the feet and the pole passed through this with the surcingle so arranged as to hold up the center of the body. When his murderers (there must have been more than one on this supposition) had arrived at the place of concealment, the nooses on the ropes were cut and the pole, or whatever was used to carry him on, was removed and taken away.

Through the back of the vest were two holes, evidently made either by balls from a gun or pistol, or, perhaps, by a knife. The latter supposition hardly seems reasonable from the fact that the holes were round, and in the outer portion of the back, the edges being somewhat irregular, as if they had been burned, such as would have been the case if a gun or pistol had been discharged in close proximity to the body. The holes through the lining of the vest back corresponded with those in the outer, except they were much smaller. The murdered man was of medium height, rather tall than otherwise, of perhaps from forty to fifty-five years of age; dark brown or sandy hair, slightly sprinkled with gray; with middle long whiskers considerably gray; the bone of the nose inclined to the right, or a little crooked; the teeth were considerably decayed, and he had been given to smoking, as the front teeth were considerably worn, where a pipe stem would be held.

The most reasonable solution, to our mind, is that the murdered man was attacked or murdered in bed. This idea seems to comport with the circumstances so far as can be gathered from the mystery in which the foul deed is shrouded. It looks as if the murdered man carried his money in his inner vest pocket, and that retiring to bed he had left his vest on, for the protection of his money, (being suspicious of his surroundings.) The weather being cold, (as it seems the murder could not have been done longer ago than the latter part of winter,) he kept his socks on. In this condition he was shot or stabbed in the bed, his money taken from his vest pocket, and his vest left buttoned up as it was when found. In this case the absence of the boots, hat and pantaloons are easily accounted for. The only thing militating with this view is the fact of the coat being torn. This, however, might have been thrown over the body when it was conveyed from the place of murder to the marsh where it was secreted. While going through the brush it might have caught, and a sudden jerk from the assassin, has torn it as it was found. Samuels, however, are all the same, he dealt in, relative to the mystery surrounding the commission of the horrible crime. It seems, however, that the crime must have been committed somewhere, at least, within a few miles of the place where the body was found.

The following is the verdict rendered by the Coroner's jury in the case: County of Berrien.—An inquisition taken at the township of Buchanan, in said county, on the first day of September, A. D. 1870, before William S. Merrill, one of the Justices of the Peace of the said county, and the view of the body of a person lying dead at the farm of Samuel Dempsey, in said township and county, by the oaths of the Jurors subscribed, who, being sworn to inquire in behalf of the people of this State, when, in what manner, and by what means the said person died, and upon their oaths, do say: That the name of the person here lying dead is unknown to the Jurors aforesaid, and that he came to his death within the six months last past, at the said county of Berrien aforesaid, by violence from the hands of some person or persons unknown to these Jurors.

In testimony whereof, the said Justice of the Peace and the Jurors aforesaid have hereunto set their hands the day and year aforesaid. Wm. S. MERRILL, Justice of the Peace. N. B. COLLINS, L. BRYANT, W. L. BRIGGS, LEWIS V. BAKER, H. J. HOWE, SAMUEL DEMPSEY, Jurors.

By the authority invested in me by law, I hereby offer $100 reward for the arrest of the party or parties who committed the foregoing murder. J. F. WARNER, Sheriff, Sept. 5, 1870.

Dr. Dibble.—Dear Sir.—Your reply to "P. King" does not impart much information, except the difference in altitude between yourself and Mr. King. But as that is a matter not involved in the "snake bite," and of no importance whatever, you will pardon me for not being satisfied with your response. Your "test" for snake bite seemed to be so very convenient, so easy of application, in fact, Doctor, so much more desirable in every way than the "Death Test," that it is impossible for me not to desire a knowledge of it. I think, in this, I have the sympathies of an "intelligent public," and perhaps even the less intelligent of the medical profession will sympathize with me in my unsuccessful effort to elicit knowledge. It may be that I should except some of your medical neighbors, who, no doubt, have been laughing in their sleeves at my expense, knowing how surely I would fail, from their better knowledge of the source from which I sought information. They knew better than to ask for "light," and so do I now. But to the "Test"—well, let us have it. We have the "Death Test" left at our rate. That, you will not "repress." That is public property, and anybody can use it, that is, if they have a snake bite; and, indeed, if they have not, but in this case, of course, the "first dose would produce death." Doctor, an "intelligent public" would like to know (I wouldn't) why you applied your "Test," which, for want of a better name, I will call the Dibble Test, after the patient not killed. Can the "Dibble Test" make certain more sure? Is it possible, Doctor, that this whole test business is a very shallow and transparent attempt to "bamboozle" an "intelligent public"? How is that for "high," Doctor? No wonder you consider it "low" for anybody to ask you for information. I do too, Doctor, and shall "repress" such "low" business in the future. P. KING.

A MAN MISSING.—On the 6th of June, S. A. Covell, son of Companion L. Covell, Esq., left his home in Ligonier, Noble Co., Ind., intending to visit the horse shows of Michigan, and sell his black mare, noted for her speed, which he drove before a crowd of spectators, at the Ligonier Fair, not been heard from, and foul play is feared by his parents. Said S. A. C., is a man 27 years old, 5 feet tall, brown hair and blue eyes. Information is asked. Brothers and Companions, make inquiry and report as above, and request your editors to copy this notice.—Michigan Freeman.

Widow's Anti-Periodic is INFALLIBLE in the cure of CHILLS and FEVER and all FEBVERS of miasmatic origin. It is essentially a SPECIFIC and is no quack medicine. It is used in the Hospitals in New Orleans and by leading medical men throughout the South and West. Witthoft's Tonic has been used in the south for the last ten years by Dr. Witthoft, the discoverer, with the happiest results, and has been sold extensively for the last two years, by the present proprietors, throughout the Southern States, and has never failed in a single instance to effect a permanent cure. It is economical, because the dose required is but a teaspoonful, and each bottle will cure two or more ordinary cases of Chills and Fever. 274

County Correspondence.

From Niles. Editor Record.—Monday morning, about 8 o'clock, our citizens were somewhat startled by loud cries in the vicinity of a barber shop on Second street. Hurrying to the place a slight met their astonished view that taxed the nerves of the bravest. A man stood leaning against a telegraph pole. It appears that a butcher by the name of Fisher and a negro barber named Nolan had had some words in regard to a meat bill, and finally concluded to settle the affair by fighting it out, and for that purpose went out upon the sidewalk. The negro entered the barber shop, and picking up a razor advanced toward Fisher with the razor in his hand, apparently for the purpose of striking him, instead of which he inflicted a terrible wound upon Fisher's arm, cutting it to the bone. Dr. Bonine was immediately sent for, who dressed the wound. Though a severe one, the Dr. says it is not dangerous. The negro was instantly arrested by officer Lucas and taken to the calaboose. He went along quietly, offering no resistance.

This week, the Niles Democrat changes hands, Mr. Shakespear having disposed of his office to Messrs. Guyhen, Kern & Co., under which firm it will be hereafter conducted. The paper is to be enlarged to an eight column sheet. OCCASIONAL.

From Benton Harbor. Editor Record.—Having spent a few days in this land of peachers we offer a few items for the readers of the Record. This place is probably the most rapidly growing village in the State. Ten years ago, there were less than a half a dozen houses in the place; now it has a population over 500, and within twelve months, sixteen stores and forty-two dwellings have been erected inside of the corporation. A large number of houses have also been built outside of the village limits. The Baptist and Methodist churches, in less than a year from the time the corner stones were laid, completed and paid for two large brick churches, and there is a prospect that the number of churches will sometime equal the number of saloons.

The new school house is progressing finely, and when done, will be second to none in the county, except the one at Niles. It is three stories in height, besides the basement, and accommodates twelve departments. The dredge is working day and night throwing up an embankment to the C. & M. L. S. R. R., and it is now about two-thirds of the way across the marsh. The peach crop, owing to dry weather and other causes, is light. It is estimated that the crop will average as large as last year, yet we are informed by Hiram Brown, Esq., that the amount shipped from St. Joseph and the Harbor, to Sept. 1st, is only 10,000 bushels less than the amount shipped up to the same date last year. Clark & Alexander. May 25, 1870. We heard a boy expatiating upon the injurious effects of tobacco. He said "the oil of tobacco is so poisonous, that a single drop on the end of a dog's tail, would kill a man in a minute!"

"Phunygams." A Picture. At one of our neighbor's houses was a very bright little girl. It chanced once that they had as a guest a minister, an esteemed friend.

THE SERMON.—"Well, Laura, give me a short sketch of the sermon, where was the text?" "Oh, I don't know. I have forgotten it. Mrs. A. wore that horrid old bonnet of hers, and I could not keep my eyes off of it during the time of church. Miss P. had on a lovely pink one. Miss I. wore a dress that must have cost a mint of money! I wonder her folks don't see the folly of her extravagance. And there was Mrs. B. with her mar mat. It's astonishing what a want of taste some people show."

Charles Dickens is said to have once had a watch stolen from him in Paris. He afterwards received a package, containing the watch and a note signed, "A pickpocket," saying: "I hope you will excuse me, but I thought I was dealing with a Frenchman and not a countryman. Finding my mistake I hasten to repair it as much as lies in my power, by returning you herewith the watch I stole from you. I beg you to accept the homage of my respect, and to believe me, my dear countryman, your humble and obedient servant."

A boy was caught stealing candy and was shut up in a dark closet by a grocer. The boy commenced begging most piteously for his release, and after using all the persuasion that his young mind could invent, he proposed: "Now, if you'll let me out and send for my father, he'll pay you for the candy and lick me besides." The grocer could not withstand this appeal and released theurchin.

An Iowa paper, having asserted an item relating that a woman of that State helped her husband to raise seventy acres of wheat, and noticing the item copied by the exchanges under an evident misappreciation of facts, now explains that the way she helped was to stand in the door and shake a broomstick at him when he sat down to rest, and terrifying him in other ways.

"I am troubled with a very strange kind of rheumatic affection in my arm," said a well-known but rather seedy wit, the other day, to a particular friend. "It allows me to do some things, but it prevents me from doing others; for instance, I can put my hand in my pocket with all the ease in the world, but I can never take anything out."

"Maidens who have attained a good old age should never despair. Let them think of poor Naomi, daughter of Elnoah, who reached the age of five hundred years before securing the services of a husband. Courage, ladies, courage!"

"Hungry diner—"Trouble you for some more bread, landlord. I always eat a good deal of bread with my meat." "Landlord—"So I see, sir, and a good deal of meat with your bread."

A country journal says: "When you see a little boy sitting on the earth picking slivers out of his heels, you may know that the frost is out of the ground."
