TREVILLIAN

"So, if she becomes Lady Trevillian, she can not live three months? If I give my consent, you guarantee that this poor, sickly thing will not live twelve weeks?"

"Permit me, Mrs. Cannidy-I have not said that the poor girl cannot live three months, but I have remarked that, in all probability, she cannot live more than the time named."

"Well, well," replied the first speaker; "vou swear to me, doctor, that she is stricken with a mortal disease, and that she cannot live more than—than a year after marriage?" Such miracles are to be observed of the practice of its members, my dear Mrs. Cannidy, that the physician who would blindly predict the death or cure of any human being would be an ignorant charlatan, who should be entrusted with no patient. Nature, for I will not say Providence, appears to have so ordained it, that while, in some instances, disease which appears to be slight, suddenly kills in a few days, in other instances a disease which, by all the rules of science, should kill in a greater or less. time, yields, and a cure is effected, sometimes without any extreme effort on the part of the medical man, at others, by some extraordinary freak on the part of nature, which as much surprises the medical man as it begets him honor for a cure with which he has positively nothing whatever to do. Again, there is another shape of cure. which is very remarkable in some instances, and that is the magical effect of some quack medicine, which, perhaps, in one out of five hundred cases, does actually effect a cure, to the consternation of the medical profession, and the vexatious triumph of the quack, who talks a great deal about his one success, but says nothing whatever about his many failures. Why

"Because you are talking and lecturing concerning medical matters, for which I care not one scrap, while all I want for certain to know is this: if or of saying to you, my fair but imother hand, it is possible that she may live a longer time. Of this I am cerplace, she cannot live many months."

"Humanly speaking-no," said the doctor. "I personally never knew a man, woman or child, in the last stage of consumption, ever regain health, because in that last stage the lungs are almost as thoroughly gone as an arm is that has been cut from the

The Hartford lawyers are puzzled over a singular legal case which has just arisen there. A man who died lately, leaving a handsome property and a childless widow, but with a prospect for the future, left also a will duly executed, in which it was provided that if the expected child should prove to be a boy, two-thirds of the property should go to him and onethird to the widowed mother. If, however, the child proved to be a girl, only one-third of the estate was to go to her, and the two-thirds to the mother. But the departed had "builded better than he knew," and the widow has become the mother of twins! and, what greatly heightens the perplexity of the case, the twins are a boy and girl, and the lawyers are in a quandathat which we can do easily and nat- ry to know what they shall do about

Whining. There is a class of persons in this world, by no means small, whose prominent peculiarity is whining. They whine because they are poor; or i rich, because they have no health to enjoy their riches; they whine because it is too shiny; they whine because they have "no luck," and others' prosperity exceeds theirs; they whine because some friends have died, and they are still living; they whine because they have aches and pains, and they have aches and pains because they whine, and they whine no one can tell why. Now, we would like to say a word to these whining persons. First, stop whining—it is no use, this everlasting complaining, fretting, faultfinding, and whining. Why, you are the most deluded set of creatures that ever lived! Do you not know that it is a well-settled principle of physiology and common sense that these hab its are more exhausting to nervous vitality than almost any other violation of physiological law? And do you not know that life is pretty much as you make it? You can make it bright and sunshiny, or you can make it dark and shadowy. This life is only meant to discipline us—to fit us for a higher and purer state of being. Then stop whining and fretting, and go on your

The Maid of Saragessa.

Augustina, the celebrated Maid of Saragossa, was a handsome itinerant age. She arrived with food for the soldiers at the moment when the battery had been swept clear of every defender. The people, daunted by the sight, hung back. The brave woman instantly rushed forward over the dead and dying, and, snatching a lighted match from the hand of the dead artillery man, fired off a twentysix pounder. Then jumping on the gun, as Wilkie represents her, with disheveled hair and stormy eyes, she swore to the Virgin never to quit the gun alive while the siege lasted. The people, encouraged by this woman's almost supernatural daring, rushed back into the deserted battery, opened a tremendous fire and repulsed the French attack. When her husband fell wounded at her feet she discharged his cannon at the enemy to avenge his fall. She also frequently led the sorties, and, sword in hand, with her cloak wrapped around her, fought daily in the streets. When the city surrendered, Augustina was taken prisoner, but, catching the fever, was removed to the hospital and thence escaped. Manuella Sanchez, another heroine, less fortunate, was shot through the heart. The poor Countess Burita, after escaping innumera-ble dangers, died of grief on hearing that her daughter had been killed.

When the practice of mystic advertising was in vogue, a prominent merchant issued "dodgers," and had them thoroughly posted over the city, with the somewhat unique inquiry. "Who stole my dog?" He intended to follow this with a business announcement calculated to draw custom to his store; but a piratical fellow was too sharp for him, and the next day had posted, side by side with the inquiry, "Your dog may be found at Candy Fred's, where the best quality of molasses candy is always kept on hand.'

that loaferism is more economical than gentility? Anybody can be a gentleman, if he chooses to be, without much cost, but it is mighty expensive being a loafer. It costs time in the first .place-days, weeks, months of it-in fact, about all the time he has, for no man can be a first-class loafer without devoting nearly his whole time to it. The occupation well followed hardly affords time for eating or sleeping.

England will act very unwisely to attempt to dictate what shall and what shall not be presented before the court by our Government. If the claims are so very absurd England has nothing to lose in allowing them to come hefore the conference, but it is our Government that will prejudice her case by presenting unreasonable claims, or claims not covered by the Treaty.
If this is the case the United States should hasten to withdraw such claims, but if the claims are just our Government should demand their considera-

The English press undoubtedly misunderstands the case somewhat, or Secretary Fish is not reported correctly. The English press seem to think our Government, in their case before the conference, demands damages for the course England pursued which caused a prolongation of the war for two or more years, while Secretary Fish is reported as claiming "indemnity for national expenditure in the pursuit of those confederate cruisers which were allowed to sail from British ports, and for loss in the transfer of nearly all the American commercial marine to the British flag." It appears that the claim for indirect damages has been one of the main difficulties in the way of the settlement of the Alabama question, England refusing to admit the claim and the United States insisting upon its admission. The Treaty undoubtedly intended the submission of all claims to the arbitration, in order that all questions pertaining thereto might be settled. This is evident from the wording of the Treaty. It declares: "in plaints and claims on the part of the United States, and to provide for a speedy settlement of such claims which are not admitted by Her Britanic Majesty's government, the High Contracting Parties agree that all the said claims, growing out of acts committed by the aforesaid vessels, and generally known as the Alabama claims, shall be referred to a Tribunal of Arbitration to be composed of five arbitrators."

This claim of our Government seems but just, and if the Arbitrators entertain it, and decide in favor of the United States, it becomes England to submit and pay the damages without grumbling. The position, however, which the English Government assumes is indicated in the Queen's speech before the opening of Parliament.

Should the English Government refuse to submit to a continuation of the case before the conference except the United States shall withdraw the claim for indirect damages, then there will be a speck of war visible in the distance. It is to be hoped, however, that the difficulty may be arranged without a rupture between the two

SCHOOL LANDS.

The subject of reserving a portion of our public lands in different localities, to be used for school purposes has been before the Committee on Education in Congress. However remote, there is nothing in which we may feel a deeper interest than in that which tends to raise the standard of the moral and intellectual culture of the people. There is nothing on which so much depends our happiness, no less the future condition and welfare of our Nation, as the general dissimulation of useful knowledge. It needs no argument at this day and age of the world to convince every person of the advantages derived from an education, and more especially are these advantages recognized and made manifest under the form of Government which we enjoy.

It has been claimed by a few that beyond a certain point education begets a false pride, encourages idleness, and often is the means of fitting people for the accomplishment of a great deal of mischief and harm in the world. It is a fact that cannot be denied that often those possessed of the finest intellect, and who have enjoyed every opportunity for mental development, have been our most dangerous men, and have been fitted by their sagacity and superior mental endowments to commit the most damage to the nation and to society. These are exceptional cases, where the moral nature has not been properly regarded-for no one will question that our best citizens and best characters are to be found among those who possess intellects of no common order and who are men of refinement and mental culture.

The education of the heart and the head is a work that should be inseparable and are of the most value when found in the same individual. The importance of either cannot be overestimated and the government should make a liberal use of its means to sccure their benefits to its citizens, regarding such a course necessary to its own welfare and perpetuity.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

The following is so much of the Queen's speech, delivered before the British Parliament at its opening on Tuesday, as relates to American affairs and the Alabama claims in particular. We are fearful that the intimations forshadow difficulty, as the United States will undoubtedly adhere to her case as already presented: "The arbitrators appointed, pursuant to the treaty of Washington, for the purpose of amicably settling the Alabama claims, have held their first meeting in Geneva. In the case so submitted by the United States. large claims are included which are understood, on my part, not to be within the province of the arbitrators. On mind, appears very absurd. If the this subject I have caused a friendly communication to be made to the Government of the United States. taken to arbitrate on the San Juan water boundary, and the cases of the two Governments have been presented to his Imperial Majesty. The Commission to sit at Washington has been appointed and is in session. The provision of the treaty, which require the consent of the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada awaits its assembling."

> CHICAGO RELIEF BILL. The indications now are that the Chicago Free Trade relief dodge will fail ever to become a law. There has been such a strong opposition developed in various portions of the country, as will undoubtedly secure its defeat in the Senate. This is as it should be. and will give pretty general satisfaction to the people, as they cannot do not trouble myself with looking afcomprehend why a man in Chicago who had his house burned, should be material imported free of duty, while the farmers and dwellers in towns and villages, who have been equally unfortunate, are denied the same privilege. There never was a general desire for the passage of the Chicago Relief bill, only as such desire was awakened by the sympathy in the hearts of the people. But on a sober second thought the unjustness and the dangerous precedent established by the passage of such a bill, as well as the great injury it would necessarily inflict on many home interests, has changed the entire feelings of the peoole thereon, so that its defeat is now demanded as an act of justice, and as the only safe course the Government can pursue.

The New Track.

. The board of directors of the Michigan Central railway have decided to lay an additional track between Chicago and Detroit, of the best steel rails. · At the present time there are eighty miles of double track laid, and the board propose to lay fifty miles of new track each year. This important decision was arrived at in consequence of the vast increase of freight which has taken place of late, and the fact that more has been offered than could be handled. It is unnecessary to point out the advantages, both to the traveling public and shippers, which will result from the projected

Berrien County FROM STEVENSVILLE. Feb. 3, 1872. EDITORS RECORD: The fruit growers down here in the belt settled down for the winter, well satisfied with the result of last summer's business. Peaches had sold for $2 to $8 per bushel; corn could be bought for 35 cents; the necessary articles of food were cheap, and many of them had plenty of money to buy luxuries. Nothing to do but feed the horse, fill the ice house, and watch the thermomcter. Now, gentlemen farmers, wouldn't this be a nice business? No cattle and hogs to take care of, no logs to haul, no wood to out. Pick fruit and pocket greenbacks all summer, coil down in pleasant quarters, with everything furnished to order during the winter. · Very happy business this, were it not for the freaks of the mercury in the little glass tube. Just imagine, if you please, going to bed some cold night, with the mercury away below zero, and going down; get a little nap and wake up,-can't rest; must look at the thermometer. Light the lamp, throw on a blanket. and shading the lamp carefully, glide out to the cold corner of the house and peer carefully in the face of the little fortune-teller. Twelve degrees below! Whew, how cold! This won't do. Only a few degrees more and the "bread and butter" is gone next year. Build a hot fire, and go out frequently and watch the mercury as it goes down slowly until morning, when the mercury begins to rise with the hopes of the watcher. This is no fancy sketch. Hundreds of fruit growers have watched the little indicator of their fortunes several nights during the winter. Having a little patch of wheat under the snow, and a few cattle and hogs to take care of, I ter a thermometer; but upon going to the barn yesterday (Friday) morning allowed to rebuild the same out of to feed, I found the animals showing signs of extreme cold; and after being. out a few minutes, I concluded that it was the coldest morning of the winter. My peach orchard stands high on the bluff, overlooking the waters of Lake Michigan, but this morning the trees seemed to be looking with millions of little diamond eyes to the east, as if seeking relief from the sharp, biting, almost imperceptible east wind, in the bright rays of the rising sun. I concluded to drive down along shore to St. Jo. and Benton Harbor, and interview some of the thermometer men. I called first on the Dr. in Stevensville, knowing that he kept a correct thermometer, and had watched it through every cold term for years. "18 below at daylight, the coldest for 15 years," says the Dr. Thought the buds would be all killed. Went down about four miles. Called on a man that I knew would tell the truth: "20 below," says he, "a little before daylight." Thought some of the buds found them talking of four to twelve. Think some of them did not get up very early. Went over to Benton Harbor. "How cold was it here, Capt.?" "Twelve below, here at my warehouse, a little after sun-rise." Went out of town one mile, and found them acknowledging 12 to 16 in and around the Harbor, but talked of 20 and 25 back in the country. Stopping all night at the Harbor, I found the people more hopeful. Many had thawed out the buds, and thought there were plenty of live ones on most varieties. I found the people in St. Jo. getting warm discussing the degrees of cold in different localities. One man averred that it had not been lower than 2 below at his place, while his neighbor's showed 12. Jack Frost has showed some curious freaks this winter. Once before the mercury has been to about 14 at St. Jo. and vicinity, while the localities that showed the lowest degree of cold before are much the warmest now. I believe that one of the papers in St. Jo. has attempted to keep a record of the degrees of cold in different localities, furnished by reliable persons, but the weather having been so extremely cold this winter, has made this task very unfortunate for the Editor, as many persons seem to act on the old maxim that the truth should not be spoken at all times. Owing to the extreme dry and cold weather last fall, peach buds were not so fully developed as usual, consequently they were in much better condition to stand a low degree of cold. Fourteen degrees below zero has generally killed the buds of all the finer varieties of peaches. Peach growers think that buds will survive 20 degrees below zero this winter better than they would ten when the bud is very fully developed. Some of the old successful fruit growers, having large quantities of all varieties of fruit, declare their wish that the peaches may all be killed this winter, thereby preventing, in some measure, the ravages of the Curculio. The fruit-growing interest has become of vast importance in Berrien County, and people are preparing to plant largely in the future. But I hope our Berrien friends will not encumber with peaches their beautiful grass grounds, bearing three tons of Timothy per acre; and I hope, also, that the wheat on those 40 bushels per acre fields may continue to lie secure and warm under the deep snow this cold winter. One thing is quite certain, the boundaries of the fruit belt will be more clearly marked this winter, and whoever secures a good crop of Crawford peaches next summer, need not fear to plant in the future. I had intended writing of other subjects of general interest down this way, but having occupied so much space. I must defer items until next Yours truly,

THE POOR.—Sometimes it happens that a poor person with a family is in our town who is in the immediate need of some assistance. Temporary, perhaps, but nevertheless, indispensibly necessary. A case of this nature came under our notice not many days since. It seems to us it would be a wise plan to have a fund for the purpose of furnishing relief in such cases. It will not do in such cases to say, "Let them go to the County House." A person is sometimes taken sick who is in destitute circumstances, or he may meet with some misfortune that deprives him and his family of his services for a short time and their source for maintenance is temporarily cut off. No one can imagine any case where help should be more willingly given and where the aid should be furnished more speedily than in cases of this kind. The "Penny Readings" may furnish a fund for relief in some cases, but if so, it is inadequate for the purpose, and something further should be

TIN WEDDING .- On last Friday evening a gay and happy throng gathered at the residence of Capt. John Graham and wife, in this village, to celebrate the anniversary of their tenth wedding day. There were per-haps one hundred and fifty persons present, all of whom seemed to enjoy the occasion. Several of the Captain's friends from Niles and from Berrien were also present. The supply of tin ware was super-abundant -every thing imaginable, jewelry, watches, belts, hunting flasks, fruit baskets, boilers, churns, toys, spoons, cake chests, broilers, rattle boxes, knives and forks, besides a hundred other things we can't think of now. went to make up the various presents of the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Graham received the hearty congratula-tions of their host of friends, and none seemed to enjoy the pleasantries and jokes of the evening more than they. After a season of social converse, music and general enjoyment, an abundance of the good things for the "inner man" was brought out, to which the company did ample justice. In short, the occasion was a pleasant and enjoyable one-one that will long be remembered by the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Graham, as one of the most pleasant evenings of their

"Mow To Go West."

Forty years ago, Illinois was as far West as most people wished to go, and journeys were made in the legendary Prairie Schooner," but in these days of Progress and Improvement, the word West, has come to mean Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, California and the Territories, and the traveler reaches almost any point therein by a splendid Line of

This Line of Railroad is the BURLING-TON ROUTE, which starts from Chicago by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Rail-road, and, running through BURLINGTON, reaches Omaha, Lincoln, Nebraska City, Saint Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth and Kansas City, connecting with the Union Pacific, Kansas Pacific, and other Railroads running from those cities.

People going to Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, California, or any point in the Territories, will study their own interests by any other, and it is the best Route in the West, therefore, you are more sure of your safety and comfort.
The Burlington Route has admirably answered the question "How to go West?" by the publication of an excellent Pamphlet, containing a large, truthful map of the Great West, and much interesting and valuable information, which can be obtained, free of charge, by addressing General Passenger Agent B. & M. R. R., Burlington, Iowa.

follows: Called to order by D. Fisk, President. The proceedings of last meeting were read and approved, except where Dr. Roe is made to say that the bark louse lives in the sea. The Dr. said that the kind he meant generally resided on fruit trees. The Dr. then made some instructive remarks on the subject of bark lice, and explained the damages which they are apt to do to fruit trees. Also stated that for years he had observed a sort of slug that fed on the lice and was exterminating them in many places. He also showed specimens of the Burrus apple, and thought it would prove a valuable acquisition. Stated that it was a good fruit, though not first class, its value consisting in its long keeping properties.

Mr. Broadhurst spoke about the coddling moth and of the beneficial results of keeping hogs in the orchard. Mr. Guyer spoke on the subject of grafting. Thought that the true way to graft was to insert a scion in every upright limb, as by so doing it gives a much better opportunity to shape the top in after-pruning.
Mr. Rough said that he had found that the best way to put up apples so as to keep is to fill the barrels in the orchard, and take to the barn or outhouse before heading, and let them remain till all sweating is over, then repack and head and place in a well ventilated cellar.

Mr. Baker asked if there was any trees in the Spring. Mr. Burrus re- ing off on a hunting expedition he plied that packing snow and straw left his proposition with me. He said around the trees would keep back the he had been at war with our tribe for depth, about the tree would produce the result desired. He also cited instances to show the good results of washing trees with lye or soap suds. Also thought that growing clover in a growing orchard would injure the

Mr. Roe spoke very disparagingly of the practice of grafting old trees. Was opposed to it. He never yet saw an old orchard grafted that amounted to anything. Mr. Rough asked what was the best age and size of apple trees to plant. Dr. Roe said that from his experience he preferred a four year old tree if properly pruned in the nursery. Thought four years old enough and three years young enough, and that trees of that age should have heads started about three feet from the ground. Mr. Broadhurst disagreed with the Dr. Said that two years was the proper age, and that he would plant no other.

FROM DISTRICT No. 5, Buchanan, Feb. 3d, 1872.

EDITORS RECORD :- I went to see some pigs to-day, and was much disappointed in the appearance of their tails, which, a few weeks ago, were long and beautiful, but now are short and chubby. I made inquiries as to who could have taken such liberties with my porkers, and was informed that it was the result of the late cold snap. As I stood sympathizing with the poor untailed quadrupeds, the question rose in my mind, Did they reeze off, or, did they draw up?-On coming home and taking up your most excellent paper, I noticed an article by "Moral Suasion," from New Buffalo. He says that when he read the report of the school taught in District No. 5, Buchanan Township, he could feel his blood "surge," his cheeks "tingle" and his eyes "burn." Symptoms, certainly, most alarming, and unless I can trace the cause to something else than that school re port, I shall consider my existence dangerous to the reading public. I attribute the surging of his blood to carrying that pail of milk, and laughing over the "locals," and the tingling of his cheeks to the "cold snap," and should his eyes withstand the burning he mentions without becoming impaired, I shall consider him a fit person to solve the above query in regard to the pigs' tails, the more so as he so readily interprets the "grunts" and "chuckles" of the animals under his charge. He says that thirty-five years ago his teacher whipped a hard spot into his heart and that it remains there yet. I infer that the hardness in his heart was driven from his head by blows received thereon on that memorable occasion, and solicit the sympathies of the public in his behalf, and cheerfully add those of Your Obedient Servant.

At no time since its foundation has The Free Pares had such facilities as now for gathering news, for carrying out the ideas entertained by the publishers of making it a model paper—a journal which shall stand without a successful rival in Michigan as a Newspaper.

Improvement has been the order of the day in every department of The Free Press for the last year, and will continue to be during the coming year.

The year 1872 will be one of immerse political interest and excitement. The meetings of the National and state Conventions; the nominations for President and Vice-President; the issues between the great parties; the important policies of fuance and reveaue to be discussed; the elections in the various States; and, to the people of Michigan, the new apportionment of Congressmen, and the division of the State into new districts, tagether with our general and local political situation and prospects, will be fully laid before the people, as can alone be done by a Michigan paper, the organ of a great party, a member of the Associated Press, and one whose enterprise and energy will be satisfied with nothing less than the very best newspaper in the State of Michigan The Free Parss, in all its editions, will be a thorough Democratic Campaign Paper, as well as newspaper. Better than Sewed Boots CABLE SCRE WWIRE

A Paper for the Family.

Articles that are interesting to the entire family circle. This department of the paper will contain every item if general interest that eccurs in the State, and in this espect alone it will prove invaluable.

The Local Department. In its Local Department, it is almost needless to say, I'me Pers Perss will be found maintaining the high po-sition it has gained in this respect. No paper in the country excels it for the fulness and completeness of its local news, and it will in the future, if possible, even surpass its present high standing,

A LESSON FOR INSURANCE COMPA-NIES.—The advantages of life insurance are shown in a pamphlet by an English company in the following

When poor pa died and went to heaven, What grief mamma endured; But ah ! that grief was soon assuaged, For pa, he was insured; And when ma went there, oh, how funny! The office paid her all the money.

The way a young lover waroled "I'm lonely to-night, love, without thee," under his Dulcina's window. in Boston, the other evening, was very affecting, until the old gentleman let loose the two dogs in the back yard. The sentimental youth had no occasion to complain of loneliness after that. His new pants cost $14, and he wears a square foot of sticking plaster inside of them somewhere. For the next week or two he thinks he will imbibe his hash perpendicularly at a lunch counter. It's healthier that way, and he really doesn't care about "sitting on the style, Mary" or anything else at present. A few days since, a man well known in New York society-not young, and who could not dance—was sitting at a party near a young lady, and watching the mazes of the "German." He turned to her, knowing her well, and said, "I wish you would let me put my arm around your waste." Of course she looked at him in amazement. "Oh!" said he, "you know I can't dance, but I don't see the difference. All these young men have their arms about the girls' waists, and why should I not have the same privilege, though I sit still?" The Saratogian is thus painfully jubilant: O, bud this is dice! How we love widder add the beautiful sdow-the rigging of merry bellsthe log icigles on the cordices—add, az "Jacked" so fidely eggzpresses id:

1853. An anothecary who is continu ally troubled with the inquiry for the time, was asked the other day. "Please, sir, tell me what time it is.

"Why, I gave you the time not a minute ago." said the astonished apothecary.

"Yes, sir," replied the lad: "but this is for another woman."

Gentlemen, I have won this cup by the use of my legs; I trust I may never lose the use of my legs by the use of the cup," were the words of a successful competitor for the prize of a foot-race.

An old gentleman of eighty, married a young wife and in due course of time was presented with a son. On the day of christening the nurse handed young master about, with the usual exclamation that he was the very

"Very like, indeed," said a lady, "he has no teeth."

A certain good wife who had been lecturing her husband for coming home intoxicated, became incensed at his indifference, and exclaimed, "Oh, that I could wring tears of and guish from your eyes!" To which enough above cost to pay transportation. Now is the time to the hardened wretch hiccoughed. "Tai'taint no use, old woman to bo bore for water here!"

A Pennsylvania paper says: "Chicago was probably the most populous city in the world previous to the conflagration. Some fourteen millions of her destitute citizens have passed through this city in the past three weeks. You can't throw a cat in any direction without hitting a 'sufferer.'

The dodge is becoming threadbare."

At the examination of a parochial school a reverend gentleman was asking a class the meaning of words. They answered very well un-til he gave 'backbiter.' It went down the class until it came to a simple urchin, who looked sheepishly knowing, and said, It may be a flea.

While a vender of greens in Boston was endeavoring to dispose of his stock in trade his poor old nag balked and refused to budge an inch. The driver finally commenced belaboring the animal with a stick, when an old lady thrust her head out of a window and exclaimed: "Have you no mercy?"

How the Jews Regard Christ.

There shall the servant be!

Of Christ the Jews have a uniform opinion. The Radicals regard him very much as a good many Deists and Atheists have done before them-that is, they believe him either to have heen a great reformer or a religious enthusiast; and the New Testa ment they suppose to have been written long after his death, and to have been made up in part of material taken from the Old Testament, the maxim "love thy neighbor as thyself" being considered an illustration of this. In fact, whatever opinions they may have on this subject, they have formed by thinking for themselves over the writings of the great skeptics, just as many others have done who are not Jews; and this is the case as well with the most advanced of the Conservatives, as no doubt also within many of the least advanced of Orthodox. Of the last, however, a very considerable majority have expended no thought whatever on the matter. Their notions about Christ are of the vaguest, and to some he is even veiled in mystery. What they know most clearly is his fate, and the persecution of themselves and their ancestors on account of it. They have a peculiar name for him. It is not often they have occasion to allude to him: but when they do they call him to-luithe hanged one. He is rarely the subject of conversation among them; it would be a distasteful topic, and they would have no motive for bringing it up. There is, as I have said no uniform sentiment entertained in regard to him; but one thing may nevertheless be safely asserted of the whole race: All expectation that they will ever come to regard him as anything but a man and a son of a man is based on desire only.-January Galaxy.

The Night Train.

A few evenings ago, we were waiting for a midnight train. In the intervals of conversation, our fancy busied itself with the thought of those trains which are very late, but punctual as Fate itself; and whose pale conductor takes up passengers at but one station—that one beside the deep river which rolls between this and the other shore. These trains are running every hour, and we are all waiting for one that shall bear us away. There are morning trains filled with bright-eyed, happy-hearted little ones. The noon trains, into which the pleasure seekers, and earnest workers, the strong men and the comely women are hastily crowded; and the night train, on which the aged, and sorrow-strick-en and the infirm, who have long "waited for the train," gladly embark for the little distance they have to go. The "All aboard," has a startling thrill, for the "Good night" is spoken not again—no passenger returneth.— Lute A. Taylor:

Private Prayer.

The root that produces the beautiful and flourishing tree, with all its spreading branches, verdant leaves, and refreshing fruit—that which gains for it sap; life, vigor and fruitfulness -is all unseen; and the farther and deeper the root spreads beneath, the more the tree expands above. Christians, if you wish to prosper, if you long to bring forth all the fruits of the Spirit, strike your roots deep and wide in private prayer. That faith and support, that strength and grace, which you seek of God in secret, that it may be exercised in the hour of need, God will in that hour give it you before men.—Bickersteth.

Lovely and Righteous Acts. I pray you with all earnestness to prove, and know within your hearts, that all things lovely and righteous are possible for those who believe in their possibility, and who determine that, for their part, they will make every day's work contribute to them. Let every dawn of morning be to you as the beginning of life, and every setting of the sun be to you as its close; then let every one of these short lives leave its sure record of some kindly thing done for others, some goodly strength or knowledge gained for yourselves.—Ruskin.

A Sunny Heart.

A gay, serene spirit is the source of all that is noble and good. Whatever is accomplished of the greatest and noblest sort flows from such a disposition. Petty, gloomy souls, that only mourn the past and dread the future, are not capable of seizing upon the holiest moments of life, of enjoying and making use of them as they should.

Until the human heart knows the Divine heart, it must sigh and complain like a petulant child, who flings his toys from him because his mother is not at home. When his mother comes back to him he finds his toys are good still. When we find Him in our hearts we shall find Him. in everything.—Geo. MacDonald.

This Rheumatic syrup is used inwardly only, pleasant to the taste, and guaranteed free from Injurious Drugs. It is not a Quack Medicine, but the scientific prescription of Jos. P. Ritter, M. D., Professor of Toxicology and Chemistry, graduate of the celebrated University of Pennsylvania, A. D. 1833, whose entire professional life has been devoted specially to this disease. This preparation under solemn oath is conscientiously believed to be the only positive, reliable, infallible specific ever discovered. The proof that no other specific exists is found in every community in persons afflicted for many years past and still suffering. If physicians could cure it, if a specific did exist, this would not be so,—a fact that must be universally admitted. The off deceived sufferer may wisely ask, what security or evidence has he that Dr. Filter's Rheumatic Syrup will cure his case. The protection offered to patients against imposition is in a legally signed contract which, will be forwarded without charge to any sufferer sending by letter a description of alliction; this guarantee will state the exact number of bottles warranted to cure, and in case of failure the money paid will be returned to the patient. No other remedy has ever been offered on such liberal and honorable terms. Vinegar Bitters are not avile Fancy Drink. Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spleed and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants, 'They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of re-

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.
FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of wo-manhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal -- ?

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rhoumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Discusses of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Discusses are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Paln in the Shoulders, Coughe, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Billous Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled pid liver and bowels, which reader them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbundes, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erisipelas, Itch, Scarfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a are interaily due up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores, cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleans it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four lenguages—English, German, French and Spanish. J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the sys-tem and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing rep-utation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great cor-ruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities, or diseases that have lurked in the system for years, soon yield to this powerful antidote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and cruptive disorders, Eruptions, and cruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints to which it would not some several plaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspensia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrheea, when they are manifestations of the scrollous poisons. It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard; and it is the only reliable and perfect-ed preparation for restoring Gray OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken. The scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. It removes all eruptions and dandruff, and, by its tonic properties, prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair-glands. By its use, the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth, except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair a splendid, glossy appearance. A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPA-RATION for its intended purposes." Every year increases the popularity of this valuable Hair Preparation;

"No, ma'am," replied the peddler; "nothin' but greens." A distinguished writer says: 'There is a passage in the Bible where the girls are commanded to kiss the men, and that is in the golden rule,

"Ma, get down on your hands and knees a minute; please."
