Story.

THE GIPSY'S GLASS.

Cissy Thorne was sitting by her toilet table skipping a novel while her maid Emma brushed her long, thick, silky hair. Some people said it was false, because there was so much of it, other Christians were certain that it must have been dyed, seeing that it had the peculiar bright, golden tint which is so often due to art; but Emma knew better. That exemplary girl took the same sort of pride in her mistress' hair that a good groom does in the coats of his master's horses, and was never tired of brushing it. Fortunately the young lady took an equal pleasure in her passive part of the performance, and so both were satisfied. When the spoiled beauty did not know what else to do, she went up to her room, took off her dress, and had her hair brushed; it was a lady-like substitute for smoking a

I wonder that Darwin has not instanced the pleasure we feel in being stroked the right way, in favor of the last theory. I believe that Cissy was very near purring, especially in thundery weather, when her hair crackled like an experiment.

"Well, Emma, did you go to the fair?" asked the bushee, laying down her book. 😕

"Yes, miss, I did." "And what did you see?" "I saw a horsemanship, where they rode standing, and jumped through hoops wonderful!" "And did you go on one of the roundabouts that is worked by a steam engine, which plays an organ?"-

"No, miss," replied Emma, with emphasis. "Do you know, Emma, I should like to, if no one saw?"

"Lor, miss, they are crowded with such a low lot; they are." "Low lots, as you call them, seem to have all the fun," said Cissy with a half sigh. "And what else did you see?" "I went to a-fortune-teller."

"No! in a tent?" "There were little tents about, but t was a very yellow cart I went into: not into the fair exactly, but in the clump, before you come to it. She's

"She told me all sorts of things which she could not have known natural; a mole on my back; how long I have been in the service——"

"Yes, yes, but the future; did she say anything about that?" "She did more, miss. She showed t to me."

tanding here I saw him plain." "Your future husband?"

"As is to be; yes, miss." The two girls had been playmates when very little, and there was more familiarity between them than is customary with mistress and maid. So Emma had to enter into all the mysterious details of the cabalistic cerewhich I am to take, it would save me a world of trouble," she said to herself, with a smile; "but of course that is all nonsense. Yet if she did, I vow that I would be guided by it." One aspirant was Pendil Frogmore, a landed proprietor in the neighborhood, very poor; for though his rentroll was a tair one, his debts were enormous; but very handsome, and well set up. Indeed, he had been in the blues. I don't mean bad spirits, but a man in armor, commanding men in armor, and his wife would be undoubtedly county.

Charles Wilson was the name of the other; he was a young London solicitor, who had just been taken into a good firm, and was now on a visit to is mother, an Indian Colonel's widow, who resided at Littleum. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Thorne were good friends, and so all was smooth there. Mrs. Wilson had murmured, indeed, when she first saw her son's inclina-

"No, mother, that is just what I want. I should hate a wife that was as clever as myself. But how can you fail to see her merits? She is such a very nice little party!"

"Partie, Charlie, partie; how dreadfully bad your French accent is! I grant that she would not be a bad match for you from a worldly point of view."

Frogmore was the most handsome Vilson the more pleasant. Really, if fate would settle the matter for her it would save Cissy Thorne a world of

So the pretty bone of contention thought, as she started with her maid Emma, for: Littelum Hurst at 9 A. M; for Mr. Thorne breakfasted early, and his daughter presided, Mrs. Thorne being a sluggard. Not a drum was heard, not a pandean note was heard as they stepped briskly along; the ginger bread husbands were covered up from the dust; the merry gorounds were still; the clown was mending his dress; the donkeys breakfasted frugally on each other's manes; the fire-eater was trying a diet of bacon, bread and garlic for a change. Business never commenced in the fair till afternoon. But Miss Thorne's visit was not to the fair; to the right some five hundred yards from the common, there was a clump of sparse trees, and sheltered beneath them stood one of those old yellow huts on wheels, which act so vividly upon the imagination of village children. This was the abode of the sybil, and the adventuresses turned aside toward it. Emma went first on the steps and tapped with the light brass knocker: the door opened immediately, and a women of the mystic race appearedyoung, handsome, as a Spaniard. though her splendid black hair was rather coarse if you come to examine it closely. Emma drew back to let her mistress enter first. "Walk in, my pretty lady," said the gipsy, "don't be afeared, I'm quite alone here.".

Although the fun of the fair did not commence till late in the day, it was evident that custom came betimes to the sybil, for traces of night disorder had disappeared from the miniature interior, which was spick and span, neat and clean; obviously pre-pared for visitors. The small apartment was still further reduced by a curtain, which ran on brass rings along a rod, enclosing a portion of the space. The gipsy examined Cissy's hand, and began making shots-centers through, most; bull's eyes, some. "You are an only child, and your father and mother would give you gold to eat if you wanted it; when a child you were in great peril from a A lot more to the same effect, couched in vague language, but very correct. "In a round glass; as true as I'me etical sibyl; "if you marry one you will be unhappy all your life, but if you take the other you will be lucky, and live to be eighty, and ride in your carriage and pair all the time.".

The idea of this very protractive drive rather amused Cissy, and that revived her courage. After all, the woman might have made inquiries about her on the chance of her com-

"And how am I to know which of these gentlemen to choose?" she asked in a bantering tone.

"Ah, that I cannot tell, my lady; but you can look in the Magic Glass for yourself, and see if it shows you ought."

"Let me see it then," said Cissy, bravely, though a feeling of creepiness began to return. The gipsy said that Emma should leave the caravan : but : Cissy would not have that, so a compromise was affected : the maid was blindfolded. I was in a terribly confined position, and that thief of a gipsy was so long about her preliminaries, that I got a horrible cramp in my right calf, and made a face which I thought would betray me."

The bride burst out crying. "And you bribed my maid; and laid a plot with a common gipsy to deceive me; and were laughing at me all the time—oh!" she sobbed. "All's fair in love," said Wilson, sheepishly. "It was unworthy of you!" she continued; "you have married me under false pretenses. I shall never feel the same toward you, I will never forgive you, never!" But she did.

The Green Countryman. Years ago, into a wholesale grocery store in Boston walked a tall, muscular-looking, raw-boned man, evidently a fresh-comer from back town in Maine or New Hampshire. Accosting the first person he met, who happened to be the merchant himself he asked:

"You dont want to hire a man in your store, do you?" "Well," said the merchant, "I don't know; what can you do?"

"Do!" said the man, "I rather guess I can turn my hand to almost anything. What do you want done?". "Well, if I was to hire a man, it would be one that could lift well, a strong, wiry fellow-one, for instance, that could shoulder a sack of coffee, like that yonder, and carry it across -the store and never lay it down." "There, now captin," said our countryman, "that's just me. What will you give a man that can suit you?" "I tell you," said the merchant, "if you will shoulder that sack of coffee, and carry it across the store twice and never lay it down, I will hire you for a year, at $100 per month." "Done," said the stranger; and by this time every clerk in the store had gathered around and were waiting to join in the laugh against the man, who, walking to the sack, threw it across his shoulder with perfect .ease, as it was not extremely heavy, and walking with it twice across the store, went quietly to a large hook which was fastened to the wall; and hanging the sack upon it, turned to the merchant and said:

"There, now; it may hang there till Doomsday; I shan't never lay it down. What shall I go about, mister? Just give me plenty to do and $100 a month, and it's all right."

The clerks broke into a laugh, but it was out of the other side of their mouths; and the merchant, discomfited yet satisfied, kept to his agreement, and to-day the green countryman is the senior partner in the firm and worth half a million dollars.

Sale of a Wife in England.

The Pall Mall Gazette recently re-had sold his wife for £50. At the Exter Police Court, on the 26th ult., the wife, a smartly dressed woman, applied for a summons 'against her husband for refusing to maintain his children, he having that morning turned them out of doors. She had also been threatened by him, and she was afraid he would do her some harm. After some further conversation it came out that the complainant and her husband separated some time since, he selling her to another man for £50, and agreeing to take two of the children and she the rest. Fince, however, he had sold her he had followed her about and abused her, and annoyed her in various ways, and now he had turned the children he promised to support out of doors, and told her to keep the lot. In answer to the bench as to how she supported herself, she said she she received money from the do it, and I've listened to Bill Post, man to whom she was sold. The bench said they could not help her. "No, I can't sing here." How can I mon her husband. She had brought sing when this boat at any moment this upon herself. Wearing Glasses. Not one in fifty among young gen-tlemen and ladies who saddle their noses with spectacles absolutely require them for distinct vision. A woman's expression is destroyed, however beautiful or striking, the moment she embarrasses her eyes with lunettes. Yet nothing is more common than the persistence of otherwise charming creatures, to promenade the streets peering through glasses, under the infatudition of the individual, if simply let alone. When discovered they demand such treatment as science prescribes, but not otherwise. Of course, those who have spectacles to sell, and eye doctors, will dispute, as they always have, the foregoing propositions, as the coppersmiths complained of St. Paul, because their profits were in danger by a promulgation of truth. Nature teaches (Natusæ dure), was a favorite maxim of an ancient physician who had more confidence in the vital resources of nature than many moderns who fancy themselves wise.—Exchange.

Well Informed Ladies.

How much more intelligent and fascinating the majority of young ladies would be, were they to give a little more attention to newspaper reading. We do not mean the flash papers of the day which are filled with matter which, if it does no harm can certainly do no good, but to newspapers—those which make us all familiar with present character and improvements of the age. It is well enough to know something of the world's history, but it is with the present we have mainly to deal, and we know of no more engaging trait in a lady's character than an intelligent acquaintance with passing events. Every young lady should have an opinion on the moral, mental, political and religious subjects of the times. and the best, and indeed the only way to have this is to read good newspapers diligently, and think about their contents.

How to enjoy Life. It is wonderful to what an extent people believe happiness depends on not being obliged to labor. Honest hearty, contented labor is the only scource of happiness, as well as the only guarantee of life. Idleness and luxury induce premature decay much faster than many trades regarded as the most exhaustive and fatal to longevity. Labor in general actually increases the term of life. It is the lack of occupation that anually destroys so many of the wealthy, who have nothing to do, play the part of drones, and like them, make a speedy exit, while the busy bee fills out its day in usefulness and honor. . Let young poeple heed the above facts, and remember that industrylabor—is not only requisite to success in any calling, but also the great source of health and happiness. · Hope and Courage.

True hope is based on energy of character. A strong mind always hopes, because it knows the mutability of human affairs, and how slight a circumstance may change the whole course of events. Such a spirit, too, rests upon itself; it is not confined to any particular objects; and if at last all should be lost, it has saved itself, its integrity and worth. Hope awakens courage, while despondency is the last of all evils; it is the abandonment of good, the giving up of the battle of life with dead nothingness. He who can implant courage in the human soul is its best physician. To seek to govern men by their fears and their wants is an unworthy purpose; the desire to rule by means of cowardice is of itself cowardice. Love inspires courage and hope, and this is doubly the giver and preserver of life. What ever teaches us bodily to combat the manifold evils and assaults of life, enables us to win the crown of victory. Special care, therefore, ought to be taken in education to teach what true courage is as well in social and domestic as in public affairs -and by what means it may be best

Homes for Clerks.

A number of clerks in St. Louis, have organized a co-operative real estate association. The plan is to obtain one hundred members, who will each pay an initiation fee of five dollars and a weekly due of one. When $5,000 has been raised they intend to buy a piece of land within the city. limits, subdivide it, sell the sub-divisions to the highest bidders among their number, and then repeat the operation until each of them has a lot. Then the same scheme is to be followed in relation to building, until the benefits to the Association culminate "Well, you can sing a hymn, can't she must apply to the corporation of in giving every one of its members a ome, free from incumbrance. THE COUNTY CONVENTION AND ITS

WORK. In the history of Conventions in Berrien County there never has been a larger, more harmonious and important convention than that held in Berrien on Monday. While every Township and Ward was fully represented there seemed but one spirit prevading the entire Convention, and that was the spirit of harmony and unwavering devotion to the grand principles of the Republican party—the principles of liberty, justice and the rights of humanity: There was not manifest the least disposition to surrender the principles of the Republican party that had achieved such glorious results in American history. There was no disposition to turn over the Government. consecrated by the best blood-shed on a hundred battle fields, and the only hope and stay of human rights, to the tender mercies of the men, who, during the days of the Nation's trials. sought the overthrow of the best government the world has ever known. The out-gushing of freedom-loving hearts, and the firm determination to sustain and uphold the undying principles of liberty, justice and humanity could be seen stamped, and read in unmistakable characters, upon every countenance. Every look and every move evinced the grand idea of the future triumph and perpetuity of the great Republican party, as the guardian of the nation's weal. Not one en-the nation's hopes, had come. Not one could be made to believe that the work of the great Republican party was accomplished, or its mission ended. They saw, as every lover of the rights of humanity and of the future hopes of the nation sees, that a grand and noble work—a glorious mission is yet before the Republican party, and like one man, and with one heart, they put their shoulders together to aid in accomplishing that work and fulfilling that mission. There was the most determined disposition, on the part of the delegates in the Convention, to allow no name to be placed upon the 'ticket that tertained the idea that the day of dissolution, for the only party imbued with equal rights to all men, the only party in whose ample folds centered would not be an honor and credit to the party. The moral standing and qualifications of any candidate nominated is beyond question, and the triumph of the people over the machinations of corruption is complete. The Convention placed in nomination the best ticket that has ever been submitted for the votes of the people of Berrien County—a ticket that the most scrupulous and conscientious can heartily support. With such men as standard bearers in the County canvass, victory and triumph must inevitably crown the contest on the ides of November next.

Where is the Republican whose heart beats in sympathy with the glorious history of the past, with the grand work of the present, and with the future prosperity of his country, who will dare to betray, by inactivity or his suffrage, the interests of a great people into the hands of the very men who once sought the nation's life? Echo, methinks, answers, "where?" Certainly none whose hearts have been full of the love of country—full of the principles of the party of progress, can for one moment fail to heartily work with might and strength for the success of the ticket put in nomination on Monday last, and for the national triumph of the Republican party, in the overwhelming election of Grant and Wilson in November next, and thus effectually burying far beyond the hope of a resurrection, a demoralized and principle-sacrificing Democratic party united to a few disappointed Republican office aspirants, who would sell their birth-right for a mess of office pottage.

OUR CANDIDATES. The candidates put in nomination on Monday, at Berrien, are all men worthy and well qualified to fill the responsible positions to which they have been nominated by the Republican party of Berrien County.

Levi Sparks, of Niles Township, the nominee for State Senator, is a man in every sense of the word, an old and tried Republican that through the dark days as well as the bright ones, has ever stood firm, and a ready advocate of Republican principles. He is a man of the people, a tiller of the soil, one of nature's noblemen, well qualified and worthy to serve the people of Berrien County as their Representative in the State Senate. Daniel Chapman, of St. Joseph the nominee for Probate Judge, and the present incumbent of that office, is too well known to the people of Berrien County to need a single word of comment. He has faithfully performed the duties of that office for of Mr. Stoughton, as we know it Chamberlain, 46 votes; - Fish, 4 four years, and is well qualified for | would have been almost unanimously votes. the position and acquainted with the against him in any and all events. David E. Hinman, of Buchanan, the nominee for County Clerk, is a man of the strictest honor and integrity, one in whom his neighbors have | to command the confidence and votes the utmost confidence, whether they be Republicans or Democrats. He is an Attorney and acting Justice of the Peace in the village of Buchanan, a man of good qualifications for the Clerkship, and one whom the party can heartily endorse and support. Frank N. Dix, of Bainbridge, the present incumbent of the office of Regster of Deeds, and the nominee for re-election, is a young man and soldier, who has performed well the duties of the office for two years. His integrity and qualifications need no comment, as they have been fully and satisfactorily proven. In him we have a representative of our young men and soldiers, and he will no doubt receive the hearty support of the Republicans of the entire County.

Samuel Hess, of Three Oaks, the present popular Treasurer, received the nomination for re-election. Having served two terms, four years, his qualifications have been fully demonstrated, and no man in the County stands higher for honor and integrity. He has faithfully filled the position to the honor of himself and the best interest of the County. He has ever been vigilant and careful of the funds of the County, not having lost a dollar of the people's money during his entire official career. No better or more popular nomination could possioly have been made. N. A. Hamilton, of St. Joseph, the nominee for Prosecuting Attorney, is a lawyer of no mean ability. He has been a resident of the County only a | dingly selected such committee: few years, but during that time has been one of the most active Republican workers among us. He is fully qualified to fill the important position with ability, and for the best interests of the people. His honor and integity are not called in question, and the Republican support that he will receive will be a hearty one. Frederick H. Bacon, of Niles, and William R. Lyon, of St. Joseph, nominees for Circuit Court Commissioners, are both young attorneys of honor and integrity. They have all the qualifications to fit them for the position to which they are nominated. Good, true and staunch Republicans, they will receive the hearty support of the entire Republican party of the

R. K. Charles, of Niles, and Wm. R. Tryon, of Royalton, nominees for Coroners, are both old and tried Republicans, men who would do honor and credit to any position of trust on the ticket. They are well known to many of the Republicans of the County, both having represented their respective localities on the Board of Supervisors. The nominee for County Surveyor, Thomas Love of Three Oaks, is an old resident of the County, a reliable Republican, a man of experience and integrity, such a man as adds strength to any movement in which he engages. He will receive the cheerful support of the party in the coming contest. Charles F. Gennett, of St. Joseph, nominee for Fish Inspector, is a man of honor, and esteemed by his neighbors, a man who deserves the hearty support of all the Republican voters of the County. Thus has the Convention performed its work, and presented a ticket, without doubt, the strongest that has ever been before the people of Berrien County for their suffrages. Every name on the ticket is a tower of strength, and it represents good, true, and honorable men-men worthy of the support of any people. With such a ticket the success of the Republican party, in Berrien County, ought to be fully assured. And with the hearty co-operation of every Republican in the County, there will be rolled up such a majority in November vest in Greeley & Brown's stock. One man remarked on Saturday to some of his friends who were congregated in front of a store, that he began to believe he was the only Greeley man in town, and he felt as if he was beside himself. No doubt of it. The Postoffice in this town is certainly a miserable looking building. It is about time we were favored with a more decent place wherein to get our mail matter. Who knows but shortly the Post Master General will favor our town with a visit, and if so he will feel ashamed of the office. The Postmaster and his assistant feel the need of a more suitable place to attend to their duties in. This being confined in so small a room is having a detrimental effect upon their health. The assistant is losing flesh daily, and is also getting to be depressed in her spirits. This must not continue. We profess to have the spirit of progress in our system, then let us go to work and fit up a more suitable place where we can, with the feelings of pleasure, receive our mail matter. I repeat, show a spirit of progress, fellow citizens, and the first step towards this is a new Postoffice.—We require less liquor sold here, and what is sold we think would be all the better if less adulterated. But it would be well if none was sold. Nothing like pure water.—Every poor man here keeps keeps three. I think the tax collector does not collect the duty on each dog. I presume they are being fattened for the sausage season; if so,

the sooner that season comes, the better for all.—Our citizens are planting shade trees, pleased to see this; only remember when you plant trees, they cannot be expected to grow unless they have roots. Buy a copy of Horace Greeley's work "What he knows about Farming," and see what he says about planting trees.——It is a false error when persons say this town is noted for sand, fleas and dogs.

True, we have plenty of sand and dogs but no fleas. Do not slander us.

If you want fleas, ask those living in

New Michigan and they can tell you where to find them.—Bro. Kruger

HYPOPHOSPHITES

Consumptives! a word with you. You know that Consumption is a terribly fatal disease. Very rarely is it cured by the old exploded remedies and methods of treatment. Cod Liver Oil rever cured a case of Consumption. Iron is utterly useless. It is an insane delusion to rely upon these old fogy played-out remedies. It is a waste of precious time, that can never be regained. Awake! Awake! Open your ears to the voice of Science! Winchester's Hyporhosphirs; is your beacon light. A complete revolution in the treatment of this disease has been effected by this Life-Giving and Life-Sustaining Remedy. It

Consumption promptly and permanently. It has, during the past 16 years, cured more than One Hundred Thousand cases, and it will not fail you. It will afford you prompt relief, and by exercising proper care, and with good nursing, restore you and all who will give it a trial to perfectly restored health, leaving no trace of the discusse, while to those who are threatened with, or predisposed to Consumption, it is an absolute preventive and safeguard. FROM THREE OAKS. July 29, 1871. EDITORS RECORD :- Upon looking over the columns of the RECORD for last week. I therein read Luther & Son's statement, regarding their being unable to fulfill their part of the contract relating to the Gift Enterprise of which they were the originators. New, I for one, and doubtless there are numerous others, who are holders of tickets, would like Luther & Son to show how much money they received for tickets sold, how much was paid out, and how much they made by the operation. When we purchased those tickets, it was on the express understanding that it was to be an honorable transaction, but I am sorry to say that it has been far from this. There is something very dark in the conduct of Luther & Son, in obtaining our money and not doing as they agreed. If I am to be wronged out of my money, (viz, two dollars,) I would like to know where the wrong is, and till I do know I shall not have a very high opinion of Luther & Son. If they were involved and standing in need of assistance by money or any other way I would gladly have helped them to the best of my ability, but when they make certain promises to do such and such things, get us to invest our money on the strength of those promises and fail to perform their part,

I leave the public to think what they please, but I for one would say that I consider it dishonorable.

A VICTIM. The Grand Central Motel, Of the many modern triumphs in superb hotel accommodations, the above house, on Broadway, New York, stands incomparably the greatest. It lifts its lofty front of white marble eight stories high, exclusive of basement and sub-basement, while towering above this immense height are three turrets and Mansard roof. It is divided into eight hundred apartments-a small world within itselfand the highest floor is reached in less than a minute by the finest elevator in the world. The Grand Central has an air of freshness and purity- about it, with a richness and beauty of decoration, combined with a wealth of luxury and taste calculated to please the eye and charm the most fastidious taste. The cuisine is excellent, the servants well trained, and the system and discipline superb. IOSCO COUNTY GAZETTE OFFICE. TAWAS CITY, Mich., July 24, 1872. EDS. RECORD :- I find the above "going the rounds," and desire to correct it. Except in one case (that of an inferior court in New Jersey) no decisions of the kind referred to have been made that I can find by the most diligent inquiry. Aside from this, the simple fact that the printing of one side of a paper at a distance is, not publishing, ought to set at rest all controversies in regard to that point. It makes no difference where a paper is printed, it is not published except by the actual issuance of the sheet bythe publisher. As to the clause referred to in regard to postage, the following extract from the decision of the P. O. Department is explicit enough: "A newspaper having a home office of publication, notwithstanding one side of the same is printed in another county or State, is entitled to the same privileges as though both sides were PRINTED at the office of publication."

"publishing" with "printing," such mistakes as these. I refer would not -Now I do not like "patent outsides' over much; but situated as I am. in a thinly settled section of country, where it is impossible to procure help if a jour. should "go off" suddenly, the plan is a good one, as it enables me to give more reading matter than I could otherwise do, and to pay more attention to home matters. As to the quality, I am willing to compare sheets, outside or in, with any papers in the State where the population of the county does not exceed 5,000.

At Burlington it connects with the great Builington Route which runs direct through Southern Iowa to Nebraska and Kansas, with close con-nections to California and the Territories; and passengers starting from Berrien County, on their way westward, cannot do better than to take the C. Suspicious.—A few evenings since a couple of men were overheard in a conversation north of Galien, after night, which undoubtedly had reference to an old gentleman by name of M. M. Paddock. The parties were evidently considering that Mr. Paddock had money, and that they designed possessing themselves of it. One or two nights some one has been around the premises. We learn that due preparations have been made for the scamps. It is evident that two old people like Mr. and Mrs. Paddock, if they had money would not keep it about their premises, but would deposit it in some bank. We trust the neighbors in that vicinity will keep a strict look out, as some one has designs of mischief.

ONE HALF the people cannot take Castor Oil from its terrible nauseating taste, and recoil in the throat. The Castoria prepared by Dr. Pitcher is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, pleasant to take, does not distress or gripe, but regulates the system, and operates when all other remedies have failed. It acts like magic for Stomach Ache, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and Worms. It contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. Its soothing, quief effect, produces natural sleep, and particularly adapts it to crying and teething children. No article has ever met such unqualified endorsement by the Physicians. Are a positive and speedy remedy for the Removal of Worms. They are pleasant to the taste, and any child will take them. If your child has Worms you will notice that the appetite is deranged and variable, often more than ordinarily voracious. There is picking of the nose, hiccup, disturbed or starting in the sleep; grinding of the teeth, and bowels costive. The child is sometimes very pale, and again flushed. These are only a few of the symptoms of Worms, which, if left without medicine to remove them, will produce convulsions or fits, and frequently fevers. To remove the worms, buy Wobb's Vegetable-Worm Confections.

No one remedy is louder called for by the necessities of the American people than a sure and safe cure for Fever and Ague. Such we are now enabled to offer, with a perfect certainty that it will eradicate the disease, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than oure, for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemper. This "Gure" expels the miasmatic poison of Fever and Ague from the system, and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. It is not only the best remedy ever yet discovered for this class of complaints, but also the cheapest. The large quantity we supply for a dollar brings it within the reach of everybody; and in bilious districts, where Fever and Ague prevails, everybody should have it, and use it freely, both for cure and pretection. It is hoped this price will place it within the reach of all—the poor as well as the rich. A great superiority of this remedy ever any other ever discovered for the speedy and certain cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mineral; consequently it produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthna, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "Cure" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all alike. It is an in-

A one-legged Welch orator, named Jones, was pretty successful in bantering an Irishman, when the latter asked him, "How did you come to lose your leg?" "Well," said Jones, "on examining my pedigree, and looking up my descent, I found there was some Irish blood in me, and, becoming convinced that it was settled in that left leg, I had it cut off at once."
"Be the powers," said Pat, "it would have been a deuced good thing if it had only settled in your head.'

A sportsman who, during the shooting season, had gone to pass a week with a friend in the country, on the strength of a general invitation, soon found by a gentle hint, that he would have done better to wait for a special one. "I saw some beautiful scenery," was the visitor's first remark, "as I came to-day by the upper road." "You will see still finer," was the reply, "as you go back to-morrow by the lower one."

Some of the clerks were waiting in the treasury department for the opening of business. One said to the company: "Who is the shortest man mentioned in the Bible?" The old Joe Millers were all exhausted. "Nehemiah (knee-high-miah), Bildad, the Shuhite (shoo-height.)" To all answers the clerk replied "No." "We give it up," was the response. "Peter," was the reply. "Peter !" they all cried: "he was a stout, large, athletic man." "Can't help it. He was the shortest man I ever read of in the Bible. He said he had neither silver nor gold, and a man is pretty short when he hasn't any money."

A few days since one of our popular attorneys called upon another member of the profession and asked his opinion upon a certain point of law. The lawyer to whom the question was addressed drew himself up and said, "I generally get paid for telling what I know." The questioner drew a half dollar "fractional" from his pocket, handed it to the other, and coolly remarked: "Tell me all you know and give me the change."
There is a coldness between the parties now.

A man enjoying the euphonious name of Pigg, married a lady named Young. A few days ago a child was born to them, and a rich uncle of the young one, who, like Gilpin, "loves a timely joke," prom-ised to heavily endow the boy if the parents would christen him with the maternal name. The fond parents consented, and the youth will hereafter be known to his friends as Young

They were having a very sol-emn and pleasant funeral in Scituate few years ago, when the sole daughter of the house and hearth suddenly discovered that her particular enemy in school was sitting in her favorite chair. She bore it as long as she could, but her feelings gave way just as the minister arrived at a pathetic point in his prayer, and the people heard this affecting prophesy as the joint production of the minister and child: "And the Lord, as soon as our friend enters Heaven, will say unto her"—"Get out of my chair, Ella Briggs!"

Gardening for ladies—Make up your "bed" early in the morning, "sew" buttons on your husband's shirt; do not "rake" up any grievances; protect the young "branches" of your family; "plant" a smile of good temper in your face, and carefully "root out" all angry feelings, and expect a good "crop" of happiness.

During the conference at Worcester, the following dialogue was overheard, between two newsboys: "I say, Jim, what's the meaning of so many ministers being here all together?" "Why," answered Jim, scornfully, "they always meet 'every year to exchange sermons with each other."

A few Sundays since a teach-. er in the Sunday school of an Episcopal church in Chicago said to one of her pupils: "James, what good thing what great pleasure are you willing to give up as a sacrifice during," the Lenten season?" Jimmy meditated about ten seconds, and responded: "I think I'll give up going to Sunday school."

"Ah; mum," said a beggar to . . a lady who had just given him a dol-lar, "If it had not been for this, I'd Amoccasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels; restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where; no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well often index that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

They led him to a cushioned seat far in adas they were pure without.

While I sat there, lookin' all around upon th rich and great,
I kept thinkin' of the rich man and the beggar at his gate; How, by all but dogs forgotten, the poor beggar's form grew cold, And the angels bore his spirit to the mansions built of gold,

a head uplifted high.

To spurn the hungry from the door with naught to satisfy.

He that wants to go to Heaven must be like a little child.

To me the spirit world is tangible. It is not peopled with ghosts and specters, shadows and outlines of beings, but with persons and forms palpable to the apprehension. Its multitudes are veritable, its society natural, its language audible, its companionship real, its love distinct, its activities energetic, its life intelligent, its glory discernible. Its union is not that of sameness, but of variety brought into harmony by the great law of love; like notes, which, in themselves distinct and different, make, when combined, sweet music. Death will not level and annul those countless differences of mind and heart which make us individual here.-Heaven, in all the mode and manner of expression, will abound with personality. There will be choice and preference and degrees of affinity there. Each intellect will keep its natural bliss; each heart its elections. Groups there will be, and circles; faces known and unknown will pass us; acquaintance will thrive on intercourse, and love deepen

The Ideal. Every man has at times in his mind, the ideal of what he should be, but is not. This ideal may be high and complete, or it may be quite low and insufficient; yet in all men that really seek to improve, it is better than the actual character. Perhaps no one is so satisfied with himself that he never wishes to be wiser, better, and more holy. Man never falls so low that he can see nothing higher than himself. This ideal man which we project, as it were, out of ourselves, and seek to make it real—this wisdom, goodness and holiness, which we aim to transfer from our thoughts to our life—has an action more or less powerful on each man, rendering him dissatisfied with present-attainments, and restless unless he is becoming better. With some men it takes the rose out of the cheek, and forces them to wander a long pilgrimage of temptation before they reach the Delectable Mountains of tranquility, and find rest for the soul, under the tree of life. - Theodore Par-

Ayer's Ague Cure, For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise

when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all alike. It is an invaluable protection to immigrants and persons travelling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts. If taken occasionally or daily while exposed to the infection, that will be excreted from the system, and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity to ripen into disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than cure; and few will ever suffer from Intermittents if they avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver into healthy activity, and producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines fall.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For the relief and cure of all derangements in the stomach, liver, and bowels, They are a mild aperiont, and an excellent purgative. Being' purely vegetable, they contain no mercury or mineral whatever. Much serious sickness and serious sickness and serious sickness and serious sickness and for their protection and relief, when required. Long experience has proved them to be the saftest, surest, and best of all the Pills with which the market abounds. By their occasional use, the blood is purified, the corruptions of the system expelled, obstructions removed, and the whole machinery of life restored to its healthy activity. Internal organs which become clogged and sluggish are cleansed by dyer's Pills, and stimulated into action. Thus incipient disease is changed into health, the value of which change, when reckoned on the vast multitudes who enjoy it, can hardly be computed. Their sugar coating makes them pleasant to take, and preserves their virtues unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are ever fresh, and perfectly reliable. Although searching they are mild, and operate without disturbance to the constitution, or diet, or occupation.

action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear. For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge. For Suppression, a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach.
