MAY WARREN.

"My last hope rests in you, May?" "In me, father?" May Warren made answer in a tone of surprise, raising her sad, anxious eves to her father's face.

As if her gaze discomposed him, Mr. Warren turned his head, and his glance wandered restlessly around the a tall, spare figure, thin, gray hair, still again, and she was calmer. and was sitting in an arm-chair, by a | She crossed the room listlessly, and table covered with papers. while his pretty daughter May sar beside him on an ottoman. Warren's lips, as if he feared that if he deliberated he should not be able to utter them at all. As they fell on his daughter's car she started to her feet, pushing her hair back from her pale face, in a bewildered sort of way, as if she were half-stunned. "Marry me, father? Col. Leighton?"

she cried, in a low voice. Mr. Warren took her hand, and drew her down to her seat again.

"May, Col. Leighton will be a good husband to you. I have known him from boyhood, and understand perfeetly well his character and principles. He loves you-will be kind to you, and strive in every way to make you happy. And more and more, May, he will save me from beggary."
He paused, but his child, with her face bowed upon her hands, made no reply, nor stirred. The mute distress that her attitude betokened was not unnoticed by him.

"I do not force you to this, May, remember; the matter is left to your own choice. But you know what my own wish is-what the alternative will be if you do not accept the offer."

She knew only too well. Fully she realized now how absolutely necessary the luxuries to which her father had been accustomed were to him. Abso-Cash Paid for Wheat, Corn, &c lute loss of possession did not seem the most dreadful thing in the world to her, but she knew what a wreck it would make of him. In her youth and strongth the future would still be bright and full of hope toher; but how could he, with his agod frame and burden of sixty years commence life anew? The hopeful thought that she could work for him and supply him with his accustomed comforts, afforded her but a moment's comfort. To him, with his stubborn, aristocratic ideas, this would be the most severe trial of all-his delicately reared, petted child laboring for his support. He would never be reconciled to it. That was no alternative she saw at a glance.

Domestic Romance. Singular Meeting of Long Separated Brothers.

strange story has just made us acquainted with its particulars: Thirty-three years ago the second son of a family in which there were three boys, being desirous of bettering his condition in life, left England for this country, with an indefinite idea as to where he might settle, and only once thereafter, in a letter from New York, had his family any information that he was alive. Four years afterward the elder brother came to this country, and has since been reputably known in this city as a remarked: member of one of the most active professions. We are precluded from saying more on this head.

The week before Christmas, our Boston friend had occasion to visit Harrisburg, Penn, from which place he took a night train for New York. An obstruction on the railroad a few miles west of Philadelphia caused a delay of some hours near a small way station. Some of the passengers becoming tired of sitting in the cars, went out to explore the locality, particularly with the view to the procurement of refreshments. In this accomplishment there was little charce of success, as the place could not even boast of a grocery. There are men, however, who are not to be foiled in their intents if any means can be possibly found to carry them out, and some of these people happened to be among the ing farm house being near, that class of foragers invested it, called up the inmates, who were enjoying the comforts of their morning hour's repose, and prayed for a supply of fluid, from cold water to cider, tea, coffee, bourbon or apple jack. The owner of the house good naturedly opened it to his clamorous visitors, and dispensed his hospitality in various ways with no unstinted hand. What looked singular to many was the fact that he would not accept of any compensation whatever, although he had entertained at least 20 reciprocate at any time. Our Boston friend was one of our farm er's guests, and after thanking his host with genuine feeling, he handed the farmer his card, telling him that a bed, knife, fork, and spoon were ready for him whenever he came to Boston. The farmer looked upon the card and then at the presenter thereof-gazed again and again at one and the other, and, having apparently at last made up his mind, he said :

The peculiar smile that accompanied the inquiry, threw thirty-three years aside as one would fold back a curtain. Two brothers had met after this long interval-the name on the card being the direct cause of the discovery. When the train left a short time afterward, it carried on passenger less to New York. Of course the brothers had a pleasant time in exchanging their reminiscences. But a vet more interesting feature of Election Anecdotes.

Apropos of the recent elections, the following is capital, and will be especially relished by gentlemen who have been unsuccessful in their tspirations for office:

In one of the towns of Pennsylvania, the freemen had for many years deposited their votes solidly for the Democratic candidates. Such a thing as a Wing or Republican was unknown, and, prior to the Grant and Seymour campaign, no local Republican ticket had ever been run. At that time however, the politicians of an adjacent township thought it an opportune occasion to attempt the establishment, in that town, of a Republican organization. To this end they persuaded a certain Mr. Green, who had recently settled there, to become their candidate for some minor office, hoping to procure for him a few votes under the popularity of the great name of Grant, and thus to get an entering wedge in the local affairs of the township.

The day of election arrived, but Mr. Green was unable to get to the polls by reason of sickness. In due time, the returns were published, and Mr. Green had just one vote. Chagrined at this, and annoyed by the accusation that he had voted for himself, he announced that if the person who had voted for him would come forward and make affidavit to the fact, hs would reward him with a good suit of clothes. A few mornings afterward, a burly, stupid-looking Pennsylvania Dutch-man called upon Mr. Green and abruptly

"I vants dat suit of closs." "Ah!" said Mr. Green, "then you are the man that voted for me?" "Yah; I am dat man."

"Are you willing to make an affidavit "Yah; I swear to 'em."

Mr. Green, accompanied by the intelligent voter, went to the office of the Justice of the Peace, and the required affidayit was made; after which the clothes were purchased and given to the deponent. So delighted was Mr. Green to be relieved of the unpleasantness of his situa tion, and so glad to learn that there was another righteous man in the township, that he had taken the Dutchman's Repubilcanism as a matter of course. However, at parting, he said : 'Now, my friend, you have your suit you. I should have known that our delayed passengers, and a respectable look- of clothes, just answer me one question-How came you to vote for me?"

> "You vants to know dat?" "Yes." "And you von't go back on de cloes?"

Wasn't that consolatory! Mr. Green avows his unalterable determination never again to appeal to popular suffrage for pub-

out-of-the-way village of A, in the state of sturdy habits. The doctor's ideas were liberal-much more so than many of his congregation; nevertheless, he kept the even tenor of his way, and disregarded the prejudices of some of his people. He had a son named Enoch, who, at an early age, manifested a remarkable talent for music, which the father cherished and cultivated with care. In the same village resided an antiquated maider lady, who, having no cares of her own to occupy her time and attention, magnanimously devoted herself to those of her neighbors. One morning she called at the doctor stand requested to see him. When he entered the room where she was seated, he perceived at a glance that something was amiss, and before he had time to extend her the usual "How d'ye do?" she added, "I think, Dr. Pond, that a man of you age and profession might have had some London last week, than to buy Enoch fiddle; all the people are ashamed that our minister should buy his son a fiddle! THE MORMON QUESTION.

The Mormon question is again before Congress in the shape of a bill enabling the people of Utah to form a State government. It is, and has long been apparent to the observing class of the people, that the plan of dealing with this vexed Mormon question has been a signal failure on the laws have been enacted, by Congress, against the Mormon system of polygamy, but they have not been enforced They remain a dead letter upon our Statutes. There has been loud talk and valiant proposals to enforce them, but nothing has been done. The system progresses, and Mormons pay but little or no attention to the enactments of Congress against their darling institution. Polygamy still bears sway, and continues to progress and prosper

With this lamentable state of affairs existing, it is no wonder that thousands of the best men in our nation are beginning to ask the questions, with evident concern, "What shall be done?" "How shall this twin relic of barbarism be effectually checked in its on-ward march?" These are questions of no little magnitude—questions that need the wisdom of the age to wisely solve. There remains no doubt that something must be done, and that something, too, must be speedily done. It will not long do to let this feature of Mormonism continue uninterruptedly in its course. It will not do to allow that people to trample forever under foot the plainest provisions of the laws of Congress.

The difficulties surrounding the system seem to thicken, and it is useless to imagine that the stroke of a pen, a law, or resolution of Congress, will clear away the evil of Mormon polygamy. Too many people are in the habit of jumping at conclusions, without weighing fully the situation of affairs. This class say, "separate at once, and tear up every vestige of polygamy in Utah; for the Government is able, with her military power, to do so." This may all appear very well to those who have enjoyed the full blaze of a Christian education, and see the evil in its true light. On the other hand, how will it appear to those whose earliest recollections are connected with the system, whose educa-tion from infancy has been that the "plurality of wives" is a part of their religion?

It may seem strange, nevertheless there is to-day a large portion of the population of Utah whose only education has been, respecting polygamy, that it is right. It will not be forgotten that it was as far back as 1847 that the Mormons emigrated to the valley of the Great Salt Lake. There are then, to-day, in Utah, hundreds and thousands of men and women whose whole lives have been spent under the teaching and influence of this Mormon dogma. To these, as well as to thousands of women who are entangled in the meshes of polygamy, and its repeal to the Committee of Ways whose lives and family ties, as well as and Means. This recommendation, faith, bind them to the system, its im it is said, was made with the knowl mediate uprooting, by force, would appear harsh, and work great injustice as well as untold misery. In fact, we doubt if the combined powers of the government, physically exercised, would succeed in destroying the evil except it also destroyed the Mormon people. This, we opine, the sober and considerate people of the United States are not yet ready for. It sometimes happens that Governments, as well as individuals, in their varied dealings, are compelled to choose beple should be in favor of its obolition.

aveen two evils. And the solution of the Mormon question, we doubt not, involves this principle. To destroy the Mormon people would be a great evil, an evil of so great magnitude that the heart sickens at the thought To allow polygamy to continue, as it has done, till its demoralizing influence shall extend and corrupt a whole nation, is also an evil of untold magnitude. To allow polygamy to exist at all, is even, where it now stands, greatly to be deplored, and an evil of no small dimension. Yet it is a less evil than either of the others named. For this reason, therefore, we trust the wisdom of Congress may see proper to approve the provisions of the bill now before that body, to enable the people of Utah to form a State government. At least the provisions, so far as relates to the question of polyg my, which provides that a constitu-ion be adopted, forever prohibiting plural or polygamous marriages, in any form, after its adoption, but leaves hose now in that relation undisturbed

NEW SENATORS.

This, it is said, the Mormons will accept, and we believe that, under all the difficult circumstances, is the best colution of the Mormon question.

The Legislature of Illinois elected Hon. John A. Logan to the United States, Senate, and the Legislature of Missouri sent Frank P. Blair to the Senate from that State. Also, Henry Wilson, of Massachusetts; William Windhom, of Minnesota; Lot M. Morrill, of Maine, and T. W. Ferry, of Michigan, have all been elected to he United States Senate by their res-sective States, to serve six years from he 4th of March next.

INDIANA DIVORCE LAWS.

The time is at last come when the divorce laws of Indiana, which have so long been a disgrace to that State, will probably be amended so that people who desire to have the obligations of the marriage contract annulled for every slight grievance, will no long-er resort to the courts of that State for relief. The grounds specified in the laws of Indiana, on which divorce will be granted, are the same, nearly, as those contained in the laws of other States, with the exception that in the last clause, the Indiana law gives the Judge the right to grant divorce for any other cause he may deem proper. This is the objectionable feature. This clause gives legislative as well as judicial power to the courts, which is forhidden by all law, and for this reason, Gov. Baker, in his recent message to the Legislature, expresses his opinion that the law is unconstitutional.-Whether constitutional or not, we denounce with equal severity a law that will leave the cause for granting di-vorce to the judgment and discretion of a Judge—allowing him, in every case, to grant divorce for any reason which, in his opinion, would prevent the parties from living amicably to-

We advise people to not be hasty in chosing bosom companions for life. but when the solemn obligations "to love, cherish and protect" are once taken, to seek in every possible way to so live as to secure contentment and happiness. The facilities for obtaining divorce should only be such as will insure care and caution in the first inpart of the government. Very severe | stance, and patient sacrifice, continued forbearance, and unweavisome effort to please and satisfy in the latter.

SUBSIDY AND LAND GRABS.

There are a vast number of schemes on foot to plunder the Government, and rob the people of the public domain. The people regard the day of subsidies to wealthy corporations, and endless land grants for railroad and other purposes, as having passed. The period has arrived when our Senators and Representatives should set their faces like steel against all those swindling operations. The pressure in Washington is said to be very strong. to secure the passage of a number of these subsidy and land-grant bills. Let every honest Representative and Senator, and we believe we yet have many of this class, look to the interest of the people, and go solid against evry subsidy and land grant, except it clearly appears that the most urgent necessity exists therefor. It will, however, be difficult to make the people believe that any further necessity exists for giving away to corporations the public domain, or plundering the public treasury by subsidizing steamship companies.

CAPTAIN EYRE.

Our readers will doubtless remember very distinctly the loss of the U. S. Gunboat, Oneida, near Yokahama, and the fate of her gallant crew. The slight sentence, of six month's suspension, of Capt. Eyre, of the British Steamship, Bombay, caused every true American heart to revolt at the standard of British injustice. That Capt. Eyre could have prevented the disaster there is little doubt; and even after it had occurred, he could have saved the gallant crew of the Oneida, if he had made an effort to do so. It is, however, some satisfaction to Americans to know that when the term of suspension of Capt. Eyre expired, that the British Mail Steamship Company informed him that they had no further use for his services. Thus have British ship owners been more just than the British Naval Court that tried Captain Eyre. It is devoutly hoped by every American, that this inhuman Captain will never again be permitted to walk the deck of any ocean vessel as its commander, but that his inhumanity may condemn him to obscurity the remainder of his life.

THE INCOME TAX.

The prospects now are that the Income Tax will be repealed. Commissioner Pleasanton has recommended its repeal to the Committee of Ways edge of the President. It is further stated that the Income Tax yields but very little revenue, the greater portion thereof being used up in its col-lection. This being the case there is no reason for longer continuing it. The Income Tax has never been regarded, by many of the wisest men in the nation as strictly constitutional. Now that it yields but little to the Government, being consumed in its collection, the voice of the entire peo-

APPORTIONMENT. Now that the subject of Congressional apportionment is again before Congress, it is to be hoped that no Western man will again vote in such a way as to defeat the West from its proper Representation in Congress. We never yet have been fully able to determine why Messrs. Blair and Beaman, from Michigan, so voted before as virtually to kill the measure. If Michigan is entitled to three more Representatives in Congress, we want them just as soon as they can be elected. This time, therefore, we trust there will be an entire and unanimous co-operation, on the part of the Michigan delegation, to secure justice to Michigan, as well as to the entire

RONDS IN AID OF RAILROADS. The question decided by the Supreme Court of our State, relative to the validity of bonds issued in aid of railroads, is now about to run the gauntlet of the United States Courts. Action has already been commenced in the United States Circuit Court, at Detroit, by parties residing in the State of New York against the city of Port Huron, to recover interest due on bonds issued by that city in aid of the Port Huron & Lake Michigan

County

Other cases are also said to be in preparation and will ere long be com-

Berrien

It of course cannot be determined certainly what the result will be in these cases, but according to the rulings of the United States Court in some Town cases, there are fair prospeets that all railroad aid bonds will have to be paid, where the rail-road company had fulfilled their part of the contract, prior to the decision of the Supreme Court of our State declaring the law authorizing such aid unconstitutional.

It is a question of no small interest to various localities throughout the State, and the progress of the case through the United States Courts will be watched with no little interest.

STATE CONVENTION.

We publish, in this issue, the call of the Republican State Central Commuree for a State Convention, to be hold in Lansing, on the 23d of February, to nominate a Justice of the Supreme Court and two Regents of the State University.

Should the bill before Congress, on Representative Apportionment, become a law, in time, we see no reason why the three additional Representatives, to which Michigan will be entitled, might not be nominated at the same time.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

It the present Senate there are 27 Republicans and 5 Democrats. In the House, 70 Republicans and 30 Democrats.

THE SENATORIAL CAUCUS.

It has been claimed by some of Gov. Blair's friends that the result. in the late Senatorial Caucus, was the result of some combination or ring. This the Lausing Republican, by a close analysis of the vote, shows could not have been the case. The following is the conclusion of the Republican's article, with the summing up of the result:

Up to the fifth ballot, then, it is proven that 4 of Wm. A. Howard's friends have gone over to Ferry, and 4 of J. M. Howard's to Blair. On the sixth and final bal lot Blair stood 43, the same as on the former ballot, while Ferry gained 9 votes, receiving the nomination. On this ballot the 4 votes of Wm. A. Howard had to go to Mr. Ferry. The figures of all the ballots then prove conclusively that at least 8 of the 17 votes cast for Wm. A. Howard on the first ballot went over to Ferry, and 4 of the 16 votes lost on all the ballots by Senator Howard went over to Blair.

Carry the reasoning a little farther. Mr. Ferry had 30 votes on the first ballot, and 50 on the last, a gain of 20. Adding to his 30 the S yotes received from W m. A. Howard, and the 12 votes of J. M. Howard that Mr. Blair did not receive, and you have his 20 gain. Thus it is proven by the figures that within one of one-half of all the voices cast for Win. A. Howard went over to Mr. Ferry. This political analysis is made to disabuse the Republican rank and file of any idea that there was a combination of Senato tial candidates to elect or defeat their rivals. Had Gov. Blair been nominated instead of Mr. Ferry, the same charge of its being the work of a ring could doubtless be made, and having in view the harmony in the party, we should have taken the same trouble to have shown the contrary that we have now done in the nomination of Mr. Ferry. And while we have proved what the figures show, "and they cannot lie," it is well to remember that there is no evidence that other friends of Wm. A. Howard did not vote for Ferry, and others of Senator Howard for Mr Blair. It is a fact that five warm friends of Senator Howard, who stuck to him for five ballots, did, on the sixth, go for Mr. Ferry. That is all the evidence there is of a "ring." But when this is charged, let it not be forgotten that on the same ballot the last four supporters of Wm. A. Howard went also to Mr. Ferry. Now if there was a "ring" whose "ring" was it?

A Fresh Crop of Southern Outrages. We have serious accounts of local vio lence toward colored men and Republicans iu North Carolina, South Carolina and Kentucky. In the former State some 20 murders are reported by a gang of outlaws in Robenson county, the last murder being that of Mr. John Taylor, who was shot dead on the highway. Gov. Scott admits the serious trouble in South Carolina, but expresses the hope that the civil authority may prove adequate to suppress them. In the debate in the Senate on the 18th, on the condition of the South, Senator Waruer, of Alabama, alluded to great outrages in that State, mentioning an election disturbance at Eutaw, where four men were killed. But perhaps the worst state of affairs exist in the pre-eminently Democratic State of Kentucky. Gov. Stecenson, in his message, admits the existence of extensive outrages upon Union men and negroes, deplores them and suggests a remedy But the Legislature does nothing, although the very building where they sit to transact the business of the State is surrounded by assailed and terrified negroes who have fied into Prankfort for protection. An armed band of 17 disguised men, a few days since, attacked the colored people at a point but 18 miles from Frankfort, shot an old man dead in his house and evidently intended to surprise and murder the in habitants of a negro settlement, who warned of their approach, made a stout resist-ance and killed one of them. Did not these outrages find encouragement in the state of affairs, and demand that an end be put to it; decent citizens call for its suped as candidates we notice the ronowing: W. D. Foster, Hampton Rich, D. C. Leach, B. M. Cutcheon, B. D. Ball, H. H. Holt, Chauncey Davis, G. C. Willer. But there are nowhere any evidences of carnestness in this matter. The robbers and assassins seem to be assured of a large measure of public sympathy. They could not live and act if there was a united public sentiment against them. If the Liegis-lature of Kentucky is derelict, as we doubt ment, and then if it attempts to do something, we have the stereotyped howl about "Federal interference."—Advertiser & Tri-

Buchanan,

DELPHOS, U., Jan. 21, 1871. MESSRS. WAGNER & KINGERY:-When left Buchanan for Warsaw, Ind., I had no more expectation of coming to Delphos, than of going to Cuba. But "it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps." We got into our house, after boarding a week at the Commercial Hotel; and, after unpacking and arranging our furniture, we made our house like home. Mrs. F.'s brother, Joseph Knox, Esq., of Pittsburgh, Pa., is living with us. But I. shall never forget your pleasant Buchanan, with our steadfast friends, and the kind people we left there, with there generosity

But where is Delphos?—a classic name after the son of Apollo. It is in Ohio, where the P. Ft. W. & C. R. R. crosses the canal from Toledo, Ohio, and about one hundred miles in a direct southern line from Jackson, Mich., and forty-five miles east-by-south of Et. Wayne, Ind.,

and contains 2,300 people.

On entering the village, you see two large brick school-houses—the Union and the Catholic. The former, the largest, like a great college edifice; the latter, equally high, but less in dimensions. Both suggest that the people are bent on making men and women of refined and cultivated intellects. In the Catholic school, I am told, as the children are German, they use the German language.

You notice also the great Catholic brick church. About one-half of the people are German Catholics. The church is said to number 1,300 members. Their chime of bells call them to prayers, at an. early hour in the morning. The priest enters the church at 4 o'clock A. M., and stays until 10 o'clock P. M. You may sometimes, if not daily, see them going to rayers at the dawn of day or before, comig in for miles around. On the Sabbath, they have an immense throng at their old house. What other people are equally given to devotion, or will make such sacifices of ease and comfort to serve God? Yet the Bible teaches that "Christ's yoke is easy and his burden is light." The people here tell me that the Catholics here are very moral, honest and up-right, as well as religious. Their preaching is mostly in the German language.

Of the other denominations, the Methodists are the most numerous, having a good brick house and an excellent minister. The Presbyterians have a new brick house. with windows heautifully stained, and the interior finished without paint. They have a very devoted minister, the Rev. Mr. Gilchrist, very much liked, commanding a good attendance, especially at night. He is not so old as to render him unpopular-being twenty-one. There is also a

Lutheran Church, The people are social, kind, affable, industrious and temperate. Ohio prohibits liquor selling. I have not seen the law, but intemperance is rare. Delphos is what might be called a right smart place. The canal divides the village into two parts, and forms the dividing line between Van Wext county, on the the west, and Allen county on the east. There are warehouses on both sides and boats lying at the wharves. The canal affords water power of ten feet fall, for a woolen factory, a saw mill and a large flower mill. There are several other factories and mills using steam power. There is a fall of ninety feet between here and Toledo. The country is comparatively level. There is a distillery away up out of the village, and a brewery in the village.

I am informed that the amount of pork bought, and either packed or shipped from this place this season will amount to $70,-They have sent off, also, 5,000 or 6.000 quails and a good many deer, as well as other game.

They are a hard-working, economical, ntelligent, money making people. Tasteful and neat in their attire, remarkably church-going, without any affection of style or parade. They have a National Band and a newspaper. The Germans here will outstrip the Puritan Yankees in industry, economy and thrift. Indeed, everywhere, they make the most hardworking and money-making population of our country.

From Dec 20th we had two weeks of sold weather, and about four inches of snow. Since then, it has been for the most part mild and warm like Spring. We have all been well, except I took a severe cold at Warsaw, which brought on a cough, from which I have not wholly recovered. I have preached but once, since I came here. It is not deemed proper I should, until I have recovered.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The Herald's special, dated Paris, Jan. 13, says; "It is a significant fact that now, for the first time since the commencement of the seige, the question has been heard, How long can we hold out? The people commence to talk of a cessation of operations, although professedly only with the object of getting time to recuperate, and then commence a war of revenge. A feeling of distrust is spreading against those who command and conduct the defence. It is certain that, at the present moment, Paris would accept a dictator cheerfully, if one could be found equal to the situation. Gen. Trochu's fault is a lack of self-reliance. Now that news from the outside is scarce, he hardly seems to know what to do. Yesterday, dispatch es were received from Gambetta, but only to the 3d of December. Though they give flattering accounts of the condition in the provinces, there is reason to believe that information of a later date, and from other sources, proves the hopes raised to be falacions. Certainly if no speedy relief comes, a climax must be reached inside the city. Either sorties must be made on such a scale on every side as will throw all the hazard on a single effort, or capitulation sought for on the best terms obtainable, or there will be a terrible row inside the city. "The exasperation of the people is so great that a French victory now would ring results fearful to contemplate. Since yesterday, bread has been made of the minimum quantity of flour, mixed with rice and other ingredients, and there is not sufficient flour for bread after the 19th of this month. The troops have received biscuits for the last five days in order to save bread for the population. Horse flesh will last yet 30 days. "In as far as provisions are concerned, although reports show enough for two months, yet a few facts prove their scarcity, and the suffering of the poorer classes. For instance: The price of a rabbit is 35 francs; a chicken, 55; a goose, 70; a tur key, 90; butter, 30 francs per pound eggs, 2 francs; beet root, 150; dog-flesh, 8 francs, per pound; prime parts of elephant, 20 francs, and horse-flesh, 10 francs. In addition, the hospitals of the Church of St. Sulpice and Odien, have been partly destroyed by shells. The museum of Luxembourg received 20 shells within a few nours, and its unrivaled conservatories are

LONDON, Jan. 23.—News from Paris of the 20th has been received. Letters say that the line of battle on the 19th reached from Mont Route to Lacelle, and that the French numbered 100,000 men, supported by a powerful force of artillery Gen. Trochu, in his report of the battle, says; "The day, which commenced successfully, did not terminate as could be wished. The enemy were at first surprised, but subsequently concentrated great masses of artillery and infantry, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon our left receded. We resumed at nightfall an offensive movement, but were unable to hold the heights, which were taken. The struggle was sanguinary. We have asked for an

The New York Herald's special, dated at Versailles, Jan- 20, says: "Great excitement exists throughout the German lines. The sorties of yesterday have been already officially reported from headquarters. I was the last desperate attempt of the French to break through the toils. During the assault on the German entrenchments, many French leaders displayed reckless bravery, urging their men bravely, but without effect. In some instances, the French fought with a fury evidently height ened by strong drink and other causes; but all the efforts of the leaders were in vain. The French, after firing, turned and fled, or dropped to the ground, and threw away their arms. "The report is current that Gen. Trochu has esked for an armistice, but it is doubtful. The Germans granted one temporarily for the purpose of gathering the wounded, and the officers on duty at the outposts say that large masses of men were dimly discernable, with lanterns and stretchers, who occupied the whole night at their

"To day the streets are filled with rumors of capitulation. The general feeling is that the end is close at hand, and news of the entire def at of Faidherbe's army, and the probable annihilation of Bourbaki's army, strengthens the belief. Tomorrow morning a parliamentere will be sent to Trochu with the information of Faidherbe's rout. Prisoners captured yesterday concur in the statement that yesterday's sortie was the last desperate effort by the besieged. They say the men were disinclined to fight, and were actually driven to the front like sheep to the slaughter. An order issued by Gen. Trochu before the sortie notified the army that all soldiers retreating or shrinking would be shot. A special guard was placed in the rear to carry out the provisions of this order. The troops were all supplied with extra food and liquor. It is believed that the assault will be renewed when the weather clears but the result can be no longer doubtful. There is nothing for the troops in Paris but additional slaughter, unless the present failure should lead to a capitulation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The Herald's Paris special says; "A decree of the government has just been issued which will startle those who sought their safety out of Paris. The privacy of their houses left behind is about to be Folated by authorized planderers, and their cellars sacked of wine, wood, and coal, and their store-rooms invaded and their contents, delivered overto fill the empty public stomach and replenish the public coal souttles. A small grain of comfort remains for absent householders."

A Paris correspondent of the London Times, under date of the 21st; says: Gen. Trochu is generally considered as incompetent. The council of defence only failed to accept his resignation because they were unable to find a successor. It is impossible to make the Parisians consider the question of surrendering. They are anxons to fight under competent leadership. "The rations of flour are now half ound per man. The poorest people receive bread free gratis, with a pint of wine each and a little syrup daily. Mr. H. and his wife sprang from their bed, Mrs. H. taking with her their youngest child, a boy of two years. Anothboy of nine escaped by jumping through a window. Mr. H. was severely burned while endeavoring to rescue his remaining children, boys of eleven and seven years, and their only daughter, aged five, but without avail, as they all perished within sight of their agonized parents. When all was over Mr. H. placed his wife and children in the stable, wrapping them in the blankets taken from his horses, none of the family having anything on except their night clothes, and the mercury several degrees below zero. He then mounted a horse and started in quest of help. He rode about one mile and aroused a neighbor, who had to literally drag him from his horse, his hands and feet being frozen, his hands being fast in the mane of his horse. Hastily procuring clothing for himself and a supply of blankets, Mr. H. returned in his burned and frozen condition, being the first to arrive to the relief of his almost perished wife and surviving children. The ashes of the unfortunate children were gather ed together on Sunday and buried. The efforts of Mr. H. in endeavoring to save his family, were almost superhuman, and now, bereaved, burned and frozen, he is left entirely destitute. FUNNY .- About nine men out of ten (outside of the profession) know that they can edit a paper-"easiest thing in the world for a man with any brains, sir; nothing to do but write a cermin amount daily; all you have to do is to keep your head clear." If some of these gentlemen could be put forcibly in possession of a newspaper and made to edit it for a month or two, they would have their eves opened most wonderfully wide.—They would learn that to sit at a desk quietly and write pretty editorial, bears about the same proportion to the whole duty of an editor as a bolt in a single-tree of a carriage does to the entire vehicle. They learn that work AT HOME.—Hon. A. B. Riford was at never ceases in a printing office, that constant watchfulness and care can alone bring success; that s steady drain on the brain of the editor is the rule; and that in addition the head of the establishment has Ferry was given.—Benton Harbor Palla to bear philosophically, more grumbling, abuse, and advice, for less pay, than any other professional man would dream of.

the House to the bill authorizing the issue of an additional $300,000,000 of five per cent. bonds. The Vice President laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of War, transmitting a mass of papers relating to the late traffic of Senator Sprague with the rebels in Texas during the war, being the papers referred to in the report of Judge Advocate General Holt upon the case, and upon which the same was based.-Referred to the Special Committee for investigation. A joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, making eligible to the office of President all persons who have attained the age of 35 years, and been fourreen years a resident of the United States, was referred. A bill passed ceding to Ohio jurisdiction over ground occupied by Dayton Soldier's Home.

A resolution was offered and referred, authorizing the President to appoint three com missioners to examine and report as to the distribution of aid granted by the Government to the Pacific and other railroad companies, what persons have divided the benefits therefrom, and to what extent, and in what manner. The House went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Schofield in the Chair, and resumed cousideration of the Legislative and Naval Appropriation bill. After considerable discussion, it was determined to continue the salaries of the Circuit Judges at $5,000. The amendment repealing the law authorizing the publication in newspapers of the statutes, was rejected-Yeas, 80; nays, 90. SENATE—JAN. 18TH.

The Committee on Finance was discharged from further consideration of the letter of the Secretary of the Treasury relating to the tax on $450,000 scrip dividends on the New York Central Railroad. The Committee on Finance reported, without amendment, the bill to provide for the reduction of copper and other token coins. The bill had the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury.- Passed. It requires the Secretary of the Treasury to redeem in lawful money all copper, nickle and other base coinage, when presented in sums not less than $20. A resolution was adopted directing the Committee on Judiciary to examine and report how far Cougress is authorized to regulate the fare and transportation on railroads between States, under the constitutional provisions authorizing Congress to regulate commerce between States.

The following amendments to the hill on Ap. propriations were agreed to: For paying J. W. Douglas, the late Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue, the salary of Commissioner for November and December; Increasing the appropriation for the Bureau of Education from $4,500 to $6,000; Increasing the saleries of the Chief Justice and Associate Justices of the Supreme Court to $8,500 and $8,000, respectively. The bill was then passed. The Committee on Indian Affairs, reported back, with amendments, the Senate bill authorizing the sale of certain lands reserved for the use of the Menominee tribe of Indians in Wiscon-SENATE-JAN, 19TH.

The Army bill was considered, and, after some discussion, passed. A bill to secure cheap rom the West to the sea-board, and uniform rates throughout the year.-Referred. The bill provides that the Government shall aid in the construction of the Portland, Rutland, Oswego and Chicago Railroad by a loan of six per cent. thirty-year bonds, to the amount of $50,000 per mile for its whole extent from Portland to Chicago. The road is to be double track, and furnished with steel rails and iron bridges; the Postmaster-General to establish rates for the transportation of freight and passengers. The motion of Mr. Morton for the appointment of a special committee of five to investigate the charges of violence and resistance of laws in the South, was then agree to.

HOUSE--JAN. 19TH. Most of the time was consumed in discussion on the Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation bill, which appropriates $1,438,000. Mr. Cox moved to increase the salary of the Secretary of Legation at St. Petersburg from $1,800 to $2,500 .- Rejected. Mr. Wood moved for a provision that no part of the contingent fund of the State Department be used in the effort to annex the Republic of Dominica. Without lisposing of the question, the House adjourned. SENATE-JAN. 20TH.

A bill was introduced and referred to carry into effect the constitutional form of government for the Indian Territory adopted Dec. 20, 1870, at Okmulgee by a general council, the said Territory to be held, by authority of the Government of the United States. A special committee was selected to investigate into alloged Southern outrages, consisting of Messrs. Scott, Wilson, Rice, Chandler and Baynard. A joint resolution was reported and passed for the relief of squatters on public lands, extending for one year the time for making payments. By unanimous consent, the Income Tax was made the special order of business for Tuesday. The Senate adjourned until Monday.

HOUSE-JAN. 20TH. The Sonate bill to provide for the govern ment of the District of Columbia was taken up and road. The House proceeded to consider it by sections. It proposes territorial government in the District, with Governor appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, and who shall hold office for four years; with a council of eleven members, and a house of representatives of twenty-two members, with a secretary of State appointed by the President for four years, and with a delegate in Congress. After some amendments, the bill passed. The session to-morrow will be for general debate only.

SENATE-JAN. 28n. Mr. Ramsay presented the credentials of Mr. O. P. Stearns, elected by the Legislature of Minnesota for the unexpired term of Hon. D. S. Norton, deceased. After the reading of the credentials, Mr. Stearns presented himself and took the oath of office. A joint resolution of the Legislature of Indiana was presented, instructing the Senators from that State to vote against the annexation of San Domingo. Communications were also presented from the Illinois and Indiana Legislatures, asking for appropriations for the improvement of the navigation of the Wabash River.-Referred. On motion, the Senate took up and passed the bill increasing the pensions of disabled soldiers and sailors. It increases all pensions twenty constitution.

The originator of this wonderful medicino, claims to have discovered and combined in harmony more of Nature's most sovereign medical properties than was ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate discases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronch citis, Swere Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has assonished the medical faculty, and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all Humors from the worst Scripula to a common Blotch, Fimple or Eruption. Mercurial Diseases, Mineral Polsons, Syphilitic and Vonerial Diseases, and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a coura constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scald Hond, Hever Sores, Scaly or Rough Stim, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. For "Liver Complaint," Bilious Disorders, and Habinat Constitution, it has produced hundreds of perfect and permanent cures where other medicines had failed.

The proprietor offers $1,000 reward for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of all the diseases for which it is recommended. Beware of counterfeits and worthess similations. See that my private Government Stamp which is a positive guarantee of Genuineness, is upon the ontide wrapper. This medicine is Sold by Druggists at $1.00 pribotile. Prepared by R. V. Plerce, M. SUICIDE.—Mrs. Alonzo Folges, a resident of Allen, committed suicide on Friday of last week by cutting her throat. She was about 65 years of age, and of very peculiar habits, at times manifesting symptoms of insanity, especially upon the subject of religion. Her husband was the first to discover her, he coming in to dinner was surprised to find things as he left them at breakfast, and going up stairs to a little room, to his horror he beheld his wife lying dead upon the floor with her throat cut from ear to ear .- Coldwater

Little Spiders. I was in a hothouse, not long since, where there were some very curious and valuable foreign plants. The gardener was busily engaged in washing, with sponge and water, every tendril of these plants. I could see no occasion for so much trouble: but the gardener was loud in his out-cry against a very small red spider, which he said, except he could get rid of it, would scon kill his favorite plants.

Thooked, and could almost have donoted its existence, had he not snown me the ravages that had been committed by an chemy of the same kind on another of his plants. The speckled leaf that yet remained on the plant, and the many dead leaves strewed around it, with the evilent marks upon them of the destructive work of this little enemy, seemed to cry aloud in my ears,"Trifle not with little sins," but WATCH AND PRAY against them, for they are like the little foxes that spoil the vines. - New York Observer.

The Dark and Bright Side. God checkers His providences white and black, as the pillar of cloud has its light side and dark. Look on the light side of thy estate. Suppose thou art cust in a lawsuit-there is the dark side; yet thou hast some land left-there is the light side. Thou hast sickness in thy bodythere is the dark side; but grace is in thy soul—there is the light side. Thou hast a child taken away-there is the dark side; thy husband lives—there is the light side. God's providences in this life are various, represented by those speckled horses among the myrtle trees which were red and white. (Zech. 1:8). Mercies and afflictions are interwoven; God doth speckle his work. "Oh!" says one, "I want such a comfort;" but weigh all thy mercies in the balance, and that will make thee content. If a man did want a finger, would he be so discontented for the loss of that as not to be thankful for all the other parts of the body. What I wouldst thou have no cross at all? Why should one man have all good things, when he himself is good but in part? Wouldst thou have no evil about thee, who hast so much in thee? Thou art not fully sanctified in this life, how then thinkest thou to be fully satisfied?—Thomas Watson.

Thoughtlessness of Youth. In general I have no patience with people who talk about "the thoughtlessness of youth" indulgently; I had infinitely rather hear of thoughtless old age, and the indulgence due to that. When a man has done his work, and nothing can any way be materially altered in his fate, let him forget his toil, and jest with his fate, if he will; but what excuse can you find in willfulness of thought at the very time when every crisis of future fortune hangs on your decisions ! A youth thoughtless! when all the happiness of his home forever depends on the chances or the passion of an hour? A youth thoughtless! when the career of all his days depend on the opportunity of a moment! A youth thoughtless! Water-Proof,
Alpacea,
Scotch Platds,
Delaine when his every act is a foundation-stone of future conduct, and every imagination a fountain of life or death! Be thoughtless in any after years, rather than now—though, indeed, there is only one place where a man may be nobly thoughtless—his death-bed. Nothing should ever be left to be done there.—Ruskin.

Praise God. God created man for his own glory and honor. Man was not made and placed here upon this terrestrial ball to live a life of wickedness and fleshly pursuits; but to glorify, praise and honor God. Man is not his own; he did not create himself—he is not self-existent. His days on earth do not belong to himself—they are God's. The earth he walks upon is not his; it, too, is God's. All the blessings that man enjoy must issue from the hand of God. Then, man, thou worm of the dust, praise God!

—praise him with all your soul, body,
mind and strength. This is your reasonable service.

Whiter than Snow. What could possibly be whiter than snow? We are almost ready to say nothing. Yet there is something that is whiter than snow. It is the heart that is washed in the blood of Jesus. Turn to the 51st Psalm and 7th verse: 'Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean; wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow."

The heart is not overcome by being watched and tended, but by those mental and spiritual exercises which release the thoughts from the care of an uneasy body. The sad experience of the sick man who slept poorly all night, though he gave attention to it, is repeated in the case of not a few who cultivate coolness on the Sab-

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his, own experience that the awful consequences of Solf-Abuse may be offectually removed without medicines, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougles, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. Let the afflicted read, and ream that a perfect and radical cure is warranted and guaranteed to all who are afflicted. DR. RAPHAEL describes the disease without any information from the patient. He explains its cause, and guarantees its cure; and what is better still, he will honestly and frankly fell you whether you can be cured or not, which will save your health and life from wrong treatment. He cures private and secret diseases, without the use of mercury, hindrance from business, or fear of discovery or exposure. His botanic remedies restore manhood and vigor, and make the barren fruitful, and enable the single to get married, with the assurance of having a contented wife and healthy children.

LADIES, whose delicate health make it necessary for them not to have children, use his Preventive. It not only prevents an increase of family, but it will promote and preserve the health, because his PREVENTIVE against having children is innocent, safe and sure. It does not interfere with diet or occupation. It operates without sickness or exposure. If Ladles who have suffered from misplaced confidence, consult him before they get married, he will restore their bloom, freshness and rigor of youth, and enable them to enter married life with confidence of health and happiness.
