WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 14, 1872.

AT CONFLAGRATION.—BOSTON IN ASHES.

To give elsewhere some of the particulars concerning the great fire in Boston. It is a terrible calamity which has visited this once beautiful city. This is the first that Boston has had since 1820, such a fire was used in the construction of buildings, and in the manner of their fire department, and in the facilities employed for extinguishing flames, that it was almost impossible for a fire of considerable extent to occur in the city. How futile all human agencies are in emergencies of this kind, has been sufficiently demonstrated by the Chicago and Boston fires. There are many things for which the great city is noted, of great interest to the people, and the loss of which will be overlooked in nearly every estimate that is made of the damage resulting from the fire. Not only Boston a great and important city, containing a population of a vast amount of wealth, and of a finance as to be designated as "the City of the Universe," but it is also noted in its libraries and museums, such that it is of incalculable value, of a historical, literary and scientific nature. Here is located the great Harvard University, and Boston has well sustained the reputation of being the leading city of intelligence and refinement, and retains the proud title of "The Athens of America."

BOSTON WILL DOUBTLESS RECEIVE SYMPATHY AND AID, NOT ONLY FROM ALL PARTS OF THIS COUNTRY, BUT FROM COUNTRIES ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE GREAT WATERS.

To trust the same will be said of Boston that is now said of Chicago—that more beautiful city will soon be built upon its ashes, and in regard to appearance and greatness, the development of business energy and enterprise, this city will be "perfected through suffering."

HOW A PRESIDENT IS ELECTED.

It is evident that many, perhaps a majority of the voters, do not know that they do not cast their ballots directly for the President and Vice President at our quadrennial November election. We propose in this article to state just how Presidents are elected, and how the present method is in opposition to the original design of the framers of our Constitution.

Each State votes for a number of men called "electors." The number of electors each State is entitled to equals the number of Senators and Representatives it has in Congress. Electors are chosen by a plurality of votes. If, for instance, there are three sets of electors in any State, those receiving the largest number of votes are chosen. But a candidate for President must have a majority of the electoral votes. If there are three candidates for President, and none of them receive a majority of the votes cast in the electoral college there is no choice, and the election goes to the House of Representatives.

The Representatives vote by States, and each State has but one vote, equal to the number of Rhode Island or Delaware is the same as that of Pennsylvania or New York. A candidate to be elected must receive a majority of all the States, or nineteen States. If the Representatives from each State are divided equally the vote of the State is not cast, and, therefore, is lost. In law, these electors may designate whom they please to be President, whether he be a member of the victorious party, and a choice of its constituents or not, but, in practice have always elected the man whom the successful party had previously designated in national convention.

Now the intention of "our fathers," according to our best Constitutional writers, did not contemplate caucuses or conventions, but that the ultimate choice of President should be left entirely to the electors acting independently, and without regard to the preference of the people who elected them. The object was to take the choice of President out of the hands of the people and to place it in the hands of a "disinterested, independent, select body of citizens," that in order to guard against popular caprice, faction, intrigue and corruption, it was thought best to compel them to delegate their power to a number of their wisest counselors, and abide their better judgment."

This was evidently the conviction of those who stood most prominent in this government at the time of the adoption of the Constitution, for as late as 1787 full confidence was not had in the general intelligence and intelligence of the common people. It is very natural that the earlier settlers who managed the affairs of this country should love to surround themselves with something of pomp and borrowed majesty, and who loved to explain the significance of their ancestral heraldry, and the spirit of feud. It was with this feeling that they had endeavored in their native country to cause them to distrust the wisdom of the common people, and to not favor submitting matters of such grave national interest to their decision, but thought the safety of the country demanded a quadrennial parliament of aristocrats—a Federal Senate to whom would be intrusted the selection of the Chief Magistracy of the nation. The original purpose of this provision has utterly failed, and the plan adopted is not a very plain and simple method of expressing the popular will.

DEATH OF GEN. MEADE.

Major General George G. Meade died in Philadelphia, Wednesday evening, Nov. 6th. He was born in Spain. Graduated at West Point in 1835. He distinguished himself in the battles of Palo Alto and Monterrey, and is the hero of Gettysburg. He has a high record among the true and able soldiers of the nation.

CHOLERA.

The Atlantic cable admonishes us to prepare for the possible advent of the cholera in the United States. The history of the extent to which this disease is prevailing in some countries, and the rapidity with which it is now spreading, should teach us the importance of at once using every means to avert any danger which may result from its appearance in this country, and to commence preparations to control this dreaded disease, so far as it is possible by human agencies.

Over desert, plain, city and river, this "unwelcome guest has marched from Asia and Africa to Constantinople, thence through the countries of the Lower Danube. Not long since we heard of his visitation at St. Petersburg, and then at Moscow and more recently simultaneously in Eastern Prussia and Hungary. This proves how rapid are his marches, and as has been proved, the ocean is no barrier to his approaches. We expect to hear next that he has reached Paris and London, where he may linger until spring, or perhaps, cross to Halifax and New York at once and spread with the swiftness of the wind over the whole country. The danger may as yet be remote. An ounce of prevention is always worth a pound of cure, and it is particularly wise at this time that all slums and dens of filth, all marshes and stagnant pools, should be properly cared for, as cleanliness is one of the surest preventatives against contagion.

Our country is, perhaps, as free as a majority from all miasmatic agencies, and as likely to escape when any epidemic is on its way through the country, yet in nearly every township and neighborhood there are places that produce malaria, and the danger should be removed where possible, or abated by the use of some neutralizing substance and disinfectants. The towns and cities are not all free from these, notwithstanding the sanitary regulations and boards of health. This is a matter in which we all have a common interest, and in guarding our own welfare promote the safety and security of others, for the ghastly pest, cholera, like similar contagions, is impartial, and visits like the huts of the paupers and the palaces of kings.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Greeley's majority in Maryland, according to latest returns, falls a little below 2,000.

Grant's majority in the electoral vote is over 200.

The Michigan Senate will probably be unamiguously Republican. One Senator from Macomb County still in doubt. In the lower House there will be perhaps half a dozen Democrats.

In the Philadelphia Press, Col. Forney speaks as follows: "Gen. Grant stands before the country with the seal of approbation stamped upon his official and personal career. He has a great future before him, and will, we believe, be true to it. However politicians may harp at his unskillfulness or lack of judgment in the management of purely party affairs, the people have confidence in him. His second term will be better than his first; and when he quits his office, and resigns the great powers that have been so generously conferred upon him, it will be with the plaudits of the entire country."

Full returns from the elections show results that are in some cases fairly astonishing. Delaware Republican, Kentucky and Maryland, which gave such large Democratic majorities in 1868, almost revolutionized. One hundred and twenty-five thousand majority in Pennsylvania! Iowa between fifty and sixty thousand. New York gave Republican, and Republican Mayor elected in New York City. New Jersey sixteen thousand majority, with six Republican Congressmen elected. Jackson County, in this State, the home of Austin Blair, heavy Republican! The popular vote for Grant is over six hundred thousand.

The Detroit Free Press says that the election of Gen. Grant was no "entirely unlooked for," and acknowledges that the Democratic orators and party organs deliberately lied to their followers about the prospects of the campaign, and put forth estimates which they knew to be false. Open confession is good for the soul.

Horace Greeley has "resumed" the editorship of the Tribune. Everybody knows that he has never left that post. There is no difficulty to detect Greeley in the editorials of that paper during the campaign. It advocated his sentiments and phrasology that it points unmistakably to their author.

O'Connor got one vote in Kalamazoo, and that was cast by the candidate for Secretary of State on that ticket.

The great Republican party is dead? Everybody knows now that it has filled its mission. The Liberal-Democratic party is "the party of the future." We don't expect to live to see the "future."

Since I will never again be a candidate for any office, and am not in full accord with either of the great parties which have hitherto divided the country, I will be able, and will endeavor to give, wider and steadier regard to the progress of science, industry and the useful arts than a partisan journal can do. A wise conclusion. As a politician or an office seeker, Horace is not a "successor."

CONNECTICUT CORRESPONDENCE.

HARTFORD, Nov. 9, 1872. EDITORS RECORD.—Our election has passed, and gloriously. We have occasion for great rejoicing and we do it, too. Old New England is still true to the "Stars and Stripes," and to our beloved Union; so also is our own Michigan. New England has answered nobly to the roll call, and as has been proved, the ocean is no barrier to his approaches. We expect to hear next that he has reached Paris and London, where he may linger until spring, or perhaps, cross to Halifax and New York at once and spread with the swiftness of the wind over the whole country.

The number of firms and business houses burned out, 930; of dwellings, 60.

Boston, Nov. 11.—There is no truth in the report that the fire is spreading. It has not extended since 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, except the burning of six buildings early this morning, occasioned by an explosion of gas.

The morning papers are almost exclusively filled with details of the great conflagration. The Advertiser estimates the total loss at $80,000,000. The Post, on authority of leading insurance officers, at $100,000,000. The Journal gives a full list of individual losses, and estimates the total at considerably over $100,000,000.

The Horse Disease.

The fearful horse disease which is prevalent in many States is described as follows by Jacob Dunn, a noted horseman of New York, who also prescribes treatment for the same: "The disease is an influenza more resembling diphtheria than catarrh. When first taken the horse seems to be in no danger, and he will eat and drink as usual, and still take a running at the nose. Frequently a horse will cough up a large mass of mucus.

The most approved treatment is to give the animal rest as soon as taken, blanket well and keep comfortable. Good nursing does more than medicine. Feed bran, mixed with warm water, in which black liquorice, molasses and salt have been dissolved. This diet will keep the bowels open. Rub the neck outside with a liniment of hartshorn and red pepper. Some five drops of acetic every six hours to allay fever. Belladonna or opium, if ordered, dissolved in the water answers the same purpose.

Let Every Man be Judged According to His Deserts.—If he does God let him have the Credit of It.

Some fifteen years ago I established offices at most of the places which I now visit, and during the whole of that time I have regularly visited those offices every two months. During this time many doctors making great pretensions to medical skill have been my guests, but not one of those who started with me remains. I have outlived them all, and can truthfully say that I have perfected more permanent cures of persons afflicted with chronic ailments than all of them together. Persons need not take my word for this, as my panels are now retained with lists of names of reliable persons whom I have treated and cured. Certainty may have done some good or could not have kept my engagements for so many years. Have never published certificates of cures as do many, manufactured for the purpose, with seals and signatures, which have allowed my work to speak for itself. Never advertised that which I could not perform. Prepare my own medicines, simply because the diseases I treat are of a nature demanding different remedies from those usually kept by apothecaries. The demand for such remedies would be too limited to justify my devoting to them to an assortment ready for use; besides, with the machinery which I have, and being also a mechanical chemist, am enabled to more perfectly compound them. I keep at each office a variety sufficient to meet every case, and all its complications, enabling me to prepare such preparations as are needed to eradicate the cause. Have never claimed that I could cure all diseases, nor any chronic disease in its every stage. Claim to work no miracles; do no wondrous things; to accomplish no more than an intelligent physician should be able to accomplish. I do, by his entire time and energies to this class of diseases. Meet with failures as well as other physicians. It could not be expected that I could cure all, as many come after being abandoned by other physicians. Have never given encouragement without a prospect of success, and never succeed in a case. It chances are against a recovery, plainly say so. Never have interfered with resident physicians, never prescribed for a person who was under their treatment, and refused all cases which would do better by being frequently attended to by the regular physician, and have ever endeavored to respect them. Most of the diseases which I treat are those which but few resident physicians care to treat, having, as they do, most of their time occupied with acute maladies. Many objects to me because I have said, "I will not be called in to attend to a case to stay at home. Now, as I only treat a certain class of diseases, such as lung, throat, heart, liver, stomach, kidneys, and those affections of the blood, as scurvy, scorbutic and rheumatism, that have by long standing, become chronic. I cannot get enough of my class in any one place to engage all of my time. For this reason I established these various offices, and visited them, none other so regularly, for years. I can hardly be termed a traveling physician, having permanently located my offices, and having my residence and laboratory permanently located at Washington, Illinois, where I can always be reached, and where my character, reputation, and responsibility can be ascertained from any reliable citizen. I adopted, have and shall continue to pursue this straightforward course, dealing with all, honestly, and candidly.

During the time that I have been engaged in this specialty I have examined hundreds, giving me an opportunity surpassed by any other physician, for investigating the causes, symptoms, tendency and treatment of such ailments. An intelligent public must see that those who make chronic diseases a special constant must be better prepared to occasionally handle them than one who devotes his time to local or acute maladies. It certainly seems most reasonable to suppose that he who devotes his whole energies to one subject, let it be what it may, is more likely to excel.

I am pursuing a treatment for the cure of chronic complaints that cannot fail to recommend itself to the common sense of every unprejudiced and intelligent person. I use no debilitating drugs; search for those that are simple, safe and sure; seek to increase rather than reduce; build up rather than tear down. My charges for treatment are as low, if not less, than those of any other physician making chronic diseases a special treatment.

For examinations or consultations I make no charge. My philosophy of practice is founded on the laws of nature. My theory of disease, the theory of experience and evidence; my materia medica, the boundless forest. The sick are invited to call on me at my office, on days advertised, investigate for themselves, and if not satisfied with examinations and explanation of the principles by which cures of chronic ailments are to be effected, no treatment need be taken, and no charge will be made.

I will be for consultation upon all diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Heart, Nerves, Blood, etc., on my next visit, at Laporte, Merrill House, Saturday and Sunday, the 9th and 10th of November. At Niles, Reading House, Saturday and Sunday, the 23rd and 24th of November.

State Items.

A small boy named Evans, whose parents reside on the north side, was accidentally shot by one of his schoolmates, last evening, while they were playing with a gun supposed to be empty. The contents of the gun struck the boy in the right side and arm, some of the shot passed entirely through the arm, but the larger portion lodged in the side and leg, and at this writing recovery is doubtful. A young woman living back of Mooretown, Ont., has been employed of late in the family of one of our citizens, and became acquainted (some six weeks ago) with a young man employed by the same party. Without knowing him or his antecedents the young woman married him. The brute deserted her the second day of their marriage, and the heart-broken girl returned Saturday last to her father's house. We refrain from publishing names because the family of the young woman is a most respectable one. St. Clair Republican.

The Iron Co. we understand, will build, during the coming winter an extensive steam barge, to be engaged in freighting iron ore between Escanaba and their works in this State. Success to the undertaking. Frankfort Beacon.

William and Lewis Renner, aged respectively 18 and 14 years, were recently hunting in the woods near Lansing, and while endeavoring to smoke an animal out of a hollow tree, a spark of fire found its way to the powder flask, exploding it and rendering both the boys temporarily senseless by the shock. Both their faces were badly burned and they were rendered nearly blind, but it is thought they may recover. Pontiac Jacksonian.

J. G. Babbitt has raised three hundred bushels of onions this year. Ouid Register.

Middleville is to have still another Brick Block, the work on which is to be commenced immediately. Republican.

There was a great rush of people to see Barnum's great show, in this city, last Friday. It was estimated that there were over 6,000 people present at the afternoon performance. Several cases of the horse influenza have occurred in our city, but are a death. The disease is said to run about 20 days. Marshall Expositor.

On Sunday, last Mr. D. P. Buell was married to Mrs. Collins. While absent at the Bride's house to be married, Mr. Buell's trunk, at the Corlett House was opened, and five hundred dollars taken therefrom. Wm. Webb worked up the case, and finding evidence against one Hank Ballou, he was arrested, when upon his returning the money he was let go and skedaddled. Pentwater Times.

On Monday last the barn and contents belonging to Thomas Robb, in Buell, was burned to the ground. The fire was set by a little boy about four years old, who had some matches playing with, and taking them out to the barn, set a fire which soon put his father's barn and crops into ashes. The loss to Mr. Robb is quite severe. He was one of the sufferers by the fire last year. Sanilac Jeffersonian.

Mr. E. H. Funk has got his Clurey factory up and enclosed, and is now ready for business. Success to him. We hope he will soon give employment to 50 or more men. Starburg Journal.

Last Tuesday night, a man named Jeremiah Walker, living on a farm near the town line between Attica and Limley, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. When found on Wednesday morning life was extinct. He was about 45 years of age, and leaves a family. Having been sick for a long time, it is supposed he was insane when he committed the act which finished his life. Lapeer Clarion, 31st.

Considerable numbers of men are arriving in this county from Canada to spend the winter in the lumber camps. The cry of the lumberman is still for "more." Iron Co. News.

A gentleman paid Leslie a visit one day this week with a view to purchasing a farm. The money was mostly to be paid in gold and silver; but whether he succeeded we did not learn. Herald.

Geo. H. Botsford has resigned the office of County Superintendent of Schools, on account of ill health, the Board of Supervisors, at its late session appointed C. R. Coxyell to the vacancy. Hillsdale Democrat.

There may be seen in our office at Traverse City a squaw raised by James K. Ganton, which weighs 103 pounds. Who can beat it? Eagle.

$800 was raised in the M. E. Church last Sabbath morning to be expended in books for the S. S. Library. This library is already one of the largest in the city, and the addition of $800 worth of new books will make it quite complete. On Friday night, the 13th inst., the dwelling house of Mr. Lyon, in the 2d Ward, was burned, together with some of its contents. Loss about $1000. Insured for $700. Coldwater Republican.

In the neighboring county of Montcalm, a novel hunting bog has been constructed by a Mr. J. M. Orcutt, of Cato. It weighs only 14 1/2 pounds and is made of ducking, with ribs of ash split, fitting into loop sockets. He can fold it up and carry it on his back with his gun and provisions. In case a storm overtakes him on the water, he can run his boat ashore, take it apart and put it up as a tent. Saginaw Enterprise.

Those young ladies (of the period) who were promenading the streets one evening last week, each puffing a cigar, should dwell upon this becoming practice a little longer in private, when they would perhaps be able to come out without such an affected appearance. Portland Observer.

TO THE BOYS - It is very evident to any one who notices the appearance of buildings in our village which are left vacant for a few days, that we have some very mischievous and mean boys in our village. There can be nothing more cowardly mean than for a set of boys to attack an unoccupied building, tear off the siding, knock out the glasses, and leave it in a shape that will require many dollars of somebody's money to put in order. Boys must be boys, but when they commit trespasses of the kind referred to they become criminals and ought to be punished.

SENIOR - The Senior Editor, with his family, left home Monday evening to spend a couple of weeks visiting in Kansas, Missouri and other sections "beyond the Mississippi."

OXEN - Some of our citizens received orders to ship oxen to Chicago. They are being substituted for horses so far as possible until the horses recover from the prevailing epidemic.

THE OCTOBER Term of the Supreme Court at Detroit has adjourned until Nov. 28th.

PERSONAL - Mr. Wm. DeWing is tarrying a few days at his home in this village, being compelled to suspend business on account of his horses being attacked with the horse disease. His team is at Plymouth, Ind. Mr. DeWing says that cases of the "horse disease" are quite numerous in Plymouth, but that no cases prove fatal that has proper attention paid to it.

CIRCUIT JUDGE - The Governor has appointed Judge Charles C. Brown of Kalamazoo District to act as Judge for this District for the time being.

SALE - Mr. Anson Hays has sold his house and lot on Main street to Mr. Wellington Mills. Consideration $700.

OBITUARY - It is with feelings of deepest sorrow and regret that we have to announce the death of our old friend and neighbor, Mr. Lewis V. Baker, who died of the Dropsy, at his home in Bakerton, on Sunday evening last. Our sympathies are extended to the bereaved family and relatives in this hour of affliction.

AGE WHEN MARRIED - It is quite common now to get in marriage notices the ages of those united in matrimony. The practice is not favored by many of the fair sex, as it requires an exposure of their age, or the statement of a falsehood. We don't believe these notices are very reliable in this particular.

HORSE DISEASE - The horse disease as we predicted, has made its appearance in our village. The horses afflicted are those belonging to our livestock. Farmers need not be afraid to come to town on this account, as the horses attacked are closely stabled and every care is taken to prevent the epidemic from spreading.

ELSEWHERE we give a description of the horse disease from a noted horseman of New York, and also his treatment for the same.

BEAR HUNT - The report was circulated over town on Friday last that a large black bear of incredible size was seen by different parties a few miles west of this village. Some of our sons of Nimrod, with rifles and dogs, started in hot pursuit. They had a good hunt, but we haven't heard of any body's getting fat on bear meat. It wasn't exactly a "wild goose chase," but you may call it that if you want to. According to the best information the reported Black Bear was nothing more nor less than a large Newfoundland dog.

DOES FARMING PAY? - This question we hear frequently asked, and adopting the Yankee style of answering we say, if it does not pay why are there so many engaged in the business? No living person but is dependent for the perpetuation of his life upon the products of agriculture. No other business can possibly include within its limits a larger number of customers, and no other business man can calculate with more certainty the demands that will be made upon them in the future. Whatever contingency may exist, the amount that is annually required from the farmers is about the same. If some of the farmers in this county would keep a correct account of their expenditures and income for any one year, it would furnish a satisfactory answer to the question, "Does farming pay?"

MUSICAL - A meeting was held in our village October 28th 1872, at which time there was organized "The Berrien County Musical Association."

INSURANCE - It is pretty difficult to say whether any one has any insurance against fire at this time or not. The Chicago and Boston fires will doubtless bankrupt many of our best fire insurance companies.

TEETH extracted without pain by the use of Nitrous Oxide or Laughing Gas, at Dr. Graham's Dental Rooms, Berrien Springs, Mich. 29tf ANTICIPATION - If reports are reliable we expect to receive a long list of marriage notices to publish ere long.

THE WEATHER is such now that many are killing hogs for family use.

THE WEATHER - During the past week we have had a few pleasant days, but the weather is very changeable. Our weather prophets tell us to look for cold weather after the 20th of this month. They don't say how long after the 20th, but we will continue to look believing that their predictions will prove true.

NEW ENGINES - The engine for the Buchanan Wagon Manufacturing Co., is to be shipped tomorrow from Mt. Vernon, Ohio. It is over 45 horse power and costs $9.175.

MEETING OF THE REPUBLICANS - A meeting of the Republicans of Berrien Springs was held at the DeField Hall on the 6th inst., to mingle their patriotic joy, and celebrate the great Republican Victory in the re-election of President Grant. R. D. Dix, Esq., Pres. of Grant and Wilson Club, in the chair. Music by the Berrien Center and Berrien Springs Brass and String Bands, and the Berrien Glee Club. Hon. W. Putnam was the speaker of the evening, and such a treat of speaking, music, mental and physical feasting, it is seldom the lot of the Republicans of Old Berrien to enjoy. Near the close of the meeting, R. D. Dix Esq., said, "I wish to plant a germ for the future life, growth and glory of the Republican Party, and the perpetuity of its noble principles." He then introduced the following Preamble and Resolutions:

Resolved, That this meeting suggest and most cordially recommend Schuyler Colfax to the Presidential succession of Ulysses S. Grant. Judge Putnam spoke to the Resolution in pointed and glowing words, after which the Resolution passed with a tremendous vote.

Resolved, That, Hon. W. Putnam be requested to transmit the proceedings of this meeting to Vice President Colfax.

The meeting then adjourned to the street, formed a procession headed by the Bands and Glee Club, marched the principal streets, giving the town a Republican serenade.

B. M. WANSBROUGH, Sec'y. BERRIEN, Nov. 6th, 1872.

SOME OF OUR SUBSCRIBERS seem to think that we "force" the paper on them. They get this idea because we refuse to discontinue our paper when ordered to do so, simply because they have not paid up arrearsages. The law does not require us to stop sending the paper unless it is paid for to the time when ordered discontinued, and our rule is not to do so for the simple reason that we keep no other account with our subscribers than the printed date upon the slips. When a name is dropped from the list we lose all traces of the account unless it is put on our books, which we do not propose to do. We want to send the paper to every man in the county, but have no desire to send it to any body who does not want it, and will assure those if there arrange, that their paper will be discontinued if they will pay for the time they have had it. We time and time again have told our readers if they do not want the paper after their time expires for which they have paid, all they have to do is to send us word or leave the paper in the post office. It becomes the duty of the Post Master to send the paper back to this office marked "Refused," and the name is then stricken from the list.

ATMOSPHERIC CHANGES - People should take care at this time of the year to prevent contracting colds. This can be done in no better way than to keep on plenty of clothing and avoid becoming chilled by exposure in all kinds of weather. Our best physicians tell us that on account of the dry weather during the past three seasons, now that we have a change, chills and fevers, neuralgia and rheumatism, may be expected to prevail throughout this country to an unusual extent.

BARNUM'S SHOW - Some of the reports in our exchanges of the character of Barnum's Great show which has been traveling through our state are ludicrous and conflicting. They all agree that the show has been largely attended everywhere, and must prove a success, financially, to the manager. While some seem to think that it is the greatest curiosity ever exhibited, there are quite as many who denounce it as a perfect swindle, and brand Prof. Barnum as "The Prince of Humbugs."

EARL OF LESTER. Remains in the Post Office at Buchanan on Thursday, Nov. 14th, 1872.

Meeting of the Board of Trustees. At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the village of Buchanan, held on the 12th inst. there were present, Wm. Peers, President, Messrs. Day, Ross, Binns and Black, Trustees. The minutes of previous meetings were read, and approved.

A motion was made by Trustee Ross that the President appoint a committee to appoint a night watch. The motion was supported and passed, and the President appointed as such committee Trustees Ross and Black. There being no further business, on motion the Board adjourned.

W. D. KENNEY, Clerk.

FOR THE RECORD. Shall we receive them back? EDITORS RECORD - Now that the renegade coalition has completely busted and gone to smash, the sore heads, many of them, will no doubt try to get back where there is bread enough and to spare, and the question is, shall they be welcomed back to our ranks after they have done all they can to accomplish our ruin? I suppose the well known broad charity of the Republican party will overlook all and receive them gladly, but it seems to me, we should not be in a hurry about it. I should much prefer to adopt the course taken by the old Baptist deacon, when his neighbor Brown wanted to join his church. The deacon knew Brown to be a hard customer, yet as a neighbor, he hated to come right out and refuse him. He studied awhile, and finally said, "The fact is, Brown, the church is full now, but when a vacancy occurs I will notify you, and then you can unite with us. I think the cases are parallel."

THE WAGONING COWS AND MUMS are prevalent at this time of the year in different parts of the county.

WOOD - We are still in need of wood at this office.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE FARMERS' CLUB. The Farmers' Club met at their new quarters adjoining Odd Fellows' Hall, Saturday last. Had a very interesting time, though but few were present. The subject for discussion was poultry, but the chicken occupied our whole time. Among all the varieties discussed, the Brahma seemed to be the favorite, and would have been more so, but for its persistency in eating about one half the time, whether or no. No member of the Club believed it would be profitable to have a henry, or go into the business on a large scale, but if each one would raise enough so as to have all the eggs and roast chickens the family could possibly make way with, it would be about the right thing. Subject for next meeting, Nov. 23: "What is the best method of preserving and applying manures?"

D. FRISK, Sec. pro tem. Mr. Harding said he would have the trench through the cow-stable six inches deep and sixteen inches wide. The pesky printer made him say six inches wide. Whew!

OUR CLUB will hereafter meet in Roe's Hall, adjoining Odd Fellows' Hall. If it is desirable to have the Club continue, members must be more punctual in their attendance. Let each one be sure and come, whether the rest do or not. Next meeting will be Sat. Nov. 23rd 9 o'clock p. m. Remember the time and place. D. FRISK, Pres.

THE COUNTY PRESS. The St. Jo. Traveler says: The justification meeting on Thursday evening was attended by a large number of our best citizens. -Mr. E. M. Hipp, who has been for three years connected with Hoyt's banking house, will take a new departure the first of next week. -Shepard reports that during the season he has shipped per American Merchants, Union Express Company of which he is agent, 26,627 packages of fruit, of which 11,906 went by boat to Chicago and Milwaukee, and 15,721 by rail; some went as far west as Sioux City, north as far as St. Paul and the mining regions of Michigan, east as far as Boston and other Atlantic cities and south to Chattanooga. -Shepard bears testimony to the oft repeated assurance that it pays to ship good fruit, as those who have done the fair thing in packing have secured reputations that will enhance the prices of their fruit next year fully 25 per cent. -The Teachers of the St. Joseph Union School, intend to hold a monthly association at which they will explain their method of teaching and submit them to discussion and criticism; in which any person having a good theory or idea to ventilate will be invited to participate. -The Greeley Men hereabout take their defeat good naturedly and pay their bills without grumbling.

THE NILES REPUBLICAN says: Mr. F. Jacques, late of Chicago, has purchased the Grocery store of Seward & Palmer. -To take the measure of a Democrat or Dolly Varden Republican's face would require a clothes-line as long as the Mississippi river. -Dan Sheehan caught one of his feet in the belting at the new Furniture Factory, and made a narrow escape from being ground to mince meat. The wedding of Mr. Chas. H. Griffith and Miss Pamme, youngest daughter of ex-Mayor Gettmacher, yesterday evening, was a brilliant and joyous social gathering and feasting, held the large company of invited guests to a late hour. The presents surpassed in number and elegance, any similar affair ever seen in Niles. -The hero of Appomattox has distanced "everything and anything to beat Grant" -for proof, see Chicago Tribune and Cook's face.

THE ST. JO. HERALD says: The Corona will probably lay up about the middle of November. -The school house will be ready for occupation Dec. 1st. -At half past 10 Thursday morning, and alarm of fire started St. Joseph. The wind was blowing a strong gale from the southwest. The fire proceeded from the building west of Morrison's dock, belonging to Messrs. Wilcox and Page, and which had been used this season as a box factory. It burned like tinder; and the flames lapped over the Corona's dock and upon Morrison's warehouse. It seemed as if the real bridge, the lumber yard, the mill, the shanties and everything under the hill would be in flames; it is almost a miracle that they were not. -We are informed that the plans for a railroad station, after a two design and elevations of chief engineer Latimer, have been put into the hands of Mr. Udell, master carpenter of the C. & M. L. S. R. R. It will be on the eastern side of the track - next to Broad street and have a frontage of 130 feet. The whole building will be 130x60 feet and ornamented with pillars. -The Sunday will make her last trip on Saturday, and lays up immediately at Milwaukee. -The board of Supervisors have passed an order restraining cattle, horses, sheep and swine from running at large in St. Joseph, Hagar, Benton and Lincoln townships from the last day of November to the first day of April. This is to keep cattle from browsing orchards. -Quite a number of Chicago gentlemen have been in St. Joseph looking for cattle. O. B. Dickinson formerly of this place was among them. They were quite successful, obtaining 15 or more yoke, at prices varying from $100 to $150.

THE NILES Democrat says: -The Henry Lardner has purchased E. Y. Collins' interest in the basket factory. -A large party of recently hopeful gentlemen have been "touring it" up Salt River this week. -The farmers' Cornet Band has engaged a room in the city where they will meet for practice. -The horse disease has not made its appearance in the city yet, but a disease called matrimony is prevailing to a considerable extent. It is generally fatal. -Only a few days ago we saw a fine porker lying by the roadside, which had been killed by over-driving.

THE BENTON HARBOR Palladium says: The Messrs. Ogden, father and son, Mr. C. Colby, and one or two others of our citizens are hunting in the North woods. We expect to see them return laden with the spoils of the chase - say half a dozen deer and a bear or two apiece. Then look out for feast. -Bogley & Jones, of this village, are building a large new shop on Tenth Street. It will be the largest in the village. -Bleeding day here was cold, chilly and uncomfortable. The vote of this township was larger than ever before - mainly through the influence of local candidates no doubt. -Rev. A. H. Laing, Universalist, of this village, has resigned, and is not to preach here any more. Mr. L. is an able and eloquent speaker, and his many friends will much regret his departure. He goes to Marquette, Ill.

WE wish to say a good word for Dr. V. Clarence Price. The Doctor has made his visits regularly for years, and enjoys the confidence of all with whom he has become acquainted, and for whom Dr. Price is a gentleman in every respect, and does not promise a cure unless he is positive he can perform it. Any one suffering with a chronic disease should consult the Doctor at Niles, Reading House, on Saturday and Sunday 23rd and 24th of December.

"How To Go West." This is an enquiry which every one should have truthfully answered before he starts on his journey, and a little care taken in examination of Routes will in many cases save much trouble, time and money. The "C. B. & Q. R. R." running from Chicago through Galesburg to Burlington, has achieved a splendid reputation in the last two years as the leading Passenger Route to the west. At Burlington it connects with the great Burlington Route which runs direct through Southern Iowa to Nebraska and Kansas, with close connections to California and the Territories, and passengers starting from Berrien County, on their way westward, cannot do better than to take the C. B. & Q. and Burlington Route.

This Line has published a pamphlet called "How to Go West," which contains much valuable information; a large correct map of the West, which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the General Passenger Agent B. & M. R. R. Burlington, Iowa.
