INDIAN POLICY AND TROUBLES.

The policy recently inaugurated for the treatment of the Indians and the adjustment of the troubles in the west, perhaps the only policy which a large portion of the people or justice would approve in theory, but experience has taught that it is not in its practice productive of any very satisfactory results.

There are three tribes that have been very restless and troublesome of late—the Camanches, Utes and Apaches. But a few months ago Cochese, their chief, wrote a letter to that military department, stating that he was not at all pleased or contented with the condition in which they were placed, and that he intended to use every effort to obtain a better future.

On the fifth of May last, after Cochese and his band had committed several outrages, they were pursued by United States troops, under command of Lieut. H. B. Cushing. Cochese himself shot Lieut. Cushing dead, and the rest of the troops were compelled to flee.

tion, would be much more readily adopted by the Indians than agriculture. The tilling of the soil, in the eyes of the Indian, is degrading. This work, he thinks, only belongs to squaws.

If these plans cannot succeed better than those already tried, the history of the Indian will soon be ended in utter extermination, and the sooner perhaps the better for the interests of humanity, and the onward march of industry and civilization.

DAVIS vs. VALLANDIGHAM. There always was a disposition manifested by the Democratic party to allow of considerable variance and inconsistency in the doctrines advocated in different localities—the object being to please the respective people by presenting principles and theories that they would uphold and endorse.

The Democratic creed of faith, as taught in different sections of the country, embraces free trade, protective tariff, the payment of our National debt in gold, repudiation of the entire debt, while still another faction favors the plan of issuing greenbacks to liquidate the debt—either to pay off the bonds, for the debt would still remain—the doctrine of State rights, partial suffrage, equal rights, and, in fact, such directly opposite and conflicting sentiments are entertained and advocated under the head of Democracy, that the only wonder is that there exists in the party even as much harmony as there does.

The latest development, is the movement of Vallandigham and the Democrats of Ohio, and is called the "New Departure."

Vallandigham accepts the grand principles against which he has fought so long and so bitterly as settled, and that the recent new amendments to our Constitution contain no issue that can now come before the people, but are to be recognized as fixed facts, as much a part of our Constitution as any other section or clause, and equally binding as such on all people.

At last the people of almost every locality are being aroused at the fearful amount of crimes continually being committed. Murders are of every description in some parts of the west domain, and heretofore a large portion of those undoubtedly guilty of blood, have escaped justice on some faint pretext of insanity, or such like. Public sentiment is undoubtedly undergoing a change in respect to the treatment of the man who murders his fellow man, except it be in self defense. The day is to our mind fast disappearing when juries will acquit the man, murderer, who takes the law into his own hands and attempts to right his wrongs by slaying his victim.

HON. T. W. FERRY. It was reported in the New York Tribune, and several other papers, that Senator Ferry, of this State, was in Washington, but was not present when the vote was taken on the Washington Treaty. Justice to Mr. Ferry prompts us to correct this report, which is false, and to state that he was not absent from the Senate at the time the vote was taken, and that his vote was counted among those who were in favor of the Treaty.

The fourth is so like what is said in an old book said to have been written originally in Hebrew, or Greek, which is in the English translation: "He that will not work, neither ought he to eat," this is the Greek; thus in the Hebrew: "In the sweat of thy face shall thou eat bread."

The fifth sounds like a very common saying among Republicans, i. e., "Poz populi, vae acti," or, still further, to quote Tom Jefferson, "That all governments derive their powers from the just consent of the governed."

The sixth smacks strongly of Indiana, Connecticut, etc., as regards marriage, and as respects children, comes within the province of common schools and compulsory education, as lately adopted in Michigan.

THE GUILT AND EXECUTION OF MURDERS.

feudalism supplanted this very communism, and any one conversant with history, is aware of the truth of his position.

The second article may be likened to the "Boards of Trade" organized in every city of any pretension.

The third is of a piece with allowing a boy or a girl (for Communists are, and always have been, advocates of the equality of the sexes) to choose their calling.

The fourth is so like what is said in an old book said to have been written originally in Hebrew, or Greek, which is in the English translation: "He that will not work, neither ought he to eat," this is the Greek; thus in the Hebrew: "In the sweat of thy face shall thou eat bread."

VERSAILLES, June 2.—The French press is still discussing the question of the future character of the government, and are nearly unanimous for the Republic.

PARIS, June 2.—It has been discovered that the real leaders of the Commune were Karl Marx, Jacob, Blauqui, Tonichin, and Dehaeck. The idea of having Paris originated with Jacob and Tonichin.

PARIS, June 4.—The number of men who buy arms in the late insurance, and who have not yet been identified or arrested, at 50,000. The police are in constant danger from violence at their hands.

BERLIN, June 4.—Thiers promises that whatever sentence is imposed upon Assay and Rochefort will be faithfully executed.

The Northville Record says: Mr. Job Berkman, contractor on the F. W. & M. road in Novi, who leased the farm of Mr. Leavenworth, had his barn burned on the 10th inst, with five horses, two or six of harness, one lumber wagon, five or six of hay, and other property. All together it was valued at $1500. No insurance, it is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

We learn from the Monroe Commercial that the people of that village are building a Sabbath-School Chapel. The building is of brick, 36 by 60 feet, is being built entirely by subscriptions, and is to be used as a Sabbath-School Chapel for children of all classes and denominations.

Assault and Battery.—We are not often called upon to chronicle so disagreeable an occurrence as that which took place about two miles north of this village, on Monday evening last. The circumstance, as reported to us, is as follows: Mr. David B. Clark, an old man nearly sixty years of age, a peaceable, quiet, inoffensive citizen, had rented a farm belonging to Mrs. Sherwood, then occupied by her son, Alfred Sherwood, a young man about 27 years of age, who seemed reluctant in giving up the possession, and persisted in exercising certain privileges and authority over the premises, greatly to the annoyance of many of Mr. Clark. Among other things, young Alfred would use the barn floor for a stable for his horses whenever he came on the farm, notwithstanding Mr. Clark had frequently told him that he had better use the stable for such purpose, although he had no right to the barn whatever. On the evening mentioned Mr. Clark remonstrated in more severe terms than usual to the practice, and so aroused the indignation of the young gentleman (?) that he pounced upon the old man and dealt several severe blows on his head and in his face, which brought him senseless to the ground. Besides the bruises about the head and face, Mr. Clark thinks he has sustained some internal injuries. Sherwood was arrested, and as we go to press the trial is in progress.

Fire.—On Monday the residence of Mr. Oran Grant, on the Niles road, was burned together with nearly all of the contents. The fire caught from a defect in the stove pipe. Another lesson to warn people to keep their stove pipes and flues in proper order. We understand that the insurance company expired a short time ago. Consequently the whole loss will fall severely on Mr. Grant. Persons cannot be too careful about keeping their property insured, as the cost is but a trifle, and to neglect safety is not the part of wisdom.

New Bride.—An excellent job is being done on the River Bridge by the contractor Mr. Frank Fisk. It is expected to have it ready for crossing in the course of two weeks.

On Thursday morning a difficulty arose between Mr. R. M. Gordon and E. S. B. Vail, partners in the cultivation of fruit, while engaged at work on their farm, near the Railroad crossing on Michigan Avenue, resulting in the shooting of Mr. Vail by Gordon. The bullet entered the left side just above the hip bone, and was cut out of his back by Drs. Webster & Smith. It indicated a very painful though not fatal wound. No arrow has as yet been made, and the difficulty leading to this rash act is yet a mystery to the public; various rumors are, however, afloat, but we refrain from publishing any of them until the matter is thoroughly sifted.—St. Joseph Traveler.

Busy.—The progress and prosperity of a village can generally be somewhat determined from the situation of her mechanics. If they are idle, the progress of the place is not very flattering, but if they are constantly engaged, no one need complain of the prospects and prosperity of the town. This being true, and all will admit it, Buchanan has abundant reasons to congratulate herself on the progress being made the present season. Go in that direction you will and new buildings greet the eye. The sound of the carpenter's hammer is heard all day long. While there is a larger amount of building going on the present season than has been for several years, many of the superstructures are of brick and of a permanent and substantial character. Above all however, our citizens should feel a little pride as the new School-House progresses, knowing that it shall be completed it will be a necessary and demanded, and be an honor and ornament to our pleasant Village. All in all we have not begun so greatly encouraged for years over the future success and prosperity of Buchanan as we are at the present time. No village in the regions "round about" is prospering more this season than is our own—none presents to the traveler and visitor, as well as the business man, a more attractive appearance. All citizens in Buchanan and vicinity have great reasons to congratulate themselves on the future of the place selected as the region of their sojourn.

Pathmaster.—Good morning, Uncle Jabe. So you have come to work on the road to-day? Uncle Jabe.—Yes; I thought if I be an old man I must do something useful maybe. Pathmaster.—So you can, uncle, and I will tell what I want you and father Abraham to do. You have noticed how some folks work the roads by leaving whole wagon loads or scraper full of dirt right in a heap, without leveling it down, haven't you? Uncle Jabe.—Yes; I come up the road from Weesaw together today, and they had left it so, and it night-about made me sea-sick to ride over it. Pathmaster.—Just so. Well, I want you old men to go behind with your hoes, and smooth all such places down—throw out the stones—and leave it so a christian 'un can get over a road that has been worked without breaking his neck. Uncle Jabe.—Ay, Ay, sir. Q.

Surgical.—On Wednesday last we were shown a small Adenoma or tumor, which was taken from the side of Mrs. R. S. Hart, living near Coloma, weighing five and a quarter pounds, and measuring by eleven inches across. The tumor was of twenty years standing. Twelve years ago Mrs. Hart received treatment from several physicians, since which time it has increased in size very rapidly. Dr. Beckwith was consulted a few days since, who with Dr. Seaman, removed the tumor, on Wednesday last. Mrs. Hart has experienced but little or no pain since the operation and is in excellent spirits. She is forty-one years of age, the mother of a large family of children.—St. Joseph Traveler.

How to Stop a Paper. The means adopted by different individuals of stopping a local newspaper, quite varied. By special request, we hasten to tell subscribers how to stop a paper. First, let us say something of how some people attempt to stop a paper. One man, after taking the paper a year or two, will move away and never pay the printer; nor let the printer or any body else know where he is going. Soon the Post Master writes, "paper not called for"; reason, Mr. A. moved away." This is the way one man stops a paper by swindling the printer. We could name a number of this class, and perhaps we ought to do so, in order that everybody might know whom to trust. Another man wants his paper stopped. He writes, "Stop my paper," but says not a word about paying the amount he is indebted. The printer sends on the paper, according to his rules, and the next thing is a paper returned by the Postmaster, marked "refused." He expects thus to get a year or two's subscription for nothing. The subscriber gets mad, not because the paper keeps coming, not because he does not pay for his paper. The subscriber wonders among his neighbors, why "the paper don't stop." The printer don't wonder why the subscriber don't want the paper any longer. He knows, from the time the paper comes back "refused" while the subscriber is still in debt for it, that, if possible, he will be cheated out of his pay.

But all subscribers are not like this. Mr. B. wants his paper stopped. He pays up for it in advance, or in a short time, and says, "when the time is out, discontinue it." The Editor likes this subscriber. He knows him to be a gentleman. He knows that if his paper runs over the time that he will never lose a cent. This subscriber is noted, "just as good as the Bank." Of course, the printer don't like to mark this kind of a name off of his list. He forgets to do it, at least. He knows that Mr. B. wants the paper and ought to have it, and as he does not like to give him the least offense, he just keeps sending it "free, along," knowing that it will all his right "after harvest." But sometimes this same Mr. B. gets out of patience because the printer will continue to send his paper when he has told him not to do so, and he will have it stopped any way, if it is but for a week. With a sad heart, the name is stricken from the list, at the same time the printer thinks of those who have cheated him, and inwardly says, "I had rather send the paper to Mr. B. a whole year for nothing, as he has always paid up, but I know he would not accept it on such terms, so I must part with him."

This is the way some stop their paper, and the reason why it is so hard for them "to stop a paper." The printer, too, generally understands that Mr. B. will be around in a few months and again resume his subscription, but he does not wish his friend to lose the valuable information that he must lose if he does not take the paper for that time. But this item is giving at ready too long, so we will defer the further consideration of "How to Stop a Paper," till next week. In the mean time, we have a few subscribers, if they will "pony up," there will be no difficulty in their stopping a paper.

Second Monthly Report of the Buchanan Union School, for the Term Commencing April 10th, 1871. Table with columns for Name, Age, Sex, and various attendance statistics.

The subject reported of Buchanan Union School for the second school month is hereby submitted for the inspection of the patrons and others. It will be observed that the school is reduced somewhat in members, from the last month's attendance, but at no time during the term has there been even a reasonable attendance. In a village of perhaps 650 persons of school age, but a trifle over one-third are enjoying the advantages of a school maintained at great expense, and which, I believe, both School Board and teachers are earnestly endeavoring to render profitable. A prevailing characteristic of the town seems to me to be an insufficient estimate of the importance of your own school, and the unavoidable personal responsibility that every family sustains in the success and general prosperity of the school. Many parents appear to have little or no idea of the enormous profuseness of time and money occasioned by the absence of children, and too frequently yield to importunities of idle, listless, or truant-inclined children, or retain them at home for trivial causes, not appearing to consider the withering influence of absenteeism, not only on the child, but the absolute injustice to his or her class. Any day, around town, lounging or idly engaged may be seen large number of children or young gentlemen and ladies who ought to be in daily attendance in school. When we consider the fact, that in youth, only, we lay the foundation of our future life, for the stern, but unalterable realities of life, and that the mental, moral, physical, religious and financial interests of mankind are dependent upon their early cultivation, it is astounding to consider that so lamentable and disastrous a condition of affairs exists. Let it be considered that two children with equal attainments, cannot be expected to continue in the same class, if one deserts his class and the other continues his labor; the delinquent must be returned to the class from which he left, while the other, of course, could be consistently promoted.

The following pupils have been absent no part of the time during the term, sickness excepted, being all reported to me, and constitute a "ROLL OF HONOR."

Sunday Reading.

WE ALL MIGHT DO GOOD. We all might do good. Where we offer our will. There is always a way. If there be but a word. Kindly breathed or suppressed. It may guard of some mischief. Or give peace to some breast.

The Family Altar. There are few memories that are so fresh and powerful in after years, as the memories of the household altar. I can travel back over the path of forty years and recall the very tones of my father's voice, as he reverently read the Bible, and devoutly prayed, in the midst of his family.

Yes, a family ought to be a little church of Jesus Christ. The father should be its pastor, conducting its daily worship and leading the dear circle in the way of truth and duty.

Can't Rub it Out. "Don't write there," said a father to a son, who was writing with a diamond on the window.

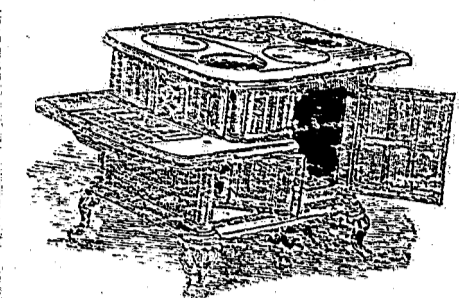

Religion at Home. "Let them learn first," said Paul, "to show piety at home."

Happiness is inborn. It is not an outward trait. It is generated in the soul. It is never bought, or sold as an article of commerce.

Happiness grows at your fire-sides and is not to be picked in strangers' gardens.

"Phungrams." Rather Oblivious. At a revival excitement in Connecticut, a respectable old lady was struck with conviction and became a convert, and was proposed for membership of the church.

"Well, my dear sister Rogers," said the venerable examiner, addressing our venerable friend, "please relate your experience."

The old lady, on being thus addressed, lifted up her voice: "Well," said she, "I don't know what to say, as I told my husband, Mr. Rogers, before I came here, but I believe I have experienced a change, as I told Mr. Rogers, my husband, after I came home from meeting, when I became convinced that I was the most sinful creature in the world, as I told my husband, Mr. Rogers, and says he 'I think so.' Then I told Mr. Rogers, my husband, I was going to lead a different life, was going to trim my lamp and have it ready again for the bridegroom come. Then Mr. Rogers, my husband, said he didn't see what I wanted of another, but he didn't make no objections. Then I told my husband, Mr. Rogers, that I would join the church, and prepare myself for the place where the worm died and the fire is not quenched; and Mr. Rogers, my husband, told me 'I'd better."

A Courtial Toilet. One of the handsomest and best dressed gentlemen in the city is a worthy merchant, whose great personal care of himself and his addition to fine dining have procured him a notoriety which, while it detracts nothing from his good looks, utterly conceals from his own inspection his eccentricities. This circumstance was on Friday morning the occasion of, to him, a mortifying exposure, while others looked upon it as an amusing spectacle. Before breakfast he invariably takes a morning walk, and his urbanity and polite recognition are looked for by early pedestrians with pleasure.

Dressing himself, therefore with great care, he sallied out. But strange to say, every one who met turned their heads and laughed, and some ladies from the gallery of a residence over the way ran screaming into the house.

"What did it mean?" "At last he met a little boy whose immature laughter drew from him the indignant inquiry: "What do you see about me, you little scoundrel, that every body laughs at?"

"Why, Mr. D., you've forgot to put on your pants!" Overwhelmed with shame, the old gentleman hurried home and eagerly sought out the mirror. In haste he had carefully adjusted his attire, but had inadvertently forgot his pants.—New Orleans Picayune.

No Common Foke. General—of Nebraska, a large, jolly sort of fellow, was a successful candidate for the Legislature of that State. After the election he took a trip to Omaha, to have a good time, and receive the congratulations of his friends, one of whom said to him: "Well, General, how did you run down there?"

"I replied the warrior, "I did just eternally scoop 'em; routed 'em, horse, foot and dragons." "How did the vote stand?" "Well," replied the General, "it was one of your darned unanimous things; I only got one majority!"

A Californian, whose wedding day was fixed, did not appear at the appointed time and place, but sent a note to the clergyman, saying that he had just received a letter from his wife in the East, and thereby had his mind recalled to the fact that he was married years before a circumstance which had entirely escaped his memory.

An old toper who had attended the Polytechnic, where the learned professor caused several explosions to take place from gases produced by water, said: "You don't catch me putting water in my liquor after this. I had no idea, before that water was so dangerous, though I never liked to take much of it."

"I feel," said a shoemaker to the Knobs, "that I was weaker every day, and that I gradually approaching my end—only a few more stitches, and I will be over. In Heaven there is rest for the sole; and my sorrows shall be healed!" He then calmly breathed his last.

"Vat's de matter?" exclaimed a jolly Dutchman, as he tucked up his apron and ran out of his shop to know the meaning of a crowd in his neighborhood. "There is a man killed," answered a bystander. "Oh, is that all?" said our friend in disappointment, "shust a man killed? I thought it vash a dog fight."

A Galveston young man has lost faith in both male and female human nature. He courted a girl over two weeks, and his parents said they wouldn't permit any such thing, so the young people concluded to elope. He got a young man, a friend of his, to take the girl to New Orleans, where he would meet them and marry the girl, and go somewhere and enjoy life sensibly. The young proxy took the girl right before the fellow that the courtship arrived he had married her and gone to house keeping. The deceived chap says you won't catch him courting up another girl for some one else not if he knows it.

"Would you believe it Sandy," said a divine, "that I never thought of the sermon before I went to the pulpit?" "Oh, that is exactly what Mr. Mackintosh and I have been saying while you were preaching."
