THE DRED SCOTT DECISION.

The original opinion in the famous Dred Scott case was prepared by the associate Justice Nelson, and, if this opinion had stood as that of the majority, for which it was written, it would have called for no expression of judicial views on the constitutional question of the Missouri Compromise act. But after this opinion was written a motion was made in a conference of the chief justices of the Supreme Court for a reargument of the case, and the result was the famous opinion of Chief Justice Roger Taney.

How Andy Johnson Won a Vote.

"Miss Grady" gives the following interesting bit of history in connection with the death of ex-Senator Vickers, of Maryland: "It will be remembered that he came into the United States Senate just in time to vote against Andrew Johnson's impeachment. At the critical juncture when he was elected, Mr. William Kimmel, now one of Baltimore's representatives in Congress, and the author of the so-called 'Missouri Compromise' act, was a member of the Maryland Legislature. There was great difficulty in selecting a man to be sent to the United States Senate to succeed the Senator who had died, Henry Winter Davis, if I mistake not. The trouble was to find some one whose record was such that the radical Senate could find no excuse for deciding him to be disqualified. It was at this juncture that the high court of impeachment, yet one whom the Legislature of Maryland could be certain would vote in favor of President Johnson. Mr. Kimmel, who, for his career, had taken the high ground in politics, had told me that she used to be awake at night—for she was with her husband in Annapolis—trying to think of the right man, and that she had thought of Vickers in the dead of night, and suggested the name to her husband, who considered it a very happy thought. It required very little management on the part of Mr. Kimmel to get the desired result. The result of the impeachment, to secure the election of Mr. Vickers in time to cast his vote against impeachment, and the Maryland Legislature sat day and night in session, and very skillful political diplomacy at last won the day. Then it remained to get him to Washington before it was too late, and this again, Mr. Kimmel contrived to effect. Despite many difficulties, so he and his wife went to Washington in time to cast his vote against impeachment."

EIGHT passengers from the western frontier passed through this place last Friday, wearing iron jewelry about their ankles. They were bound for Detroit, where they are to work on a government contract.

The case against Wm. Smith, for adultery, was brought before Justice Dick, Saturday, and on account of the absence of an important witness was adjourned one week.

The Cass County Agricultural Society is making preparations for a small ball and tournament at their fair this fall. They offer premiums, $50, $25, $15, $10, for the best bands. Entrance fee, ten per cent.

THE news in all parts of the country are cutting up all sorts of freaks this summer. One in South Bend recently laid an egg with a snake in it, so the report goes.

THERE is one man in this town who never goes to the polls to vote, and gives as his reason for keeping away that the negroes vote. The negroes eat, too, but that is a sign that white people should starve themselves?

BICYCLES are becoming quite fashionable property in this place. Five of the "critters" perambulate our streets, and we learn that Harry Weaver has one stored away in some back yard that he expects to place on public exhibition as soon as he gives it the proper amount of training.

ACCIDENT—While at work at a turning lathe in the Buchanan Manufacturing Co's shop, Monday morning, Mr. Stephen Bennett was quite severely hurt by a spindle flying from the lathe and striking him across the bridge of his nose. The nose was broken, giving a new nostril at the side.

A MEETING was held at the residence of the Greenback candidate for Senator, Charles F. Howe, last Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of organizing a Hancock and English club for Berrien township. We trust the Republican greenbackers are well pleased with the politics of their new candidate.

Mr. VELOURS HERRINGTON is building a fine frame house on his farm two miles west of this place, on the Dayton road. George Churchill has the contract for doing the work, and is doing it.

Mr. A. H. ROTHMEIER started West last Monday with a view to settle in that part of the country. He will probably stop in either Missouri or Kansas.

Mr. GEO. ROBINSON returned Friday evening from a two months' ramble in the west. He reports the business outlook not very flattering out there. He has been in the employ of Witter & Wall, a firm of South Bend boys who are running a stage line in that hilly country west of Denver.

CAPT. G. H. RICHARDS and William Pears are having some brick made eight inches square, for the purpose of building a new sidewalk along the front of their respective residences on Front street. We trust Mr. Gray, of Niles, will take the hint and continue the good work as far as the Seeley lot.

OUR Galien correspondent announces the death of Mr. Elijah Green, a former resident of that place, in Jackson. He was caught between a freight car and the freight house platform. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that no one but the victim was to blame.

ORGANIZED—Some of the Democrats of this place met at the office of Squire Dick, on Saturday evening last, and organized a Hancock and English club with the following officers: P. H. Berriek, President; Wm. Osborn and John Mansfield, Vice Presidents; John C. Dick, Secretary; R. W. Pierce, Treas.

THE Zinc Collar Pad Co. of this place is now preparing the stamps and forms for the manufacture of a wooden, zinc covered, horse collar, a new invention of Mr. Dexter Curtis. The collar is to be made so that the ordinary form of lame and tug may be used with it, thus avoiding the necessity of procuring a new outfit in order to be able to use the collar.

THE Republicans of Berrien township will have a pole-raising on Saturday of next week, at Berrien Centre. James A. Kellogg and others will address the people, and E. D. Cooke will give a lecture on what he saw and experienced while a prisoner at Libby. Let there be a good attendance.

We would be pleased to see a few dollars of the $2,000 that were voted to be used in this township for highway purposes, used on a short strip of road leading north from the corporation limits, near Eli J. Roe's place. There is a hill that needs cutting down a few feet and about twenty rods of road that sadly needs graveling. We know of no place where a few dollars could be more profitably spent than there.

WHILE preparing for bed last Saturday night, Mr. J. W. Harrison knocked a kerosene lamp off from a stand and broke it, spilling the oil over the floor and setting fire to the bed, some curtains, and getting up considerable of a blaze. By some pretty lively work Mr. Harrison succeeded in putting out the fire without giving an alarm, although he received some pretty bad burns about the hands in doing so.

THE annual reunion of the soldiers and sailors of southeastern Michigan will be held in the city of Niles on the 25th, 26th and 27th days of August, 1880. There will be a three days encampment on Island No. 2, (a beautiful island in the St. Joseph river, and within the city limits), under the command of Col. W. W. McVaine, as commander.

Tents, camp equipage, (except blankets), and rations will be furnished free. Bring your own blankets. The public exercises will be held on Thursday, Aug. 26, when distinguished speakers will be present. Every effort is being put forth to make the reunion a grand success.

The railroads will sell tickets at reduced rates and special trains will be run on the 26th.

Any information in regard to the reunion will be furnished on application to Capt. W. J. Edwards, Adjutant, Niles, Mich.

ITEMS FROM GALIEN.

August 18, 1880.

Miss Nellie Redding is home on a visit.

Two sisters of Mrs. Wm. McMaster is here on a visit.

Mrs. Belle Brown is getting well. They will move to Michigan City when she recovers.

Mr. Henry Woolley lost his little child, aged about nine months, last Monday, with cholera infantum. This makes two children that Mr. Woolley has buried. They have the sympathy of the whole village.

News comes from Jackson this forenoon, by telegraph to the relatives here, that Mr. Elijah Green was killed about one o'clock in the night by the cars, while he was at work in the yard at that place.

B. R. Sterns is having a new awning put up in front of his place of business.

Look out for that festival to be given by the Good Templars soon.

When are the Republicans of this place going to raise that pole they are talking of.

P. Churchill has moved the back part of his old shop into the south-east of his barn to be used as a wagon shed.

OUR night operator, Mr. Moss, is at work on a little scheme of his own that will astonish the natives. Wonder what it is.

Mr. H. G. HALL's house on West street, caught fire in the roof, Tuesday about noon, and a portion of the roof was destroyed. By the prompt and willing aid of a few neighbors the fire was extinguished.

THRESHERS in this vicinity report that wheat is turning out this year about as well as it did last year, which is as much as saying that it is an excellent crop.

Two sermons next Sunday from the same text, Isa. 9:3, at the Advent Christian Church on Oak street. Subjects: "Morning—Christ the Wonder-Full." Evening—"Christ a Counselor." All are cordially invited by Eld. Geo. W. Wright, pastor.

SCHOOL—The fall term of the Buchanan Union School will commence on Monday Sept. 2, with the following corps of teachers: Prof. J. F. Jordan, Principal; Miss Helen H. Bell, Preceptress; Miss Maria Samson, Grammar room; and in the other departments are Misses Annette Bainton, Jennie Pardee, Carrie Pardee, Ella Hahn, and Mrs. N. S. Welch.

HENDERSON PHILLIPS' little boy about ten years of age, was quite badly jarred by being thrown from a horse, on Terre Coupee Prairie, Tuesday. He was made insensible by the fall, and remained in that condition two and three hours. We do not learn whether he was seriously injured internally or not. Dr. Henderson has the case in charge.

THERE was a wedding a few miles west of this place, last week, in which the bride was but fifteen years of age. The law on this question says that in such contracts the male shall be not less than eighteen and the female not less than sixteen years of age, when either is less than the age mentioned, there can be no marriage. It farther says: "If any Justice of the Peace or Minister of the Gospel shall join any person in marriage contrary to this provision, he shall forfeit for every such offense a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars." It is the place of the Justice of the Peace or Minister to know about the penalty of violating the law, and it is the business of any one to make complaint and prosecute him.

J. K. TURNER, of Berrien Springs, gives vent to some of his spleen in this week's Mirror, in which he says "The editor of the Record seems very much agitated over the fact that I was a soldier all through the war and propose to vote for Hancock." Entirely wrong, Mr. Turner. We never objected to your being a soldier all through the war, nor to your voting for Hancock if you want to. Mr. Turner said on the streets of Buchanan his only regret was he ever went into the Union army, and would have been better pleased if the south had succeeded in its purpose to destroy the government. It is natural to expect that such men will vote for Hancock. The rebels will all vote for him. The only trouble with Mr. Turner is he is about two thousand miles north of the latitude where people of his belief live the thickest.

THERE has been a good, full attendance at the Teachers' Institute in this place this week. The institute has been under the able direction of Profs. Estabrook and George, and the exercises and lectures such as should greatly benefit all teachers who attend. We did not notice that but few gentlemen are in attendance, while the room is filled with ladies. Is this from the fact that the gentlemen teachers do not take the interest in preparing themselves for their work that the ladies do, or are they so well fitted for the position of teachers as to need no further instruction in that branch?

OUR night operator, Mr. Moss, is at work on a little scheme of his own that will astonish the natives. Wonder what it is.

A couple of "young bloods," of this village came near getting into trouble by molesting that which they had no business to touch.

The Dr. makes sport of that "go-pede" when the boys (?) tear up the walk and "pede" tips over and spills the engineer, but for the peanuts, the owner of that graft will try him a half mile heat with his thoroughbred station.

Dr. B. C. Smith now walks with a cane. Some mean fellow says it is because he took some of his own medicine by mistake. We don't believe it. NIMRON.

[Niles Democrat.] Mr. Kahn, while engaged at the paper mill, had the misfortune to get one of his fingers cut off by being caught in some of the machinery. A fearful hail storm occurred on Tuesday last about five miles north of this city, on Fuller street. The hail stones were of large size and lay so thick on the ground that they could be scooped up with a shovel—much damage was done to corn and other crops.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMY.

RICE GRIDDLE CAKES.—One cup cold boiled rice, one pint flour, one teaspoonful salt, one egg, beaten, one cup milk, one cup water, and place in run to dry. Beat all together well, and bake.

WHITE MOUNTAIN CAKE.—One pound of flour, one of sugar, and a half a cup of butter; six eggs beaten separately, one cup of sweet milk, a teaspoonful of soda, and two teaspoons of tartar. Flavor to the taste, and use fruit if desired.

TO RENOVATE A BLACK CHIEF HAT.—Add to one pint cold water, a teaspoonful of spirits of ammonia; use with a soft tooth or nail brush; when clean, wash with cold water and place in run to dry. Do not soak or scrub sufficiently to destroy the shape. It will look as good as new.

WHEAT BREAD.—Boil or bake three potatoes and mash fine. Soak a yeast-cake, and add to the potatoes, one cup of cold water, and one cup of milk. Add two teaspoonfuls of salt; let it stand three or four hours; then add water enough for two loaves; let it stand over night. In the morning add half a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in water, and butter the size of a walnut. Knead thoroughly, and then let it raise very light, and put in bread-pan without further kneading. Let it raise quickly to twice its bulk when put in the oven.

POTATO YEAST.—Two six good-sized potatoes, in two quarts of water till done; then take four table-spoonfuls of flour and two of sugar, and work them together with the potatoes and a little of the water, and after stirring together, put through a colander, and press, taking care to keep the remainder of the water on the stove until needed; when sufficiently mashed, add the rest of the water, and after stirring together, put through a colander, and press, taking care to keep the remainder of the water on the stove until needed; when sufficiently mashed, add the rest of the water, and after stirring together, put through a colander, and press, taking care to keep the remainder of the water on the stove until needed.

Court Scene.—“How large should you say this pan, of which you speak, was?”

Witness—“A four-quart pan, I should say.”

“What do you mean by a four-quart pan?”

“A pan that holds four quarts.”

“Wine or beer measure?”

“Wine, no; beer, I guess it's beer; I won't be certain.”

“But you think it's beer. What is the shape of a four-quart pan?”

“Round.”

“Like a ball?”

“No; like a barrel.”

“Round like a barrel, yes, Well, is a four-quart pan flat or short?”

“It doesn't make any difference.”

“If a pan was four inches across the bottom and twelve inches tall, it would be a pan?”

“Then a pan can be a pan?”

“Why, no.”

“But you just said so. Was there a hole in this pan?”

“Yes, a little one.”

“In the bottom or top?”

“Of course there wasn't any hole in the top.”

“How low could anything be poured into the pan?”

“Oh, I forgot. The top is all hole.”

“And the bottom?”

“Is all pan.”

“That will do, you see, gentlemen of the jury, the witness has the idea of a four-quart pan at all, and the jury, having been awakened by the Sheriff, nod off again in acquiescence.”

A Regular Banian Stroke.

“Bill! Bill! come here quick, and see Teddy's bad coachman!”

and see Keokuk boy to another, in a supposition, tone of voice, he peeped through a crack in the wood-shed, and saw Teddy's father dressing him down with a strip of weather-board.

“Geehlings! I see him swing that rattle, though,” put in Bill, as he took a look, and then dashed round with delight.

“Regular old Hanlan stroke, ain't it?” added Cully, as he pushed Bill away for his turn to peep.

“Gosh!” remarked Bill, when it came his turn to make observations, “get in 'bout forty to try your munt, ain't it?”

“Lemme see,” demanded Cully, crowding Bill out again. “Oh, crackly! that's an ‘Ted’ ain't got no shidin’ seat, either.”

“Aw, thander!” said Bill, in disgust, as he peeped in and saw Teddy dodge, and the father make a false stroke, give the knuckles of his other hand an awful whack, then drop the paddle and go dancing into the house, “the ole Gov's caught a crab an' quit on his home stretch—fun over.”

And they went off to build a bonfire in the hay-mow and throw stones at an invalid cat—Keokuk (Journal) Gate City.

The Fame of Thackeray.

Thackeray is the only novelist of his time, it may safely be said, whose popularity is increasing. While his rivals are suffering from the reaction that always follows success, he has been steadily gaining ground. His mood is critical enough to suit the taste of the age, and not critical enough to injure his novels as works of art, for it is obvious that with all his hatred of shams, Thackeray's scorn of conventions did not go deep. In spite of his professional, he was contented to live a conventional code of morality, and he turned away with indifference from many questions which a man thirty years his junior could not let pass so easily. At bottom he showed the optimism of the Waterloo generation, and those weaknesses he knew so well how to expose, and had he not done so he would have been a far less delightful writer than he is. It is this mixture of half-hearted pessimism and real optimism that makes Thackeray a popularist at present. He was, in fact, the prophet of the Queen Anne's men, and of that reaction in favor of the eighteenth century that is now so powerful, and secures for “Esmond” a preference to which the vulgar taste of the present is not entitled. Admitting that Thackeray bestowed more labor on “Esmond,” and showed more artistic conscience in it than in any of his other books, we cannot allow that, admirable as it is as a piece of “restoration,” it is not entitled to the “Vanity Fair” and “The Newcomes.” It is as a painter of his own times—a painter who had no rival in his own day—that Thackeray will be remembered, and time will make of these wonderful novels two historical romances. They will live as vivid pictures of English society in the first half of the nineteenth century.—The Athenaeum.

Power of Sea Breakers.

From experiments which were made some time since at the Bell Rock and Skerryvore light-houses, on the coast of Scotland, it was found that, while the force of the breakers on the side of the German ocean may be taken at about a ton and a half upon every square foot of surface exposed to them, the Atlantic breakers fall with double that weight, or three tons to the square foot; and thus a surface of only two square yards sustains a blow from a heavy Atlantic breaker equal to about fifty-four tons. In November, 1824, a heavy gale blew, and broke up the stone and granite from two to five tons in weight, were washed about like pebbles at the Plymouth breakwater. About 300 tons of such blocks were borne a distance of 200 feet, and up the inclined plane of the breakwater, and carried over it, and scattered in various directions. A block of limestone, seven tons in weight, was in one place washed a distance of 120 feet. Blocks of three tons weight were torn away by a single blow of a breaker, and hurled over the harbor; and one of two tons struck a frigate, and a jetty, was torn away by an overpowering breaker.

Sarsaparilla

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, meadow-sweet, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, and most effective alterative medicine known or available to the public. It cures all diseases of the blood, and restores the system to its normal state.
