Story.

I was horribly lonesome. What could I do with myself? It is only about Christmas time that the responsibility of my individuality hangs heavier upon me; my business engrosses me for the most part; for I had been more successful in money matters than in any other interest in life. WILLIAM B. 1004G, Mortgagee. the holidays were here. Everthing in my neat chambers was orderly and comfortable, and I had a real satisfaction in the feeling that they belonged to me. But how lonesome they were! A fellow just passed my window with a covered basket on one arm, and on the other a happy looking woman chating gayly as she walked. Well. I might have had a wife if it had not been for Charley's perfidy—yes, and Emma's too, for I suppose she was as much to blame as he was. I wonder if either one of them were to blame? Love goes where it is sent, they say, and I really suppose they could not help loving each other. Poor Emma! Proud, splendid woman; I should like to know what her fate has been. It seems strange that I have never heard one word from them since ley was younger and handsomer than again! I declined his hospitality, but his lip quivered and tears came into his eyes. "O, yes," I said quickly, seeing what ailed him; "I would like to have some raisins," and stooped down beside him. His face cleared instantly, and he commenced feeding me-alternately putting one grape in my mouth and one in his. I thought I was doing him a favor: he knew he was doing me a favor, and as the grapes disappeared began to look uneasy. ''Ain't oo dot 'nough?'' he said.

How to be Handsome.

Most people like to be handsome. Nobody denys the great power anybody may have who has a good face, and who attracts you by good looks, even before a word has been spoken. And we see all sorts of devices in men and women to improve their good looks-paint and washes of all kinds of cosmetics, including a plentiful annointing with dirty hair oil.

Now, every one may have good features. They are as God made them; in brief these will do:

preaching. A man thinks and works and tells us the result. And if we listen, and hear, and understand, the mind and soul are worked. If the spiritual nature is aroused, so much the better. We have seen a plain face really glorified by the love of God and man, which shone through it. Let us grow handsome. Men say they can't afford books, and sometimes don't even pay for their newspapers. In that case, it does them little good they must feel so mean while reading it. But men can afford what they really choose. If all the money that is spent in self indulgence, were spent. in books and self improvements, we could see a change. Men would grow handsome, and women too: The soul would shine out through the eyes. We were not meant to be mere animals. Let us have books, and read them, and sermons, and heed them.

Origin of the Temperance Crusade. The ladies temperance movement commenced at Hillsboro, Ohio, by a lady whose husband and son had fullen victims to the intoxicating cup, and all earthly means of reforming them having failed, her burdened soul cried out to God for help; and she arose in the church and asked her sisters to meet her in her parlor to pray. A number voluntereed. They held a prayer meeting in her parlor; the Divine presence was with them in power. Deeply impressed to do so, she asked her friends to follow her into the street and they all did so, nether she nor any of the others knowing what would be done, or by what misterious influence they were led; but, single file they passed along the principle streets, singing as they went, until they came to the leading saloon; and lead by the same unseen hand, they entered it, and plead with the porprietor to quit the buisness; but he said he could not, that it was his only means of support and his family would suffer and starve if he quit; but he gave them the permission to hold prayer meetings in the saloon; they sang and prayed until all the ladies present had lead in prayer, and there was a wonderful manifestation of Divine power accompanying the exersize. They again entreated the saloon-keeper to desist; he said he would if he had any other means of. support, but he could not as he was situated. In a moment the ladies asked for a sheet of paper, wrote out a subscrition, and in as brief time as the names could be written, $1,000 was subscribed by the ladies, the wives of bankers and merchants. The man closed his saloon, and it has never been open since. He is now converted a member of the church, and has

Farm and Household.

Shipping Direct. The Prairie Farmer gives. the result of an experiment made by the Sabov Farmer's Club, in Champaign county, Ill. The club shipped four car loads of corn to New York. The corn sold in New York for 381 cents per bushel. They were offered at the place of shipping 48 cents. The loss on the lot was $129.54. One month intervened between the time the corn was placed aboard the cars and the day they received their money. This is a very good calculation of the theory of shipping grain without employing agents whose business is to make shipping contracts and who understand

The Uanada Farmer thinks there is nothing like clover to bring up poor land. Dressed with plaster it is a vegetable magician. Whatever there is in the heaven above or in the earth beneath, its broad leaves and long roots will gather and bring to the the soil for its improvement. A field of red clover brings hope and joy to the farmer's heart.

Feeding Cattle.

A writer in the Homestead is opposed to feeding cattle more than twice a day, because if fed oftener much of the nutriment is wasted, that the food contained. He says: "A cow will gather loose hay enough in forty minutes to keep her ruminating for six hours. Indeed, if you go softly to your stables in the morning, you will find your most thriving animals grinding at the remnants of the last night's foddering.

Strawberries.

Capt. Stewart covers his strawberdiants for winter, and removes the turn she was visited and called to a covering about the middle of April; cultivates in April, again after picking, and once more in the fall; then covers with straw for winter; removes the runners until the last of strangers. One staid maiden was es | August, when they are allowed to take root, and about the middle of October these will have made strong roots. Plants will make more roots in the fall in two weeks than in the summer in two months. He does not like the Willson, and thinks Downing the coming strawberry.

Watering Plants.

This must be attended to as regularly as the morning comes. Those who do not water regularly cannot make house plants thrive. The dry atmosphere of rooms is always against the health of most plants when growing freely. A good plan is to have a large piece of oil cloth beneath the flower stand, so that the whole stand "Go to that woman and tell her for of plants may be sprinkled freely at me that if she wants to get to heaven least once a day. Then the evaporation of the water will supply the air of the room with vapor most of the day. But there is danger of being too liberal with water in the pots. The soil must not be made sodden or be soaked with water for any length of time, except in the case of aquatic plants. Some plants take up more water than others, which is indicated by the dryness of the surface of the Sowing Small Seeds. Many flower lover has been disappointed because dearly bought seeds would not grow. It is better to soak some seeds in warm water, twentyfour hours; then mix with a little dry plaster so that they will separate freey, and sow on firmly prepared soil in boxes, pressing the seeds just slightly into the soil, and covering the whole with two thicknesses of brown paper, which should be kept moist. Let the paper remain until the seeds have germinated; then remove the paper, and spread over the box some thin white muslin for a day or two. By following these simple directions most of the delicate seeds will grow readily. Verbenas vegetate slowly and the seeds should be kept soaking forty-eight hours before sowing.

Tree Planting.

Some persons will never listen to instruction from any one. They are themselves great "know-alls" in their own view, and it is a waste of time to tell them anything. But there are those who will listen and learn, and such we want for our audience one moment while we say a word or two about the important matter of planting trees. As a rule, if the roots of trees are not kept moist the stems and branches should be kept covered to

LUBSDAY MORNING, MAY 7, 1874.

INTRODUCTORY. The readers of the RECORD already new that the ownership, management ad centrol of the paper has passed ato the hands of the undersigned. in conformity to a long established custom we will briefly make a few promises to our patrons, although we would much prefer to remain silent and accept as a verdict, in regard to the merits of the paper and the manner in which it is to be conducted, the favor and support it may receive from the public in the future.

We promise, first, that the RECORD. while under our supervision, shall never wear a collar; never be circumscribed by the dictations of any ring or set of men, and will never cater to the wishes of political shysters or demagagues. In politics the RECORD will be radically Republican and pursue a course in this respect consistent with its past history. While we shall advocate and support the Republican party, believing it to be the expounder of principles that best subserve the interests of the people, we do not take it for granted that all its members are perfect. We have an abiding faith. however, in the Republican party, which is founded on justice and in the interests of the human family, containing within it sufficient of the prodominant elements of good to more than counteract the intrigues of designing men for personal elevation or aggrandizement. Our energies will be devoted to the exposure of corruption of whatever form, that threatens to undermine and destroy our Republican institutions.

The RECORD will be true to its mission as a County newspaper. All news of the County, of whatever description, and of any consequence. will always find a place in its columns; condensed when unimportant, in full detail when of moment, and our aim will be to present it in a manner clear, intelligible and interesting. We expect to make the paper a chronicle of current events at home, and of general information regarding all affaris abroad of any primary importance.

Much attention will be given to selections of literary and miscellaneous pieces, stories, poety, etc. A farmers' column will be a new feature of the paper, giving weekly such items on agricultural, horticultural, domestical and other kindred subjects as will be of special interest to this class of readers. We hope to make the RECORD a first-class family newspaper,

Lastly, we hope at all times to have the RECORD truly represent the views and sentiments of the people. In the great questions which come up for discussion we wish to take sides with the people as against monied aristocracies and monopolies, and be a faithful friend to the interests and rights of the masses. If we are true in this we have no fear but that the paper will receive the confidence and support from the public to which it will be justly entitled by its merits.

CHEAP TRANSPORTATION.

The problem of cheap transportation from the great Mississippi valley to the sea board which has occupied so much of the attention of Congress during the present session, is more difficult of settlement than was at first supposed by many. The three bills which have been introduced into Congress looking to this object, possess very objectionable features, especially two of them, and the third, which is the only one likely to pass both Houses, is not expected to do much more than to bring the question before Supreme Court of the United States for a decision as to what rights the Government possesses in this direction, under the clause which declares that "Congress shall have power to regulate commerce among the several States." If the proposed bill would only serve to obtain a judicial exposition of this matter, it would be of great value and an important step towards settling definitely some plan which might secure the good results so earnestly desired and of such momentous importance to the great grain producing interior of the country.

Two of the bills proposed on this subject are alike objectionable, one of which Mr. Hurlbutt, of Illinois, seems to have especial charge, and the other submitted to the Senate April 25th, by Mr. Windom, of Minnesota. The first of these proposes to charter a double track freight railway company from the Atlantic sea board to Council Bluffs, with branches to Chicago and St. Louis, and permission to build other branches, not to exceed two in each State. It establishes the rates on certain classes of freight for different distances, and at different seasons of the year, and that rates in other cases shall be established by a board of commissioners, five to be appointed by the President and Senate. and two by the Company. So far all looks very plausible. But how are these roads to be built? It is proposed to make the Government responsible for $3,500,000 per year as interest on its bonds, taking a first mortgage on the road. The second bill above referred to is about the same, asking the Government to construct the roads, opening the doors for subsidies and Credit Mobiliers. The remaining bill, known as the McCary bill, which has passed the House and is now waiting for consideration by the Senate is the only one entitled to any favor, and many of its friends recommend it merely as an experiment. SENATE, April 27.—The day was set apart for eulogies upon the late Senaator Sumner. Speeches were delivered by Messrs. Boutwell, Thurman, Spencer. Morrill, Pratt, Sargent, Sherman, Wad-leigh and Anthony, eulogistic of the life and public services of the late Charles Sumner, and the Senate then adjourned. HOUSE, April 27.—Under the call of States, many bills were introduced and referred, including the following: to facilitate the resumption of specie payments and to prevent fluctuations in the value of United States notes; repealing all laws imposing taxes on State banks; to impose a tax of 5 per cent, on all incomes of individuals and corporations exceeding $5,-000; declaring it oppressive to impose additional taxation and expedient to retrench on necessary appropriations already made in the interest of commerce, and providing as a means of temporary relief for the issue of an additional fifty million of legal tender notes; to provide a free system of banking and for the resumption of specie payments. A resolution was of fered and adopted directing the Committee on Reform in the Civil Service to consider carefully and forthwith the subject of offi cers of the Senate and House, with a view to remedy any inequality or injustice existing. A message being received from the Senate in reference to the death of Senator Sumner, E. R. Horr offered a resolution that as an additional mark of respect to the memory of Charles Sumner, long to Senator from Massachusetts, and in sympathy with the action of the Senate, business be now suspended in the House to allow fitting tributes to be paid to his public and private virtues. A bill was passed amendatory of the act for the restoration to homestead entry and to market of certain lands in Michigan, approved June 10, 1872. A bill was introduced in relation to salaries and civil service. It provides for the reduction, from and after the 1st of October next, of 10 per cent, in the compensation of all officers and employes of the Senate, including the Capitol police, except secretary, chief clerk, sergeant-atarms, and assistant doorkeeper, and excepting the clerks of committees, whose pay it proposes to cut down 30 per cent. The remainder of the session was taken up in considering the Supplementary Civil

HOUSE, April 28. - A bill was introduced to amend the act for the redemption of the 3 per cent temporary loon certificates, and for the increase of national bank notes. Referred; also a bill to amend the National Currency acts, to establish free banking. Referred. Mr. Lough-ridge (Rep. Pa.) proceeded to give a resume of the Indian Appropriation bill of which he has charge. His speech was mainly directed to a history of Indian wars, in order to prove that they were generally provoked by the troops, and consequently it would be bad policy to place the Indians under the control of the War Department. The estimated cost of and a welcome guest at every home it Indian wars during the last farty years was an aggregate of over $500,000,000, and he had no doubt of the correctness of that estimate. With such a record before the country, it was difficult for him to see on what ground the policy of turning over the Indians to the War Department could be sustained. The true policy was to civilize the Indians and get rid of the necessity for troops to keep them in order. The Committee on Commerce reported the River and Harbor Appropriation bill. It was referred, and the House then adjourn.

> SENATE, April 30 .- A resolution was introduced to print 2,500 copies of Hayden's reports. After considerable discussion the resolution was laid over. A bill was introduced to promote commerce among the states and to cheapen the transportation of persons and property between the Atlantic seaboard and Western States and Territories. Referred. The Legislative, Judicial and Executive Appropriation bill was received from the House and referred to the Committee on Appropriations and ordered printed. The chair laid before the Senate resolutions adopted by a mass meeting at Indianapolis in relation to the finances. Referred to the Committee on Finance. A bill was passed increasing the pay department of the army, fixing the number of paymasters at fifty, with the rank, pay and emoluments of Majors of cavalry.

HOUSE, April 30.—The bill was taken up to carry into execution the provisions of the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution, and to define certain rights of American citizens residing in foreign countries, and the duties of diplomatic and consular officers. Several members addressed the House in support of the bill. A three hours' debate ensued on the Senate's amendment to the House bill relative to the Louisville and Portland Canal The bill passed and now goes to the President for his signature. The Committee on Election made report on the Utah contested election, that Cannon, the sitting member, is entitled to the seat and Maxwell, the contestant, is not.

SENATE, May 1.—But little business done. The chair laid before the Senate the credentials of William B. Washburn, United States Senator from Massachusetts to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Sumner. Mr. Washburn was escorted to the Vice President's desk by his colleague, Mr. Boutwell, and the oath of office was administered by Mr. Carpenter, President pro tem. Mr. Boutwell (Rep., Mass.) asked to be excused from further service on the Committee on Claims, and that the chair be authorized to fill the vacancy. Granted, and the chair appointed the new Senator from Massachusetts (Washburn) to fill the vacancy.

HOUSE, May 1.-Speeches on the general Indian question and of the policy to be pursued towards them were made by several members, and the clerk proceeded to read the bill by paragraphs for amendment. An amendment was offered, and it was ascertained that there was not a quorum present when the House adjourned.

League, of Niles, a temperance massmeeting was held in that city last night conducted by the members of the Ladies Temperance Association of that city. Thirty-six of our ladies were present and seven gentleman. A special car was furnished them both going and coming. The ladies on arriving at Niles were escorted to the residence of Mr. Tuttle, whence, at the appointed hour, they proceeded in a body to the place of meeting-the Methodist Church. The building was filled to the utmost capacity, and all seemed to take a deep interest in the proceeding of the evening. The President of the Niles League presided with grace and effect. Mrs. F. R. Tutt made the opening prayer. The addresses was delivered by Mrs. G. H. Alward, Mrs. O. Caldwell, Mrs. A. S. Dunbar, Mrs. Tutt, Mrs. Barth, and Rev. N. D. Williamson. The excurtionists returned without having encountered an unpleasant incident, of any kind, and voted the .whole affair very enjoyable indeed.

THE NILES Republican says: J. A. Lambert and Thos Hawk, of this City, have been granted a patent City Officers' salaries, chopping them cry, and if it is practiced with prudence it will be well .- On Saturday last the saloon of C. Littlefield, under Peak Hall, was placarded with the following: "No liquor sold here after May 1st. Strictly Temperance Restaurant and Ico Cream Rooms open soon by Littlefield." A committee of four of the Ladies Union Temperance League visited the City Fathers in Council assembled, last evening, and asked their co-operation in the effort to stop the traffic in liquors in our midst.-Joseph Kebler, imployed in the Pulp Mill, met with a severe accident on Monday morning last. In some way his left arm became entangled in some belting used in running the machinery, and his wrist was so e saved .- The dwelling house on a farm rented and ocupied by Gen. N. Nott, one mile west of Ireland's Corners, in Berrien township, and six miles north of this City, was burned on Sunday last about noon. The building caught fire from a defective chimney near the roof. Loss to the owner-Mr. M. N. Cutler, of Gilrard, Pensylvania-$1,000, with no insurance. Mr. Nott's goods were nearly all taken from the building and saved.

THE ST. JOSEPH Herald says: Owing to the sudden change in the weather this spring, there is more sickness hereabouts than usual at this time of the year.—The Temperance Crusade which the ladies organized but comparatively a few days since, has resulted in the final overthrow of "King Alcohol" in St. Joseph, which comes third on the list of towns in this county to do away with sale of intoxicating liquors by the drink. To the ladies belong the credit of having put down the liquor traffic in our village, for had they not openly declared war on the business, the initiatory step towards its suppression, it is safe to say that all of the saloons in our town would have been in full blast to-day. But they started the ball in motion, and by good words succeeded in inducing a few saloon keepers to close their saloons, and when their efforts in this line failed to induce others to quit, the law was brought into play and the balance gracefully surrendered.

THE ST. JOSEPH Republican says: The fishermen are doing well now. The shipments to market last week were heavy.-The schooner G. Bardar, lumber laden, from Muskegon for Michigan City, was compelled to put into our harbor during the galo of she struck and sprung a leak. It being impossible for her to proceed to her destination with her full cargo, some 30,000 feet were disposed of here, when she continued her trip, and has reached Michigan City all right.—A sneak thief attempted to help himself to a small amount of cash in Palmer's store, on Monday last, but did not succeed in making a haul, as he was discovered in the act. He thinks Palmer too sharp for any man in that business.-We understand that quite a number of saloons close to-morrow night. Yours, the attempt to enforce the law. The net receipts of the St. Joseph Post Office, from January 1 to March 51, 1874, were $1,249.69, showing an increase, and that the business of the office exceeds that of any other-office along the line of the Chicago & Michigan Lake Shore Railroad.

THE BENTON HARBOR Palladium says: This cold weather, though disagreeable, is probably the best after all, for it keeps the fruit buds in check and out of danger .- We are informed that Hamilton Fonger, Esq., has notified Jas. Painter to close his barbershop on Sunday-to which Mr. P., does not object, since the other shop is to be closed also .- The most determined efforts are to be made to break up liquor selling in this place. We do not think, it proper to detail the plans of the crusaders, but it is sufficient to say that they are likely to prove as effective as the law can make them. We trust that the outside work that of the working public sentiment up to "high water mark" will not be neglected.

County Correspondence,

EDITOR RECORD.-I have been a subscriber to the RECORD for a long time and have never 'attempted a correspondence through its columns before. So for the first time I will write a few lines, and if it is your pleasure, please notice them. A temperance meeting was held at the Congregational church last Friday evening which was well attended, the lady that addressed the company was a Mrs. Reed of Niles, as I understand. I think this world has come to a pretty pass that the ladies must take the stand and deliver lectures. When this whisky war (as it is sometimes called) was first organized, my opinion was that the lady crusaders were sadly out of their places, but I think so no longer. for if the men can't, or rather, won't do for a Hanging Loose Pulley.—The anything to drive this evil from our Council has made mince meat of the land, I think the ladies are perfectly right, and are laboring in a noble cause. down to small bits. Economy is the Of course, women suffer most by the sale of whisky, why shouldn't they do all that lies in their power to kill the monster of all their unhappiness and all evil? Of the worst foes that wo man ever had to encounter, whisky stands at the head. The appetite for strong drink in man has spoiled the lives of more women, ruined more hopes for them, brought to them more shame and sorrow and hardships than any other evil that exists. Row many women in this country who are widows to-day and sit in hopeless weeds because their husbands have been slain by strong drink? There are hundreds of thousands of homes scattered all over the land in which the women live lives of terture, going through all the changes of suffering that lie between severely mangled that it was feared | the extremes of fear and despair, beamoutation would be neccessary, but | cause those whom they love love wine | bought the Dry Goods & Grocery it is now believed that his hand can better than they do the women they Store of Mr. Wm. Mettlemann. We have sworn to love. There are women by thousands who dread to hear at the door the step that once thrilled her with pleasure, because that step has learned to reel under the influence of seducive poison, and Oh! how much the wife and children suffer from the hands of the husband and father while mad with drink. There can be no exaggeration in any statement made in regard to this matter, because no imagination can create anything worse than the truth, and no pen is capable of portraying the truth. The sorrows and the horrors of a wife of a drunken husband, or a mother with a

There are different men that Iknow, will work hard all day, who, then at night they will take their earnings and go to the saloon and drink and gamble until all is gone, while their families are at home suffering for the necessaries of life. Now, my poor, misguided friends, pause for one moment and see where you stand, and if you have one spark of love or respect for your wife and children, for their sake turn back before it is too late. Turn over a new leaf for one week and notice what a great change there will be. When your day's work is done go home to your family and provide for their needs as well as your means will allow. Call your little children around you, let them know that you do love them yet. Speak a kind word to your wife once in a while, and then mark the change. Soon you will see the pale, sad face of you wife grow bright with new hope, her step grow Thursday last. In crossing the bar light as she performs her household duty. Please try it for one short weekif no longer, and see if you don't realize more happiness in that time than you would for months in those dens where they deal out poison to you which spoils your happiness and the happiness of others. They do many an cyil deed while under the influence of intoxicating drink, which they would not think of doing if they were in their right minds, and some which blacken their lives forever after. My most sincere and heartfelt wishes are that the ladies will succeed, and if they are not rowarded in this world they will be in the world to come. I hope none of my friends will be of-

. FROM NEW TROX.

April 25, 1874. ED. RECORD: - Monday, April 20, witnessed a gathering at the house of our newly elected Supervisor, Mr. E. P. Morley, of this place, to celebrate his sixtieth birthday, and it will long be remembered by all who were present. Notwithstanding the unpleasantness of the weather, all enjoyed themselves, and all went merry us a marriage bell First came the presenting of gifts and the way they were showered upon him showed how well be was loved and remembered by his children. Next came dinner, his children and grandchildren were all present, excepting two who were in a distant State and one was prostrated by sickness, but they were remembered, and when we were gathered around the Festive Board we felt sad to see their vacant places and to know that they could not be with us. The table was bountifully laden and almost groaned under the weight of viands that was spread upon it. After dinner, his brother, Rev. Wm. Morley, made some very appropriate remarks and Mr. Morley sung some verses which he had composed for the occasion which were very good, welcoming his children to their parental home But as all good things must come to an end, so did this pleasant little gathering, and may he long live to enjoy many happy reunions. м. г. н.

s very strongly recommended by the Medical Faculty and is largely prescribed among their female patients. It is worthy of all confidence as may be seen from the following testimonial:

Dear Sir-I have not words to express my gratitude to you for your advice and assistance in my case. There is not one who has used your medicines since they have been brought here but that can say with me that they have been greatly benefited. Since I have been so helped by its use, six or seven around me left off all doctors and other medicines, and now use it in their families, after being cured of the same disease as mine. You do not know what a wonder it created in our city, by its restoring my sister I wrote you about, for she had been under the care of three of our best doctors but could not sit up but for a few minutes at one time. begged of her to try your medicines, and before she had used half of the bottles she could go all around the yard, and has now control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERTY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be bedieved, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on liand as a protection against the early vinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attack of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, it neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, Chenry Pectoral is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves; and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. OUR WATCHWORD-EPWARD AND ON-WARD.

Humanity urges us onward, Wo'll ever be found in the van, Our nathway shall ever tend upward, While striving to elevate man.

No fee to improvement shall daunt us, No tyrant shall make us a tool, To further his schemes of ambition, And help him to over us rule.

We fight against wrong an oppressions,
For the truth and for general weak,
So we'll gather our strength for the contest
And gird on our armor with zeal.

The strife shall be carnest, though bloodless, While life lasts it never shall end. The pen, not the sword, is our weapon. Our principles we will defend.

Then rally, good friends, to our standard. Nor seek ignominous rest. Tue crusade is glorious and God like. We march at stern duty's behest.

The harvest is ripe for the sickle, Of reapers there are but a few. The wheat from the tares must be sifted,

That all we garner be true. Success to the God given mission!
Defeat to the foes who assail!
The wheat from the chaff must be riven While subject to blows from the flail.

Consistency.

Consistency is one of the loveliest of virtues, and yet how few of those who profess godliness are truely and strictly consistent. The Shell on the Shore. I had turned over the wet pebbles and the damp weeds and sought with naked feet amongst the waves for some bright shell or colored stone to carry home but could fine none. Tired out, I sat down on a pile of stones to rest, and to watch the waves unroll themselves on the waiting sands. I heeded not the tide, and let it go and come without notice. After a longer interval than I dare tell, considering I was without shoes or stockings, and my coat damp with the spray of the last tide, I awoke up from my dreaming and renewed my search for a prize, and sure enough there was a shell glistening and gleam ing, colored like sunlit orystal, just dropping from the white fingers of some daring wave. I did not hurry to possess myself of it, but sat still admiring. It was mine, I was sure could reach it any moment with my stick, and who was near on this lonely beach to pick it up ere I could get it Splash—splash, and up rolled a huge wave, hissing and hurrying rattling the stones, wetting my feet—and the shell, where is it? I looked round. I followed the receding water dripping sea-grass and creamy clots of froth only remained to meet me; the shell —the beautiful shell was gone. Old Neptune had altered his mind and got back his pearl. A little loss this, but uttering is lofty lesson, never to lose an opportunity of taking every gift of mercy or usefulness the tide of time may bring us; if unused-neglected-the wave that brought it will soon take it away.

The reputation Dr. Price has acquired by candid, honest dealing, and years of successful practice has induced unprincipled persons to copy and imitate him as far as they dare, in order to deceive. Let it be remembered that no person in the weat is treating Ohronic Diseases similar to Dr. Prico—that his practice is not one of experiments; but founded on the laws of Nature with years of experience and evidence to sustain it. That it does not tear down to build up—muke sick to make well—no harsh treatment, to trifling, no flattering. We know the cause and the remedy needed, no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of these diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect. Candid in our opinion, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or to cure everybody, but do claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailment, to call, investigate before they abandon hope, make interrogations and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing, as consultation is free. treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy tructions of the directive organs. Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Head-ache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tight-ness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Billous Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the off-springs of Dyspepsia. "Phunygrams."

Wake Money. A good looking Irishman stopped at a hotel to warm himself, and inquired of the landlord: "What is the news?" The landlord disposed to run upon him, replied:

"They say the devil is dead." "An' sure," says Pat, "that's news indade.' Shortly after he went to the bar, laid down some coppers, and resumed his sent. The landlord, always ready would take. "Nothing at all," said Pat. "Then why did you put down those for a customer, asked him what he ennies?" "An' sure, it's the custom in my own country, when a chap loses his daddy, to give him a few coppers to help him pay for the wake."

An extremely sharp and intelligent American gentleman from the West once walked into the office of Dr. C. T. Jackson, the chemist. "Dr. Jackson, I persume?" said he. "Yes, sir." "Are you alone?" "Yes, sir." "May I lock the door?" And he did so; then, having looked behind the sofa, and satisfied himself that no one else was in the room, he placed a large bundle done up in a yellow hand-kerchief on the table, and opened it. "There, doctor, look at that!" "Well," said the doctor, "I see it." "What do you call that, doctor?" "I call it iron pyrites." "What!" said the man; 'isn't that stuffgold ?" "No," said the doctor, "its good for nothing; its pyrites." And putting some over the fire in a shovel, it soon evaporated up the chimney. "Well," said the gentleman, with a woe-begone look, "there's a widow up in our town who has a whole hill full of that, and I've married her. Begin like this when you write for the papers:

"Mother Earth has cast aside her winter robes for the more genial gar-ments of springs, and the little birds are preparing to pour forth their warblings to cheer the heart of man, and soon nature will appear in her choicest garb." Then wind up like this: "mister editur plese print this in yure paper but don't printmy name."

We make these suggestions for the benefit of beginners. When we commenced we had no one to tell us. A young man who was married in Detroit six months ago has joined in the discussion of family economy, but his little contribution is so far from satisfactory. "I do not." he says, "understand how it is. I used to figure it out, as I sat with my arm around her waist on Sunday nights, and all it would then cost to live would be $2.75 a week, and now I spend $15 and am hungry half the time."

A Danbury man, who received a letter from Buffalo requesting him to go thither immediately to attend his mother-in law's funeral, declined, saying that he never attended celebrations during Lent.

The Sioux Indians are very observant. One of Spotted Tail's

followers, who speaks a little English, seeing one of the servant girls of a hotel in New York take off her chignon, exclaimed: "Hew! White woman raise her own scalp? Indian no good At a concert, a celebrated violinist was performing a solo on one string, when a fellow in the audience are so hard that a fellow can't buy but one string to his fiddle, it is time somebody passed around the hat!" An old lady hearing some one reading about a Congressman at large, rushed to the kitchen door, shouting: 'Sarah Jane, Sarah Jane! don't you leave the clothes out all night; mind

eggs home from a grocery, dropped them. "Did you break any?" asked his mother. "No," said he, "but the shells came off of some of 'em." An ambitious young lady was talking very loudly about her favorite authors, when a literary chap asked ber if she liked Lamb: With a look of ineffable disgust, she answered that she cared little about what she ate, compared to knowledge.

A veteran was relating his exploits to a crowd of boys, and mentioned having been in five engagements. "That's nothing," broke in a little fellow, "my sister Agnes has been engaged eleven times!" "Linger not, darling," she up the street at a rapid gait. He lingered only long enough to pull his hat down over his eyes, spit on his hands, and bound actively for the sidewalk. If twenty seven inches of snow ply the whole by the pump, and the total will be the answer.
