The Boy Who Ate Turnip. Most everybody knows "red-headed Tim," the newsboy and bootblack. He is always getting hurt, crossing thought it might be a good thing to the path of the police or falling into the river, and yesterday he came near hoopskirts on the floor nights, and puthaving his earthly career out off in its spring time. He helped himself to a tin' people's life in danger, you know.' Here he stopped, and, leaning back in turnip from a farmer's wagon on the his chair, with a sigh of relief from an Campus Martius as he came into town, and as he meandered down Griswold street people saw him giving the turrather uncalled for anxiety. Then nip a rub on his elbow and then biting rising and replacing his hat, with anout "hunks" which would have made stoppers for catsup bottles. One of these bites failed to go down. It went into his throat and stuck there; and Tim was suddenly seen to drop his box and jump up and down and throw his arms about. "Tim's got a new circus trick!" yelled a boy on the other side of the street, and in a moment half a dozen ran over. Tim jumped up and came down on one foot, tried to cough, and his eyes hung out like porcelain door knobs. "Isn't but the New York Tribune thinks if that just old high circus, though?" exclaimed one of the boys, and the other boys threw up their caps and hurrahed. Tim jumped up and down again and motioned for some one to is the origin of much of the misery pat him on the back, and an old gent and damage which come from excescame round the corner and said that if such fooling wasn't stopped he'd whistle for a policeman. Tim tried to motion out that he had something in his throat, and the old gent went on to say that things had come to a pretty pass in Detroit when an old pioneer couldn't walk out without a boy making faces at him. "Give Tim three cheers!" shouted a little muffin, as Tim backed up against a telegraph pole, hopped up and down and grew purple in the face. "Look at the great American distortioner !" shouted another boy and they knocked their boxes together and cheered lustily. One of the letter carriers halted and said that if he had a boy who would act that way he'd take off his hide and hang it on the fence, and a bank porter said it made him shudder when he remembered that he was the father of nine children. Things were getting black with Tim. He made more sive drinking. There are thousands of boys growing up to day who have no inherited thirst for liquor, to whom the taste and smell of whisky are offensive, who are destined to become drunkards, merely through their generosity and desire to please. They know of no other way of making themselves agreeable to their acquaintances, when they meet, than by asking them to take a drink, and when the same invitation is given to them they now to refuse. not seen these fine, rosy, rather loutish boys, at country fairs or political meetings, marching up to bars by twos and threes, asking each other, "what will you take?" and gulping down a dose of poison which brings tears to their eyes? When one has paid for the drinks, each of the rest feels the obligation resting upon him to return courtesy, and the rural etiquette obliges all to recognize the right of motions for some one to pound him each to disburse the price of a dram between the shoulders, and he wheezfor the company. In most cases not ed like a locomotive off the track, but one of them enjoys it. They all feel they thought he was in fun. "It is firey stuff in their faces and their eyes, sad to think that the prison doors will clouding their minds and rasping their clash behind him before he reaches throats. But the one who has first manhood," sighed a woman who was paid is the slave of his friends, and carrying letters to the postoffice: "When I see such actions in one so the conventionalities of the village or the cross-roads are as strong as those of the city. "Yes, that's all right for you to say but just let me meet him! I'll show him how to run a paper." "What did he do?"

"Do? He did a good deal. Here's how it is: I often went up to Springfield on the last train at night, did my business in the evening, and came home on the first morning train. Well, one night I met an old crony and we went to Music Hall to the theatre. When we came out we met some friends. Of course I could not get right out, so I treated, then Jim treated; and the others treated; in fact we were havg a pretty good time, when some row. In less than no time the police were in and had us. The next morning I was hauled before the court and fined $7.40. I did not care much, because I gave a false name, and knew my wife could not find it out; but the next morning, I'll be eternally confused, if that very paper didn't have not desire that his poultry should be very fat, for there is a kind of antagonism between reproduction and the storing of much fat in the tissues. If it was a mere question of what to do with the material, there would seem to be no reason why a fowl, once having attained her full weight, should not then always begin to lay. Fat in a living being is generally as foreign to the system as if it were tried out and stowed away in a pantry; and yet a certain proportion of it seems to be the rule with all animals in their ordinary health, the amount varying with

can, trivial though it may seem to you. For instance, keep an extra pair of shoes or slippers in the hall or entry, and always remember to change your dirty boots before entering her clean rooms. Then you may be sure of a welcome, as no dirt will be left for her to clean up. In the evening comb your hair as carefully as ever you did in your courting days, put on a clean coat or dressing gown, and when you take your paper to read do not read to yourself and leave her to lönesome thoughts while sewing or mending, but remember that she, teo, has been working hard all day, and is still working. Read to her whatever interests you, so that her interest and opinions may grow with yours; and that she may comprehend something besides love stories; of which too many have read more than they should. You will both be happier, and being a farmer's or mechanic's wife will not be such a dreaded tiresome and lonely life as many girls have reason to

THE ELECTIONS.

Nine States have already elected their Representative to the Fortyfourth Congress. The number chosen in these States is sixty-three—more than one-fourth of the whole House. Those elected are divided as follows: Republicans S1; Democrats 32. In the Forty-third Congress these States stood 45 Republicans, and 18 Demoerats. A Republican majority of 27 members, in the States of Indiana. Oltio, Iowa, Maine, Nebraska, North Carolina, Oregon, Vermont and West Virginia, has been transposed by the recent elections, to a Democratic majority of one member. Of course the Democrats feel jubilant, and begin to assert what will be done in the next Congress if they have a majority. If the same gains could be assured the Democrats in the November elections, that have been made in the States above named, they would doubtless obtain the control in the lower House of Congress. But there is no reasonable hope that such will be the case. Conceding all that is claimed, the Republicans will then have a majority of 25 members.

While we say that the Democrats may have reason to feel jubilant over the results of the recent elections. there is no reason why the Republican party should despair. These variations are quite common in this country, as shown by past history, and the exultations and imprudence of the to declare Grant King. Some of cause an overwhelming defeat two years hence. In Indiana, Hendricks (Dem.) was elected Governor in 1872. by 1,537 majority, while in the following month Grant carried the State by 21,092 majority, a change more violent and sudden than the last election will indicate in any instance. And so in Ohio the Republicans, since 1862, have, at times lost in one year, as high as 69,000 votes, and have again gained in the same length of time, as high as 106,000. In the 36th Congress, out of twenty-one members from the State of Ohio, the Republicans had 15 -14 in the 37th, and only 5 in the 38th. And then again in the 39th, she had 17 Republican Representatives, and since then it has been 16, 14, 14, 13, and now in the next only 7. There can be but little doubt that to-day, on a strict party vote, the Republicans can carry both Ohio and Indiana. The Republican party must learn to not rely on former majorities, and place in nomination for the various offices its best and truest men. The Democrats will be foolishly jubilant over their victories, and already the leading papers from different parts of the country are boasting of the measures which will now be introduced in Congress, to insure the public weal, and remedy every existing evil, but unfortunately, there are scarcely two papers that agree in regard to the measures proposed. We have seen nothing in referring to these elections that suited us so well as an extract from an editorial published in the New York Times, which we give below:

"The country is suffering from commercial depression. There is a great deal of vague apprehension and dis-content in the public mind. With a lively sense of the discomforts of the situation, there is no clear conception of the remedy. This condition of publie feeling is unfavorable to the party in power. It produces a critical temper, and fault-finding more or less just. Things which in "good times" would go unnoticed are pounced upon and growled over. It may be party treason, but we are bound to say that the Republican party is not prepared so say he favored a third term. well as it might be to withstand the Begole Josiah W., Michiga operation of this mood of the public. There are too many points on which the public, if so disposed, can fasten criticism. The party has taken a good deal of credit to itself of late for kicking out its scoundrels and exposing the misdeeds that have been done in its name, and the credit has not been undeserved. But the operation is not one that inspires, confidence. The cantankerous and obstinate public is inclined to think that where such things are brought to the surface there 13 more of the same sort underneath. This impression could only be removed by making the process of purification so thorough that no one could question its complete efficacy: That we have hardly done. The Credit Mobilier business drove Patterson out of public life, but no one connected with that shameful chapter in our political history suffered seriously from the action of Congress in regard to it. The Back-pay bill was repealed, but | country to seriously suppose this quesin a half hearted way. The Sanborn tion will have to be met contract law was repealed, but it took Field, Moses W., Detroit, Michigan, a change in the Cabinet to upset the Republican, could not express an opin-, of rose, twenty drops; oil of neroly, official actors in the scandal, and Butler. the deus ex machina of the whole dirty business, has received no effective damper on his arrogant preten-devolved on the President is not calculated to excite enthusiasm for the party that has been in power during that period. The party leaders have felt it necessary to circulate reports concerning outrages in the South, some of which were obviously not to be relied on. They undoubtedly expected to bring into prominence the depravity of the Democrats; but the public seems to have thought that, however depraved the Democrats may have been, the existence of this alleged 'reign of terror' in the South was something for which the Republicans were not wholly irresponsible. And it is not impossible that a portion of the people of Ohio are foolish enough to believe Gen. Grant's personal partisans in their assertions regarding a third term, and so far as they do believe these, they are not enpressions to which we have called attention are not well founded. The Republican party is to-day, as much as ever, the safest and best party of the country. With whatever faults it may have, and in spite of the rascals whom its prosperity has attracted to it, and who have had so much to say in its councils, it is the party most likely to give the country a good government. It is, if judged by the great body of its adherents, honest, just, temperate, patriotic and sensible. It means, with perfect sincerity, to make the Government as pure as possible, to preserve the public faith, to resume specie payments, to remedy its influence the leading, most prominent errors in the South, and to protect the | and influential members of the party rights of the negro without doing in- to favor any such movement. justice to the whites. As a party it has never meant anything else than these things, and in the long run it may be depended on to do them more surely, more wisely, more faithfully than the opposition could possibly do them. We do not believe that the people at heart doubt this. The elections in Ohio and Indiana show that the Republican party, as at present managed and represented in those States, cannot command the steady strength it has hitherto shown. But we have no doubt that on any distinct national issue it will be found as strong as ever."

THIRD TERM.

This question, which is becoming an important one in politics, is deserving of notice at this time. We do not believe that any great number of Republicans, of any considerable influence in the party, have any serious thoughts in reference to the re-nomination of Grant to the third term. It is discussed more by the enemies of the Republican party, in the hopes of influencing the people to help hurl the party from power that is seeking, as they claim, to establish an empire or Democratic party is almost certain to | Grant's mest intimate friends claim that he has no idea, desire or wish to that the Laporte Herald says that the be a candidate for the third term. He and his friends are placed in an awkward position in this respect-namely: When the talk about the matter first commenced, no one of my acquaintance considered it anything but newspaper amusement, and many talked jokingly to the enemies of Gen. Grant, saying that his enemies might force us to run him for a third term, etc. But among my acquaintance no one has seriously advocated the third term, and I think the silence has been caused by the tone in which the demand seemed to have been made that everyone should declare himself so long before there was any possible occasion for the question. This noise has been raised by the enemies of the Republican party, for no other purpose, as it seems to me, but to breed discord in the party. It is certain that Gen. Grant is not plotting for a third term, and I do not believe that any true friend of his is doing it for him. I have known Gen: Grant since long before he thought of being President, and I it being County fair week, &c. Begole Josiah W., Michigan, Republican, cannot tell now whether he is in favor of a third term or not. Grant is exceedingly popular with the Republicans of Michigan, and he may be their choice again. He would be well supported if nominated.

Bradley, Nathan B., Michigan, Republican, is in favor of Grant for a third term if he suits the party as well in 1876 as in the previous years of his nomination. He would support him, and so would the Republicans of his district without reservation.

Burrows, Julius C., Michigan, Republican, objects to limiting the term, and is in favor of a third term if the good of the party demands it. He does not anticipate such an emergency, but, if nominated, would support Grant.

Conger, Omar D., Michigan, Repub lican, has never heard of the proposition to make Grand a candidate again. There is too much good sense in the ion until the time came.

Hubbell, Jay, A., Michigan, Republican, does not favor a third term, and is of opinion the story of Grant's

Neither he nor his constituents would support any man for a third term.

Congressmen on this subject, and states that the only prominent men who openly favor a third term, are Senator Cameron, Gen. Butler and W. D. Kelly. It foots up the table as follows: For the third term 102 against 146 non-committal 126. We do not say that we could not support Grant if nominated, but we do say that his nomination, in our opinion would be unwise and injudicious, and that custom which has been adhered to so strictly heretofore, demands that he retires at the end of the present term. We do not think we will ever be called upon to decide whether we would support him, as we cannot conceive now of any possible circumstance that would require or justify the party in choosing him as its next candidate for the Presidency, or that could

DISTRICT CONVENTION.

The Republican Convention of the Third Representative District met at Niles on Saturday last, and was called to order by Thomas Marrs, Chairman of the District Committee; on whose motion Hon. Levi Sparks was chosen Chairman.

On motion, L. A. Duncan was chosen Secretary. They proceeded to an informal ballot for candidate for Representative in the State Legislature, with the following result: Whole number of votes cast, 50, of which A. H. Rothermel, of Bertrand, received 42, Cyrus E. Gillett, of Bertrand, re-ceived 5, scattering three. On mo-tion, the nomination of A. H. Rothermel was made unanimous. The Chairman, on motion, selected a committee of three to name the District Committee. The following names were presented: Thomas Marrs, L. A. Duncan and George W. Rough.
On motion Convention adjourned.

. October 11, 1874. EDITOR RECORD :- I see in the REC-ORD of October 1st, a statement from your correspondent of Three Oaks, proclamation to the people that the crops were an average one. Now if I could, I would like to tell you what not worth cutting. The people here are obliged to ask for and have received aid, for which they are thankful. But still as long as winter is hefore us, and it is doubtful how some of us shall find provision for our families, the aid that has been sent has been distributed among those that needed assistance.—The weather is very good now and some fall plowing is being done, though we have no grain for our horses. FRANK M. WADE, Arrapahoe, Furnas Co., Neb. Illinois Correspondence.

An ordinary sack tied at the neck would show finer outlines of the figure which it shrouded than the Chinese costume. The only exceptions I have seen to this rule are the sailor girls, with their exquisite little bare feet and ankles, perfect models of beauty; and the poor, wretched women labor-ers, who hunt for the water chestnut far above their knees in mud. But only women are employed, and even they are not more nude than our ballet girls, who ungrade themselves for public exhibition, while the poor mudhunters do it from necessity, wading

> THE NILES Republican says: A set of Stereoscopic views, five in number, of the State Fish Hatchery, near this city, have been photographed by E. B. Ives. They show the spring, ponds and hatchery to good advantage, and make very fine pictures. H. G. Eaton, of East Paw Paw, Ill., Special Agent for the American Insurance Company of Chicago, fell dead on the sidewalk in Galien, on Thursday last. He is supposed to have been attacked with heart disease.James A. Kellogg. Esq., of this city, has been appointed Circuit Court Commissioner, in place of F. H. Bacon, who vacated the office by removing from the State. This is a very judicious appointment, as Mr. Kellogg is certain to be elected next month.

THE NILES Democrat says: A large, two story frame house on Main St., in the eastern portion of the city, the property of Platt Knox,' Esq., was burned to the ground Thursday night, about twelve o'clock. The fire was doubtless of incendiary origin, as the house had been unoccupied for some time. Loss, about $600, with no insurance. Mr. Knox lives in New Jersey..... A small frame dwelling, belonging to Frank Taylor, situated on St. Joseph Avenue, was burned last Saturday night. The loss was about $300, with no insurance. As the house was unoccupied the origin of the fire is unknown. The Fire and Hose companies were out in full force, and with a promptness highly commendable.....A number of the young men of the city, empelled by a desire to sacrifice themselves on the alter of their country whenever the occasion may require it, are attempting to organize a military company, with a good prospect of success. We understand that if the organization is perfected by the first of December, the company will be accepted by the State, and the uniforms and equipments furnished at its expense. All those who wish to "play soldier" had better "go in" at once.

THE MICHIGAN Independent says: A military company is about to be organized in this place George H. Aylsworth, late cashier of the Fountain County Bank, Attica, Ind., has purchased an interest in the milling business, of N. H. Bleazby. The firm will hereafter be known as N. H. Bleazby & Co......We have leased this office for one year, with the privilege of five, and no paper was ever started, in this county, whose prospects are more flattering than the Independent. All we ask is a fair chance, and if convenient to other parties, they will please stop their false reports.

THE BERRIEN COUNTY Journal says: Night before last two men, strangers, doubtless watched the movements of Mr. C. D. Nichols, of the firm of Nichols & Graham, merchants of this place, as he closed up his business at the store for the day, and saw him make up his cash account, and put the bulk of his money in his side pocket; when they followed him to his residence, he taking the middle of the street home and they the walk; but he not suspecting anything wrong. On arriving home he found his oldest son, Fremont D., who is a clerk in the store, but had been out on a hunt during the day, there, having just re-turned, and one or two others besides his youngest child who slept with him, Mrs. Nichols being absent with a part of the family, visiting her father at Owasso, this State. He retired with his child, probably within ten minutes after he returned to the house, his sleeping-room being off of the sittingroom; and very soon after his retiring his son Fremont, after eating and preparing to go to the store where he sleeps nights, accidentally went out on the back porch to the well for a drink, when he discovered a man secreted in the darkest part of the porch, and he halted and spoke to him, but received no reply, and the man leaped from the porch. · He drew his revolver and fired upon him, but he escaped into the street; and at the same time, another man, who was secreted under his father's sleeping-room window, made for the street in double quick time; evidently their purpose being to rob Mr. Nichols of his money. No one had a doubt but that this was the case: and the curtains were up a few inches, and they could see every move he made when he retired, where he put his money, and all; but, fortunately, their scheme was discovered and thwarted. If they had succeeded they would have made a haul of about $700. Mr. Nichols was wholly unarmed, and therefore poorly prepared for such a contest..... The old gentleman, Reed Ferris, who fell from a

PUBLISHERS & PROPRIETORS,

APPLETONS'

New Revised Edition. Entirely rewritten by the ablest writers on every subject. Frinted from new type, and illustrated with Several Thousand Engravings

The work originally published under the title of The New American Crotoffelia was completed in 1863, since which time the wide circulation which it has attained in all parts of the United States, and the signal developements which have taken place in every branch of science, literature and art, have induced the editors and publishers to submit it to an exact and therough revision, and to issue a new odition entitled The American Crotoffelia.

and to issue a new edition entitled The American Cyclorainta.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveries of science, and the fruitful application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height whom the last volume of the old work appeared, has happilly been ended, and a new concre of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced, of commercial and moustrial activity has been commenced.

Large accessions to our geographical knowledge have been made by the indecatigable explorers of Africa. The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, have brought into public view a multitude of new men, whose names are invery one's month, and of whose lives every one is carious to know the particulars. Great battles have been fought and important sieges maintained, of which the details are as yet preserved only in the newspapers or in the transcient publications of the day, but which ought now to take their place in permanent and anthentic history.

the transcient publications of the day, but which ought now to take their place in permanent and authentic history.

In preparing the present edition for the press, it has accordingly been the aim of the editors to bring down the information to the latest pessible dates, and to fur nish an accurate account of the most recent discoveries in science, of every fresh production in literature, a do of the newest inventions in the practical aris, as well as to give a succlust and original record of the progress of political and historical events.

The work has been begun after long and careful preliminary labor, and with the most ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.

None of the original stereotype plates have been used, but every page has been printed on new type, forming in fact a new Oyclopædia, with the same plan and compass as its predecessor, but with a far greater expenditure and with such improvements in its composition as have been suggested by longer experience and enlarged knowledge.

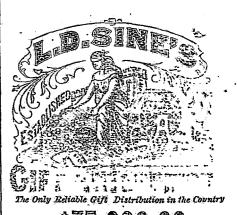

The illustrations which are introduced for the first time in the present edition have been added not for the sake of pictorial effect, but to give greater lucidity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science and of natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of scenery, architecture, and art, as well as the various processes of machanics and manufactures. Although intended for instruction rather than embellichment, no pains have been spared to insure their artistic excellence; the cost of their execution is enormous, and it is believed they will find a welcomo reception as an admirable feature of the Cyclopædia, and worthy of its high character.

This work is sold to Subscribers only, payable on delivery of each volume. It will be completed in sixteen large Octavo volumes, each containing about 800 pages, fally illustrated with several thousand Wood Engravings, and with numerous colored Lithographic Naps.

Price and Style of Binding.

Six volumes now ready. Succeeding vol-umes, until completion, will be issued once in Specimen pages of the American Crcio-REDIA, showing type, illustrations, etc., will be sent gratis, on a pplication.

THE LECTURE on Woman Suffrage, at Collins & Weavor's Hall, on Monday evening last, by Miss Phobe Conzins, a leading lawyer of St. Louis, was well attended. There is but one opinion among those who heard this distinguished lady in regard to the lecture, and that is that it is the best on the subject that has yet been delivered in our village. The lecture was lucid, comprehensive, logical in arrangement, conclusive in point of argument and delivered in a style both interesting and convincing. THE POTATO. THE Republicans of the 1st Representative district in this County have nominated Hon. T. J. West for reelection as Representative in the Legislature.

AT the recent session of the Board of Supervisors we learn that one of the members of the Board proposed that if the proceedings of the meeting were to be published in only one paper that they be published in the paper having the largest circulation within the county. We do not see why a proposition of this kind, so reasonable and sensible, should have provoked so much discussion as we learn it did, or in fact that it should meet with any opposition whatever. We are in favor of having every paper in the county publish the proceedings, as they could do and would do at a reasonable figure, in supplement form or otherwise, and then nearly all in the county could learn what business is being done in the county for which they are assessed to help pay. If it is right to publish the proceedings at all for any number of persons to read, they ought to be published so as to benefit the greatest possible number. We think we know why this is not done, and it shows a mean spirit on the part of some of our officials.

WARNING.—It is now nearly six nonths since the present managers commenced publishing the RECORD, and we give notice to subscribers this far in advance that when they are in arrears one year, the paper will be discontinued. There will be no exceptions to this rule. We trust that all will understand this matter and will take no offense when the paper is stopped. We have to establish rules for our own protection and cannot vary them in any instance and do justice to others. All our subscribers, therefore, who have not yet paid for their paper are expected to do so during the next six months.

THE legal proceedings in our village during the past few weeks have been very slim. It is often a healthy indication when business is dull in this department.

DICTIONARIES .- We have recently received and examined several editions of Worcester's Dictionaries. They are well printed on the very best of paper, and are furnished at a very low price. They abstracted from the safe $2.39 in freight and ticket money, $20 express money, $1.81 telegraph money, and 154 card tickets, Dyer to Bloom. They also took $1,300 in notes, as follows: Seven $50 notes and one for $150, drawn in favor of Daniel Wilson and signed by Lucy Parish. These notes are endorsed and assigned to me. They also took eight $100 notes, drawn in my favor and signed F. V. Davidson. These notes are all properly secured by mortgage bearing even date-all, the mortgages, deeds, and a release, were taken with the notes. I have no clue whatever to the burglars. It seems strange that the telegraph instruments and wires in the office were not trifled with. I telegraphed at once to Chicago, Michigan City and J. I. McCoy. Detroit.

County Correspondence.

Oct. 19th, 1874. ED. RECORD :- Webster says, "nature is the system of created things, &c.;" and Walker says, "Nature is an imaginary Being, supposed to preside over the material and animal world, &c." "A black calf" is not the system of created, neither is it the Creator of things. Therefore, the logic of D. Fisk "is most disgustingly stupid." He formed the following sentences: "Nature have a God,"
"Nature has a God." Let him tell what is wrong in them, or either of them. Let us syllogise: "A black calf is a created thing," and a "white horse is a created thing;" therefore, a white horse is a black calf. Moral, never deceive. Yours. CORRIGENDA.

FROM BERRIEN SPRINGS.

Oct. 17, 1874. ED. RECORD:—My good brother Fisk has, in your last number, answered that profane and infidel writer, "Selah," most devoutly, logically and crushingly. Bro. F. writes boldly and logically over his true name, evincing a moral courage that is admirable. -Like Fitz James, he says:
"Come onc, come all, this rock shall fly

From its firm base as soon as I."

My brother's syllogisms do honor to Hodge's logic. They will not be answered, and cannot be, except by the infidel caviler. It was a pure Truly the pure mother would Fires are common at this time of hurry her virgin daughter from its contaminating presence, and the men ney flues are all right, your stoves put | would remain only to destroy it. Let brother Fisk be elevated and honored by the whole christian community for his devout exhibition of manly and moral courage, in battling what he conscientiously sees and feels to be Obscenity and Blasphemy; and as a testimonial of public regard, let him stand at the door of the congregation of the Lord, each morning of sacred service, holding a banner inscribed with a passage from the Holy Word of God, as found in the first verse of the twenty-third chapter of Deuterono-

Yours Truly, INQUIRER.

Truth Crushed to Earth, Shall Rise Again. BERRIEN SPRINGS, Oct. 18, 1874. ED: RECORD :- Your correspondent "D. Fisk," seems to have a chronic horror of "brush-heaps;" but there surely cannot be anything reprehensible in being in a brush-heap, for the first communication which Moses received from God, came from one. In Mr. F.'s criticism of my article, he has taken my expression. "The God of Nature," and coupling it with another taken from "that monument," has formed a syllogism with which he seems to be well pleased, and if he can derive any satisfaction from it, I am perfectly willing that he should; but let him remember, that I am responsible for my own words only, and have nothing to do with "that monument," only so far as I undertake to defend it against the aspersions of its enemies. In Mr. F.'s second syllogism, we behold the beauties of logic. He undertakes to prove by the monument, that a calf may be God; but fails in the premises, from the fact, that they are not equal. To effect the proof, he will have to show that a calf is a "system of created things." "It is nice to know the meaning of terms, truly!" So much for the first part of his article. We now come to the only argument he has used, and that, (as is usually the case,) he has founded upon garbled passages of scripture. By examining his argupunished because (Num. xxv: 1.) the people began to commit whoredom with the daughters of Mosb.' What are all the facts in the case? Let us inquire of the Bible. In reading the history of the children of Ismild winters. rael, we learn that from the time they left the land of Egypt, they were conon long time-terms in fact, made to suit tinually straying away from the God of their fathers, and going after strange Gods; and when we reach Num. xxv:

2, we find: "And they called the people unto the sacrifices of their Gods:

and the people did eat, and bowed down to their Gods." 3d verse: "And Israel joined himself unto Baal-peor: IF ALCOHOLIO STIMULANTS are taken against Israel." Now the question is, into the blood the heart works faster, and this unnatural speed wears out the vital machinery. All intoxicating inostrums who were to be punished in this case? Was the order to kill those who were advertised as "tonics," "renovators," &c., guilty of whoredom with the daughtproduce this disastrous effect, and should be rejected. The Mouument, ED. RECORD:-I desire to state to the readers of the RECORD that I have never vet written one word to have published, or has anything been written by others at my dictation for the purpose of publication, in reference to the monument I erected recently in the Buchanan cemetery, nor in answer to the accusations against me. Some things said by those who are discussing this subject, would indicate that I was the author of certain letters which have been published in vindication of the monument and the truths thereon inscribed. Letters have been sent to me from all parts of the country, commending my course in this instance, of which I give the following as a sample: Yours very truly, an, Mich.—DEAR SIR :- The Chicago Times of this a. m. publishes among its minor editorials an article relating to your monument and its inscriptions, quoting the latter (thanks to them) and abusing their author. I don't write because I think you in need of sympathy or of bolstering. Those having the intelligence and courage your act and utterance evince, care very little for the dissent of fools or the denunciation of bigots: I confidently expect to hear that that monument preserves its place in spite of all ravings of priestcraft and superstition, at least as long as you remain above ground with it. I hope you have descendants who inherit your wisdom and spirit, and who will defend it and bequeath it to sure defense, till the fast coming day shall arrive.

My hand to you in the highest felowship known to mortals—the fellowship of truth-loving and truth-daring. Yours Truly, M. E. DAYTON.

BRAINARD'S MUSICAL WORLD.—The October number of this popular Musical Monthly is on our table, and contains the usual amount of choice new music and interesting and instructive musical reading. The Musical World will be greatly enlarged and improved January 1st, 1875, when a new volume begins. Sixteen pages of elegant new music and twenty pages of reading matter will be given in each number, and the price will necessarily be increased to $2.00 per annum. Even at that price it will still be the cheapest as it is acknowledged the best musical journal in the country. The music alone given in each volume, would cost in the regular sheet form over $30.00. The publishers announce that until December 1st subscriptions will be received at the old price, $1,00 per annum. Send to S. Brainard's & Sons. Cleveland, O., and receive $30.00 worth of choice music, and 240 pages of valuable musical literature for $1.00. Such a chance will never occur again. The Whole Western Country Can now be easily reached by the ATLAN-TIC AND PACIFIC, AND MISSOURI PACIFIC Railroads and their rail, stage and steam-boat connections. These lines commence at St. Louis, at which point the Mississippi is crossed by the most magnificent Steel Bridge in the World, and traverse the whole length of Central and South-west Missouri, and a portion of Kansas and the Indian Territory, and thus furnish to the business man, pleasure-seeker and the emigrant, the most direct and comfortable route to all points in Missouri, Kansas, Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska, Utah, Wyoming, California, Oregon and the whole Pacific Slope. Superior inducements are offered for those seeking new homes in the Far West, and the transportation facilities are unequaled by any Western road. Everybody going West should give these roads a trial and be convinced that the Misiouri Pacific Through Line and the Atlantic & Pacific Short Line are the really popular thoroughfares of travel. For maps, time tables, information as to rates, routes, etc., address J. F. Thompson, Northern Passenger Agent, 157 Exchange Street, Buffalo, N. Y., or E. A. Dr Price's reputation has been acquired and candid, honest dealing and years of successful practice.

My practice, not one of experiment, but lounded on the laws of Nature, with years of experiment, but lounded on the laws of Nature, with years of experiment, but lounded on the laws of Nature, with years of experiment where well; no harsh treatment, no trilling, no flattering. We know the cause and the remedy needed, no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of Chronic diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect. Caudid in our opinion, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or to care everybody, but do claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their allment, to call, investigate before they abundon hope, make interrogations and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing, as consultation is free. Visits made regularly.

Every year increases the populari ty of this valuable Hair Preparation; which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard; and it is the only reliable and perfected preparation for restoring GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken. The scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. It removes all eruptions and dandruff, and, by its tonic properties, prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair-glands. By its use, the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth, except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HARE DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair a splendid, clossy appearance. A. A. As our Renewer in many cases requires too long a time, and too much care, to restore gray or faded Whiskers, we have prepared this dye, in one preparation; which will quickly and effectually accomplish this result. It is easily applied, and produces a color which will neither rub nor wash off. Sold by all Druggists. Price Fifty Cents. Manufactured by R. P. HALL, & CO., NASHUA, N.H.

effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the sys-tem and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing rep utation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great cor-ruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities, or diseases that have lurked in the system for years, soon yield to this powerful anti-dote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases. A Debt Scenre.

A Georgia negro was riding a mule along and came to a bridge, when the mule stopped. "I'll bet you a quarter," said Jack, "I'll make you go over this bridge;" with that he struck the mule over the head, which made him nod suddenly. "You took de bet, den," said the negro, and contrived to get the stubborn mule over the bridge. "I won the quarter, any-how," said Jack. "But how will you get the money?" asked a man who had been close by upperceived, "Tomorrow," said Jack, "Massa give me

An unexpected result of the use of the new safety punches on the street railroads in New York, was developed yesterday. An elderly lady from a rural district entered a third Avenue car and sat down. Presently the conductor passed along to collect fares, and after receiving the old lady's money, he precured the punch, which the lady no sooner saw than she threw up her hands, crying in terrific tones: "Don't shoot! don't short!" It required about fifteen minu ex of expostulation to make her believe the con ductor had not sought her life with a "Well, father," replied the youth, pulling out his watch, "let x represent eleven o'clock, and y equal ten minutes, and x-2y is the answer." Spilkins pondered for a moment and bed-time. A lady went to a corner grocery the other day for some trifling thing. The goods wanted were on the very top shelf. The woman placed a box on a chair and climbed up to the shelf, at evident risk of her limbs. Her husband sat by the stove playing with a small dog. Lady said: "Why don't you make your husband reach it?" A look of indefinite contempt came into her face, as she replied: "My husband. I got awfully sucked in mit dat man. He knows noting but to play mit a dog." Ba As scon as it appeared at a Memphis inquest, that "the body-lying dead" was that of a proof-reader, the coroner said it wasn't any use to go on—the killing was justified by the very occupation of the deceased.

There is such a thing as having too many children if your memory is poor. The other night Spriggins counted his brood, but could only make up fourteen. "How is this?" he ask-ed his wife. "I thought there were fifteen of them at the last census!". "So there were," she answered, "but one of them died since that:": 'Indeed!" said Spriggins, meditatively; "Why, it seems to me I heard about that at the time."

MY CRY.

Into the perfect day.
Oh, I am faint and weary, too,
Uphold me lest I fall, And Father, take this heavy load, I cannot bear it all. These thorns beneath my aching feet Are pressing hard and sore, A.d, though I strive to rise and walk, They hinder more and more.
Oh, Father, take me in thine arms,

And bear me thus along, For, oh, the way seems hard indeed, And thou alone art strong. Faith and Rest.

True faith produces an immediate rest of soul from all carefulness and anxiety, and settles it in great peace. This state of freedom from carefulness and anxiety will be as broad as the intelligence of him who exercises faith. Ignorance of the promises, and of Christ's official relations, and of what we may expect of him may prevent or break the soul's rest under certain circumstances or in certain emergencies. Fer example, suppose the soul to be ignorant of the declaration that "all things work together for good to their that love God," or of this, "my grace is sufficient for thee," or or this,

"I will never leave thee nor forsake thee," or this, "as thy day is so shall thy strength be." Then certain trials may throw the soul into a state of unrest and anxiety. I mention these mercly as examples of how ignorance or a want of thoughtfulness may embarrass the spiritual life and break up the rest of a true believer, until he is informed or remembers what he has in the fulness of his blessed Savior, Isaich xxvi. 3.

Bon't Regret a Cenerous Action. Never be sorry, then, for any generous action that you ever did, even if it was beersyed. Never be sorry that you were magnanimous, if the man was mean afterward. Never be sorry that you gave. It was right for you to give, even if you were imposed upon. You cannot afford to keep on the safe side by being mean. You had better, many times in your life, for the sake of keeping yourself in the practice of benovolence, do things that cre questionable, rather than judge so narrowly, that you will always be on the side of cold calculation. Give your heart some headway, and in the long run it will be safer for you. Little by Little.

The enemy trying to get a real Christian to commit some great sin is like consuming a green log with a canille. Here the blaze is perfectly harmless, as would be the temptation to sell our hope in heaven. But to light a mere shaving with the candle, and add to that a few small slivers, then a ew a little larger—then add the sticks of wood and still larger ones, and when these get to burning well, apply the green logs. Be sure and keep the small logs on, and in this way you may successfully destroy your green logs or anything else. In the same way Satan can draw away the children of God, but he is wise enough to know that there is no use of tempting them to steal or murder, or even lie, the first thing, but like Esau, they may be tempted over a morsel of meat.

higher aim than the mere adornment of the body. We are to educate our-selves in this as in other-things, not as mere fashion may dictate, or this and that one suggests, but as the reasonable requirements of the case may justify. Philosophy (good sense) must be applied, so that a man may wear his coat as a quadruped wears his, naturally, gracefully, and for the protection it affords him. So a lady may imitate a bird, if she is bird-like, even its flashy plumage, or the more simple beauty of the flowers; but let it be, as in the case of the flowers, the birds, and the quadrupeds, without ostentaenemies at once. You can't do a large business with a small capital.

Don't publish your acts of charity. The Lord will keep the account straight.

Woman's Power in the Church. Woman's power in the church is the many things that pertained to the housekeeping part of the church, such as renewing carpets, cleansing the walls, making a new cushion for the pulpit, a book-mark for the bible, and preparing bread for the sacrament; but never over-step the prescribed bounds—listen in silence. Now, thanks. to a better civilization and a more enlightened understanding of the rights and duties pertaining to all human beings, she is not only permitted, but encouraged and solicited by public
