A FEW days since we saw a man refuse to receive a silver half dollar as full face, because there was a hole drilled in one side of it. His explanation of the matter was that a set of men, in the eastern part of the country, had gotten hold of a lot of silver pieces and drilled them, gathering up the wasted silver to sell back to the Government, which had, in turn, declared a discount on them.

THE village council of St. Joseph has struck a blow at the tramp nuisance, something like this:

"Any person found in the Village of St. Joseph, who is a street beggar, vagrant, mendicant, and any one who shall be found intoxicated in any street or public place in said village, and all disorderly persons, shall upon conviction be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars, and in default of payment of such fine may be required to work on the public improvement of said village; the sum of seventy-five cents for each day's work so done, to be deducted from said fine."

THE Post Office question is keeping the candidates in a fever heat a long time, each being sure he has the inside track. Mr. Alexander is certain his chances are good, for he had about 750 names on his petition, which is more than all the rest. Walter is jubilant because he has a grandmother's aunt, or some other valuable friend in Washington, who is pushing his claims with all vigor, and writes him a few words of encouragement now and then. The Captain sticks quietly to his farming, and we see but little of him, but of course he is equally confident of having a soft job next winter. Our candidacy loses us no sleep, as we are morally sure that we will be appointed to attend to our own business like a little man, and the post office at a distance. Our chief delight now is in seeing our opponents squirm when any report appears derogatory to their interest. Mr. Merrill is in as hot water as the rest, for he is anxious to get away to his friends in Kansas. On the whole it is quite interesting to all parties concerned.

MR. JOHN WEBSTER while boring with a Champion well auger on the farm of Ira A. Potter, two miles east of Shanghai, in the township of Pipestone, struck a vein of water 60 feet below the surface, and immediately filled the tube and overflowed with such force as to completely fill a four inch spout on the side of the tube and form a stream which wends its way for a half mile across dry land and finds an outlet in Pipestone creek. The flow is constant, the water pure and cold, and the pressure so great that visitors think it could be carried to the height of a hundred feet. What is most remarkable about it is that the land for miles around is at no point much higher than at the well, so that if the theory of pressure from reservoirs be true the head must be far away.—Benton Harbor Palladium.

A M. Stover and son, of South Bend, were on the U. P. train that was robbed a few miles this side of Cheyenne, a few days since, and was relieved of about $100 by the parties.

THE goldsmith at the Grand attraction, in addition to the great attraction afforded by the opportunity of seeing Goldsmith Maid trot, at the park in this city, on the 29th inst., a match has been arranged between G. Walker's mare, Mary Pauline, and Charley Halman's mare, Gertie. Both are young mares, and are trotting fast, so that the race will be hotly contested, and interesting. Arrangements will be made for half fare on all the railroads line-centering in this city, which will afford our neighbors a cheap opportunity of seeing the Queen of the turf.—South Bend Tribune.

A SAD accident occurred at Bridgman, this county, one week ago last, Thursday, by which Freddie Whipple, a seven-year old step son of Dr. S. Maundin, came to a sudden death. A correspondent in the Three Oaks Independent gives the following particulars: "Freddie and an older brother, Frank, had been with their father after a load of firewood, and had returned so far as the village, where they were left by Dr. M. with strict orders to drive to the house, and not to get off from the wagon. But soon after, Freddie, in getting off to drive a neighbor's cow along, fell under the wagon, the wheel passing over the lower part of his body. He got up and climbed upon the wagon, saying that he was afraid that he was killed. Mr. Whitcomb, who had witnessed the accident, took him in his arms and drove home as soon as possible, but he was unconscious when they arrived, and lived only a few moments."

A CARD OF THANKS. To the Ladies and Gentlemen of the Buchanan Dramatic Society:

I feel that I should be wanting in gratitude to the many favors and repeated kindness which you have so generously bestowed upon me, during our short association. To say that I am grateful but feebly expresses the fervent feeling of gratitude and respect which I entertain for you. Coming as I did, a stranger among you, doubly assures me that those acts of kindness were sincere, and in return please accept my sincere thanks for your extended courtesies and attention attending the production of the "Ticket-of-Leave Man." And in the future, may your memory-painted pictures of the past recall our associations as pleasantly to you as they ever will be to me.

Very respectfully yours, FRANK PERKINS.

Buchanan, Sept. 23, 1877.

EDITOR RECORD:—In the last issue of the RECORD you reported the Red Ribbon picnic to have been a very pleasant affair—a day long to be remembered, etc., but failed to notice the fact that the members of the B. C. Band were awarded to the amount of $20 by the managers of said picnic.

The boys had agreed to furnish music during the day for $30, but when they called for settlement were given $10 and coolly informed that funds subscribed had been paid to the daymen and speakers of the day. The $10 received only sufficed to pay our Niles help, leaving the Buchanan boys under the necessity of donating their day's work to the "dare to do right" cause. Nor have they even received a vote of thanks from the Red Ribbon organization in lieu of the cash justly due them. Looking at the matter from our standpoint, it seems that we have been shabbily treated.

Respectfully, ONE OF THE BOYS.

THE COUNTY PRESS. [St. Joseph Republican.]

The number of school children in the Benton Harbor district is shown by the recent census to be 413, a decrease of 33 from last year. Some fellow possessed of more than his share of the devil, poisoned several valuable dogs about town Wednesday night.

[Benton Harbor Palladium.]

The canning establishment put up 11,002, cans of tomatoes last Tuesday. The extra two are intended for "swell heads."—Some boys thought to take a free ride on the Lawrence narrow gauge railroad last Sunday and mounted on one of the small flat cars and started on a down grade. One lost the car ran wild and would not stop for breaks or cries till it reached the end of the track and somersaulted down the bank, dumping the boys into a deep hole, from which they escaped unhurt but so badly scared as to give up railroad training for present.

[Benton Harbor Times.]

Last Monday afternoon a young man, a stranger in this place, went up to the canning factory to see the process of canning, and the works of the immense establishment. The stranger was no sooner inside the door than he began to throw soft tomatoes at him. We are told that the young man's clothing was saturated from head to foot with tomato-juice; and, not satisfied with that, they then took his hat and almost destroyed it.

[St. Joseph Traveler-Herald.]

A fellow named Eli Phillips broke into the house of John Kiser, of Benton Harbor, on Monday night, and assaulted Mr. K. and family with a shot gun, but failed to do them any injury. An officer was notified who was unable to do so on account of the resistance offered. Phillips was nabbed, however, in Benton Harbor, early Tuesday, tried before Justice Brown, and bound over on charge of assault with intent to kill. Constable Pearl took him to the County Jail, on Wednesday.

LOCALS.

Go to Fox for bargains in Dress Goods, Shawls, Cloaks, Felt Skirts, Gents' Ladies' and Children's Merino Underwear, Ladies and Gents Hosiery, Corsets, Collars, Ties, Ribbons and Fancy Goods of all kinds.

A MAN who cannot use a horse or any other animal, without abusing him, has no business with the care of such animals or the name of man, for none but an outright brute will do such a thing. There is a law for the prevention of such performance and it should be rigidly enforced, but what is everybody's business no one attends to.

PRESIDENT HAYES is still on his extended trip through the country making speeches to the Southerners, when he should be at home attending to our post-office. The candidates are getting over anxious and in case of his appearing as candidate next campaign, he may safely count on three less votes in this town than last fall.

STREET.—John Seale of this township and Enos Holmes of Bertrand bought some fine sheep while at the State Fair, last week. Mr. Seale bought three, yearlings of the cotswold blood. One of which took first premium. The one purchased by Mr. Holmes is a Merino yearling ram of very fine wool, a direct descendant from the famous ram "Sweepstakes" owned by Hammond, the great fine wool sheep grower of Vermont, and raised by W. E. Kennedy of Liberty, Jackson County Mich.

CHANGE.—The store owned by B. D. Wilson in Dayton, has changed hands and will now be run by Needham & Wilson. This will also occasion a change in the management of the Post Office in that place and we trust it will be attended to a little more as it should be than heretofore. We hear more complaint that our Dayton subscribers do not receive their papers regularly than at all other places. We had resolved to report them to head quarters, but we trust this change will render this unnecessary.

THE union picnic of the Red Ribbon Club at Buchanan, yesterday, was largely attended by members of reform clubs from all parts of Michigan and Indiana. In the evening the Dramatic Club, of this city, played "The Drunkard's Warning," to a large and appreciative audience. The proceeds of the evening were donated to the Buchanan Reform Club.

The proceeds, after paying expenses of the company, netted the Buchanan Red Ribbon Club exactly $30,000. They expect to build an elegant hall soon, if they can get such another lift.

WE see the Niles Democrat advertises the Star Spangled Banner as one of the first established papers that has lived through the hard times and is still waving. It lived through the hard times by paying its debts at twelve cents on a dollar and is now getting rich. This is another institution the law protects. No doubt they will ask to be protected again ere long if they can succeed in getting trusted a few thousand dollars more.

THE season has come when extra fires are becoming necessary, and when too great care cannot be taken to have your chimneys safely arranged lest you have a warmer fire than is comfortable or pleasant. We have a good fire company but no one wishes to have them called upon to do duty, so look to it that all is safe about your premises.

RELIEF WITHOUT A DOCTOR. Though we would by no means be understood as depreciating, but rather as recommending, professional aid in disease, there are multitudes of instances when it is neither necessary, or easy to obtain. A family provided with a comprehensive household supply like Hostetter's Stomach Balm, is possessed of a medicinal resource adequate to most emergencies in which medical advice would be otherwise needful. That sterling tonic and corrective invariably remedies, and is authoritatively recommended for debility, indigestion, liver disorder, an irregular habit of body, urinary and uterine troubles, indigestion, rheumatism and gout, and many other ailments of frequent occurrence. It eradicates and prevents intermittent and remittent fevers, relieves mental despondency, checks premature decay, and invigorates the nervous and muscular tissues. Sleep, digestion and appetite are promoted by it, and it is extremely useful in overcoming the effects of exhaustion and exposure.

Farm and Household.

The Toad as a Vermin Destroyer.

At the June meeting of the Potomac Fruit Growers Association, Prof. Bennett read a paper upon "The Toad the Friend of Fruit Growers," in which he said:

"Formerly the toad was considered a poisonous reptile, but in our day its habits have been more carefully observed, and its great value to the pomologist and grower has been fully established on account of its propensity for destroying insects, especially those injurious to vegetation. We should therefore sedulously cultivate the friendship and crave the assistance of the insectivorous reptiles, including the striped snake, as well as that of birds.

Every tidy housewife detests the cockroach, mice, and other vermin. Two or three domesticated toads would keep the coast clear of these, and would be found more desirable than a cat, as they are wholly free from passing on the rights of man as does the cat. The toad is possessed of a timid and retiring nature, loving dark corners and shady places, but under kind treatment becomes quite tame. Many instances might be cited of pet toads remaining several years in a private family and doing valuable service, with no other compensation than immunity from persecution. All that is necessary to secure their co-operation, in-door and out, is to provide them with cool and safe retreats by day, convenient access to water, and they will go forth to the performance of their nocturnal duties 'without money and without price.'

In Europe toads are carried to the cities to market, and purchased by the horticulturists, who by their aid are enabled to keep in check the multiplication of the insect tribes which prey upon their fruits, flowers, etc.

No one can study the anatomy of this reptile without being convinced of its perfect adaptation to the sphere which it fills in the economy of nature. Its tongue, which is capable of great elongation, is attached to the interior portion of the lower jaw, its free end, when the toad is in repose, reaching down to the borders of the stomach. The moment it spies its prey, its eye sparkle, its toes twitch, and quicker than the eyes can follow the insect is transfixed and conveyed to the stomach of the captor.

Prepared Eggs.

The American egg company, of Keokuk, Iowa, are now preparing 8,000 dozens of eggs daily by the following process: The eggs, after careful handling, are broken and cleared of their shells by machinery and delivered in the form of a batter, the whites and yolks thoroughly combined. This batter is then discharged, by a peculiar arrangement, upon rapidly revolving metallic cylinders, under a strong blast of heated air. These cylinders are automatically self-cooling, remaining at a temperature of 70 degrees Fahrenheit, and so maintaining as that point all the egg dried upon them, in spite of the greater heat of the blast. The dried egg is scraped from the cylinders in a granulated form, very much resembling coarse corn meal, and subjected to a subsequent drying process which lasts 30 days. The desiccated egg readily dissolves and returns to its former condition of "batter" when the requisite proportion of water is added, and thus, if beaten the same as shell eggs, it gives the same result in cooking. As 500 dozen of desiccated eggs are packed in a single barrel, the saving in transportation is enormous, and the other savings, from loss by breakage, decay, etc., can be more easily imagined than estimated. This is the third year of successful manufacture and sale, and the product is already well known in the eastern markets, and meets with sale so ready that the supply has been largely equal to the demand. It is largely used by bakers, shipper, hotels, in the mining regions, etc., and has been introduced in the army. Sales have been made in Europe and the West Indies, and Central America, and there seems to be no limit to the possible market. — Philadelphia Times.

Setting Coffee.

This can be done without anything being put into the coffee to settle it. It only wants to be known how to handle it. Put your ground coffee into the coffee-pot, and add cold water sufficient for use, if but a few cups are wanted. Set on the stove and let it remain until the boiling point is reached, but in no case boil. This requires some watching toward the last. It is better to set it off a few minutes before boiling than let it boil up. Immediately when set off stir the surface with a spoon. This can be done two or three times in a few minutes. Then let it rest. In about ten minutes time it will all be sunk to the bottom and fit to pour out. Where more than a few cups are wanted, more water (hot) may be added when the coffee-pot is removed from the stove, or hot water may be used to dilute the coffee when it is poured out, as is sometimes done with tea. In this way the coffee is clear and sparkling, and what is of equal importance, will retain all its fine flavor and exhilarating properties, which, had it been boiled, would have been thrown off. Be particular in carrying out directions to a letter. You will soon get the hang of it, and thank us for the directions, simple as they are. — Ind. Farmer.

The small, white butterfly dancing so gaily over our gardens look very pretty in the sunlight, but when it is understood this is another pest come to destroy some of the best of our garden products, they will lose some of their attractiveness. They deposit myriads of small eggs on the cabbage leaves—these soon hatch out green larvae which feed upon the cabbage, some boring holes, like a gimlet, clear through the head and destroying it. As soon as it has attained a certain growth, it forms itself into a chrysalis, fastens itself on the underside of the leaf and soon after hatches into a white butterfly, which finds its mate and begins, like its predecessors, to raise a numerous family. — Ann Arbor Courier.
