THE HIGHWAY COV.

The hue of her hide was dusky brown,
Her body was lean and her neck was slim;
One horn turned up and the other turned down
As if to disguise or conceal the action.
With a Roman nose and a short stump tail,
And ribs like the hoops on a home-made pail.
Many a mark did her body bear:
She had been a target for all things known;
On many a scar the dusky hair
Would grow no more where it once had grown.
Many a passionate, parting thought
Had left upon her a lasting spot.
Many and many a well-aimed stone,
Many a brickbat of goodly size,
And many a cudgel swiftly thrown,
Had brought the tears to her loving eyes,
Or her forehead off from her bonny back.
With a noise like the sound of a rifle crack.
Many a day had she passed in the pound
For being herself to her neighbor's scorn;
Many a cowardly cry and bound
Had been transcribed on her crumpled horn;
Many a teapot and old tin pail
Had the farmer boys, tied to her time-worn tail.

A Pretty Fellow-Traveler.

I am a middle-aged man, who has the misfortune to be somewhat humped at home. My wife, so people tell me, is very much my better-half. She certainly thinks so herself, to the extent I believe, that she considers the other half of my very little consequence indeed, the notion for a long time, but I had to give in in the end. The fact was, she never let me alone. She always has her eye upon me. If she had her own way she would never let me out of her sight. But I am a business man and I can't do my work by stopping always at Red Wheat Lodge. Snug as my home may be, my business takes me down Mark lane way, where they tell me I am no bad job of grain, often do a good stroke there, when I trade in brick, and now and again, just by way of gratifying the old woman—I don't care to call her so to her face—I have brought her home a handful of sovereigns just to show her that I'm not such a fool as she thinks. Of course she immediately appropriated the cash, but the thing pleased her so mightily that I was tempted by way of keeping her in good humor to do it again and again. She begins to like me again, and she who looks always for apples or nuts out of one's pockets, and when she was disappointed, she showed her teeth. I never could quite satisfy her that I had brought her no coin. She insists upon seeing all my pockets, and examining my purse closely, directly as I return home. To avoid unpleasantness, indeed, I came as a general rule to allow her to find a sovereign or two when I got back at night. I live some way down the line, at Shortlands, in point of fact, a rising suburban resort, where I have made some not unsatisfactory investments in building lots. Shortlands, as everybody knows, may be reached from two London stations—Victoria and Langate Hill. Sometimes I traveled from the one, sometimes from the other.

Berrien Co. Record.

JOHN G. HOLMES, Editor. THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1881.

359. Did you ever see that number before? It was 8 months and 29 days from the time Garfield was inaugurated to the time he was shot.

A lady, one of the maudlin, sickly-sentimental kind, no doubt, called at the Washington jail yesterday to give Guiteau some broiled chicken and sweetmeats. The food was denied him.

The history of Guiteau, the man who attempted to assassinate President Garfield, continues to grow, by reports from men who have known him; but the good traits of his character are yet to be heard from.

The Merchant's Exchange of New York presented President Garfield's family with $250,000 to be invested in government bonds for their future support. They did not want them to ever suffer for want of money.

There is to be no encumbrance of the State funds this year, but instead, the funds generally appropriated for that purpose will be expended at the Yorktown centennial celebration.

Griscom, the Chicago fester, succeeded in living forty-five days without solid food of any kind, thereby beating Tanner by five; but as the operation was a poor investment financially there is a probability that the attempts of this kind, to starve to death for notoriety and money, will become fewer.

The probability now is that in case of the President's recovery the pleas of insanity by the friends of Guiteau will be accepted and he sent to an asylum for treatment. Such cases are rarely cured in the duration of an ordinary lifetime.

Robert Bell, an old colored fruit-seller in Westminister, Md., died on Monday evening. His life was insured for the benefit of spectators to the amount of $200,000, of which more than two-thirds was taken within the past two weeks.

Judging from the warnings received by nearly all of the heads of departments in the government at Washington, the country must be pretty well filled with lunatics who need to be taken care of. One writes that in case of the President's death, Conkling and Arthur must pay the penalty.

By the original national banking law, National banks could keep on deposit only U. S. legal tender notes for the redemption of their circulation, and the Treasurer was allowed to use no other money in their redemption, but by a late decision gold and silver coin may be used for both purposes.

Many parts of the west have been visited by violent storms in the past few days. At Des Moines, Iowa, considerable damage was done Saturday evening by what appeared to have been a regular water spout, and at Marshalltown heavy winds and rains did great damage Sunday evening.

The condition of the President continues to improve, and the attending physicians now express their belief in speedy and certain recovery. The expression on the faces of attendants about the White House has changed from that of anxiety and fear to that of hopefulness, as every one feels confident that the impending calamity to the country is safely passed.

The heated term this year shows fearful results in all parts of the country. Cincinnati heads the list with twenty-seven deaths Tuesday; La Fayette, Ind., two; Ottawa, Ill., two; Springfield, Ill., two, and fifteen prostrated; Pittsburg, Pa., seven cases of sunstroke, four of them fatal; Joliet, Ill., two; Indianapolis, two, and at New Orleans the heat is so great that the recurrence of the yellow fever epidemic is greatly feared. Ninety-five to 105 in the shade are the reports from different parts of the country.

After Griscom's forty-five days of fasting he eats nearly as much for one meal as he ought to have eaten during the whole time. Note the bill of fare: A small sugar cured ham, two chickens stuffed, one tongue boiled, four hard boiled eggs, one pound of new cheese, one quart of onions, a dish of cold slaw, one pint of currant jelly, one quart of cranberry jelly, five pies, apple, rhubarb, custard, lemon, raspberry. The worst of the whole business is, he threatens to go lecturing.

C. Joslin, of Ypsilanti, offers the following code to be observed in office making in this country: 1. Permit no man to seek an office before or after nomination. 2. Permit no man to spend time or money for office. 3. Permit the oath of office by adding: I have not directly or indirectly paid, or expended any money or valuable thing or become liable to, nor will I, to procure said office. 4. Provide, by law, that any elector may appear before any canvassing board and challenge the announcement of the election of any person to such office. Provided such challenger shall at once file charges that such person has paid, expended, or promised directly or indirectly, money or other valuable to procure said office. 5. That such challenge shall, by the board of canvassers, be referred, at once, to the proper circuit court; which shall lay aside all other business, and forthwith proceed to hear, with or without a jury as in other cases, said challenge and specifications, and if the result of such hearing shall be that the candidate has before, or after, his nomination expended any money, or valuable thing, directly or indirectly, or promised to do, whether such money or valuable, belonged to said candidate, or was contributed by his friends or party, then no certificate of election shall be issued; and a new election shall be ordered. 6. Provide, by law, that the appointed officers of the United States, except the cabinet, shall hold office for at least eight years, and shall not be removed, except for cause, found on a hearing before some court, as high as a State circuit court, after notice to such officers of such hearing according to the practice of said court.

Appointed officers shall not be assisted for the support of any party. Let their salaries be such that they will not freely contribute much. 8. Let the people proclaim that these, or like laws, shall be passed; and our constitution so amended, when necessary, as to carry out such civil service reform. 9. The spoils system and its outgrowth, office seeking, shall be abolished, and our constitution so amended, when necessary, as to carry out such civil service reform. 10. We are on a broad highway to destruction, and near the end thereof, unless we pass and enforce rigid laws against the use of money in elections. He ought to add the law proposed by Capt. Allen: That if any man apply more than three times to any one man having appointive power for office, he shall be taken to the woods and hung. No use of any half way doing work in this business.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

If any person selling a liquid merchandise, using a pint cup for a measure, and each time he fills it for a customer he empties all but from a tablespoonful to a half gill, leaving that for a part of the next measure full, people who speak the English language in plain terms would call it stealing. Now the same as any other stealing. Now if any man in the village of Buchanan finds a coat in this that fits him, we want him to climb right into it before he finds one that fits him closer, and his name branded up and down the back in bold-faced letters.

Persons living in the west part of this county who want to attend the Young People's Picnic at Berrien Springs, August 5, can go from here by the narrow gauge railroad, as the road will be completed near enough to Berrien Springs by that time to make but a short walk the balance of the way if it is not completed. The company is making a special effort to have the road done by that time, and the probability is that they will succeed in their undertaking. However, there will be no trouble about getting to Berrien Springs by that way.

The executive committee of the Young People's Picnic Association have secured a special train over the Michigan Central road to carry passengers from this place, in the evening of August 5, the date of their picnic at Berrien Springs. The train will leave Buchanan at 7:45, and go west as far as New Buffalo, stopping at all intermediate points. Returning it will leave the depot at this place at 10:30 P. M., and go to South Bend. Excursion tickets will be sold for the round trip at two-thirds full fare. Passengers may come from the east on Kalamazoo accommodation, and from the west on mail, arriving in Buchanan at 10:30 A. M.

Ensign & Co. are bringing suits against parties who have subscribed for their history of Ingham and Eaton counties, and now refuse to take them. Justice Hammond of Mason has issued over thirty summonses already.—Post & Tribune.

This same Ensign & Co. wrote a history of Berrien and Van Buren counties (?), and there are many in these counties who are ready to pronounce their first-class swindlers in the history business. They couldn't take ten subscriptions for anything in this vicinity under the name of D. W. Ensign & Co., and have the name known, so well are they liked hereabout.

The St. Joseph Republican is laboring under a mistake. There is no split in the Young People's Picnic Association, neither will they hold two picnics this year, but only one at Berrien Springs. The affair at Niles is a sideshow gotten up by that place simply for spite, because they could not by unfair means force the Association to hold their meeting there instead of at Berrien Springs. The young people who will attend that meeting will be such ones as Hon. A. H. Morrison of St. Joseph, and we learn that one or two fire companies are to be there and make a sort of firemen's tournament of it, and the Democrat tells a great story about how many pretty girls will be there from Cass and Van Buren counties, and from St. Joseph county, Ind. And that may all be, but the pretty girls of Berrien county will be at the Young People's Picnic at Berrien, Aug. 5, and will you be so kind as to tell your readers about it, Mr. Republican?

[Three Oaks Sun.] Wm. Robinson's house, near Lake Side, was broken open on July 4, while the family were absent. All their wearing apparel except what the family had on were stolen; also all the pork and other provisions, and many other articles. The same day Joseph Lee's house, near Lakeside, was broken open. One shot-gun, one pair of shoes and bed clothing was taken.

DEATH OF REV. HENRY WORTH. This sad news reached this place Sunday evening that Rev. H. Worthington of Dowagiac, well known in this place, had died quite suddenly of a congestive chill. The funeral which was held in that place yesterday afternoon, was attended by a large number from this place, mostly of the Odd Fellows Lodge. Mr. Worthington was sixty-five years of age, and had been in the M. E. Church Ministry in this part of the State for over forty years, several of these being in Buchanan, and was well liked by every one who heard him. There are few who leave a larger circle of friends than Mr. Worthington. The funeral services were held under the auspices of the I. O. O. F., of which he had long been a useful and honored member. Benton Lodge No. 182, of Benton Harbor, to which Mr. Worthington belonged, conducted the ceremonies, assisted by brethren from Dowagiac, Buchanan, Niles, St. Joseph, Berrien Springs, Pokagon, Berrien Centre, and others. The services were held in the Park, fronting the business houses, and they, out of respect to the deceased, closed their stores during the time thus occupied. The ministers of the various pulpits in Dowagiac, together with his brethren of the M. E. Church on charges near, were present and assisted in the last rites. The music was especially fine. The opening anthem was grandly rendered. One of the pieces sung was one he had selected for the choir Sabbath evening a short time before his death, which added solemnity to the sentiments of the hymn. It was the 388th number of the New Hymnal: "Oh, where shall rest be found." Memoir was read by Rev. Cooley, which will be published next issue. The sermon, an eloquent and an exceptionally intellectual one, was preached by Rev. J. R. Boggs, President Elder of this District. A brief synopsis only can be given. The text was 1 Cor. xv: 35, 43 and 44: "But some may say, how are the dead raised up and with what bodies do they come? It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption. It is sown in dishonor; it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness; it is raised in power. It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body." The sermon was divided into three general divisions: Corruption vs. Incorruption; Weakness vs. Power; Natural Body vs. Spiritual Body. The present body continually undergoing change, an unstable equilibrium at best, only maintained, and however dearly we may love our friends, when the life-giving principle which animates the molecules of our bodies leaves them, we are ready to put them away in the city of the dead, that the elements may return dust to dust. But when raised in Incorruption, how different our identity, not dependent upon molecular identity. "God giveth it a body as it shall please him." No weakness, no soreness, no sickness, no death—that which was sown in dishonor is now raised in glory. How feeble our abilities are to grasp the meaning of glory. It is merely a relative term, and conveys to our minds but dimly the meaning behind it, and the shadowy glimpses we have obtained beyond the veil but serve to deepen the mystery, while it excites our admiration and sublimest imaginings.

Sown in weakness; raised in power. Feebleness, sickness, lack of mobility, incident to mortality, how dependent upon the five senses; but when raised in power, how great the change. Vigor of body, how mobility, possibly in the mortal body confined to a limited range. But when done with time, we will have a limitless range, catching as we do here, but faint glimpses of the possibilities of the human soul. When raised in power, space will be annihilated, and with strength to traverse it with the rapidity of thought, how insignificant will the greatest achievements of time appear when we ascend in the scale of eternity.

Conversion the only requisite necessary to gain the regions of unalloyed bliss. He whose inanimate body lies before us, a grand example of a converted man, whose every aim to advance the glorious cause of his Master, and the indwelling peace of God warming and keeping young his heart, and illuminating his face with pleasant smiles. Shall we not imitate his virtues, and follow Christ as he followed Him? May God grant that we all accept Christ and prove faithful.

It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. Our natural body continually reminding us that it is a frail fabric at best, dragging us down with its many ills, supplementing all with the change that awaits each one of us, which Longfellow beautifully describes: "Let us be patient; these severe afflictions, Not from the ground arise; But oftentimes celestial benedictions Assume this dark disguise."

We see but dimly through these mists and vapors. What seem to us but sad funeral tapers. May be Heaven's distant lamps. There is no death! What seems to us transition; This life of mortal breath. Is but a suburb of the life to come, Whose portals we call death.

But when raised a spiritual body, wholly of that element of man which eludes the power of chemistry, or the microscope, but which all are compelled to admit exists. That part which when some great calamity falls upon a nation is moved as with some strange power, the religious element asserts itself and sweeps over the land from shore to shore as a great wave. If now occasionally we see exhibitions of its force, when the spiritual body, freed from the entanglements of mortality, who can fathom its grand impulses or measure its power? So does now in part possess this spirit, so does the lump of coal possess the properties of the diamond. As great as is the difference between our natural and spiritual body. Let us then prepare to meet the boatman who is to ferry us across the river.

"For none return from those quiet shores, Who cross with the boatman cold and pale. We hear the dip of the oar, and see the sail, And catch a glimpse of the snowy sail, And lo! they have passed from our yearning hearts. They cross the stream and are gone for aye. We may not under the veil appear. That hides from our vision the gates of day; We only know that their banks no more. They walk and beckon and wait. Yet somewhere, I know, on life's stormy sea, They watch and beckon and wait."

And I sit and think, when the sunset's gold Is flashing river, and hill, and shore, I fall one day stand by the water cold. And I list for the sound of the boatman's oar. I shall watch for a gleam of the spilling sail. I shall hear the best of the oar, and see the sail. I shall pass from sight with the boatman pale. To the better shore of the spirit land. Let all know the loved who have gone before, And joyfully swell shall the meeting be. When over the river, the peaceful river, The angel of death shall carry me."

The speaker here, in eloquent eulogy, referred to the deceased, and in words of heartfelt sympathy directed the bereaved family to Him on whom the husband and father had leaned, for comfort in this trying hour. The remainder of the burial service of the church was then read, and after the large audience had had an opportunity of taking a last fond look on him whom all bore in grateful remembrance, the Order took charge of the remains and proceeded to the place of interment, near Cassopolis. And thus has fallen one of our pioneers who will be greatly missed from among us.

The Mf. Clemens Monitor is responsible for the statement that a certain minister of Romeo, in his sermon the day after the attempted assassination of the President, said: "And I want every man, woman, and child before me to vow down in his heart that hereafter from this time anything in politics that is called stalwart shall be d—d! And as for Vice-President Arthur and ex-Senator Conkling, to—h—w with them!" The Monitor doesn't say whether it can prove this.—Evening News.

The would-be Vespertine Lynchers at Grand Haven waived examination and given bail in the sum of $2,000 to appear at the next term of circuit court for trial.

Punishment of the Assassin. The law which is believed to be applicable to Guiteau's case is section 100 of the Code of Criminal Procedure of the District of Columbia, which reads as follows: "Every person convicted of manslaughter, or of any labor for the first offense for a period of not less than two nor more than eight years, and for two or more offenses for a period of not less than six nor more than fifteen years." Under this law, the penalty for Guiteau's crime, if the President recovers, will be eight years imprisonment at hard labor. The law makes no distinction between the life of the President and the life of the humblest citizen; nor does the law contemplate the politician who has been convicted, which may follow the crime.

Evidently eight years imprisonment will be in this case, entirely inadequate as a punishment. But, if Guiteau is held in custody until the President recovers, he will be in a mad house, since, if he is sent to an insane asylum, it is not likely he will ever be released from its walls. Guiteau is taken up with a morbid vanity, and an insatiable curiosity. He is a man who tried to murder the President of the United States, and who has been held in custody for a detestable public character. But he will naturally shrink with terror from a life-long, hopeless seclusion in some mad house, and he will naturally shrink from the greatest legal punishment which can be inflicted upon him will be to bury him alive in an insane asylum, where he will be for life secluded from mankind, and cut off from that notoriety which he craves. Out of an asylum no President will ever take him; and, once legally declared insane, no doctor will ever dare certify a cure.

Queen Victoria was shot at by one Oxford, many years ago. Oxford got off on the plea of insanity, and was sent to an asylum. He, too, had an ailment of the mind, but his ailment was not from the public, nobody being allowed to see him, or to talk about him in his presence, utterly crushed his hopes. Various efforts were made to cure him, and it was thought by experts that he never was really insane; but, greatly to his disgust, no attention was paid to his ailment, and he was sent to an asylum, where he was secluded from communication with the outside world. This punishment probably of the most terrible punishment effect upon other notoriety seekers. If, therefore, Guiteau is adjudged insane, provided the President list, strict seclusion for life in an insane asylum, and the most terrible punishment the law can inflict upon him—much more terrible than imprisonment in a prison for sane convicts. Only such imprisonment should be made complete and absolute, and the prisoner should be allowed no visitors, and no communication with the outside world; but he should be left to eat out his evil heart in hopeless loneliness and ignorance of the world's affairs, and treated physically, but mentally and morally buried alive in the impenetrable cell of a mad house.—Post and Tribune.

The Chicago socialists, Sunday, held a meeting to consider the assassination of the President. After a long discussion they resolved that Guiteau is not responsible for shooting the President; but "in our opinion this act is the natural result of the false and destructive social and political system upon which society is based." After thus declaring, in substance, that the assassin is not to blame, but his act is the natural result of the American social and political system, the body went on to resolve and declare that the President of the United States is "the equal of the czar, emperors and kings of the Old World," and that the social and political Old Man of the Sea, whose existence is an incubation and constant danger to the progress and liberty of the people. They thus indirectly declared and approved of the removal by assassination of the President. Socialism and nihilism are detestable and dangerous in any country, on any continent, among any people, in any form of government. Anything as odious as their above quoted language has not appeared elsewhere.—Post & Tribune.

STATE ITEMS. Monroe is to have an $800 town clock. Counterfeit $10 bills are in circulation in various parts of the State. Auditor-General Latimer has been confined to his room with sickness the past week. Liquor dealers of Kalamazoo Co. have paid $6,770 for the privilege of selling the stuff the coming year. A terribly malignant type of scarlet fever has broken out in Allegan. Children die in a few hours after they are taken.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of ten Muskegon saloonists who sold liquors on the 4th of July, which is against the law. The Hessian fly is reported to be doing considerable damage to the wheat in Cheshaning. It works in the lower joint of the stalk. Battle Creek authorities have passed an ordinance prohibiting the use of barbed wire for fencing along the walks in that city.

Soujourner Truth, who has been quite sick, has now so fully recovered that she will in a few days start out on a lecturing tour throughout the State. An Ann Arbor smart boy tried to crawl through a sewer pipe under the street in that place. He managed to get fast after crawling about ten feet, and had to be dug out or stay there. John Taylor, of Marcellus, sheared, this season, from 43 sheep 345 pounds of wool, for which he received 85 cents per pound. He also sold seven wethers that weighed 1,310 pounds.

Large numbers of dead fish are seen in the Tutabawassee river and the cause of their death is a mystery. They are frequently seen throwing themselves two or three feet out of water and then fall back dead.—Post & Tribune. The reports of deaths and injuries from lightning stroke during the storm on Tuesday, come from all parts of the State in considerable numbers. The storm appears to have been quite general over the southern part of the State and to have done considerable damage. Wheat cutting has commenced and the crop prospect is exceedingly encouraging. While the grain does not stand as thick as in some seasons the heads are remarkably long and the berry is large, perfectly developed and very heavy. There will be fully one-third more wheat than was anticipated. Rust has not hurt the crop to speak of.—Charlotte Republican.

A vein of coal has been discovered in the northwest part of the city of Jackson, two feet four inches in thickness. The Patriot says it was reached at a depth of 100 feet, after passing through from six to seven feet of fire clay and two or three feet of slate. During the college year just closed, Prof. Frothingham has treated in the university hospital 450 patients who had eye difficulties. There were 68 cases of cataract.—Ann Arbor Democrat.

Mason is keeping up its enviable reputation of being the best town in the northwest for marrying off school ma'ams. The school board have been pestered of late with applications from eligible ladies who offer to teach for nothing, and pay a bonus besides, so pleasant to them is the prospect of impending matrimony. This pressure for place on the part of the lady teachers was one of the strongest motives for creating the new ward school building.—Evening News.

Sunday afternoon while James Comley, of Hamilton, near Decatur, was operating a reaper in a wheat field, his little four-year-old boy went out un-noticed and sat down in the wheat. His father's attention was attracted by two neighbors coming across the field and he did not see the child until the machine struck, cutting the right leg off in two places below the knee, leaving nothing but a little flesh and some of the chords. Both bones were severed. The left leg was severely girdled.

An Edison electric light company has been organized at Jackson, with a capital stock of $100,000. The incorporators are William D. Thompson, Charles C. Bloomfield, William H. Withington, Addison B. Robinson, and Perry Averill.

A Waterloo (Jackson county) correspondent of the Jackson Citizen writes to that paper as follows: "A new potato to destroy has appeared here, much worse than the old. It is a bug shaped like a crawfish, eats the inside all of the potato, and runs into the ground as though sharpened for that purpose. In their nest is found half a teaspoon full of young ones about the size of sheep ticks. J. McVey's potatoes are already half destroyed, and he is digging them to save any. I counted six large potatoes in one hill entirely eaten out. The old ones are an inch and a half to two inches long, and are hard to catch unless inside the potatoes."

Some weeks ago John Parker, of this city, harvested a whitefish which weighed eleven pounds and seven ounces, dressed. He shipped it to a Milwaukee dealer, by whom it was sent to the editor of the New York Market Index and Trade Journal, who exhibited it to the admiring gaze of the patrons of the principal markets of that city, after which it was sent to Prof. Baird, Smithsonian Institute. The fish, according to the Index, exhibited universal admiration as the finest specimen of Coregonus Albus ever exhibited in the Empire City, a statement we can well believe, considering that the average weight of whitefish sold in the market is three pounds. This is coming when New York City will be supplied with fresh fish direct from the clear, cold, pure waters of Lake Superior.—Marquette Mining Journal.

A French company with $10,000,000 capital has been formed in Paris to develop the mining resources of Canada.

Coff Refreshment for the Flowers.—A lady of San Francisco lately received some plants from Mexico, and with the plants came the advice to fertilize them with waste coffee and coffee-grounds. This was done, and the result was so satisfactory that the same treatment was tried on roses, and the effect was a healthy and vigorous growth, and more and better flowers and of richer color.

Sounding Niagara. A party of United States engineers have taken soundings of the Niagara river below the falls. It was a work of great difficulty to approach the falls in a small boat. Great jets of water were thrown out from the falls far into the stream, and the roar was so terrible that no one could be heard. The leadman cast the line, which weighed thirty-five feet. This was near the shore. Further down the stream a second cast of the lead led to 100 feet, deepening to 192 feet at the inclined railway. The average depth of the river proper is 210 feet. The depth was computed to be 210 feet.

A LETTER from the committee of arrangements for the Soldiers' and Sailors' Reunion state that they have decided to hold the reunion at Diamond Lake this time.

THE evil effects of drinking lemonade made from tartaric acid have been prominently shown, recently, by a number of people having been fatally poisoned by drinking it.

THE Cassopolis Vigilant says that Wm. Hobart, the murderer of old Billy Young did not die in State Prison but still lives to enjoy his beautiful surroundings.

THE Niles people have engaged A. H. Morrison as the young man to deliver the oration at their young people's picnic, August 3. Is he old enough for that position?

A LOCOMOTIVE in form of a traction threshing engine came sailing down Front street Friday night, and started for Coloma next day. It is the property of B. T. Morley.

LATER reports say that the crop of winter wheat is not so much of a failure as was first reported. They are a little slow about getting ripe, that's all.

A DISGRACEFUL fight between father and a twenty-five years old son took place on Oak street, near the engine house, last Thursday evening. Shame on such work.

THE harvest this year is giving the twin binder a thorough trial. The straw is so short and the grass and weeds so tall and thick that it is next to impossible for the binder to handle it.

BENTON HARBOR reports last Saturday the hottest of the season—106 in the shade. So great was the heat that work of all kinds that required out-of-door exposure was abandoned.

MR. T. P. MORRISON formerly a resident of this place, later of Galesburg has moved his stock of boots and shoes from that place to Kalamazoo, and will continue the business there.

THANKS.—Mrs. Annie Butler wishes to return her sincere thanks to the friends and to the Societies who assisted her during the sickness, and at the death of her husband, Mr. Charles E. Butler.

THE Boston Store has left Niles for other verdant pastures, and the Mirror says "There are no tears to shed," which sounds as if the managers were not liked by that editor.

UNION SERVICE.—There will be a union service, next Sabbath afternoon at 6 o'clock, in front of Mr. Molsberg's on Main street. There will be short addresses by some of the pastors, and singing as before.

CAMP MEETING at Crystal Springs will commence August 9, and close on the 18th. The 16th will be Missionary Day. There will be a Sunday School Institute on the 17th and 18th conducted by Rev. A. H. Gillette.

IF the presence of limestone and fuel is any indication, there is a splendid place for a lime kiln on the St. Joseph Valley Railroad, near the Van Patten place. There is an abundance of both there.

NILES will be "at home" to the whole American nation on young people's picnic day, August 3.—Berrien News. Yes, Niles is generally "at home" when picnics are held anywhere else in the county.—Berrien Springs Journal.

THOSE young men (?) who are trying to make themselves notorious by marking everything they come to with chalk will appear in a better light if they stop that before some one catches them at it and kicks them around two or three squares, as they deserve.

THE following letters remain uncalled for in the Buchanan post-office: Dr. Jas. F. Bowers, Geo. P. Flanders, Mrs. W. B. Haller, Mr. Loomis, Mary A. Murphy, Miss M. A. John, Asher Janson, W. R. Reaser, Mr. Dr. Rose. Postal Cards: John McArthur, A. E. White.

Two or three of the county papers are grumbling because some of the papers have been stealing from their columns a few items. Sorry they feel so bad about it. If the RECORD growled every time something of that kind happened it would do nothing else. We are satisfied to know that the news appears in the RECORD first.

SIX fat men were weighed in our village on Monday, and the aggregate weight was 1331 pounds. The parties and their respective weights were as follows: A. H. Conkey, 234; Shep. Brown, 238; E. G. Rice, 221; B. B. Eldredge, 216; Chas. Snyder, 214; J. O. Rowe, 213.—Berrien Harbor Expressor.

That's nothing. We can beat that. We find here, Geo. Ferguson, 265; E. Ballenger, 249; F. H. Smith, 265. Elvo who weighs 1301. Yes; and there is Charley Carroll who weighs 1014. That beats you.

CHARLES VOORHEES was arrested Tuesday on complaint of Mrs. LeBow, charged with assault and battery upon one of her boys. Voorhees pleaded guilty before Justice Dick and was fined $10 and cost. It appears that the LeBow boys had been whipping Voorhees' younger brother rather more roughly than he thought was proper, and he took upon himself the duty of chastising them, with the above results.

A most remarkable man is Mr. Jeremiah Slater of this township. He is 81 years of age, and for his exercise takes a walk to Dayton to church each Sunday, when the weather will permit, a distance of over two miles, and about once a month during the summer months walks to this place and back, a distance of about four miles each way. "The persons of that age, who will do so much walking, we mistrust, are few.

MR. EMORY.—Next Sabbath evening, July 17, I propose to give a brief lecture on the "Life and times of John Bunyan." The sixty years of Bunyan's eventful life are among the most stirring and romantic of English History, embracing the most of the turbulent and despotic reign of Charles I, commencing in A. D. 1625 and continuing twenty-four years. There was embraced in it, the Star Chamber and the high commission, names of hate and shuddering, a disrowned monarch, a royal trial and a royal execution. This followed the protectorate of the many-sided and wondrous Cromwell, brief years of grandeur and of progress. Then came the restoration with its reaction and excesses during the reign of the profligate and cruel Charles II. As a fitting sequel to the many atrocious acts of this monarch occurred the great plague of London in 1665. These were indeed times for the development of character—times for the birth of men. And the men were there; the wit, the poet, the divine, the hero. John Bunyan in Bedford jail, the victim of intolerance, produced his wonderful book, "The Pilgrim's Progress."

Rev. E. M. Long, of Philadelphia, has prepared 36 pulp paintings, 6x7, to be used in illustrating a series of sermons on this beautiful similitude. Ministers in Philadelphia and New York who are using them report great interest and crowded houses. Having secured the use of these beautiful paintings, I propose to commence this course of twelve sermons next Sabbath evening, to which all are cordially invited by your friend and pastor, Geo. W. Wright.

THE fifth annual meeting of the Young People's Picnic Association of Berrien county will be held at Barnard Grove, Berrien Springs, Michigan, Aug. 3, 1881.

There will be a business meeting at 10 A. M. for the election of officers of the Association for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting. The literary exercises will commence at 2 P. M., which will be a surprising interest. Able and talented speakers have been engaged. Glee Clubs, comprising the best musical talent in the county, will be in attendance. Several bands have been secured for the occasion. Sports and amusements heretofore unknown will constitute a part of the attractions of the day. Railroad and steamboat arrangements have been made for the accommodation of the public, at reduced rates. Ample arrangements have been made, and there are unmistakable prospects for the largest gathering and grandest meeting in the history of the Association.

H. HESS, G. J. FRENCH, L. S. GILLETTE, Business Com. F. T. PLIMPTON, Wm. GRAHAM, F. M. GILLETTE, Pres. F. M. GILLETTE, Sec. The names of three of the committee are not attached.

Resolved, That in the death of our comrade and friend, Buchanan Hose Co. No. 1, losses on officer who was ever kind and considerate to those under his control, and the Fire Department of Buchanan a member who was ever ready to do his full duty; that his family loses an affectionate husband and father, to whom we can point to the altar of our humanity in this their hour of terrible affliction, for strength and support; that his many friends lose a cheerful and kind associate.

A young man in this village, while intoxicated, (that means drunk) took pains to go about town and gather together all of the cows that were running at large and undertake to drive them into the pound, when the owners of said cows came one by one and drove their cows home without asking leave of the boozey individual.

Would it not be a good idea if the "village dads" would order the Street Commissioner to cut down those rank weeds and thistles that are going to seed in some of our streets?

LOCALS. MESSRS. JOHNSON & Co. came to this place last October with their improved feather renovator, and until within a few days ago, have been busy at work ever since. They go from here to Buchanan, and we can recommend the firm as honest men and good workmen.—Berrien Springs Journal.
