

Published at the Post-Office at Buchanan, Mich., Second-Class Matter.

LAWYERS OF NEWSPAPERS.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue the subscription.

2. If subscribers wish to discontinue their subscription, they must give notice to the publisher at least one month in advance.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office or place to which they are sent, they are held responsible until they settle bills and give notice to discontinue.

4. The courts have decided that refusing to take a paper from the office, or removing and leaving it uncollected for a prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

5. Any person who receives a newspaper and makes use of it, whether he has ordered it or not, will be held liable to be a subscriber.

6. If subscribers pay in advance, they are bound to give notice to the publisher, at the end of their time, if they do not wish to continue taking it; otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it on, and the subscribers will be responsible until express notice, with payment of all arrears, is sent to the publisher.

7. This will of the late Adolph E. Borik gives to Gen. U. S. Grant a legacy of $10,000.

8. Out in Kansas they have a disease resembling measles that frequently proves fatal, and which is believed to have been brought from the south by the exodus of negroes.

9. According to the report of the secretary of war there are 6,515,738 men in the United States available for military service, not counting the regular army nor the militia, which number about 150,000.

10. The German papers say that "the danger to European peace is no longer from France, but from Russia. Germany and Austria must watch her and compel her to abide by the treaty of Berlin."

11. Adolph E. Borik, secretary of the navy for a short time during Grant's administration, died at 3:30 o'clock on the morning of the 5th. He had been in ill health for a long time, and his demise is attributed to a general breaking down of his system. His age was 71 years, and his home in Philadelphia.

12. An Enoch Arden case has developed in Ligonier, Ind. A man left there for the west ten years ago, and not having heard from him but once and that soon after his departure, it was supposed that he was dead. Four months ago his wife married a well-to-do farmer, and one night last week the first husband put up an appearance.

13. The special duty of ten servants of the sultan is to unfold carpets for him when he is going to pray, to get up a book after his pipes and cigarettes, to dress his hair, and to attend to his other wants. He has besides, a number of other attendants; indeed, it is stated that eight hundred families and about four thousand persons live at his majesty's expense.

14. It is now believed in England that a league has been formed in central Asia under the auspices of Russia and against England's dominion in Afghanistan, and that the most prominent and influential members of the league is the amier of Bukhara whose daughter married Abdurrahman Kahn, the pretender to the Afghan throne.

15. Some of the news papers are trying to get up a presidential boom for Hon. H. J. Jewett, the president of the Erie railroad. Mr. Jewett has been a member of congress from Ohio. He is a man of unshaken ability and strict integrity. He is a sound democrat and an honest man.

16. But his connection with the railroad interest of the country would be a sufficient reason with thousands for voting against him if nominated. There is a growing apprehension in the minds of the people as to the great soulless corporation of this country. The rights of these corporations is to be decided by legislation and we be the candidate for political preference who fears their grasping policy.

17. The Indianapolis Journal having stated the Chicago Times would support Grant, The Times sets the matter in the following light:

"This gentleman who is in position to know whereof he speaks, seems to know a great deal more whereof he speaks than the Times itself. The Times expects to support Grant as far as it shall support anybody—a choice of evils and it sincerely hopes the lesser evil will not be General Grant. Still, it may be the democracy may put forward a greater evil. This party, who is not sound on the financial question, and on the southern question. Further than this, The Times cannot speak. It will not care which party shall be on this map or that man, it will support, if common with all independent voters, the better man." At the time the "whole story" is a nutshell, and The Times really knows very much better than the Indianapolis Journal here it speaks.

18. A Warning to Miracle Workers. Arizona Miner.

We remember that, two years ago, five of the Pima tribe were converted to the Mormon faith by brother Jones of Jonesville, and were taught to believe that any miraculous cure could be effected by laying on hands. At the time in question, the small-pox was raging in the Pima tribe living on Salt river, and these poor dupes concluded to turn physicians and perform miraculous cures without drugs of any kind, after the rules laid down by Bishop Jones. They repaired to the Indian village, put on their shagbark, and began practice. After about half of the children had died of the fearful disease, the students of Jones college, having failed to perform a single cure, the old men of the tribe declared the doctors possessed of witchcraft, and ordered them to be killed, which order was carried out.

19. Liberty.

One of the latest private donations ever made to this country was that of James Gordon Bennett, proprietor of the New York Herald, who gives $100,000 to the relief fund for the suffering Irish. "It is such a relief," said the mayor, "as he did into one of the least."

POLITICAL PULSE.

Wyandott Republican: Those who are individuals who for the past two or three weeks have been proclaiming the decadence of the Grant sentiment throughout the country will have occasion shortly to revise their opinions. The action of the Pennsylvania delegation on Wednesday clearly marks a turning point beginning which, according to every national probability will culminate in the nomination of Gen. Grant at Chicago, if not by unanimous acclaim, at least by an overwhelming majority, and without evoking a solitary demonstration of displeasure at the result.

Bloomington Pantagraph: Sherman's nomination seems now out of the question, and the contest is and will be between Grant and Blaine alone. It is a question not easily decided whether the action of the Pennsylvania convention is to be regarded as a triumph or not, on provisions and stock, the same, at which prices the crops could have been moved for the sum of $215,010,000. That is what it would have cost if shipped at Chicago rates. At this time these consolidated capitalized railroads were paying an average of 8 per cent. dividend on capital and stock, some of which had been watered from 100 to 400 per cent. When about one-tenth of the crop had been moved the rate was advanced $1 per ton; the next tenth, an advance of $1 per ton; the next tenth $1 more; the next tenth $1 more; so that at the present writing the rate averages $5 per ton more than it did when these roads were declaring dividends of 8 per cent. The benefits to the railroads will be shown. The cost of the whole at the first rate, fifteen cents, would be $215,010,000. They received or charged as below:

Table with 2 columns: Quantity and Cost. One-tenth... $21,500,000. One-fourth... 28,667,000. One-half... 35,833,000. Three-fourths... 43,000,000. One-tenth... 50,000,000. A total of $179,000,000.

A disease resembling measles, frequently proving fatal, has appeared in Kansas. It is believed to have been brought from the south by refugee negroes.

Save the Rags.

The price of paper has been advanced from 61 to 10 cents all over the country. If this price is maintained the public will be compelled to pay more for their newspapers. Many daily papers have already increased their price from 20 cents to 30 cents per week, and weekly papers from $1.50 to $2.

The advance in paper can be stopped if the people will save and sell their old paper and rags. Three months' saving of rags and old paper by the entire population, and selling them in the market, would check the advance in paper. Rags are worth from 3 to 3 1/2 cents per pound.

Every newspaper in the land should appeal to the people in this matter, and they should also economize in the consumption as much as possible.—News-Paper Union.

That Moulton Letter.

A Washington dispatch says: Senator Conkling, in reply to the inquiry whether the Sherman-Moulton letter represented his sentiments, said to-day: "I do not know Mr. Moulton, and have had no conversation with him or Mr. Sherman. There is no one in New York authorized to speak for me. A great deal of canard is being done just now to injure Gen. Grant, but I do not think it will succeed. If they can make people believe that I am not for Gen. Grant and for any one else, they may succeed in making it appear that no body is for him."

Motion to Quash the Superior Court Jury Panel.

The Ford-Foxen case, on trial in the superior court, was interrupted this afternoon by Mr. Fred A. Baker, one of the attorneys for the defendant in the case of Joseph Bushey against the American National Bank, who made a motion to quash the entire jury panel. The motion created considerable surprise, and its importance justified the court in resting the case on trial and hearing Mr. Baker, who asked that the panel be quashed upon the ground that the sheriff drew the jury instead of the clerk and sheriff; and that at the time of the jury drawing the old names, 300 in number, and the putting into the box of the 900 new names, the judge of the court was not present, in violation of sections 35, 36 and 37 of the recorder's code act. Mr. Baker stated that in making this motion no reflection was intended upon the sheriff or the clerk; that it was a mere technicality which had not been observed.

It seems that the superior court jury has always been drawn by the sheriff in the presence of the clerk, and without the presence of the judge. Sheriff Cooks, Clerk Moloney, and ex-Clerks Harsh and Robinson all testified to the same manner of drawing the panel. At 4 o'clock counsel began argument, which was in progress as the reporter came away.—Evening News.

A Warning to Miracle Workers.

We remember that, two years ago, five of the Pima tribe were converted to the Mormon faith by brother Jones of Jonesville, and were taught to believe that any miraculous cure could be effected by laying on hands. At the time in question, the small-pox was raging in the Pima tribe living on Salt river, and these poor dupes concluded to turn physicians and perform miraculous cures without drugs of any kind, after the rules laid down by Bishop Jones. They repaired to the Indian village, put on their shagbark, and began practice. After about half of the children had died of the fearful disease, the students of Jones college, having failed to perform a single cure, the old men of the tribe declared the doctors possessed of witchcraft, and ordered them to be killed, which order was carried out.

Liberty.

One of the latest private donations ever made to this country was that of James Gordon Bennett, proprietor of the New York Herald, who gives $100,000 to the relief fund for the suffering Irish. "It is such a relief," said the mayor, "as he did into one of the least."

GRANGE COLUMN.

LEVY SPARKS. EDITOR. "I want all communications for this column should be addressed at Buchanan, Mich."

In our intercourse with farmers in all parts of the county we have found many who are thorough-going in their business and fully alive to whatever they believe will advance the interests of labor but who at the same time refuse to become connected with the grange; and although the grange is the only organization in existence having for its object the interests of the farmer and his family; that aims to educate and elevate the toiling masses; that seeks to promote their welfare and prepare them for a more honorable and useful position in society, these very farmers turn the cold shoulder and refuse to contribute in helping along in the work. When we enquire into the cause we almost always find it to be a lack of information relative to the object or real design of our organization. One man says that he believes the grange to be a political organization; that the design is in some way, he cannot tell how, to place certain persons in office, or at least to disrupt one or both of the old political parties of the country. And although we have on many occasions most distinctly and positively disavowed any such purpose they incline to that opinion.

Others say that they believe that the grange is the enemy of all other organizations and that it is their purpose, through cooperation, to antagonize the regular and necessary business interests of the country; that we are opposed to all middlemen and to railroads and other transportation companies. Knowing that all such ideas are foreign to the aims and purposes of our noble order, and believing as we do that it only remains to remove the prejudice and false notions from the minds of such persons when they will be found working with us in the promotion of the true object of the grange, we invite them to read carefully and critically the following authoritative "Declaration of Purposes" promulgated by the national grange at its last regular session. We ask every farmer as well as every farmer's wife, son, or daughter, to examine the "declarations" and see if there is a single "purpose" that is not in perfect harmony with their interests and at the same time calculated to advance their social and intellectual standing.

Declaration of Purposes.

Whereas the national grange of the United States should proclaim to the world its general objects, we hereby unanimously make this declaration of purposes of the patrons of husbandry:

1.—United by the strong and fraternal ties of agriculture, we mutually resolve to labor for the good of our order, our country and mankind.

2.—We heartily endorse the motto, "In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; in all things, charity."

3.—We shall endeavor to advance our cause by laboring to accomplish the following objects:

To develop a better and higher manhood and womanhood among ourselves. To enhance the comforts of our homes, and strengthen our attachments to our pursuits. To foster mutual understanding and co-operation. To maintain inviolate our laws, and to emulate each other in labor, to hasten the good time coming. To reduce our expenses, both individual and corporate. To buy less and produce more, in order to make our farms self-sustaining. To diversify our crops and crop no more than we can cultivate. To condense the weight of our exports, selling less in the bushel and more on hoof and in fleece; less in lint and more in warp and wool. To systemize our work, and calculate intelligently on probabilities. To discountenance the credit system, the mortgage system, the fashion system, and every other system tending to prodigality and bankruptcy.

We propose meeting together, talking together, working together, buying together, and in general acting together for our mutual protection and advancement, as occasion may require. We shall avoid litigation as much as possible by arbitration in the grange. We shall constantly strive to secure entire harmony, good will and vital brotherhood among ourselves, and to make our order perpetual. We shall earnestly endeavor to suppress personal, local, national and national prejudices, all unhealthy rivalry, all selfish ambition. Faithful adherence to these principles will insure our mental, moral, social and material advancement.

Our objection to Gen. Grant is supposed to be irreconcilable; but it is not personal. It is the unwritten law of the land that no American shall serve more than two terms in the White House, and unwritten laws have this precedence over written ones, that they spring from the instincts rather than the opinions of the people.—Louisville Courier Journal.

A Triumph at Sherman.

While the first relations of Senator Cookling and Secretary Sherman are the subjects of comment, it is well to understand just what the New York senator thinks of the finance minister. Not so very long ago the senator was giving a circle of admiring friends his views of the president and his cabinet. In the midst of his oration he said: "There is not a republican in the cabinet. Oh! I forget. There's Sherman. There never was a time when John Sherman was not a S-h-e-r-m-a-n republican."

GRANGE COLUMN.

LEVY SPARKS. EDITOR. "I want all communications for this column should be addressed at Buchanan, Mich."

In our intercourse with farmers in all parts of the county we have found many who are thorough-going in their business and fully alive to whatever they believe will advance the interests of labor but who at the same time refuse to become connected with the grange; and although the grange is the only organization in existence having for its object the interests of the farmer and his family; that aims to educate and elevate the toiling masses; that seeks to promote their welfare and prepare them for a more honorable and useful position in society, these very farmers turn the cold shoulder and refuse to contribute in helping along in the work. When we enquire into the cause we almost always find it to be a lack of information relative to the object or real design of our organization. One man says that he believes the grange to be a political organization; that the design is in some way, he cannot tell how, to place certain persons in office, or at least to disrupt one or both of the old political parties of the country. And although we have on many occasions most distinctly and positively disavowed any such purpose they incline to that opinion.

Others say that they believe that the grange is the enemy of all other organizations and that it is their purpose, through cooperation, to antagonize the regular and necessary business interests of the country; that we are opposed to all middlemen and to railroads and other transportation companies. Knowing that all such ideas are foreign to the aims and purposes of our noble order, and believing as we do that it only remains to remove the prejudice and false notions from the minds of such persons when they will be found working with us in the promotion of the true object of the grange, we invite them to read carefully and critically the following authoritative "Declaration of Purposes" promulgated by the national grange at its last regular session. We ask every farmer as well as every farmer's wife, son, or daughter, to examine the "declarations" and see if there is a single "purpose" that is not in perfect harmony with their interests and at the same time calculated to advance their social and intellectual standing.

Declaration of Purposes.

Whereas the national grange of the United States should proclaim to the world its general objects, we hereby unanimously make this declaration of purposes of the patrons of husbandry:

1.—United by the strong and fraternal ties of agriculture, we mutually resolve to labor for the good of our order, our country and mankind.

2.—We heartily endorse the motto, "In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; in all things, charity."

3.—We shall endeavor to advance our cause by laboring to accomplish the following objects:

To develop a better and higher manhood and womanhood among ourselves. To enhance the comforts of our homes, and strengthen our attachments to our pursuits. To foster mutual understanding and co-operation. To maintain inviolate our laws, and to emulate each other in labor, to hasten the good time coming. To reduce our expenses, both individual and corporate. To buy less and produce more, in order to make our farms self-sustaining. To diversify our crops and crop no more than we can cultivate. To condense the weight of our exports, selling less in the bushel and more on hoof and in fleece; less in lint and more in warp and wool. To systemize our work, and calculate intelligently on probabilities. To discountenance the credit system, the mortgage system, the fashion system, and every other system tending to prodigality and bankruptcy.

We propose meeting together, talking together, working together, buying together, and in general acting together for our mutual protection and advancement, as occasion may require. We shall avoid litigation as much as possible by arbitration in the grange. We shall constantly strive to secure entire harmony, good will and vital brotherhood among ourselves, and to make our order perpetual. We shall earnestly endeavor to suppress personal, local, national and national prejudices, all unhealthy rivalry, all selfish ambition. Faithful adherence to these principles will insure our mental, moral, social and material advancement.

Our objection to Gen. Grant is supposed to be irreconcilable; but it is not personal. It is the unwritten law of the land that no American shall serve more than two terms in the White House, and unwritten laws have this precedence over written ones, that they spring from the instincts rather than the opinions of the people.—Louisville Courier Journal.

A Triumph at Sherman.

While the first relations of Senator Cookling and Secretary Sherman are the subjects of comment, it is well to understand just what the New York senator thinks of the finance minister. Not so very long ago the senator was giving a circle of admiring friends his views of the president and his cabinet. In the midst of his oration he said: "There is not a republican in the cabinet. Oh! I forget. There's Sherman. There never was a time when John Sherman was not a S-h-e-r-m-a-n republican."

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED BITTERS. Do you feel that any one of your organs—your stomach, liver, bowels, or nervous system, falters in its work? If so, repair the damage with the most powerful, yet harmless, invigorant. Remember that debility is the "beginning of the end"—that the climax of all weakness is a universal paralysis of the system and that such paralysis is the immediate precursor of death. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

Do you feel that any one of your organs—your stomach, liver, bowels, or nervous system, falters in its work? If so, repair the damage with the most powerful, yet harmless, invigorant. Remember that debility is the "beginning of the end"—that the climax of all weakness is a universal paralysis of the system and that such paralysis is the immediate precursor of death. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

PROVERBS. "For sinking spells, fits, dizziness, palpitation and low spirits, rely on Hop Bitters." "Hop Bitters builds up, strengthens and cures a permanently debilitated system from the first dose."

WATKINS & WOODS, DEALERS IN BOOTS & SHOES. At the old stand of L. P. & G. W. Fox.

Latest & Best of everything in their line will be kept in stock, and offered low for cash. Call and see us. MEAT MARKET! FRESH AND SALT MEATS, FRESH AND SALT FISH.

TOURJE & WANER DEALERS IN All Kinds of FRESH and SALT MEATS, FRESH AND SALT FISH. CASH PAID FOR BUTTER & EGGS, STOCK, HIDES, BELTS, AND TALLOW.

SELLERS' COUGH SYRUP! 50 Years Before the Public. Pronounced by all to be the most Pleasant and efficacious remedy now in use for the cure of coughs, colds, croup, hoarseness, tickling sensation of the throat, whooping cough, etc. Over a million bottles sold within the last few years. It gives relief wherever used, and has the power to impart benefits that cannot be had from the coughmixtures now in use. Sold by all Druggists at 25 cents per bottle.

SELLERS' LIVER PILLS are also highly recommended for curing liver complaint, constipation, sick headaches, fever and ague, and all diseases of the stomach and liver. Sold by all Druggists at 25 cents per box.

THE REPORTER AND LOUISVILLE Weekly Courier-Journal. One year for $2.50. Two papers for little more than the price of one. Send us $2.50 and receive your home paper with the COURIER-JOURNAL, the best, brightest and ablest Family Weekly in the country. Address all orders to The Reporter, Buchanan, Mich.

W. J. COBURN, BUCHANAN, MICH. Keeps constantly on hand a full line of COFFINS AND BURIAL-CASES. Of his own make, that he can furnish on short notice. Mr. Coburn DEFIES COMPETITION in the quality or the price of his goods.

A FINE HEARSE will attend funerals when ordered. Great Sensation! An immense Stock of Dry Goods is now offered for sale in the New Dry Goods Store DAYTON, MICH., Consisting of DRESS GOODS, CASHMERE, WOOLLENS, SHEETINGS, GLOVES, HOSIERY, CORSETS, SPOOL COTTON, YARNS, SHAWLS, EMBROIDERY, CLOTHING, LADIES & GENTS UNDERWEAR, ETC., ETC., ETC., WILL BE SOLD AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

Wm. POWERS, Who, having purchased the Boot and Shoe Department of Mr. C. H. Rea, is prepared to do all work in his line at reasonable rates. Particular attention paid to repairing. Also, ready-made work cheap and warranted. FRONT STREET, BUCHANAN, MICH.

K. PEARSON WAGON, CARRIAGE, FURNITURE, SIGN, AND Ornamental Painter. WORK DONE IN FIRST-CLASS STYLE. Satisfaction Guaranteed! Shop on Days-avenue, one door south of N. Batchelor's livery stable. TRY THEM! ONE YEAR $1.50.

W. J. COBURN, BUCHANAN, MICH. Keeps constantly on hand a full line of COFFINS AND BURIAL-CASES. Of his own make, that he can furnish on short notice. Mr. Coburn DEFIES COMPETITION in the quality or the price of his goods.

A FINE HEARSE will attend funerals when ordered. Great Sensation! An immense Stock of Dry Goods is now offered for sale in the New Dry Goods Store DAYTON, MICH., Consisting of DRESS GOODS, CASHMERE, WOOLLENS, SHEETINGS, GLOVES, HOSIERY, CORSETS, SPOOL COTTON, YARNS, SHAWLS, EMBROIDERY, CLOTHING, LADIES & GENTS UNDERWEAR, ETC., ETC., ETC., WILL BE SOLD AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

Wm. POWERS, Who, having purchased the Boot and Shoe Department of Mr. C. H. Rea, is prepared to do all work in his line at reasonable rates. Particular attention paid to repairing. Also, ready-made work cheap and warranted. FRONT STREET, BUCHANAN, MICH.

K. PEARSON WAGON, CARRIAGE, FURNITURE, SIGN, AND Ornamental Painter. WORK DONE IN FIRST-CLASS STYLE. Satisfaction Guaranteed! Shop on Days-avenue, one door south of N. Batchelor's livery stable. TRY THEM! ONE YEAR $1.50.

W. J. COBURN, BUCHANAN, MICH. Keeps constantly on hand a full line of COFFINS AND BURIAL-CASES. Of his own make, that he can furnish on short notice. Mr. Coburn DEFIES COMPETITION in the quality or the price of his goods.

A FINE HEARSE will attend funerals when ordered. Great Sensation! An immense Stock of Dry Goods is now offered for sale in the New Dry Goods Store DAYTON, MICH., Consisting of DRESS GOODS, CASHMERE, WOOLLENS, SHEETINGS, GLOVES, HOSIERY, CORSETS, SPOOL COTTON, YARNS, SHAWLS, EMBROIDERY, CLOTHING, LADIES & GENTS UNDERWEAR, ETC., ETC., ETC., WILL BE SOLD AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

Wm. POWERS, Who, having purchased the Boot and Shoe Department of Mr. C. H. Rea, is prepared to do all work in his line at reasonable rates. Particular attention paid to repairing. Also, ready-made work cheap and warranted. FRONT STREET, BUCHANAN, MICH.

K. PEARSON WAGON, CARRIAGE, FURNITURE, SIGN, AND Ornamental Painter. WORK DONE IN FIRST-CLASS STYLE. Satisfaction Guaranteed! Shop on Days-avenue, one door south of N. Batchelor's livery stable. TRY THEM! ONE YEAR $1.50.

W. J. COBURN, BUCHANAN, MICH. Keeps constantly on hand a full line of COFFINS AND BURIAL-CASES. Of his own make, that he can furnish on short notice. Mr. Coburn DEFIES COMPETITION in the quality or the price of his goods.

A FINE HEARSE will attend funerals when ordered. Great Sensation! An immense Stock of Dry Goods is now offered for sale in the New Dry Goods Store DAYTON, MICH., Consisting of DRESS GOODS, CASHMERE, WOOLLENS, SHEETINGS, GLOVES, HOSIERY, CORSETS, SPOOL COTTON, YARNS, SHAWLS, EMBROIDERY, CLOTHING, LADIES & GENTS UNDERWEAR, ETC., ETC., ETC., WILL BE SOLD AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

Wm. POWERS, Who, having purchased the Boot and Shoe Department of Mr. C. H. Rea, is prepared to do all work in his line at reasonable rates. Particular attention paid to repairing. Also, ready-made work cheap and warranted. FRONT STREET, BUCHANAN, MICH.

K. PEARSON WAGON, CARRIAGE, FURNITURE, SIGN, AND Ornamental Painter. WORK DONE IN FIRST-CLASS STYLE. Satisfaction Guaranteed! Shop on Days-avenue, one door south of N. Batchelor's livery stable. TRY THEM! ONE YEAR $1.50.

W. J. COBURN, BUCHANAN, MICH. Keeps constantly on hand a full line of COFFINS AND BURIAL-CASES. Of his own make, that he can furnish on short notice. Mr. Coburn DEFIES COMPETITION in the quality or the price of his goods.

A FINE HEARSE will attend funerals when ordered. Great Sensation! An immense Stock of Dry Goods is now offered for sale in the New Dry Goods Store DAYTON, MICH., Consisting of DRESS GOODS, CASHMERE, WOOLLENS, SHEETINGS, GLOVES, HOSIERY, CORSETS, SPOOL COTTON, YARNS, SHAWLS, EMBROIDERY, CLOTHING, LADIES & GENTS UNDERWEAR, ETC., ETC., ETC., WILL BE SOLD AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

Wm. POWERS, Who, having purchased the Boot and Shoe Department of Mr. C. H. Rea, is prepared to do all work in his line at reasonable rates. Particular attention paid to repairing. Also, ready-made work cheap and warranted. FRONT STREET, BUCHANAN, MICH.

K. PEARSON WAGON, CARRIAGE, FURNITURE, SIGN, AND Ornamental Painter. WORK DONE IN FIRST-CLASS STYLE. Satisfaction Guaranteed! Shop on Days-avenue, one door south of N. Batchelor's livery stable. TRY THEM! ONE YEAR $1.50.

PROSPECTUS OF THE Buchanan Reporter. With the dawning of a new era and brighter prospects for our country we usher before the reading public a new enterprise—one which we hope will be kindly received and liberally supported.

An immense Stock of Dry Goods is now offered for sale in the New Dry Goods Store DAYTON, MICH., Consisting of DRESS GOODS, CASHMERE, WOOLLENS, SHEETINGS, GLOVES, HOSIERY, CORSETS, SPOOL COTTON, YARNS, SHAWLS, EMBROIDERY, CLOTHING, LADIES & GENTS UNDERWEAR, ETC., ETC., ETC., WILL BE SOLD AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

Wm. POWERS, Who, having purchased the Boot and Shoe Department of Mr. C. H. Rea, is prepared to do all work in his line at reasonable rates. Particular attention paid to repairing. Also, ready-made work cheap and warranted. FRONT STREET, BUCHANAN, MICH.

K. PEARSON WAGON, CARRIAGE, FURNITURE, SIGN, AND Ornamental Painter. WORK DONE IN FIRST-CLASS STYLE. Satisfaction Guaranteed! Shop on Days-avenue, one door south of N. Batchelor's livery stable. TRY THEM! ONE YEAR $1.50.

W. J. COBURN, BUCHANAN, MICH. Keeps constantly on hand a full line of COFFINS AND BURIAL-CASES. Of his own make, that he can furnish on short notice. Mr. Coburn DEFIES COMPETITION in the quality or the price of his goods.

A FINE HEARSE will attend funerals when ordered. Great Sensation! An immense Stock of Dry Goods is now offered for sale in the New Dry Goods Store DAYTON, MICH., Consisting of DRESS GOODS, CASHMERE, WOOLLENS, SHEETINGS, GLOVES, HOSIERY, CORSETS, SPOOL COTTON, YARNS, SHAWLS, EMBROIDERY, CLOTHING, LADIES & GENTS UNDERWEAR, ETC., ETC., ETC., WILL BE SOLD AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

Wm. POWERS, Who, having purchased the Boot and Shoe Department of Mr. C. H. Rea, is prepared to do all work in his line at reasonable rates. Particular attention paid to repairing. Also, ready-made work cheap and warranted. FRONT STREET, BUCHANAN, MICH.

K. PEARSON WAGON, CARRIAGE, FURNITURE, SIGN, AND Ornamental Painter. WORK DONE IN FIRST-CLASS STYLE. Satisfaction Guaranteed! Shop on Days-avenue, one door south of N. Batchelor's livery stable. TRY THEM! ONE YEAR $1.50.

W. J. COBURN, BUCHANAN, MICH. Keeps constantly on hand a full line of COFFINS AND BURIAL-CASES. Of his own make, that he can furnish on short notice. Mr. Coburn DEFIES COMPETITION in the quality or the price of his goods.

A FINE HEARSE will attend funerals when ordered. Great Sensation! An immense Stock of Dry Goods is now offered for sale in the New Dry Goods Store DAYTON, MICH., Consisting of DRESS GOODS, CASHMERE, WOOLLENS, SHEETINGS, GLOVES, HOSIERY, CORSETS, SPOOL COTTON, YARNS, SHAWLS, EMBROIDERY, CLOTHING, LADIES & GENTS UNDERWEAR, ETC., ETC., ETC., WILL BE SOLD AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

Wm. POWERS, Who, having purchased the Boot and Shoe Department of Mr. C. H. Rea, is prepared to do all work in his line at reasonable rates. Particular attention paid to repairing. Also, ready-made work cheap and warranted. FRONT STREET, BUCHANAN, MICH.

K. PEARSON WAGON, CARRIAGE, FURNITURE, SIGN, AND Ornamental Painter. WORK DONE IN FIRST-CLASS STYLE. Satisfaction Guaranteed! Shop on Days-avenue, one door south of N. Batchelor's livery stable. TRY THEM! ONE YEAR $1.50.

W. J. COBURN, BUCHANAN, MICH. Keeps constantly on hand a full line of COFFINS AND BURIAL-CASES. Of his own make, that he can furnish on short notice. Mr. Coburn DEFIES COMPETITION in the quality or the price of his goods.

A FINE HEARSE will attend funerals when ordered. Great Sensation! An immense Stock of Dry Goods is now offered for sale in the New Dry Goods Store DAYTON, MICH., Consisting of DRESS GOODS, CASHMERE, WOOLLENS, SHEETINGS, GLOVES, HOSIERY, CORSETS, SPOOL COTTON, YARNS, SHAWLS, EMBROIDERY, CLOTHING, LADIES & GENTS UNDERWEAR, ETC., ETC., ETC., WILL BE SOLD AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

Wm. POWERS, Who, having purchased the Boot and Shoe Department of Mr. C. H. Rea, is prepared to do all work in his line at reasonable rates. Particular attention paid to repairing. Also, ready-made work cheap and warranted. FRONT STREET, BUCHANAN, MICH.

K. PEARSON WAGON, CARRIAGE, FURNITURE, SIGN, AND Ornamental Painter. WORK DONE IN FIRST-CLASS STYLE. Satisfaction Guaranteed! Shop on Days-avenue, one door south of N. Batchelor's livery stable. TRY THEM! ONE YEAR $1.50.

NEW STORE IN BUCHANAN!!

THE ARCADE CLOTHING HOUSE

Will open in Buchanan, Mich., to-day, Saturday, Dec. 13, 1879, in the large double store formerly occupied by N. O. Fansler.

THE LARGEST STOCK in the COUNTY!

Lowest Prices in the State!

Fine Goods a Specialty!

Table listing various clothing items and prices: Overalls, from 25 cents upward; Working-Shirts, 25; Dress-Shirts, 50; Cardigan Jackets, 50; Jeans Pants, 75; Undershirts & Drawers, 25; Men's Suspenders, 10; Silk Handkerchiefs, 35; Linen Collars, 10; Cotton Socks, 5; Woolen Socks, 20; Mens Hats, 50; Boy's Hats, 25; Boy's Suits, 3.00; Boy's Overcoats, 2.50; Men's Suits, 4.00; Men's Overcoats, 3.00.

Fine Silk Chain Suspenders, Elegant Imported Balbrigan Socks, Rich Fancy Shirts and Drawers, California Overalls, Fine Cassimere, Cheviot and Worsted Suits, Overcoats and Ulsters, at

THE ARCADE! BUCHANAN, MICHIGAN, WE COME TO REMAIN! COME and SEE US!

NINE YEARS IN THE NEWS BUSINESS IN BUCHANAN.

J. HARVEY ROE

OLD RELIABLE NEWS DEALER

POST OFFICE

where he is ready to serve his patrons in their every wish.

BOOK, PAPER, MAGAZINE, or PERIODICAL, published are UNSURPASSED, and his prices are based on just business principles and will bear the closest inspection.

LOWEST CLUB RATES

on 1000 Newspapers and Periodicals can be had at the P. O. News-stand.

J. H. ROE, Proprietor.

THE NEW FOOD MEDICINE TRULY A WONDER.

The Cholera Cure... COCA BITTERS has the power of sustaining life only a few days without food.

COCA BITTERS... This is a marvelous life invigorator, entirely without narcotic. It cures indigestion, nervousness, lack of energy and power, liver complaints, etc.

Quinchin Cocca Co., New York. 541 1/2 South Klne & Co., Agents.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Who lost a four dollar saw to save a drink of whisky?

Floyd Buck was in town during the early part of the week.

On Tuesday last Ed Harper left for Lansing to visit friends.

Col. J. P. Sanford one night only, Feb. 13, at Kinyon's hall.

Mr. George Niles will once more take up his residence in this village.

Jerry Chittenden's table is garnished each day with nice lettuce of his own raising.

The Grange Store is having a delivery wagon made at the Rough Bro's wagon works.

Mr. S. L. Beardsley was in town looking after the interests of C. H. & S. J. McCormick, on Tuesday.

The sale of seats for Sanford's lecture is going on rapidly; better secure yours at once.

Messrs. R. A. DeMont, Burns Helmick, and Roscoe Dix, of Berrien Springs, were in town on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Humphreys, of New Carlisle, were guests of their friends in this place on Saturday and Sunday last.

After an absence of several weeks visiting friends in Kalamazoo, Miss Viola Wood return home on Friday of last week.

A soldier's petition which is displayed at the Grange Store, has the signatures of seventy-six ex-soldiers, and about fifty citizens attached.

The south wing of the old Niagara house has been fitted up by the Rough Bro's and is now used as an office for their wagon works.

On account of illness, Miss Jennie Parlee was unable to fill her place in the second primary department of the union school, a part of last week.

Mr. Louis Hoyt, for a long time a freight conductor on the Michigan Central road, is fitting up the Apted building near the depot in Niles, for a hotel.

Buchanan has never had a lecture by so noted an orator and traveler as Col. Sanford, who has crossed the Atlantic seventeen times and visited every kingdom, empire, and republic upon which the sun shines.

Mr. Dunning was a member of the Baptist Church, and Mrs. Dunning having united with that society in Cassopolis in 1841, and subsequently by letter to the Baptist Church of Buchanan.

Mr. Dunning has always been known as an honest, upright man, and an excellent citizen. His death was a surprise to the citizens of the village, as it was known to be far that he was sick.

May the blessing of heaven rest upon her who, by this event, has been widowed, sustaining and comforting by his grace. May he give her at last an abundant immortality.

Let come what will, do not miss Col. Sanford's lecture, for if you do you will surely regret it.

St. Valentine's day on Saturday, and leap year at that.

If your business is dull, make it lively by advertising in the REPORTER.

Col. Sanford's eloquence is wonderful, his humor irresistible and his audience laughed and cried alternately.

Remember the railroad meeting at Grange hall on next Saturday afternoon.

The eloquent Col. Sanford will be at Kinyon's hall to-morrow, Friday, evening.

J. R. Hill, of the Independent, Three Oaks, was in town on Monday last.

Miss Belle Graham gave a party to some of her friends on Monday evening last.

Don't fail to see Ada Gray play Lucretia Borgin, the Poisoner, next Monday night.

Better get insured against laughing yourself to death before attending Sanford's lecture.

The W. C. T. U., the Red Ribbon Club and the Good Templars will hereafter hold union meetings monthly.

Mr. H. G. Holliday and wife returned from Kansas on Tuesday evening, whither they had been visiting their son.

Mr. James A. Haslett will to-day remove to his farm near Three Oaks. He orders THE REPORTER sent to his address.

The case of Mrs. Mary E. Voorhees against Harry Haskins was dismissed by Squire Dick on last Wednesday.

Mr. A. J. Eychler has published a pamphlet on the Free-thinker's movement, which is located in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Mrs. Maria Cox and her son Tom have been confined to their beds for several days past with lung fever. Both are now able to sit up.

On last Tuesday Mr. L. P. Fox received a span of handsome bay horses; a present from Mr. Spencer, of the firm of Hibbard & Spencer, of Chicago.

Through mistake the name of the Rev. W. W. Wells did not appear in the list of officers of the good templars lodge, published last week. Mr. Wells is W. C.

The funeral of Mr. P. B. Dunning took place from his late residence, at two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Smith, of Berrien Springs officiating. The remains were buried at Oak Ridge cemetery.

Erasmus Tomlinson, who lived about three miles out of town, died last Saturday afternoon, of inflammation of the bowels. The disease was brought on by over-doing and taking a severe cold. Deceased was twenty-six years old and well known in this village.

Wednesday night Col. Sanford delivered a temperance lecture. It was vastly superior to any that Francis Murphy or John B. Gough ever uttered.

It is better to be born lucky than rich, was verified on Friday last when Mrs. William Simmons received by letter from Sidney, Australia, a check for fifty pounds sterling, nearly $250. It came from her brother who says he will send more should this reach her safely. He benefits himself who doeth good to others.

In the case of C. H. & S. J. McCormick vs. Charles Lemon, of Lake Township, which was tried before Justice Dick on the 10th, the action being to enforce the payment of two notes for $90, in payment of a mowing machine. The defendant contested the payment of the notes on the ground that the machine would not do the work that it was warranted to do. The jury rendered a verdict of $75 for the plaintiffs.

Amusements are abundant and well patronized at present. Hill's troupe commenced on Monday evening at Rough's hall and will finish their engagement to-morrow night. On Saturday afternoon at a matinee Ada Gray, an actress of indisputable merit, will render East Lynne, and on Saturday and Monday evening she will appear in the New Magdalen and Lucretia Borgin. Immediately following Miss Gray will be the Maxwell's for five consecutive nights. On to-morrow, Friday, evening, Col. Sanford will deliver his eloquent lecture on China and Japan, at Kinyon's hall.

Secure seats at once for Col. Sanford's lecture on Feb. 13. Tickets for sale at Kinyon's.

Philander B. Dunning of this village died on Tuesday morning, Feb. 10, of congestion of the lungs.

Mr. Dunning was born in the state of New York in 1835, and at that time of his removal to the west, which took place in 1851, he resided in Erie Co., N. Y. On his arrival in this state he settled on Beardsley's prairie, where he was married to Miss Fidelia Treat in July, 1855. They subsequently moved to Silver Creek, thence to Bertrand, and after a brief period settled in Niles, where he was connected with one of the flouring mills. Upon leaving Niles they returned to Beardsley's prairie for a short time and finally moved to Buchanan in 1851, where they lived until his decease.

Mr. Dunning was a member of the Baptist Church, and Mrs. Dunning having united with that society in Cassopolis in 1841, and subsequently by letter to the Baptist Church of Buchanan.

Mr. Dunning has always been known as an honest, upright man, and an excellent citizen. His death was a surprise to the citizens of the village, as it was known to be far that he was sick.

May the blessing of heaven rest upon her who, by this event, has been widowed, sustaining and comforting by his grace. May he give her at last an abundant immortality.

Let come what will, do not miss Col. Sanford's lecture, for if you do you will surely regret it.

David Devin went to Marietta, Ohio, on last Saturday and is to-day to be married to Miss Fanny Panettier. They will probably locate in Des Moines, Iowa.

Mrs. Wm. Gesh and Miss Clara Foster, nieces of John Reynolds, are guests of Mrs. Wm. Welch.

It will take forty cords of stone to build the foundation for Rough Bro's new shop.

Beistle & Evans will open their marble shop as soon as the stock arrives from Chicago.

NARROW ESCAPE. John W. L. Lister who had occasion to go to the wagon shop, and while passing from the blacksmith department on the lower floor, stepped under the elevator, which was descending. His escape from serious injury was almost miraculous; as it was, he received quite a blow upon the head.

Col. Sanford is the most eloquent man in America to-day. We have heard Wendell Phillips, Bayard Taylor and all celebrated American lecturers and none of them can hold an audience as Sanford can.—Athens (Ga) Telegraph.

The call for a railroad meeting to be held last Tuesday afternoon was responded to by many citizens, and being called to order, Mr. C. E. Howe was chosen president and John Holmes, secretary. Speeches were made by U. P. Fox, Roscoe Dix, Burns Helmick and J. Van Ripper. There was a genuine business tone about the whole affair, and when called upon, the audience subscribed $9,435 toward the building the St. Joseph Valley Railroad; making, when added to what had already been raised, $18,000, thus placing Buchanan's ability to raise her quota ($90,000) beyond peradventure. The individual subscriptions on Tuesday ranged from $1,500 to five days work and one of our heavy justices of the peace contributed justice fees. A committee of ten composed of Messrs. Wm. R. Rough, L. P. Fox, George H. Richards, Wm. Peas, A. F. Ross, L. P. Al. extended Wm. D. Hoag, Samuel French, Solomon Tough and R. Y. Clark, was appointed to further wait upon the citizens and solicit aid. The meeting then adjourned to meet again in Grange hall on Saturday afternoon, at half-past three o'clock. Self interest, no less than public spirit demands that each citizen upon whom providence has bestowed even a small portion of this world's goods, should honor the members of the committee, and when called upon put his shoulder to the wheel, which requires united strength to move. Mr. Dix reported the situation in Berrien Springs, and the way the people at the county seat take hold of the matter, evinces a public spirit on their part. They have raised $13,000 within the village limits, with prospects of $2,000 or $3,000 more. Mr. Dix is confident that with the aid of the other towns interested they will be able to raise the amount apportioned to them.

It is, in truth, no extravagant praise to concede Col. Sanford the power of entertaining an audience beyond that of any other modern lecturer who has visited.—Detroit Free Press.

Miss Ada Gray in "New Magdalen." Though somewhat late we cannot pass by the performance of the Ada Gray party at Union hall, New Year's night without comment, as all who witnessed the "New Magdalen" on that occasion are agreed that then and there was presented some of the finest acting ever seen upon our boards. This thrilling story of the usage of the world toward its erring daughters from the pen of the gifted author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon the resources of the artist assuming the character of "Mary Rebeck," "the pen of the other author, Willie Collins, has been admirably adapted for representation by Charles A. Watkins, manager of the company in question, and in Miss Ada Gray he has found an exponent of the heroine that he may well feel proud of. It is a play that draws very materially upon

AS THERE IS ANY BY-AND-BY... THE BUCHANAN REPORTER... WINTER ON THE PLAINS...

WINTER ON THE PLAINS... In the fall of 1870, after the completion of the Denver and Pacific railroad...

At the time of which I am writing the plains were a vast feeding-ground for countless herds of buffalo...

Next morning we harnessed up our new team, and in the course of an hour reached the river...

After a few weeks, game becoming scarce, we took a trip over to Snake creek, seven miles north...

Buffalo, antelope, black-tail deer, beaver, otter, wild turkey and jack-rabbits were abundant...

MARRIAGE PROBABILITIES... Statistics from Chicago... The Chicago Times has constructed a table of 'Marriage Probabilities'...

BREVITIES... A woman is not an old maid until she has reached the age of 35...

DR. MARCHESI'S VEGETABLE... Malaria Antidote... Moore's Pills...

GILES' LINIMENT... LAME AND SICK HORSES... CURED FREE OF COST!

ONE MONTH GUARANTEED... A MONTH GUARANTEED... $300...

THE ONLY REMEDY... THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, AND THE KIDNEYS... Why Are We Sick?

NEW MEDICINE... WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED... BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY...

THE EAST INDIA COMPANY... THE GREAT EAST INDIA COMPANY... THE GREAT EAST INDIA COMPANY...

Curing Drunkenness... Dr. O'Connell's... Curing Drunkenness...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

Malaria Antidote... Moore's Pills... GIRES' LINIMENT...

GIRES' LINIMENT... LAME AND SICK HORSES... CURED FREE OF COST!

ONE MONTH GUARANTEED... A MONTH GUARANTEED... $300...

THE ONLY REMEDY... THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, AND THE KIDNEYS... Why Are We Sick?

NEW MEDICINE... WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED... BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY...

THE EAST INDIA COMPANY... THE GREAT EAST INDIA COMPANY... THE GREAT EAST INDIA COMPANY...

Curing Drunkenness... Dr. O'Connell's... Curing Drunkenness...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

Malaria Antidote... Moore's Pills... GIRES' LINIMENT...

GIRES' LINIMENT... LAME AND SICK HORSES... CURED FREE OF COST!

ONE MONTH GUARANTEED... A MONTH GUARANTEED... $300...

THE ONLY REMEDY... THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, AND THE KIDNEYS... Why Are We Sick?

NEW MEDICINE... WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED... BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY...

THE EAST INDIA COMPANY... THE GREAT EAST INDIA COMPANY... THE GREAT EAST INDIA COMPANY...

Curing Drunkenness... Dr. O'Connell's... Curing Drunkenness...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

Malaria Antidote... Moore's Pills... GIRES' LINIMENT...

GIRES' LINIMENT... LAME AND SICK HORSES... CURED FREE OF COST!

ONE MONTH GUARANTEED... A MONTH GUARANTEED... $300...

THE ONLY REMEDY... THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, AND THE KIDNEYS... Why Are We Sick?

NEW MEDICINE... WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED... BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY...

THE EAST INDIA COMPANY... THE GREAT EAST INDIA COMPANY... THE GREAT EAST INDIA COMPANY...

Curing Drunkenness... Dr. O'Connell's... Curing Drunkenness...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

Malaria Antidote... Moore's Pills... GIRES' LINIMENT...

GIRES' LINIMENT... LAME AND SICK HORSES... CURED FREE OF COST!

ONE MONTH GUARANTEED... A MONTH GUARANTEED... $300...

THE ONLY REMEDY... THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, AND THE KIDNEYS... Why Are We Sick?

NEW MEDICINE... WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED... BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY...

THE EAST INDIA COMPANY... THE GREAT EAST INDIA COMPANY... THE GREAT EAST INDIA COMPANY...

Curing Drunkenness... Dr. O'Connell's... Curing Drunkenness...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

Malaria Antidote... Moore's Pills... GIRES' LINIMENT...

GIRES' LINIMENT... LAME AND SICK HORSES... CURED FREE OF COST!

ONE MONTH GUARANTEED... A MONTH GUARANTEED... $300...

THE ONLY REMEDY... THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, AND THE KIDNEYS... Why Are We Sick?

NEW MEDICINE... WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED... BIOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY...

THE EAST INDIA COMPANY... THE GREAT EAST INDIA COMPANY... THE GREAT EAST INDIA COMPANY...

Curing Drunkenness... Dr. O'Connell's... Curing Drunkenness...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL... NEUROLOGICAL...

DIRECTORY... BUCHANAN REPORTER... BUCHANAN REPORTER...

BUCHANAN REPORTER... BUCHANAN REPORTER... BUCHANAN REPORTER...