Story. INFLUENCE OF AN HONORABLE

BY T. S. ARTHUR.

Till give him law to his heart's content, the scoundrel!' said Singleton, walking backward and forward in an angry state of excitement.

'Don't call hard names, Mr. Singleton, said lawyer Truman, looking up from the mass of papers before him, and smiling in a quiet, benevolent way that was peculiar to him.

Every man should be known by his true name. Williams is a scoundrel and so ought to be called,' responded the client, with increasing. warmth.

'Did you ever do a reasonable thing in your life when you were angry?' asked Mr. Trueman, whose age and respectability gave him the license to speak thus freely to his young friend, Millinery Establishment for whom he was endeavoring to arrange some business difficulty with his former partner.

'I can't say that I ever did, Mr. Trueman, but now I have good reason for being angry, and the lan-guage I use in reference to Williams is but the expression of a sober and rational conviction, replied Singleton

Did you pronounce him a scoundrel before you received this reply to your last letter?' asked Mr. True-

'No, I did not; that letter confirmed my previous formed impressions of his character.' But I can find in that letter no evidence proving that your late partner is a dishonest man. He will not agree to your proposed mode of settlement, because he does not see it to be the most proper way.'

'He won't agree to it because it is an honest and equitable mode of settlement; that is all! He wants to overreach me, and is determined to do so, if he can!' responded Mr. Singleton, still excited. There you are decidedly wrong, said the lawyer. 'You have both allowed yourselves to become angry, and are both unreasonable; and if I must speak plainly, I think you the most unreasonable in think you the most unreasonable in the present case. Two angry men can never settle any business properly. You have necessarily increased the difficulties in the way of a speedy settlement; by writing Mr. Williams an angry letter, which he has responded to in the like unhappy temper. Now, if I am to settle this business for you. I must write all letters that for you, I must write all letters that pass to Mr. Williams in the future.'

But how can you properly express my views and feelings?' That I do not wish to do, if your views and feelings are to remain as they now are—for anything like an adjustment of the difficulties under such circumstances. I should consider hopeless, replied Mr. Trueman.

'He never wrote that letter in the world!' exclaimed Singleton, starting to his feet. 'You know his writing, I presume,' said Mr. Trueman, handing him the letter. 'It's Thomas William's own hand as I live!' ejaculated Singleton, on glancing at the letter.

'My old friend, Thomas Williams, the best natured fellow in the world! he continued, his feelings undergoing a sudden and entire revolution, what a fool I have been!

'And what a fool I have been!' said Thomas Williams, advancing from an adjoining room, at the same time extending his hand towards Singleton. 'God bless you, my dear friend exclaimed Singleton grasping his hand. Why, what has been the matter with us both?"

'My young friends,' said Mr. Trueman, one of the kindest hearted men in the world, rising and advancing to-wards them, 'I have known you long, and have always esteemed you both. This pleasant meeting and reconciliation, you perceive, is my arrangement. Now let me give you a precept that will make friends. It has been my motto through life, and I don't know that I have an enemy in the world. It is this: 'A soft answer turneth away wrath, but grievous words stir up anger.'

A KISS AT THE DOOR.

We were standing in the door way—
My little wife and I.
The golden sun upon her hair
Fell down so silently,
A small white hand upon my arm, What could I ask for more Than the kindly glance of loving eyes
As she kissed me at the door?

I know the loves with all her heart The one who stands beside! And the years have been so joyous Since first I called her bride! We've had so much of happiness Since we met in years before, But the happiest time of all was When she kissed me at the door.

Who cares for wealth of land or gold, For fame or matchless power? It does not give the happiness Of just one little hour With one who loves me as her life-She says she loves me more— And I thought she did this morning

When she kissed me at the door. At times it seems that all the world. At times it seems that all the world,
With all its wealth of gold,
Is very small and poor, indeed,
Compared with what I hold!
And when the clouds hang grim and dark, I only think the more

Of one who waits the coming step To kiss me at the door. If she lives till age shall scatter Its frosts upon her head, I know she'll love me just the same As the morning we were wed: But if the angels call her,

And she goes to Heaven before, 'I shall know her when I meet her, For she'll kiss me at the door.

Words and Their Uses. From Richard Grant White's new volume, bearing the above title, we quote a few paragraphs, showing a nice sense of discrimination founded on practical views on the subject:

Aggravate. This word should never be employed in reference to persons, as it means merely to add weight to—to make an evil more oppressive; injury is aggravated by insult. It is sometimes improperly used in the sense of irritate, as "I was very much aggravated by his conduct. Balance, in the sense of rest, remainder, residue, remnant, is an abomination. Balance is metaphorically the difference between two sides of an account—the amount which is necessary to make one equal to the other. * * * Yet we continually hear of the balance of this or that thing, even the balance of a congregation or of an army.

Bountiful is applicable only to persons A giver may be bountiful, but his gift cannot—it should be called plentiful or large- "A bountiful slice" is absurd. Fetch expresses a double motion; first from and then toward the speaker. It is exactly equivalent to "go and bring," and ought not to be used in the sense of bring alone. Calculate, besides its sectional misuse for think or suppose, is sometimes in the participle from calculated, put for likely or apt: "That nomination is calculated to injure the party." It is calculated (designed) to do no such thing, though it may be

Citizen should not be used except when the possession of political rights is meant to be implied. Newspaper reporters have a bad habit of bringing it out on all occasions when "person," "man," or "bystander" would express their meaning much Couple applies to two things which are bound together or united in some way. "A couple of apples" is incorrect; two apples is what is meant.

Dirt means filth, and is not synonymous with earth or soil. Yet people sometimes speak of a dirt road, or of packing the dirt around the root of trees they were setting. They mean earth. Executed. When a murderer is hanged his sentence is executed, the man is not. A man cannot be executed—that is, followed out or performed. Expect looks to the future. You cannot expect that anything has happened or is happening; but only that it will happen. Get means to obtain not to possess. "He has got all the numbers of the Country Gentleman;" "Have you got good molas-ses?" "They have got bad manners." Why will people persist in introducing the word in such sentences as these, where it is so evidently superfluous? Help Meet. An abusive use of these two words, as if they together were the name of one thing-a wife-is too common. The sentence in Genesis is: "I will make arrived at home she got a six-pence him an help meet for him"—i. e., a help and tendered it as a fulfillment of her fit for him. There is no such word as him an help meet for him"—i. e., a help helpmeet.

Lie—Lay. Persons not grossly ignorant, sometimes say they will lay [meaning lie] down, that they have laid [lain] an hour, or that the hammer is laying [lying) by the tacks. Lie means to recline its past tense is lay—"I lay there all the night;" its participles, lying and lain. Lay [used of present time] means to put something down—one lays a carpet; its past is laid—"I laid it myself;" its participles, laying and laid—"I was interrupted while laying it, and it was not laid till night."

Love rules the heart, not the stomach You love your wife, or ought to; but favorite articles of food you like... Observe should not be used for say, as in the oft heard sentence "What did you observe?"

Sit, often pronounced set, is occasionally written so, but it is hoped, rarely.

A Modern Wife.

"You're a pretty gul to be married!" said an aged aunt to her niece. "Why, what do you know about housekeepingjust from boarding school? I am sure your husband has need of a mint of money." "La! aunt, I expect to board; you need not think I shall bother my head with de-mestic concerns. Everybody boards now, that gets married genteelly, the first 'year."

"What shall you pay a week for such kind of living!" inquired the aunt.
"Mr. Hyde says he can get first-rate board and accommodations for fifteen dol-lars; two rooms beautifully situated; and I am sure that is cheap enough. What is Hyde's salary? Why, six hundred dollars now, and the promise of promotion— perhaps eight hundred before the year is "So you are going to live on the perhaps, are you? Now let me tell you. Susie: You talk foolishly. If your husband is at present receiving six hundred do you lay by one of them. Its all nonsense to go beyond your means."

"Why, aunt I nobody would respect us, if we did not live as stylish as other people, There is a great deal in beginning."
"True, child; that is what I am trying to impress upon you." The year passed away. Susie lived in style, paid fifteen dollars for board, received her genteel acquaintances, worked some fancy netting, drew a few sketches from old paintings, grew tired of boarding and was just entering upon fashionable housekeeping, when lo! a defalcation came out. Hyde had taken money unlawfully, was arrested, held to bail, and a prison stared him in the face.

Susie did not believe him guilty, they had always lived so economically, and it could not be. But the trial proved otherwise, and he was convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for years.

"How came you to do so, Hyde?" asked the good old aunt.
"To please my wife's fancy," was the reply. "She wanted to live like other people, and I wished to gratify her, and in this way I committed my first breach of trust." The broken-hearted wife lamented the beginning she had made, when, alas! it was too late to rectify it. She found respectibility preferable to genitity. She nov lives at her father's with a worse than widow's sorrow to harrow her feelings, and takes in sewing for a livelihood.

The plain road to ruin is clearly marked out. We see what must have been the result of such a course—but are not thousands of others sacrificing their husband's reputations by less obvious but still as certain courses of extravagance? Away with the nonsensical thought that gentility demands such a sacrifice beyond one's ability. If you value the opinions of the truly worthy and estimable, you wil always find them on the side of prudent expenditure and economical living. "Cut your garment according to your cloth," is an old maxim—but the sentiment is as true as in the olden-times. A life of gaudy show may do for a butterfly, but never for a man or woman who expect to survive one season. The wife should strive to aid the husband in the toils of life, and honest industry hardly ever fails of bringing health and contentment. Then young man, look well ere you make choice of a life partner. —J. L. Harvey.

A Pithy Sermon to Young Men.

You are the architects of your own fortunes. Rely upon your own strength of body and soul. Take for your motto, self-reliance, honesty and industry; for your star, faith, perseverance and pluck, and inscribe on your banner, "Be just and fear not." Don't take, too much advice; keep at the helm and steer your own ship. Strike out. Think well of yourself. Fire above the mark you intend to hit. Assume your position. Don't practice excessive humility; you can't get above your level -water don't run up hill-put potatoes in a cart over a rough road and the small ones will go to the bottom. Energy, in vincible determination, with right motives, are the levers that rule the world. The great art of commanding is to take a fair share of the work. Civility costs nothing and buys everything. Don't drink; don't swear; don't gamble; don't deceive; don't tattle. Be polite; be generous; be kind Study hard; play hard. Be in earnest; be self-reliant. Read good books. Love your fellow men as your God; Jove you country and obey the laws; love virtue; love truth. Always do what your con science tells you to be a duty, and leave the consequences with God. A recent inquest in London afford a remarkable illustration of the lengths to which vanity will carry women. A domestic servant died suddenly. The doctor could not account for the death and made a post mortem examination, which showed that the stomach had been reduced to the size of a baby's, and the heart pushed out of its proper place, throughertight lacing The corroner, a medical manuolegreat ex periguce, had never seen so aggravated case of the sort.

For Regents of the University— CLAUDIUS R. GRANT, of Washtenaw, CHARLES RYND, of Lemawee. INTEMPERANCE.

There appears at present to be an "awakening" in different parts of our country upon the subject of Temper-

Meetings were recently held in Boston and other Eastern cities, similar to the meeting now being held at Detroit, in our own State, to devise means to prevent the spread of intemperance. ----

More attention has been given to the subject within the past few weeks by the press, than for several years previously, and the legal branch of the question has been thoroughly discussed by the Legislatures of several States—suggested by the recent laws of Ohio, which are said to work successfully, giving to the widow and children of a man destroyed by drink, damages against the seller of the liquor, and making the judgment a lien upon the property, by whomsoever owned, in which the bevereges were

The conclusion, to which all those who have taken part in the investigation and discussion of this important question, is that something besides coersive means must be employed to fight this giant and pervading evil.

The plan recommended is one on which all good people will unite, and by this means cannot fail of accomplishing much work in the right di-

It is not to rely alone upon pro-hibitory liquor laws and the courts, for we have seen the impossibility of the enforcement of the law in many cases in our large cities, where its enforcement would secure the most good-but a return to the course pursued in that age of temperance reform known as the "Washingtonian era," when the power of the press, the pulpit, the bar, the lecture rooms, libraries, music halls, personal influence, time, business and pleasure. - all contributed aid to save the nation from poverty, crime, suffering and death, caused by the dangerous and wide spread evils of intemperance.

Invitation is given for all, of whatever age or class, who may feel an interest in the cause, to join in an effort to stay the evils of intemperance in our land by every possible means, and especially by exerting all the influence they possess by the presentment of facts, reasoning and moral sussion. This moral enlightenment must have effect, as well upon the conscience and will, as upon the intellect.

We have no desire to attempt to evade or neglect the part we should take in this great work. We shall not speak in particular in this article of the evils of intemperance in the ruination of health, enfeebling of mind, and the destruction of the character of its unhappy victims, but shall call attention to the extent to which the evil prevails, by figures showing the amount of money annually ex-pended on account of this debasing sin. In the city of Detroit there are 1,200 places, large and small, where intoxicating liquors are sold. Calculating the receipts of these institutions at $5 each per day, it makes an aggregate of over $2,100,000 annually wasted, and worse than wasted in this -one city alone. It has been estimated by our Revenue Commissioners that in our country 42,000,000 gallons of distilled spirits, 186,000,000 gallons of fermented liquors, and 10,000,000 gallons of imported liquors are annually consumed, independently of what is used for medical and mechanical purposes, and that they cost at least $500,000,000. This is enormous when we consider that the world would be far better off if the money thus expended were committed to the flames, and those who squander it thus saved from the deliterious effects and influences of drunkenness on both body and soul.

A HALF BILLION OF DOLLARS! Why, this sum when annually expended in war to preserve our nation's life, but a few years ago, was looked upon as an amount so enormous as to make the nation shudder. It ought to shudder to-day when it reflects that the same sum is being wasted in what produces degradation. disease, dismay, disorder, destruction, poverty, crime, ruin and death in all sections of the land. Five hundred -millions of dollars! What could be accomplished if expended entirely for humanity—to aid the poor, furnish homes for the homeless, food for the famishing, help for the suffering, relief to widows, education to orphan children; and what gratitude and rejoicing would go up from millions of happy hearts! But instead, as it is, only sorrow and affliction, misery and woe, poverty and suffering, are the results, and fathers and mothers will not raise their voices, or take a decided stand to drive from our midst this alluring vice which will continue to prosper on the ruination of their sons.

The Judiary Committees of both houses of our Legislature have given their opinion that our Spring Election is not a General Election, under the meaning of the Constitution, and therefore amendments to the Constitution cannot be voted on at the Spring Election.

John Morris, Esq., of Charlotte, has been appointed Agent of Michigan State Prison, at Jackson, vice Bingham; resigned. Morris has had considerable experience as Keeper at the Prison, and is said to be well qualified for the position to which he has been appointed.

The Attorney General has submitted a report to the Legislature, declaring the ineligibility of Judge Dewey as compiler of of our laws. It is an office under the Constitution which prohibits a Judge from holding any other than a judicial office.

A bill has passed both Houses of our Legislature appropriating 75,000 for the construction of a new University building.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE,

No one question, at the present time, is causing more discussion than that of Woman Suffrage. A few years ago its advocates scarcely numbered hundreds, but to-day it marshals a mighty host in its army. The cause is gaining strength every hour, and many who, even one year ago, sconted the idea of the right to vote being conferred upon women, to-day look at the question in quite a different light.

The question now agitates our grave legislative bodies, the Congress of the Nation cannot exclude the question. With such facts as these before the American people, together with the right of women to vote being already granted in some places, it needs not the prophetic eye to predict the inevitable result. Soon or late, and we imagine not many years hence, Woman Suffrage will be an acknowledged fact. It is useless for any man or set of men to persistently oppose the logic of events, and yet we find some using all their energies in opposition to

Woman Suffrage.
Whether it will result in greater good to the nation for women to vote or not, is not the question under discussion. Yet we do not see where there could be any evil result therefrom. Women, as a class, are possessed of a sufficient amount of intelligence to use the elective franchise understandingly. True there are exceptions, but there are thousands of men who vote without knowing what they are voting for. Under our system of government we cannot see how, if women desire the privilege to vote, that privilege can be denied. It is a principle laid broad and deep in our national superstructure, that "governments derive their authority from the consent of the governed." If this is acknowledged as a fact, how can woman be refused the elective franchise, if she

Women pay taxes, they can own property in their own right, they can onduct business affairs of life, and they are subject to the laws. Why, then, should they not be allowed to vote if they desire it? Are they not as well qualified to exercise this privilege as the colored man at the south? We think none of the opposers to Woman Suffrage will dare answer, no.

It is well then for the American people, those who now enjoy the elective franchise, to quietly make up their minds to grant the same privilege to women—submit to the logic of events. It cannot be long till woman will have the right of suffrage, when she will be elected to office and sit in the council chambers of our Legislatures, both State and National.

CONTESTED ELECTION CASES.

The disposition to contest the right ongress to an extent that has justly elicited considerable attention and comment. Every possible means should be employed to secure justness and fairness in elections, in order that the wishes of a majority may be correctly determined in the election of officers. Only when this is done can government be said to be by the consent of the governed. We would encourage the right to contest the validity of an election whenever the declared result is thought to have been procured through fraudulent means or unfairness, but when the contestant does not prove his right to the seat, that provision should be made to pay him for his time and his expenses of contesting the right to the position, we think is wrong, and that the money so spent is virtually squandered. It is reported that the Forty-First Congress has paid $7.7,-959 to contestants who had no right to the seats, as the investigation proved. In addition to this, $26,416 have been paid to witnesses in the above cases, and add the two cases that have occurred since the report, $2,500 paid to Mr. Rodgers, of Tennessee, and $3,000 paid to Mr. Eggleston, of Ohio, and the total expenses to the Government made by these contestants, who knew they had no right to the seats asked for, amount to $109,-If provisions were made to pay the party who is declared elected, and who occupies the position by some color of right in case investigation would show that he is not entitled to the seat, no one would object to such a course. But it is wrong that any party who may wish to have a nice visit to Washington at the expense of Uncle Sam, should be encouraged in such an enterprise by means so convenient and effectual as simply contesting the right of some member to his seat in Congress. We think it is time such business as this should be stopped.

Our Washington Letter.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24, 1871. Some months ago the "Republicans" of this city suggested that the completion of the new wooden pavement on Pennsylvania Avenue, be celebrated by a grand Nation-

The idea was laughed at and treated at first, as a fanciful project to produce a sensation, or a grand national drunk. Soon however, like the "little leaven," the novelty of the suggestion produced an immense enthusiasm that culminated in the celebration of Monday and Tuesday last. The word carnival signifies farewell to meat, and it is customary in many European countries to devote the last few days before the Lenten season to mirth, festivity, and merry making; but in this country, except in New Orleans, the custom is hardly known. Even after it was settled that a carnival was to be held, few had any definite understanding of its intent, and the managers had only a vague notion of what the entertainment should consist. except to prepare all the fun possible. Money was contributed without stint. The hotels and restaurants came down handsomely, realizing that in sowing of silver, they would reap a harvest of gold. Gradually the affair assumed the form of reality, and on Saturday, the following

Explanitory circulars and letters of invitation had been extensively circulated, and on Sunday morning the crowd of vis-itors had so increased, that the most meagre of hotel accommodations could hardly be obtained, yet the people came pouring in, single trains bringing twelve and fifteen cars, till many were glad to occupy a chair or bench for the night. Judged by the size of the crowd, the Washington carnival was an immense success.

A few days before the appointed time, to seats in our National Legislature | the worst storm of the season, covered the has been manifested during our last ground with nearly a foot of snow: this carts were put to work, and by Sunday morning the whole street had been cleared and swept, and all was in readiness for the approaching festivities. Evetything now, depended upon the clerk of the weather, and for once, he was extremely good natured, for Monday dawned one of the brightest of spring days: Along the entire Avenue, the building was covered with beautiful and fantastic decorations-flags, drapings and Chinese lanterns all contributed to the "superb and glittering gorgeousness." By 10 o'clock the largest, most democratic and best natured crowd that ever gathered in Washington, was surging up and down that immense thoroughfare. Everybody was in the best of spirsts. Men women and children, white and black. were pushed and crowded and then shoved and jammed enough to ordinarily have destroyed their good temper for a week, but it was "carnival" and everything was overlooked as an accident or passed as a

> Many were "balmy," but few were drunk. The exercises of the first day passed off as down on the bills, but with hardly the effect anticipated. Dr. Helmbold, with his noted turnout, created quite a sensation. The "Goat Race" was amusing, but at the end of the first day the "carnival was pronounced a humbug.

The second day, cold, dark and dreary, presented anything but a cheering prospect. Dismal as everything appeared, the croud was still greater than on Monday; but equally good natured and forbearing. Alter the races—similar in character to those of the previous morning, came the Tournament, in which forty or fifty young men from Maryland, Virginia and the Dist. of Col., arrayed as knights of the mediæval age with plumes and basset caps and immitation armor took part. Three posts were erected about one hundred yards apart and from a suspended arm oneach hung the rings to be tilted for. The knight who should secure while riding at topmost speed, the largest number of these rings, was entitled to crown as queen of love and beauty, the lady of his choice. Each was allowed two rides, and the Tournament lasted from eleven until three. Four was the largest number of these trophies secured by any horseman, the great majority securing 0 or 1. Now and then a horse would stumble, and his rider be thrown headlong, but luckily no serious accident occurred. Crossing the street was prohibited, yet frequently some venturesome little darkey would try the running game, which would immediately start an impromptu foot race by the police -as is usual the crowd sided against the prass buttoned preservers of law and order, and would open its ranks just in time to let the little urchin dart out of sight, when a shout of derision, more suggestive than flattering, would send Mr. Policeman back and most important feature of this whole The Masquerade procession. It is estimated that fully two thousand persons representing every character in the known and unknown world, helped to swell this grotesque assembly. The procession commenced its march at 3 o'clock, and ended at 7. At the head of the column on a white horse rode the lord of Misrule, in the most extravagant costume of gold, orange, purple and green; following came Humpty Dumpty, then on a wagon of brooms came Old Mother Goose in a dress of scarlet, yellow and green, beside the old dame sat "the goose that laid the golden egg." Close behind her in an immense shoe with all her progeny, came the old woman that had so many children; then we saw Jack the Giant killer, Jack Sprat and wife, Tom Piper's son, and a burlesque of every real allegorical or mythological subjects that could be imagined. Of course womans' rights came in for a fair share under the head "16th amendment," and inauguration of the First Female President. Again the father of a family was rep-

After the Tournament came the grand

tion of Greenbacks. The masquerade procession was gotten up on a scale of magnificence never before attempted in this country, and was sufficient of itself to stamp the whole fete as a wonderful success.

Throughout both days General Grant with a few friends occupied the balcony of the St James hotel, apparently highly interested in everything passing around

In the evening came the illumination, beautiful and dazzling even in recollection. From the dome of the Capitol blazed the electrical light; nearly all the buildings were illuminated from payement to roof; along the entire avenue on either side hung a continuous row of Chinese lanterns, while brilliant calcium burners reflected on every side. Those who witnessed this closing scene in the panarama can hardly regret the time, expense or trouble, though they came a thousand miles to attend the Washington Carnival

Hitchcock, as Senstor from Nebraska, for the ensuing term, were presented by Mr. Tipton. The Army Appropriation hill then came up as unfinished business, and the amendments renorted from the Committee on Appropriations were adopted. A bill was called up to enable the Jackson, Lansing & Saginaw Railroad company to change the northern terminus of its road from Traverse Bay to the Straits of Mackinso, which passed. At this point the Vice President announced the appointment of the following committees of conference: On the Indian Appropriation bill, Messrs. Cole, Harlan and Stockton; on the Legislative Appropriation bill, Messrs. Sawyer, Trumbull, and

A motion was made to reconsider the vote whereby the Omnibus bill was tabled vesterday and a substitute moved. The substitute was agreed to and the bill passed. The Committee on the Naval Appropriation bill reported that the committee had been unable to agree, and moved the appointment of a new committee, which was agreed to. Leave was asked to make a statement to be followed by a motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill to promote the construction of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad. The rules were suspended, and the bill passed-yeas, 131; nays, 42. It was moved that the rules be suspended and the bill passed repealing all laws and parts of laws imposing duty on foreign coal, the bill to take effect immediately. The Committee on Printing reported the joint resolution for the printing of 245,000 extra copies of the agricultural report for 1870, omitting the provision for an edition in German, so as not to endanger the passage of the joint resolution .- Passed. Unanimous consent was given, and the Speaker announced that he would commence at 12 o'clock to-morrow, and that the calendar should be first gone through so as to pass all bills not objected to.

A resolution was offered instructing the Committee on Pacific Railroads to investigate and report upon the existing indebtedness between United States Government and the Union Pacific Railroad Company. On motion, the Senate took up the resolution to continue the investigation, by special committee, of the Ku-Klux outrages in the South during the first session of the Forty-second Congress-Considered and adopted. The Army Appropriation bill, after various amendments, was adopted. The army bill was taken up again, and, after lengthy discussion, passed. HOUSE-MARCH 1ST. Resolutions were adopted to pay Messrs. Rogers, of Tennessee, and Eggleston, of Ohio, contestants for seats, $2,500 and $3,000 re spectively. Bills on the calendar were called in their order, and a number of private bills passed without objection. A second call of the calendar was commenced. The Conference Committee on Indian Appropriation made a report which was agreed to. It prohibits in the future any contract by treaty between the Unite d States and any Indian Nation or Tribe.

The House bill for collecting dues to the Government from Southern railroads was taken ap and passed. The Committee on Conference to which was referred the question at issue between the two houses as to the right of the Senate to originate the measure repealing the income tax, made a report that the committee had failed to agree, advising the Senate to adhere to its position, and stating that no further conference is necessary. The report was ordered printed. The Committee of Conference on the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill reported that the committees of the two houses were unable to agree, and asked to be discharged .- So ordered. On motion, the Senate insisted on its amendment to the bill, and asked for the appointment of a new committee on the part of the House. Messrs. Sawyer, Morrill, of Verment, and Thurthe Senate.

HOUSE-MARCH 3D. On motion, the House joint resolution construing the act of July 14, 1870, so as to admit of the importation of animals, and especially those for breeding purposes, free of duty, was passed. The chair being occupied by Mr. Ferry, as Speaker pro tem., the following resolution was offered: Resolved, That in view of the difficulties involved in the performance of the duties of the Speaker of this Douse, and of the conspicuously able, courteous, dignified, and impartial discharge of those duties by Hon. Jas. G. Blaine during the present Congress, it is eminently becoming that our thanks be tendered, and they are hereby tendered, therefor. Mr. Cox then paid Speaker Blaine further com. pliments in an address of some length, after the conclusion of which the resolution was adopted by acclamation, only one voice-that of Mr. Mungen-being heard voting no. All the appropriation bills have been finally disposed of on the reports of the Conference Committees, except the Omnibus bill, which had not been sent over from the Senate. . SENATE-MARCH 4TH.

At 2:15 Saturday morning the omnibus bill passed. After adjourning and reassembling there was considerable discussion on various messures, but no results were arrived at. Mr. Bayard rose to a question of privilege, and offered a resolution respectfully tendering the thanks of the Senate to Hon. Schuyler Colfax, Vice President of the United States, for the eminent ability, courtesy, and impartiality with which he has presided over the deliberations of this body. The resolution was entertained by unanimous consent, and adopted without objection. The hour of 12 o'clock, the time fixed by law for the expiration of the session arrived, when the Vice President addressed the Senate ss follows: Thanking the Senators for your approval of my official course which you have placed on your records. I declare the third session of the Senate of the United States of the Forty-first Congress, adjourned without day, The time fixed for the assembling of the first session, according to law, of the Forty-second Congress having arrived, the Secretary will call the roll of names of the Senators elect, who will present themselves in front of the Vice-President's chair to take the oath of of-

The hour of noon arrived, when the call was interrupted by the fall of the Speaker's gavel. Suddenly the clamor in the House was hushed into perfect stillness, when the Speaker addressed the House in a brief, beautiful parting speech. As he pronounced the last words of his address, and stepped down from the dais to take his place on the floor as a member of the new Congress, a unanimous expression of approval and applause broke out in the chamber and galleries, and the clapping of hands was general and long sustained.

THE FORTY-SECOND CONGRESS. SENATE.

In accordance with the invitation of the Vice-President, the organization of the Senate was proceeded with, and the new Senators came forward and took the oath of office. Committee was appointed to notify the President and House of the organization.

The roll having been completed, the Clerk announced that 222 members had answered to their names, the full representation being 243. Mr. Blair, of Michigan, then moved that the House proceed to the election of Speaker. Agreed to. Mr. Blair then, in behalf of the Republican members of the House, nominated Mr. Blaine, of Maine, as Speaker, and Mr. Wood, in behalf of the Democratic members, nominated Mr. Morgan, of Ohio. The vote having been completed, the result was announced by Mr. Banks, as follows: Whole number of yotes cast, 219; necessary to a choice, 110; of which Mr. Blaine had received 126, and Mr. Morgan 93. The Clerk thereupon declared that Mr. Blaine, having received a majority of all the votes cast, was duly elected Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States for the Forty-second Congres. Mr. Blaine was conducted to the chair by Messrs. Poland and Morgan, and, calling the House to order, made a brief address.

VERSAILLES. March 2 .- Favre, to-day notified Bismarck of the vote of the National Assembly, ratifying the prelimina ries of peace. Bismarck at once replied that he was ready to exchange formal ratifications, and that the Emperor had al ready signed treaty.

VERSAILLES, March 2.—The prelimina ries of peace arranged by Bismarck and the other plenipotentiaries with Thiers and Favre, are as follows: Article I specifies the line of demarcation. Article 2 provides that France will pay Germany five milliards francs-one milliard at least in 187I, and all the rest in the space of three years from the ratification. Article 3 provides that evacuation is to commerce on the ratification of the treaty by the Assembly; that the German troops will then immediately quit Paris and the left bank of the Seine, and also the Departments of Indre, Loire, and the Seine-Inferieure. The French.troops will remain behind the Loire until the signing of the definitive treaty of peace, except those in Paris, where the Government is not to have exceeding 40,000 troops. The Germans will evacuate the right bank of the Seine gradually after the sighing of the definitive treaty and the payment of half a milliard francs. After the payment of two milliards, the Germans will only hold the Departments of Marne. Ardennes, Meuse, Vosges, Meurthe, and the town at Belfort. After the payment of three milliards, the Germans will only keep 50,000 troops in France; but if a suf ficient money guarantee be given, the Germans will evacuate complètely at once; otherwise, three milliards will carry interest at five per cent. from the ratification of the treaty. Article 4 provides that the German troops make no further requisitions; that the French Government will find food for the army in occupation of the man were appointed as a new committee of | ceded departments, that favorable arrangements will, be made with the inhabitants, and time given them to move if they The Committee on Claims reported the bill please; and that no obstacle will be placed to provide for a board of three commissioners in the way of emigration. BEDSTEAD FACTORY .- We presume there are many, even of our village readers, who have but little idea of the extent of the manufacture of bedsteads and furniture at the the establishment of the Messrs. C. S. & H. S. Black. We paid a brief visit to this institution the other day, and were shown through the entire establishment by Mr. C. S. Black, one of the gentlemanly proprietors. were truly surprised to note the improvement which has been made within a year past, in the way of new machinery. We noticed especially a new postflathe, which, we think, is designed to supercede everything in that line. The work turned out, by this new piece of machinery, is first class. While it is a great success, we are blad to know that the Messrs. Black hre owners of the patent. The amount of bedsteads and other furniture finished and in process of construction is truly surprising. Perhaps not less than ten thousand bedsteads are constantly under way. Every workman seems to have his part to perform. This factory is undoubtedly one of the best institutions for Buchanan, situated within our borders, and our villagers will stand very much in their own light, if they neglect to use their utmost influence with the proprietors to induce them to remain in our midst. We understand our Niles friends are making good offers to induce them to remove to that place. It is time Bu-

of good, should remember the old adage, "The early bird catches the worm." A hint to the wise is sufficient. If you have anything to sell there is also somebody who wants to buy; and if you would find a purchaser you must let the people know what you have to sell, and how you will sell it. In brief, you must advertise in some way. The man who thinks to succeed without advertising his wares, in this day of change, will surely be disappointed. How did A. T. Stewart make his money? By selling his goods. But how did he come to sell so many goods? By letting the people know he had them for sale. He says, "He who invests one dollar in business should invest one dollar in advertising that business." What says Helmbold on this

Let no one be deterred from planting trees because many have been destroyed once by a winter sleet. Such an occurrence may never again transpire, as the "Oldest Inhabitant" never before saw anything like it. Again we urge every villager, every farmer, and every man who owns a foot of ground capable of being improved or ornamented by a tree, to fail not to plant that tree. Ten thousand fruit and ornamental trees ought to be set out in our village alone, this spring. Let every one do duty, and a few years hence the ravages of the late sleet will be forgotten in the enhanced beauty of the then present. In fact we would favor a village ordinance requiring the planting and proper care and protection of trees along every sidewalk, and in front of every lot within the corporate limits of the village. Nothing, at so little a cost, would add so greatly, a few years hence, to the beauty and summer attractiveness of Buchanan. It would

It would amply repay in the increased value of each lot, as well as being the means of attracting to our pleasant borders many a sojourner, and not a few permanentresidents, who are constantly seeking a quiet home, away from the busy scenes of city life, in some delightful, quiet and pleasant rural village. Again we say, plant trees, if you would render earth more beautiful, if you would enjoy the cooling shade in the heat of the summer days, and if you would have thousands hereafter arise with grateful hearts to a thoughtful ancestry.

Control of the Control of Control

March 1, 1871 EDITORS RECORD:-Having been ing, which was a success. No eggs and shells were eaten on the occasion! It passed off very pleasantly, closing with a well conducted dance, and music by the Minstrels that made the "fight fantastic toe" trip until the wee hours of morning. We hope they may not forget us at some future time.

rowth of our village, which makes t quite lively. The ground is broke, and the contract is let for the building of a new school house, 24x60. The contractors are Messrs. Pierce & Co. E. Hill also intends putting up a block of two stores, and is now get-ting out the material. The Methodist Episcopal society have held a meeting and resolved to build a church 40x60. They seem to mean business. A. W. Pierce also intends putting up a fine dwelling the coming summer. We hope others may follow their example, and "go and do likewise." A. A. Morley's flouring mill is doing a lively business, and has established a large custom trade coming from all parts of the country. The saw mills of E. H. Hill and A. A. Morley are running night and day. Owing to poor roads they are shipping but little at present—about five car loads per week. As soon as the roads improve, they intend getting off from ten to twelve cars per week .- It has been talked that Wm. H. S. expects a surprise party of ladies at his saloon, and he may get it. Look out, William. He had one a few nights ago from some unknown persons, and it is said they relieved William of some five or six gallons of whisky, which the faces of a few about town showed for a day or two. A. A. M. was relieved of a fine turkey a few nights ago, but is satisfied that it went not with the whisky, but is satisfied that it went the way of all turkeys.—It is talked that Messrs. Strickland & Convis, of Grand Rapids intend uniting their means with that of G. B. Hiller and starting a soap factory. It is hoped the enterprise may start and prove a success.-Postmaster,

FROM PAW PAW.

MESSRS. EDITORS:-The citizens of Paw Paw have completed a beautiful school edifice at a cost of $40,-000. The building is situated on the highest ground in the village, at the head of the principal business street, is three stories high, exclusive of basement, is of the Italian order of architecture, having a center building with a transverse section in the rear, giving the building the shape of the letter T. The building is eighty-one feet in length and sixty-one feet in width. The basement is used for the hot air furnaces and for storing fuel, except a part which is fitted up for the residence of the Janitor. The first and second stories are divided into school rooms 25x34 feet, furnished for the primary, intermediate and grammar departments. The third story contains a large hall, 60x40 feet, capable of holding 800 persons, used by the high school, and adapted for the public exercises of the school. There are three courses provided in the high school. An English course, for those who do not desire to pursue any of the languages; a Latin of French course for students preparing the studies of the grammar school. There are 350 scholars in the school, of which sixty are non-resident students, who pay $5.00 per term for tuition. I hope the day is not far distant when Buchanan can boast of as fine a building and as well a conducted school as I have described. . Yours Respectfully, F. N. C.

OLD AGE.

Brighter burns the blazing fire, In the frosty winter day; Brighter glaw the embers then Than in the sunny May.

Brighter beams the spirit, too, Of age with shivering cold;

Mortality decays and dies,

- But spirits grow not old.

Youth hath its sunny hour, Manhood its might. Ripeness of years its power, Old age its night;

Night has its chilling air, But often have I sought Night for its blazing stars,

Down bathe the rose. Hat in the summer day.

Then bathe my weary soul

In thy sea, O Night; Upward to gaze on Heaven's Starry spungled light.

So 'tis with night of years, So with December; Age then should have no fears

For bright burns the ember, Jewelled on the hearth to glow, As glows the fire of age;

The Father's Rescuing Care. I remember once standing by the surging billows, all one weary day, and watching for hours, a father struggling beyond in the breakers for the life of his son. They came slowly toward the breakers on a piece of wreck, and as they came the waves turned over the piece of float, and they were lost. Presently we saw the father come to the surface and clamber alone to the wreck, and then saw him plunge off into the waves, and thought he was gone; but in a moment he came back again, holding his boy. Presently they struck another wave, and over they went and again they repeated the process. father rescued his son. By and by, as they swung nearer the shore, they caught on a snag just out beyond where we could reach them, and for a little time the waves went over them there till we saw the boy in the father's arms, hanging down in helplessness, and knew they must be saved soon or be lost; and I never shall forget him from the devouring waves, still cling-ing to his son, he said, "That's my boy! that's my boy!" and half frantic, as we dragged them up the bank, he cried all the time, "That's my boy! that's my boy!"

And so I have thought, in hours of darkness, when the billows roll over me, the Love. "Without love, all other things, though ever so many, great and excellent in hle unto Go He regardeth not your prayers if you do not love Him; He values not your could preach like an angel, and yet not love Him, he should not be accepted by mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing. And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing. Love therefore is above all these; for all these without love are nothing. Love makes us most like to God; for God is love. And God loveth Christ above all the men on earth, and above all the angels in heaven; He therefore calls Him His beloved Son. God loveth all men with a common love; choly men with a special love; angels with a higher love; Christ, most of all, who is the Son of His love. So our love is gradnal; we ought to love all men with some degrees of love, holy men and angels with a higher love, and Christ with the highest love. And when we love as God loves, our love makes us most like unto God."

- Is God Dead ? ... The father was dead. For days the little sum "laid by against some rainy day," had been, within a few cents, spent during the father's illness; and now extreme poverty was before them, and added to the mother's grief.

"Mother, mother, is God dead?"

Soft as the gentle whisper of an angel did the simple accent of the dear boy fall upon the ear of the disconsolate and almost heart-broken mother. A gleam of heav-enly radiance-lighted up, for a moment, her pale features. Then snatching up her little boy, and pressing him fondly to her bosom, she exclaimed: No, no, my child, God is not dead; he lives, and has promised to be, a father to the fatherless—a husband to the widow. His promises are sure and steadfast, and upon them I will firmly and implicitly rely."

Her tears were dried, and her murmurings forever hushed.

of going to hell; one is to walk into it and you will soon want a few more; even be regularly worse every day. Well did Jeremy Taylor describe the progress of sin in a man: "First startles him, then it becomes pleasing, then easy, then delight-ful, then frequent, then habitual, then conmed. Then the man is impertinent, then obstinate, and then he is damned." Young reader! the devil only wants to get the wedge of a little allowed sin into your heart, and you will soon be all his own. Never play with fire-never trifle with little sins.

Laurence Sterne, who never aspir ed to the reputation of a special morality, concest wrote: "I should never drink; I cannot afford it; it lasts me three days. the first in sinning, the second in suffering, the third in repenting."

Let the afflicted read and learn that a perfect and radical cure is warranted and guaranteed to all who are afflicted. DR. 'RAPHAEL describes the disease without any information from the patient. He explains its cause, and guarantees its cure; and what is better still, he will honestly and frankly tell you whether you can be cured or not, which will save your health and life from wrong treatment. He cures private and secret diseases, without the use of mercury, hindrance from business, or fear of discovery or exposure. His botanic remedies restore manhood and vigor, and make the barren fruitful, and enable the kingle to get married, with the assurance of having a contented wife and healthy children.

Warner's PHO Remedy has never failed (not even in one case) to cure the very worst cases of Blind, Itching or Bleeding Piles. Those who are afflicted should immediately call on their druggist and get Warker's PILE REMEDY. It is expressly for the PILES, and is not recommended to cure any other disease. It has cured many cases of over thirty years' standing. Price One Dollar. For sale by druggists everywhere. By her lonely fire she sat one morning, -a week after her sad bereavement,-lamenting her forlorn and destitute condition, when her little son, a boy five years of age, entered the room. Seeing the deep distress of his mother, he stole softly to her side, and placing his little hand in hers, looked wistfully into her face, and said:

Warner's Cough Balsam is healing, soften ing and expectorating. The axtraordinary power it possesses in immediately relieving, and eventually curing, the most obstinate cases of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Catarrh, Hoarseness, Asthma and Consumption is almost incredible. So prompt is the relief and certain its effects in all the above cases, or any affection of the throat and lungs, that thousands of physicians are daily prescribing it, and one ard all say that it is the most healing and expectorating medicine known. One dose always affords relief, and in most cases one bottle effects a cure. Sold by druggists, in large bottles, Price One Dollar. It is your own fault if you still cough and suffer. The Balsam will cure. Little Sins. The great Blood Partier and Delicious Drink, Warner's Vinum Vitte, or Wine of Life, is free from any poleonous drugs or impurities, being prepared for those who require a stimulant. It is a splendid appetizer and tonic, and the finest thing in the world for purifying the brood. It is the most pleasant and delicious article article ever offered to the public, far superior to brandy, whisky, wine, bitters, or any other article. It is more healthy, and cheaper. Both male and female, young or old, can take the Wine of Life. It is, in fact, a life preservor. Those who wish to enjoy good health and a free flow of lirely spirits, will do well to take the Wine of Life. It is different from anything ever before in use. It is sold by druggists; also at all respectable saloons. Price One Dellar, in quart bottles.
