THURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 19, 1871.

REMOVAL OF MOTLEY.

The removal of Mr. Motley, as Minister to the Court of St. James, teaches us a lesson in reference to the disposition and character of President Grant; and when we see with what unanimity the people, without regard to partisanship, agree as to the necessity of such removal, it reflects great credit on the administration.

We are informed that Mr. Motley received his appointment only after persistent solicitations of his friends, and that President Grant, being couvinced of his superior ability as a man of letters, his unquestionable purity of character, and familiarity with many prominent politicians in Great Britain, "reluctantly" appointed him to the mission, with the understand-ing that he should represent the views, opinians and policy of the government under which he held his powerthat he should do this even when it conflicted with his own convictionsand to scrupulously heed the instructions given to him. His commission expressed on its face that he was to hold his office during the pleasure of the President. However able and faithful Mr. Motley may have shown himself on other questions, in his manner of presenting the question of the Alabama claims, he was not in sympathy with the President, or the views of the Government, and made it necessary to withdraw from him all right to discuss this very important subject.

At the time of Mr. Motley's appointment, the President thought it wise, and in the interest of peace, and the future amicable settlement of this important question, that his opinion should not be further presented on the main issue, "until the passions that had been aroused in England by the rejection of the treaty, and the leading speech made upon it, had exhausted themselves."

The tone, temper and language of the instructions which Mr. Motley received, were conciliatory, and as to what he should say, were limited in two points. "First, he was directed to say to Lord Clarendon, that the Government, in rejecting the recent convention, did not abandon its own claims, or the hopes of an early, satisfactory settlement of the questions pending between the two Governments. Second, he was further instructed in his private and social intercourse, as well as in his official conversations, when it should become necessary, to present the cause of grievance of the United States against surgents in a state of war, as upon her conduct under and subsequent to such recognition." Mr. Motley's despatch of June 12th, shows how he fulfilled the trust committed to him. Instead of expressing the hope of the Government that the questions would be early, satifactorily and speedlly settled, he stated that the Government felt that the two nations could never come to any understanding, and used forcible expressions, epithets and terms of denunciation highly objectionable, and not appropriate to a calm discus-sion of a grave international differ-The action of the President, in the removal of Mr. Motley, after he re-fused to resign on information given him that his resignation would be accepted, is the more noticeable, because it has been asserted by enomics of Grant that his policy would be that of an error of the compositor, in stating the soldier, and his administration the expense of the School Superinmilitary, resting for its reputation on the success of the sword. The President is evidently opposed, at present, to provoking a war with Great Britain on the question of the Alabama claims, and Gen. Butler did not express the views of the Administration, when he asserted in his recent speech, that the Republican party must look for continued success, and gain popu-lar support, in a war with Great Brit-ain. Grant expressed the wishes and sentiments of a large majority of the American people, when he declared, at the commencement of his administration,-"Let us have Peace,"-and so long as he uses every means, consistent with the honor and interest of the nation, to secure this priceless blessing to our Government, even if it requires the removal from office of every man whom he has appointed to any position, he will receive the ap-plause and hearty approval of all true friends of our Republic.

Cooley, Campbell, Christiancy and Graves, in our Supreme Court, and for Circuit Judges the most worthy in our midst, both in point of judgment and character.

Let the Legislature at once increase the salaries of Supreme Judges to $5,000, and at the earliest time possible, let the authority be given the Legislature to establish the salaries of our Circuit Judges, which should be no less than $3,000 per year.

BERRIEN COUNTY AND THE SENA-

TORIAL CONTEST.

The following article from the Ben-ton Harbor Palladium's Lansing correspondent, "Lex." will be found of interest to many of our readers, as showing how the Berrien County delegation worked to achieve the glorious victory of electing Hon. T. W. Ferry to succeed Hon. J. M. Howard in the U. S. Senate, thus securing a grand triumph to Western Michigan :

The Senator from Berrien County and the Representative from the 1st District voted, and have worked for him from the first to the last, while the member from the 2d district fell into line after the first two ballots which were given to J. M. Howard. We regret that the editor of the Palladium was not here, as he has been the staunch supporter of Mr. Ferry from the first, and we believe that his paper was the first to advocate Ferry's nomina-["Lex" is mistaken, as the RECORD was the first paper, not only in Berrien County, but also in the Second Congressional District, that advocated Hon. T. W. Ferry for the United States Senate. We are proud of our cotempory, the Palladium, for early advocating the election of Mr. Ferry. It stood nobly to the work, while the other two Republican papers in the County would not so much as lift a finger to help in the cause of Western Michigan.-ED. RECORD.]

Though he has not pushed himself into public notice his labors at home and elsewhere have been effectual and unremitting. Mr. Wagner, of the Record, who was one among the first outside of Mr. Ferry's own district to urge his nomination, we are sorry to say was unable to attend the caucus. Mr. Riford from the 1st District, has done little else since his election than to work for Mr. Ferry, and to him the result must certainly be very agreeable. Charley, of Berrien Springs, urged upon George the necessity of drawing expense money before the caucus, as Blair's chances were not certain, but George did not accede to the urgent request. Charley went to the cashier and drew the money kimself, stating that he had sold a favorite Swine to purchase an overcoat to come Great Britain, not so much upon her with, and it his expenses were not paid issuance of a recognition of the in- | per agreement, it would take the whole for our wisest and best men to accept | cost one township $70, shows how hard pressed he is to make that system equal in expensiveness to the Superintendency System. The real question, however, is not its cost, but its utility.

Perhaps, our worthy correspondent, "H. A. F.," regards none as leading educators but County Superintendents and Teachers, who attend the "Associations," "where the wisest of them go." The people, however, do days it was so warm, it not so regard things, but they do re-like they do in summer. gard many of the self-important edu-

a true educator, to any of those who attend the "Teacher's Association." There are some teachers, too, who think the County Superintendency System a failure, who do not say so. It would be unpopular with County Superintendents to thus speak. and they do not wish to provoke the displeasure of the Superintendent. They those teachers who attend the "Asso-ciations," and "Institutes." We are convinced, and so are thousands of others, that the County Superintendency System has failed to be of much, if any, practical good to education in our State.

Lansing Correspondence.

LANSING, Jan. 16, 1871. MESSRS. EDITORS :--- I have but little to communicate in the way of legislation, there having been but little transacted as yet. It requires several days to get the Legislative machine fairly under headway. They have now entered upon the third week of the session. We may now expect to see something done soon. The little that has been accomplished is mostly of a local nature, such as extending the time for the collection of taxes, amending village and city charters. Several new townships have already been organized.

A bill to amend the general Railroad law, so as to make it conform to the provisions of the Constitution, as amended by the proposition submitted to, and ratified by, the people last November, has passed the Senate. The House, having some suspicions, because it pertains to Railroad corporations, after a lengthy debate in Com-mittee of the Whole, on Saturday, refusing to amend it in any way. It is an important bill, as under the Constitution, as amended, it now requires sixty days' notice previous to the consolidation of two or more Railroads not parallel or competing; and it is known that some roads are awaiting the action of the Legislature enabling them to accomplish it at an early day. A joint resolution has passed the Senate, requiring the Circuit Court Clerks of each county to furnish the Secre-Illinois Correspondence.

WALNUT GROVE, Henderson Co., Ill., January 13th, 1871. EDITORS BERRIEN COUNTY RECORD,-Dear Sirs :- We have had beautiful win ter westher, in western Illinois, thus far. the most of the time. For the last three days it was so warm, that the bees flew This country has been improving very much, within the last year. There has been a great many dwellings and barns every village and hamlet, there are built. Fruit raising has also received a men who are equal in talent, learning good share of attention, for the last year. The wheat and oat crop of last year was light, but corn was good. Stock raising receives the attention of a great many farmers. P.ices of grain and stock are lower this winter, than usual. Hogs are worth from $5 to $5.50, gross; cattle, from $3.50 to $6.00; Spring wheat, 80 cents; corn, 30 cents; oats, 30 cents. A great many people are speaking of hard times this winter, but I don't see it in that light yet. The industrious class can remember that preference is given to get plenty to do at a fair price. Wages are from eighteen to twenty dollars per month; or one dollar per day. The hard times are mostly among the class that visits the saloons frequently, and those that use too much tobacco.

Enclosed, I send an order for the RECond another year. It is a welcome visitor in my family. There is quite a change in the weather this morning—snow about an inch deep, a northwest wind and freezing.

JACOB HENRY. P. S .- After writing the above, i stormed so severely, that it prevented my going to Young America to put this letter in the Post-Office: It stormed, without ceasing, until Sabbath morning nine'o'clock. I think the snow fell about twelve inches. It is drifted so that the roads are filled in many places. The mercury stands 6° above zero this morning. J. H.

SENATE-JAN. 10.

Mr. Yates, (Rep., Ill.,) presented a petition from the citizens of Illinois which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary, asking for an amendment to the Constitution of the United States recognizing the Snpreme Being. He stated that this subject had been agitated for five or six sessions, and that he had been notified that a large number of similar petitions had accumulated. He desired that the Committee on the Judiciary should make a report. Nine-tenths of the people of Illinois believe there should be such an amendment, by which the supremacy of God should be acknowledged. They believe that to God they are indebted for our success in many ways, and for equel rights voted to recommit it, at the same time | and liberty throughout the land. Some report should be made upon the subject. The War, &c .- Latest Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.-A dispatch rom Paris dated the 9th and 10th, is received, confirming the destructive effect of the enemy's guns in the neighborhood of the Luxembourg gardens. The destruction of buildings in that vicinity is everywhere visible. and the suburbs are entirely destroyed by the enemy's fire. The southwest suburban part of the city is in ruins, and seems hopelessly given up to the range of the Prussian fire.

The damages to buildings in the vicinity of St. Jacques, was great, and when the dispatch left, was proceeding. The gen eral impression was that not neither life or property in this vicinity was safe. The battery at Clamart is doing the Prussians good service, and the report already received that the accuracy of its fire was telling with great effect, is confirmed. The shells undoubtedly reached Place de la Concorde. The London Times of this morning has he following special dispatch: "VERSAILLES, Jan. 12, Evening .-- The bombardment was heavy up to this after-toon. Several fires are seen within the French lines. The Prussians are crowding in front of Clamarte and Mendon. A picket was surprised near Clamarte. The French have erected new batteries."

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 .- The Herald special, dated at Versailles, Jan. 10, says: The supply of ammunition will last for 18 days from to-day, and a surrender 18 believed to be certain before then.

LONDON, Jan. 13 .- The army under Gen. De Chanzy was completely defeated near Le Mans by the Second German army, commanded by Prince Frederick Charles and the grand duke of Mecklenburg. The Germans occupied Le Mans. capturing large quantities of supplies and war material. The French are being persued.

BEBLIN, Jan. 12 .- The reinforcements now on their way to join the German armies in France, and those in readiness to go, number 200,000 men, thus raising the German force to 1.000.000.

The Herald's special from London says: A Vienna dispatch of the 12th says that Austria will initiate peace, and that the proposals for a conference are welcomed by Bernstarff. The preliminaries are that France shall surrender a fort, 20 war ships, 1,000,000,000,000 thalers and a strip of land four miles broad on the left bank of the Rhine, and destroy all the forts within 29 miles of the Rhine. THE SALARIES OF OUR JUDGES. The question is now being discussed in various parts of our State, whether we will increase the salaries of our Judges, or let them resign, as they have declared they would do, unless ome provision be made whereby they will receive adequate pay for their abors. These is no office whose duies are more arduous and important han that of Judge—and no office in which the people have a more direct r deeper interest. The position of leciding the right in controversies beween individuals, of establishing rules nd precedents that are to govern in he settlement of disputes and disareements as they arise, certainly de- munities in the county.
