THURSDAY, MAY 18, 1882.

Chinese laborers are being landed in British Columbia by the thousands.

The Kalamazoo Commercial has a long and well written article favoring the re-election of Hon. T. W. Ferry to the U. S. Senate.

Snow fell in Chicago, and in Wisconsin the ground was white, last Thursday, May 11. And still they call this the temperate zone.

A rumor was spread through this country that Queen Victoria was assassinated at Balmoral, Tuesday, but the rumor proves to be without foundation in fact.

The court en banc has confirmed the judgment of the lower court, and the entertainment promised at Washington, June 30, will positively be given. No postponement. Guiteau must swing.

Mrs. Scoville has gotten out of sight of her husband, and he is making a great disturbance about it. It will require sharp work to make it appear as anything but a sharp dodge to have the appearance of hereditary insanity.

British Parliament is tightening up on the Irish check rein since the murder of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke, and the recently published circulars issued by the Irish league indicate that a still farther tightening will become necessary.

A late copy of the Tucson, Arizona, Citizen contains an article speaking in the highest terms of Senator Ferry as a soldier's friend. No member of the Senate has done more for the boys in blue in that body than has Senator Ferry.

Fort Pillow Chalmers, of Mississippi, who recently failed to hold the seat of the sixth district in Congress, has determined to run for Congress on an independent ticket, and fish for the suffrage of Republicans and liberal Democrats. He will be the worst established man in America when the election is over and he finds how few votes he receives.

The Island Park Assembly annual meeting for this year will open at Island Park, Rome City, Ind., June 30, with a full and interesting program. Among the speakers to take part are Bishop Warren of Georgia, Rev. A. F. Parsons of Detroit, Rev. A. E. Dunning of Boston, Hon. Schuyler Colfax of South Bend, Rabbi Wise of Cincinnati, and numerous others of equal note.

The bill introduced in the House of Representatives some time since, by Mr. Burrows, providing, that no action for damages or proceeding in equity shall be sustained, nor shall the party be held liable under sections 4919 or 4921 of the revised statutes of the United States, for the use of any patented article or device when it shall appear on the trial that the defendant in such action or proceeding purchased said article for a valuable consideration in open market, was passed by that body Monday by a large majority. This will be a relief to a suffering country that has been swindled and re-swinded by royalty gatherers, as it will, if passed by the Senate, of which there is no doubt, effectually quiet all of that kind of business.

As an effect of the Cavendish-Burke murder, Ireland is to be placed under martial law, or what amounts to the same, and the oppression they have complained of has been light as compared with what is to come. The home secretary has introduced a coercion bill which gives power to search for secret apparatus of murder, to enter houses at any hour under warrant of the lord lieutenant, and to remove foreigners deemed dangerous to peace. Membership in secret societies will constitute an offense, and newspapers containing inflammatory matter are to be suppressed. Compensation for murder and outrage will be levied on the districts where they occur, and the lord lieutenant can appoint additional police wherever necessary, at the cost of the residents.

From the Leavenworth, Kansas, Daily Standard, a good Democratic authority, we get the following bit of news regarding the status of affairs in the banner Democratic State, Missouri: "The closing scenes of the Missouri Legislature, last Thursday, was a disgrace to the State and to the party to which the majority of that body belongs. They were little less than a riot, and all because the minority of the Democratic side proposed a vote of thanks to the officials for killing Jesse James and breaking up his band of outlaws. The temporary Speaker ruled the resolution out of order on a very transparent pretext, which, superficially, at least, illustrated more the sympathy of that gentleman with the outlaws, than any extraordinary regard for regularity of Legislative procedure. The strongest part of it all is that the ruling of the Speaker was sustained by a vote of 79 to 35—more than two to one.

This action will do more to verify and confirm in the public mind the true just accusation of late so freely indulged in by the Republican press, that Missouri is in a lawless State, and that the Democrats of that State are in sympathy if not league with the outlaws, and anything that could have been done or left undone. They could have done nothing that would disfigure fair minded people of all parties more than this, and nothing that will more effectively counteract the prospects of the Democratic party in its approaching contests, in Missouri and in the Nation. Gov. Crittenden, the gallant soldier Governor of Missouri, has little cause to be proud of this action of his Legislature."

The Morend Baptists now pay their minister for his services spot cash every Monday morning. In other words, they use him as honorably as any man who works for a stated salary should be used. If the custom should be adopted in about 500 other church societies in this State it would bring joy to many a minister's heart, and more regular beef steak to his stomach. —Evening News.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Hon. C. G. Lucas, Master of the Michigan State Grange, will deliver a lecture in Rough's Opera House, on Thursday afternoon, June 1, two weeks from to-day, under the auspices of the Pomona Grange of Berrien county. Admission free.

Owing to the threatening appearance of the weather on Friday and Saturday, the excursion to St. Joseph on the May Graham, advertised for last Sunday, was postponed one week. The boat will leave this place at 7 Sunday morning.

The saying, "There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and lip," proved true in the purchase of the Timmons farm by Mr. V. Herrington. They backed out before he could get their names to the deed, and he has now bought the Nichols farm two miles below Berrien Springs.

Following is a list of letters remaining uncalled for in the post-office at Buchanan, Mich., for the week ending May 18, 1882: Mr. Martin Anderson (Foreign), Mrs. L. S. Curran, Mrs. C. D. Jones, Mrs. William H. Van Cleve, Postal Cards—Mr. Charles Ballard, J. W. May (Canada), William Pickley. L. P. ALEXANDER, P. M.

The Marshall Statesman, after a brief review of the situation, now supports Hon. J. V. Van Riper for re-nomination as Attorney General, instead of James H. Campbell, he having informed that paper that he will not allow his name to be used in opposition to Mr. Van Riper.

"THE DISEASES," by Rev. Robert Taylor, is the title of a book that has been borrowed from the editor of this paper about four years ago, and not yet returned. The book has a leather cover, and the name Enos Holmes written on the fly leaf in black ink. Any information leading to the recovery of the book will be thankfully received at this office.

Mr. A. B. Sabin informs the Recorder that it is his intention to add a number of new carriages and teams to his lively stock, recently purchased of C. W. Smith, and will endeavor to supply the riding public with the best rigs to be found in any stable in the county. Mr. Sabin's long experience as caterer to the public, makes him peculiarly fitted to continue to do so in his new occupation.

At the meeting of the Common Council, last Friday evening, it was decided to raise the following amounts for village expenses for the current year: For general purposes, $698.98; highways, $1,734.96; for indebtedness, $1,040.97, making in all five mills on the dollar of assessed valuation. You may now be able to tell how much your tax will be if you know how much your assessment is. Last year the tax amounted to 4 1/2 mills on the dollar.

A CHANGE was made in the time of running the trains on the Michigan Central on Monday, but as we did not receive a chart until after the first page of the RECORD was printed, the card was not corrected. The trains now pass this place as follows: East—Mail, 10:10 A. M.; Night Express, 12:32 A. M.; Accommodation, 7:06 P. M. West—Mail Passenger, 11:05 A. M.; Accommodation, 6:59 A. M.; Evening Express, 8:42 A. M.; Mail, 3:08 P. M.; No. 18 freight, 8:05 P. M.

The Niles end of the bridge across the St. Joseph river, at this place, is in a most abominable condition, and has been unsafe for some time. A man who crosses it quite frequently informs the Recorder that a plank has been in such shape during the past two or three weeks, that if a foot passenger should step upon it, he and the plank would certainly go into the river. The Highway Commissioner of that township has been notified of the unsafe condition of the bridge, and there is no sensible reason why he should not attend to it, unless it be an impression on his part that the township is responsible for any damage occurring from the east end of it. It should be repaired at once.

The following item in the Inter-Ocean from Paw Paw, explains itself: "Burrill A. Olney, a wealthy capitalist of Hartford, in this (Van Buren) county, to-day filed a bill in chancery in our court, with Jane Ann Manley, of Hartford, and Chas. S. May, of Kalamazoo, as defendants. The complaint alleges that for greater safety to his funds, he was in the habit of carrying them with him in a basket. On Dec. 4, 1881, he took Mrs. Manley out riding, having his basket containing $2,124.41 and nearly $80,000 worth of notes and mortgages. On their return he avers that he left his basket in one room and they went into another, but that soon after she absented herself for a time. The next day he discovered that she, at the time of absencing herself from the room, had removed the money and mortgages, amounting in all to nearly $80,000, and had filled up his basket with chips. On discovery of his loss, he immediately at once and charged her with it and demanded their return; that she admitted taking them, but refused to surrender them without a handsome consideration. That the only way he was able to secure their return and prevent their destruction, which she threatened, was by giving his note for $30,000. He charges that the note was obtained by the means of a woman, and with the assistance of Chas. S. May, the other defendant, who now has the note in his possession, she threatens to attempt its collection. Olney is the surviving partner of the old firm of Swain & Olney, and he probably the wealthiest man in the county. He and his wife do not live together, and Mrs. Jane Ann Manley is a "grass" widow. Olney appears by Hughes, O'Brien & Smith, of Grand Haven, and those counsel said is not unlikely to grow out of the matter.

There was a man in Flint this week with a patent lock for sale, and to demonstrate its superiority over all others, he would pick any kind of a lock in a few seconds. Sheriff Gordon put him in irons to test his ability, and he unlocked the handcuffs and shackles with a small piece of iron as soon as the sheriff could have done it with the keys. He was so expert that the mayor and marshal forbid his giving public exhibitions of lock-picking. —Flint Citizen.

If the custom should be adopted in about 500 other church societies in this State it would bring joy to many a minister's heart, and more regular beef steak to his stomach. —Evening News.

STATE ITEMS.

Dr. Rynd of Adrian is quite sick. Sixty-four telephones accommodate the citizens of Ann Arbor. A new post office building is being built in Ann Arbor. The American Eagle will soar in Kalamazoo July 4.

Six of the 26 cases on the Cass county docket are for divorce. The Muskegon strike is seriously affecting the lumber trade in Chicago. Cass county gets $5,072.40 of the Primary school interest fund.

41 and 14 are the ages of a bride and groom recently married in Vandalia. The cyclones have been doing a lively business in the west this spring.

Out of thirty-four cases on the Cass county docket six are for divorce. Ann Arbor is to vote this week on the question of building a $10,000 city hall.

E. D. Camp, of Ovid, recently sheared 20 thoroughbred ewes which averaged 15 1/2 pounds per head. A little child of Steve Olds, of Adamsville, drank some carbonic acid, and is liable to die from its effects.

An addition of 40x40 feet is being built to the asylum for the insane at Kalamazoo. It is to be used as a bakery. An Ovid man sheared 207 pounds of wool from twelve merino ewes, making an average of over seventeen pounds each.

Dr. Hollywood, who is under arrest in Detroit for complicity in the murder of Martha Whitla, was released Monday on $10,000 bail.

The next meeting of the Cass county pioneer association will be held in Cassopolis June 21. Hon. J. T. Palmer of Detroit will deliver the address, and it will be a good one.

Fresh strawberries are being indulged in by those who can afford it, in various parts of the State. Berries of southern growth, and tasting quite strong of greenbacks.

The body of a girl babe, which had been drowned when only a few hours old, was found in the river at Saginaw City Monday. Detectives are searching for the guilty parties.

A lot of masons at work on the addition to the American house in Kalamazoo, at $8 per day, refused to work unless their wages were raised to $9.50, and the proprietor was just fool enough to give it.

Peppermint oil, which is manufactured in St. Joseph county in great quantities, is now selling for $2 per pound, and there are over 10,000 pounds of it stored in that county for higher prices. —Evening News.

The novel part of the strike at Muskegon is for the strikers to send their lawyers to Grand Haven to raise funds for their support while they are making fools of themselves. A more sensible act would be for them to go to work and earn a living.

The Muskegon strikers have concluded that they can stand it ninety days longer without work, and have resolved to do no more of it until after that time. If the mill men do their duty they will go to some other place to get it. No kind of sympathy should be shown the class of men who exhibit this disturbance.

Mrs. Grace A. Newell, of Grand Rapids, died in a carriage on the 8th inst, as she was being taken from the G. & I. depot in Kalamazoo to the State asylum for the insane, near that village. She had been married about eight years, and leaves one child. Her husband is a printer, and is said to have left her about two years ago. —Evening News.

Carrying His Skeleton Outside.

The tortoise has not accomplished the feat of taking off its flesh and sitting in it, but it has done the next thing to it. It is the first example of a skeleton brought to the surface; the back is incapable of movement, and the scales with which a less ambitious reptile is covered, are shed into the horny shield which covers it, while the bones of the breast have developed into a box capable of containing the creature, head and legs said. In fact, if we belonged to that species, when some plays upon words were taken for wit, we should have most probably said that the chest of the tortoise is a "box to hold its trunk." The horny integument of the shell, which is called the scutes, or tortoise-bread, so graphically call him, is scarcely less rich in associations than his family name, suggesting, among a crowd of other memories, the high tortoise-combs, short warts, and the pump-room manners of the beauties of the Regeyue. The arrangement for wearing the skeleton outside, and packing the whole body away in the case formed by it, is convenient, but not an absolute protection against foes. The life and wily panther, for instance, has a habit of inserting his paw into the opening left for the protrusion of the tongue, and thus attacking the most vulnerable part. The turtle, moreover, is at a disadvantage when turned over on its back, which is a favorite method of securing those which come saunter to lay their eggs. A tortoise, therefore, who is not in the habit of receiving any impression through the skin of the body must have its disadvantages, too. How, for instance, could it be able to see, or to hear, or to smell, or to taste, or to feel, or to breathe, or to move, or to do anything else, when its body is so completely encased in its shell? It is a common practice in Philadelphia to take children to the gas works to see the little ovens, which are used for purifying the gas, and to breathe the mingled fumes of ammonia and sulphur.

The new game law forbids the killing of a robin, night hawk, whippoorwill, hinch, thrush, lark, sparrow, cherry bird, brown thrasher, junco, meadow lark, woodpecker, bobolink, or any other song bird, under a penalty of $5 for each bird killed, and for each nest robbed, ten days in the county jail.

CHRONIC ALIENS.—A small portion of the suffering which humanity has to bear arises from chronic diseases. These yield at once to the ordinary practice of the Schools, or they soon battle all medical skill. But there is a class of complaints, with which men and women are afflicted, that, without promptly and judiciously treated, become chronic, linger along for years, perhaps, but, unless arrested, invariably sooner or later prove fatal. These are the chronic diseases which Dr. W. C. Shiloh's Vitalizer is so successful in curing. It is a common practice in Philadelphia to take children to the gas works to see the little ovens, which are used for purifying the gas, and to breathe the mingled fumes of ammonia and sulphur.

Pie.

[Laramie City Boomerang.] A young man, whom we will call Dudley, has been found with a pie on his head. He had been accustomed to pie, so he said he would show the boys how to make pie.

Every one was glad that a professional pie-baker had been sent to the camp, and there was a general good feeling all around. So Dudley took off his coat and took a new pie, and having the level of the pie six feet high, he made some plaster of paris dough with amalgam filling, and proceeded to put in the "works."

He got some canned blackberries, and having the level of the pie six feet high, he made some plaster of paris dough with amalgam filling, and proceeded to put in the "works." He got some canned blackberries, and having the level of the pie six feet high, he made some plaster of paris dough with amalgam filling, and proceeded to put in the "works."

The following week the pies were taken out still in the same order. They were gradually cooled, and after the mid-day meal of bacon and coffee, every man put his napkin under his chin and snatched his pie, while nobody took a word on his behalf. He made some plaster of paris dough with amalgam filling, and proceeded to put in the "works."

Only one man ate any pie that day. He was the man above whose lovely bomb the blue-eyed poison was being swung, and when in the middle of the soft-boiled coyote coos a mellow requiem.

The boys in the Park feared that they should be killed in an order to start a cemetery, but when that pie penetrated the system of its victim, death entered the west metropolis, and on the plain white slab erected over the new-grass, it was inscribed: "Pie, stolen, here; will you die?"

Habits of the Condon. The Condon is peculiar to the New World, but approaches very closely to the vultures of the Old Continent. The immense mountain-chain of the Andes, which runs down the continent of South America, is the native stronghold of these birds dwell securely. There, in the regions of perpetual snow, and of terrific torrens, fifteen thousand feet above the level of the sea, on some isolated business crag, they congregate in great numbers, and sit on the plain beneath, yet far away for food. Though here these birds find their home, they build no nest, but deposit their eggs on the rocks, and leave them unprotected. They are very tame, and will come within a few feet of the human hand, and will even allow themselves to be handled.

The Indians, who are well acquainted with this effect of voracity, turn it to their advantage, and for scores of years they expose the dead body of a horse or a cow. Some of the condors, which are generally hovering in the air in search of food, are speedily attracted. As soon as they have spotted themselves on the carcass, the Indians make their appearance armed with the lasso, and the condors being unable to escape by flight, are pursued and caught by this singular weapon. —Home Words.

The Gluttonous Laps.

Laplenders are blessed with very hearty appetites. The peasant of that region is said to consume ten times as much food as the average man. A deer is just enough to last a family of four one week, and Von Buch, the traveler, says: "I have seen reindeer flesh cooked in the hair of a reindeer in large iron kettles; when cooked, the meat was immediately torn asunder by the master of the house, with his fingers, and the eagerness with which each of the inmates seized their share, was as if for a wager, to tear it with his hands and teeth, is almost incredible. When the flesh is devoured, broth in which it was boiled is drunk, and the clear milk and taken with the same avidity."

VERSCHIEDENHEIT.

England offers $50,000 for the arrest of the Dublin assassins. They will probably not be arrested. Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes ends his thirty-fifth year as a professor in the Harvard Medical College this month. The colored people of Eufaula, Alabama, are trying to get up an excursion to Washington to see a gentleman.

A Georgia murderer, sentenced to be hanged, has been reprieved because the date changed because he doesn't want to be hanged on the same day with Guitau.

"Yes," said the country member, "I went to that variety show because I had heard there was a monkey there. I knew he'd be burned if pretty much the whole legislature wasn't there."

A poor Boston woman had paid $4,050 interest during the past twelve years on a mortgage for $650. The first of this month she, fortunately, was able to discharge the principal.

Important Letter From J. F. Appleby, Patente of the "Appleby" Grain Binder. OFFICE OF THE MINNEAPOLIS HARVESTER WORKS, MONDAY, MAY 7, 1882.

I wish to say to the trade and to the grain growers of the United States, that many times before and since McCormick, et al., commenced their suit, I have always protected myself with the best patent lawyers and experts in the country, and we are satisfied, as we always have been, that they have no claims for an infringement. Suits of this kind have always before been respected by manufacturers of competing machines, thinking that they may gain some advantage in this way.

They are old, worn out tricks, and have never prevented the least improved and best machines from pushing aside the old styles and taking their places. American farmers generally buy the machine which they think will suit their purpose best, and the American manufacturers have always protected the farmer who has bought of the agent who has sold their machines.

I wish to say further, that, notwithstanding the many false statements made by agents for other companies, I am giving my whole attention to the construction and improvement of the MINNEAPOLIS HARVESTER AND TWINE BINDER.

No other company has the right to use the latest improvements which I have put upon the "Minneapolis," as the Minneapolis Harvester Works are the sole owners of the latest patents, and I am astonished that some manufacturers claim to have the "Appleby" Binder with my latest improvements, because it is not true, and the public are being deceived by such statements. I have spent the best part of my life in endeavoring to give the farmer the very best machine for cutting and binding grain. The leading manufacturers of the United States, as well as of Europe, and dealers and farmers all admit that the machines made by my patent are the most perfect yet devised, and they are taking the place of all others.

The Minneapolis Harvester Works are abundantly able to protect every machine, and a suit having been commenced against them, no action can be maintained against the purchaser. J. F. APPLEBY. WOOD & SAMPSON, Agents, Buchanan, Mich.
