Story.

NORMA AND I

BY T. J. CHAMBERS. "Blue were her eyes as the fairy flax, Her cheeks like the dawn of day, And her bosom white as the hawthorn buds That ope in the month of May."

Norma Raymond was my best friend, my constant companion, the sharer of my girlish joys, and the consoler of my girlish sorrows. She was seventeen years old, and as beautiful as a poet's dream. The verse I have quoted above describes her personal appearance perfectly, as far as it goes. In addition to the charms there enumerated, she had roguish, laughing lips, red as a cluster of scarlet phlox. and abundant auburn hair, that persisted in curling all over her head in bewitching, bewildering tangles. Her little figure was round and plump and graceful; her hands were soft and apering; and her feet-had she lived in those times, Cinderella would never have caught the Prince. Of course a girl with such attractions was not without admirers. Norma had lovers by the score, from Dr. Arnold, the greatest catch in the village, down to Sammy Jones, the sheemaker's apprentice. She treated them with the greatest impartiality; that is, when she was in a good humor she was bewitchingly gracious, and when she was in the sulks (and this latter mood was by no means uncommon) she snubbed them all most unmercifully. I do not think any of them succeeded in touching her tender, but willful heart. I was a year older than Norma, and not half as handsome. To be sure, my rustic admirer, Ben Brown, (romantic name!) declared that I was much the prettier of the two: but then his judgment was biased in my favor. I was tall, with a lithe and vigorous form, and a brilliant comolexion. My dark brown hair was long and thick, and my dusky eves were large and really beautiful. Altogether, I was passably good-looking, but not to be compared with my faultlessly beautiful friend. We lived in Elmville, a sleepy old village nestled in a little valley between the green hills. A little, winding river crept silently through the valley, along which grew some ancient, stately elms, from which the town took

Like most other villages of its class, Elmville was famous for gossipers and scandal-mongers. Each man knew his neighbor's business better than he did his own, and Mrs. A. was perfectly familiar with the doings of Mrs. B. or Mrs. C. Perhaps this was as good a state of affairs as any, as nobody was likely to be overlooked or forgotten. One June morning, I gathered a bouquet of royal red roses, and sallied across the one street which the village boasted, called in the Elmville Eagle, Main Street, to have a chat with my friend and confidante. I found her seated in the parlor, entertaining her elegant lover, young Doctor Arnold. "Oh, Maggie, I am so glad to see your 'potions and pills,' isn't it, doctor?" "Far better, I assure you, Miss laugh. Norma. It is almost equal, in its On the contrary, I have a better beneficial effects, to a sight of your opinion of her judgment now than surpassingly lovely face."

"Why not call a fellow a liar at once?" said the doctor, laughing, but evidently not very well pleased. "You girls play the very deuce with a fellow's feelings. You blush and smile and look as pretty as possible, and then, when a man gets in earnest, you laugh at him and call him a hypocrite. But I must bid you good-day, fair ladies; I have some important professional calls to make."

"Why, Norma Raymond," I said in astonishment, "you are certainly the strangest girl I ever saw. Here is Doctor Arnold, the most desirable young man to be found, ready to fall at your feet, and yet you scarcely give him a civil word. Any other girl would give her eyes to catch him."
"Would you?" asked Norma, quiet-

"I did not mean myself-I do not admire the young man," I replied. "Neither do I. Now, Maggie, dear, I want to tell you some good news. My brother Frank will be home from Europe in a few days, and a distant cousin, Herbert Raymond, is coming with him. You never saw either of them, did you? Well, Frank is very good-looking. I want you to like him for my sake; and Herbert is the handsomest man I ever saw. I suppose you think I am heartless, but I may as well tell you now that my cousin on some trifling errand, with a sunhas a very large place in my foolish heart." "Are you engaged?" "Well, no, we are not actually engaged, but we understand each other very well. I ought to have told you this before, but I wanted you to see confused look at the face of my late him and judge whether or not I had made a good choice."

"He ought to be a magnificent man to be worthy of you," I said, "How soon will they be here?" "Possibly in two or three days, in a week at the furthest. Now, Maggie, you may as well be prepared to lose your susceptible heart, for my brother is uncommonly handsome." At this moment a door opened, and Aunt Eliza Raymond entered. Aunt Eliza (as she was called by everybody,) was a remarkable woman. She was deaf and blind to a lamentable degree. She could scarcely distinguish one person from another, and as she was hard of hearing herself, she fancied every one else equally unfortunate, and so talked in disagreeably loud tones. "This is Maggie Lyon, I believe, she said. "I hope you are well?"

"Perfectly so, I thank you; are you well yourself?" I replied. "How am I since I fell? Why, child, I haven't had a fall since last winter, and I got over that entirely in a few weeks. I thought you knew about it." Norma laughed, and I was obliged

"I asked you if you were well?" I screamed in her ear. "Oh! excuse me, I can't hear very well sometimes. Yes, yes, my dear, l can't complain about my health. "Although the day is so warm, you look delightfully fresh and cool," continued, thinking to gain her good opinion by a compliment—for like other "maiden ladies of uncertain am astonished at you, Maggie Lyon.' Norma went into another fit of uncontrollable laughter, and it was some time before I could make Aunt Eliza understand what I really did say. She was greatly delighted with my opinion of her appearance, as I fancied she would be, and presently she got up and left the room, smiling on me most benignly. Norma and I chatted briskly for a good while. At lost I rose to depart. "You must come over again to-morrow," said Norma. "I want you to help me make some preparations for our expected guests."

I promised readily enough. I must own that I had a curiosity to see my friend's handsome brother. The next afternoon I ran over to Mr. Raymond's, intending to assist Norma in her "preparations." I was bare-headed; my hair was hanging loosely over my shoulders, and my face was flushed with exercise. Altogether I presented a very unladvlike appearance. I rushed unceremoniously into the parlor, expecting to find Norma alone. She was not there at all, however. Aunt Eliza sat in a huge rockingchair, fanning herself vigorously. "Why, Maggie, how do you do, my she said warmly. "Mr Raymond, this is our neighbor's daughter, Maggie Lyon; Maggie, this is my first cousin, Herbert Raymond." I turned my eyes upon the gentleman who came forward to shake hands with me, and blushed until my cheeks you; I have something particular to burned like fire. Mr. Raymond extended his white hand gracefully, while

Norma wrote to me often about her dear friend, Miss Lyon," he said in a low, musical voice. "She was en-"It is better for the health than thusiastic in her praises of you."

"Really, doctor, that is a very pretty compliment. How came you to think of anything so charming?"

Doctor Arnold blushed, and looked child, there isn't a cloud to be seen!" rather foolish. Some single a man's Liepested my question in a louder

At this moment, Mr. Raymond burst into a hearty laugh. I laughed also, although I felt myself in an awkward position. I ventured to take a good look at my friend's future husband, as he sat in the golden light of the declining sun. No wonder Norma loved him. He was by far the handsomest man I had ever seen. His eyes were a sunny blue, his waving hair soft and golden, and his full lips shaded by a yellow, silken beard. As my eyes rested on his face full of the admiration that I felt, I encountered his smiling, yet earnest gaze. In spite of myself, my eyes fell before his, and I felt the hot blood rush to the very roots of my hair. My hands trembled, and I felt a strange emotion at my heart. Was I in danger of falling in love with Norma's acknowledged suitor? I slipped out of the house as soon as possible, and hurried home. As I reached my own door, I heard the clatter of horses' hoofs, and looking around, I beheld Norma Raymond riding up the street with a strange gentleman-her brother, of course. He was very tall and dark and elegant looking, wholly unlike his fair-faced. beautiful sister.

Norma smiled and waved her hand and the gentleman bowed, but I ran into the house ere they had a chance to converse with me, intending to make myself more presentable. My evil genius must have been hovering near that evening. As I was hurrying toward a neighbor's house bonnet drawn close over my face, I caught my foot under one of the loose boards with which the street was paved, and stumbled into the arms of a passing gentleman. I recovered myself as soon as possible, and gave a Practical Jokes. The ancients used to indulge in practical jokes to a considerable extent. For instance, Thracians, at their drinking parties, sometimes played the game of hanging. They fixed a round noose to the bough of a tree. and placed underneath it a stone of such a shape that it would easily turn round when any one stood on it. Then they drew lots, and he who drew the lot took a sickle in his hand, stood on the stone, and put his neck into the halter. The stone was then kicked away; if he could cut himself down with his sickle, well and good; but if "It is in a rather dilapidated con- he was not quick enough, he was dition, indeed. cetious manner. A French auditor of accounts in the seventeenth century was a great practical joker all his life, and even played a trick after he had lost the power of enjoying it, for he left four candles to be carried at his funeral, which had not been burning fifteen minutes, before they went off as fire-

Steady Purposes. Often as we laugh over the quaint epitaph found on an old gravestone, "I was well, I wanted to be better, I took medicine, and I am here," we overlook its general applicability to the affairs of life. As with health. so with business; nine persons out of ten ignore the golden secret of content; they are constantly striving after something different from what they enjoy. We do not depreciate enterprise, but it is the habit of change that we protest against-the habit of shifting from one pursuit to another. There are thousands of almost penniless and disappointed old men, picking up a precarious living at the extremity of life, because they have, in the course of their existence, tried a hundred different things and abandoned all in turn simply because success was not instantaneous; to few men it is given to do more than one or two things well. There is scarcely a pursuit but if followed with singleness of purpose will wield a rich re-

Things Mixed. Some years ago, when the writer was a reporter upon an Eastern paper, it devolved upon him to write an account for the same edition of the presentation of a gold-headed cane to Rev. Dr. Mudge, the clergyman of the place, and the description of a patent hog-killing and sausage machine, which had been put in operation at the factory. Now what made Rev. Dr. Mudge mad was this: The inconsiderate buccaneer who made up the forms of the paper got the two locals mixed up in a frightful manner, and when we went to press something like this was the appalling result: "Several of the Rev. Dr. Mudge's friends called upon him yesterday, and after a brief conversation the unsuspicious hog was seized by the hind legs and slid along a beam until he reached the hot-water tank. His friends explained the object of their visit and presented him with a very handsome gold-headed butcher, who grabbed him by the tail, swung him around, slit his throat from ear to ear, and in less than a minute the carcass was in the water. Thereupon he came forward and said there were times when the feelings overpowered one, and for that reason he would not attempt to do more than thank those around him, for the manner in which such a huge animal was cut into fragments was simply astonishing. The doctor con-cluded his remarks when the machine seized him, and in less time than it takes to write it the hog was cut into fragments and worked up into delicious sausage. The occasion will long be remembered by the doctor's friends as one of the most delightful of their lives. The best piece can be procured for fifteen cents a pound, and we are sure that those who have sat so long under his ministry will rejoice that he has been treated so handsomely."

A Strange Story. The Carlinville correspondent of the Democrat relates the following story, the circumstances of which, can be vouched for by persons residing in the city. One of the most remarkable divorce cases on record has been begun and is to be tried at the August term of the Macoupin county circuit court. The parties have lived together for seventeen years, known to the world as husband and wife. The reputed husband now files a bill, alleging the so called marriage to have taken place in Macoupin county in 1855, and praying for a divorce on the ground that, the person to whom he was then formally married is not a woman, although previous to and at the time of said reputed marriage he was induced to believe the person aforesaid to be a woman. If the allegations of the bill and outside parties are true, the trial will show the extraordinary case of two men having lived together for this long period of time, in the character of husband and wife, an instance, in other words, in which anatural eunuch has been able to personate the female character, and as such to go through the solemn external forms of marriage, and then continue for many years to deceive neighbors, and even intimate friends, as to his real sex. The complainant alleges that his ignorance of the laws of this country he being a German, and the advice of supposed competent parties, prevented him from filing a bill for release long ago from this pseudo-marriage. As the parties have accumulated a considerable property, it will be a point of great interest for the court to decide upon its equitable division, in case of a dissolution of the curious copartnership.-

St. Louis Democrat, July 6th.

Business men against Greeley. The business men of the country, bankers, lawyers, merchants, manufacturers, and all others who are interested in a sound financial policy are distrustful of Horace Greeley. They know his whimsical notions on finance, and feel that if they are once reduced to practice, a serious derangement of business must follow. Hence their desire as a class, to see him defeated. They are satisfied with General Grant's policy. It has brought prosperity and a feeling of security to the country. It has brought gold down to $1.12; increased the value of our securities at home and abroad; made our credit in the markets of the world equal to any nation in Europe; it has developed our national resources to a wonderful degree; encouraged internal improvements; reduced the debt over $335,000,000, and removed the burdens of the people by lowering taxation more than one-half. For these substantial results they are in favor of General Grant's re-election, and will lend their influence to secure his triumph in November next.

Slander.

We cannot escape slander though we be "as chaste as ice; as pure as snow," yet it is a consolation to know that if slander springs into existence earthquakes. Whether they have it should console all who imagine dry land, it may fret and fling and make a frightful bother, but it cannot hurt you. You have only to keep still, and it will die off itself."

DEMOCRATIC-LIBERAL MISREP-RESENTATIONS.

It seems to be the forte of the Liberals and Democrats to deal in misrepresentations. They hope to make votes in one locality by representing in another place that "over in such and such a County everything is Greeleyized." We understand the Greeleyites are doing this heavy in Kalamazoo and Van Buren counties relative to Berrien County. They are telling and repeating that "over in Berrien County everything is going Greeley-that Allen Potter, the Greeley candidate for Congress, will carry had not gone to sthe County." Now these Kalamazoo sonal extremes. and Van Buren Liberals-Democrats. know, if they are posted, that they are telling that which is false. The truth is, that Buchanan alone will give a larger Republican majority for Capt.

The state of politics in Berrien County warrants us in predicting at least the usual Republican majority, notwithstanding the lying misrepresentations for effect by Greelevites in other Counties. There are but very few prominent Republicans, and no leading ones that have gone over to the Greeley ranks. These prominent ones are known by the people to be sore heads, and hence have lost all influence they ever had to induce the rank and file to follow them.

It is no hard matter to find for every Greeley Republican in Berrien a Grant Democrat. Thus the vote will be balanced. We have a goodly number of Democrats who will neither vote for Greeley or Grant, but will vote, if they vote at all, for O'Conor, which will largely add to the Republican majority. Any reasonably intelligent Liberal or Democrat knows. that there is not the ghost of a chance for the Greeley ticket in Berrien County. They also know that in otherwise representing, in other Counties, it is done only for effect, and without the shadow of foundation. Let true Republicans everywhere be assured that Berrien County will not be lacking in her duty and devotion to the principles of the Republican party, and that in November she will roll up her usual majority for the entire Republican nominees.

GREELEY SWINGING AROUND THE CIRCLE.

Greeley is taking the Andy Johnson plan of swinging around the circle, and making speeches. He is doing the Republican cause great service. In his speech the other day at Pittsburg he attempted to explain away his secession record. His position however as explained by himself is one that awakens the gravest fears if he should by any means 'succeed to the White House. We give below his language from his own paper, the New York Tribune of last Friday. There can be no misunder-standing his position in this Pittsburg speech when it is reported by his own reporter and printed in his own paper. He said:

"Now, fellow-citizens, it is not enough that those who fought against the Union should be prescribed; those of us who stood by it are equally denounced, if we do not happen to agree with them in our present politics. [Cheers.] Here stands one who is charged by them with being a secessionist. [Great laughter.] Could that be true, fellow-citizens?
Look the facts in the face. When Lincoln had been elected and this conspiracy for seces-sion began to advance, we Republicans were told by our own men and told still more by of your Republicanism, you must surrender your opposition to the extension of slavery or consent to a great civil war. This they said was the only alternative—bloodshed and devastation over the whole country, or you shall surrender the principles on which you have just carried the election. I was one of those who said, 'No, there is no such alternative.

clares that if to-day the Nation was imperiled, he would trust to a vote of the Southern people rather than the chances of a civil war. That is, Greeley would, if there was danger of disto the South, and if they said separate. he would not attempt to force them to preserve the Nation intact by using the army and navy. This is simply saying to the South, and the leaders in the recent rebellion, "so soon as you can manufacture a Southern sentiment in favor of secession, and can demonstrate such sentiment by a majority vote of the people of the South, of any State or number of States, if I am elected President, I will not oppose you by force of arms, but will let you go in peace." We ask every candid and union-loving citizen of any party, Do you want to risk the destinies of this Republic in the hands of a man declaring such sentiments? We know your better judgment will respond, "we do not." Then vote for the tried and true patriot, Gen. Grant, who led our armies to victory, and demonstrated by the results of war the fallacy of the secession doctrine in any form whatever.

THE RESULT.

The bitter personal contest forced into the present campaign by the Greelevites, can have but one legitimate result, and that result will be the development of a strong sympathy for and increased support of Grant. Sumner, Schurz and Trumbull, disappointed Republicans, commenced the personal onslaught in the Senate early in the last session of Congress, and Blair and others, together with the sold-out Democracy, have taken the same personal course. The result thus far, at every step, has been to make firmer the friends of Grant as well as create great sympathy for him even in the ranks of the Democracy itself. There are many true, reasoning and consistent persons in the Democracy, who, in view of the unwarranted, and unjustifiable attacks made on Grant's administration, sympathize with him and will support him in preference to Greeley. The same person would never have even thought of voting for Grant, if his opponents had not gone to such unheard of per-

Certain courses of conduct produce certain results. Persecution or false representation has always, soon or late, resulted in sympathy for the individual or society so outraged. In Burrows and the Presidential, State | the present campaign against Grant and County ticket, than the entire this inevitable result is being repro-Liberal vote in the whole County will amount to. Our Kalamazoo and Van to clearly discern the certain result. The opposition could not, if they had tried, hit on a more certain course to create aid and sympathy for the administration. The saying seems most appropriate in the present contest that: "Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad." The opposition to Grant, especially the sore-headed, Liberal element, are beside themselves with madness, and in their hate of the Republican party and its principles to which they have proved themselves traitors, they go to such extremes of personal abuse, and give currency to so many misrepresentations and falsehoods as to defeat the very object they have in view. So many of these falsehoods have been exposed that the people have but little confidence any more in any charge against Grant and the Republican party which emanates from the opposition.

The candid and earnest advocacy of Republicanism by the Republican press, and the bitter recklessness of the opposition speeches and press, will conspire to give Grant and Wilson such a majority, in November, as shall render the Liberal-Greeley and the sold-out Democratic party heartily ashamed of themselves; and such a lesson will be taught them as we trust will forever in the future banish bitter personalities from political contests.

AT WORK.

There is no candidate in the State that we know of on either ticket that is doing the campaign work that our candidate for Congress, Capt. J. C. Burrows, is doing. He has been constantly speaking since the early days of the canvass, long before his nomination, in the various cities and villages throughout the State. He makes from five to ten-speeches-every week. The Greeley-Liberal-Democrats have -been made often to feel the force of his eloquence to their discomfiture. We take the following, out of the flattering notices given our gallant nominee, by correspondents and the press of the State:

The Bay City Journal says: "The Republican rally last evening, notwithstanding the heavy rain, was one of the grand est and largest that ever took place in this city, and the telling speech of Capt. J. G. Burrows on the occasion, one of the happiest efforts ever listened to. As a public speaker he has few equals. He is a sharp, pungent and argumentative speaker, and carried the audience right along with him, by an irresistible power. He spoke for nearly two hours, but in such a emed scarcely half an hour."

A correspondent of the Detroit Post from Owosso writes: Capt. Burrows spoke two hours and a half. He has always been a favorite here, and his coming was anticipated as the "treat of the campaign."

We feel a sincore and altogether justifiable pride in that gallant soldier and true Republican, and shall rejoice to see his name added to the list of the loyal representatives of Mich-igan in the Congress of the United States. igan in the Congress of the United States. His untiring energy, his unswerving fidelity to the principles of Republicanism, together with his pleasing abilities as a speaker, will make him a power for good in the National councils. It would be simpossible to convey, within the limits of a newspaper paragraph, any adequate idea of the crushing array of facts and figures, the rapid yet skillful portrayal of the present status of the political parties, the keen analysis, the trenchant sarcasm, the simple and resistless eloquence, which combined to make this address one which will long be femmembered in Owosso as most effective, and to those who listened to it, thoroughly enjoyable.

Ivy Mountain, and said to be the one thousand feet. Here we have distinct views of portions of three States with the naked eye. The Catskill Mountains, in the State of New York, can be plainly seen in a clear day. In Massachusetts the most prominent are Mount Tom, on the banks of the Connecticut River, and Mount Washington, in the southwest corner of the State. It was between this mountain and the New York State line to which duelists formerly resorted, that being called neutral ground, because so isolated, not being in the jurisdiction of any State. The

to be remembered, on account of the long continued heat; and uniting with this the copious showers which have fallen every few days, it has produced a vegetation nearly equal to the tropical regions in its luxuriant growth. The grass crop, which the fore part of the season was less promising than that of last year, has been nearly, if not quite, as good as the average yield. The dubious look of this crop in the spring induced many farmers to plow up parts of their meadows, and sow corn, the growth of which has never been equaled here. The varieties sown were Southern and Western. A good many farmers had to sell their stock last fall because they had not enough to winter them on, and now they want to buy, but they are not to be found, therefore stock is high. The tobacco crop is the largest and best ever raised here I believe, yielding $1,000 or more an acre in some instances. As I have nothing to do with the weed, I do not particularly rejoice over its abundance. Fruit of almost all kinds has been unusually abundant. Apples are plenty throughout the State. The top of Charter Oak, Jr., which was transplanted to the park last year, was killed by the severity of the winter, but has sprouted again from the root. The political horizon is pretty clear here I think. Horace is a "pill," or as the Democrats have it here, "a dose of Castor Oil" that is pretty hard to go down. Perhaps it would be well if it would, as it is a dose of physic that the Democratic party would not recover from right away. There are some Democrats here who say they feel they are sick, and must take the Republican campaign opened here on the 11th inst., with great enthusiasm. Speeches were made by speech at Cooper Institute, N. Y., a short time since, in which he refuted the many slanderous tales which have been in circulation about President Grant, proving them to be foundationless, as all the many accusations are which are being circulated by the dying "Crreeleyites." Yours, with respect, Letter from Oregon.

CHIMPANZEE, Berrien co., Mich., Sept. 20, 1872. }
RECORD:—I have a family steed.

Let the horse go to grass." He went. By this incident was led into the practical study of Entomology, that is to say, that department of the same which relates to hornets, as the sequel will show.

My health and pleasure suggested a drive. I sent my young man for the horse, but he declined to be captured. I went myself, trusting that he would submit to the power of loving kindness. I found him among gay equine companions, and he the gayest of them all. I offered him gentle pantomine and kind words, but they were lost to his eye and car. SUNDAY CROQUET.—An old subscriper of the RECORD suggests the idea that some of our croquet lovers would lend a better influence in Society if they would not play quite so much on Sunday. We are decidedly of the opinion that he is more than half right.

RAIN-THUNDER STORM. - We have not for the last two or three years had such a rain and thunder storm as we had on Sunday night. For an hour or more the heavens appeared like one solid glare of lightning, and the incessant roll of thunder, with deafening peal after peal, made the very earth tremble.

APPLES.-Mr. James Smith, of Oronoko Township, sent some very fine specimens of apples to the RECORD office of the Pumpkin Sweet variety. Mr. Smith has earned a reputation for raising as fine apples as any one in the county.

DANCE.—The Dancing Club had their first dance in Collins & Weaver's Hall on last Friday night. There was a good attendance and a pleasant time enjoyed by all.

ADVERTISE .- It is hard to say in fact when it is the best time to advertise. Constant advertising is the best plan, so considered by those who adopt it. But if there is a time when advertising will bring a sure and quick return, it is doubtless at the present time of the year.

For bargains in clothing, or boots and shoes, go to Chamberlain & Churchill's, Three Oaks.

NEW JAIL .- The new Calaboose and Engine House is finished. The job has been accepted by the Board, and is pronounced to be first class. It does credit to the contractors.

PEACHES. — Early peaches have about played out. No one will complain of the peach crop in this county this year.

POTATOES .- It is the opinion of many of our produce dealers that potatoes will be selling at a high price before many months. The crop of late potatoes is not a success generally. The potatoes however, which we | siderable damage. see in our market are large and healthy looking potatoes.

SUBSCRIBE for the RECORD. cent. is added for collection.

We notice a Mr. Jos. Marshall, of Mainville, Ill., writes a communication which was recently published in the Western Rural, of Chicago, denouncing the Zinc Collar Pad as a perfect humbug. Now, one thing we know, either the said Marshall wilfully misrepresented the Zinc Pad in the interest of something else, or he did not follow the directions of the Zinc Collar Pad Co, in the use of the pads. They have been used ever since their introduction by many of our citizens and best horsemen, and in no case, where directions have been followed, have they failed to cure sore necked horses and to give perfect satisfaction. The probabilities are, that this Mr. Marshall, of Ill., failed to cover his pads and protect them from the hot rays of an Illinois' summer sun. The result was they became heated and caused the horses necks to become sore. We can imagine no other means by which they could possibly have produced the results claimed by the correspondent of the Western Rural. In fact these Pads were used and thoroughly tested right here at home before their extensive manufacture was ever determined upon. If there is any patent article, in the entire United States, that is no humbug we believe and know that article is the Zinc Collar Pad. Moreover, the scores of testimonials that we have seen written in the original hands of their authors, from all parts of the country—from California to Maine, and from Canada to Louisiana, speak in the highest terms of the Zinc Collar Pad being all that its manufacturers claim for it. These testimonials could not fail to satisfy the most doubting. It is but justice Pad Co. is composed of honorable men and that Mr. Richards, its superintendent, (who is also a stockholder,) has been well known by us and this community for many years, and is no man to be engaged in the manufacture of any humbug. We wish it distinctly understood that this notice is not written for pay nor in any way at the instigation of any one connected with the Zinc Collar Pad Co., but as an act of simple justice to worthy gentlemen, who are engaged in the manufacture of a valuable and useful article.

WHEAT .- Our millers tell us that there is a great difference in the quality of wheat brought to market this vear. Some is shrunken, some injured by the fly, and some musty and stricken with rust. This explanation is due us, as many bring inferior wheat to market, expecting to receive therefor the prices found in our market re-Wheat must be quoted this year with a big margin.

MEAT MARKETS .- The people of the Village will no doubt be supplied with nice fresh meat, since we have so many meat markets. Farmers having beef cattle to sell, or fatted sheep, &c., will find a good market here at SALT, SALT, at H. H. Kinyon's by the Pound or Barrel as cheap as any where in Berrien County, and war-ranted to be of the very best quality.

STATE FAIR .- The State Fair at Kalamazoo was not a success this year, as compared with former years. We presume the Society were afraid of a little expense, and desired gratuitous advertising. The Grand Rapids Union Fair thought otherwise. They were willing to use the State press and pay therefor. Record, RETIRES .- Mr. J. D. Ross, who has long been known as one of our most active business men, after a long and successful business career, retires from active duties to enjoy the fruits of his labors for the remainder of his days. Mr. R. has been associated with the interests of Buchanan and its business since the year 1847, and no man in our village has taken a deeper interest in its prosperity than he. For many years he was engaged in mercantile business, and for a number of years past was actively connected with the banking business, under the firm name of Ross & Fulton. but latterly with the house of Ross & Son. And now, having accumulated an ample competency by strict integrity and constant attention to business, and upon the organization of the First National Bank of Buchanan, (successor to Ross & Son) he withdraws from the cares and perplexities of business to enjoy in peace the remainder of his life. The hosts of friends that he has made, during a long residence in Buchanan, most ardently wish that his days may yet be many and full of peace and enjoyment.

The County Press-

THE NILES Republican says: Cholwell Knox, Esq., who was nominated by the Wood Chuck and Dolly Varden Convention on Monday for Circuit Court Commissioner, declines to permit the use of his name for this office. The very little sympathy, he has with this Greeley business is brought to the surface only after a terrible strain of conscience and a fearful loss of self-respect; but the idea of being a candidate with such a make-up as this, is too much for the sensitive mind of Mr. Knox .- An event in local Church circles was the re-appearance in the Presbyterian pulpit on Sunday last, after an absence of fifteen years, of the former Pastor, Rev. Alfred Bryant, now of Lansing. Mr. B. was here from 1848 to 1863, and has many very warm friends in all denominations and circles of society.-Important suit. On Thursday last Marshal Chambers arrested at Jackson, and brought to this City, Mr. William Crofoot, conductor of the freight train that collided with the accommodation passenger train on the 8th inst., five miles west of this place. Mr. Crofoot was charged with 'attempting to kill and murder Frank Dolan," conductor of the passenger train. His preliminary examination took place on Friday and Saturday last before Esq. Alward, O. W. Coolidge, Prosecuting Attorney, and J. B. Fitzgerald, Esq., appearing for the State, and Cholwell Knox, Esq., for the defense. The trial resulted in binding over the accused for trial at the next term of the Circuit Court. It appeared in evidence, we believe, that Crofoot had orders at Galien to run to Niles if he could get here before the time of the accommodation. Arriving at Buchanan, and not having time to reach Niles as before stated, he receipted for a dispatch informing him that all previous orders had been revoked. This order left him no right to leave Buchanan, as the passenger train west was due there in five minutes. But for some reason he motioned the engineer to "pull out," which order was obeyed by the engineer, though in plain violation of the standing printed orders requiring both the conductor and engineer to see, read and receipt for every order.

The train started, and the conductor walked over his long train from the caboose to the engine and showed the order to the engineer. The latter saw that they were where they did not belong, and after a minute's parley he shut off steam and reversed his engine. But alas, too late. In an instant the collision occurred. We take it for granted that no person believes that young Crofoot was guilty of intentional wrong, but that there was gross negligence somewhere there can be no doubt. It is understood that Crofoot was arrested at the instance of some of the managing officials of the Central Company, and the traveling community will be glad to see, not so much a prosecution of this partic-Castoria - a substitute for Castor Oil ular conductor, but a thorough and searching investigation into the general running management of railroad trains. If the violation of well known and necessary rules is knowingly permitted and thus virtually sanctioned by the managers, they are more crim-.

in wanting to see brought to the surface. Let these be ascertained. THE NILES Democrat says

Priest, while taking his brother, who was visiting him, around in his buggy, drove into Barron Lake to water his horse. Suddenly the horse fell down and the buggy tipped over, giving the two gentlemen barely time to jump out and escape. The horse being entangled in the harness and shafts, was drowned. It was an exceedingly valuable one, and the loss is much regretted by Mr. Priest who had become greatly attached to him.—Not a flag floats from a Democratic or Liberal Republican residence in this city .--The basket factory in this city is now turning out from three hundred to five hundred half bushel and bushel baskets per day.

THE ST. JOSEPH Traveler says: It was expected that Vice President Colfax would have been here on Monday last on a trip along this shore of Lake Michigan. Many people were in readiness to show him becoming respect, but when it was nearly time for his train to arrive it was learned that he was detained at home by illness in his family. His visit will occur next Thursday. THE ST. JOSEPH Herald says: At seven P. M., on Wednesday, a fire broke out in the office of Pew's Mill at the end of the bridge. It was consumed with its contents, and 30,-000 feet of lumber. The loss was $4,000, with $500 insurance. The wind was blowing a gale from the south-west, and the fire for a time threatened the mill, the lumber yard and the bridge. The fire companies of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph were promptly on hand and saved the mill and other property.-Rev. William Lusk, the eloquent, and popular Rector of the Episcopal Church, in Niles, visited St. Joseph and officiated both in St. Joseph and Benton Harbor at the Episcopal services, on Sunday last. In this connection we may say that the Episcopal church in St. Joseph is in a very flourishing condition, and we hope soon to be able to announce their possession and occupation of a seautiful church, besides other important church property.-The Merchant's Union Express Co. have shipped from St, Joseph 17,101 packages of peaches up to Sept. 11th.

THE BENTON HARBOR Palladium says:

Franklin Morgan, a man employed n Williams' mill, in this town, was instantly killed this forenoon by falling upon the saw which cut him completely in two. He was holding a log with a cant hook for the setter to drive in his dog, when his foot slipped off the end of the carriage, and the weight of the log threw him upon the saw.-Wm. Aldrich, of this township was arrested last Tuesday evening, a cut was inflicted on the woman's hip. | Pork (live) ... Aldrich was brought before G. W. Toles, Esq., and sent up for six months. He and his wife are both addicted to drinking, and quarrel in proportion.—One day last week the steamer Magnolia, in attempting to pass under the bridge, came in contact with the draw, and lost one of her wheel houses and most of the floats on one wheel.—Last Tuesday night a Mrs. Rider, who has lived in this village in past years, and who has been staying hereabouts of late, was arrested on a charge of grand larceny in entering the house of Mrs. W. T. Mills, and purloining a watch and ring, and perhaps some other moveables. The property was found and she was held to bail in $500 for her

"How To Go West." This is an enquiry which every one should have truthfully answered before he starts on his journey, and a little care taken in examination of Routes will in many cases save much trouble, time and money. The "C., B. & Q. R. R.," running from Chicago through Galesburg to Burlington, has achieved a splendid reputation in the last two years as the leading Passenger Route to the west. At Burlington it connects with the great Burlington Route which runs direct through Southern Iowa to Nebraska and Kansas, with close connections to California and the Territories; and passengers starting from Berrien County, on their way westward, cannot do better than to take the C. B. &. Q. and Burlington Route.

This Line has published a pamphlet called "How to go West," which contains much valuable information; a large correct map of the Great West, which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the General Passenger Agent B. & M. R. R. Burlington, Iowa.

INECARBITTERS

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whisky, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughis, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Indammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the ofsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an inducace that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Blious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or In

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Sattraheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Bolls, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erystpelas, Itch, Scuris, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Rep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful Thousands proclaim Vinegar Birters the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual on the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monaters of disease. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminities will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Typesetters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of Waller's Vinegar Birtrees twice a week.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during the summer and autumn, and Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these as in all other constitu-tional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the mos obstinate and intractable cases. obstinate and intractable cases.

shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tabercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The properties of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudoride, Alterative, and Anti-Billous.

The Aperient and mild Laxative properties of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters are the best of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters are the best safe-guard in cases of cruptions and malignant fevers. Their balsamic, healing, and soothing properties protect the humors of the fauces. Their Sedative properties allay pain in the nervous system, stomach, and bowels, from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, etc.

Their Counter-Irritant influence extends throughout the system. Their Anti-Billous properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the billary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents, for the cure of Billous Fever, Fever and Ague, etc.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with Vinegar Bitters. No epidemic can take holl if a system thus fore-armed. The liver, the stomaca, the bowels, the kidneys, and the nerves are rendered disease-proof by this great invigorant.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half 'ine-glassful. Eat good nourishing food, such as beefstables, and take out-door exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit.

in that dark and stormy hour, Fearful ones awaked their Lord, Jesus by his sovereign power, Usland the tempest with a word. the life's dark and restless ocean, the life's dark and restless ocean, the billows' wild commotion, Trembling soul, your Lord is there; the will make you still his care.

Jesus knows your silent weeping,
When before His throne you bow:
Never, never is He sleeping,
Where He reigns in glory now.
If the world is dark before thee—
If the billows, rolling o'er thee,

Victory over the Fear of Death. In regard to death, I do not recoleet a single-instance in which there was expressed, by the early Christains, cny uncertainty, or any other feeling than that of exhibaration and ecstasy. But that is not the way that Christains look at death now-a-days. Our sense of Jesus Christ, and the love which we have for him, is not so large as to create the ecstatic feeling, "It is better to depart and be with Christ than to live." We do not often say, "I am in a strait betwixt two-living and dying." There is no strait about it. We scarcely feel so for ourselves, and we certainly do not feel for others. Even when persons are old, we feel as though it were natural and proper that we should mourn their dying. But why should we bemoan their death, since they have broken through into heaven? When persons are crumpled un with rheumatism, and are dyspeptic, and are in purgatorial conditions of life, we feel that it is such a pity to have them die! Our heaven must be very barren to our imagination. Really, is manhood here of such a pattern that we can be content to be no bigger and no better than we are?

Is the food that we eat here such that we have no appetite for angels' food? Are our social connections such that we do not imagine a more blessed state

tion? Above all, are we in such a transcendent atmosphere of divine affect-no need to go up into the very presence of the Father? How poor our heaven is! How little it draws us! How little there is. that consoles us in the death of those whom we love? We put away our children in death, as one would hold his children out of a castle window at night and let them drop. We know not where, on what rocks, or into what raging wave, they fall. When 1872. our children die, we drop them into the unknown, shuddering with fear. We know that they go out from us, and we stand and pity and wonder. If we should receive news that a hundred thousand pounds had been left them by some one dying, we should be thrown into an ecstasy of rejoicing; but when they have gone home to God we stand and mourn and pine, and wonder at "the mystery of Providence." The mystery of Providence to me, is, that when we are born, if God loves us, as he does through Jesus Christ, he lets us stay away from him so long. Dying is more desirable than living, to Christain faith.

At any rate, while we are attempting to live a Christain life, under the influence of our passions and in the midst of provocations, and while we are attempting to exhibit the power of Christain faith in our labor for the reformation of men and their salvation, there should be an exhibition of what will strike the imagination of men more powerfully than anything else— that is, a victory over the fear of death, and a triumphant way of looking at death. There should a light come out of dying, so that its dark places should all be gone, and the valley and shadow of death should be as the valley of Temple—full of nightingales and flowers and beauty. This would be a conception of the Christain faith which would carry all before it, and lead men everywhere to say, "Let me die the death of the righteous."—H. W. Beecher.

Let Us have Faith.

"Encouraged by the few who be-lieve in Him through all!" Blessed be faith! I know I have been believed into every good thing I have ever done or been in this world. I have such faith in faith that I am almost persuaded a politician might be believed into the kingdom of Heaven, or a mediocre poet into a genins. I am sure many a righteous man has been suspected into a rasgal.

Did not a dear and gentle friend of mine confess that if he had remained much longer in the employ of a certain Christain person (God save the mark)! of a sneaking, suspicious hature, he would have taken incontinently to picking pockets?

A fig for the man who has "never been deceived;" and the woman who knows from the beginning the plot of a novel... This is the crowning sin of imposture—that it lessens men's faith in their fellow men.

Blessed, I say, be faith; for by it shall the world be saved.—The Old Cabinet, in Scribner's for September.

The Earlier the Easier.

An old man took a child on his knee, and talked to him about Jesus, and told him to seek the Savior now, and pray to him and love him. The child knew that the old man himself was not a Christian, and felt surpris-ed. Then he looked up into the old man's face, and said, "But why don't you seek God?" The old man was affected by the question, and replied, "Ah, my dear that I fear I shall never be able.".

child, I neglected to do so when I was young, and now my heart is so hard Ah! my reader, believe him! "Today, if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts." It will be more difficult to hear to-morrow. And weeks, and months, and years hence, even could you be sure of them, how high and strong a barrier, will gradually be rising between you and Christ! "They that seek me early shall find

ZINC COLLAR PAD CO., Buchanan, Mich.,

NEW AND USEFUL PATENT ZINC COLLAR PAD, That has given such Universal Satisfaction Thousands that have Used them since their introduction in April, 1870.

Having, in every instance, produced a perfect cure in the worse cases of sore neck. The medicinal and cooling properties, with the advantage of always having a perfect, smooth surface, is a guarantee against chafing, and will in all cases cure the most irritated sore necks, as hundreds will testify that have given them a trial. All we sak of the most scrupulous is to give our Zinc Collar Pad a fair trial, as we feel confident in warranting them to do all we claim, and give satisfaction.

WHAT WE CLAIM. First. Is the chemical action of the Zinc, with the acid and saline constituents of moist sores, resulting in an astringent, acting speedily on the edges of the wound, and by its smooth surface and cooling tendency, quickly an astringent, acting specifiy on the edges of the wound, and by its smooth surface and cooling tondency, quickly, produces a cire.

Second. It prevents, in all cases, the hame straps coming in contact with the neck, or the hame from contracting the top of the collar, and thereby pinching the cords of the neck, and is the only Pad made that will not wear the hair on the neck.

There. With the use of them you can work a rawnecked horse every day, and cure the worst cases in from six to ton days, as has been done in many cases during the last season.

FOURTH. It is the most durable Pad ever made. We doem it unnecessary to add other advantages, or even to add the numerous testimonials we have received during the short use of our Zinc Pad, and only ask that it may have a fair trial, feeling full confidence in the success of the goods.

**Em Zinc Pad must be protected from the sun by being covered over their op with either cloth or leather, in extreme hot days, as it will, in such days, become heated in the sun, but will always Exercised.

"Phunygrams."

Fruitless labor in the Good Cause.

A Meriden, Ct., man, returning from the "club," a few nights ago, decidedly over got into the wrong house and had just pulled off his books preparatory to seeking his bed, when the proprietor appeared, and with some difficulty conducted him home. When they arrived the inebriated individual was still so befogged that he insisted that his friend, (who by the way is a temperance man,) should be put to bed; assured him that he would never say anything about his being in-tos-ti-ca-ted;" pointed out to him the evils of intemperance, depicted the sorrow of his wife if she should ever know of his condition; begged of him never to touch another drop.

of liquor, and even went so far as to produce a bill for goods from one of our merchants, which, he insisted was a temperance pledge, and with tears urged his friend to sign it, promising to stand by him through "thick and thin," if he would do so. It is needless to say that the temperance man didn't "sign."

In a Pennsylvania town there was an eccentric clergyman named Ross. He was about taking a collection for some especial object, and had pleaded warmly in its behalf. "My brethren," he said, "I want you to give liberally to night-none of your pennies or five-cent pieces, but let everyone give a quarter, and, to set you a good example, I will give the first myself," dropping a twenty-five cent piece in the basket: After the collection was taken he lifted up the basket, looked them over confully and then reed them over carefully, and then remarked, "I see my quarter is the only one here, so I shall take it back again," which he did, and put it in his pocket with evident disgust at their meanness.

An exchange in another city, tells of a well known professional gentleman who had not seen his son for a long period of time, owing to the fact that the latter retired to bed before the former returned home, while the father always left in the morning before the son got out of bed. One morning the mother managed to get father and son together at the breakfast table, and by way of a joke, remarked: "Son, let me introduce you to your father." "How do you do father," said the hopeful; "I don't remember ever to have met you before, but I have heard ma speak of you."

A New Orleans mother was recently questioning her little girl in geography as follows: "Who first went through the Straits of Magellan?" Daisy quickly answered: "Magellan, with his squadron." "What do you understand by his squadron, Daisy?" The question was not in the book but Daisy was ready for the book, but Daisy was ready for the emergency. "Oh! I know. It's one of those women that ain't quite white."

A small darkey with an arm-ful of eight-day old pups, accested a gentleman on Pine street, a few days ago, with the query, "Want any pups dis mornin'?" "What are they, Greeley or Grant pups?" At a venture the young financier responded, "Greeley." "Don't want 'em." A day or two later the boy made another at tempt, and was asked the same ques-tion, to which he replied," "Grant tion, to which he replied," "Grant pups." "Why, you little raseal, didn't you offer the same pups to me a few days ago as Greeley pups?" "Dasso, but dey's got their eyes open since." St. Louis Globe.

A canvasser for the "Life of Horace Greeley" importuned 2 St. Louis man to purchase a copy, which he declined to do; when the following dialogue ensued: "Are you not a Democrat." Yes, I am "Will you not vote for Greeley?" "Yes, I think I will." "Then why not buy this book?" "Because if I should read his life I am afraid I would change my mind and refuse to vote for the old cuss!"
