Poetry. RE THOROUGH.

BY MRS. N. H. PIERCE. Here is a rag on the sofa,

And there is a cup on a chair. You say you are through with the parlor, But what is the broom doing there? And see! 'tis not thoroughly dusted; You've given a wipe here and there: The curtains are not arrranged nicely, Nor strict order seen anywhere. You say you have finished the bed room Do you think that this bed is well made? The sheets may be seen 'neath the cover,

And see how the pillows are laid. The wash bowl here still contains water. The combs are not found in their place, The towel is dirty and rumpled,
In the glass you can scarce see your face. Be thorough in all things, my daughter; You'll find it the very best plan.

Whatever you do never slight it; But do just the best that you can. In any department of housework, In cooking, or washing the delf, In ironing, mending or making, Your handwork will speak for itself. And there are your lessons and music, Unless you are thorough and true, Though the fault be not seen by another The loss is the greatest for you.

And now let this lesson impress you;
It will not admit of a doubt,— Unless you are thorough in all things,
Your labors will 500u find you out. And youth is the time for improvement Nor should the rare chance be misspent, Lest through your whole life the fault follow No matter how much you lament.

Story

PLAYING WITH FIRE

Horace Kent was a dashing sort of fellow, who had, in the six weeks at the quiet country-side hotel, taken captive not only Ada Burton's heart, but the hearts of several other girls. He knew it well enough.

He had often and often watched the kindling bloom of Ada's face, and scen the quick averted glance she gave him-or did not give him.

It was very pleasant, very pleasant indeed, only he wished that Ada was not so desperately smitten; that she would not be in a hurry for the proposal he knew she expected, and which he certainly meant to honor her with in his own good time.

Meanwhile, it was very delightful to be lawfully, if not morally, priviledged to flirt with proud, marblefaced Stella Urivin, or the charming Mrs. Carlington.

He thoroughly liked his own way, and hated to be "bored," oven by the society of ladies, when he was not in the humor for it. He adjusted his Panama-so be coming, and he knew it-for a stroll off somewhere, where he could be uttorly, entirely alone. A certain secluded spot, a mile beyond the boat-house, he knew of a velvet-tufted lawn, overshadowed with low apple trees, and completely shut in with a thick under-growth of bushes, as high as a man's head. He sauntered round the turnpike, and climbed the fence to gain admis. 'promptu 'picnic." sion to the rural spot. The sun was terribly hot, and the cool grass delightfully refreshing, with the thick, leafy canopy overhead, and the fragrance of the apples on the still, drowsy air.

He threw himself at full length on the grass, his hands for a pillow under his head. Two voices, precisely opposite him on the other side of the thorn bushes, smote his ears.

"Delightful? It is hot enough to melt anyone, unless it is that salamander of yours, Ada; he doesn't seem to care at all for the heat." It was May Voici who spoke-a nerv ous, ready-tounged little witch, Kent's especial aversion. Mrs. Lillie Carlington's sweet, gracious voice-perhaps like all widow's voices, slightly affected-rebuked May

Mr. Horace Kent an unmitigated ras-A silence that was almost heard followed her bold speech, and Mr. Kent stroked his mustache complacently, and remembered he had rather slighted Miss Lyon the night before, which doubtless accounted for her opinion. "Just wait until Hugh comes,"

Bertha went on, a little hotly, "and we'll see if Mr. Kent can flirt with little Ada Burton, and nearly break her heart, and never say the word a man ought to say, and would say, if he wasn't what I know he is, an unmiti- to spring up; his second, to remain gated rascal." lot Mr. Hugh flirt with her, and I'll flirt with Mrs. Carlington, and if they think me jealous-well, let 'em try.' He got up, dusted his clothes, plucked a twig off the apple tree and stuck it in his button-hole and sauntered back. "But I'll not let her slip, even to please them; after the play is over, and I've proved my 'unmitigated rascalism' I'll tell little Ada I love her, and have loved her all along."

Then he went up to his room, past Ada Burton's door, and he heard her singing a song he had played the night befcre.

"You're sure you're entirely agreed. Miss Burton?—you are sure I may flirt with you to my heart's content?" It was a wonderously thrilling voice that spoke in a confidential tone to Ada, and she looked up to see a pair of merry searching eyes bent in a very decided admiration on her crimson cheeks. "Of course, that is a bargain," said

Bertha, "only mind you, Hugh Lyon, vou are not to fall in love with heris he too Aid?" "I am afraid that I shall," said Mr.

Hugh Lyon, and then gave Ada his. arm into the apartment where the music was sounding. ... Horace Kent was inside the doorjust where Ada had hoped he would be, when she came in, in her triumph -only, and she had not expected that -Mrs. Lillie Carlington was on his arm, laughing and chatting in the familiar manner. Ada felt her heart sicken for one second, and then she bowed to them. and went on with Hugh. Ada's spirit would not stay out of her eyes; her cheeks would flush and pale alternately as she stole sly glances at the handsome fellow who had made such an impression on her.

Hugh Lyon saw her distress, and pitied her from the depths of his kindy heart, and wondered how any fellow on earth blessed with the affection of such a sweet girl as Ada Burton could help striving mightily to hold it. "They don't seem to care," whispered Ada piteously. "We don't make it strong enough, he said cheerily "Lets get in front of them, and whisper, and be dreadfully confidential!"

And so Hugh cut across the room with Ada and in front of Kent and the widow; whispered to perfection. But "forewarned was forearmed," and Kent smiled serenely, and the

As long, says the author of 'Hair Markets of Europe," as girls will wear as much false hair as that naturally belonging to them, it would be puerile to attempt to read character or disposition in the fashion and character of the locks displayed; but viewed naturally, the hair is as great an index of temperament and disposition as the features. Mr. Creer, in his volume on hair, for instance, quotes the following indications of character founded upon the sex and texture of flowing locks from a book recently smooth. published in Paris, entitled "Secrets of Beauty:" Coarse black hair and dark skin signify great power of character, with a tendency to sensuality. Fine black hair and dark skin indicate strength of character along with purity and goodness. Stiff, straight black hair and beard indicate a coarse, strong, rigid, straightforward character. Fine dark brown hair signifies the combination of exquisite sensibilities with great strength of character. Flat, clinging, straight hair a melancholy, but extremely constant character. Harsh, upright hair is the sign of a reticent and sour spirit; a stubbern and harsh. character. Coarse, red hair indicutes powerful animal passions, together with a corresponding strength of character. Auburn hair with florid countenance denotes the highest order of sentiment and intensity of feeling; purity of character, with the highest pacity for enjoyment or suffering. Straight, even, smooth and glossy hair denotes strength, harmony, and evenness of character, hearty affections, a clear head and superior talents. Fine, silky, supple hair is a mark of delicate and sensitive temperament, and speaks in favor of mind and character. White.

INFLUENTIAL CONGRESSMEN. Many of the papers, of late, are discu-si g the necessity and propriety of returning to our next Congress those who are the present members of that body. Experience in legislation no doubt is a great advantage under the present state of affairs, and no matter how wise and sagacious, or how well informed in regard to parliamentary rules and usage the man may be who is chosen to represent the people in Congress, during his first term he is but little more than an honorary member. He cannot make himself useful or gain any influence in Congress until he has served an apprenticeship. No matter what his reputation may be at home, no matter what qualifications as a statesman he may possess, he takes his seat in that body among a large number of men who are independent thinkers, thoroughly familiar as legislators with the various subjects brought before them, and if he is too anxious to assert his opinions and exhibit his learning and powers of eloquence, he at once loses all respect and influence which he might have commanded by a more modest course, and by leaving the lead to be taken, and the advice to be given, by older and more experienced members. As water is sure to find the level, so a member of Congress, without any effort on his part to gain popularity, is sure to drift to the position to which his ability and worth naturally entitle him. Experience is not alone to be considered in selecting our members to Congress, but when a member has served in that distinguished position, has been "on trial" before that bedy has sustained himself through al the examinations and criticisms, and proven himself a worthy member, his experience then is a strong argument in favor of his re-election. This matter is of more real import ance than appears at first thought It is an easy matter for influential members in Congress to introduce important measures and have them passed without any or little opposition or discussion. Other members attract but little notice, and their windy speeches and Ciceronean efforts have no weight whatever, and are only intended for home consumption, to please their constituents and prepare the way for their re-election. It is no difficult matter to find out who these members are. They are well known in Washington and can be discerned by reading the proceedings of Congress. They will never attain to any position of good or usefulness in influencing or moulding the legislation in Congress, and their places should be filled by other and better men. ECONOMY.

The discussion of the finance question, the question of cheap transportation, the organization of the Grangers, all teuch a lesson which it is wisdom to recognize in time, and to profit by the same. An ancient philosopher, on being asked to assign a cause for the wars bloodshed and devastation which marked the era in which he lived, answered, "Pride." If our Government, which we are proud to claim as the best that ever had an existence shall decline and be overturned, Extravagance and Corruption will be assigned as the cause. Our general government, in its present management, is too expensive. There are too many officers and clerks, too much red tape, and too much unnecessary complication. The government, instead of being a blessing to all the people, is becoming more and more a blessing for the capitalists, and those who take part in its administration. Appropriation bills come up in Congress, disposing of millions and millions of dollars of the peoples' money for different purposes, and the people gress has any correct knowledge of the use to which these large sums of money are to be applied. This is not the case, as a general thing in our State Governments. Our State officers frequently are poorly paid, and the affairs of the States are so simplified that every transaction is made plain so that all can understand them. Government of some form is a necessity. But the extravagance and corruption exhibited in the management of our National affairs during the past few years are not necessary. and a burdened and oppressed people cry aloud against them. If new party become famous for its attraction for lines are drawn it will be on these grounds. The fight will be between extravagance, the interest of capital nut, that have been shattered and ists and monied corporations on one stripped by the terrific blows of the side, and economy, protection of the interests of the laborer and the masses on the other. This issue will soon be joined, unless some radical changes are made in the expenses required in the management of our National gov-

Louisiana Correspondence. STRAIGHT UNIVERSITY, N. O.,

La., June 10, 1874. ED. RECORD :- Since the 20th April: we have had very little rain. For nearly fifty days we have had barely enough to lay the dust, in two or three instances. Before that for six weeks or two months it rained, rained about every day, and for successive days rain came in torrents. Then it was too much rain, now it is too little, and thousands are suffering for the deficiency. Cisterns have been empty for weeks, and peop'e have drawn their supply, from the city hydrants. The water in these is drawn from the river, and though not as clear as the cistern water, people like it when used to it, and will assure you it is more "healthy." I do not think so. But on the contrary, the cistern water is apparent y pure and good. And strange it is that it can be kept, as it is in immense tanks of wood elevated entirely above ground. It does not become stagnant nor discolored, but it is as white or crystal as spring water. The theory is that it remains so by being covered from the light and exposed to the air. The tops of these disterns are constructed to effect this. The country is generally suffering from the dry weather so long contin-The people of New Orleans claim that their city is as healthy as any in the United States. The conditions, as we understand what conditions health requires, do not seem to be favorable. There is want of drainage, the tracks are not properly cleared, filth and offal are cast into the streets and gutters, indeed sanitary regulation seems generally neglected. And one's eyes and nostrils are constantly offended as he goes upon the streets And he is not exempt even in his own house. One would think such want of care must produce deadly diseases. And he will think without wishing to, of Yellow Fever and Cholera and evil diseases. But physicians claim that yellow fever does not necessarily follow. One of the medical authorities here, one of the oldest and most learned physicians, claims that it does not at all depend upon these ugly conditions. - While Gen. Butler had rule here in '62, the city was thoroughly policed. Its sanitary conditions were made as good as they could be. It was boasted that New Orleans was the "cleanest city in the Union." And it was healthy. But as this medical authority claims, no more healthy than in other years, when similar attention to cleanliness did not prevail. For three previous years and eight preceeding, there was no more of yellow Still, doubtless, were the city well drained and properly policed, it would likely as healthy as any. It is very you many such instances of the fury warm, but in the shade and in posi- of the storm. Its course is too plaintion to catch the breeze, which almost | ly marked. Orchards are stripped; constantly prevails, it is pleasant and not uncomfortable. But we all begin to sigh for a smell of the fresh, clear. bracing breezes of the North. Our term soon closes, and then nearly all of our force will bid adieu to Southern skies for the summer. Nothing makes natives of the cooler latitudes covet the thousand pleasant things to which they have been accustomed and which they have consented to forego for a time, in view of other objects, like the pressure of fatigue. We get weary, and these soft airs do not nerve and brace us. They tend to a growing laziness, rather than to strength and elasticity. Some one says, "there can not exist the highest civilization where snow and ice do not prevail a part of the year." And I partly believe it. We have ice here, Northern and Southern. Northern ice they call 'Boston," here. And one pound of Boston ice is worth two of Louisiana. It is hard, solid, and close. It lasts, while the ice made here is porous and soft, and fades like dew. Still for many purposes it answers a good purpose. And it is used very generally. It is sold cheaper and finds more sale. And in this climate ice has become, by the habits of the people, an indispensable. It is ranked among the necessaries of life at this season. They call times "hard" in New Orleans. All kinds of trade are depressed by the general want and stagnation caused by the overflow. The country is poor, and all business in the city suffers. It will be long before Louisiana can recover and make good her losses. We close the term with a public meeting of one of our societies, the "Sumner" debating club, and an oration on Chas. Sumner, by a prominent lawyer of New Orleans. Yours truly, J. K. DEERING.

EDENBURG, CLARION Co., PENN., JUNE 9, 1874. EDITOR RECORD:—On the afternoon of Sunday, June 7th, this district was visited by the most destructive tempest ever witnessed in this locality, and one that not only struck terror to the hearts of the inhabitants; but nature itself seemed, as it were, to have been engaged in a terrible conflict with itself, spreading ruin and devastation along its course, as it swiftly sped along over these hills. This country is made up of one continuous range of hills, most of them densely wooded, chestnut being very prominent, and in this particular locality, embracing a range of about three miles in width, is a strip of land that has lightning. . The old settlers will point out hundreds of trees, mostly chestelectric fluid: Sunday afternoon I witnessed one of these storms; and I must say that it was the most terrific of any that ever came under my observation: .For fury, power, and grandeur combined exceeded anything increasing the darkness, and roaring by 48 to 108. The jurisdiction of the little attention, that nurestrained local on Wednesday. His remains were in a terrible manner. I immediately Light-House Board was extended over taxation was the heaviest burden, by brought to St. Joseph on Thursday shut down the engine, as is the custom here during these storms, intending to !! start for the house. But I was too late. The first dash of rain came, and with it a shower of hail, and for the next ten minutes the scene was one beyoud my power of a just description.

The wind increased to a hurricane. by $5 to 17, A conference committee Trees fell, crashing; the rain fell in torrents; and the hail fell rattling through the trees and upon the engine house, covering the ground in many places until it was white. One hour after the storm, very many of these hail stones were picked up that measured one and seven-eigth inches in diameter; in shape, a great many resembled a ribbed tomato, perfectly white upon the outside, with a ball of transparent ice in the center, about one-half an inch in diameter. To add to the wildness of this scene, the flash of the lightning, and the roar of the thunder was incessant. To one safely housed, the fury of this storm could not be apparent; but to one situated in the midst of crashing limbs and falling trees, cooped up in an enginehouse but twenty feet from a derrick, that stands twenty-five feet high, with all of the heavy iron fixtures in direct : communication with the engine-house. I say that one in this position would be more apt to realize the fullest extent of the storm. At least, I know I did. To run was to put ourself in danger of the pelting hail, and to remain was apparently to be crushed by either the falling derrick, or by some of the huge trees. However, the storm gradually abated, and as soon as was practicable I walked up to the brow of the hill, and here in an open field were the remains of three derricks, two of them. finished but last week. As far as I could see, in every direction, the derricks were down, but those in the woods had escaped. A number had been struck by the lightning, and on the adjoining farm an oil tank was struck. The gas ignited, and an extensive conflagration was prevented, simply by one of the men throwing an old coat over the hole, through which the oil pumped into the tank, and by so doing smothered the fire. Had the oil ignited, the tank would have burst, and the man lost his life speedily. At another well near by, an engineer was standing in the doorway. A tree not ten feet from the rear of his boilerhouse was struck,; he ran and hid between the boiler arch and side of the house, just as a large tree came crash ing through the roof, bringing with it a portion of the smoke-stack. Get ting himself out of the debris, he ran fully half a mile through an open field to a farm house. The next day he admitted that he was the "worst scared be more healthy than it is, and very dutchmen in Penn." I could give > remains. So, also, with the dwelling houses. At a point five miles from here, a valuable horse was killed by the hail. Of the damage done I can give you no knowledge at the time of this writing. In this immediate vicinity it will take thousands of dollars to repair the damage done to the oil interest, while that of the farmers and others I can give no estimate. It is the all-absorbing topic here to-day, and I may safe-ly predict that for a long time to come the storm of June 7th 1874, will not be forgotten by the inhabitants of this vicinity. Respectfully, WALTER I. HIMES.

SOUTH BEND, Ind, June 2, 1874. My Dear Sir: On my return home from speaking tour, I received your kind note, in which you state that you are requested by the Committe of Arrangements of the Patrons of Husbanday of Wabash County to invite me to attend a Grange picuic for that County, to be held near North Manchester on the 17th inst. I have so many pleasant recollections of your County during a thorough canvass of it, in my younger years, in 1851, and have received so many evidences of the good will of its citizens during visits to it since then, that I would with great pleasure accept this invitation with which I have been honored, but for an engage-

But I have always recognized that there are Rail Road Rights as well as Railroad Wrongs, and that this great question must be settled, and can only be enduringly settled, on the basis of Right and Justice, and upon those principles of Equality which have been potential in the settlement of all the great questions confronting us in our recent history. Thus, while all must acknowledge their great usefulness in developing the resources of the Nation, and opening vast areas of our interior to settlement and improvement; we all see plainly that Rail Roads can no more do without the producers than the producers can do without them.

And all should concede that, as Rail Roads can only be built by the exercise of the State's right of eminent domain, under charters as public highways granted by the people through their Legislatures, they have no more right to denounce reasonable Legislative supervision than ferries or turnpikes, chartered by the same authority. And if the miller who grinds wheat can rightfully be limited by the State in his tolls, why cannot the railroad which brings the wheat to his mill to be ground? The just ground on which all just men can unite is that Rail Roads should be common carriers for all on common grounds, and at equitable rates, without favoritism or unjust discrimination, and on the just basis of "reasonable rates for the people and reasonable profits for the companies." I remember many years ago how a distinguished English states. man was criticised for a proposition that their great Rail Roads should run third class trains; mornings and evenings, for laborers, &c., at a penny (two cents); : per- mile : He was, lampooned as a, demagogue, and as a

THE place to buy Groceries is at J. P. Binns & Co's., where you will be used gentlemanly and will not be found fault with if you don't buy. Goods are sold at fair profit. Call and see for yourselves.

J. P. BINNS, A. C. DAY.

We have a large number of old papers for sale at this office-60 cents per hundred, or ten cents per dozen.

PHOTOGRAPHS.—Those wishing photographs will find it to their interest to call at H. E. Bradley's new Gallery, over the Bank, Buchanan, Mich.

WE were behind last week on account of moving part of the office, and also this week by reason of our engine getting out of repair. By another week we hope to be on time, and can also devote the usual amount of attention to the interests of the paper.

THE exact time that harvest will begin cannot be told yet to a certainty.

FRUIT JARS by the thousand. Kinyon & Vincent's. All the best varieties at bottom prices.

WE return thanks to Mr. William Mead for presenting us with some of the largest and best quality of strawborries we have ever seen. They were very acceptable. Mr. Mead has shown what excellent berries can be raised by proper care and cultivation. He has over one-half an acre of these berries and will be enabled to supply a large amount to any who may desire to purchase.

SMITH & SONS have filled up the room in which their grocery store is situated, and will hereufter occupy the entire room. This additional room is neccessary to arrange with any convenience the large stock of groceries which this firm carries. They intend to purchase a larger stock of groceries of all kinds immediately and will present an appearance that would do credit to any town or city in Michigan.

HAVING just received a large assortment of the latest styles of hats, bonnets and flowers, I will offer great inducements to those calling on me for the next thirty days. I have also a complete line of ladies' furnishing goods at the lowest cash price. Please call and examine for yourselves, first door east of Citizens' Bank, Niles. Mrs. C. Egbert.

A PACKAGE which had been in the Freight House in this village for some time, was missing on Monday last. The package was shipped to the late Benj. Washburn. Agent Gibbs proceeded with a constable in south of the goods and found them in the hands of John Washburn, who said that he called at the Freight House and no one being there to wait on him at the time, thought, as he had a right to the property, that he would take it. He vas let off on paying the costs. Pcople should not use too much liberty in taking goods without authority from those who have charge of them.

In the above report we have given facts and figures, comparing the present school year with the last. And we deem comment unnecessary. We could most respectfully call the attention of patrons to that portion of the above report, showing the marked improvement in regularity and punctuality of attendance. We do so more especially as there has been a disposition on the part of some to complain of the stringency of our rules. The result shows a gain in tardiness of nearly 100 per cent. and of attendance 20 per cent. There has also been an increase of daily attendance, of nearly 8 per cent and the increase on promotions amounts to almost 50 per cent. We trust the patrons of the school will see the importance of keeping their children regularly at school, and aid us in our efforts to secure promptness and regularity of attendance. W. F. KENT, Principal.

Home Correspondence. ED. RECORD:—The apple tree borer is a much greater pest to the orchard than the "tent caterpillar." The borer injures or destroys the tree itself, while the caterpillar destroys only the leaves and some of the fruit. chards than in old ones. The eggs are laid by a "bug," during the summer, on the body of the tree, where the bark is dead, or loose, or imperfect in some way, and generally on the south side of the tree. They soon hatch out, and the borer commences its work of destruction. It begins eating the inner bark, and as it grows, eats its way around the tree, just at union of bark and wood, eating a part of both, and thus affecting the tree at its most vital part. They require two or three years to come to maturity. When full grown, they eat their way in the heart of the tree and there transpose into the perfect state—the

"bug" that lays the eggs. I have just hatched out a few of the "bugs," which may be seen at the RECORD Office. The codling moth will receive attention next week. FARMER. Sabbath School Concert. MR. EDITOR:-We had the real good fortune to be present at the Sunday School Concert, given by the peo-ple of Terre Coupee Prairie, held at the United Brethren Church, one mile South of Dayton, on Sunday evening last. The school is under the supervision of Mr. Wesley Redding, the Superintendent. It seems that no pains had been spared to make it a grand success. The declamations and orations, with few exceptions, were intensely religious, and delivered in the finest style. The music, conducted by Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Spencer, and others, both instrumental and vocal, was truly delightful. The church was filled to overflowing, with people from all parts of the surrounding country. We noticed quite a number of aged mill, in Bay City. June 15th, 1874. ED. RECORD :- A most disgracefu fight occurred here on last. Thursday afternoon, at Mr. Jacob Klasner's safive gentleman and five ladies, to re-port name, plan, and officers for a thunder generally was let loose. The parties concerned, were Jacob Klas-ner, A. C. Phillips and Wm. Germinder. These three done the bloodshedding, but several others helped do the cussing and swearing, and stopped by the constable and others. Al. Phillips was the worst hurt of

was in the hands of Phillips who aimed the blow at his face, but missing that, the chisel just grazed his cheek and was buried in his shoulder, making a very bad wound. Jacob Klasner only received several marks and scars on his face. Taking it altogether, it was certainly a disgrace to any civilized community. Why will the good people of Galien let such a curse, such a nuisance, such a hell hole as that saloon is, be in their midst, when they have the law on their side? Hardly a year has passed since the father of the saloon keeper was killed -don't ask how-but now his son is selling the same poison which killed his father, to others. How long must this curse remain among us? Respectfully,

June 6, 1874. Mr. Editor:—The saying is, a ime for all things. Seed time and harvest, sunshine and showers, and even Laketon correspondence. The demand needs a new recruit. Who will volunteer next and give rest to the overtaxed nerve of the Laketon writer. This advertising through the items column reminds me of the Great Eastern big advertised Small Elephant. Perhaps New Troy will spell him until cool weather. The new Cheese Factory at Hill's Corners is quite an attraction, which will be very beneficial to the farmers around. Those near the lake devote their energies to fruit. It makes our hearts glad when we ride around the country and see the peach trees loaded. Peaches and cream are looked forward to as much as a Grange feast. The whole fraternity look ahead in anticipation of the feast. Who wouldn't? for it is about all there is of it. I close by singing the yellow corn.

FROM THREE OAKS.

June 15, 1874. EDITOR RECORD .- Having a few spare moments I will devote them to penning a few lines for your good paper. Sunshine and shower have united in making the prospect for all kinds of crops, except wheat, in this locality, very prosperous. Corn never looked better; oats will make a big crop; hay good; new strawberries in the market. I have just returned from a tour through Berrien Co., and everywhere the crop prospects of all or woodsman should be without it. In kinds are excellent. While at Galien fact, it is needed wherever there is an village, last Thursday, a drunken row in a saloon took place, in which hammer and chisel, also knife and bottles were used. Two men were very badly hurt. I will say for the very quiet village of Galien, that such transactions are not frequent, and immediate steps are being taken to put a stop to the only nuisance in the village—one saloon. It is said that no liquor is At thirty-five the average American sold in Three Oaks, but I think a close | discovers that he has an "infernal stomach observer can form a different opinion. and goes into the hands of the doctors for I was on the streets of this unusually | the remnent of his life. Prevention is quiet village yesterday, and saw men | better than cure, but Dr. Walker's Vinegoing in and out of the salcons almost constantly; saw them walk as cold water never makes men walk. Gentlemen of Three Oaks, your temperance moves are a farce, unless you deal with this monster firm and thorough. My opinion is, that as much liquor is sold on the sly as ever, and will be revived again in full force. You have but just begun your work. Your county organization will be a dead letter, unless you are vigilant and watch every case, and follow it up closely.—Yesterday I found my way to the Congregational Church, where a fine congregation assembles; but the congregation was 55 minutes assembling, to the great annoyance of all present. The pastor gave a stirring discourse on the Duties of Christians on the Sabbath: he made some telling illustrations, gave some good advice, and said that Christians should not read the county newspapers on the Sabbath. But he was forced to admit that it would take a vast amount of gleaning to get the religious reading from the secular and fictitious in the religious papers. I think he was right. The Sabbath School is full of life and interest, conducted by Mr. Ed Warren. The Rev. Mr. Kent, of Michigan City, changed pulpits with the Rev. Mr. Parrey, of Three Oaks, a week ago last Sunday.-Dr. Greenamyer has returned from his wedding tour, and is settled in his new house. It was cremation hot, but very cool now. The California fever rages pretty high with some parties in this town. But my advice to all poor people, is to not take the fine newspaper, reports of adventurers. The chances in Berrien Co. for laboring men are just two to one over California. It is the hardest country in America for a poor man with a family of helpless children, because there is the concentration of the world, with 75,000 Chinamen, that are a leech and scourge to that country. I may say more on California at some future

Success Based Upon Merit. It is a subject of general remark, among hoth wholesale and retail druggists, that no medicine introduced to the American public has ever gained such a popularity and met with so large a sale in all parts of the land, in the same length of time, as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This cannot depend upon its having been more largely advertised than any other medicine, as such is not the case. The correct explanation, we think, is found in the fact that this medicine produces the most wonderful and perfect cures of very bad cases of bronchial, throat and lung diseas es, is undoubtedly the most perfect and efficient remedy for all kinds of coughs that has ever been introduced to the pub lic, and at the same time possesses the greatest of blood-purifying and strengthening properties that medical science has been able to produce, thus rendering it a sovereign remedy not only in the cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and Coughs, but also for all diseases of the liver and blood, as scrofulous diseases, blotches, rough skin, pimples, black specks and discolorations. It has therefore a wide range of application and usefulness, and it not only gives the most perfect satisfaction to all who use it, but far exceeds the expectations of the most sanguine, thus

66 W E And Our EIGHBORS"

Harriet Beecher Stowe. Author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." The Minister's Wooing," "My Wife and I, and other powerful stories, each the literary sensation of its period; and this story promises a like genuine and wholesome sensation. It bears directly on social topics of interest, embracing the romance of youthful companionships, the brightness of happy home-life, the spicy complications of neighborhood associations, and such follies and profound domestic miseries as have led to the widespread Temperance movement of the dov.

Mrs. Stowe is now in the prime of Eint genius which wrote "Uncle Kom," ripened by years of study and observation. Her novels are immensely popular, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" alone out-selling by hundreds of thousands any edition of any original work ever publishedsave the Bible: Her book two year ago, "My Wife and I." outsold every contemporary. Such pure and ennobling story as "We and Our Neighbors" should be read in every home. This new Serial is now running exclusively in the Weekly Family Newspaper, = CHRISTIAN UNION Henry Ward Beecher, EDITOR.

In religious matters this paper is Evangelical and unsectarian; in political affairs, independent and outspoken. It contains the best articles, and both short and serial stories, from the foremost writers; it aims to maintain the highest standard in Religion, Literature, Poetry, Art, Music, Science, News, Politics, Household and Family Affairs, with Stories, Rhymes, Puzzles for the Children, etc. Nothing is spared to make it a COMPLETE Newspaper for the Family, pure, attractive, wide-awake, and up with the times-a journal interesting to every one in the household, young or old. It is A MARVEL OF NEATNESS. For less than one cent a day, it gives every week reading matter enough to fill an ordinary $1 25 book of over 300 pages; and in a year 52 such volumes, i.c., sixty-five ewars' worth of matter! To each is thus annually PRESENTED A Complete Library. The form of the paper, 24 pages large, 4to, pasted and trimmed, commends it to all. The well-earned popularity of this paper is now such that of its class it has the LARGEST CIRCULATION IN WORLD and has readers by hundreds of thousands.

els in order as long as nature's cathartic, the bile, flows freely, and regularly from its source in the liver, and is of the right strength and quality. But the great biliary gland is easily disordered, and the consequences of its irregularities are serious. To bring it back to its natural condition when thus effected, Hostetter's

Stomach Bitters should be taken, at deast twice a day until the desired object is attained. Constipation is due to a scant supply of bile, or to a lack of the stimu-lating element in that fluid. In either case mere purgation is useless. The liver must be compelled to yield the supply of bile necessary to remove the waste matter from the system at least once in twenty four hours before a radical cure of costive-ness can be accomplished. Hostetter!

Bitters produces this effect. Its action upon the stomach and liver is direct, and salutary, and through these organs it reg-ulates and invigorates the whole frame.

Beloved friends that are with us to day.
To morrow are with us no more; Like a phantom they ranish away And pass to that far batter shore

There is nought that is born of this earth No matter how fought we cherish, But is stamped with decay from its birth, And the fairer, the sooner twill perish.

A kind voice cheers us onward to-day, In death is silent to morrow;
And hearts that were so cheerful and gay, Are broken with anguish and sorrow.

The present is but a rulious pile;
Its darkness e'ershadows the past,
Future hopes lure but to beguile,
Too finil are their pleasures to last.

Though the sky for a moment may clear, And we gaze on the sun in delight, Full soon the dark clouds will appear, And drape it with shadows of night.

Pleasant Reflections. Our dreams of life may be bright and beautiful. Why are we so surrounded by all that can please the eye and gratify the tasts, if it be not designed that we should enjoy these rich gifts not for ourselves alone, but that the enjoyment may be reflected upon all by whom we are surrounded? The world with its glorious paraphernalia is admirably adapted to our wants, and to our capacities. The earth upon which we tread, is richly carpeted with many hued flowers, whose oder is exhaled beneath each crushing footfall. The air is soft, balmy or bracing, sunlight and shade alternate in agreeable variety. The sky is studded with innumerable stars set like "diamonds on the brow of night," all, is gloriously beautiful, and our spirits, if we will, are readily in harmony with the great orchestra of nature until they are capable of diffusing the heaven-reflected radiance upon all within their sphere of influence. Why should we not ever live in harmony with nature, allowing our spirits to expand and strengthen with its glorious surroundings until we are capable of discharging our whole duty to the world and to our God in the spirit of love truth and beauty which

Give till Fou Feel It.

Covetousness is a dreadful disease, chronic and stubborn. Giving is the remedy. If you would remove an offeasive ulcer, you must cut till it bleeds. The very cords of avarice, which binds the heart and mammon fast together, must be cut in order to give acceptably, Pittances may be given to satisfy public sentiment or pride, but true liberality is heaven's antidote to covetousness. Give till you feel it. Nothing else can be called sacrifice and self-denial.

Nature's Great Remedy

THROAT AND LUNG DISEASES!! It is the vital principle of the Pine Tree, obtained by a peculiar process in the distillation of the Iar, by which its highest medicinal properties are retained. Tar even in its crude state has been recommended by eminent physicians of every seriod. It is confidently offered to the afflicted for the following simple reasons:

1. It cures: not by abriptly stepping the coughbut by dissolving the phlegm and assisting nature to throw off the unlealthy matter causing the irritation. In cases of seated consumerrors it both prolongs and renders less burdensome the life of the afflicted sufferer.

2. Its healting principle acts upon the irritated surface of the lungs, penetrating to each diseased part, relieving pain, and subduing inflammation.

3. IT PURITIES AND ENRICHES THE BLOOD. Positively curing all humors, from the common prayle or neutrons to the severest cases of Scientia. Thousands of affidavits could be produced from those who have felt the beneficial effects of Pine Term Tar Cornial. In the various diseases arising from interprints or THE BLOOM.

4. It invigorates the digestive organs and restores.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of Vinegar Britishs?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of Vinegar Bitters in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to: They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

more real value to mankind than this effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast irial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that Guerray Pactoral will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Rulinonary Organs yield to its power; and eases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publically known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep to on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attack of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, Cherry Pectoral is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are resound from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-pestoring sleep. No saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza, and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toll is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable of producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color. A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the forma-tion of dandruff, which is often so un-cleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING nothing else can be found so desirable Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

Five from five leaves how many?" asked the teacher of a little girl of some six years, who had not had many lessons in modern arithmetic. After a moment she answered, "Five." "How do you make that out?" said the teacher. Holding her little hands out the child said: "Here are five fingers on my right hand, and here are five on the other. New, if I take the five fingers on my left hand away from the right won't five remain?" Of course there was a flaw in
