

The Berrien County Record.
D. A. WAGNER, Editor.
THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 29, 1870.
Republican State Ticket.
Governor—HENRY P. BULLVIN.
Lieut. Governor—NORMAN J. STANLEY.
Secretary of State—SAMUEL H. BOWEN.
Treasurer—VICTOR J. COLLIER.
Auditor General—WILLIAM H. HUBBARD.
Commissioner of the State Land Office—EDWARD A. BROWN.
Attorney General—DORRIS M. MAY.
Judge of Public Accounts—ORLANDO H. HOBBS.
New State Board of Education—WILLIAM J. HANSEN.
For Member of Congress, Second District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Third District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fourth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fifth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Sixth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Seventh District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eighth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Ninth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Tenth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eleventh District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Twelfth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Thirteenth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fourteenth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fifteenth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Sixteenth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Seventeenth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eighteenth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Nineteenth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Twentieth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Twenty-first District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Twenty-second District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Twenty-third District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Twenty-fourth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Twenty-fifth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Twenty-sixth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Twenty-seventh District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Twenty-eighth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Twenty-ninth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Thirtieth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Thirty-first District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Thirty-second District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Thirty-third District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Thirty-fourth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Thirty-fifth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Thirty-sixth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Thirty-seventh District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Thirty-eighth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Thirty-ninth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fortieth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Forty-first District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Forty-second District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Forty-third District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Forty-fourth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Forty-fifth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Forty-sixth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Forty-seventh District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Forty-eighth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Forty-ninth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fiftieth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fifty-first District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fifty-second District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fifty-third District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fifty-fourth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fifty-fifth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fifty-sixth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fifty-seventh District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fifty-eighth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Fifty-ninth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Sixtieth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Sixty-first District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Sixty-second District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Sixty-third District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Sixty-fourth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Sixty-fifth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Sixty-sixth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Sixty-seventh District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Sixty-eighth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Sixty-ninth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Seventieth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Seventy-first District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Seventy-second District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Seventy-third District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Seventy-fourth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Seventy-fifth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Seventy-sixth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Seventy-seventh District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Seventy-eighth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Seventy-ninth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eightieth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eighty-first District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eighty-second District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eighty-third District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eighty-fourth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eighty-fifth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eighty-sixth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eighty-seventh District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eighty-eighth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Eighty-ninth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Ninetieth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Ninety-first District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Ninety-second District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Ninety-third District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Ninety-fourth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Ninety-fifth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Ninety-sixth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Ninety-seventh District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Ninety-eighth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, Ninety-ninth District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.
For Member of Congress, One Hundred District—WILLIAM L. STODOLSKY.

COUNTY NOMINATIONS.
We place at the head of our columns to-day the names of the several persons nominated for County officers. It was our intention to have noticed each candidate at length, but the majority of them are so well known throughout the County as men eminently qualified and fitted by experience for the positions to which they have been nominated, that it is wholly unnecessary for us to do more than simply mention their names, to secure a most hearty approval of the ticket by every Republican in the County.
Hon. L. P. Alexander, who heads the ticket, for State Senator, has a political record in the Republican party known to almost every person in the County. That he is eminently qualified to represent Berrien County in the State Senate, none will call in question, and to him will be given the entire strength of the party in the coming election.
Maj. Warner, the present Sheriff, and the nominee for a second term, has unquestionably rendered as good service in that office as any man who has filled it for many years. Those most intimate with his duties and the manner in which he has discharged them, are his most ardent supporters.
Charles Eugene Howe, than whom there has never been a better, more faithful County Clerk, is again on the ticket for re-election. He is undoubtedly the most popular Clerk that the County has ever had, and will receive a large vote.
Treasurer, Samuel Hess, was re-nominated, as he eminently deserved. He has been faithful, honest, careful; always working for the interest of the County; and he has, in his re-nomination, only received that recognition of his faithfulness to which he was entitled.
Orville W. Coolidge, the nominee for Prosecuting Attorney, is a young lawyer of the most brilliant talents, and will, undoubtedly, fill honorably the position to which he has been nominated. A better choice could not have been made.
Frank N. Dix, the nominee for Register, is a brother of R. D. Dix, the present incumbent of that office, a young man of good habits, a soldier in the late war, and well qualified, by experience in the Register's office, for a long time, to discharge its difficult duties.
The Circuit Court Commissioners, J. N. Chipman, has filled the office long, and is well known throughout the County. N. A. Hamilton, the other nominee, is a practicing attorney in St. Joseph, and receives the warm endorsement of all who know him.
A. J. Nolan, the nominee for Surveyor, is well known as fully qualified for that office.
Mr. Wm. H. Tryon and Joseph W. Brewer, nominees for Coroners, are men of honor and highly respected citizens and Republicans.
These conclude the ticket made at Berrien on Monday. A better ticket was never presented by any party in this county, and a ticket that would more cordially receive the support of every Republican voter, and it will be triumphantly elected.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.
Pursuant to call the Republicans met in delegate County Convention at Berrien, on Monday, Sept. 28, 1870, for the purpose of nominating candidates for State Senator and County officers. The convention was called to order at 11 A. M., by H. Palmer, Esq., Chairman of the County Committee, on whose motion N. A. Hamilton, of St. Joseph, was chosen temporary Chairman. On motion of Hon. L. P. Alexander, Theodore L. Reynolds, of St. Jo., was chosen Temporary Secretary.
On motion, the Chair appointed W. S. Byrnes, N. R. Woodruff and J. L. Drew a committee on the Order of Business.
On motion, Levi Sparks, A. B. Rifford and James Haskins were appointed a committee on Permanent Organization.
A committee was appointed consisting of J. N. Chipman, C. W. Ormsbee and N. Hamilton, on Credentials. The committee on Credentials reported the names of delegates from the Townships as follows:
Buchanan, 12 delegates.
Niles, 8
Oronoko, 8
Weasaw, 8
Ripston, 8
Waterwheel, 8
Hagar, 8
Chikamaing, 8
Bertrand, 8
Jt. Joseph, 10
Borrien, 6
Bainbridge, 6
Three Oaks, 5
Sodus, 4
Lanke, 4
Beaton, 11
Niles City, 1st Ward 6
" 2d " 6
" 3d " 6
" 4th " 4
Lincoln, 4
On motion the report of the committee was accepted and adopted.
The committee on Permanent Organization then reported for Permanent Officers of this Convention: N. A. Hamilton, President; W. S. Byrnes, and R. K. Charles, Vice Presidents; T. L. Reynolds and D. A. Wagner, Secretaries.
The report, on motion, was accepted and adopted.
The committee on the Order of Business reported that this Convention proceed to the nomination of candidates, for the several offices to be filled, in the following order:
1. State Senator.
2. Sheriff.
3. County Treasurer.
4. " Clerk.
5. Prosecuting Attorney.
6. Register.
7. Circuit Court Commissioners.
8. Surveyor.
9. Coroners.
10. County Committee.
The report of the committee on Order of Business was accepted and adopted by the Convention.
It was moved and carried that if any persons were present from the Townships of Galien or New Buffalo, that they be authorized to cast the vote of their respective Townships. At this point the credentials of Galien were presented by a delegate from that Township, and also a gentleman from New Buffalo came forward, who was recognized to cast the vote of that Township.
On motion the Convention adjourned to 1 o'clock P. M.
1 P. M. the Convention was called to order by N. A. Hamilton, President.
On motion the Convention proceeded to take an Informal ballot for State Senator, the names of Geo. S. Clapp, Esq., Hon. L. P. Alexander, Hon. Wm. Smythe Farmer and James Graham being presented for such nomination.
On motion the Chair appointed three tellers consisting of the following gentlemen: Ois Sterns, E. M. Plimpton and W. M. Coolidge.
On motion, delegations not full from the several Townships were authorized to cast the full vote of such Township.
The informal ballot for State Senator resulted as follows:
Whole number of votes cast, 133
Of which Hon. L. P. Alexander, received 72
Hon. Wm. S. Farmer, 41
Hon. James Graham, 11
Geo. S. Clapp, Esq., 9
The names of Hon. James Graham, Hon. Wm. Smythe Farmer and Geo. S. Clapp, Esq., being withdrawn, Hon. L. P. Alexander, on motion, was declared the unanimous nominee of the Convention for State Senator.
On motion the Convention proceeded to take an Informal ballot for Sheriff, which resulted as follows:
L. F. Warner, 88
A. W. Morris, 19
N. Hamilton, 14
On motion of N. Hamilton Maj. L. F. Warner was declared the unanimous nominee of the Convention.
Moved and carried that a formal ballot be taken for a candidate for County Treasurer, the names of Samuel Hess and Wm. H. Tryon being presented for that office. During the pendency of the vote the name of Mr. Tryon was withdrawn, and on motion the vote by ballot was reconsidered, and Samuel Hess was nominated by acclamation.
The names of C. E. Howe and Wm. Sears were presented for the office of County Clerk. The name of Mr. Sears being withdrawn, the convention, on motion, proceeded to nominate C. E. Howe unanimously by acclamation, as candidate for County Clerk.
An informal ballot was taken for a candidate for Prosecuting Attorney, resulting as follows:
Hon. A. B. Rifford, 60
O. W. Coolidge, 61
A motion was then made to make O. W. Coolidge's nomination unanimous, which was, however, withdrawn and a second ballot had. The result of which was:
Hon. A. B. Rifford, 57
O. W. Coolidge, Esq., 57
On motion of Mr. Rifford the nomination of Mr. Coolidge was made unanimous.
The next order of business being the nomination of a candidate for Register the following names were presented for that position:
Hon. J. M. Glavin, F. N. Dix, J. G. Wells, James H. Marvin, Wm. T. Durry, Wm. H. Eply, Wm. T. Durry, Henry C. Mattrau.

S. E. Martin, Henry C. Mattrau.
On motion the convention proceeded to an Informal ballot for Register, with the following result:
J. M. Glavin, 7
F. N. Dix, 39
J. G. Wells, 4
James H. Marvin, 21
Henry Glen, 27
Wm. H. Eply, 17
Wm. T. Durry, 13
S. E. Martin, 4
Henry C. Mattrau, 21
A second Informal ballot was taken for Register, resulting as follows:
J. M. Glavin, 8
F. N. Dix, 39
J. G. Wells, 4
James H. Marvin, 22
Henry Glen, 27
Wm. H. Eply, 17
Wm. T. Durry, 13
S. E. Martin, 4
Henry C. Mattrau, 24
There being no choice a third Informal ballot was had as follows:
F. N. Dix, 44
James H. Marvin, 25
Henry Glen, 26
Wm. T. Durry, 40
Wm. H. Eply, 24
Henry C. Mattrau, 24
A fourth Informal ballot was had resulting in:
F. N. Dix, 47
James H. Marvin, 16
Henry Glen, 26
Henry C. Mattrau, 51
The names of James H. Marvin and Henry C. Mattrau were now withdrawn, whereupon the Convention proceeded to a formal ballot for Register. The result was:
F. N. Dix, 75
Henry Glen, 67
A. J. Nolan, 6
On motion, the order of business was suspended and a committee of five appointed to nominate a County Committee.
J. L. Wiman, O. C. Rounds, Levi Sparks, L. P. Alexander and James Graham were appointed such committee.
This committee retired and soon returned and reported the following persons to constitute a County Committee: Hon. A. B. Rifford, Benton Harbor. T. L. Reynolds, St. Joseph. D. A. Wagner, Buchanan. R. D. Dix, Berrien.
The report was accepted and adopted.
On motion, N. A. Hamilton and J. N. Chipman, Esq., were nominated ex parte as candidates for Circuit Court Commissioners.
The Convention then proceeded to a formal ballot for Surveyor. The result was as follows:
Robert Eaton, 39
A. J. Nolan, 25
Thomas Love, 19
A second formal ballot resulted in the following vote:
Robert Eaton, 54
A. J. Nolan, 69
Thomas Love, 6
No choice being made a third ballot was had with the following results:
Robert Eaton, 61
A. J. Nolan, 56
On motion, Mr. Nolan was declared the unanimous nominee of the Convention for County Surveyor.
The following resolution was here introduced by Wm. K. Sawyer, of Three Oaks, and on motion adopted: Resolved, that it is the duty of the Convention and the Republican party of the whole county, by vote and work, and by all honorable means to secure the election of the entire Republican ticket.
The Convention then proceeded to nominate a Vice-President.
Wm. H. Tryon and Joseph W. Brewer, as candidates for Coroners, and whose nominations were made unanimous by the Convention.
On motion the Convention adjourned sine die.
N. A. HAMILTON, Pres.
D. A. WAGNER, Sec'y.
T. L. REYNOLDS, Sec'y.

Nebraska Correspondence.
OMAHA, NEB., Sept. 24, 1870.
EDITOR RECORD.—In my last letter I promised to write you concerning the disposal of Doren, the murderer of Judge Lynch, at St. Joseph, Mo., and save a vast expense, and the prisoner very many unpleasant thoughts. But, on deliberation, the citizens deemed it best to let the law have its course, and day before yesterday the young man was put on trial for his life. How it will terminate nobody knows. Since that excitement, the city has had its share of "blood letting" in various ways; an occasional suicide; eloquent, (principally in the churches and out. Yet, a goodly number are charitable enough to "let the world wag as it will." The great excitement now, however, is that which interests more than anything else, is the political fight that is going on in this city and State. The Democratic party is struggling hard to keep up appearances and preserve their identity, shaking hands with the working men's party, (deluded asses) trying to make friends with the "despised nigger" (not so much despised since they can vote) and feeling round for the weak kneed Republicans, and they have caught one stray brother, who, for the ghost of a chance to get to Washington, has sacrificed honor, principle, everything; and who will be "weighed in the balance and found wanting."
I have participated in some spirited campaigns, but never witnessed such earnest, zealous work for the cause of justice and right, as I witnessed in this city yesterday; and if combined with the aid of the press for the first was thrown out lavishly, and the latter almost exclusively devoted to the interests of the sore heads. The dissensions are a small portion of the Republican party. But money the press, and treachery combined will bump the ceiling, when weighed against justice and truth. The victory was complete. The Thayer men electing every delegate in the city, (as goes Douglas county, so goes the State) completely confounding their opponents. I shall not be surprised if this small faction and the Democrats need not be amazed) when, after the election and the votes are counted, they shall find themselves waking up to a greater mistake than they made yesterday. For the Republicans (straight) have put in nomination a ticket that will take the wind entirely out of the opposition next month. Gov. David Butler who has served the State for four years with ability and fidelity, and of whom the Democratic press has howled so much about, is renominated and will be elected with the full State ticket. John Taft will surely be returned to Congress. And of the Hon. J. M. Thayer, who was so long and faithfully represented this State in the U. S. Senate for the last four years, who has done more for the State of Nebraska than any other man, I need not speak. Of his military and political career, no one can say aught; who has the good will and firm support of seven-tenths of the voters of the State, will be returned to the Senate of the United States, by an overwhelming majority. A prophecy that will be fulfilled, as sure as the day of election is to come.

I see by the RECORD that Gen. Dwight May, with several other Michigan officers, have decided to take a course of study in the law at the University of Michigan. I think that Buchman is looking to her interests by the establishment of a large Wagon Manufacturing Co. This is certainly one move in the right direction! Located at the very western border of vast timber forests, of the very best quality, with as good natural resources as any place in the West, with facilities by water and rail, there is a splendid chance for profitable investment for half a million dollars. The demand for all kinds of farming implements in these western prairie states, is constantly increasing. It would surprise you to see the amount of business done in this line. Before I close let me congratulate you on the appearance of the RECORD, that comes to "cheer me" quite regularly. I never knew how to appreciate a home paper before, and since the senseless war of Baker, Basswood & Co. has ceased, the paper is a most welcome addition to our daily morning and the neighbors are about as anxious for its weekly visit as your humble correspondent. Last night about 9 o'clock, I witnessed the most beautiful sight I ever did in my life (excepting one sunset, and some of the best scenery I ever saw in this country) The "Aurora Borealis" streaking the northern sky all round, from east to west, and to the very zenith, with all the colors blending then fading and returning if possible. Now bright, streaked with red and at intervals of perhaps a minute there would shoot out a comet of light, and then the sky would be dark again. Many who saw it, thought it the most brilliant display they had ever seen.
Yours, TRAVELER.

Important Letter from Bismark.
A correspondent telegraph from Berlin the following letter from Bismark on the means and conditions of peace, dated Mainz, Sept. 16:
"Your Excellency is familiar with the circular which M. Jules Favre has addressed to the foreign representatives of France, in the name of the men for the present holding power in Paris, and the all denials of the French Government in Defence Nationale. I have learned, simultaneously, that M. Thiers has entered on a confidential mission to the foreign courts, and I may presume that he will endeavor on the one side to create the belief in the love of peace by the present Parisian Government, and on the other side to request the intervention of the neutral powers in favor of a peace which shall deprive Germany of her victories, and make the next attack of France on Germany more difficult. We cannot believe in the sincerity of the desire of the present Parisian government to make peace, so long as it continues, by the language of its spokesmen, to excite the passions of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the neutral powers to permit the Prussian Government to nourish among the people hopes of intervention that cannot be realized, and thereby strengthen the contest. We are far from any inclination to mix in the internal affairs of France. It is imperative to us, however, to establish the peace of the people, and to increase the hatred and bitterness of a population stung by the sufferings of war to repudiate in advance every basis acceptable to Germany and unacceptable to France. By such a course it becomes impossible to reach the point at which the neutral powers should be prepared by calm words and in terms corresponding with the gravity of the situation. If we are to believe that negotiations for peace with us are honestly intended, the demand that we should conclude an armistice without any guarantees for our conditions of peace could be only on the supposition that we lack military and political judgment, or are indifferent to the interests of Germany. Moreover, the hope entertained by the present rulers in Paris of a diplomatic or material intervention of the neutral powers in favor of France, prevents the French people from seeing the necessity of peace. When the French nation becomes convinced that they, having only conjured up the war alone, and Germany, having had to fight it out alone, they must also settle their account with Germany alone, they will soon put an end to their resistance, now surely unavailing. It would be an act of cruelty to the French people by the

Sunday Reading.

RETURN UNTO THY REST.
Return unto thy rest, my soul,
Return unto thy rest!
Too long these wandering feet have strayed
In paths of God's creation,
The tempting gate stood open wide,
The way was broad and fair,
With breath of flowers and song of birds
Filled all the sunlit air.
The flowers faded ere the noon,
The bird-song died away,
And, lowering o'er the tangled path,
The skies seen ashen gray.
O weary, lonely, frightened soul,
By toil and storm distressed,
One only refuge waits for thee,
Return unto thy rest!
No chiding words of stern rebuke,
No anger wait for thee;
Thine striding steps have grieved thy Lord,
But pardon sits in his face.
Poor, trembling soul, "Look up and live,"
O'er such love's behest;
Thou downward path of woe and sin,
Return unto thy rest!
The child upon the mother's heart
Forgets the weary day that close
So love's shade shall fold these close
And soothe each grief away.
God's hand is on the wanderer's o'er,
Thou fallest all confessed,
With hastening feet that rove no more,
Return unto thy rest!

Christ's Yoke.

It was the promise of our Saviour that his yoke should be easy and his burden light. It was not his promise that it should be easy taking on the yoke. It was not his promise that lifting the burden and putting it on should be light. And Christ's disciples do not find the one easy, nor the other light, at the outset. We are reluctant to come under the yoke. We make a fight against it.

The figure of the yoke is borrowed from husbandry. The bullock, possessed of native strength, does not know how to give up his untrained liberty, and strives to maintain it; but at last, by the skill of the husbandman, he is brought under the yoke, where his great powers can be applied to useful labors. And it is very seldom that a spirited ox likes to see his master approach with the yoke and the bow. In the majority of cases even avoid being yoked if they can. At all events, while they do not men die!

We like our untrained liberty. We like what we call our nature—our temperance. We like to have our own way. We like to seek our own pleasures. We like to free ourselves, as far as possible, from inconveniences and annoyances, and suffering and pain. We resist, as far as possible, any action, taking on Christ's yoke. When Divine Providence manifestly brings down upon us a sense of the duty of being girded for the Lord's work, we resist it.

Christians Should Lead.

What we need now in life, above everything else, is Christian men who take the lead in many pleasures, and make them honorable and noble. Pleasure is of God. So is suffering. Joy and sorrow are both of them born of God.—There is a many way of enjoying one's self which is not only permissible, but most wholesome, and, in moral things, most beneficial. Let men be free to take all rational amusements, free to take joy, and that abundantly; and yet the moment pleasure, and its permissions, become soiled or even sullied, let men turn away from them, and scorn them, and loathe them, so that the world, looking on them, shall see that they are "men of pleasure," not in the sense that they are men of no conscience, but in the sense that they are men of eminent conscience.—Beecher.

Preach, if Only to One.

One of the Saviour's most delightful discourses, second only to the Sermon on the Mount, is that delivered at Jacob's well to but one listener—and that one a poor, despised Samaritan woman. It occurred to the heart of a minister, of course to be able to preach to multitudes—often it fosters vanity and pride. But let him not count it condescension, when the occasion calls for it, to speak the truths of the gospel to solitary listeners, or to "two or three," gathered together in the name of Jesus. For, he that converteth but one sinner from the error of his way, saves a soul from death, and hides a multitude of sins.

All will be Well.

Sometimes, if you work hard, if you are temperate, if you are economical, there is sure to come a bright success for you. The obstacles that cling around you now so closely, and hold you back from that fair life that many desire, will, by and by, drop away and leave you free. Somewhere, a place exactly fitted for you to fill, made for you, kept for you, is and will be. Don't get discouraged; for sometime, somewhere, all will be well!

Time and Eternity.

What folly is in that with such care about the body which is dying, the world which is perishable before our eyes, time which is perpetually disappearing, we should be so little concerned that eternal state in which we are to live forever! When we shall have existed ten thousand years in another world, where will be our cares and fears and enjoyment of this? In what light shall we then look upon the things which now transport us with joy or overwhelm us with grief?

The Hardest Life.

The hardest life that one can live, I think, is one in which men themselves and their souls; in which they are Christians in some things, and not in others; in which they mean to be Christians a little, but not altogether; in which they bring a divided heart into the cause of the Lord Jesus Christ. There is a torment and there ought to be, in such a life as that.

Be a Christian.

No man can tell beforehand what it is to be a Christian. No man can tell beforehand whether he can be a Christian or not. It is one of those things that must be proved by trying. But I say that there is no man who cannot be a Christian. There is no man who, entering on the service of our Lord Jesus Christ with sincerity and heartiness and fervor, does not find that there is a flower which opens the road before his feet; that there is a Leader who goes before him; that he has a Guide; and that the ways in which he is led are ways of pleasantness and peace.

How to Learn.

Never forget what a man has said to you when he was angry. If he has charged you with anything, you had better look it up. A man has often been startled from a pleasant dream of self-deception by the words of an angry man, who may wish his words unsaid the next hour, but they are past recall. The wisest course is to take home this lesson, with meekness, to our souls. It was a saying of Socrates, that every man had need of a faithful friend and a bitter enemy: the one to advise, and the other to show him his faults.

BURN'T OUT!

NOT DESTROYED!

BLAKE & LONG

Have repaired and refitted their store, and have got it

WELL FILLED

WITH CHOICE

FAMILY GROCERIES,

Such as

COFFEE, SUGARS, SYRUPS & TEAS.

Which we will sell cheaper than the cheapest, for Cash or Ready Pay.

We have also a large lot of

Crockery, Glass, Rookingham

and Yellow-Wares,

Stone & Wooden Ware,

And in fact everything generally kept in a Grocery Store. Also, the best of

FAMILY FLOUR, & FEED,

Kept constantly on hand, which will be delivered to customers free.

We will pay the Highest Market

Price, in Cash or Trade, for Country Produce.

Don't forget the place—Front Street,

Buchanan, Mich.

3-17

BLAKE & LONG.

Mrs. Allen's

Hair Restorer & Zylolalsamum

Are so uniformly grateful and beneficial, that they are with justice called the natural strengtheners of the human hair. They are two entirely separate and distinct preparations, not to be used together at one time.

Mrs. Allen's Hair Restorer

Never fails to satisfy the most refined and cultivated. Arganette goes with every bottle, that it will quickly restore gray or white hair to its original youthful beauty, gloss and color; for its use a few times the hair will grow thicker and stronger. It will stop its falling and induce a healthy and luxuriant growth. It is an exquisite hair dressing, agreeable, harmless and healthy. Entirely different from most other preparations for the hair, its composition and ingredients are nourishing, giving life and vigor to the roots.

Mrs. Allen's Zylolalsamum

This exquisite preparation is free from any sediment, and is a toilet treasure. The urgent want of a simple

Hair Dressing, for the youth of both sexes, first induced the manufacture of the Zylolalsamum, and the sale of it is perfectly immense, not only in this country, but in Europe.

EXTRACTION FROM A FEW LETTERS.

"Your Zylolalsamum is used by every man,

young and old, of our family, and we constantly use it. It is a very good hair dressing, and we shall try your Hair Restorer, which we have very highly spoken of."

"Father and mother use your Hair Restorer, and are delighted with it. It soon restored their gray locks to their youthful color, but daughters and sons still find in the Zylolalsamum all their hair requires."

"Sold by all Druggists. Wholesale Depot,

S. B. VAN DUZER & CO., 35 Barclay St.

and 40 Park Place, New-York.

Sweet Quinine

Versus Bitter.

For the following REASONS Sweet Quinine should replace the old form of Quinine.

Sweet Quinine is WARRANTED

identical in effect with Bitter Quinine.

Sweet Quinine has NONE of the bitter and pernicious bitterness of common Quinine.

Sweet Quinine is made from Pure

Quinine, the source of Bitter Quinine.

In Sweet Quinine the bitterness is perfectly removed, but it may be instantly restored if desired.

Sweet Quinine will not sicken, as very bitter substances often do.

Sweet Quinine is readily taken, and without the least hesitation, by old and young.

Sweet Quinine entirely obviates that unpleasant odor which children have to derive from Quinine.

Sweet Quinine requires no elaborate preparation to take, is ready for instant use.

Sweet Quinine, in its agreeable and prompt efficacy, dispenses the public with the use of much poisonous Quinine, and aids the efforts of the intelligent

Physician in its administration.

Sweet Quinine costs no more than the Bitter Quinine.

Sweet Quinine can be had at the Drug

Stores in two forms, viz: fluid, for convenience of families and the general use, and solid, for use by Physicians and Druggists.

Manufactured by

STEARNS, FARR & CO.,

NEW YORK.

OR SALE AT OSBORN'S DRUG STORE.

Rural Mills,

Buchanan, Mich.

BLAKE & KINGSLEY,

Proprietors.

All work entrusted to our care shall, will and must give satisfaction. Orders for top Flour and Corn Meal, and Feed, either at wholesale or retail, shall receive our prompt attention. Flour delivered anywhere in the vicinity free of charge.

BLAKE & KINGSLEY,

J. THREADELL, Jr., Miller.

For Sale.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very

comfortable, situated on a beautiful lot, with

fruit trees, and a large garden, and a good

water supply, and a good view of the city.

For Sale, a fine, new, two-story House, very