shuffle of the cards I heard this voice that night calling me from death to life.

Who was the speaker, do you ask?

One whom, if I would speak his name,

many of you know. One whose character and ability have placed him in a position of honor for two terms; one who, in the estimation of his contemporaries made him a ruling elder in one of our churches. And I tell you this little incident to encourage any one present who may, like him, find himself wanting

and anxious to point you to the same Savior who came "to seek and to save that which was lost."

A Horse's Revenge.

"The Society for the protection of animals against the cruelty of human beings is to be commended for its activity in this country. Write the names of a respondent of a London paper. "The police appear to think it no business of theirs when carters or coachmen brutally maltreat their horses in the streets, or when they abuse themselves by cruelly

tormenting dogs and cats or whatever

other creatures have the ill luck to fall into their hands. The horse would appear to be aware of the impudence of such a proceeding, for he has been known to take the matter into their own hands,

or rather into their own teeth and feet.

A carter, by hard flogging at his three horses, got them to drag sixteen tons of stone, and he was himself severely injured, which leads to the Boulevard Desirables;

but his powers of stimulation utterly failed to induce them to proceed any further—a thick steam rose up from the horses' nostrils, and they refused to move. "Budget" said the fender; and straightway the carter began to lash and swear.

A crowd gathered around the ferocious beast, who abandoned the lash and began to kick the carters in the face with his hoofs, and to kick them with his hoofs in the sides. The leader of the team took upon himself to protest against this extreme measure. He turned around and looked at the carters with a teeth, trod him to the ground and trampled him with his hoofs; then seized him again with his teeth and teased him about. The crowd and the police looked on approvingly, while he was tortured the horse, who was with great difficulty torn bleeding and mangled from the just equine resentment.

Effect of Music on Animals.

It is certain that the songs of birds,

as well as most other forms of musical sounds, have as their express object the charming of female ears. It is fairly certain, too, that the presence of a musical sound, in many cases, has the effect of inducing the animal to perform a certain act, e. g. the neighing of the horse, is to be accounted for by its being pleasurable to the ears of the particular animal's companions. One may observe, for instance, that many of the croaking of the frog, the individual that utters the music enjoys the result of its own performance. The question naturally arises whether sensibility to musical sounds is not much more widely diffused among animals than would appear from the quantity of music which they produce. The fact that birds, when confined, are excited and stimulated to song, which is apparently a form of other musical sounds seems to point to the presence of a wide and catholic musical sensibility. The many stories of the wonderful effects of music in taming wild animals, if they are in any truth, in them, would appear to show that species which are incapable of uttering anything like musical sounds are endowed with the corresponding sensibility. It is a well-known fact,

we believe, that the dolphin follows a ship in which music is performed.

Brehm says that the horse is delighted with the note of a trumpet. And, according to the same authority, when the dog which is apparently tormented by the notes of a soprano voice, remains unconcerned by the sound of a bass voice.

—Cornhill Magazine.

Look Into Your Cellars.

Those who live in nice houses and are luxuriously-furnished possess an advantage over those who have to take into the cellars beneath them. These underground places are often the sources of disease. Materials are carelessly thrown into the cellars, and often the stench from all kinds of vegetables, and when any of these

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1880.

SUBSCRIBERS' RECEIPTS. We wish all our subscribers to be particular to notice the date against their names upon their papers, and see that the amount is right. We always give receipts for payments made on subscription and this slip should correspond with the last date to your receipt, and denote the time to which the subscriber has paid. If there is any mistake we will be notified at once. Never call more than two weeks for the date to be changed after payment is made.

FALL GOODS!

A large line of Men's, Youths' and Boy's Clothing. HATS & CAPS FOR ALL.

Boots! Boots! Boots!

Our old stock, besides other lines never in stock.

Shoes! Shoes! Shoes!

In all styles. A fine line of Children's Shoes. Our shoes are sold for cash, at rock bottom prices.

Did your pump freeze up. This is a bad day for fat turkeys.

Mrs. E. M. PLIMPTON is quite sick.

The matrimonial market is getting lively.

"Zero" is pretty cool weather for November.

SCHOOL will be continued next week without smoke.

MATT. BALL is having a serious time with lung fever.

MR. AND MRS. J. M. BLISS of Charlotte are visiting in Buchanan.

You will find a notice of an epizooty cure in our advertising column.

A fire insurance policy is a pleasant thing to have this cold weather.

CAPT. BARTLETT returned home for the winter Saturday afternoon.

HOLD on there, Mr. Winter! We haven't had our Indian summer yet.

An infant child of Joseph Snyder's died last Thursday of lung fever.

SCARLET FEVER is beginning to slacken up in this place once more.

WE learn that Mr. Frank Berriek has enlisted in the regular U. S. army.

WILL CRAWFORD lost a horse by working him when sick with epizooty, Tuesday.

Mrs. T. M. FULTON, of Hyde Park, Ill., is visiting with her people in this place.

COUNTERFEITS of the "Daddy" dollar are in circulation. Look out for them.

WOULD not a good skating rink pay a good interest on the investment in this place?

MORRISON'S paper mill works in St. Joseph has been furnished with a new engine.

THANKSGIVING.—The New Troy people celebrate Thanksgiving by a dance to-night.

MR. ASHLEY CARLELE has gone to Ganges, Allegan county, for a year's job he has taken there.

MR. AND MRS. J. C. WAITE have gone to Adamsburg, Ind., for a visit of two or three months.

MR. FRANK FOX returned Monday from Missouri, where he has been the past few months.

MR. JOSEPH ROGERS is at home for a visit. He is at work for a wholesale hardware firm in Chicago.

The dealers in this place are exhibiting a fine display of fancy wares for the holiday trade.

THERE appears to be no fear among ice dealers that they will not be able to get a supply this winter.

A HOUSE in Bertrand township belonging to John Shetterly was burned one day last week.

BRONSON is looking for a fire engine. Suppose we sell them ours and then get a steamer here.

BOYS were using ice in the creek, Friday for a skating park. A first-class place to drown boys.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY has a new cover, and it looks like—Fill in the blanks to suit yourself.

JUSTICE DICK has forty-three cases to try to-morrow. Replevin suits against the railroad company.

FOUND. A SCARF.—The owner may recover his property by proving his claim and paying for this notice.

MRS. SHON has a pony and buggy for sale. Any one who wants such a rig as this can get this one cheap.

DIED.—Miss Eva, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Kern, of Dayton, died last Friday of diphtheria.

It takes eleven billiard and pool tables to keep the youths in this place and gobble up their loose change.

It costs less to keep a cow than a whisky jug or tobacco box, and has a better effect than either on the system.

A. H. HERMAN, of Paw Paw, agent of the Detroit Post and Tribune, made the RECORD a pleasant call Saturday.

Those who burn coal appear to be having trouble about getting their supply. Didn't commence quite soon enough.

THUS far we have missed the time of fearfully "lumpy" roads common to fall weather in this part of the country.

THE only child of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Smith died Tuesday of congestion. It was sick less than twenty-four hours.

This bit of weather extends over pretty near the whole of the country between the latitude of St. Louis and the North pole.

WE offer either of Harper Brothers $4 publications and the RECORD for $5, for 1881. See their advertisement in this paper.

IT is not one of the commonest things in this country to have the mercury range about zero for a week at a time in the middle of November.

MR. JOHN B. LETCHFORD, of Iowa was married last Thursday afternoon, to Miss Clarissa M. Marble, of Warren township, Ind., by Enos Holmes Esq.

THERE appears to be a considerable number of cases of scarlet fever in this place. Dayton contains about an equal number of cases of diphtheria.

MR. GARRET MORRIS has been quite sick with congestion of the lungs the past week, but is now recovering, so far as to be past the danger of the disease.

D. W. ENSTEN & Co. are just now delivering a history of Eaton & Mason counties to their subscribers. They are somewhat acquainted in this county.

PROF. JAMES C. WASTON, formerly professor of astronomy at the Michigan State University, died, at Madison, Wisconsin, Tuesday morning, after a sickness of less than one week.

WORK on Rough Brothers' new building has been somewhat checked by the cold weather. The brick layers are sticking to their work with a tenacity that is admirable.

SOLD.—Mr. Robert Mead has bought the Howell Strong house and lot, on the corner of Main and Front streets. He will build an addition to the house and move into it. It cost him $800.

THE people along the proposed line of the C. W. & M. road have about given up the work of raising their $100,000 and are trying on $600 for the expense of a surveyor.

THE M. C. R. R. carpenters expect to have the bridge at the depot for unloading grain completed either this week or the fore part of next. The elevator will be torn out this week.

THE new railroad had a hard struggle of it to keep from being driven into winter quarters by the late cold snap, but the work of laying iron goes steadily but slowly along.

IF our winter were to continue in an increased scale of severity from what we had last Sunday, about one week, we would be in favor of emigrating South and putting up with that other kind of building.

THE 20th annual meeting of the Michigan State Teachers' Association, will be held in Lansing, beginning Tuesday evening, Dec. 28, and continuing through the 29th and 30th. A good programme has been prepared.

THE Wildman Comedy Company gave entertainments in Kinyon's hall Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday evenings. Those who attended pronounce their entertainments first-class. They are in Dowagiac this week.

MISS GLOVE wishes to announce that she will teach 30 couples or more twelve dancing lessons for $5 per couple. This is the most liberal offer we have known of a teacher making. The usual price is $12.

THE case of Enoch Egbert vs. Adam Greenwalt, from this county, was decided in the October term of the Supreme Court, reversing the decision of the lower court; which was in Greenwalt's favor, taxing costs upon Greenwalt and granting a new trial.

MR. E. BALENGER slipped, while coming down the stairs leading to his office, in Kinyon's building, Friday afternoon, and fell down four or five steps, hurting him quite badly, although not seriously.

THE School Board has been obliged to abandon the attempt to heat the school house by the furnace and are putting in stoves. There is no school to-day or to-morrow in consequence of the change.

THE wheat buyers in this place find great trouble about getting storage room for their grain as fast as it is brought here, or cars for transportation, and are obliged to refuse a number of lots for that reason.

A South Bend man is building a man-trap in form of an ice boat, to be used on the ice in the St. Joseph river, at that place, in case the river freezes over this winter. A splendid place for people to get drowned.

KEEP your little folks warmly clothed and well shod, and they will be less liable to sickness from the various epidemics prevalent in this section, than if these are neglected. An ounce of preventative, etc.

THE mill-yards in this place are filling up at a rapid rate since we commenced to have sleighing. In fact business of every kind has been booming, and the fellow who advertises in the one who picks up the shiekles.

RUB the wood-work of all your farm tools and agricultural implements with petroleum, and put them under cover for another year; it will save you heaps of money in the "sweet bye and bye."—Dowagiac Republican.

Yes, and don't forget to throw the rag you rub it on with down in some corner in the barn, out of the way. It will be sure to keep you warm and be so nice on a cold winter's day.

BENTON HARBOR and St. Joseph are talking of a telephone exchange, to take in the two places. We are looking anxiously for the time when all of the towns in this county are so connected in one exchange, and if any one will start the thing we will lead the list for a telephone or two.

ON next Sabbath evening, Nov. 28, a lecture will be given in the Presbyterian church upon "The Inspiration of the Scriptures." Young men, and all who doubt that the Bible is from God, are especially invited.

THIS way our village dads took last year to keep the side-walks clean was to clean them and charge the bill up to the owners of property to be collected as taxes. Those who own side-walks may find it cheaper to do your own shoveling.

IT is amusing to hear some papers continually grumbling because their home dealers will not patronize them better. There will be no trouble about that if the paper makes itself worthy of their patronage, and there is a field for its work. When there is such a complaint, either one or the other thing is lacking.

OUR people should not forget that, by the completion of our railroad, this village will become a near neighbor to Buchanan. And when we speak of Buchanan, we mention one of the nicest towns in the States. Her business men are enterprising; her citizens are gentlemen; their wives are ladies, and the young people are a jolly, social, good-natured set.—Berrien Springs Era.

CHARLEY FOX has decided that Buchanan is good enough place for him to live in. He had a turn at the yellow fever, that his doctor in New Orleans told him was too good for him to ever get well, but fortunately he was too much for Yellow Jack and managed to get into the frost region. He tells pretty hard stories of the manners and ways of doing business there.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

FEVER AND AGUE.—There are some situations where fever and ague prevails every season, and this is the case in the vicinity of creeks and swamps. It is a consequence of malarial fevers, which recur several years on one of these creeks, never has had a single case of fever and ague in his family, while all his neighbors have been more or less affected with it every season. His immunity from this troublesome disease to the use of a good fire in his house every chilly and damp night in summer and fall. When the Indians came at night or early in the morning in swampy regions they cover their nose and mouth with some part of their garments to warm the air which they inhale, and this they say prevents chills and fevers.

AND A STIMULANT.—The exciting and stimulating properties of pure cocaine are well known, and every one who has felt the invigorating influence of fresh air, yet no practical application has been made of these beneficial properties of a substance so cheap and so universal. When the body is weak, the brain fatigued, and the whole system in a state of lassitude, just go into the open air, take a few vigorous inspirations and expirations, and you will be instantly refreshed. The individual trying the experiment will feel invigorated and stimulated, the blood will course with freshness, the lungs will work with increased activity, the whole frame will feel revived, and nature's stimulus will be felt to the best.

SODA FOR BURNS.—All kinds of burns, including scalds and sunburns, are almost immediately relieved by the application of a solution of soda to the burn-surface. It must be remembered that soda will do no violence to the skin, and that it is not necessary to surround with a cloth moist enough to dissolve it. This method of sprinkling it on and covering it with a wet cloth is often the very best. But it is sufficient to wash the wound repeatedly with a strong solution. It is found that to keep a bottle of it always on hand, made so strong that more or less settles on the bottom. This is what is called a saturated solution, and really such a solution as this is formed by the dry soda is sprinkled and covered with a moistened cloth. Dr. Waters thinks the pain of a burn is caused by the hardening of the albumen of the flesh which presses on the nerves, and that the soda dissolves the albumen, and thus relieves the pressure. Others think that the burn generates an acid acid, which the soda neutralizes.

LEARN ABOUT THE PULSE.—Every intelligent person should know how to ascertain the state of the pulse in health; then, by comparing it with what it is when he is ailing, he may have some idea of the urgency of his case. Parents should know the health pulse of each child—as now and then a person is born with a peculiarly slow or fast pulse, and the very case in hand may be of that peculiarity. An infant's pulse is 140; a child of 7, about 80; and from 10 to 60 years is 70 beats a minute, declining to 60 at four-score. A healthy grown person's pulse is 70 beats a minute; there may be good health down to 60; but if the pulse always exceeds 70 there is a disease; the machine is working itself out, there is a fever or inflammation somewhere, and the body feels as if it were in consumption, when the pulse is quick, that is over 70, gradually increasing, with decreased chances of cure, until it reaches 110 to 120, when death comes before many days. When the pulse is over 70 for months, and there is a slight cough, the lungs are affected. There are, however, peculiar constitutions, in which the pulse may be over 70 in health.

Errors of Type and Telegraph. Lately some one attempted to say that critics asserted that he was not a correct player. The printers corrected the error by making it that he was "not a correct player"—which is probably true. Another, essaying to describe a certain person as a great local man, and that he was instead "the great 9 a. m."—a dreadful charge, if somewhat vague. According to a veracious Western paper, one editor was horrified by finding "The Death of an Aged Woman," heading an obituary, instead of the "Success of a Death of an Aged Woman." The rascally "Truth-Seeker" which was set up a severe joke for the turtles. Once a paragraph in the "Boston Herald" (meaning the eloquent Ann), appeared with the auspicious start, "The disturbance," which naturally made the subsequent remarks somewhat confused. But the telegraph makes as amusing blunders as any. A sentence of Lord Carnarvon's on sermons at a recent Anglican Diocesan Conference was thus dispatched: "The worst-paid country curate is expected to preach twice on Sunday with the parsimonious of the parsonage tailor, and the eloquence of a barrow." For "jornzman tailor" read "Jeremy Taylor," and initial "B" with a capital letter, and all is right.

The Longevity of Icebergs. Karl Weyprecht, in his work on the Polar Regions, discusses the longevity of icebergs. Icebergs are subjected to disintegration after somewhat the same manner as rocks. They are full of crevasses, into which the water formed by melting penetrates. In winter this water freezes, and the crevasses are through the glacier a rupture of the mass ensues. "It is highly probable," he says, "that most of the icebergs afloat in winter are in such a condition that a very slight cause is sufficient to make them break up. The icebergs are in a state of tension. Every polar traveler can tell how a shot, the driving in of an ice anchor, or any other sudden vibration has brought about the catastrophe; cases of this kind are not infrequently seen in the open sea. The only cause which could withstand them for ten years, and that commonly the life of a berg is much shorter." However this may be, doubtless the much larger Antarctic bergs last very much longer, as must necessarily occur, because of their greater distance from the climate to which they are exposed.

Health of Horses. The health and comfort of horses have of late years been greatly improved by the better construction of stables. They are made more roomy and lofty, and provided with means of thorough ventilation. In many cases the windows are done away with, or the floor of the stable is kept well above the horse's head, and ample shafts are introduced to convey away foul air. By perforated bricks and gratings under the mangers and elsewhere round the walls, and also by bay windows and ventilators, abundance of pure air is secured for the horses; while, being introduced in moderate amount and from various directions, it comes in without draught. Too much fresh air is not to be feared, and it is better to secure a constant supply of pure air, horses require more cubic space than they generally enjoy. Even when animals are stabled only at night, a minimum of 2,000 cubic feet should be allowed for each horse. In England, the newer cavalry barracks give a minimum of 1,500 feet, with a ground area of fully ninety square feet per horse, and the best hunting and carriage horses have more room.—Journal of Chemistry.

A beautiful lady who was hurrying through the streets of Baltimore turned and in pathetic accents asked a gentleman walking beside her to knock a pickpocket down who was following her. The gentleman obligingly complied as soon as he could. The lady began she choked gaily and skipped away. The man knocked down was her husband.

SELECTED MISCELLANY.

Charity gives itself rich, but covetousness hoards itself poor. Everybody knows good counsel except him that hath need of it. Common failings are the strongest lessons in mutual forbearance. It is said with life with coffee, he who drinks it pure must not drain it to the dregs. All our knowledge is hurtful to him who has not honesty and good nature.—Montaigne. How people deceive themselves when they think of duty in their own minds, they know their own character. Lycurgus, with tail unfurled and lifted high in air, comes on, with back up-bent and yowl portentous. Miszeases come unbidden and always stay too long, while joys must be sought for, and when found are apt to slip away unawares. Education is the one living fountain that must water every part of the social garden, or its beauty withers and fades away.—E. Everett. Two colored women in Atlanta are reported to have trained children. Who will not wonder that the Ethiopian cannot change his skin? Six years begins with pleasure and ends with bitterness. It is like a colt which the little boy said was very tame in front and very wild behind. How cheap does an elegant carriage and a well-matched pair of horses, with an ignorant man riding, appear by the side of an intelligent man. Many girls would rather wear their stockings with holes in them than have them darned, because when darned they are mended, and girls prefer men alive. LIFE is made up of little things, in which smiles and kindness give habits that will do us more good than any other. The heart and secure comfort.—Sir Humphrey Davy. The man who is constitutionally incapable of taking advice needs to be very wise indeed. For, says the proverb: "The truth which we least wish to hear is the one which it is most to our advantage to know." After spending three mortal hours in getting to windward and crawling carefully toward two supposed big buffaloes, a Western hunter found his supposed game to be a St. Louis girl taking a walk on the prairie with her car-matons on.

These are the rules I have always accepted: First, labor; nothing can be had for nothing; whatever a man achieves he must pay for; and no favor of fortune can accrue to him from his idleness. Secondly, patience and forbearance, which is simply dependent on the slow justice of time. Thirdly, and most important, faith. Unless a man believe in something far higher than himself; something which he cannot see, and which he can never become; unless he has an instinct of an order beyond his dreams of laws; beyond his comprehension of beauty and goodness and justice beside which his own is but a dark, he will never attain to any form of ambition, and ought to fall.—Bayard Taylor.

The Velocity of Ice-Bergs. Some time ago the question whether or not an ice-berg would go faster than the wind which propelled it was discussed in the columns of the Herald. For a time it divided attention with the momentous problem, "Does the top of a wheel go faster than the bottom?" Somebody wrote to the New York Evening Post about the ice-bergs, and as the great old Post never goes racking, either on ice or water, it referred the matter to Prof. Loomis, of Yale, and President Barnard, of Columbia. These grave gentlemen, of course, did not present any grand theory, but they are noted mathematicians, so they undertook to figure it out, and the result was a very figurative answer. They both agreed that the ice-bergs coast off faster than the wind. The Scientific American here dipped in its or, and thus remarked: "In thus putting themselves squarely on record in opposition to a fact of common experience in ice-berg sailing, these learned gentlemen have not only made a blunder, but they have also made a mistake." The late Editor of the London Times, John T. Delane, was for thirty-six years the chief editor of the London Times, which he found a great newspaper, and made the greatest name in England. Up to his day, the Times had been great in its news. Some of its "beats" during the Napoleonic contests have never been surpassed, and its fearless publication of facts touching the high passages led to one of the greatest libel suits in the history of English journalism. Mr. Delane, the nephew of the previous financial manager of the paper, became in 1841 its chief editor at 24 years of age, and he made a name for himself in two new particulars, with extraordinary success for twenty years and more; it reflected the sentiment of the English ruling class, and it was served by a body of men altogether superior in ability and character to any that had ever been employed on English papers. Delane showed signal ability in choosing his agents, and an almost cynical contempt in the management of the paper for consistency. The papers went regularly to work on Saturday, and the papers of the United States from 1861 on, and he had a rough tumble in a newspaper war with Richard Cobden only a few years later which sadly damaged Delane's character. The paper's management of the English journalism always left in the dark Delane's real work in making the Times what it was, but he has generally had the credit of being the great master mind of the enterprise.

Bob Ingersoll's War Record. Col. Ingersoll raised a regiment of cavalry and commanded it, and was again in the Western Department, and was in the battle of Shiloh, and several other engagements. On one occasion he was ordered to guard a ford, with instructions to delay an advancing army of the rebels just as long as possible until that our army might take certain counter-movements. He held his position as long as he could do it, but the enemy came up in such overwhelming force that he had no course left but to give up the post, and retreat to the next best he could to save himself. It was never late the hindmost. As Col. Ingersoll was galloping away with his men as fast as their horses could get over the ground, his horse stumbled in a hole in the road, and he fell. Just as he fell several balls struck the legs near him, and on looking up, he saw two or three rebels raising their carbines at him. With characteristic quickness and presence of mind he shouted at the top of his voice, "Hold on there! Don't make 'em fool of yourselves! I've been doing nothing else for the last five minutes but wishing for a good chance to recognize your Confed'ry!" A Southern officer ordered the men to stop, and they all laughed at the unknown Yankee's impudence, and then "he took him prisoner."

A correspondent of the Boston Journal says that an eminent physician has written him that there is no reason in New York in which it is so easy to lay up a competency for the future as the ministerial. The average pay is larger than any other profession, and while the lawyer and doctor are struggling to make a name for themselves with a bound, and he is apt to spend in his life to Europe the money which he should lay up.
